each tribe, are sent; among them is Moses' successor, Joshua. Just as the Lord gave His people a challenging mission, anticipating great faithfulness, He likewise challenges us. As the Lord grants you the opportunity for bold service, meet that challenge with diligence. When you err, diligently repent —for He is generous in mercy. His enduring mission is to bless and provide for you, as He has done in Christ Jesus. • Grant me fruitful labor, dear Lord, in the vineyard of Your kingdom. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:25 Cf vv 21–22.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:27 flows with milk and honey. See p 6.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:28–29 See p 345.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:30 Although only Caleb is mentioned in this rebuttal to the other spies, Joshua no doubt supported him.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:31 We are not able. True! But the Lord was able. The events reveal the people's lack of faith in His leadership.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:32 devours its inhabitants. Hyperbole. Attempt to support their claim that the Israelites were no match for the Canaanites.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:33 Nephilim. See note, Gn 6:4.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:25–33 The land is just as God had described it to Moses, flowing with milk and honey (Ex 3:8; Nu 13:27). Yet 10 of the 12 spies fear the inhabitants of the land (v 31), thereby doubting God. The hymn "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" says, "Oh, what peace we often forfeit; Oh, what needless pain we bear—All because we do not carry Ev'rything to God in prayer!" (LSB 770:1). When you face challenges, do not collapse in doubt. Instead, call on your gracious Lord, who redeemed you and will lead you. • Lord, we confess that we are not able to fulfill our calling without sin. Forgive us for Christ's sake, and lead us through every trial. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:1–4 The people complain with new vigor (cf 11:1) and prefer slavery to the challenges and responsibilities of freedom.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:1 all the congregation. This outburst of dissatisfaction exceeded previous murmurings.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:3 become a prey. Enslavement or death.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:4 choose a leader. Lit, "give a head"; as if they were saying, "Let us be headstrong and insist this time to have things our way."

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:5 fell on their faces. See "fall," p 1276. Moses and Aaron begged the people to turn from their rebellion.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:6 tore their clothes. See note, Jb 1:20. Gesture by which Joshua and Caleb warned the Israelites that their action was equivalent to blasphemy (cf Mt 26:65; Ac 14:14). They continued to rally them to trust the Lord, but the contenders for the Lord barely escaped being stoned by the rioting people (v 10).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:8 the LORD delights in us. See note, Hos 11:3. flows with milk and honey. See p 6.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:9 they are bread. Although the land "devours its inhabitants" (13:32), the Israelites would be able to overcome them as easily as eating bread.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:10 stone. See note, Ex 17:4. glory of the LORD. See pp 6–7.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:11–12 See note, Ex 32:10. signs. Miracles and acts of grace, through which God may create faith.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:1–12 The doubt of 10 spies poisons the entire camp. God has limits to His patience. See note, Gn 15:16. The chief sin, as illustrated by the First Commandment, is lack of faith in who God is and what He has done. When you doubt and fail, His Word remains good. Call on Him in repentance, for He grants faith by grace through His precious Word. • Father, we long to follow You. Send Your Word and Spirit to gently lead us. Amen.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:13–19 Account of Moses' appeal to God for Israel. Moses admits that the Lord would be just if He were to "kill this people as one man" (v 15). He rested his appeal for divine forbearance entirely in God. The appeal anticipates God's mission to the nations, based on His reputation as a righteous judge and redeemer.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:14–16 They would scoff, because in their view the defeat of a people was also proof of the impotence of their gods (cf Ex 9:29; 12:12; Jgs 16:24; Is 37:18–20).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:14 face to face. For a similar expression, see note, 12:8.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:18 "Even the saints have sins. The innocent shall not be innocent" (Ap V 208). See note, Ex 34:7.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:19 pardon. See note, Ex 34:9. steadfast love. See p 843. Moses knew this kind of daring wrestling with God for the life of Israel was valid only if God would "pardon the iniquity of this people."

In "forgiving iniquity and transgression" (v 18), His glory shines most brilliantly (Ex 34:6–9).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:13–19 The nations inhabiting the Promised Land already know God's name. His power and majesty have preceded Him. Moses argues that if God were to destroy the Israelites for their rebellion, God's holy name would be defamed. So Moses appeals to God for mercy. And God is merciful; He hears the prayers of the righteous (Pr 15:29). What a blessing to know that our humble prayers are heard by the very Creator of heaven and earth. Because of Christ's obedience, we dare to call Him "Abba, Father." • Please pardon us, O Lord, according to the greatness of Your steadfast love, by which You delivered Israel. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:20–23 God always forgives penitent sinners, even more than 70 times 7 (Mt 18:21–22). But the temporal consequences of disobedience to His will serve His purposes in the lives of His people. See note, 2Sm 12:14.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:20 according to your word. Moses' prayer of intercession "has great power as it is working" (Jas 5:16; cf Gn 18:22–33).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:21 all the earth. The Lord reveals the scope of His presence and mission through Israel. Ambr: "[God is] present in all His fullness at one and the same moment, in heaven, in earth, in the deepest depth of the sea, to sight invisible, by speech not to be declared, by feeling not to be measured; to be followed by faith, to be adored with devotion" (NPNF 2 10:218). glory of the LORD. See pp 6–7.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:22 ten times. Round figure (our "dozen times"). Although the number of recorded murmurings approached this total, the measure of Israelite iniquities was full. The number 10 also corresponds with the number of unfaithful spies (cf 13:25–33).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:24 Caleb. Cf v 6. Joshua was to be Moses' successor. He and Caleb were the only ones not to be affected by the Lord's decree.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:25 the way to the Red Sea. Northeast arm of the Red Sea, now known as the Gulf of Aqaba. See note, Ex 13:18; see color map 3.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:29 all … listed in the census. Cf ch 1.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:30–31 Irony. Helpless children would rise to defeat their enemies.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:33 suffer. See note, Ex 20:5. faithlessness. Lit, "whoredoms." See note, Hos 4:13.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:34–35 forty years. Two years had elapsed since the liberation from Egypt. During the remaining 38 years of wandering, this wicked congregation was to "come to a full end."
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:35 gathered together against Me. Unlike other instances (e.g., Ex 32:26), the whole people were united in rebellion.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:37 the men … died. Those who lead others into temptation have the greater sin (Mt 18:6–7). plague. Lit, "blow," "strike." Describes the plagues of the exodus in Ex 9:14.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:20–38 Those persons 20 years and older will not see the land God promised. Yet God will not bring destruction on all Israel for their disobedience. Caleb, Joshua, and the next generation will inhabit the new land. The awe of God's mercy is evident. God does not deliver what the Israelites truly deserve for their insolence. Instead, He shows mercy by raising up a new generation to inherit His promise. • "Shepherd of tender youth, Guiding in love and truth Through devious ways; Christ, our triumphant king, We come Your name to sing And here our children bring To join Your praise." Amen. (LSB 864:1)
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:40 heights. Common places of prayer. See p 526. We will go up. Revolting against God's leadership, the people had just said, "Let us … go back to Egypt" (v 4). Now they insist on giving evidence of their faith, but in their own way and in defiance of God's direct command. Despair and presumption are two inevitable consequences of unbelief (cf Jer 17:9; Eph 4:22–23).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:42 the Lord is not among you. See "be with," p 5. The Israelites angered God so severely that He sentenced them to c 38 years of wandering in the wilderness, thwarting their high-handed attempt to penetrate the land at once from the south (cf v 45).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:44 the ark … Moses. Emblems of God's presence and approval.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:45 Hormah. Lit, "complete destruction."
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:39–45 The Israelites completely change plans, but again ignore God's Word. Sham obedience meets with God's resistance. He knows the truth about human hearts. In view of this, do not persist in your sin, as Israel did, or be slow to repent. Hear God's gracious call to repentance each day. Rejoice in the Word and in God's forgiveness through Christ, the Savior. • "Savior, when in dust to Thee Low we bow the adoring knee; When, repentant, to the skies Scarce we lift our weeping eyes; O, by all Thy pains and woe Suffered once for us below, Bending from Thy throne on high, Hear our penitential cry!" Amen. (LSB 419:1)

NUMBERS—NOTE ON Chs 15–21 Events during the next 38 years of wandering in the wilderness. None is given a definite date.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:1–21 Not long after the grumbling recorded in ch 14, the Lord assured His erring people that He did indeed abound in steadfast love (14:18). The younger generation did not have to abandon hope that they would come into the land of Canaan (vv 2, 18). Some ceremonies by which the covenant people were to enjoy communion with God were repeated. God made additions or adjustments to laws. From v 2, it appears that, in general, offerings had been suspended (cf Am 5:25; Ac 7:42; the matter of circumcision in Jsh 5:2). Travel in the wilderness, which should have been only a few months, turned into 38 years. Thankfully, the Lord sustained the people and their cattle, even sending rain to make fruitful pastures (Ps 68:7–10). Luth: "Since this life, however, cannot be without external forms of worship, God put before them all these forms and included them in his commandment in order that if they must or would do God any outward service, they might take one of these and not one they themselves had invented. They could then be doubly sure that their work was being done in obedience to God and his word. So they are prevented on every hand from following their own reason and free will in doing good and living aright. Room, place, time, person, work, and form are all more than adequately determined and prescribed, so that the people cannot complain and need not follow simply the example of alien worship" (AE 35:239–40).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:3 food offering … burnt offering … vow … freewill offering. See pp 170–71.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:4–6 grain offering. Quantities of flour, wine, and oil to accompany various animal sacrifices. See pp 170–71.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:8 peace offerings. See pp 170–71.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:14–15 You and the sojourner shall be alike before the LORD. See notes, Ex 12:48, 49.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:20 dough. Cake made of the first grain that came from the threshing floor, part of the offering of firstfruits.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:1–21 God reassures the people that after the older generation has passed away, He will fulfill His promise to the younger generation. To those older than 20, this pronouncement from Moses is both punishment and promise. They will not inherit the land, but God will have mercy on their children and their children's children. After the cloud of punishment comes the rainbow of God's grace. For the whole community, He also preserves the sacrifices, which are His chosen means of atonement. • "You are the great High Priest; You have prepared the feast Of holy love; And in our mortal pain None calls on You in vain; Our plea do not disdain; Help from above." Amen. (LSB 864:3)

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:22 if you sin. The whole nation had been punished for its disobedience, and 10 of the spies had "died by plague before the LORD" (14:37). The people were to have no fear that the Lord had changed His covenant regarding sin done unwittingly, whether by the whole congregation (vv 23–26) or by an individual (vv 27–31).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:25 atonement. See p 5.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:30 with a high hand. The person who committed sins in defiance of God, and with intention and malice, removed himself from God's covenant grace and forgiveness. Cf Mk 3:28–30; 1Jn 5:16–17. cut off. See note, Lv 17:4. Parallels the practice of excommunication today. See notes, 1Co 5.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:22–31 God restates the rules for dealing with unintentional sin through sin offerings (Lv 4). God prepares the younger Israelites in His holy ways. Today, in Confession and Absolution, God provides us forgiveness for our unintentional sin. Here we meet our merciful God and hear anew that we are freed from our sin by Christ's sacrifice. • "I lay my sins on Jesus, The spotless Lamb of God; He bears them all and frees us From the accursed load. I bring my guilt to Jesus To wash my crimson stains Clean in His blood most precious Till not a spot remains." Amen. (LSB 606:1)

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:32–36 After the discipline of ch 14 and reinforcement of teaching in ch 15, the people grew more diligent in observing the Law.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:32 on the Sabbath day. Cf Ex 31:14; 35:2.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:35 put to death. As a warning against willful sinning, a breaker of the Sabbath law was executed. The mode of execution had not been specified in Ex. Moses and Aaron carry out God's explicit direction. Cf Lv 24:12.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:32–36 The Sabbath is God's gift to Israel (Ex 20:8–10), that they might devote the day to worship by learning God's Word. The man gathering wood shows contempt for God's Word. God considers this blasphemous because the man's act follows on the heels of God's restatement about deliberate sin (vv 22–31). Still today, willful sin and despising of God's Word have damnable consequences. Jesus, Lord of the Sabbath, has fulfilled all the requirements of the Law for our sake (Mt 5:17). Yet how great is our need for His precious Word, which leads us in repentance and grants pardon, faith, and everlasting rest. • Lord, let us never despise Your Word and refuse to hear it; give us life according to Your Word. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:38 tassels. Fringes fastened with a blue cord on the "corners" (lit, "wings") of the upper garment. These visuals helped Israel remember the Lord's commands (v 39). This outward means to help them "be holy" (v 40) was, like all others, later abused and became a means of parading empty piety. Cf Mt 6:1.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:39 not to follow … your own heart. See note, Gn 6:5.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:40 holy. See p 7.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:41 See notes, Lv 11:44–45; Dt 1:10.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:37–41 God provides a visible reminder for the Israelites of His Word and His presence among them. Today, in the cross of God's Son, we witness the ultimate reminder of God's Law and Gospel, His wrath and grace. • "God's Word is our great heritage And shall be ours forever; To spread its light from age to age Shall be our chief endeavor. Through life it guides our way, In death it is our stay. Lord, grant, while worlds endure, We keep its teachings pure Throughout all generations." Amen. (LSB 582)

NUMBERS—NOTE ON Chs 16–17 Insurrection raised its ugly head against the mediators of the covenant, Moses and Aaron, at an unspecified point during their 38 years of wandering. Experiences recorded in ch 14 were soon forgotten. Israel's repeated murmurings came in short intervals (cf Ex 14:11–12; 15:23–24; 16:2–3, 20, 26–28; 17:1–2). Here, two groups joined hands to overthrow the divinely established order, each venting its particular complaint.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:2 rose up. Led by Korah, one of the sons of Levi (v 7). Although the Levites had been given the distinction "to do service in the tabernacle of the LORD" (v 9; cf chs 3–4), they presumed to "seek the priesthood also" (v 10), to which God had appointed only Aaron and his immediate family. See note, 3:10. chiefs … well-known. Tensions between priests and Levites led to involvement by political leaders and a high-stakes confrontation.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:3 all in the congregation are holy. Claim of priestly privileges for every Israelite. the LORD is among them. See "be with," p 5.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:4 fell on his face. See "fall," p 1276.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:6 Rivalry seemed specifically to be with Aaron (cf v 17), who was in charge of all the priests and Levites. censers. See note, Lv 10:1.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:7 You have gone too far, sons of Levi! Beyond their divinely appointed authority (cf Lv 10).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:10 seek the priesthood. The Levites were subject to the priests (see note, 3:10), which resulted in envy and rivalry.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:11 What is Aaron that you grumble against him? The Levites' dispute was actually with the Lord.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:12–14 Dathan and Abiram challenged Moses' leadership. As descendants of Reuben, the firstborn of the tribal ancestors, they may have resented a Levite's leadership (v 7).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:13 a prince over us? Aaron was the right hand of Moses, against whose leadership the whole movement was ultimately directed. Dathan and Abiram attacked Moses' leadership because he failed to give them the promised inheritance. They insisted that he had misled them to kill them in the wilderness and compared Egypt to a "land flowing with milk and honey." See p 6.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:14 Will you put out the eyes of these men? The Levites insist that they are not blind to what Moses has done by appointing Aaron's family to the priesthood. They accuse him of favoritism.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:15 I have not taken one donkey from them. The expression, though true and serious, has a humorous and sarcastic tone (cf Ex 20:17; Gn 43:18). See p 1335. Luth: "The ungodly … are obsessed with the ambition to apply and appropriate the promises to themselves. Therefore they oppress and harass the true church. In these circumstances there is nothing else for us to do than to commend our cause to the Lord, as Moses did in that troublesome conflict with Korah, Dathan, and Abiram (Num.

16). They were entirely incurable and so sure of their own cause that they were neither willing nor able to be instructed. Therefore Moses refers the matter to a divine judgment and prays the Lord not to regard their sacrifice. Thereupon the Lord pronounces judgment upon them and encourages the true church" (AE 3:15).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:18 Cf Lv 10:1.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:19 against. Opposite. glory of the LORD. See pp 6–7.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:22 fell on their faces. See p 1276. one man. Probably refers to Korah (v 1).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:25 elders. See note, Ex 3:16. See also p 228.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:26–27 Other Israelites apparently still believed Moses.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:26 from the tents of these wicked men. All who agreed with the rebels refused to leave their dwelling and so "went down alive into Sheol" with "all their goods" (vv 32–33). The earth opened and "swallowed them up" (v 32). Some members of Korah's immediate family apparently were not involved. Cf Nu 26:9–11; see the heading of such psalms as Ps 42; 1Ch 6:22. Cypr: "All will be liable to guilt as well as its punishment, who with irreligious boldness mingle themselves with schismatics in opposition to prelates and priests" (ANF 5:400). Luth: "To grace all things are possible. Korah stirs up a great rebellion, and he himself perishes. But this great miracle follows … his sons are nevertheless preserved. Later they became renowned by reason of most excellent virtues, since they composed very beautiful psalms which can easily stand comparison and vie with the psalms of David. Yet they were descendants of Levi and Korah….
Accordingly, God always observes this rule. He sets forth His threats; yet He chooses something good from evil men and sinners, just as He preserves some out of the whole human race, which is lost because of sins" (AE 8:227–28).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:27 wives … little ones. Whole families suffered the consequences of the fathers' sins (cf Ex 20:5).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:28–30 Moses outlines a test by which people could recognize God's judgment and favor. Cf 1Ki 18:22–24.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:30 "It is still a great mercy that the earth bears and supports us" (LC I 60). Sheol. See p 792.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:35 fire came out. From the sanctuary. See note, Lv 10:2. Luth: "A defended sin is unforgivable. For he who forgives this sin would be in agreement with it and would approve of it. But God does not approve of iniquity. 'Evil may not sojourn with Thee, etc.,' as Ps. 5:4 says. Thus Moses prayed against Korah (Num. 16), and 1 John 5:16 says: 'There is sin which is mortal' " (AE 16:35).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:37–38 they have become holy. Incense burners of the rebels were hammered into bronze plates to cover the altar, a sign of the dire consequences of disobeying the Lord. See "holy," p 7.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:41 all the congregation. The rebellious propaganda had so poisoned the people's minds that they refused to acknowledge the death of the instigators as God's punishment.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:42 glory of the LORD. See p 6–7.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:45 fell on their faces. See "fall," p 1276.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:46 Take your censer. Ordinarily, Aaron offered incense only on the altar in the sanctuary (Ex 30:1–10; Lv 16:12–13). But extraordinary means were required to make atonement for the stricken people. When Aaron ran "into the midst of the assembly" with his censer, "the plague was stopped" (vv 47–50). It was to teach the people that a sacred rite, executed by the divinely authorized person, had a salutary effect, but Korah's illegitimate use of the censer resulted in death.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON Ch 16 We may ask: Was God justified in allowing an entire generation to die before leading the Israelites into the Promised Land? An answer comes in the rebellion of Korah and his followers, which threatens the lives of the Lord's servants and the unity of the congregation. Yet when the Lord's punishment falls on the rebels, the Lord's servant Aaron rushes into the midst of the plague to save the people. His intercession reminds us of Christ's intercession for us; He came among us to save us. • "O LORD, I call upon You; hasten to me! Give ear to my voice when I call to You! Let my prayer be counted as incense before You, and the lifting up of my hands as the evening sacrifice!" (Ps 141:1–2). Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 17:2 staffs. Symbols of authority. Cf Gn 49:10.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 17:3 write Aaron's name. As high priest, Aaron would also be head of the tribe of Levi. Aaron's rod was to be placed "before the testimony" (i.e., the ark of the covenant) and preserved there as a warning for the rebels (v 10; cf Ex 25:21–22).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 17:5 sprout. The test would involve a miracle.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 17:7 tent of the testimony. See note, Ex 25:16.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 17:8 To demonstrate the validity of Aaron's ordination, the Lord let Aaron's rod blossom during the night, while other staffs, representing other tribes, showed no signs of life. This miraculous sign was to convince the people to "make an end of their grumblings" against the Lord (v 10). Proper respect is due to God's rightly called and ordained servants. sprouted … buds … blossoms … ripe almonds. The Lord multiplies the miracle beyond the standards of Moses' test (v 5). See p 236.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 17:10 testimony. See note, Ex 25:16.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 17:12–13 The people immediately regret their rebellious attitude and anticipate judgment to fall as before. Instead, the Lord responds to their regret with teaching from His Word (chs 18–19).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON Ch 17 God supports Aaron's priesthood by a miracle that distinguishes Aaron from the leaders of the 12 tribes. He provides a visual reminder of God's seal of approval on the Levitical priesthood. Properly ordained and installed leadership is a blessing from God, not a curse. Respect those in authority over you by praying for them in patience and by trusting without envy. Rejoice that the Lord Himself reigns among you by His life-giving Word. • "Jesus, Thy boundless love to me No thought can reach, no tongue declare; Unite my thankful heart to Thee, And reign without a rival there! Thine wholly, Thine alone I am; Be Thou alone my constant flame." Amen. (LSB 683:1)
NUMBERS—NOTE ON Ch 18 In vv 1–24, God spoke to Aaron, dealing with the priests and Levites and assigning them a unique position. Vv 25–32 were spoken to Moses, who is charged with the supervision of the priests and the Levites and their relationship with one another.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:1 bear iniquity. God assures His people that not everyone "who comes near to the tabernacle of the LORD, shall die" (17:13). Aaron and his sons were privileged to "keep guard over the sanctuary and over the altar" (v 5). See note, Lv 10:17. They bore responsibility for any failure to perform their sacred duties.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:2 bring your brothers. Levites' status remained unchanged. They alone were to assist the priest in all the duties of the tent (cf chs 3–4), but were excluded from priestly functions in the sanctuary or at the altar. If these regulations were followed, no one would die (vv 3, 7). minister to you. See note, 3:6.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:3 keep guard. See note, 3:7–10. lest they, and you, die. Cf Lv 10:1–3.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:6 They are a gift to you, given to the LORD. In giving the Levites, the Lord chooses them for Himself.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:7 veil. Cf Ex 26:31–33.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:8–9 See note, Lv 2:3.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:8 a perpetual due. Heave offerings that were not designated as belonging to the Lord. Given to the priests as part of their benefits.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:10 Every male. Cf Lv 6:29.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:11 wave offerings. See note, Lv 7:30–35. sons and daughters. Unlike the offerings of vv 9–10, the whole family could partake of the wave offerings. clean. See p 300.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:12 firstfruits. Cf v 13.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:15 opens the womb … redeem. See note, Ex 22:29.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:16 shekel of the sanctuary. See note, Ex 30:13.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:19 covenant of salt. See note, Lv 2:13.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:20 portion … inheritance. See p 7.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:21 every tithe. God required a tenth of every Israelite's income to support the Levites, who, like the priests, had no inheritance in Canaan. Their livelihood was to come from "their service in the tent of meeting." They received whatever part of the tithe was not designated for an offering to the Lord on the altar. See p 1092.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:25 spoke to Moses. See note, ch 18.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:28 give the LORD*'s contribution to Aaron the priest*. Israel gave 10 percent to the Levites. They gave 10 percent to Aaron as high priest, who managed the offering for the whole priesthood.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:30 the best. Reserved for the priests as leaders.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:32 bear no sin by reason of it. Levites could handle the offering but could not corrupt the process.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON Ch 18 Although the latest rebellion against the Lord comes from the Levites through Korah, God does not dismiss the Levites but reaffirms them in their calling. He provides for their forgiveness and their inheritance. Today, those who serve the Lord as church workers are to receive mercy and payment from the churches. Exercise diligent care for the church workers called to your congregation or school. Rejoice that the Lord distributes His life-giving Word to you through them. • "You, O Lord, Yourself have called him For Your precious lambs to care; But to prosper in his calling, He the Spirit's gifts must share. Give him wisdom from above, Fill his heart with holy love; In his weakness, Lord, be near him, In his prayers, Good Shepherd, hear him." Amen. (LSB 681:2)

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:2 statute of the law. See p 971. red heifer. Reddish brown heifer (cow that had never been bred). No reason is given why the color of the sacrificial animal had to be red.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:4 sprinkle … seven times. See note, Lv 4:6–7.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:5 its dung. Undigested food in the animal's bowels.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:6 Materials used in the purification from leprosy were added to the fire.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:7–8 unclean. See p 300.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:9 water for impurity. Water with the ash may have formed a weak lye solution. impurity. Hbr word describes the ceremonial uncleanness incurred by a woman's "discharge of blood" (Lv 15:25). sin offering. See pp 170–71.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:10 perpetual statute. See note, Lv 6:22.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:11–13 Contact with corpses or animal carcasses rendered the Israelites ritually unclean (Lv 5:2; 11:24–28; 21:1–4, 10–11; 22:4–7; Nu 6:6–12). The death of many in "the affair of Korah" (16:49) called for special measures of purification. The defilement was to be removed by the application of ritually prepared water. cleanse himself … thrown on him. Washing by having water poured or dumped on the person requires less water than immersion. See p 1370. Cypr: "It appears that the sprinkling also of water prevails equally with the washing of salvation" (ANF 5:401). See note, Ezk 36:25.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:14–19 See note, vv 11–13.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:20 cut off from the midst of the assembly. See note, Lv 7:20–21. water for impurity. See note, v 9. thrown on him. See note, vv 11–13. All rites to achieve ceremonial cleanness and purification of the flesh would not have spanned the gap between the holy God and sinful humankind if they had not pointed to the only acceptable sacrifice: Christ Jesus, who "offered Himself without blemish to God" (Heb 9:13–14).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON Ch 19 God provides a means to cleanse those who had touched a corpse or accidentally come in contact with a bone of a dead person or a grave. Such a rite of purification foreshadows the cleansing power of Baptism. • Father of grace, we remember our Baptism and how You made us clean through water and the Word. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:1 wilderness of Zin. See notes, 10:12; 13:3. first month. Adar. See calendar, p 262. Moses did not record the year Miriam died. Cf 33:36–39.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:1 In the 40th year, a new generation of Israelites arrives where the nation stood 38 years before. Those over the age of 20 have died. Sin brought about the destruction of those who distrusted the Lord. Yet in His mercy, God raises up a new generation. Rebellion has a cost, but God is ever ready to start afresh and fulfill His promises. • Prepare me, O Lord, for new things by equipping me with Your timeless truth and love through Christ Jesus. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:2–13 Cf Ex 17:1–7, where the Israelites also had "quarreled with Moses" over lack of water. At Moses' intercession, the Lord gave them additional evidence that He was able to supply all their needs.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:3 The younger generation showed no greater trust in the Lord than did their elders. This generation could not remember events in Egypt, but they did remember their parents' complaints and repeated them.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:5 this evil place? The wilderness.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:6 fell on their faces. See p 1276. glory of the LORD. See pp 6–7.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:8 tell the rock. At Rephidim, God commanded Moses to "strike the rock" (Ex 17:6).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:2–9 Moses faces the same situation as before: grumbling Israelites protest against Moses, Aaron, and God for lack of water. As before, Moses and Aaron humble themselves before the Lord at the entrance to the tent of meeting, and God opens His hand of mercy. When struggles and complaints hamper you, turn to the Lord in humble prayer. He will hear and honor your requests faithfully, in accordance with His good and gracious purposes. • Lord, we often doubt Your Word. Send Your Spirit to strengthen us, that we may pray confidently and lead boldly. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:10 rebels. Hbr hammorim, does not have the same root as "Meribah" (quarreling) and "Marah" (bitterness), but makes similar sounds, echoing one another as the events in 20:2–13 echo the events in Ex 17:1–7. shall we bring. "Meek" Moses also had clay feet (12:3). His endurance and patience were exhausted. He felt he had to assert himself against the rebels or at least take some credit for the miraculous supply of water.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:11–12 twice … did not believe. Instead of letting the Word of the Lord reveal its power (v 8), Moses sought to make his contribution to the miracle by striking the rock twice. Thereby he failed to sanctify God before the eyes of the people. you shall not bring. The Lord was forgiving toward Moses, but Moses' actions had consequences. Moses could not exalt himself before God.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:13 Meribah. To distinguish this incident from the one at Rephidim, this place is called Meribah of Kadesh (or Meribah-kadesh, Dt 32:51). He showed Himself holy. The Lord distinguished His power, authority, and grace from Israel and her leaders. See "holy," p 7.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:10–13 Meribah means "quarreling." Moses' words "shall we" indicate that he and Aaron were claiming credit for the miracle of water, not attributing it to God. Every good and perfect gift comes from the Lord. God's servants act as conduits of His kindness. As you serve each day, reflect by asking yourself, "How has God made me a blessing to others in my duties?" Though you will stumble in faith, as Moses did, know that your merciful Father will not cast you aside but will receive you unto Himself by grace alone. • Father, form in me a humble attitude of service and a repentant heart. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:14 king of Edom. By turning northward from Kadesh, the Israelites could take a direct route to the Transjordan Valley, past the descendants of Esau, Jacob's twin brother (Gn 25:21–26; 36:1–8). God's curse of the Canaanites does not include the Edomites, Israel's relatives through Esau. Therefore, an attack on them was forbidden.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:17 King's Highway. Important caravan route and military road; ran northward to Damascus from Ezion-geber on the Gulf of Aqaba. Route existed already in the third millennium BC. It crossed Edomite and Moabite territory and continued east of the Salt Sea and the Jordan as far north as Damascus. The name may mean it is fit for a king to travel, as opposed to more difficult routes. See color map 3.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:18–19 Edom said … Israel said. King of Edom and Moses represented and spoke for their people.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:19 water … pay. Note how precious water is in this region. Its value underlies many struggles and stories in Scripture.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:21 Although the Israelites promised peaceful passage through the land, they were forbidden to trespass on Edomite territory (Dt 2:4–6). The king of Moab responded negatively to a similar request by the Israelites (Jgs 11:17–18). See map, p 250. Denied the use of the King's Highway by their kinsmen and forbidden to employ warlike measures, the Israelites took a circuitous route around Edom and Moab (21:4; Dt 2:4–9).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:14–21 Moses appeals to the Edomites for passage on the basis of history, and he promises to pay for water. Yet, Edom denies them passage. The tensions between Jacob and Esau, renewed here, persist throughout Israel's history (see pp 1473–74). How sad when relatives cannot trust one another. How enduring the consequences of rivalry. Seek peace and fairness within your family. Above all things, pray for the forgiveness of sins as you forgive those who trespass against you (Mt 6:12). How blessed is the mercy of Jesus, our Brother (Heb 2:10–18). • Father, we thank You for Your grace, which traded our sinful lives for the sinless life of our Brother Christ Jesus. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:22 Mount Hor. Territory in the vicinity of this mountain is called Moseroth ("chastisements"; 33:31; cf Dt 10:6). Exact location unknown.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:24 gathered to his people. See note, 1Ki 2:10.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:26 strip Aaron. Death would defile the garments. Cf ch 19.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:28 put them on Eleazar. Transferring his office.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:29 wept for Aaron thirty days. See notes, Gn 37:34; 50:1–3. Luth: "I don't like to see examples of joyful death. On the other hand, I like to see those who tremble and shake and grow pale when they face death and yet get through. It was so with the great saints; they were not glad to die. Fear is something natural because death is a punishment, and therefore something sad. According to the spirit one dies willingly, but according to the flesh the saying applies, 'Another will carry you where you do not wish to go' [John 21:18]" (AE 54:65).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:22–29 Moses and Aaron install Eleazar as high priest. Aaron dies for his disbelief at Meribah (v 12). In death, he joins the rebellious generation who were lost in the wilderness. Today, rebellion is sometimes glorified. However, the Lord calls His people to peace, which He pronounces through His ministers in the word of blessing (Nu 6:24–26). Rejoice in and pray for His peace. • Lord, preserve Your Word among us, and grant us wise and peaceful hearts through Christ, our great High Priest. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:1 the Canaanite, the king. King's identity and location are not clear. Arad. See map, p 250. A city, but may also describe a region of the Negeb surrounding it. Archaeologists believe the city of Arad was well populated and prosperous before the time of Abraham but largely abandoned during the time of Moses.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:3 Lord heeded. Lit, "listened to the voice of." See note, Jsh 10:14. Hormah. See note, 14:45.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:1–3 The Canaanite king of Arad learns of the movement of the Israelite nation and responds by attacking some of the outlying citizens, carrying some into captivity. In this example, the Israelites show their faith in God by coming to Him for guidance before striking back. God is faithful. When His people return to Him, He hears their prayers and has mercy on them. • We praise You, O Lord, for hearing our prayers. Grant us ready ears that listen to Your Word with sincerity. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:4 Mount Hor. See note, 20:22. the way to the Red Sea. The Gulf of Aqaba is meant, on the east side of the Sinai Peninsula southeast of Canaan. See color map 3. This region (likely near Punon) was well known for its copper mines. (Copper is used for making bronze.) impatient. Caused by travel away from Canaan rather than toward it.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:5 Ter: "Although they were there nourished with divine supplies, nevertheless [they] were more mindful of their belly and their gullet than of God" (ANF 3:679).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:6 fiery serpents. Hbr nechashim seraphim; similar to the word for "bronze" (see notes, v 9; Is 6:2). The wordplay may refer to the shiny, metallic brown appearance of some species of adder. fiery. May also describe the pain that accompanied the animals' bites.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:7 We have sinned. A second time, the people resort to prayer, which shows they begin to understand the way of life in which the Lord will lead them: sin, repentance, restoration, and service.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:8–9 pole. Hbr term also used to describe a sign, which could likewise mean a miracle, as in "signs and wonders." God's word of promise made the healing possible. The Fathers held that this pole/sign was in the shape of a cross. Just: "Moses, by the inspiration and influence of God, took brass, and made it into the figure of a cross" (ANF 1:183). See Basil (NPNF 2 8:299).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:9 bronze serpent. Hbr nechash nechsheth; see note, v 6. God spared those who accepted the means of rescue He provided. Healing did not magically emanate from the coiled piece of metal but depended on faith in the power of God's Word. Cyr Jer: "That brazen serpent was hung up as a remedy for the biting serpents, not as a type of Him that suffered for us, but as a contrast; and it saved those who looked upon it, not because they believed it to live, but because it was killed, and killed with it the powers that were subject to it, being destroyed as it deserved" (NPNF 2 7:431). Cyr Jer: "Whoso had been bitten by the living serpent, and looked to the brasen serpent, might be saved by believing" (NPNF 2 7:87). Wycl: "Christ, in his own person … [is] the sacrament of sacraments…. Jesus our living serpent, having the likeness of sin upon him, though he could not possibly sin, was suspended on the cross, that those who are stung by the poison of the old serpent, sin, may become spiritually whole" (TT, pp 157–58). See p 141. Later, when its healing power was not attributed to the Creator but to the creature, the bronze serpent was destroyed by King Hezekiah (2Ki 18:4). His action was necessary because serpents were the idolatrous object of veneration among the earliest peoples. But the rescue from death that God wrought through the bronze serpent was only a type of what He intended when His incarnate Son bore our sin and was lifted to the cross. When faith looks up to Christ crucified, God saves from eternal death all victims of the fatal venom of sin (Jn 3:14–18, 36). Iren: "The law never hindered them from believing in the Son of God; nay, but it even exhorted them so to do, saying that men can be saved in no other way from the old wound of the serpent than by believing in Him who, in the likeness of sinful flesh, is lifted up from the earth upon the tree of martyrdom, and draws all things to Himself, and vivifies the dead" (ANF 1:465).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:4–9 As Moses guides God's people in the direction of the Red Sea, away from their primary objective of the Promised Land, rebellion begins anew. Our lives also persist in the pattern of rebellion, repentance, and restoration. Those in Israel who repented received God's salvation by looking to the sign of His mercy in faith (v 9). What an excellent precursor of God's redemption through the cross. Those who look upon the cross in faith are saved. • Gracious Lord, send Your Holy Spirit to deepen our faith in Christ, that we live by daily repentance and faith in Your Son. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:10 set out. Turned eastward and northward. See color map 2. It seems they followed a course just east of the King's Highway, skirting and at times crossing into Edomite territory. At certain places, some of the Edomite tribes enriched themselves by selling food to the desert wanderers, despite their king's command (cf Dt 2:6). The borders of Edom and Moab may have been somewhat fluid, and central control may not always have been effective.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:11 toward the sunrise. On the east side.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:14–30 Some scholars regard the songs of ch 21 (vv 14–18, 27–30) as intrusions into the narrative account because they appear to interrupt the sequence of events. However, Moses uses a similar approach in Gn 2–3; Ex 15. See pp 3–5.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:14 Book of the Wars of the LORD. Nothing more is known of this book. It appears to have been a separate collection of songs celebrating the numerous victories of Israel against opposing forces (e.g., the Song of Moses, Ex 15). Waheb … border of Moab. Brief quotation merely indicates the joy of the Israelites that they had reached the unidentified sites in the Arnon valleys. Cf vv 17–18, 27–30; see pp 3–5.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:17 this song. Joyful "Song of the Well," sung because the Lord had led them to a place where they merely had to dig below the surface to find a natural supply of water. The days were over when they traversed dry areas and were dependent for water from a rock.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:18 scepter. At times denotes the insignia of rulers (Ps 60:7; 108:8), but can also be rendered "lieutenant" or "lawgiver" (Jgs 5:14; Is 33:22; Gn 49:10 KJV). Here, it seems to mean that the people used their staves to dig below the surface when directed to do so by Moses, "the lawgiver."

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:20 See map, p 250. Pisgah. Lit, "the cleft." Always has the definite article in Hbr. Denotes various heights; may be translated as a common noun (23:13–14; Dt 3:27; 34:1). Places of encampment, listed here, in ch 33, and Dt 1–2, cannot always be identified with certainty.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:10–20 God carries His people to the east side of the Jordan River. Finally, 40 years of wilderness wandering are about to end. We can almost hear the shout of joy echoing through the passage of time. For the time being, all the hardships and the sin of doubting God seem only a fleeting memory. Despite the moaning of an ungrateful people, God keeps His Word sworn in a dream to Abraham (Gn 15:17–21). He will keep His Word to you too. • Faithful Lord, You supply us with all good things, especially the blessings of salvation. Preserve us in this faith. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:21 Amorites. Had invaded territory on all sides of the Fertile Crescent. In their thrust eastward, they had founded a dynasty in Babylon, of which King Hammurabi is famous for his law code (c 1728–1686 BC). They had also penetrated Canaanite lands east of the Jordan (cf Gn 10:16).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:22 King's Highway. See note, 20:17.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:24 the Jabbok. Flows into the Jordan c 25 mi N of the Salt Sea. See map, p 250. The area conquered by Israel north of the Arnon River had been in part owned by the Ammonites before the Amorites seized it. The former had been forced to move east of the Jabbok (cf Dt 2:37; Jsh 13:10, 25; Jgs 11:13, 22). Moabites and Ammonites were descendants of Lot, Abraham's nephew (Gn 19:36–38).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:25 This region was not part of the Promised Land.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:27 ballad singers say. Mocking song (cf Hab 2:6). See note, v 17.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:28 fire came out. Characterizes the attack of Sihon. Possibly ironic, if Chemosh was the god of fire (see note, v 29).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:29 Chemosh! Chief god of the Moabites (cf Jer 48:46). Related to Milcom, god of the Ammonites, as well as Canaanite gods Baal and Molech. See note, 25:3. According to the Moabite Stone, Chemosh was a savage war god. Sihon. Cf v 26.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:30 See map, p 250.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:21–30 For a second time, the Israelites seek permission to travel the King's Highway. This time, they are denied its use by Sihon, king of the Amorites. The Israelites lay claim to Sihon's land, which later became a home for the tribes of Reuben and Gad (32:1–5). God protects His people and overthrows the false religions of the nations. • Lord, protect us with Your Holy Spirit as Your Word and Sacraments preserve us in the one true faith. Amen.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:32 By taking Jazer, perhaps north of Heshbon, the Israelites completed the conquest of the Amorite territory of Sihon. See map, p 250. spy. See note, Jsh 2:1.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:33 Bashan. Fertile territory held by another Amorite king who was enormous in size (Dt 3:1–11). When its two capitals, Edrei and Ashtaroth (directly east of the Sea of Chinnereth), fell into their hands, the Israelites controlled the entire Transjordan area from the Arnon River to the vicinity of Mount Hermon (Dt 3:8), the source of the Jordan River.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:34 hand. See p 842.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:35 until he had no survivor left. Cf v 3.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:31–35 Og, a second Amorite king, marches against the Israelites. The Lord delivers another victory. The Israelites now lay claim to all the land east of the Jordan. This territory is later given to the half-tribe of Manasseh. God uses the battles at Jahaz (v 23) and Edrei (v 33) to strengthen the resolve of His people. On their own, they could not win against the Amorites, but with God, all things are possible. • Lord, lead us in the path of righteousness, trusting that all things are possible with You through Christ Jesus. Amen.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:1 In obedience to God's command, the Israelites did not harass the Edomites and the Moabites (Dt 2:9).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:2 Balak. Possibly a Midianite. If so, he would have been "king of Moab at that time" (v 4) because he had seized control of former Moabite holdings as the Amorites had done in other territories (21:26).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:3 great dread. Balak "was overcome with fear" (v 3), lest the same fate was in store for him that had befallen the Amorite kings Sihon and Og (ch 21).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:4 elders of Midian. Descendants of Abraham and Keturah, the nomadic Midianites moved about in various desert areas, also those east of Moab and Edom (cf Gn 25:1–4; 37:25). licks up the grass. As effortlessly and casually as a cow wanders and grazes.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:5 Balaam. Mysterious and complex character. His nationality cannot definitely be determined. Archaeologists discovered an ink inscription written on plaster c 700 BC at a temple in biblical Succoth (modern Deir ʻAllah; see color map 1). It includes the sayings of Balaam, son of Beor, and is written in a unique west Semitic dialect. Both red and black inks were used. Similar Israelite plaster texts were found at Kuntillet ʻAjrud in northern Sinai. Cf Dt 27:2–3. Pethor. Near the Euphrates, far to the north in Aram, south of Carchemish. See color map 3. people of Amaw. Mentioned by Assyrian records among place-names in that area. Moses does not record that Pethor was Balaam's original home. Possibly, he visited Pethor because his services had been sought there. When later he "went back to his place" (24:25), he apparently did not return to the distant north because he remained active among the Midianites and eventually died there (31:8, 16).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:6 curse this people. See p 6.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:7 elders. See note, Ex 3:16. fees for divination. See note, Dt 18:10–11.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:8–9 Balaam anticipates that he can manipulate Israel's God and turn Him against them. the LORD speaks to me … God came to Balaam. In the account of Balaam's confrontation with Israel's Protector, the general term "God" (vv 9, 12, 20, 38; 23:4) and His proper name "LORD" (vv 8, 13, 18; 23:3, 5) frequently occur side by side, often in successive verses, even in the same verse (v 22; see note, Ex 6:3).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:8 princes. Elders; cf v 7. See p 228.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:9 God alerts Balaam that He knew the wicked purpose of the Moabite delegation.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:12 blessed. See note, Gn 12:2.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:14 went to Balak. C 350 mi; development of these events happened over weeks, illustrating the persistence of everyone involved.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:18 LORD my God. Balaam's religious convictions are even more mystifying. He acknowledged and obeyed Israel's Lord (v 8; 24:4), but he also persisted in heathen practices. Despite his professed recognition of the true God, he succumbed to his greed and repeatedly sought a way to comply with his royal benefactor's evil request.

The tension between his self-determination and God's will is a good example of the complexity of human perversity (2Pt 2:12–16). But when Balaam attempted to ply his trade as a soothsayer, God put true words of prophecy on his lips (v 6; cf Jn 11:49–51). The NT refers to the story of Balaam as a warning against the sins of greed and idolatry (2Pt 2:15; Jude 11; Rv 2:14). Iren: "Balaam … is certainly not then to be counted as a prophet, but as a soothsayer" (ANF 1:572).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:19 that I may know. The offer of greater reward for Balaam's services induced him to pretend that he did not already know what "the command of the LORD" was (v 18). God permitted the greedy soothsayer to accompany Balak's emissaries to teach Balaam a lesson. At the same time, He made it clear that the expedition served only His purpose. Balaam is not an isolated example of God's dealing with people who ignore His will in their quest for material gain. He may let them attain their coveted objective and make it a means of breaking their rebellious self-will. (Cf 11:33; Ps 106:13–15; Is 10:12–14.)

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:20–21 God does not give Balaam permission but chooses words that test him.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:1–21 Fearful Balak summons the soothsayer Balaam to curse the Israelites. God works with the situation by emphasizing the importance of His Word, which must be fulfilled. God cannot be manipulated, and His Word must not be twisted for sinful purposes. Receive the Word with an open heart, and rejoice in the blessings it contains for you, especially the salvation promised in Jesus. • Lord, how magnificently You provide protection for those You love. Have mercy on us poor sinners, through Christ, the Living Word. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:22 anger was kindled. Lit, "nose grew hot," describing red-faced rage. To convince Balaam that his impure motives were known to God, He manifested His anger in a most dramatic way. angel of the LORD. Identified with the Lord (v 35). See p 1227. Sav: "Before the ass stood an angel with a sword. This is Christ" (WGS, p 101).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:23 donkey saw the angel. Only Balaam's beast of burden was at first enabled to see the heavenly vision. "The princes of Moab" (v 21) and the "two servants" (v 22) apparently remained unaware of it. Cf 2Ki 6:17; Jn 12:28–29; Ac 9:1–7. Balaam struck. Moses begins to build the irony of the fact that the donkey knows better than her master.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:28 the LORD opened the mouth of the donkey. Note the humor! she said to Balaam. By nature, animals cannot speak rationally with humans. But there can be no doubt that the Creator, who brought them to life from the mute earth (Gn 1:24), can empower them to utter His message to people when it serves His purpose. See p 1335.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:29 Balaam engages in an argument with his donkey as though nothing strange were taking place. So great is his rage he cannot see his foolishness. I wish I had a sword. Ironic, as an angel stands by with a sword (vv 23, 31).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:30 The donkey, speaking rationally, begins to win the argument!
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:31 bowed down and fell on his face. See p 1276.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:32 your way is perverse. Balaam pretended to listen to God but rushed to oppose Him.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:34 I have sinned. Balaam confessed that the Lord, who "test[s] the minds and hearts" (Ps 7:9), knew that he intended to use the Lord's permission to "go with them" (v 20) to gratify his lust for wealth. Cf Jer 11:20; Rv 2:23.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:35 speak only the word that I tell you. At the end of Balaam's journey, he was to transmit a genuine word of prophecy. Balak's plot was to be frustrated by the very agent whom he had chosen to carry it out.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:37 honor. Cf v 17. Balaam's sin likely included prideful lust for recognition.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:39 Kiriath-huzoth. Lit, "city of streets"; site mentioned only here.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:40 In Balaam's honor, Balak gave a banquet, for which oxen and sheep were slaughtered. sacrificed. Hbr does not always denote the killing of animals for ritual purposes (Dt 12:15, 21; 1Sm 28:24; 2Ch 18:2).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:41 Bamoth-baal. Lit, "the high places of baal." See p 526. Actual god involved may be Chemosh, rather than the Phoenician Baal, since "Baal" is used for Chemosh among the nearby Ammonites. See note, 21:29. saw a fraction. Superstitious technique seemed to require that the curse be uttered from a place where the soothsayer saw his victims. When the attempt failed at this otherwise unknown height, Balak took Balaam to "the top of Pisgah" (23:13–14) and finally to "the top of Peor" (23:28).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:22–41 As Balaam mocked the Lord by ignoring His Word, the Lord now comically mocks Balaam. So great is God's Word, it can make a donkey speak! Treasure the Word. Share it confidently, because the Word is God's power for working repentance and forgiving sins. • Speak, O Lord; Your servant is listening. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON Ch 23 Balaam sacrificed a bull and a ram on each of seven altars (vv 2, 14, 30). Except for the last instance, he left Balak and his princes at the altars in order to "meet" the Lord. Then he returned to them with the word of the Lord (vv 3–6, 15–17).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:3 burnt offering. See pp 170–71. bare height. Mountains and hills were wooded in an earlier era, making stony heights stand out. See pp 212–13.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:4 God met Balaam. Likely a theophany of God. See p 39.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:5 Lord put a word. He equipped Balaam with an unmistakable message.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:7–24:25 Each oracle presents new evidence that God's favor rested on the covenant nation; this builds to a climax in the fourth oracle. The central thought of each blessing and summary sentences are as follows: God has made the seed of Abraham into a great multitude (23:10); Israel has the assurance of God's unfailing promises (23:20); Israel will overcome all hostility (24:9); out of Israel, God will "in the latter days" (24:14) raise up a Ruler who will let His kingdom come (24:17).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:7–10 Balaam uttered his blessing on Israel in a discourse that made a mockery of Balak's sinister intentions.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:7 curse. God had blessed Israel and would continue to do so to establish His kingdom.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:9 a people dwelling alone. Israel is separate, holy, unique.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:10 death of the upright. Balaam acknowledged that the Israelites were righteous in God's sight. In His covenant of grace, God had declared them acceptable to Him despite their sins.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:11 bless them. Hyperbole. Poem does not explicitly bless Israel, but Balaam expresses longing to be like them, judging them upright (v 10).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:12 Cf 22:20; see note, 22:35.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:1–12 God presents the first of Balaam's four oracles. Balaam cannot curse the people whom God has not cursed (v 8). The Israelites are completely unaware that Balak seeks their harm. As Christians, we, too, are often oblivious to the many spiritual and earthly forces that seek our destruction. Thankfully, God is not oblivious to them and stretches out His mighty hand to protect us. • We praise You, O Lord, for the abundant blessings You grant each day. Deliver us from evil. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:13 Balak seems to think that Balaam is impressed by Israel's grandeur (cf v 10a). He suggests a different vantage point, which diminishes the people.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:14 field of Zophim. Lit, "the field of the watchers"; unidentified place. Pisgah. See note, 21:20.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:18 discourse. See "mashal," p 777.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:19 not man. Iren: "He thus shows that all men are indeed guilty of falsehood, inasmuch as they change from one thing to another" (ANF 1:572). See note, Gn 6:5. change His mind. See notes, 22:19; Ti 1:2. Chem: "Many in all ages have gone astray by trying to imitate these laws of Moses … [arguing from Nu 23:19 that] the ceremonial and civil laws which have come from God are not subject to change. Reply: God gave the laws in such a way that they were not to continue in perpetuity but to a certain time, until the Seed [Christ] should come, and then be abrogated, Heb. 9:10, 'imposed until the time of reformation' " (LTh 2:347, 351). See p 1646.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:21 misfortune … trouble. Israel deserved and received God's punishment for her unfaithfulness to Him. See note, v 10. God is with them. See "be with," p 5. the shout of a king is among them. Anticipates that Israel will arise in power (cf Gn 49:8–10).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:22 horns of the wild ox. Strong for defense. See "horn," p 842.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:23–24 Balaam is stripped of his usual weapons (enchantment, divination; see note, Dt 18:10–11). As a lioness. See note, Gn 49:9.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:25 In frustration, Balak gives up.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:27 another place. See note, v 13. please God. Balak persists in the hope that God will turn against His people.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:28 top of Peor. Like Bamoth-baal, this may have been a high place on which the god Peor was worshiped. See note, 22:41; see also p 526. overlooks the desert. Not even looking at Israel anymore.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:13–30 For a second time, seven altars are constructed—this time atop Pisgah (v 14). The results are the same. God does not change His mind as humans do (v 19). What God has blessed must remain blessed; therefore, Balaam must bless Israel as well. He can say only what God has commanded him to say. God's Word is changeless, and He dwells with His people to bless them. • "The LORD bless you and keep you; the LORD make His face to shine upon you and be gracious to you; the LORD lift up His countenance upon you and give you peace" (Nu 6:24–26). Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:1 look for omens. See note, Dt 18:10–11.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:2 the Spirit of God came upon him. Balaam is directed like a true prophet, though he acts only out of personal interest (see note, 22:18). God also caused the donkey to speak for Him (see note, 22:28).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:3 discourse. See "mashal," p 777. opened. Hbr word occurs only here and in v 15. If it is derived from a root meaning "to close," then Balaam had been blind to "the vision of the Almighty" (v 4) until "the Spirit of God came upon him" (v 2) and opened his eyes.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:4 the vision of the Almighty. See note, 12:6. falling down. Overwhelmed with awe (see "fall," p 1276). eyes uncovered. Cf 22:31.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:5–6 Israel's organized encampments look like a garden thriving in the wilderness.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:7 his king … kingdom. Anticipates Israel's ascendancy and coming king. See note, Gn 49:8–12. Agag. An Amalekite king bearing this name or title was defeated by Saul and slain by Samuel (1Sm 15).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:8 horns of the wild ox. See note, 23:22.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:9 See note, Gn 49:9. Blessed … cursed. See note, Gn 12:3; see also p 6.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:10 he struck his hands together. See note, Jb 34:26. See also p 1277.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:11 flee. Implying imminent punishment if Balaam will not leave.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:14 I will let you know. Balaam's discourses will end in a grand finale of prophetic utterances. He mentions specific nations, whose opposition to the covenant people will be shattered. He envisions the course of actions that God will pursue so that finally salvation comes through Israel (cf Jn 4:22). latter days. The NT era.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:1–14 God will not allow Balaam to curse the Israelites. Instead, Balaam blesses them and recites God's litany of love. Previous accounts in Numbers reveal Israel's rebellious nature. Despite this, God loves them because of His promised Savior. Today, despite all your sins, the Lord treasures you continuously and calls you to repentance and faith. • Father, the extent of Your love is beyond measure. Bless us and keep us in Christ, our Savior. Amen.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:15 oracle. See p 1079.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:17 a star. Symbol of royalty inasmuch as the king is invested with authority from heaven to reign. scepter. Symbol of royal power and authority. May also denote a comet or a constellation in the form of a staff that will light up the skies of Israel's future. It arose over Israel's horizon in David's glorious reign. But it reached its full brightness in the messianic King, whom the Wise Men found under the star of Bethlehem. Just: "That He should arise like a star from the seed of Abraham, Moses showed before hand…. Accordingly, when a star rose in heaven at the time of His birth, as is recorded in the memoirs of His apostles, the Magi from Arabia, recognizing the sign by this, came and worshipped Him" (ANF 1:252). Ephr: "The Virgin this day brought forth Immanuel in Bethlehem…. Lo! from Jacob shone the Star, and from Israel rose the Head. The prophecy that Balaam spoke had its interpreting today!" (NPNF 2 13:223). Sheth. Moab.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:18 Edom. David vanquished both Edom and Moab (cf 2Sm 8:2).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:20 The first enemy defeated by the Israelites (Ex 17:8–13) will come to destruction (1Sm 30; 1Ch 4:41–43).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:21 Kenites were associated with the Midianites (10:29; Jgs 1:16; 4:11; 1Sm 27:10; 30:29).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:22 Kain. May be a Kenite tribal name or designate a locality that "shall be burned." Asshur. Hbr word for Assyria. Some commentators believe that here it denotes some other unknown tribe. In v 24, it is linked with Eber, also an unidentified people.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:24 Kittim. Sea Peoples from Cyprus and the eastern Mediterranean coast who will destroy Asshur and Eber. Israel alone will survive.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:25 to his place. His home, unknown; see note, 22:5.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:15–25 The fourth and final oracle occurs immediately after Balaam's encounter with Balak and has to do with future events: a messianic prophecy of a star coming out of Jacob. God uses Balaam to disclose His will 1,500 years in the future. The future belongs to God. Rebellion, sin, or sinister means will not deter His plan of salvation through Christ. • Lord, we thank You for Your faithfulness fulfilled in Christ. Rule us by Your beloved Word. Amen.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:1 whore. Scripture does not mince words in describing unfaithfulness to God. Idolatry here and elsewhere is branded as harlotry (see note, Hos 4:13; cf Is 1:21; Jer 3:1). However, this ugly word is more than a figure of speech when it refers to the worship of a fertility god such as Baal of Peor (v 3). In order to gain a favorable response from Baal, devotees engaged in sexual orgies (vv 6–8). Ter: "The people go to the daughters of Moab to gratify their lust: they are allured to the idols, so that they committed whoredom with the spirit" (ANF 3:636).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:2 invited the people. This enticement came "on Balaam's advice" (31:16). When this enigmatic and perverse soothsayer was unsuccessful in his attempt to curse the Israelites, he devised a scheme that would undo his blessing. By their worship of Baal, the Israelites would incur God's wrath and destroy themselves.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:3 Baal. Lit, "lord," "owner." The principal Canaanite god, often associated with a particular place (here, Peor). Baal manifestations of fertility worship were in many locations. Baal was pictured in Canaanite mythology as a vibrant god riding a bull on the clouds. He often had the horns of a bull on his helmet. He held a club (perhaps representing thunder) in one hand and a spear (perhaps representing lightning) in the other. He was believed to exercise his power each year in the autumn and winter rains, reviving the dry soil and bringing the mysterious life force to animals and the land. Baal worship and other ancient Near Eastern fertility worship did not focus on commandments, sin, forgiveness, or life after death; it was thought instead that Baal guaranteed the dependable cycle of the growing seasons. See note, Ex 34:13; see also p 403.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:4 hang them. Lest the bad example of the chiefs lead the whole congregation astray, they were put to death. God has "no pleasure in the death of anyone" (Ezk 18:32), yet He is a devouring fire when His holy will is flouted (Ezk 33:11; Rm 1:18–32; Eph 5:6).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:5 Baal of Peor. See note, v 3.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:6 one of the people … Midianite woman. Leaders of their people (vv 14–15). in the sight. Bold defiance. weeping. Likely due to repentant sorrow. See note, Ezr 10:1.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:7–8 Phinehas, Aaron's grandson, leaps into action, in view of the Lord's command (v 4).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:8 pierced both of them. Because Phinehas "was jealous for his God" (v 13), he and his descendants were to serve as high priests, whose foremost function was to make "atonement for the people" (v 13; cf 16:46; Ex 30:10, 15; 40:15; Lv 16:29–34). the plague. Along with the punishment of the chiefs (v 4), the Lord sent further punishments among the tribes. Cf 11:33; 14:37; 16:46.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:1–9 Balaam worms his way into the spiritual lives of Israel and causes them to forsake God for the worship of Baal. The situation is reminiscent of the worship of the golden calf (Ex 32). As at that time, God's anger against sin causes the death of thousands; yet it saves tens of thousands more. God is a God of both Law and Gospel. He metes out punishment to drive people to repentance but also has compassion on His wayward sons and daughters. • Lord, grant us zeal for Your ways, that we walk and live honorably before You. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:11 jealous with My jealousy. See note, Ex 20:5.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:12 My covenant of peace. Though Phinehas has acted as a warrior, his covenant shall be for peaceful service in the priesthood. (Cf Ps 106:30–31, where "intervened" is a term for prayer.) Gr Naz: "[Phinehas] was more praised because he prayed for the people when they had transgressed. Let us then also stand and make propitiation, and let the plague be stayed, and let this be counted unto us for righteousness"

(NPNF 2 7:471). Phinehas had been appointed a priest as a descendant of Eleazar (cf Lv 10:6) but would now be the high priest.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:13 jealous for his God. Cf v 11. atonement. See note, v 8; see also p 5.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:14–15 Emphasizes the important social rank of the sinners, which illustrates the depth of the problem and Phinehas's boldness in addressing it.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:17 Cf 31:1–12.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:18 their wiles … beguiled. Midianites were not simply acting as "neighbors" but intentionally sought to lead Israel into idolatry.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:10–18 Phinehas strikes on the Lord's behalf, stopping the idolatrous actions of Zimri and Cozbi. This is a First Commandment issue. God allows no other gods before Him and takes necessary measures to preserve His people. He always gives Himself fully for His people as demonstrated by Christ's sacrifice on the cross for us. • Protect us, Lord, from the sin of idolatry. Grant us faithful ministers and leaders who will strengthen our faith by Your Word and Sacraments. Amen.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON Ch 26 Census showed increase in Manasseh (possible in two generations). A decrease in Simeon is explainable if most of the 24,000 killed by the plague at Shittim were Simeonites (25:1, 9, 14). The small number of Levites is understandable; by David's time, there were still only 38,000 over the age of 30 (1Ch 23:3).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:2 In view of the impending conquest of Canaan by force of arms, Moses was to make another tabulation of Israel's military forces.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:5–51 In the following list, the numbers in parentheses are from ch 1, allowing easy comparison of the changes Israel experienced during the wilderness wanderings. Reuben, 43,730 (46,500); Simeon, 22,200 (59,300); Gad, 40,500 (45,650); Judah, 76,500 (74,600); Issachar, 64,300 (54,400); Zebulun, 60,500 (57,400); Manasseh, 52,700 (32,200); Ephraim, 32,500 (40,500); Benjamin, 45,600 (35,400); Dan/Shuham, 64,400 (62,700); Asher, 53,400 (41,500); Naphtali, 45,400 (53,400); all of Israel, 601,730 (603,550). Despite living in the wilderness and the experience of several plagues (chs 11; 14; 16; 25), Israel's population had dropped only 0.3 percent. However, the tribe of Simeon suffered great loss, 62.5 percent of their male population. This was likely due to persistent unfaithfulness, as specifically described in the idolatry of Baal of Peor (25:4). The tribe of Ephraim suffered great losses (19.8 percent), but their brother-tribe, Manasseh, experienced the greatest growth (64 percent). Judah remained the strongest tribe.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:33 Cf 27:1–11.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:54 inheritance in proportion. First purpose of the census was military preparedness (cf vv 1–4). However, Israel would also need to possess the regions it conquered. Therefore, notes are added here regarding tribal inheritance, a great theme of the conquest in Jsh. See "portion," p 7; cf Jsh 1:6.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:56 according to lot. See note, Jsh 14:2.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:57–62 Cf chs 3–4. Genealogy is incomplete, breaking off in v 58 to focus on the ancestry of Aaron and Moses. These brothers were descendants of Kohath. Cf ch 3 for other families mentioned (v 58). See note, Ex 6:14–27.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:62 every male. Since the Levites were exempt from military duty, there was no point in establishing how many had reached the age of 20 (v 2). In their case, all male members who had survived the critical 30 days after birth were to be counted (cf 3:43). The Levites were the smallest tribe.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:63 listed by Moses and Eleazar the priest. Eleazar worked with Moses to record the census, indicating that more than one author was involved in developing the Books of Moses. See note, Ex 17:14; see also pp 3–5.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON Ch 26 Opposite the Jordan River and Jericho, the Lord commands another census. The records show God's faithfulness in preserving His people. Today, pray that God's Word and heritage will be maintained in your family. His abiding love can see you through every plague and trouble. • Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who comforts us in all our afflictions. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:1 daughters of Zelophehad. Five unmarried women having no brothers (v 3). Noah. Hbr spelling differs from the man Noah in Gn 6–9.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:2–3 They bring a precedent-setting request before Moses regarding the distribution of the land of Canaan. Our father died. Their father had no male heirs (26:33). They asked whether their father's allotment of tribal land would be lost to their family. died for his own sin. Supported Korah's rebellion.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:4 When a daughter married, the husband's name and clan received property rights.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:5–11 Decisions were based on preserving families and inheritance to keep clans, tribes, and nations strong. On the place of women in Israelite society, see p 213.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:11 statute and rule. The general rule for the division of the land was amended. In such cases, the inheritance was to remain within the smaller family unit. No individual was to acquire large estates. This ordinance was in keeping with the provision of the Year of Jubilee (Lv 25:8–34).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:1–11 Contrary to many grievances presented in Numbers, the daughters of Zelophehad approach Moses with humble demeanor to seek his counsel. The Lord hears their request and answers with grace and mercy. The prayer of the upright pleases God (Pr 15:8). He has our good at heart in all His teaching. • Lord, grant us both boldness and humility in our prayers, that we may enjoy Your blessings and prosper before You. Keep our families strong in Your Word. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:12–23 The appointment of Joshua, as well as the events recorded in chs 28–36, took place before "that very day" that Moses complied with the command to "go up this mountain" to "be gathered" to his people (Dt 32:48–52). The mention of his impending death alerted Moses to the need of appointing his successor.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:12 Abarim. One peak of this mountain range was Mount Nebo.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:13 gathered to your people. See note, 1Ki 2:10.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:16 the God of the spirits of all flesh. See note, Gn 6:3.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:17 go out … come in. Acting as a shepherd over all the affairs of the state. as sheep that have no shepherd. Wild and vulnerable.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:18 in whom is the Spirit. See note, Ex 31:3. lay your hand on him. See note, v 20. Joshua, though primarily a military and political leader, was thoroughly guided by the Lord and His Word.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:19 you shall commission him in their sight. Lit, "You shall command him before their eyes," charging him with duty.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:20 invest … authority. Chem: "God says to Moses … the authority with which you have hitherto been adorned you will give to your successor, so also is authority publicly given before the church to him upon whom the hands are laid" (LTh 2:705–6).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:21 Urim. See notes, Ex 28:30; 1Sm 14:39–42. God had communicated with Moses face-to-face (Ex 33:11; Dt 34:10). Moses' successor likewise was to act at God's word. But the will of the Lord was to be revealed to Joshua through Eleazar and the Urim.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:12–23 Death is near for Moses, who desires that God would provide a new leader. Otherwise, the people would wander like "sheep that have no shepherd" (v 17). In His mercy, God raises up Joshua, one of the two spies who returned from the Promised Land with a favorable report (cf v 18; 14:6–9). Today, pray that the Lord would bless the leaders of your congregation, your church, and its institutions. Pray that He will raise up a new and faithful generation focused on the Word of life. He is always ready to provide for His beloved flock through our Good Shepherd, Jesus. • Lord, we are sinful sheep. By Your Spirit, raise up faithful leaders to guide us through Word and Sacrament. Amen.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON Chs 28–29 The people who were about to cross the Jordan were a new generation (26:64–65). For their benefit, the Lord emphasized that they must bring the offerings and sacrifices, prescribed by Him through Moses, also after Joshua led them into the land of Canaan. The kinds of oblations and the presentation of them had been defined for the previous generation (Lv 1–7; 23; Nu 15:1–16). The statutes, not substantially different from those given earlier, provide a convenient summary and calendar of sacrificial services noted in Ex 23:14–17; 29:38–42; 31:12–17; Lv 23. Here, the priests could see the full number of required sacrifices listed, from daily to annual observances. In repeating much of this legislation, the Lord made it clear that Israel received the blessing of His unceasing presence in regular communion with Him. The sacrifices and offerings were to be brought in due season: daily (28:3–8), on the weekly Sabbath days (28:9–10), at the beginning of every month (28:11–15), on specified days of the year (28:16–29:40). See pp 170–71, 200–201.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 28:1–8 Known as the Tamid, from the term "regular" (v 3). Here is the core devotion of Israel: the offering of a male lamb. Cf Jn 1:29.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 28:4–8 Three parts of that daily sacrifice: the burning of the lamb, the drink offering, and the offering of wheat flour. "The Law had pictures or shadows of future things [Colossians 2:17]. So Christ and the entire worship of the New Testament are shown in this picture. The burning of the lamb illustrates Christ's death. The drink offering illustrates that everywhere in the entire world, by the preaching of the Gospel, believers are sprinkled with the blood of that Lamb, that is, sanctified. Peter says, 'In the sanctification of the Spirit, for obedience to Jesus Christ and for sprinkling with His blood' (1 Peter 1:2). The offering of wheat flour means faith, prayer, and thanksgiving in hearts. Therefore, in the Old Testament, the shadow is discerned. In the New, the thing illustrated should be sought, and not another type, as sufficient for a sacrifice" (Ap XXIV 36–37).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 28:7 pour out. The Lord had specified the amount of wine (Ex 29:40) but had not directed how it was to be offered to Him.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 28:9 ephah. See p cx.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 28:16–25 Cf 9:1–14; Ex 12:6, 18.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 28:22 male. See note, Lv 1:10.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 28:26 Feast of Weeks. See note, Lv 23:15–16.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 29:12–38 Provisions for the celebration of this eight-day festival are expanded (Lv 23:34–36). Added here are the numbers and kinds of animals to be sacrificed, together with the required grain and drink offerings. A total of 70 bulls are offered. The decreasing number of bulls offered (from 13 to 7) probably symbolized the gradual unwinding of the festival from its high point, though it still ended with the sacred number seven.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 29:35 solemn assembly. A closing service for the feast.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON Chs 28–29 With the older generation buried in the wilderness, God begins grooming the younger generation as faithful stewards of His Law. As sacrificial smoke wends heavenward, we glimpse the worshiper's total dedication to God (cf Rm 12:1). Present as well is the underlying theme ultimately fulfilled in the death of Jesus Christ: blood is necessary for atonement (Heb 9:22). • Father, through the Divine Worship, You draw near to us, that we may again be shepherded for this life and consecrated for the life to come. Amen.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 30:1 heads of the tribes. Cf ch 2; see note, Ex 3:16.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 30:2 vows a vow. See p 7. Chs 28–29 dealt with prescribed offerings but not the previous regulations governing "vow offerings and … freewill offerings" (29:39; Lv 27; Nu 6). Such vows were made publicly before God and His servants at the tabernacle (cf Ps 116:18–19). he shall not break his word. The general rule was to remain in force: all vows were to be kept (cf v 9). But special provisions are now added for vows by women if they affected relations between "a man and his wife" and between "a father and his daughter" (v 16). "You must also know how to use God's name rightly. For when He says, 'You shall not take the name of the Lord, your God, in vain,' He wants us to understand at the same time that His name is to be used properly. For His name has been revealed and given to us so that it may be of constant use and profit. So it is natural to conclude that since this commandment forbids using the holy name for falsehood or wickedness, we are, on the other hand, commanded to use His name for truth and for all good, like when someone takes an oath truthfully when it is needed and it is demanded" (LC I 63–64).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 30:1–2 Vows made to God—made in His name—are to be carried out faithfully. When these vows are not fulfilled, they reflect poorly on God's good name and shame His people. Our word must be our bond, including our word of repentance when we do not live up to our words. God's Word does not fail us. All His promises are yes to us in Christ Jesus (2Co 1:20). • "Speak, O Lord, Your servant listens, Let Your Word to me come near; Newborn life and spirit give me, Let each promise still my fear. Death's dread pow'r, its inward strife, Wars against Your Word of life; Fill me, Lord, with love's strong fervor That I cling to You forever!" Amen. (LSB 589:1)

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 30:3–16 Highlights relationships between fathers/daughters and husbands/wives. An Israelite woman was typically in a dependent relationship with a male family member. This reality has offended some advocates of women's rights, who view such a situation as "patriarchal" or unfair. Such assessments fail to appreciate the realities of life in a tribal culture, where raids on villages were common. Women who did not have a protector were extremely vulnerable (Gn 34:1–2; Dt 21:10–14; 22:23–29; 2Sm 13:14; 2Ki 5:2). Women in Israel sought a dependent relationship; interdependency was regarded as a matter of survival (see note, Is 4:1). The modern battle between the sexes was completely unknown to ancient Israelites and is foreign to God's design for families. See notes, Gn 2:18, 24; Eph 5:22–25. See also p 1291.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 30:3 binds herself. The purpose of the additional regulations was to safeguard marital harmony (e.g., 1Sm 1:11, 22–23). The vow to abstain from sexual relations was to be made by women only with the consent of their husbands or the men they were about to marry (cf 1Co 7:1–7).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 30:4 father … says nothing. He makes no protest; silence establishes his responsibility.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 30:5 the LORD will forgive her. He will not hold her responsible for the vow.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 30:6–15 In certain instances, the head of the household may "make void" (v 13) the pledge, provided that he makes his objections known "on the day that he hears" (v 12) of it.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 30:6 thoughtless utterance. A hasty vow.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 30:9 divorced woman. Cf Dt 24:1–4. A widow or a divorced woman who was not bound by family ties could make vows of any kind.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 30:14 her husband says nothing. See note, v 4.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 30:3–16 Dependents need the approval of their father or husband to make a binding vow. Our decisions are often not simply our own; they certainly affect other people—especially in a family. As you pray about the path of life ahead, consider how your choices will affect others. Discuss matters with them, as appropriate. Pray for the Lord's guidance, and seek understanding in His Word. His Word to you is good, sealed in the promise of Christ Jesus, the head of His Bride, the Church. • "Unless You build it, Father, The house is built in vain; Unless You, Savior, bless it, The joy will turn to pain. But nothing breaks the union Of hearts in You made one; The love Your Spirit hallows Is endless love begun." Amen. (LSB 858:4)

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:2 Avenge. God was provoked to vengeance on the Midianites because they had seduced Israel to idolatry (v 16; ch 25). The war seems to focus specifically on Midianites involved with corrupting Israel (five kings, v 8), not the entire people of Midian. Ambr: "A deeper vengeance is taken on fiercer foes, and on those that are false as well as on those who have done greater wrongs, as was the case with the Midianites" (NPNF 2 10:24). Midianites. The nationality of Moses' wife and her family (Ex 2:16–22).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:4 thousand. See p 217.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:6 Phinehas. He, not Joshua or Eleazar, was chosen to direct this campaign, because he had proved that he was "jealous for his God" (25:6–13). the vessels of the sanctuary. Lit, "the instruments of holiness," which are "the trumpets for the alarm."
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:7 killed every male. See note, v 2. Unlike the war of conquest, where the Canaanites would be wiped out (see pp 338–40), the soldiers plan to spare the Midianite women and children (v 9).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:8 the kings of Midian. Regional tribal rulers.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:9 captive the women … their little ones. Common strategy in tribal warfare. Men of fighting age could not be absorbed into a new tribe. However, women and children could be assimilated and were shown mercy. Whereas other nations regarded the taking of women as part of the spoils of war (Jgs 5:30), Moses here distinguishes between the captives and the plunder.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:15–16 Moses is concerned about the assimilation of the women and the boys because the Midianites had specifically sought to corrupt Israel before. However, because adultery was punishable by death under the Law (Lv 20:10), Moses might have regarded the Midianites here as adulterous and deserving the full punishment. Though Moses' decisions accord with God's original command to avenge the people of Israel (v 2), the specific orders about treatment of prisoners do not have God's explicit command or approval (cf 2Ki 6:18–23; see application note, 2Ch 28:5–21). plague. Refers to a disease that had earlier taken the lives of 24,000 Israelites. Same term used in 1Sm 6:5 (cf 1Sm 5:9, 12, where the men break out with tumors). The character of the plague is not explained. It is possible that it spread by sexual contact, which could have informed Moses' decisions about handling the Midianite prisoners.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:17–18 Moses' decision eerily parallels the practices of the Egyptians in Ex 1:22.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:18 young girls. Virgins, who had not been the cause of Israel's harlotry, were to be spared. They would most easily adapt to life in a new tribe and would also not carry sexually transmitted diseases.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:19–20 purify. See p 300. Those who had come in contact with corpses were to perform the prescribed purification rites (cf v 24).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:21–23 statute of the law. See p 971. pass through the fire. All material objects of spoil were to be "purified with the water for impurity" (cf 19:9–19). Metals had to pass through fire to be clean. These actions, too, may point to concerns about the spread of disease. See note, vv 15–16.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:24 Cf v 20.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:27 into two parts. All booty was to be shared equally by soldiers and civilians. The former were required to take from their half and give the priests one out of 500; the noncombatants contributed from their part one out of 50 to the Levites.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:32–47 The Midianite tribe was wealthy. Since there were 32,000 young women, the total tribe had likely numbered more than 100,000. However, this is clearly not the full number of Midianites, but a local group.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:49 not a man missing. The battle was miraculous.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:50 When the military leaders saw that they had suffered no casualties, they realized how good the Lord had been to them. Out of gratitude, they brought voluntary offerings to Moses and Eleazar. atonement. See p 5.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON Ch 31 Moses is given a final assignment. He is to oversee the destruction of a group of Midianites who had tempted Israel to idolatry and brought a plague among them. God acts forcefully to protect His people from falling away. Phinehas, the son of Eleazar the high priest, coordinates the attack. The victory secures the east bank of the Jordan, from which the Israelites will conquer Canaan. The tactics described here were meant for this specific situation and cannot be used by people today as a guide to "holy war." Vengeance belongs to God (Dt 32:35) and is enacted through His chosen authorities, not by individuals. Pray for the safety and peace of soldiers, police, and all in such callings. Entrust your life, health, and future to the one and only Savior, who is strong to deliver. • "Entrust your days and burdens To God's most loving hand; He cares for you while ruling The sky, the sea, the land. For He who guides the tempests Along their thund'rous ways Will find for you a pathway And guide you all your days." Amen. (LSB 754:1) NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:1 a place for livestock. Plains for grazing.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:5 The prospect of material gain motivated the request by Reuben and Gad. Selfish interests prevailed over their sense of unity as the covenant people. They were inclined to shirk obligation to other tribes to complete the conquest of the Promised Land.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:6–9 Moses reminds the people of Reuben and Gad what happened when Israel last hesitated (ch 14). Also, the Reubenites were important instigators in Korah's rebellion (16:1).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:7 discourage the heart. Moses feared that the desertion of the common cause by the two tribes would have the same disheartening effect on the people that the report of the spies had produced and would precipitate a similar judgment by the Lord (chs 13–14).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:14 Moses snaps at their suggestion (v 5), assuming that rebellion is again about to follow.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:16 came near. Perhaps for a private conference. sheepfolds. Rock walls formed a large pen, where sheep and shepherds were safe from nighttime predators. Caves were also used for this purpose. cities for our little ones. Permanent settlements.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:18 Gad and Reuben commit themselves to full and lasting military service to address Moses' concern (v 6).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:20–22 Whereas the men of Reuben and Gad pledged themselves in service to their brethren (v 17), Moses emphasized they were vowing to serve the Lord.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:21 pass over the Jordan. Upon the promise of Gad and Reuben to help protect the other tribes, they were permitted to claim the land between the Arnon and Jabbok rivers, most of which had already been taken from the Amorites (21:21–35). It appears to have been a joint occupation of the entire territory without clearly defined borders between the two tribes. Manasseh was able to get its Transjordan portion by dispossessing the Amorites north of the Jabbok (vv 39–42).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:23 God would judge them for an unfulfilled vow.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:28–29 The settlement discussed privately (vv 16–27) is now made public.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:33 half-tribe of Manasseh. Half of the tribe of Manasseh received its land on the east side of the Jordan River, together with the tribes of Reuben and Gad. The other half of Manasseh will receive its land in Jsh 17.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:34–36 built … fortified cities, and folds for sheep. They likely adapted captured cities and sheepfolds, so the settlement would not have taken too long. Cf vv 41–42.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:40 Moses had led the earlier attacks, which captured the territory, giving him authority to make the grants.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:42 Nobah. Perhaps from Gad.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON Ch 32 The Reubenites and Gadites desire the good land east of the Jordan to raise livestock. They vow to fight beside their brothers in the conquest of Canaan (fulfilled in Jsh 22:1–6). When you make promises, keep your word, for the Lord will hold you responsible. Rejoice that He keeps His Word responsibly, promising and delivering His blessings and care. • "O Comforter of priceless worth, Send peace and unity on earth; Support us in our final strife And lead us out of death to life." Amen. (LSB 655:3)
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:1–49 Israel's journeys under Moses' leadership had come to an end. Having brought his people within striking distance of their ultimate goal, Moses compiled a list of their encampments. The following travelogue is similar to other ancient travel documents, such as the Old Babylonian itinerary (eighteenth century BC), the travels of Shamshi-Adad I of Assyria, and the campaign records of the New Kingdom Pharaohs (fifteenth to thirteenth centuries BC). For the modern reader, this collection of data may be as unexciting as the genealogical tables in Gn. But each link in this long chain of place-names stirred a song of praise in Israelite hearts because a mighty and forgiving God had been with them every step of the way from Egypt to the Jordan. He did not forsake the escaped slaves, no matter where they encamped or from where they set out (v 3). Believers need only to hear the names of the encampments of their pilgrimage to be moved to recount gratefully what God had done for them.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:1 stages. Lit, "their breaking camp"; a noun derived from the verb translated as "they set out" (e.g., v 3).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:4 On their gods also the LORD executed judgments. See notes, Ex 1:8; 3:22; 7:12.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:5–49 See map, p 120. Moses surveyed the people's past from the exodus (Ex 12:37; 13:4) to their arrival in the plains of Moab 40 years later (vv 48–49). The list names the places recorded in the preceding accounts of their wilderness wanderings. The journey from Egypt to Mount Sinai is repeated in vv 5–15 (Ex 12:37–19:2). But this section also names two new sites (Dophkah, Alush, vv 12–14). In vv 16–49, the names of many more sites supplement the sketchy account of Israel's progress from Mount Sinai to the plains of Moab (10:11–26:3). This log does not mention some encampments that appeared in the preceding record (21:18–19). The location of some of these stations cannot be identified. Consequently, the exact route of the wanderings, particularly during the last 38 years, cannot be definitely established.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:8 three days' journey. Moses seems to distinguish travel camps (for an evening) from more permanent camps, as at Marah.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:38 first day of the fifth month. Ab 1407. See calendar, p 262.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:39 Mount Hor. See note, 20:22. High places were regarded as sacred. See p 526.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:40 Alludes to the battle at Arad (21:1–3).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:42 Punon. Likely within the borders of Edom (see note, 21:10). They may have crossed Ammonite or Edomite territory to camp here.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:49 Encompassing c 7 mi.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:1–49 God guides Israel every step of the way to the Promised Land. He dwells among them as He had promised (Ex 25:8). He is always their God for the sake of His love toward them in the coming Messiah, although many times the Israelites do not behave like God's people. Even now, in Jesus the Messiah, the Lord walks with you and remains ever faithful, calling you to repentance, faith, and a blessed future.

• "Rise! To arms! With prayer employ you, O Christians, lest the foe destroy you; For Satan has designed your fall. Wield God's Word, the weapon glorious; Against all foes be thus victorious, For God protects you from them all. Fear not the hordes of hell, Here is Emmanuel. Hail the Savior! The strong foes yield To Christ, our shield, And we, the victors, hold the field." Amen. (LSB 668:1)

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:52 drive out. At times, the Lord speaks of displacing the Canaanites; at other times, of destroying them. The two approaches do not appear to conflict, because the goal in either case was to make room for Israel. See note, Jsh 23:9. See also "devote to destruction," p 6. The Canaanites' idolatrous symbols and sites of worship were to be demolished. At this time, their measure of iniquity was complete (Gn 15:16). high places. See p 526.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:53 I have given the land. See note, Jsh 1:6.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:54 by lot according to your clans. The extent of each allotment was proportionate to the size of the tribe, which had been established by the census.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:55 barbs … thorns. See note, Jgs 2:3.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:56 The Israelites were to know that their God was not a partisan or national deity. If their disobedience to this command later brought about their apostasy, He would punish them as severely as He did the Canaanites (Dt 8:19–20). Unfortunately, the Israelites disregarded this warning and broke the covenant. God carried out His threat. Cf 2Ki 17; 25.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:50–56 God does not want the religions of the heathen Canaanites to influence the Israelites or to lead them astray as did the Midianites. God's people today should avoid all syncretism with other religions, lest the teaching of God's Word be corrupted. As you interact with others who do not know or believe in Christ, pray for their deliverance, life, and salvation. Rejoice in the inheritance the Lord grants you as His beloved children. • "Preserve Your Word, O Savior, To us this latter day, And let Your kingdom flourish; Enlarge Your Church, we pray. O keep our faith from failing; Keep hope's bright star aglow. Let nothing from truth turn us While living here below." Amen. (LSB 658:1)
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 34:3 The southern border of the Promised Land began at the lower tip of the Salt Sea and swept southward in a semicircle, turning northward along the Brook of Egypt and ending at the Mediterranean (Jsh 15:2–4). See color map 1.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 34:7–9 Mount Hor. This unidentified mountain must be distinguished from the height where Aaron was buried (20:22–29; 33:38–39). Apparently, it is a northern peak of the Lebanon range. From here, the northern border was formed by a line drawn eastward to the desert and ending at an oasis named Hazar-enan, west of Hamath. See map, p 250.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 34:8 you shall draw a line. The Lord speaks to Moses as though he has a map in front of him. A clay map of the Mesopotamian city Nippur dates from this era. Moses may have created such a reference tool.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 34:11–12 The eastern border is traced from Hazar-enan south through some unknown sites to a line that ran westward to the southeastern edge of the Sea of Chinnereth. From here, it followed the Jordan to the Salt Sea, the starting point of the survey (v 3).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 34:13 inherit by lot. Cf Jsh 14–20.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 34:1–15 God has already given the Israelites the Promised Land. Yet, the Lord still calls them to faithful action, to live and serve according to the promise. He also calls us to fulfill our calling as His heaven-bound people. As you face new challenges, consider that the Lord has already prepared your way. His gift and inheritance cannot be taken from you. • "Faint not nor fear, His arms are near; He changes not who holds you dear; Only believe, and you will see That Christ is all eternally." Amen. (LSB 664:4)
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 34:17 for inheritance. Before the Israelites began to take possession of the land, God reminded them that they had no vested claim to it; it was His gift to them. He would assign each tribe an allotment (v 13; 26:52–56; Jsh 14:2).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 34:18–29 Ten tribal leaders were chosen to carry out the divine directives for the division of the land west of the Jordan. Reuben and Gad had already received their portion. See "portion," p 7.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 34:16–29 The Lord works through the drawing of lots and assigns the territory He wishes various tribes to inhabit (cf Jsh 14–20). Eleazar and Joshua oversee the process as God's representatives. Inheritance can become a matter of dispute in families. Speak and work in a Christlike manner with family members about sensitive matters. Realize that, as God's people, Christ has prepared a great and lasting inheritance for you, which surpasses all earthly joys. • "O sweet and blessed country, The home of God's elect! O sweet and blessed country That faithful hearts expect! In mercy, Jesus, bring us To that eternal rest With You and God the Father And Spirit, ever blest." Amen. (LSB 672:4)
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:3 pasturelands. The offerings at the tabernacle alone would not feed and sustain the Levites and their families; they needed homes and pastures nearby.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:6–7 six cities of refuge. Cf Jsh 20. forty-two cities. Levites were not to have their inheritance in one compact area (cf 18:20–24). Because they were to represent all of Israel by their service in the tabernacle (18:1–7), each tribe, "in proportion to" (35:8) its size, was to contribute cities and their surrounding grazing grounds in order to provide the Levites with dwelling places and a means of sustenance (Jsh 21). The 6 cities of refuge added to the 42 Levitical holdings equal 48 localities surrendered by all tribes.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:1–8 God had selected the Levites to help the priests. Their cities of refuge would protect individuals accused of accidental killing. The Lord leaves nothing to chance or accident but thoroughly prepares for His people's bodily needs, peace, and blessing. Today, entrust your life and ways to Him, for He cares for you! • "O God of mercy, God of might, In love and pity infinite, Teach us, as ever in Thy sight, To live our lives in Thee." Amen. (LSB 852:1)

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:11 select cities. Advance instructions for the allotment of Israel's inheritance included the directive to set aside six cities to serve the common good in the maintenance of social order. manslayer. One who unintentionally or without malicious forethought had caused the death of another could find safety from the avenger in one of the six cities of refuge.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:12 avenger. According to ancient custom, a slain person's nearest of kin had the right to act as "the avenger of blood." It devolved upon him to take the life of the murderer of his relative (vv 25, 27; cf Gn 4:9). This means of safeguarding the sanctity of life and of administering justice was to be severely restricted. The old system could have resulted in endless feuds. See note, 1Ki 2:31. stands before the congregation. See p 792.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:14 three cities beyond the Jordan. Named by Moses (Dt 4:43). three cities in the land of Canaan. Appointed by Joshua (Jsh 20:7).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:16–34 Elders of each city would sort through such matters. See p 792.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:16 iron object. See note, Jb 20:24. murderer shall be put to death. The institution of cities of refuge was not to abrogate the law that "whoever sheds the blood of man, by man shall his blood be shed" (Gn 9:6). But capital punishment could be inflicted on an accused murderer only "on the evidence of witnesses" to the crime (v 30; cf Dt 19:15).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:22–23 God's Law is esp focused on the issue of motive. See note, Ex 20:13.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:24 congregation shall judge. See p 792.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:25 rescue. Provide refuge. until the death of the high priest. The life of the high priest served as an atonement in such cases.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:27 avenger … not be guilty of blood. See note, v 12.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:30 See note, v 16.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:31 no ransom. Unpardonable. However, see "redeem," p 843.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:32 before the death of the high priest. See note, v 25.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:33 blood pollutes the land. See note, v 12. no atonement. Unpardonable. Cf v 31.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:34 I the LORD dwell in the midst of the people of Israel. See note, Ex 25:17; see also "be with," p 5.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:9–34 Individuals accused of an accidental killing find safety from "the avenger of blood" in cities of refuge. These cities could not harbor intentional murders (cf Ex 20:13). To protect the innocent, God establishes a system of justice with two witnesses (v 30). Today, pray for the families of victims and for the guilty. Pray also for wise lawmakers, judges, and juries. Our God is a judge who has pronounced just punishment. In Christ, He also pronounces grace and mercy, which are blessings for believers, who in turn benefit their communities. • " 'You shall not murder, hurt, nor hate; Your anger dare not dominate. Be kind and patient; help, defend, And treat your foe as your friend.' Have mercy, Lord!" Amen. (LSB 581:6)
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 36:2 Moses had ruled that daughters were entitled to inherit their father's portion if he had no sons (27:1–11).
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 36:3 the inheritance of our fathers. The leaders of the tribe of Manasseh, to whom the litigant women belonged, foresaw that an unrestricted application of this provision could destroy the established tribal borders. If such an heiress married a member of another tribe, her husband would become the owner of the land within another tribe's inheritance.
NUMBERS—NOTE ON 36:4 jubilee of the people. Year of Jubilee, when holdings acquired by financial transactions were to be returned to the former owner (Lv 25:8–34). See p 206. This would not restore the property to the original tribe, however.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 36:6 whom they think best. These women had a choice in finding husbands. See pp 212–13; see also note, 30:9. marry within the clan. To keep borders of tribal allotments intact.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 36:11 married to sons of their father's brothers. Not necessarily first cousins; "brothers" here could mean members of Manasseh generally.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 36:13 commandments … rules. See p 971. Summarizes the directives that up to this point Moses had given to the Israelites after their arrival in the plains of Moab. Before his death, he had more to say to his people (cf Dt). in the plains of Moab. See color map 2.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON Ch 36 For each tribe to retain its territory, God commands that Zelophehad's daughters choose husbands within their own tribe. Numbers ends with a brief summary statement that all regulations therein came by God's hand. In Christ, God cares for each individual. He willingly bends an ear to hear even the most routine request and acts on each person's behalf with righteousness and mercy. • Lord, You lovingly guided Your people Israel. You also found me in my sin and saved me through the precious blood of Your Son. Preserve me in the one true faith. Amen.

The Command to Leave Horeb

1 [1]These are the words that Moses spoke to all Israel beyond the Jordan in the wilderness, in the Arabah opposite Suph, between Paran and Tophel, Laban, Hazeroth, and Dizahab. [2]It is eleven days' journey from Horeb by the way of Mount Seir to Kadesh-barnea. [3]In the fortieth year, on the first day of the eleventh month, Moses spoke to the people of Israel according to all that the Lord had given him in commandment to them, [4] after he had defeated Sihon the king of the Amorites, who lived in Heshbon, and Og the king of Bashan, who lived in Ashtaroth and in Edrei.
[5]Beyond the Jordan, in the land of Moab, Moses undertook to explain this law, saying, [6]"The Lord our God said to us in Horeb, 'You have stayed long enough at this mountain. [7]Turn and take your journey, and go to the hill country of the Amorites and to all their neighbors in the Arabah, in the hill country and in the lowland and in the Negeb and by the seacoast, the land of the Canaanites, and Lebanon, as far as the great river, the river Euphrates. [8]See, I have set the land before you. Go in and take possession of the land that the Lord swore to your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give to them and to their offspring after them.'

Leaders Appointed

9 ‡ ‡ “At that time I said to you, ‘I am not able to bear you by myself.
10 † The Lord your God has multiplied you, and behold, you are today as numerous as the stars of heaven. 11 † May the Lord, the God of your fathers, make you a thousand times as many as you are and bless you, as he has promised you! 12 † How can I bear by myself the weight and burden of you and your strife? 13 † Choose for your tribes wise, understanding, and experienced men, and I will appoint them as your heads.’ 14 And you answered me, ‘The thing that you have spoken is good for us to do.’ 15 † So I took the heads of your tribes, wise and experienced men, and set them as heads over you, commanders of thousands, commanders of hundreds, commanders of fifties, commanders of tens, and officers, throughout your tribes. 16 † And I charged your judges at that time, ‘Hear the cases between your brothers, and judge righteously between a man and his brother or the alien who is with him. 17 † You shall not be partial in judgment. You shall hear the small and the great alike. You shall not be intimidated by anyone, for the judgment is God’s. And the case that is too hard for you, you shall bring to me, and I will hear it.’ 18 † And I commanded you at that time all the things that you should do.

Israel's Refusal to Enter the Land

19 ‡ ‡ ‡ "Then we set out from Horeb and went through all that great and terrifying wilderness that you saw, on the way to the hill country of the Amorites, as the Lord our God commanded us. And we came to Kadesh-barnea. 20 † And I said to you, 'You have come to the hill country of the Amorites, which the Lord our God is giving us. 21 † See, the Lord your God has set the land before you. Go up, take possession, as the Lord, the God of your fathers, has told you. Do not fear or be dismayed.' 22 † Then all of you came near me and said, 'Let us send men before us, that they may explore the land for us and bring us word again of the way by which we must go up and the cities into which we shall come.' 23 The thing seemed good to me, and I took twelve men from you, one man from each tribe. 24 † And they turned and went up into the hill country, and came to the Valley of Eshcol and spied it out. 25 † And they took in their hands some of the fruit of the land and brought it down to us, and brought us word again and said, 'It is a good land that the Lord our God is giving us.'

26 † "Yet you would not go up, but rebelled against the command of the Lord your God. 27 † And you murmured in your tents and said, 'Because the Lord hated us he has brought us out of the land of Egypt, to give us into the hand of the Amorites, to destroy us. 28 † Where are we going up? Our brothers have made our hearts melt, saying, "The people are greater and taller than we. The cities are great and fortified up to heaven. And besides, we have seen the sons of the Anakim there."' 29 Then I said to you, 'Do not be in dread or afraid of them. 30 † The Lord your God who goes before you will himself fight for you, just as he did for you in Egypt before your eyes, 31 † and in the wilderness, where you have seen how the Lord your God carried you, as a man carries his son, all the way that you went until you came to this place.' 32 Yet in spite of this word you did not believe the Lord your God, 33 † who went before you in the way to seek you out a place to pitch your tents, in fire by night and in the cloud by day, to show you by what way you should go.

The Penalty for Israel's Rebellion

34 ‡ ‡ "And the Lord heard your words and was angered, and he swore, 35 'Not one of these men of this evil generation shall see the good land that I swore to give to your fathers, 36 † except Caleb the son of Jephunneh. He shall see it, and to him and to his children I will give the land on which he has trodden, because he has wholly followed the Lord!' 37 ‡ Even with me the Lord was angry on your account and said, 'You also shall not go in there.
38 † Joshua the son of Nun, who stands before you, he shall enter. Encourage him, for he shall cause Israel to inherit it. 39 † And as for your little ones, who you said would become a prey, and your children, who today have no knowledge of good or evil, they shall go in there. And to them I will give it, and they shall possess it. 40 † But as for you, turn, and journey into the wilderness in the direction of the Red Sea.' 41 † "Then you answered me, 'We have sinned against the Lord. We ourselves will go up and fight, just as the Lord our God commanded us.'
And every one of you fastened on his weapons of war and thought it easy to go up into the hill country. 42 † And the Lord said to me, 'Say to them, Do not go up or fight, for I am not in your midst, lest you be defeated before your enemies.' 43 So I spoke to you, and you would not listen; but you rebelled against the command of the Lord and presumptuously went up into the hill country. 44 † Then the Amorites who lived in that hill country came out against you and chased you as bees do and beat you down in Seir as far as Hormah. 45 † And you returned and wept before the Lord, but the Lord did not listen to your voice or give ear to you. 46 † So you remained at Kadesh many days, the days that you remained there.

The Wilderness Years

2 [1]‡† “Then we turned and journeyed into the wilderness in the direction of the Red Sea, as the Lord told me. And for many days we traveled around Mount Seir. [2]Then the Lord said to me, [3]† ‘You have been traveling around this mountain country long enough. Turn northward [4]† and command the people, “You are about to pass through the territory of your brothers, the people of Esau, who live in Seir; and they will be afraid of you. So be very careful. [5]† Do not contend with them, for I will not give you any of their land, no, not so much as for the sole of the foot to tread on, because I have given Mount Seir to Esau as a possession. [6]You shall purchase food from them for money, that you may eat, and you shall also buy water of them for money, that you may drink. [7]† For the Lord your God has blessed you in all the work of your hands. He knows your going through this great wilderness. These forty years the Lord your God has been with you. You have lacked nothing.”’ [8]† So we went on, away from our brothers, the people of Esau, who live in Seir, away from the Arabah road from Elath and Ezion-geber.

“And we turned and went in the direction of the wilderness of Moab. [9]† And the Lord said to me, ‘Do not harass Moab or contend with them in battle, for I will not give you any of their land for a possession, because I have given Ar to the people of Lot for a possession.’ [10]‡† (The Emim formerly lived there, a people great and many, and tall as the Anakim. [11]† Like the Anakim they are also counted as Rephaim, but the Moabites call them Emim. [12]† The Horites also lived in Seir formerly, but the people of Esau dispossessed them and destroyed them from before them and settled in their place, as Israel did to the land of their possession, which the Lord gave to them.) [13]† ‘Now rise up and go over the brook Zered.’ So we went over the brook Zered. [14]† And the time from our leaving Kadesh-barnea until we crossed the brook Zered was thirty-eight years, until the entire generation, that is, the men of war, had perished from the camp, as the Lord had sworn to them. [15]For indeed the hand of the Lord was against them, to destroy them from the camp, until they had perished.

16 “So as soon as all the men of war had perished and were dead from among the people, 17 the Lord said to me, 18 ‘Today you are to cross the border of Moab at Ar. 19 † And when you approach the territory of the people of Ammon, do not harass them or contend with them, for I will not give you any of the land of the people of Ammon as a possession, because I have given it to the sons of Lot for a possession.’ 20 † (It is also counted as a land of Rephaim. Rephaim formerly lived there—but the Ammonites call them Zamzummim— 21 † a people great and many, and tall as the Anakim; but the Lord destroyed them before the Ammonites,[1] and they dispossessed them and settled in their place, 22 † as he did for the people of Esau, who live in Seir, when he destroyed the Horites before them and they dispossessed them and settled in their place even to this day. 23 † As for the Avvim, who lived in villages as far as Gaza, the Caphtorim, who came from Caphtor, destroyed them and settled in their place.) 24 ‘Rise up, set out on your journey and go over the Valley of the Arnon. Behold, I have given into your hand Sihon the Amorite, king of Heshbon, and his land. Begin to take possession, and contend with him in battle. 25 † This day I will begin to put the dread and fear of you on the peoples who are under the whole heaven, who shall hear the report of you and shall tremble and be in anguish because of you.’

The Defeat of King Sihon

26 ‡ ‡ ‡ “So I sent messengers from the wilderness of Kedemoth to Sihon the king of Heshbon, with words of peace, saying, 27 ‡ ‘Let me pass through your land. I will go only by the road; I will turn aside neither to the right nor to the left. 28 You shall sell me food for money, that I may eat, and give me water for money, that I may drink. Only let me pass through on foot, 29 ‡ as the sons of Esau who live in Seir and the Moabites who live in Ar did for me, until I go over the Jordan into the land that the Lord our God is giving to us.’ 30 ‡ But Sihon the king of Heshbon would not let us pass by him, for the Lord your God hardened his spirit and made his heart obstinate, that he might give him into your hand, as he is this day. 31 ‡ And the Lord said to me, ‘Behold, I have begun to give Sihon and his land over to you.
Begin to take possession, that you may occupy his land.’ 32 ‡ Then Sihon came out against us, he and all his people, to battle at Jahaz. 33 And the Lord our God gave him over to us, and we defeated him and his sons and all his people. 34 ‡ And we captured all his cities at that time and devoted to destruction[1] every city, men, women, and children. We left no survivors.
35 Only the livestock we took as spoil for ourselves, with the plunder of the cities that we captured. 36 ‡ From Aroer, which is on the edge of the Valley of the Arnon, and from the city that is in the valley, as far as Gilead, there was not a city too high for us. The Lord our God gave all into our hands. 37 ‡ Only to the land of the sons of Ammon you did not draw near, that is, to all the banks of the river Jabbok and the cities of the hill country, whatever the Lord our God had forbidden us.

The Defeat of King Og

3 [1]†‡†“Then we turned and went up the way to Bashan. And Og the king of Bashan came out against us, he and all his people, to battle at Edrei. [2]But the Lord said to me, ‘Do not fear him, for I have given him and all his people and his land into your hand. And you shall do to him as you did to Sihon the king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon.’ [3]So the Lord our God gave into our hand Og also, the king of Bashan, and all his people, and we struck him down until he had no survivor left. [4]†And we took all his cities at that time—there was not a city that we did not take from them—sixty cities, the whole region of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Bashan. [5]†All these were cities fortified with high walls, gates, and bars, besides very many unwalled villages. [6]†And we devoted them to destruction,[2] as we did to Sihon the king of Heshbon, devoting to destruction every city, men, women, and children. [7]†But all the livestock and the spoil of the cities we took as our plunder. [8]†So we took the land at that time out of the hand of the two kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan, from the Valley of the Arnon to Mount Hermon [9](the Sidonians call Hermon Sirion, while the Amorites call it Senir), [10]†all the cities of the tableland and all Gilead and all Bashan, as far as Salecah and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan. [11]†(For only Og the king of Bashan was left of the remnant of the Rephaim. Behold, his bed was a bed of iron. Is it not in Rabbah of the Ammonites? Nine cubits[3] was its length, and four cubits its breadth, according to the common cubit.[4])

[12]† “When we took possession of this land at that time, I gave to the Reubenites and the Gadites the territory beginning at Aroer, which is on the edge of the Valley of the Arnon, and half the hill country of Gilead with its cities. [13]†The rest of Gilead, and all Bashan, the kingdom of Og, that is, all the region of Argob, I gave to the half-tribe of Manasseh. (All that portion of Bashan is called the land of Rephaim. [14]†‡†Jair the Manassite took all the region of Argob, that is, Bashan, as far as the border of the Geshurites and the Maacathites, and called the villages after his own name, Havvoth-jair, as it is to this day.) [15]†To Machir I gave Gilead, [16]and to the Reubenites and the Gadites I gave the territory from Gilead as far as the Valley of the Arnon, with the middle of the valley as a border, as far over as the river Jabbok, the border of the Ammonites; 17 †the Arabah also, with the Jordan as the border, from Chinnereth as far as the Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea, under the slopes of Pisgah on the east.

18 †"And I commanded you at that time, saying, 'The Lord your God has given you this land to possess. All your men of valor shall cross over armed before your brothers, the people of Israel. 19 †Only your wives, your little ones, and your livestock (I know that you have much livestock) shall remain in the cities that I have given you, 20 †until the Lord gives rest to your brothers, as to you, and they also occupy the land that the Lord your God gives them beyond the Jordan. Then each of you may return to his possession which I have given you.' 21 †And I commanded Joshua at that time, 'Your eyes have seen all that the Lord your God has done to these two kings. So will the Lord do to all the kingdoms into which you are crossing.
22 †You shall not fear them, for it is the Lord your God who fights for you.'

Moses Forbidden to Enter the Land

23 ‡ † “And I pleaded with the Lord at that time, saying, 24 † ‘O Lord God, you have only begun to show your servant your greatness and your mighty hand. For what god is there in heaven or on earth who can do such works and mighty acts as yours? 25 Please let me go over and see the good land beyond the Jordan, that good hill country and Lebanon.’ 26 † But the Lord was angry with me because of you and would not listen to me. And the Lord said to me, ‘Enough from you; do not speak to me of this matter again.
27 † Go up to the top of Pisgah and lift up your eyes westward and northward and southward and eastward, and look at it with your eyes, for you shall not go over this Jordan. 28 † But charge Joshua, and encourage and strengthen him, for he shall go over at the head of this people, and he shall put them in possession of the land that you shall see.’ 29 † So we remained in the valley opposite Beth-peor.

Moses Commands Obedience

4 [1]†† “And now, O Israel, listen to the statutes and the rules[1] that I am teaching you, and do them, that you may live, and go in and take possession of the land that the Lord, the God of your fathers, is giving you. [2]† You shall not add to the word that I command you, nor take from it, that you may keep the commandments of the Lord your God that I command you. [3]† Your eyes have seen what the Lord did at Baal-peor, for the Lord your God destroyed from among you all the men who followed the Baal of Peor. [4]But you who held fast to the Lord your God are all alive today. [5]† See, I have taught you statutes and rules, as the Lord my God commanded me, that you should do them in the land that you are entering to take possession of it.
[6] † Keep them and do them, for that will be your wisdom and your understanding in the sight of the peoples, who, when they hear all these statutes, will say, ‘Surely this great nation is a wise and understanding people.’ [7]† For what great nation is there that has a god so near to it as the Lord our God is to us, whenever we call upon him? [8]† And what great nation is there, that has statutes and rules so righteous as all this law that I set before you today?

[9] † “Only take care, and keep your soul diligently, lest you forget the things that your eyes have seen, and lest they depart from your heart all the days of your life. Make them known to your children and your children’s children— [10]† how on the day that you stood before the Lord your God at Horeb, the Lord said to me, ‘Gather the people to me, that I may let them hear my words, so that they may learn to fear me all the days that they live on the earth, and that they may teach their children so.’ [11]† And you came near and stood at the foot of the mountain, while the mountain burned with fire to the heart of heaven, wrapped in darkness, cloud, and gloom. [12]† Then the Lord spoke to you out of the midst of the fire. You heard the sound of words, but saw no form; there was only a voice. [13]† And he declared to you his covenant, which he commanded you to perform, that is, the Ten Commandments,[1] and he wrote them on two tablets of stone. [14]† And the Lord commanded me at that time to teach you statutes and rules, that you might do them in the land that you are going over to possess.

Idolatry Forbidden

15 ‡ † “Therefore watch yourselves very carefully. Since you saw no form on the day that the Lord spoke to you at Horeb out of the midst of the fire, 16 ‡ beware lest you act corruptly by making a carved image for yourselves, in the form of any figure, the likeness of male or female, 17 the likeness of any animal that is on the earth, the likeness of any winged bird that flies in the air, 18 the likeness of anything that creeps on the ground, the likeness of any fish that is in the water under the earth. 19 † And beware lest you raise your eyes to heaven, and when you see the sun and the moon and the stars, all the host of heaven, you be drawn away and bow down to them and serve them, things that the Lord your God has allotted to all the peoples under the whole heaven. 20 † But the Lord has taken you and brought you out of the iron furnace, out of Egypt, to be a people of his own inheritance, as you are this day. 21 † Furthermore, the Lord was angry with me because of you, and he swore that I should not cross the Jordan, and that I should not enter the good land that the Lord your God is giving you for an inheritance. 22 For I must die in this land; I must not go over the Jordan. But you shall go over and take possession of that good land. 23 † Take care, lest you forget the covenant of the Lord your God, which he made with you, and make a carved image, the form of anything that the Lord your God has forbidden
you. 24 † For the Lord your God is a consuming fire, a jealous God.

25 † “When you father children and children’s children, and have grown old in the land, if you act corruptly by making a carved image in the form of anything, and by doing what is evil in the sight of the Lord your God, so as to provoke him to anger, 26 † I call heaven and earth to witness against you today, that you will soon utterly perish from the land that you are going over the Jordan to possess. You will not live long in it, but will be utterly destroyed. 27 ‡ And the Lord will scatter you among the peoples, and you will be left few in number among the nations where the Lord will drive you.
28 And there you will serve gods of wood and stone, the work of human hands, that neither see, nor hear, nor eat, nor smell. 29 † But from there you will seek the Lord your God and you will find him, if you search after him with all your heart and with all your soul. 30 † When you are in tribulation, and all these things come upon you in the latter days, you will return to the Lord your God and obey his voice. 31 †For the Lord your God is a merciful God. He will not leave you or destroy you or forget the covenant with your fathers that he swore to them.

The Lord Alone Is God

32 ‡ † “For ask now of the days that are past, which were before you, since the day that God created man on the earth, and ask from one end of heaven to the other, whether such a great thing as this has ever happened or was ever heard of. 33 Did any people ever hear the voice of a god speaking out of the midst of the fire, as you have heard, and still live? 34 † Or has any god ever attempted to go and take a nation for himself from the midst of another nation, by trials, by signs, by wonders, and by war, by a mighty hand and an outstretched arm, and by great deeds of terror, all of which the Lord your God did for you in Egypt before your eyes? 35 † To you it was shown, that you might know that the Lord is God; there is no other besides him. 36 † Out of heaven he let you hear his voice, that he might discipline you. And on earth he let you see his great fire, and you heard his words out of the midst of the fire. 37 † And because he loved your fathers and chose their offspring after them[1] and brought you out of Egypt with his own presence, by his great power, 38 † driving out before you nations greater and mightier than yourselves, to bring you in, to give you their land for an inheritance, as it is this day, 39 † know therefore today, and lay it to your heart, that the Lord is God in heaven above and on the earth beneath; there is no other.
40 † Therefore you shall keep his statutes and his commandments, which I command you today, that it may go well with you and with your children after you, and that you may prolong your days in the land that the Lord your God is giving you for all time.”

Cities of Refuge

41 Then Moses set apart three cities in the east beyond the Jordan, 42 that the manslayer might flee there, anyone who kills his neighbor unintentionally, without being at enmity with him in time past; he may flee to one of these cities and save his life: 43 Bezer in the wilderness on the tableland for the Reubenites, Ramoth in Gilead for the Gadites, and Golan in Bashan for the Manassites.

Introduction to the Law

44 This is the law that Moses set before the people of Israel. 45 These are the testimonies, the statutes, and the rules, which Moses spoke to the people of Israel when they came out of Egypt, 46 beyond the Jordan in the valley opposite Beth-peor, in the land of Sihon the king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon, whom Moses and the people of Israel defeated when they came out of Egypt. 47 And they took possession of his land and the land of Og, the king of Bashan, the two kings of the Amorites, who lived to the east beyond the Jordan; 48 from Aroer, which is on the edge of the Valley of the Arnon, as far as Mount Sirion[2] (that is, Hermon), 49 together with all the Arabah on the east side of the Jordan as far as the Sea of the Arabah, under the slopes of Pisgah.

The Ten Commandments

5 [1]†And Moses summoned all Israel and said to them, “Hear, O Israel, the statutes and the rules that I speak in your hearing today, and you shall learn them and be careful to do them. [2]†The Lord our God made a covenant with us in Horeb. [3]†Not with our fathers did the Lord make this covenant, but with us, who are all of us here alive today. [4]†The Lord spoke with you face to face at the mountain, out of the midst of the fire, [5]† while I stood between the Lord and you at that time, to declare to you the word of the Lord. For you were afraid because of the fire, and you did not go up into the mountain. He said:

[6]†† “‘I am the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery.

[7]† “‘You shall have no other gods before[1] me.

[8]“‘You shall not make for yourself a carved image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is on the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth. [9]You shall not bow down to them or serve them;
for I the Lord your God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children to the third and fourth generation of those who hate me, [10]but showing steadfast love to thousands[2] of those who love me and keep my commandments.

[11]“‘You shall not take the name of the Lord your God in vain, for the Lord will not hold him guiltless who takes his name in vain.

[12]“‘Observe the Sabbath day, to keep it holy, as the Lord your God commanded you. [13]Six days you shall labor and do all your work, [14]†but the seventh day is a Sabbath to the Lord your God. On it you shall not do any work, you or your son or your daughter or your male servant or your female servant, or your ox or your donkey or any of your livestock, or the sojourner who is within your gates, that your male servant and your female servant may rest as well as you. [15]† You shall remember that you were a slave[3] in the land of Egypt, and the Lord your God brought you out from there with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm. Therefore the Lord your God commanded you to keep the Sabbath day.

16 † “‘Honor your father and your mother, as the Lord your God commanded you, that your days may be long, and that it may go well with you in the land that the Lord your God is giving you.
17 “‘You shall not murder.[4]
18 “‘And you shall not commit adultery.
19 “‘And you shall not steal.
20 “‘And you shall not bear false witness against your neighbor.
21 † “‘And you shall not covet your neighbor’s wife. And you shall not desire your neighbor’s house, his field, or his male servant, or his female servant, his ox, or his donkey, or anything that is your neighbor’s.’ 22 †“These words the Lord spoke to all your assembly at the mountain out of the midst of the fire, the cloud, and the thick darkness, with a loud voice; and he added no more. And he wrote them on two tablets of stone and gave them to me. 23 †And as soon as you heard the voice out of the midst of the darkness, while the mountain was burning with fire, you came near to me, all the heads of your tribes, and your elders. 24 †And you said, ‘Behold, the Lord our God has shown us his glory and greatness, and we have heard his voice out of the midst of the fire. This day we have seen God speak with man, and man still live. 25 †Now therefore why should we die? For this great fire will consume us. If we hear the voice of the Lord our God any more, we shall die. 26 For who is there of all flesh, that has heard the voice of the living God speaking out of the midst of fire as we have, and has still lived?
27 Go near and hear all that the Lord our God will say and speak to us all that the Lord our God will speak to you, and we will hear and do it.’ 28 †“And the Lord heard your words, when you spoke to me. And the Lord said to me, ‘I have heard the words of this people, which they have spoken to you. They are right in all that they have spoken. 29 †Oh that they had such a mind as this always, to fear me and to keep all my commandments, that it might go well with them and with their descendants[1] forever! 30 Go and say to them, “Return to your tents.” 31 †But you, stand here by me, and I will tell you the whole commandment and the statutes and the rules that you shall teach them, that they may do them in the land that I am giving them to possess.’ 32 You shall be careful therefore to do as the Lord your God has commanded you. You shall not turn aside to the right hand or to the left.
33 You shall walk in all the way that the Lord your God has commanded you, that you may live, and that it may go well with you, and that you may live long in the land that you shall possess.

The Greatest Commandment

6 [1]†“Now this is the commandment, the statutes and the rules[2] that the Lord your God commanded me to teach you, that you may do them in the land to which you are going over, to possess it, [2]†that you may fear the Lord your God, you and your son and your son’s son, by keeping all his statutes and his commandments, which I command you, all the days of your life, and that your days may be long. [3]†Hear therefore, O Israel, and be careful to do them, that it may go well with you, and that you may multiply greatly, as the Lord, the God of your fathers, has promised you, in a land flowing with milk and honey.

[4]†“Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God, the Lord is one.[3] [5]†You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your might. [6]†And these words that I command you today shall be on your heart. [7]†You shall teach them diligently to your children, and shall talk of them when you sit in your house, and when you walk by the way, and when you lie down, and when you rise. [8]†You shall bind them as a sign on your hand, and they shall be as frontlets between your eyes. [9]†You shall write them on the doorposts of your house and on your gates.

[10]†“And when the Lord your God brings you into the land that he swore to your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give you—with great and good cities that you did not build, [11]and houses full of all good things that you did not fill, and cisterns that you did not dig, and vineyards and olive trees that you did not plant—and when you eat and are full, [12]then take care lest you forget the Lord, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery. [13]†It is the Lord your God you shall fear. Him you shall serve and by his name you shall swear. [14]†You shall not go after other gods, the gods of the peoples who are around you— [15]†for the Lord your God in your midst is a jealous God—lest the anger of the Lord your God be kindled against you, and he destroy you from off the face of the earth.

[16]†“You shall not put the Lord your God to the test, as you tested him at Massah. [17]†You shall diligently keep the commandments of the Lord your God, and his testimonies and his statutes, which he has commanded you.

[18]And you shall do what is right and good in the sight of the Lord, that it may go well with you, and that you may go in and take possession of the good land that the Lord swore to give to your fathers [19]by thrusting out all your enemies from before you, as the Lord has promised.

[20]"When your son asks you in time to come, 'What is the meaning of the testimonies and the statutes and the rules that the Lord our God has commanded you?' [21]then you shall say to your son, 'We were Pharaoh's slaves in Egypt. And the Lord brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand.
[22]And the Lord showed signs and wonders, great and grievous, against Egypt and against Pharaoh and all his household, before our eyes. [23]And he brought us out from there, that he might bring us in and give us the land that he swore to give to our fathers. [24]And the Lord commanded us to do all these statutes, to fear the Lord our God, for our good always, that he might preserve us alive, as we are this day. [25]And it will be righteousness for us, if we are careful to do all this commandment before the Lord our God, as he has commanded us.'

A Chosen People

7 [1]†“When the Lord your God brings you into the land that you are entering to take possession of it, and clears away many nations before you, the Hittites, the Girgashites, the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, seven nations more numerous and mightier than yourselves, [2]†and when the Lord your God gives them over to you, and you defeat them, then you must devote them to complete destruction.[1] You shall make no covenant with them and show no mercy to them. [3]†You shall not intermarry with them, giving your daughters to their sons or taking their daughters for your sons, [4]for they would turn away your sons from following me, to serve other gods. Then the anger of the Lord would be kindled against you, and he would destroy you quickly. [5]†But thus shall you deal with them: you shall break down their altars and dash in pieces their pillars and chop down their Asherim and burn their carved images with fire.

[6]†“For you are a people holy to the Lord your God. The Lord your God has chosen you to be a people for his treasured possession, out of all the peoples who are on the face of the earth. [7]†It was not because you were more in number than any other people that the Lord set his love on you and chose you, for you were the fewest of all peoples, [8]but it is because the Lord loves you and is keeping the oath that he swore to your fathers, that the Lord has brought you out with a mighty hand and redeemed you from the house of slavery, from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt. [9]† Know therefore that the Lord your God is God, the faithful God who keeps covenant and steadfast love with those who love him and keep his commandments, to a thousand generations, [10]†and repays to their face those who hate him, by destroying them. He will not be slack with one who hates him. He will repay him to his face. [11]†You shall therefore be careful to do the commandment and the statutes and the rules that I command you today.

[12]†“And because you listen to these rules and keep and do them, the Lord your God will keep with you the covenant and the steadfast love that he swore to your fathers. [13]He will love you, bless you, and multiply you. He will also bless the fruit of your womb and the fruit of your ground, your grain and your wine and your oil, the increase of your herds and the young of your flock, in the land that he swore to your fathers to give you. 14You shall be blessed above all peoples. There shall not be male or female barren among you or among your livestock. 15And the Lord will take away from you all sickness, and none of the evil diseases of Egypt, which you knew, will he inflict on you, but he will lay them on all who hate you. 16†And you shall consume all the peoples that the Lord your God will give over to you. Your eye shall not pity them, neither shall you serve their gods, for that would be a snare to you.

17"If you say in your heart, 'These nations are greater than I. How can I dispossess them?' 18you shall not be afraid of them but you shall remember what the Lord your God did to Pharaoh and to all Egypt, 19†the great trials that your eyes saw, the signs, the wonders, the mighty hand, and the outstretched arm, by which the Lord your God brought you out. So will the Lord your God do to all the peoples of whom you are afraid. 20†Moreover, the Lord your God will send hornets among them, until those who are left and hide themselves from you are destroyed. 21†You shall not be in dread of them, for the Lord your God is in your midst, a great and awesome God. 22†The Lord your God will clear away these nations before you little by little. You may not make an end of them at once,[1] lest the wild beasts grow too numerous for you. 23But the Lord your God will give them over to you and throw them into great confusion, until they are destroyed. 24And he will give their kings into your hand, and you shall make their name perish from under heaven. No one shall be able to stand against you until you have destroyed them. 25†The carved images of their gods you shall burn with fire. You shall not covet the silver or the gold that is on them or take it for yourselves, lest you be ensnared by it, for it is an abomination to the Lord your God. 26And you shall not bring an abominable thing into your house and become devoted to destruction[2] like it. You shall utterly detest and abhor it, for it is devoted to destruction.

Remember the Lord Your God

8 [1]†“The whole commandment that I command you today you shall be careful to do, that you may live and multiply, and go in and possess the land that the Lord swore to give to your fathers. [2]†And you shall remember the whole way that the Lord your God has led you these forty years in the wilderness, that he might humble you, testing you to know what was in your heart, whether you would keep his commandments or not. [3]†And he humbled you and let you hunger and fed you with manna, which you did not know, nor did your fathers know, that he might make you know that man does not live by bread alone, but man lives by every word[3] that comes from the mouth of the Lord. [4]Your clothing did not wear out on you and your foot did not swell these forty years. [5]†Know then in your heart that, as a man disciplines his son, the Lord your God disciplines you. [6]†So you shall keep the commandments of the Lord your God by walking in his ways and by fearing him. [7]For the Lord your God is bringing you into a good land, a land of brooks of water, of fountains and springs, flowing out in the valleys and hills, [8]†a land of wheat and barley, of vines and fig trees and pomegranates, a land of olive trees and honey, [9]†a land in which you will eat bread without scarcity, in which you will lack nothing, a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills you can dig copper. [10]†And you shall eat and be full, and you shall bless the Lord your God for the good land he has given you.

[11]†“Take care lest you forget the Lord your God by not keeping his commandments and his rules and his statutes, which I command you today, [12]†lest, when you have eaten and are full and have built good houses and live in them, [13]and when your herds and flocks multiply and your silver and gold is multiplied and all that you have is multiplied, [14]then your heart be lifted up, and you forget the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery, [15]†who led you through the great and terrifying wilderness, with its fiery serpents and scorpions and thirsty ground where there was no water, who brought you water out of the flinty rock, [16]†who fed you in the wilderness with manna that your fathers did not know, that he might humble you and test you, to do you good in the end. [17]Beware lest you say in your heart, ‘My power and the might of my hand have gotten me this wealth.’ [18]†You shall remember the Lord your God, for it is he who gives you power to get wealth, that he may confirm his covenant that he swore to your fathers, as it is this day. [19]And if you forget the Lord your God and go after other gods and serve them and worship them, I solemnly warn you today that you shall surely perish. [20]Like the nations that the Lord makes to perish before you, so shall you perish, because you would not obey the voice of the Lord your God.

Not Because of Righteousness

9 [1]‡‡‡“Hear, O Israel: you are to cross over the Jordan today, to go in to dispossess nations greater and mightier than yourselves, cities great and fortified up to heaven, [2]†a people great and tall, the sons of the Anakim, whom you know, and of whom you have heard it said, ‘Who can stand before the sons of Anak?’ [3]†Know therefore today that he who goes over before you as a consuming fire is the Lord your God. He will destroy them and subdue them before you. So you shall drive them out and make them perish quickly, as the Lord has promised you.

[4]‡“Do not say in your heart, after the Lord your God has thrust them out before you, ‘It is because of my righteousness that the Lord has brought me in to possess this land,’ whereas it is because of the wickedness of these nations that the Lord is driving them out before you. [5]Not because of your righteousness or the uprightness of your heart are you going in to possess their land, but because of the wickedness of these nations the Lord your God is driving them out from before you, and that he may confirm the word that the Lord swore to your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob.

[6]†“Know, therefore, that the Lord your God is not giving you this good land to possess because of your righteousness, for you are a stubborn people. [7]Remember and do not forget how you provoked the Lord your God to wrath in the wilderness. From the day you came out of the land of Egypt until you came to this place, you have been rebellious against the Lord.
[8]Even at Horeb you provoked the Lord to wrath, and the Lord was so angry with you that he was ready to destroy you. [9]When I went up the mountain to receive the tablets of stone, the tablets of the covenant that the Lord made with you, I remained on the mountain forty days and forty nights. I neither ate bread nor drank water. [10]†And the Lord gave me the two tablets of stone written with the finger of God, and on them were all the words that the Lord had spoken with you on the mountain out of the midst of the fire on the day of the assembly. [11]And at the end of forty days and forty nights the Lord gave me the two tablets of stone, the tablets of the covenant. [12]†Then the Lord said to me, ‘Arise, go down quickly from here, for your people whom you have brought from Egypt have acted corruptly. They have turned aside quickly out of the way that I commanded them; they have made themselves a metal image.'

The Golden Calf

13 ‡ ‡ ‡ “Furthermore, the Lord said to me, ‘I have seen this people, and behold, it is a stubborn people. 14 † Let me alone, that I may destroy them and blot out their name from under heaven. And I will make of you a nation mightier and greater than they.’ 15 † So I turned and came down from the mountain, and the mountain was burning with fire. And the two tablets of the covenant were in my two hands. 16 And I looked, and behold, you had sinned against the Lord your God. You had made yourselves a golden[1] calf.
You had turned aside quickly from the way that the Lord had commanded you. 17 † So I took hold of the two tablets and threw them out of my two hands and broke them before your eyes. 18 † Then I lay prostrate before the Lord as before, forty days and forty nights. I neither ate bread nor drank water, because of all the sin that you had committed, in doing what was evil in the sight of the Lord to provoke him to anger. 19 † For I was afraid of the anger and hot displeasure that the Lord bore against you, so that he was ready to destroy you. But the Lord listened to me that time also. 20 † And the Lord was so angry with Aaron that he was ready to destroy him. And I prayed for Aaron also at the same time. 21 † Then I took the sinful thing, the calf that you had made, and burned it with fire and crushed it, grinding it very small, until it was as fine as dust. And I threw the dust of it into the brook that ran down from the mountain.

22 † “At Taberah also, and at Massah and at Kibroth-hattaavah you provoked the Lord to wrath. 23 And when the Lord sent you from Kadesh-barnea, saying, ‘Go up and take possession of the land that I have given you,’ then you rebelled against the commandment of the Lord your God and did not believe him or obey his voice. 24 You have been rebellious against the Lord from the day that I knew you.

25 † “So I lay prostrate before the Lord for these forty days and forty nights, because the Lord had said he would destroy you. 26 † And I prayed to the Lord, ‘O Lord God, do not destroy your people and your heritage, whom you have redeemed through your greatness, whom you have brought out of Egypt with a mighty hand. 27 † Remember your servants, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Do not regard the stubbornness of this people, or their wickedness or their sin, [28]lest the land from which you brought us say, “Because the Lord was not able to bring them into the land that he promised them, and because he hated them, he has brought them out to put them to death in the wilderness.” [29]For they are your people and your heritage, whom you brought out by your great power and by your outstretched arm.’

New Tablets of Stone

10 [1]‡‡“At that time the Lord said to me, ‘Cut for yourself two tablets of stone like the first, and come up to me on the mountain and make an ark of wood. [2]†And I will write on the tablets the words that were on the first tablets that you broke, and you shall put them in the ark.’ [3]†So I made an ark of acacia wood, and cut two tablets of stone like the first, and went up the mountain with the two tablets in my hand. [4]And he wrote on the tablets, in the same writing as before, the Ten Commandments[1] that the Lord had spoken to you on the mountain out of the midst of the fire on the day of the assembly. And the Lord gave them to me. [5]Then I turned and came down from the mountain and put the tablets in the ark that I had made. And there they are, as the Lord commanded me.”

[6]‡†(The people of Israel journeyed from Beeroth Bene-jaakan[2] to Moserah. There Aaron died, and there he was buried. And his son Eleazar ministered as priest in his place. [7]†From there they journeyed to Gudgodah, and from Gudgodah to Jotbathah, a land with brooks of water. [8]†At that time the Lord set apart the tribe of Levi to carry the ark of the covenant of the Lord to stand before the Lord to minister to him and to bless in his name, to this day. [9]Therefore Levi has no portion or inheritance with his brothers. The Lord is his inheritance, as the Lord your God said to him.)

[10]†“I myself stayed on the mountain, as at the first time, forty days and forty nights, and the Lord listened to me that time also. The Lord was unwilling to destroy you. [11]†And the Lord said to me, ‘Arise, go on your journey at the head of the people, so that they may go in and possess the land, which I swore to their fathers to give them.’

Circumcise Your Heart

12 ‡ † “And now, Israel, what does the Lord your God require of you, but to fear the Lord your God, to walk in all his ways, to love him, to serve the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul, 13 and to keep the commandments and statutes of the Lord, which I am commanding you today for your good? 14 † Behold, to the Lord your God belong heaven and the heaven of heavens, the earth with all that is in it. 15 † Yet the Lord set his heart in love on your fathers and chose their offspring after them, you above all peoples, as you are this day. 16 † Circumcise therefore the foreskin of your heart, and be no longer stubborn. 17 ‡ For the Lord your God is God of gods and Lord of lords, the great, the mighty, and the awesome God, who is not partial and takes no bribe. 18 He executes justice for the fatherless and the widow, and loves the sojourner, giving him food and clothing. 19 † Love the sojourner, therefore, for you were sojourners in the land of Egypt. 20 † You shall fear the Lord your God. You shall serve him and hold fast to him, and by his name you shall swear. 21 † He is your praise. He is your God, who has done for you these great and terrifying things that your eyes have seen.
22 † Your fathers went down to Egypt seventy persons, and now the Lord your God has made you as numerous as the stars of heaven.

Love and Serve the Lord

11 [1] † "You shall therefore love the Lord your God and keep his charge, his statutes, his rules, and his commandments always. [2] † And consider today (since I am not speaking to your children who have not known or seen it), consider the discipline[1] of the Lord your God, his greatness, his mighty hand and his outstretched arm, [3] † his signs and his deeds that he did in Egypt to Pharaoh the king of Egypt and to all his land, [4] † and what he did to the army of Egypt, to their horses and to their chariots, how he made the water of the Red Sea flow over them as they pursued after you, and how the Lord has destroyed them to this day, [5] and what he did to you in the wilderness, until you came to this place, [6] and what he did to Dathan and Abiram the sons of Eliab, son of Reuben, how the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them up, with their households, their tents, and every living thing that followed them, in the midst of all Israel. [7] † For your eyes have seen all the great work of the Lord that he did.

[8] † You shall therefore keep the whole commandment that I command you today, that you may be strong, and go in and take possession of the land that you are going over to possess, [9] † and that you may live long in the land that the Lord swore to your fathers to give to them and to their offspring, a land flowing with milk and honey. [10] † For the land that you are entering to take possession of it is not like the land of Egypt, from which you have come, where you sowed your seed and irrigated it,[2] like a garden of vegetables.
[11] † But the land that you are going over to possess is a land of hills and valleys, which drinks water by the rain from heaven, [12] † a land that the Lord your God cares for. The eyes of the Lord your God are always upon it, from the beginning of the year to the end of the year.

[13] † "And if you will indeed obey my commandments that I command you today, to love the Lord your God, and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul, [14] † he[3] will give the rain for your land in its season, the early rain and the later rain, that you may gather in your grain and your wine and your oil. [15] And he will give grass in your fields for your livestock, and you shall eat and be full. [16] Take care lest your heart be deceived, and you turn aside and serve other gods and worship them; 17 † then the anger of the Lord will be kindled against you, and he will shut up the heavens, so that there will be no rain, and the land will yield no fruit, and you will perish quickly off the good land that the Lord is giving you.

18 † "You shall therefore lay up these words of mine in your heart and in your soul, and you shall bind them as a sign on your hand, and they shall be as frontlets between your eyes. 19 † You shall teach them to your children, talking of them when you are sitting in your house, and when you are walking by the way, and when you lie down, and when you rise. 20 You shall write them on the doorposts of your house and on your gates, 21 that your days and the days of your children may be multiplied in the land that the Lord swore to your fathers to give them, as long as the heavens are above the earth. 22 † For if you will be careful to do all this commandment that I command you to do, loving the Lord your God, walking in all his ways, and holding fast to him, 23 † then the Lord will drive out all these nations before you, and you will dispossess nations greater and mightier than yourselves. 24 † Every place on which the sole of your foot treads shall be yours. Your territory shall be from the wilderness to[1] the Lebanon and from the River, the river Euphrates, to the western sea. 25 † No one shall be able to stand against you. The Lord your God will lay the fear of you and the dread of you on all the land that you shall tread, as he promised you.

26 † "See, I am setting before you today a blessing and a curse: 27 the blessing, if you obey the command-ments of the Lord your God, which I command you today, 28 † and the curse, if you do not obey the commandments of the Lord your God, but turn aside from the way that I am commanding you today, to go after other gods that you have not known. 29 † And when the Lord your God brings you into the land that you are entering to take possession of it, you shall set the blessing on Mount Gerizim and the curse on Mount Ebal. 30 † Are they not beyond the Jordan, west of the road, toward the going down of the sun, in the land of the Canaanites who live in the Arabah, opposite Gilgal, beside the oak[2] of Moreh? 31 For you are to cross over the Jordan to go in to take possession of the land that the Lord your God is giving you. And when you possess it and live in it, 32 you shall be careful to do all the statutes and the rules that I am setting before you today.

The Lord's Chosen Place of Worship

12 [1]†† "These are the statutes and rules that you shall be careful to do in the land that the Lord, the God of your fathers, has given you to possess, all the days that you live on the earth. [2]† You shall surely destroy all the places where the nations whom you shall dispossess served their gods, on the high mountains and on the hills and under every green tree. [3]† You shall tear down their altars and dash in pieces their pillars and burn their Asherim with fire. You shall chop down the carved images of their gods and destroy their name out of that place. [4]† You shall not worship the Lord your God in that way. [5]† But you shall seek the place that the Lord your God will choose out of all your tribes to put his name and make his habitation[1] there. There you shall go, [6]† and there you shall bring your burnt offerings and your sacrifices, your tithes and the contribution that you present, your vow offerings, your freewill offerings, and the firstborn of your herd and of your flock. [7]† And there you shall eat before the Lord your God, and you shall rejoice, you and your households, in all that you undertake, in which the Lord your God has blessed you.

[8]† "You shall not do according to all that we are doing here today, everyone doing whatever is right in his own eyes, [9]† for you have not as yet come to the rest and to the inheritance that the Lord your God is giving you.
[10]† But when you go over the Jordan and live in the land that the Lord your God is giving you to inherit, and when he gives you rest from all your enemies around, so that you live in safety, [11]† then to the place that the Lord your God will choose, to make his name dwell there, there you shall bring all that I command you: your burnt offerings and your sacrifices, your tithes and the contribution that you present, and all your finest vow offerings that you vow to the Lord. [12]† And you shall rejoice before the Lord your God, you and your sons and your daughters, your male servants and your female servants, and the Levite that is within your towns, since he has no portion or inheritance with you. [13]Take care that you do not offer your burnt offerings at any place that you see, [14]but at the place that the Lord will choose in one of your tribes, there you shall offer your burnt offerings, and there you shall do all that I am commanding you.

15 † "However, you may slaughter and eat meat within any of your towns, as much as you desire, according to the blessing of the LORD your God that he has given you. The unclean and the clean may eat of it, as of the gazelle and as of the deer. 16 † Only you shall not eat the blood; you shall pour it out on the earth like water. 17 You may not eat within your towns the tithe of your grain or of your wine or of your oil, or the firstborn of your herd or of your flock, or any of your vow offerings that you vow, or your freewill offerings or the contribution that you present, 18 but you shall eat them before the LORD your God in the place that the LORD your God will choose, you and your son and your daughter, your male servant and your female servant, and the Levite who is within your towns. And you shall rejoice before the LORD your God in all that you undertake. 19 Take care that you do not neglect the Levite as long as you live in your land.

20 "When the LORD your God enlarges your territory, as he has promised you, and you say, 'I will eat meat,' because you crave meat, you may eat meat whenever you desire. 21 † If the place that the LORD your God will choose to put his name there is too far from you, then you may kill any of your herd or your flock, which the LORD has given you, as I have commanded you, and you may eat within your towns whenever you desire. 22 Just as the gazelle or the deer is eaten, so you may eat of it. The unclean and the clean alike may eat of it. 23 † Only be sure that you do not eat the blood, for the blood is the life, and you shall not eat the life with the flesh. 24 You shall not eat it; you shall pour it out on the earth like water. 25 You shall not eat it, that all may go well with you and with your children after you, when you do what is right in the sight of the LORD. 26 † But the holy things that are due from you, and your vow offerings, you shall take, and you shall go to the place that the LORD will choose, 27 and offer your burnt offerings, the flesh and the blood, on the altar of the LORD your God. The blood of your sacrifices shall be poured out on the altar of the LORD your God, but the flesh you may eat. 28 Be careful to obey all these words that I command you, that it may go well with you and with your children after you forever, when you do what is good and right in the sight of the LORD your God.

Warning Against Idolatry

29 † “When the Lord your God cuts off before you the nations whom you go in to dispossess, and you dispossess them and dwell in their land, 30 † take care that you be not ensnared to follow them, after they have been destroyed before you, and that you do not inquire about their gods, saying, ‘How did these nations serve their gods?—that I also may do the same.’
31 † You shall not worship the Lord your God in that way, for every abominable thing that the Lord hates they have done for their gods, for they even burn their sons and their daughters in the fire to their gods.
32 † [1] “Everything that I command you, you shall be careful to do. You shall not add to it or take from it.

13 1 † “If a prophet or a dreamer of dreams arises among you and gives you a sign or a wonder, 2 † and the sign or wonder that he tells you comes to pass, and if he says, ‘Let us go after other gods,’ which you have not known, ‘and let us serve them,’ 3 † you shall not listen to the words of that prophet or that dreamer of dreams. For the Lord your God is testing you, to know whether you love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul. 4 † You shall walk after the Lord your God and fear him and keep his commandments and obey his voice, and you shall serve him and hold fast to him. 5 † But that prophet or that dreamer of dreams shall be put to death, because he has taught rebellion against the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt and redeemed you out of the house of slavery, to make you leave the way in which the Lord your God commanded you to walk. So you shall purge the evil[2] from your midst.
6 † “If your brother, the son of your mother, or your son or your daughter or the wife you embrace[3] or your friend who is as your own soul entices you secretly, saying, ‘Let us go and serve other gods,’ which neither you nor your fathers have known, 7 some of the gods of the peoples who are around you, whether near you or far off from you, from the one end of the earth to the other, 8 you shall not yield to him or listen to him, nor shall your eye pity him, nor shall you spare him, nor shall you conceal him. 9 † But you shall kill him. Your hand shall be first against him to put him to death, and afterward

the hand of all the people. [10]You shall stone him to death with stones, because he sought to draw you away from the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery. [11]And all Israel shall hear and fear and never again do any such wickedness as this among you.

[12]“If you hear in one of your cities, which the Lord your God is giving you to dwell there, [13]† that certain worthless fellows have gone out among you and have drawn away the inhabitants of their city, saying, ‘Let us go and serve other gods,’ which you have not known, [14]† then you shall inquire and make search and ask diligently. And behold, if it be true and certain that such an abomination has been done among you, [15]† you shall surely put the inhabitants of that city to the sword, devoting it to destruction,[1] all who are in it and its cattle, with the edge of the sword. [16]† You shall gather all its spoil into the midst of its open square and burn the city and all its spoil with fire, as a whole burnt offering to the Lord your God. It shall be a heap forever. It shall not be built again. [17]† None of the devoted things shall stick to your hand, that the Lord may turn from the fierceness of his anger and show you mercy and have compassion on you and multiply you, as he swore to your fathers, [18]if you obey the voice of the Lord your God, keeping all his commandments that I am commanding you today, and doing what is right in the sight of the Lord your God.

Clean and Unclean Food

14 [1]‡‡“You are the sons of the Lord your God. You shall not cut yourselves or make any baldness on your foreheads for the dead. [2]†For you are a people holy to the Lord your God, and the Lord has chosen you to be a people for his treasured possession, out of all the peoples who are on the face of the earth.

[3]‡‡“You shall not eat any abomination. [4]These are the animals you may eat: the ox, the sheep, the goat, [5]the deer, the gazelle, the roebuck, the wild goat, the ibex,[2] the antelope, and the mountain sheep. [6]Every animal that parts the hoof and has the hoof cloven in two and chews the cud, among the animals, you may eat. [7]Yet of those that chew the cud or have the hoof cloven you shall not eat these: the camel, the hare, and the rock badger, because they chew the cud but do not part the hoof, are unclean for you.
[8]And the pig, because it parts the hoof but does not chew the cud, is unclean for you. Their flesh you shall not eat, and their carcasses you shall not touch.

[9]“Of all that are in the waters you may eat these: whatever has fins and scales you may eat. [10]And whatever does not have fins and scales you shall not eat; it is unclean for you.

[11]“You may eat all clean birds. [12]But these are the ones that you shall not eat: the eagle,[3] the bearded vulture, the black vulture, [13]the kite, the falcon of any kind; [14]every raven of any kind; [15]the ostrich, the nighthawk, the sea gull, the hawk of any kind; [16]the little owl and the short-eared owl, the barn owl [17]and the tawny owl, the carrion vulture and the cormorant, [18]the stork, the heron of any kind; the hoopoe and the bat. [19]And all winged insects are unclean for you; they shall not be eaten. [20]All clean winged things you may eat.

[21]†“You shall not eat anything that has died naturally. You may give it to the sojourner who is within your towns, that he may eat it, or you may sell it to a foreigner. For you are a people holy to the Lord your God.

“You shall not boil a young goat in its mother’s milk.

Tithes

22 ‡‡“You shall tithe all the yield of your seed that comes from the field year by year. 23 †And before the Lord your God, in the place that he will choose, to make his name dwell there, you shall eat the tithe of your grain, of your wine, and of your oil, and the firstborn of your herd and flock, that you may learn to fear the Lord your God always. 24 †And if the way is too long for you, so that you are not able to carry the tithe, when the Lord your God blesses you, because the place is too far from you, which the Lord your God chooses, to set his name there, 25 then you shall turn it into money and bind up the money in your hand and go to the place that the Lord your God chooses 26 †and spend the money for whatever you desire—oxen or sheep or wine or strong drink, whatever your appetite craves. And you shall eat there before the Lord your God and rejoice, you and your household. 27 †And you shall not neglect the Levite who is within your towns, for he has no portion or inheritance with you.

28 ‡“At the end of every three years you shall bring out all the tithe of your produce in the same year and lay it up within your towns. 29 †And the Levite, because he has no portion or inheritance with you, and the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow, who are within your towns, shall come and eat and be filled, that the Lord your God may bless you in all the work of your hands that you do.

The Sabbatical Year

15 [1]‡†“At the end of every seven years you shall grant a release.
[2]And this is the manner of the release: every creditor shall release what he has lent to his neighbor. He shall not exact it of his neighbor, his brother, because the Lord's release has been proclaimed. [3]Of a foreigner you may exact it, but whatever of yours is with your brother your hand shall release.
[4]†But there will be no poor among you; for the Lord will bless you in the land that the Lord your God is giving you for an inheritance to possess— [5]if only you will strictly obey the voice of the Lord your God, being careful to do all this commandment that I command you today. [6]†For the Lord your God will bless you, as he promised you, and you shall lend to many nations, but you shall not borrow, and you shall rule over many nations, but they shall not rule over you.

[7]‡†“If among you, one of your brothers should become poor, in any of your towns within your land that the Lord your God is giving you, you shall not harden your heart or shut your hand against your poor brother, [8]but you shall open your hand to him and lend him sufficient for his need, whatever it may be. [9]Take care lest there be an unworthy thought in your heart and you say, 'The seventh year, the year of release is near,' and your eye look grudgingly[1] on your poor brother, and you give him nothing, and he cry to the Lord against you, and you be guilty of sin. [10]†You shall give to him freely, and your heart shall not be grudging when you give to him, because for this the Lord your God will bless you in all your work and in all that you undertake. [11]†For there will never cease to be poor in the land. Therefore I command you, 'You shall open wide your hand to your brother, to the needy and to the poor, in your land.'

[12]‡“If your brother, a Hebrew man or a Hebrew woman, is sold[2] to you, he shall serve you six years, and in the seventh year you shall let him go free from you. [13]And when you let him go free from you, you shall not let him go empty-handed. [14]†You shall furnish him liberally out of your flock, out of your threshing floor, and out of your winepress. As the Lord your God has blessed you, you shall give to him. [15]†You shall remember that you were a slave in the land of Egypt, and the Lord your God redeemed you; therefore I command you this today. 16 †But if he says to you, ‘I will not go out from you,’ because he loves you and your household, since he is well-off with you, 17then you shall take an awl, and put it through his ear into the door, and he shall be your slave forever. And to your female slave you shall do the same. 18It shall not seem hard to you when you let him go free from you, for at half the cost of a hired servant he has served you six years. So the Lord your God will bless you in all that you do.

19 †“All the firstborn males that are born of your herd and flock you shall dedicate to the Lord your God. You shall do no work with the firstborn of your herd, nor shear the firstborn of your flock. 20You shall eat it, you and your household, before the Lord your God year by year at the place that the Lord will choose. 21 †But if it has any blemish, if it is lame or blind or has any serious blemish whatever, you shall not sacrifice it to the Lord your God. 22 †You shall eat it within your towns. The unclean and the clean alike may eat it, as though it were a gazelle or a deer. 23Only you shall not eat its blood; you shall pour it out on the ground like water.

Passover

16 [1]†‡†“Observe the month of Abib and keep the Passover to the Lord your God, for in the month of Abib the Lord your God brought you out of Egypt by night. [2]†And you shall offer the Passover sacrifice to the Lord your God, from the flock or the herd, at the place that the Lord will choose, to make his name dwell there. [3]†You shall eat no leavened bread with it. Seven days you shall eat it with unleavened bread, the bread of affliction—for you came out of the land of Egypt in haste—that all the days of your life you may remember the day when you came out of the land of Egypt. [4]No leaven shall be seen with you in all your territory for seven days, nor shall any of the flesh that you sacrifice on the evening of the first day remain all night until morning. [5]You may not offer the Passover sacrifice within any of your towns that the Lord your God is giving you, [6]†but at the place that the Lord your God will choose, to make his name dwell in it, there you shall offer the Passover sacrifice, in the evening at sunset, at the time you came out of Egypt. [7]†And you shall cook it and eat it at the place that the Lord your God will choose. And in the morning you shall turn and go to your tents. [8]†For six days you shall eat unleavened bread, and on the seventh day there shall be a solemn assembly to the Lord your God. You shall do no work on it.

The Feast of Weeks

9 “You shall count seven weeks. Begin to count the seven weeks from the time the sickle is first put to the standing grain. 10 Then you shall keep the Feast of Weeks to the Lord your God with the tribute of a freewill offering from your hand, which you shall give as the Lord your God blesses
you. 11 And you shall rejoice before the Lord your God, you and your son and your daughter, your male servant and your female servant, the Levite who is within your towns, the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow who are among you, at the place that the Lord your God will choose, to make his name dwell there. 12 You shall remember that you were a slave in Egypt; and you shall be careful to observe these statutes.

The Feast of Booths

13 ‡ ‡ “You shall keep the Feast of Booths seven days, when you have gathered in the produce from your threshing floor and your winepress.
14 † You shall rejoice in your feast, you and your son and your daughter, your male servant and your female servant, the Levite, the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow who are within your towns. 15 † For seven days you shall keep the feast to the Lord your God at the place that the Lord will choose, because the Lord your God will bless you in all your produce and in all the work of your hands, so that you will be altogether joyful.
16 † “Three times a year all your males shall appear before the Lord your God at the place that he will choose: at the Feast of Unleavened Bread, at the Feast of Weeks, and at the Feast of Booths. They shall not appear before the Lord empty-handed. 17 Every man shall give as he is able, according to the blessing of the Lord your God that he has given you.

Justice

[18] ‡ ‡ ‡ “You shall appoint judges and officers in all your towns that the Lord your God is giving you, according to your tribes, and they shall judge the people with righteous judgment. [19] † You shall not pervert justice. You shall not show partiality, and you shall not accept a bribe, for a bribe blinds the eyes of the wise and subverts the cause of the righteous. [20] Justice, and only justice, you shall follow, that you may live and inherit the land that the Lord your God is giving you.

Forbidden Forms of Worship

21 ‡ ‡ “You shall not plant any tree as an Asherah beside the altar of the Lord your God that you shall make. 22 And you shall not set up a pillar, which the Lord your God hates.

17 [1]†“You shall not sacrifice to the Lord your God an ox or a sheep in which is a blemish, any defect whatever, for that is an abomination to the Lord your God.

[2]“If there is found among you, within any of your towns that the Lord your God is giving you, a man or woman who does what is evil in the sight of the Lord your God, in transgressing his covenant, [3]and has gone and served other gods and worshiped them, or the sun or the moon or any of the host of heaven, which I have forbidden, [4]†and it is told you and you hear of it, then you shall inquire diligently, and if it is true and certain that such an abomination has been done in Israel, [5]† then you shall bring out to your gates that man or woman who has done this evil thing, and you shall stone that man or woman to death with stones. [6]† On the evidence of two witnesses or of three witnesses the one who is to die shall be put to death; a person shall not be put to death on the evidence of one witness. [7]†The hand of the witnesses shall be first against him to put him to death, and afterward the hand of all the people. So you shall purge[1] the evil[2] from your midst.

Legal Decisions by Priests and Judges

8 ‡‡“If any case arises requiring decision between one kind of homicide and another, one kind of legal right and another, or one kind of assault and another, any case within your towns that is too difficult for you, then you shall arise and go up to the place that the Lord your God will choose. 9And you shall come to the Levitical priests and to the judge who is in office in those days, and you shall consult them, and they shall declare to you the decision. 10†Then you shall do according to what they declare to you from that place that the Lord will choose. And you shall be careful to do according to all that they direct you. 11According to the instructions that they give you, and according to the decision which they pronounce to you, you shall do. You shall not turn aside from the verdict that they declare to you, either to the right hand or to the left. 12 † The man who acts presumptuously by not obeying the priest who stands to minister there before the Lord your God, or the judge, that man shall die. So you shall purge the evil from Israel. 13And all the people shall hear and fear and not act presumptuously again.

Laws Concerning Israel's Kings

14 “When you come to the land that the Lord your God is giving you, and you possess it and dwell in it and then say, ‘I will set a king over me, like all the nations that are around me,’ 15 you may indeed set a king over you whom the Lord your God will choose. One from among your brothers you shall set as king over you. You may not put a foreigner over you, who is not your brother. 16 Only he must not acquire many horses for himself or cause the people to return to Egypt in order to acquire many horses, since the Lord has said to you, ‘You shall never return that way again.’ 17 And he shall not acquire many wives for himself, lest his heart turn away, nor shall he acquire for himself excessive silver and gold.

18 “And when he sits on the throne of his kingdom, he shall write for himself in a book a copy of this law, approved by[1] the Levitical priests.
19 And it shall be with him, and he shall read in it all the days of his life, that he may learn to fear the Lord his God by keeping all the words of this law and these statutes, and doing them, 20 that his heart may not be lifted up above his brothers, and that he may not turn aside from the commandment, either to the right hand or to the left, so that he may continue long in his kingdom, he and his children, in Israel.

Provision for Priests and Levites

18 [1] ‡ † “The Levitical priests, all the tribe of Levi, shall have no portion or inheritance with Israel. They shall eat the Lord’s food offerings[2] as their[3] inheritance. [2] † They shall have no inheritance among their brothers; the Lord is their inheritance, as he promised them. [3]And this shall be the priests’ due from the people, from those offering a sacrifice, whether an ox or a sheep: they shall give to the priest the shoulder and the two cheeks and the stomach. [4]The firstfruits of your grain, of your wine and of your oil, and the first fleece of your sheep, you shall give him. [5] † For the Lord your God has chosen him out of all your tribes to stand and minister in the name of the Lord, him and his sons for all time.

[6] ‡ “And if a Levite comes from any of your towns out of all Israel, where he lives—and he may come when he desires[4]—to the place that the Lord will choose, [7]and ministers in the name of the Lord his God, like all his fellow Levites who stand to minister there before the Lord, [8] † then he may have equal portions to eat, besides what he receives from the sale of his patrimony.[5]

Abominable Practices

9 ‡ † “When you come into the land that the Lord your God is giving you, you shall not learn to follow the abominable practices of those nations.
10 ‡ There shall not be found among you anyone who burns his son or his daughter as an offering,[1] anyone who practices divination or tells fortunes or interprets omens, or a sorcerer 11 or a charmer or a medium or a necromancer or one who inquires of the dead, 12 † for whoever does these things is an abomination to the Lord. And because of these abominations the Lord your God is driving them out before you. 13 † You shall be blameless before the Lord your God, 14 † for these nations, which you are about to dispossess, listen to fortune-tellers and to diviners. But as for you, the Lord your God has not allowed you to do this.

A New Prophet like Moses

15 ‡ † “The Lord your God will raise up for you a prophet like me from among you, from your brothers—it is to him you shall listen— 16 ‡ just as you desired of the Lord your God at Horeb on the day of the assembly, when you said, ‘Let me not hear again the voice of the Lord my God or see this great fire any more, lest I die.’ 17 † And the Lord said to me, ‘They are right in what they have spoken. 18 † I will raise up for them a prophet like you from among their brothers. And I will put my words in his mouth, and he shall speak to them all that I command him. 19 † And whoever will not listen to my words that he shall speak in my name, I myself will require it of him. 20 † But the prophet who presumes to speak a word in my name that I have not commanded him to speak, or[1] who speaks in the name of other gods, that same prophet shall die.’ 21 And if you say in your heart, ‘How may we know the word that the Lord has not spoken?’— 22 † when a prophet speaks in the name of the Lord, if the word does not come to pass or come true, that is a word that the Lord has not spoken; the prophet has spoken it presumptuously. You need not be afraid of him.

Laws Concerning Cities of Refuge

19 [1]‡‡“When the Lord your God cuts off the nations whose land the Lord your God is giving you, and you dispossess them and dwell in their cities and in their houses, [2]you shall set apart three cities for yourselves in the land that the Lord your God is giving you to possess. [3]You shall measure the distances[2] and divide into three parts the area of the land that the Lord your God gives you as a possession, so that any manslayer can flee to them.

[4]‡“This is the provision for the manslayer, who by fleeing there may save his life. If anyone kills his neighbor unintentionally without having hated him in the past— [5]as when someone goes into the forest with his neighbor to cut wood, and his hand swings the axe to cut down a tree, and the head slips from the handle and strikes his neighbor so that he dies—he may flee to one of these cities and live, [6]lest the avenger of blood in hot anger pursue the manslayer and overtake him, because the way is long, and strike him fatally, though the man did not deserve to die, since he had not hated his neighbor in the past. [7]Therefore I command you, You shall set apart three cities. [8]‡And if the Lord your God enlarges your territory, as he has sworn to your fathers, and gives you all the land that he promised to give to your fathers— [9]†provided you are careful to keep all this commandment, which I command you today, by loving the Lord your God and by walking ever in his ways—then you shall add three other cities to these three, [10]† lest innocent blood be shed in your land that the Lord your God is giving you for an inheritance, and so the guilt of bloodshed be upon you.

[11]‡“But if anyone hates his neighbor and lies in wait for him and attacks him and strikes him fatally so that he dies, and he flees into one of these cities, [12]†then the elders of his city shall send and take him from there, and hand him over to the avenger of blood, so that he may die. [13]†Your eye shall not pity him, but you shall purge the guilt of innocent blood[3] from Israel, so that it may be well with you.

Property Boundaries

14 ☥☥"You shall not move your neighbor's landmark, which the men of old have set, in the inheritance that you will hold in the land that the Lord your God is giving you to possess.

Laws Concerning Witnesses

15 ‡ ‡ “A single witness shall not suffice against a person for any crime or for any wrong in connection with any offense that he has committed. Only on the evidence of two witnesses or of three witnesses shall a charge be established. 16 If a malicious witness arises to accuse a person of wrongdoing, 17 † then both parties to the dispute shall appear before the Lord, before the priests and the judges who are in office in those days. 18 ‡ The judges shall inquire diligently, and if the witness is a false witness and has accused his brother falsely, 19 then you shall do to him as he had meant to do to his brother. So you shall purge the evil[1] from your midst. 20 † And the rest shall hear and fear, and shall never again commit any such evil among you.
21 † Your eye shall not pity. It shall be life for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.

Laws Concerning Warfare

20 [1]†“When you go out to war against your enemies, and see horses and chariots and an army larger than your own, you shall not be afraid of them, for the Lord your God is with you, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt. [2]† And when you draw near to the battle, the priest shall come forward and speak to the people [3]and shall say to them, ‘Hear, O Israel, today you are drawing near for battle against your enemies: let not your heart faint. Do not fear or panic or be in dread of them, [4]for the Lord your God is he who goes with you to fight for you against your enemies, to give you the victory.’ [5]†Then the officers shall speak to the people, saying, ‘Is there any man who has built a new house and has not dedicated it? Let him go back to his house, lest he die in the battle and another man dedicate
it. [6]And is there any man who has planted a vineyard and has not enjoyed its fruit? Let him go back to his house, lest he die in the battle and another man enjoy its fruit. [7]And is there any man who has betrothed a wife and has not taken her? Let him go back to his house, lest he die in the battle and another man take her.’ [8]And the officers shall speak further to the people, and say, ‘Is there any man who is fearful and fainthearted? Let him go back to his house, lest he make the heart of his fellows melt like his own.’ [9]†And when the officers have finished speaking to the people, then commanders shall be appointed at the head of the people.

[10]††“When you draw near to a city to fight against it, offer terms of peace to it. [11]And if it responds to you peaceably and it opens to you, then all the people who are found in it shall do forced labor for you and shall serve you.
[12]†But if it makes no peace with you, but makes war against you, then you shall besiege it. [13]And when the Lord your God gives it into your hand, you shall put all its males to the sword, [14]but the women and the little ones, the livestock, and everything else in the city, all its spoil, you shall take as plunder for yourselves. And you shall enjoy the spoil of your enemies, which the Lord your God has given you. [15]†Thus you shall do to all the cities that are very far from you, which are not cities of the nations here.
[16]†But in the cities of these peoples that the Lord your God is giving you for an inheritance, you shall save alive nothing that breathes, [17]but you shall devote them to complete destruction,[1] the Hittites and the Amorites, the Canaanites and the Perizzites, the Hivites and the Jebusites, as the Lord your God has commanded, [18]† that they may not teach you to do according to all their abominable practices that they have done for their gods, and so you sin against the Lord your God.

[19]† "When you besiege a city for a long time, making war against it in order to take it, you shall not destroy its trees by wielding an axe against them. You may eat from them, but you shall not cut them down. Are the trees in the field human, that they should be besieged by you? [20]Only the trees that you know are not trees for food you may destroy and cut down, that you may build siegeworks against the city that makes war with you, until it falls.

Atonement for Unsolved Murders

21 [1]‡†“If in the land that the Lord your God is giving you to possess someone is found slain, lying in the open country, and it is not known who killed him, [2]† then your elders and your judges shall come out, and they shall measure the distance to the surrounding cities. [3]‡And the elders of the city that is nearest to the slain man shall take a heifer that has never been worked and that has not pulled in a yoke. [4]†And the elders of that city shall bring the heifer down to a valley with running water, which is neither plowed nor sown, and shall break the heifer's neck there in the valley.
[5]†Then the priests, the sons of Levi, shall come forward, for the Lord your God has chosen them to minister to him and to bless in the name of the Lord, and by their word every dispute and every assault shall be settled.
[6]‡And all the elders of that city nearest to the slain man shall wash their hands over the heifer whose neck was broken in the valley, [7]and they shall testify, 'Our hands did not shed this blood, nor did our eyes see it shed.
[8]† Accept atonement, O Lord, for your people Israel, whom you have redeemed, and do not set the guilt of innocent blood in the midst of your people Israel, so that their blood guilt be atoned for.' [9]So you shall purge the guilt of innocent blood from your midst, when you do what is right in the sight of the Lord.

Marrying Female Captives

10 ‡‡“When you go out to war against your enemies, and the Lord your God gives them into your hand and you take them captive, 11 †and you see among the captives a beautiful woman, and you desire to take her to be your wife, 12 ‡and you bring her home to your house, she shall shave her head and pare her nails. 13 And she shall take off the clothes in which she was captured and shall remain in your house and lament her father and her mother a full month. After that you may go in to her and be her husband, and she shall be your wife. 14 †But if you no longer delight in her, you shall let her go where she wants. But you shall not sell her for money, nor shall you treat her as a slave, since you have humiliated her.

Inheritance Rights of the Firstborn

15 ‡ † “If a man has two wives, the one loved and the other unloved, and both the loved and the unloved have borne him children, and if the firstborn son belongs to the unloved,[1] 16 † then on the day when he assigns his possessions as an inheritance to his sons, he may not treat the son of the loved as the firstborn in preference to the son of the unloved, who is the firstborn, 17 † but he shall acknowledge the firstborn, the son of the unloved, by giving him a double portion of all that he has, for he is the firstfruits of his strength. The right of the firstborn is his.

A Rebellious Son

18 ‡ ‡ “If a man has a stubborn and rebellious son who will not obey the voice of his father or the voice of his mother, and, though they discipline him, will not listen to them, 19 then his father and his mother shall take hold of him and bring him out to the elders of his city at the gate of the place where he lives, 20 † and they shall say to the elders of his city, ‘This our son is stubborn and rebellious; he will not obey our voice; he is a glutton and a drunkard.’ 21 † Then all the men of the city shall stone him to death with stones. So you shall purge the evil from your midst, and all Israel shall hear, and fear.

A Man Hanged on a Tree Is Cursed

22 ‡‡“And if a man has committed a crime punishable by death and he is put to death, and you hang him on a tree, 23 †his body shall not remain all night on the tree, but you shall bury him the same day, for a hanged man is cursed by God. You shall not defile your land that the Lord your God is giving you for an inheritance.

Various Laws

22 [1]†‡†“You shall not see your brother’s ox or his sheep going astray and ignore them. You shall take them back to your brother. [2]†And if he does not live near you and you do not know who he is, you shall bring it home to your house, and it shall stay with you until your brother seeks it. Then you shall restore it to him. [3]And you shall do the same with his donkey or with his garment, or with any lost thing of your brother’s, which he loses and you find; you may not ignore it. [4]†You shall not see your brother’s donkey or his ox fallen down by the way and ignore them. You shall help him to lift them up again.

[5]†“A woman shall not wear a man’s garment, nor shall a man put on a woman’s cloak, for whoever does these things is an abomination to the Lord your God.

[6]‡“If you come across a bird’s nest in any tree or on the ground, with young ones or eggs and the mother sitting on the young or on the eggs, you shall not take the mother with the young. [7]You shall let the mother go, but the young you may take for yourself, that it may go well with you, and that you may live long.

[8]†“When you build a new house, you shall make a parapet for your roof, that you may not bring the guilt of blood upon your house, if anyone should fall from it.

[9]‡“You shall not sow your vineyard with two kinds of seed, lest the whole yield be forfeited,[1] the crop that you have sown and the yield of the vineyard. [10]†You shall not plow with an ox and a donkey together. [11]†You shall not wear cloth of wool and linen mixed together.

[12]†“You shall make yourself tassels on the four corners of the garment with which you cover yourself.

Laws Concerning Sexual Immorality

13 ‡‡‡“If any man takes a wife and goes in to her and then hates her 14 and accuses her of misconduct and brings a bad name upon her, saying, ‘I took this woman, and when I came near her, I did not find in her evidence of virginity,’ 15 then the father of the young woman and her mother shall take and bring out the evidence of her virginity to the elders of the city in the gate. 16 And the father of the young woman shall say to the elders, ‘I gave my daughter to this man to marry, and he hates her; 17 and behold, he has accused her of misconduct, saying, “I did not find in your daughter evidence of virginity.” And yet this is the evidence of my daughter’s virginity.’ And they shall spread the cloak before the elders of the city.
18 ‡Then the elders of that city shall take the man and whip[1] him, 19 ‡and they shall fine him a hundred shekels[2] of silver and give them to the father of the young woman, because he has brought a bad name upon a virgin[3] of Israel. And she shall be his wife. He may not divorce her all his days. 20 But if the thing is true, that evidence of virginity was not found in the young woman, 21 ‡then they shall bring out the young woman to the door of her father’s house, and the men of her city shall stone her to death with stones, because she has done an outrageous thing in Israel by whoring in her father’s house. So you shall purge the evil from your midst.

22 ‡“If a man is found lying with the wife of another man, both of them shall die, the man who lay with the woman, and the woman. So you shall purge the evil from Israel.

23 ‡‡“If there is a betrothed virgin, and a man meets her in the city and lies with her, 24 then you shall bring them both out to the gate of that city, and you shall stone them to death with stones, the young woman because she did not cry for help though she was in the city, and the man because he violated his neighbor’s wife. So you shall purge the evil from your midst.

25 ‡‡“But if in the open country a man meets a young woman who is betrothed, and the man seizes her and lies with her, then only the man who lay with her shall die. 26 But you shall do nothing to the young woman; she has committed no offense punishable by death. For this case is like that of a man attacking and murdering his neighbor, 27 because he met her in the open country, and though the betrothed young woman cried for help there was no one to rescue her.

28 ✝“If a man meets a virgin who is not betrothed, and seizes her and lies with her, and they are found, 29then the man who lay with her shall give to the father of the young woman fifty shekels of silver, and she shall be his wife, because he has violated her. He may not divorce her all his days.

30 ✝[4] “A man shall not take his father’s wife, so that he does not uncover his father’s nakedness.[5]

Those Excluded from the Assembly

23 [1]†††"No one whose testicles are crushed or whose male organ is cut off shall enter the assembly of the Lord.
[2]†"No one born of a forbidden union may enter the assembly of the Lord.
Even to the tenth generation, none of his descendants may enter the assembly of the Lord.
[3]†"No Ammonite or Moabite may enter the assembly of the Lord. Even to the tenth generation, none of them may enter the assembly of the Lord forever, [4]because they did not meet you with bread and with water on the way, when you came out of Egypt, and because they hired against you Balaam the son of Beor from Pethor of Mesopotamia, to curse you. [5]†But the Lord your God would not listen to Balaam; instead the Lord your God turned the curse into a blessing for you, because the Lord your God loved you. [6]You shall not seek their peace or their prosperity all your days forever.
[7]†"You shall not abhor an Edomite, for he is your brother. You shall not abhor an Egyptian, because you were a sojourner in his land. [8]Children born to them in the third generation may enter the assembly of the Lord.

Uncleanness in the Camp

9 ✝✝✝“When you are encamped against your enemies, then you shall keep yourself from every evil thing.
10 ✝“If any man among you becomes unclean because of a nocturnal emission, then he shall go outside the camp. He shall not come inside the camp, 11but when evening comes, he shall bathe himself in water, and as the sun sets, he may come inside the camp.
12“You shall have a place outside the camp, and you shall go out to it.
13And you shall have a trowel with your tools, and when you sit down outside, you shall dig a hole with it and turn back and cover up your excrement. 14✝Because the Lord your God walks in the midst of your camp, to deliver you and to give up your enemies before you, therefore your camp must be holy, so that he may not see anything indecent among you and turn away from you.

Miscellaneous Laws

15 ‡‡ “You shall not give up to his master a slave who has escaped from his master to you. 16 He shall dwell with you, in your midst, in the place that he shall choose within one of your towns, wherever it suits him. You shall not wrong him.

17 † “None of the daughters of Israel shall be a cult prostitute, and none of the sons of Israel shall be a cult prostitute. 18 † You shall not bring the fee of a prostitute or the wages of a dog[1] into the house of the Lord your God in payment for any vow, for both of these are an abomination to the Lord your God.

19 † “You shall not charge interest on loans to your brother, interest on money, interest on food, interest on anything that is lent for interest. 20 † You may charge a foreigner interest, but you may not charge your brother interest, that the Lord your God may bless you in all that you undertake in the land that you are entering to take possession of it.

21 ‡ “If you make a vow to the Lord your God, you shall not delay fulfilling it, for the Lord your God will surely require it of you, and you will be guilty of sin. 22 But if you refrain from vowing, you will not be guilty of sin. 23 You shall be careful to do what has passed your lips, for you have voluntarily vowed to the Lord your God what you have promised with your mouth.

24 ‡ “If you go into your neighbor’s vineyard, you may eat your fill of grapes, as many as you wish, but you shall not put any in your bag. 25 If you go into your neighbor’s standing grain, you may pluck the ears with your hand, but you shall not put a sickle to your neighbor’s standing grain.

Laws Concerning Divorce

24 [1]‡† “When a man takes a wife and marries her, if then she finds no favor in his eyes because he has found some indecency in her, and he writes her a certificate of divorce and puts it in her hand and sends her out of his house, and she departs out of his house, [2]and if she goes and becomes another man’s wife, [3]and the latter man hates her and writes her a certificate of divorce and puts it in her hand and sends her out of his house, or if the latter man dies, who took her to be his wife, [4]† then her former husband, who sent her away, may not take her again to be his wife, after she has been defiled, for that is an abomination before the Lord. And you shall not bring sin upon the land that the Lord your God is giving you for an inheritance.

Miscellaneous Laws

5 ‡ ‡ “When a man is newly married, he shall not go out with the army or be liable for any other public duty. He shall be free at home one year to be happy with his wife whom he has taken.
6 † “No one shall take a mill or an upper millstone in pledge, for that would be taking a life in pledge.
7 † “If a man is found stealing one of his brothers of the people of Israel, and if he treats him as a slave or sells him, then that thief shall die. So you shall purge the evil from your midst.
8 † “Take care, in a case of leprous[1] disease, to be very careful to do according to all that the Levitical priests shall direct you. As I commanded them, so you shall be careful to do. 9 Remember what the Lord your God did to Miriam on the way as you came out of Egypt.
10 ‡ “When you make your neighbor a loan of any sort, you shall not go into his house to collect his pledge. 11 You shall stand outside, and the man to whom you make the loan shall bring the pledge out to you. 12 ‡ And if he is a poor man, you shall not sleep in his pledge. 13 You shall restore to him the pledge as the sun sets, that he may sleep in his cloak and bless you. And it shall be righteousness for you before the Lord your God.
14 † “You shall not oppress a hired servant who is poor and needy, whether he is one of your brothers or one of the sojourners who are in your land within your towns. 15 You shall give him his wages on the same day, before the sun sets (for he is poor and counts on it), lest he cry against you to the Lord, and you be guilty of sin.
16 † “Fathers shall not be put to death because of their children, nor shall children be put to death because of their fathers. Each one shall be put to death for his own sin.
17 “You shall not pervert the justice due to the sojourner or to the fatherless, or take a widow’s garment in pledge, 18 † but you shall remember that you were a slave in Egypt and the Lord your God redeemed you from there; therefore I command you to do this.
19 ‡ ‡ “When you reap your harvest in your field and forget a sheaf in the field, you shall not go back to get it. It shall be for the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow, that the LORD your God may bless you in all the work of your hands. 20When you beat your olive trees, you shall not go over them again. It shall be for the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow. 21When you gather the grapes of your vineyard, you shall not strip it afterward. It shall be for the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow. 22You shall remember that you were a slave in the land of Egypt; therefore I command you to do this.

25 1"If there is a dispute between men and they come into court and the judges decide between them, acquitting the innocent and condemning the guilty, 2† then if the guilty man deserves to be beaten, the judge shall cause him to lie down and be beaten in his presence with a number of stripes in proportion to his offense. 3† Forty stripes may be given him, but not more, lest, if one should go on to beat him with more stripes than these, your brother be degraded in your sight.

4† "You shall not muzzle an ox when it is treading out the grain.

Laws Concerning Levirate Marriage

5 ‡ † “If brothers dwell together, and one of them dies and has no son, the wife of the dead man shall not be married outside the family to a stranger.
Her husband’s brother shall go in to her and take her as his wife and perform the duty of a husband’s brother to her. 6 † And the first son whom she bears shall succeed to the name of his dead brother, that his name may not be blotted out of Israel. 7 † And if the man does not wish to take his brother’s wife, then his brother’s wife shall go up to the gate to the elders and say, ‘My husband’s brother refuses to perpetuate his brother’s name in Israel; he will not perform the duty of a husband’s brother to me.’ 8 Then the elders of his city shall call him and speak to him, and if he persists, saying, ‘I do not wish to take her,’ 9 † then his brother’s wife shall go up to him in the presence of the elders and pull his sandal off his foot and spit in his face. And she shall answer and say, ‘So shall it be done to the man who does not build up his brother’s house.’ 10 † And the name of his house[1] shall be called in Israel, ‘The house of him who had his sandal pulled off.’

Miscellaneous Laws

11 ‡‡“When men fight with one another and the wife of the one draws near to rescue her husband from the hand of him who is beating him and puts out her hand and seizes him by the private parts, 12 then you shall cut off her hand. Your eye shall have no pity.

13 ‡“You shall not have in your bag two kinds of weights, a large and a small. 14 You shall not have in your house two kinds of measures, a large and a small. 15 A full and fair[1] weight you shall have, a full and fair measure you shall have, that your days may be long in the land that the Lord your God is giving you. 16 †For all who do such things, all who act dishonestly, are an abomination to the Lord your God.

17 ‡“Remember what Amalek did to you on the way as you came out of Egypt, 18 how he attacked you on the way when you were faint and weary, and cut off your tail, those who were lagging behind you, and he did not fear God. 19 Therefore when the Lord your God has given you rest from all your enemies around you, in the land that the Lord your God is giving you for an inheritance to possess, you shall blot out the memory of Amalek from under heaven; you shall not forget.

Offerings of Firstfruits and Tithes

26 [1]†† "When you come into the land that the LORD your God is giving you for an inheritance and have taken possession of it and live in it, [2]† you shall take some of the first of all the fruit of the ground, which you harvest from your land that the LORD your God is giving you, and you shall put it in a basket, and you shall go to the place that the LORD your God will choose, to make his name to dwell there. [3]And you shall go to the priest who is in office at that time and say to him, 'I declare today to the LORD your God that I have come into the land that the LORD swore to our fathers to give us.' [4]Then the priest shall take the basket from your hand and set it down before the altar of the LORD your God.

[5]† "And you shall make response before the LORD your God, 'A wandering Aramean was my father. And he went down into Egypt and sojourned there, few in number, and there he became a nation, great, mighty, and populous.
[6]† And the Egyptians treated us harshly and humiliated us and laid on us hard labor. [7]Then we cried to the LORD, the God of our fathers, and the LORD heard our voice and saw our affliction, our toil, and our oppression. [8]And the LORD brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm, with great deeds of terror,[2] with signs and wonders. [9]† And he brought us into this place and gave us this land, a land flowing with milk and honey.
[10]And behold, now I bring the first of the fruit of the ground, which you, O LORD, have given me.' And you shall set it down before the LORD your God and worship before the LORD your God. [11]And you shall rejoice in all the good that the LORD your God has given to you and to your house, you, and the Levite, and the sojourner who is among you.

[12]† "When you have finished paying all the tithe of your produce in the third year, which is the year of tithing, giving it to the Levite, the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow, so that they may eat within your towns and be filled, [13]† then you shall say before the LORD your God, 'I have removed the sacred portion out of my house, and moreover, I have given it to the Levite, the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow, according to all your commandment that you have commanded me. I have not transgressed any of your commandments, nor have I forgotten them. [14]I have not eaten of the tithe while I was mourning, or removed any of it while I was unclean, or offered any of it to the dead. I have obeyed the voice of the Lord my God. I have done according to all that you have commanded me. 15 †Look down from your holy habitation, from heaven, and bless your people Israel and the ground that you have given us, as you swore to our fathers, a land flowing with milk and honey.'

16 †"This day the Lord your God commands you to do these statutes and rules. You shall therefore be careful to do them with all your heart and with all your soul. 17 †You have declared today that the Lord is your God, and that you will walk in his ways, and keep his statutes and his commandments and his rules, and will obey his voice. 18 †And the Lord has declared today that you are a people for his treasured possession, as he has promised you, and that you are to keep all his commandments, 19 †and that he will set you in praise and in fame and in honor high above all nations that he has made, and that you shall be a people holy to the Lord your God, as he promised."

The Altar on Mount Ebal

27 [1]‡†Now Moses and the elders of Israel commanded the people, saying, “Keep the whole commandment that I command you today. [2]†And on the day you cross over the Jordan to the land that the Lord your God is giving you, you shall set up large stones and plaster them with plaster. [3]†And you shall write on them all the words of this law, when you cross over to enter the land that the Lord your God is giving you, a land flowing with milk and honey, as the Lord, the God of your fathers, has promised you. [4]†And when you have crossed over the Jordan, you shall set up these stones, concerning which I command you today, on Mount Ebal, and you shall plaster them with plaster. [5]‡And there you shall build an altar to the Lord your God, an altar of stones. You shall wield no iron tool on them; [6]you shall build an altar to the Lord your God of uncut[1] stones. And you shall offer burnt offerings on it to the Lord your God, [7]and you shall sacrifice peace offerings and shall eat there, and you shall rejoice before the Lord your God. [8]And you shall write on the stones all the words of this law very plainly.”

Curses from Mount Ebal

9 ‡ ‡ † Then Moses and the Levitical priests said to all Israel, “Keep silence and hear, O Israel: this day you have become the people of the Lord your God. 10 † You shall therefore obey the voice of the Lord your God, keeping his commandments and his statutes, which I command you today.” 11 That day Moses charged the people, saying, 12 ‡ † “When you have crossed over the Jordan, these shall stand on Mount Gerizim to bless the people: Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Joseph, and Benjamin. 13 † And these shall stand on Mount Ebal for the curse: Reuben, Gad, Asher, Zebulun, Dan, and Naphtali. 14 And the Levites shall declare to all the men of Israel in a loud voice:
15 ‡ “‘Cursed be the man who makes a carved or cast metal image, an abomination to the Lord, a thing made by the hands of a craftsman, and sets it up in secret.’ And all the people shall answer and say, ‘Amen.’
16 † “‘Cursed be anyone who dishonors his father or his mother.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’
17 † “‘Cursed be anyone who moves his neighbor’s landmark.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’
18 “‘Cursed be anyone who misleads a blind man on the road.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’
19 “‘Cursed be anyone who perverts the justice due to the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’ 20 ‡ “‘Cursed be anyone who lies with his father’s wife, because he has uncovered his father’s nakedness.’[1] And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’ 21 “‘Cursed be anyone who lies with any kind of animal.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’
22 “‘Cursed be anyone who lies with his sister, whether the daughter of his father or the daughter of his mother.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’
23 “‘Cursed be anyone who lies with his mother-in-law.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’
24 † “‘Cursed be anyone who strikes down his neighbor in secret.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’

[25] † “‘Cursed be anyone who takes a bribe to shed innocent blood.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’

[26] † “‘Cursed be anyone who does not confirm the words of this law by doing them.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’

Blessings for Obedience

28 [1]“And if you faithfully obey the voice of the Lord your God, being careful to do all his commandments that I command you today, the Lord your God will set you high above all the nations of the earth. [2]And all these blessings shall come upon you and overtake you, if you obey the voice of the Lord your God. [3]Blessed shall you be in the city, and blessed shall you be in the field. [4]Blessed shall be the fruit of your womb and the fruit of your ground and the fruit of your cattle, the increase of your herds and the young of your flock. [5]Blessed shall be your basket and your kneading bowl. [6]Blessed shall you be when you come in, and blessed shall you be when you go out.

[7]“The Lord will cause your enemies who rise against you to be defeated before you. They shall come out against you one way and flee before you seven ways. [8]The Lord will command the blessing on you in your barns and in all that you undertake. And he will bless you in the land that the Lord your God is giving you. [9]The Lord will establish you as a people holy to himself, as he has sworn to you, if you keep the commandments of the Lord your God and walk in his ways. [10]And all the peoples of the earth shall see that you are called by the name of the Lord, and they shall be afraid of you. [11]And the Lord will make you abound in prosperity, in the fruit of your womb and in the fruit of your livestock and in the fruit of your ground, within the land that the Lord swore to your fathers to give you. [12]The Lord will open to you his good treasury, the heavens, to give the rain to your land in its season and to bless all the work of your hands. And you shall lend to many nations, but you shall not borrow. [13]And the Lord will make you the head and not the tail, and you shall only go up and not down, if you obey the commandments of the Lord your God, which I command you today, being careful to do them, [14]and if you do not turn aside from any of the words that I command you today, to the right hand or to the left, to go after other gods to serve them.

Curses for Disobedience

15 ‡ ‡ † “But if you will not obey the voice of the Lord your God or be careful to do all his commandments and his statutes that I command you today, then all these curses shall come upon you and overtake you.
16 † Cursed shall you be in the city, and cursed shall you be in the field.
17 Cursed shall be your basket and your kneading bowl. 18 Cursed shall be the fruit of your womb and the fruit of your ground, the increase of your herds and the young of your flock. 19 Cursed shall you be when you come in, and cursed shall you be when you go out.

20 “The Lord will send on you curses, confusion, and frustration in all that you undertake to do, until you are destroyed and perish quickly on account of the evil of your deeds, because you have forsaken me. 21 † The Lord will make the pestilence stick to you until he has consumed you off the land that you are entering to take possession of it. 22 † The Lord will strike you with wasting disease and with fever, inflammation and fiery heat, and with drought[1] and with blight and with mildew. They shall pursue you until you perish. 23 † And the heavens over your head shall be bronze, and the earth under you shall be iron. 24 The Lord will make the rain of your land powder.
From heaven dust shall come down on you until you are destroyed.

25 † “The Lord will cause you to be defeated before your enemies. You shall go out one way against them and flee seven ways before them. And you shall be a horror to all the kingdoms of the earth. 26 † And your dead body shall be food for all birds of the air and for the beasts of the earth, and there shall be no one to frighten them away. 27 † The Lord will strike you with the boils of Egypt, and with tumors and scabs and itch, of which you cannot be healed. 28 † The Lord will strike you with madness and blindness and confusion of mind, 29 † and you shall grope at noonday, as the blind grope in darkness, and you shall not prosper in your ways.[1] And you shall be only oppressed and robbed continually, and there shall be no one to help you. 30 ‡ † You shall betroth a wife, but another man shall ravish her. You shall build a house, but you shall not dwell in it. You shall plant a vineyard, but you shall not enjoy its fruit. 31 Your ox shall be slaughtered before your eyes, but you shall not eat any of it. Your donkey shall be seized before your face, but shall not be restored to you. Your sheep shall be given to your enemies, but there shall be no one to help you. 32 † Your sons and your daughters shall be given to another people, while your eyes look on and fail with longing for them all day long, but you shall be helpless. 33 † A nation that you have not known shall eat up the fruit of your ground and of all your labors, and you shall be only oppressed and crushed continually, 34 † so that you are driven mad by the sights that your eyes see. 35 The Lord will strike you on the knees and on the legs with grievous boils of which you cannot be healed, from the sole of your foot to the crown of your head.

36 † "The Lord will bring you and your king whom you set over you to a nation that neither you nor your fathers have known. And there you shall serve other gods of wood and stone. 37 † And you shall become a horror, a proverb, and a byword among all the peoples where the Lord will lead you away. 38 † You shall carry much seed into the field and shall gather in little, for the locust shall consume it. 39 You shall plant vineyards and dress them, but you shall neither drink of the wine nor gather the grapes, for the worm shall eat them. 40 You shall have olive trees throughout all your territory, but you shall not anoint yourself with the oil, for your olives shall drop off. 41 † You shall father sons and daughters, but they shall not be yours, for they shall go into captivity. 42 The cricket[2] shall possess all your trees and the fruit of your ground. 43 † The sojourner who is among you shall rise higher and higher above you, and you shall come down lower and lower. 44 He shall lend to you, and you shall not lend to him. He shall be the head, and you shall be the tail.

45 † "All these curses shall come upon you and pursue you and overtake you till you are destroyed, because you did not obey the voice of the Lord your God, to keep his commandments and his statutes that he commanded you. 46 † They shall be a sign and a wonder against you and your offspring forever. 47 Because you did not serve the Lord your God with joyfulness and gladness of heart, because of the abundance of all things, 48 † therefore you shall serve your enemies whom the Lord will send against you, in hunger and thirst, in nakedness, and lacking everything. And he will put a yoke of iron on your neck until he has destroyed you. 49 † The Lord will bring a nation against you from far away, from the end of the earth, swooping down like the eagle, a nation whose language you do not understand, 50 † a hard-faced nation who shall not respect the old or show mercy to the young. [51]It shall eat the offspring of your cattle and the fruit of your ground, until you are destroyed; it also shall not leave you grain, wine, or oil, the increase of your herds or the young of your flock, until they have caused you to perish.

[52]"They shall besiege you in all your towns, until your high and fortified walls, in which you trusted, come down throughout all your land. And they shall besiege you in all your towns throughout all your land, which the LORD your God has given you. [53]† And you shall eat the fruit of your womb, the flesh of your sons and daughters, whom the LORD your God has given you, in the siege and in the distress with which your enemies shall distress you. [54]The man who is the most tender and refined among you will begrudge food to his brother, to the wife he embraces,[1] and to the last of the children whom he has left, [55]† so that he will not give to any of them any of the flesh of his children whom he is eating, because he has nothing else left, in the siege and in the distress with which your enemy shall distress you in all your towns. [56]The most tender and refined woman among you, who would not venture to set the sole of her foot on the ground because she is so delicate and tender, will begrudge to the husband she embraces,[2] to her son and to her daughter, [57]her afterbirth that comes out from between her feet and her children whom she bears, because lacking everything she will eat them secretly, in the siege and in the distress with which your enemy shall distress you in your towns.

[58]† "If you are not careful to do all the words of this law that are written in this book, that you may fear this glorious and awesome name, the LORD your God, [59]† then the LORD will bring on you and your offspring extraordinary afflictions, afflictions severe and lasting, and sicknesses grievous and lasting. [60]† And he will bring upon you again all the diseases of Egypt, of which you were afraid, and they shall cling to you. [61]Every sickness also and every affliction that is not recorded in the book of this law, the LORD will bring upon you, until you are destroyed. [62]† Whereas you were as numerous as the stars of heaven, you shall be left few in number, because you did not obey the voice of the LORD your God. [63]† And as the LORD took delight in doing you good and multiplying you, so the LORD will take delight in bringing ruin upon you and destroying you. And you shall be plucked off the land that you are entering to take possession of it.

64 “And the Lord will scatter you among all peoples, from one end of the earth to the other, and there you shall serve other gods of wood and stone, which neither you nor your fathers have known. 65 † And among these nations you shall find no respite, and there shall be no resting place for the sole of your foot, but the Lord will give you there a trembling heart and failing eyes and a languishing soul. 66 † Your life shall hang in doubt before you. Night and day you shall be in dread and have no assurance of your life.
67 † In the morning you shall say, ‘If only it were evening!’ and at evening you shall say, ‘If only it were morning!’ because of the dread that your heart shall feel, and the sights that your eyes shall see. 68 † And the Lord will bring you back in ships to Egypt, a journey that I promised that you should never make again; and there you shall offer yourselves for sale to your enemies as male and female slaves, but there will be no buyer.”

The Covenant Renewed in Moab

29 [1][3] These are the words of the covenant that the Lord commanded Moses to make with the people of Israel in the land of Moab, besides the covenant that he had made with them at Horeb.

[2][1] And Moses summoned all Israel and said to them: "You have seen all that the Lord did before your eyes in the land of Egypt, to Pharaoh and to all his servants and to all his land, [3]the great trials that your eyes saw, the signs, and those great wonders. [4]† But to this day the Lord has not given you a heart to understand or eyes to see or ears to hear. [5]‡ I have led you forty years in the wilderness. Your clothes have not worn out on you, and your sandals have not worn off your feet. [6]You have not eaten bread, and you have not drunk wine or strong drink, that you may know that I am the Lord your God. [7]And when you came to this place, Sihon the king of Heshbon and Og the king of Bashan came out against us to battle, but we defeated them. [8]† We took their land and gave it for an inheritance to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of the Manassites. [9]Therefore keep the words of this covenant and do them, that you may prosper[2] in all that you do.

[10]‡ "You are standing today all of you before the Lord your God: the heads of your tribes,[3] your elders, and your officers, all the men of Israel, [11]your little ones, your wives, and the sojourner who is in your camp, from the one who chops your wood to the one who draws your water, [12]† so that you may enter into the sworn covenant of the Lord your God, which the Lord your God is making with you today, [13]† that he may establish you today as his people, and that he may be your God, as he promised you, and as he swore to your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob. [14]† It is not with you alone that I am making this sworn covenant, [15]† but with whoever is standing here with us today before the Lord our God, and with whoever is not here with us today.

[16]"You know how we lived in the land of Egypt, and how we came through the midst of the nations through which you passed. [17]And you have seen their detestable things, their idols of wood and stone, of silver and gold, which were among them. [18]† Beware lest there be among you a man or woman or clan or tribe whose heart is turning away today from the Lord our God to go and serve the gods of those nations. Beware lest there be among you a root bearing poisonous and bitter fruit, [19]†one who, when he hears the words of this sworn covenant, blesses himself in his heart, saying, ‘I shall be safe, though I walk in the stubbornness of my heart.’ This will lead to the sweeping away of moist and dry alike. [20]†The Lord will not be willing to forgive him, but rather the anger of the Lord and his jealousy will smoke against that man, and the curses written in this book will settle upon him, and the Lord will blot out his name from under heaven. [21]†And the Lord will single him out from all the tribes of Israel for calamity, in accordance with all the curses of the covenant written in this Book of the Law. [22]‡‡And the next generation, your children who rise up after you, and the foreigner who comes from a far land, will say, when they see the afflictions of that land and the sicknesses with which the Lord has made it sick— [23]†the whole land burned out with brimstone and salt, nothing sown and nothing growing, where no plant can sprout, an overthrow like that of Sodom and Gomorrah, Admah, and Zeboiim, which the Lord overthrew in his anger and wrath— [24]all the nations will say, ‘Why has the Lord done thus to this land? What caused the heat of this great anger?’ [25]†Then people will say, ‘It is because they abandoned the covenant of the Lord, the God of their fathers, which he made with them when he brought them out of the land of Egypt, [26]and went and served other gods and worshiped them, gods whom they had not known and whom he had not allotted to them. [27]Therefore the anger of the Lord was kindled against this land, bringing upon it all the curses written in this book, [28]†and the Lord uprooted them from their land in anger and fury and great wrath, and cast them into another land, as they are this day.’

[29]†“The secret things belong to the Lord our God, but the things that are revealed belong to us and to our children forever, that we may do all the words of this law.

Repentance and Forgiveness

30 [1]‡†“And when all these things come upon you, the blessing and the curse, which I have set before you, and you call them to mind among all the nations where the Lord your God has driven you, [2]†and return to the Lord your God, you and your children, and obey his voice in all that I command you today, with all your heart and with all your soul, [3]†then the Lord your God will restore your fortunes and have compassion on you, and he will gather you again from all the peoples where the Lord your God has scattered you. [4]†If your outcasts are in the uttermost parts of heaven, from there the Lord your God will gather you, and from there he will take you. [5]† And the Lord your God will bring you into the land that your fathers possessed, that you may possess it. And he will make you more prosperous and numerous than your fathers. [6]†And the Lord your God will circumcise your heart and the heart of your offspring, so that you will love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul, that you may live. [7]†And the Lord your God will put all these curses on your foes and enemies who persecuted you. [8]†And you shall again obey the voice of the Lord and keep all his commandments that I command you today. [9]The Lord your God will make you abundantly prosperous in all the work of your hand, in the fruit of your womb and in the fruit of your cattle and in the fruit of your ground. For the Lord will again take delight in prospering you, as he took delight in your fathers, [10]†when you obey the voice of the Lord your God, to keep his commandments and his statutes that are written in this Book of the Law, when you turn to the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul.

The Choice of Life and Death

11 ‡ ‡ “For this commandment that I command you today is not too hard for you, neither is it far off. 12 ‡ It is not in heaven, that you should say, ‘Who will ascend to heaven for us and bring it to us, that we may hear it and do it?’ 13 Neither is it beyond the sea, that you should say, ‘Who will go over the sea for us and bring it to us, that we may hear it and do it?’ 14 But the word is very near you. It is in your mouth and in your heart, so that you can do it.

15 † “See, I have set before you today life and good, death and evil. 16 † If you obey the commandments of the Lord your God[1] that I command you today, by loving the Lord your God, by walking in his ways, and by keeping his commandments and his statutes and his rules,[2] then you shall live and multiply, and the Lord your God will bless you in the land that you are entering to take possession of it. 17 But if your heart turns away, and you will not hear, but are drawn away to worship other gods and serve them, 18 I declare to you today, that you shall surely perish. You shall not live long in the land that you are going over the Jordan to enter and possess. 19 † I call heaven and earth to witness against you today, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and curse. Therefore choose life, that you and your offspring may live, 20 † loving the Lord your God, obeying his voice and holding fast to him, for he is your life and length of days, that you may dwell in the land that the Lord swore to your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give them.”

Joshua to Succeed Moses

31 [1]‡†So Moses continued to speak these words to all Israel. [2]And he said to them, “I am 120 years old today. I am no longer able to go out and come in. The Lord has said to me, ‘You shall not go over this Jordan.’ [3]†The Lord your God himself will go over before you. He will destroy these nations before you, so that you shall dispossess them, and Joshua will go over at your head, as the Lord has spoken. [4]†And the Lord will do to them as he did to Sihon and Og, the kings of the Amorites, and to their land, when he destroyed them. [5]And the Lord will give them over to you, and you shall do to them according to the whole commandment that I have commanded you. [6]‡Be strong and courageous. Do not fear or be in dread of them, for it is the Lord your God who goes with you. He will not leave you or forsake you.”

[7]Then Moses summoned Joshua and said to him in the sight of all Israel, “Be strong and courageous, for you shall go with this people into the land that the Lord has sworn to their fathers to give them, and you shall put them in possession of it. [8]†It is the Lord who goes before you. He will be with you; he will not leave you or forsake you. Do not fear or be dismayed.”

The Reading of the Law

9 ‡† Then Moses wrote this law and gave it to the priests, the sons of Levi, who carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and to all the elders of Israel. 10 † And Moses commanded them, “At the end of every seven years, at the set time in the year of release, at the Feast of Booths, 11 ‡ when all Israel comes to appear before the Lord your God at the place that he will choose, you shall read this law before all Israel in their hearing. 12 Assemble the people, men, women, and little ones, and the sojourner within your towns, that they may hear and learn to fear the Lord your God, and be careful to do all the words of this law, 13 † and that their children, who have not known it, may hear and learn to fear the Lord your God, as long as you live in the land that you are going over the Jordan to possess.”

Joshua Commissioned to Lead Israel

14 ‡ † And the Lord said to Moses, “Behold, the days approach when you must die. Call Joshua and present yourselves in the tent of meeting, that I may commission him.” And Moses and Joshua went and presented themselves in the tent of meeting. 15 † And the Lord appeared in the tent in a pillar of cloud. And the pillar of cloud stood over the entrance of the tent.
16 † And the Lord said to Moses, “Behold, you are about to lie down with your fathers. Then this people will rise and whore after the foreign gods among them in the land that they are entering, and they will forsake me and break my covenant that I have made with them. 17 † Then my anger will be kindled against them in that day, and I will forsake them and hide my face from them, and they will be devoured. And many evils and troubles will come upon them, so that they will say in that day, ‘Have not these evils come upon us because our God is not among us?’ 18 And I will surely hide my face in that day because of all the evil that they have done, because they have turned to other gods.
19 † “Now therefore write this song and teach it to the people of Israel. Put it in their mouths, that this song may be a witness for me against the people of Israel. 20 † For when I have brought them into the land flowing with milk and honey, which I swore to give to their fathers, and they have eaten and are full and grown fat, they will turn to other gods and serve them, and despise me and break my covenant. 21 † And when many evils and troubles have come upon them, this song shall confront them as a witness (for it will live unforgotten in the mouths of their offspring). For I know what they are inclined to do even today, before I have brought them into the land that I swore to give.” 22 † So Moses wrote this song the same day and taught it to the people of Israel.
23 † And the Lord commissioned Joshua the son of Nun and said, “Be strong and courageous, for you shall bring the people of Israel into the land that I swore to give them. I will be with you.” 24 ‡ † When Moses had finished writing the words of this law in a book to the very end, 25 † Moses commanded the Levites who carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord, 26 † “Take this Book of the Law and put it by the side of the ark of the covenant of the Lord your God, that it may be there for a witness against you. 27 †For I know how rebellious and stubborn you are. Behold, even today while I am yet alive with you, you have been rebellious against the Lord. How much more after my death! 28 †Assemble to me all the elders of your tribes and your officers, that I may speak these words in their ears and call heaven and earth to witness against them. 29 For I know that after my death you will surely act corruptly and turn aside from the way that I have commanded you. And in the days to come evil will befall you, because you will do what is evil in the sight of the Lord, provoking him to anger through the work of your hands.”

The Song of Moses

30 ‡‡Then Moses spoke the words of this song until they were finished, in the ears of all the assembly of Israel:

32 1 ‡“Give ear, O heavens, and I will speak, and let the earth hear the words of my mouth.

2 May my teaching drop as the rain,
my speech distill as the dew,
like gentle rain upon the tender grass,
and like showers upon the herb.
3 For I will proclaim the name of the Lord;
ascribe greatness to our God!

4 ‡ “The Rock, his work is perfect, for all his ways are justice.
A God of faithfulness and without iniquity,
just and upright is he.
5 ‡ They have dealt corruptly with him;
they are no longer his children because they are blemished;
they are a crooked and twisted generation.
6 ‡ Do you thus repay the Lord,
you foolish and senseless people?
Is not he your father, who created you,
who made you and established you?
7 ‡ Remember the days of old;
consider the years of many generations;
ask your father, and he will show you,
your elders, and they will tell you.
8 ‡ When the Most High gave to the nations their inheritance,
when he divided mankind, he fixed the borders[1] of the peoples

according to the number of the sons of God.[2] 9† But the Lord's portion is his people,
Jacob his allotted heritage.

10† "He found him in a desert land,
and in the howling waste of the wilderness;
he encircled him, he cared for him,
he kept him as the apple of his eye.
11† Like an eagle that stirs up its nest,
that flutters over its young,
spreading out its wings, catching them,
bearing them on its pinions, 12† the Lord alone guided him,
no foreign god was with him.
13†† He made him ride on the high places of the land,
and he ate the produce of the field,
and he suckled him with honey out of the rock,
and oil out of the flinty rock.
14 Curds from the herd, and milk from the flock,
with fat[3] of lambs,
rams of Bashan and goats,
with the very finest[4] of the wheat—and you drank foaming wine made from the blood of the grape.

15† "But Jeshurun grew fat, and kicked;
you grew fat, stout, and sleek;
then he forsook God who made him and scoffed at the Rock of his salvation.

16 They stirred him to jealousy with strange gods;
with abominations they provoked him to anger.
17 They sacrificed to demons that were no gods,
to gods they had never known,
to new gods that had come recently,
whom your fathers had never dreaded.
18 You were unmindful of the Rock that bore[1]
you,
and you forgot the God who gave you birth.

19 "The Lord saw it and spurned them, because of the provocation of his sons and his daughters.
20 And he said, 'I will hide my face from them;
I will see what their end will be,
For they are a perverse generation,
children in whom is no faithfulness.
21 They have made me jealous with what is no
god;
they have provoked me to anger with their idols.
So I will make them jealous with those who are no people;
I will provoke them to anger with a foolish nation.
22 For a fire is kindled by my anger,
and it burns to the depths of Sheol, devours the earth and its increase,
and sets on fire the foundations of the mountains.

23 “‘And I will heap disasters upon them;
I will spend my arrows on them;
24 they shall be wasted with hunger, and devoured by plague
and poisonous pestilence;
I will send the teeth of beasts against them, with the venom of things that crawl in the dust.
25 Outdoors the sword shall bereave,
and indoors terror,
for young man and woman alike,
the nursing child with the man of gray hairs.
26 I would have said, “I will cut them to pieces;
I will wipe them from human memory,” 27 had I not feared provocation by the enemy,
lest their adversaries should misunderstand, lest they should say, “Our hand is triumphant,
it was not the Lord who did all this.”’

28 “For they are a nation void of counsel, and there is no understanding in them.
29 If they were wise, they would understand this;
they would discern their latter end!
30 How could one have chased a thousand,
and two have put ten thousand to flight,
unless their Rock had sold them,
and the Lord had given them up?
31 For their rock is not as our Rock;
our enemies are by themselves.
32 For their vine comes from the vine of Sodom and from the fields of Gomorrah;
their grapes are grapes of poison;

their clusters are bitter; 33 their wine is the poison of serpents
and the cruel venom of asps.
34 “‘Is not this laid up in store with me,
sealed up in my treasuries?
35 Vengeance is mine, and recompense,[1]
for the time when their foot shall slip;
for the day of their calamity is at hand,
and their doom comes swiftly.’ 36† For the Lord will vindicate[2] his people and have compassion on his servants, when he sees that their power is gone
and there is none remaining, bond or free.
37† Then he will say, ‘Where are their gods,
the rock in which they took refuge, 38 who ate the fat of their sacrifices and drank the wine of their drink offering?
Let them rise up and help you;
let them be your protection!

39† “‘See now that I, even I, am he,
and there is no god beside me;
I kill and I make alive;
I wound and I heal;
and there is none that can deliver out of my hand.
40† For I lift up my hand to heaven
and swear, As I live forever, 41 if I sharpen my flashing sword[3]
and my hand takes hold on judgment,
I will take vengeance on my adversaries
and will repay those who hate me.
42† I will make my arrows drunk with blood, and my sword shall devour flesh—

with the blood of the slain and the captives,
from the long-haired heads of the enemy.’

43† “Rejoice with him, O heavens;
bow down to him, all gods,[4]
for he avenges the blood of his children[5]
and takes vengeance on his adversaries.
He repays those who hate him[6]
and cleanses[7] his people’s land.”[8]

44†Moses came and recited all the words of this song in the hearing of the people, he and Joshua[9] the son of Nun. 45And when Moses had finished speaking all these words to all Israel, 46†he said to them, “Take to heart all the words by which I am warning you today, that you may command them to your children, that they may be careful to do all the words of this law. 47†For it is no empty word for you, but your very life, and by this word you shall live long in the land that you are going over the Jordan to possess.”

Moses' Death Foretold

48 That very day the Lord spoke to Moses, 49 "Go up this mountain of the Abarim, Mount Nebo, which is in the land of Moab, opposite Jericho, and view the land of Canaan, which I am giving to the people of Israel for a possession. 50 And die on the mountain which you go up, and be gathered to your people, as Aaron your brother died in Mount Hor and was gathered to his people, 51 because you broke faith with me in the midst of the people of Israel at the waters of Meribah-kadesh, in the wilderness of Zin, and because you did not treat me as holy in the midst of the people of Israel.
52 For you shall see the land before you, but you shall not go there, into the land that I am giving to the people of Israel."

Moses' Final Blessing on Israel

33 [1]‡†This is the blessing with which Moses the man of God blessed the people of Israel before his death. [2]†He said,

"The LORD came from Sinai and dawned from Seir upon us;[1]
he shone forth from Mount Paran;
he came from the ten thousands of holy ones,
with flaming fire[2] at his right hand.
[3] Yes, he loved his people,[3]
all his holy ones were in his[4] hand;
so they followed[5] in your steps,
receiving direction from you,
[4] when Moses commanded us a law,
as a possession for the assembly of Jacob.
[5]† Thus the LORD became king in Jeshurun, when the heads of the people were gathered,
all the tribes of Israel together.
[6]‡ "Let Reuben live, and not die, but let his men be few."

[7]And this he said of Judah:

" Hear, O LORD, the voice of Judah,
and bring him in to his people.
With your hands contend[6] for him,
and be a help against his adversaries."

[8]†And of Levi he said,

"Give to Levi[7] your Thummim, and your Urim to your godly one,

whom you tested at Massah,
with whom you quarreled at the waters of Meribah;
9† who said of his father and mother,
‘I regard them not’;
he disowned his brothers
and ignored his children.
For they observed your word
and kept your covenant.
10 They shall teach Jacob your rules and Israel your law;
they shall put incense before you
and whole burnt offerings on your altar.
11 Bless, O Lord, his substance, and accept the work of his hands;
crush the loins of his adversaries,
of those who hate him, that they rise not again.”

12†Of Benjamin he said,

“The beloved of the Lord dwells in safety.
The High God[1] surrounds him all day long,
and dwells between his shoulders.”

13And of Joseph he said,

“Blessed by the Lord be his land, with the choicest gifts of heaven above,[2]
and of the deep that crouches beneath, 14 with the choicest fruits of the sun
and the rich yield of the months, 15 with the finest produce of the ancient mountains
and the abundance of the everlasting hills, 16† with the best gifts of the earth and its fullness

and the favor of him who dwells in the bush.
May these rest on the head of Joseph,
on the pate of him who is prince among his brothers.
17 A firstborn bull[3]—he has majesty,
and his horns are the horns of a wild ox;
with them he shall gore the peoples,
all of them, to the ends of the earth;
they are the ten thousands of Ephraim,
and they are the thousands of Manasseh.”

18 And of Zebulun he said,

“Rejoice, Zebulun, in your going out,
and Issachar, in your tents.
19 They shall call peoples to their mountain;
there they offer right sacrifices;
for they draw from the abundance of the seas
and the hidden treasures of the sand.”

20 † And of Gad he said,

“Blessed be he who enlarges Gad!
Gad crouches like a lion;
he tears off arm and scalp.
21 He chose the best of the land for himself, for there a commander’s portion was reserved;
and he came with the heads of the people, with Israel he executed the justice of the Lord,
and his judgments for Israel.”

22 And of Dan he said,

“ Dan is a lion’s cub that leaps from Bashan.”

23 † And of Naphtali he said,

“O Naphtali, sated with favor,
and full of the blessing of the Lord, possess the lake[4] and the south.”

24 † And of Asher he said,

“Most blessed of sons be Asher;
let him be the favorite of his brothers,
and let him dip his foot in oil.
25 Your bars shall be iron and bronze,
and as your days, so shall your strength be.

26 † “There is none like God, O Jeshurun, who rides through the heavens to your help,
through the skies in his majesty.
27 † The eternal God is your dwelling place,[5]
and underneath are the everlasting arms.[6]
And he thrust out the enemy before you and said, Destroy.
28 So Israel lived in safety, Jacob lived alone,[7]
in a land of grain and wine,
whose heavens drop down dew.
29 † Happy are you, O Israel! Who is like you, a people saved by the Lord,
the shield of your help,
and the sword of your triumph!
Your enemies shall come fawning to you,
and you shall tread upon their backs.”

The Death of Moses

34 [1]†‡Then Moses went up from the plains of Moab to Mount Nebo, to the top of Pisgah, which is opposite Jericho. And the Lord showed him all the land, Gilead as far as Dan, [2]all Naphtali, the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, all the land of Judah as far as the western sea, [3]the Negeb, and the Plain, that is, the Valley of Jericho the city of palm trees, as far as Zoar.
[4]And the Lord said to him, “This is the land of which I swore to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, ‘I will give it to your offspring.’ I have let you see it with your eyes, but you shall not go over there.” [5]So Moses the servant of the Lord died there in the land of Moab, according to the word of the Lord, [6]†and he buried him in the valley in the land of Moab opposite Beth-peor;
but no one knows the place of his burial to this day. [7]†Moses was 120 years old when he died. His eye was undimmed, and his vigor unabated. [8]And the people of Israel wept for Moses in the plains of Moab thirty days. Then the days of weeping and mourning for Moses were ended.

[9]†And Joshua the son of Nun was full of the spirit of wisdom, for Moses had laid his hands on him. So the people of Israel obeyed him and did as the Lord had commanded Moses. [10]†And there has not arisen a prophet since in Israel like Moses, whom the Lord knew face to face, [11]none like him for all the signs and the wonders that the Lord sent him to do in the land of Egypt, to Pharaoh and to all his servants and to all his land, [12]and for all the mighty power and all the great deeds of terror that Moses did in the sight of all Israel.

Introduction to Deuteronomy

Reading Deuteronomy

She huddled her child in a smothering embrace, scolding and weeping. The boy had toddled out of the tent to visit the animals fenced and staked outside. A bull calf drew the boy's attention. He walked beside the animal, brushing its soft, shaggy coat with his hand. The touch of his hand tickled the calf's side. It kicked, just missing the boy's head. It raised its foot again as the boy's mother pulled her child away—just in time.

In Deuteronomy, the Lord reminds Israel that they are His treasured possession (7:6; 14:2; 26:18). Moses begins his address as the Lord's prophet, reminding Israel of how the Lord delivered them from the bondage of Egypt and how they abused their freedom while in the wilderness by worshiping the golden calf. Deuteronomy delivers the Lord's rebuke against disobedience, yet it also affirms God's surpassing, parental love for His people (4:32–40).

Luther on Deuteronomy

> In the fifth book [Deuteronomy], after the people have been punished because of their disobedience, and God has enticed them a little with grace, in order that by his kindness in giving them the two kingdoms they might be moved to keep his law gladly and willingly, then Moses repeats the whole law. He repeats the story of all that has happened to the people (except for that which concerns the priesthood) and explains anew everything that belongs either to the bodily or to the spiritual governing of a people. Thus Moses, as a perfect lawgiver, fulfilled all the duties of his office. He not only gave the law, but was there when men were to fulfill it. When things went wrong, he explained the law and re-established it. Yet this explanation in the fifth book really contains nothing else than faith toward God and love toward one's neighbor, for all God's laws come to that. Therefore, down to the twentieth chapter, Moses, in his explanation of the law, guards against everything that might destroy faith in God; and from there to the end of the book he guards against everything that hinders love. (AE 35:238–39)

Moses beautifully repeats and edits into brief compass the whole history, the good deeds and the wonders of God, at the same time mentioning also the deeds of godless men. He intends to declare the glory and magnificence of God and thus to coax the people to trust the divine goodness and to fear His wrath, so that, taught by experience, they might become ready to receive His Law from the heart. For the best preparation of all for hearing the Law and for moving the hearer is that which takes place through the evangelical praise of the mercy and the wrath of God. (AE 9:16)

For first of all Moses teaches godliness. He preaches faith amply and richly. He attaches the most beautiful ceremonies, by which the common people must be grasped and held, to keep them from making up their own, which God hates. Then he busies himself with the ordering of civil government and the nurture of mutual love, and he directs and arranges everything with the most suitable and just laws. Nothing here is foolish or useless, but everything is necessary and useful, as he will easily understand who knows what it is to manage government among people that are a little too free and wise in their > own estimation, as this Jewish nation was. In such circumstances it is often necessary to ordain and do and permit things that would otherwise be laughed at and hissed down with very good reason. I do not think that God wanted to shape people by means of such ceremonies for any reason other than that He saw that the masses were most moved and captivated by those surface displays. To keep them from being empty masks and mere spectacles, He added His Word, the stuff and substance behind the masks, as it were, that by it they might become serious and meaningful, and the people themselves might know that what they did pleased God, and that if they themselves devised others without the Word, mere games and trumpery would result. (AE 9:6–7)

Challenges for Readers

Authorship. Nineteenth-century critical scholars theorized that Deuteronomy appeared late in the kingdom period and was the Book discovered in the temple that sparked Josiah's reform (cf 2Ki 22–23). They held that the Book's content developed over many years from many authors but was finally edited in the exilic period by someone they titled the Deuteronomist (see pp 335–37). No hard evidence has ever appeared for this complex theory (see pp 3–5). Deuteronomy consistently refers to Moses' role as author, and the form of the covenant in the Book fits the manner of covenants from Moses' time (see p 127).

Title and Content. Deuteronomy literally means "second law," the title the Book received in the LXX. The title refers to the fact that Deuteronomy relates a renewal of the Law (Hbr torah) of Moses. See "Law," p 971.

Covenant Renewal. See p 127.

Balance of Curses and Blessings. A feature of Dt 27–28 that often causes confusion is the brief list of blessings for the covenant and the extensive list of curses. Similar imbalance also occurs in other covenants of this era, as they tended to emphasize the penalties for breaking the covenant (see p 127). However, one should also note that the term "bless" predominates in Deuteronomy, appearing more often throughout (46 times in Hbr).

The Death of Moses. Though the Book is attributed to Moses, it seems reasonable that another author provided the last chapter, which relates Moses' death.

Blessings for Readers

Although many passages in Deuteronomy describe civil and ceremonial laws for OT Israel, take special note of how Moses emphasizes the Lord's love and election of His people, which extends to believers today. Deuteronomy shows us the heart of God: His wrath and His mercy.

Meditating on God's Word

Christian meditation differs from all other kinds of meditation because it concentrates on what Jesus says; it is meditation on His Word as it is given to us in the Scriptures [cf Dt 6:6]. We meditate on His powerful Word. His Word has an impact on us as we pay attention to it, does its work in us as we listen to it, and reshapes us inwardly as we let it have its say. The words of Jesus actually produce our meditation. Yet that does not happen automatically but only as we put our trust in it.

As Christians, we have all experienced the power of God's Word in us as a word of judgment and salvation. Its impact on our conscience is described most vividly in Hebrews 4:12–13:

> For the word of God is living and active, sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing to the division of soul and of spirit, of joints and of marrow, and discerning the thoughts and intentions of the heart. And no creature is hidden from His sight, but all are naked and exposed to the eyes of Him to whom we must give account.

As we meditate on God's Word, we stand spiritually naked before God and in His sight. His Word puts us face-to-face with Him. That Word penetrates and exposes the secret reaches of our hearts; it lays us bare before God and holds us accountable to Him. But, best of all, it does all this so that it can give us life and do its work in us.

[Luther's Insight]

Martin Luther explains the power of meditation on God's Word most memorably in a sermon that he preached on Christmas Day in 1519. There he speaks about "sacramental" meditation on the Gospels and their stories about Jesus:

> All the words and stories of the gospels are sacraments of a kind, sacred signs by which God works in believers what the histories signify. Just as baptism is the sacrament by which God restores us; just as absolution is the sacrament by which God forgives sins, so the words of Christ are sacraments through which he works salvation. Hence the gospel is to be taken sacramentally, that is, the words of Christ need to be meditated on as symbols through which that righteousness, power, and salvation is given which these words themselves portray…. We meditate properly on the gospel, when we do so sacramentally, for through faith the words produce what they portray. Christ was born; believe that he was born for you and you will be born again. Christ conquered death and sin; believe that he conquered them for you and you will conquer them. (WA 9:439, 442; author's translation)

When Luther speaks of the words of Christ as sacraments, he is not using the term in its narrow sense, but more broadly as a divine enactment, a sacred sign that conveys what it signifies. Neither God's Word by itself nor faith in itself produces the kind of meditation that God desires. Rather, meditation is the exercise of faith in Christ and His performative Word, for faith receives what Christ gives to us through His Word. We receive, as we believe….

[Our Spiritual Director]

Luther, in his teaching on meditation, highlights this role of the Holy Spirit as our teacher and guide. His basic assumption is that the same Spirit who inspired the Scriptures still animates them and us through them. Thus he says:

> You should meditate … not only in your heart, but also externally, by actually repeating and comparing oral speech and literal words of the book, reading and rereading them with diligent attention and reflection, so that you may see what the Holy Spirit means by them…. For God will not give you his Spirit without the external Word; so take your cue from that. His command to write, preach, read, hear, sing, speak, etc., outwardly was not given in vain. (AE 34:286)

So we receive the Holy Spirit from God the Father by meditating on the external Word, the Word that comes to us from outside, the Word that speaks to us from the Scriptures. This understanding of how God's Spirit is given through God's Word shapes the evangelical practice of meditation. Before we meditate on what is written for us in the Scriptures, we do well to pray to God the Father through His dear Son for the gift of the Spirit to guide, enlighten, and empower us. Yet we do not just pray for the Holy Spirit to direct our meditation on His Word; we actually receive the Holy Spirit as we meditate on the Word. Thus we meditate on the Word so that the Spirit will tell us what God the Father has to say and to give to us through His Son.

[The Preaching of the Spirit]

This gift of the Holy Spirit is most evident in what Luther calls the preaching of the Spirit. By this he refers to the occasional flood of inspiration and enlightenment, jubilation and empowerment that breaks in on us as we meditate on God's Word. We can't force inspiration but can only receive it when it happens. Enlightenment is given as we attend to the Scriptures and become engrossed in them as they speak personally to us. Luther gives this advice about the enlightenment that comes in meditation:

> If such an abundance of good thoughts comes to us, we ought to … make room for such thoughts, listen in silence, and under no circumstances obstruct them. The Holy Spirit himself preaches here, and one word of his sermon is far better than a thousand of our prayers. (AE 43:198)

Meals as Boundaries

The holiness laws told the people of Israel which foods they could eat and which foods were off-limits. These laws reminded the Israelites that they were unique and protected them from mingling with pagan nations and thus getting involved with foreign gods. God began to give dietary rules already in the time of Noah. The Israelites also had dietary customs that are mentioned in Scripture. The chart below provides an overview of principles.

The law about not touching the carcass of a dead animal reveals the boundary character of holiness (Lv 11:39–40; cf 17:15–16). Uncleanness not only affected the individual but also the relationship of the individual to the community.

Boundaries of Passover

The rules of the Passover meal make this boundary character of holiness even more clear. In Ex 12:43–49, the Lord told Moses and Aaron that foreigners could not participate in the Passover meal. A boundary existed between Israel and other people. If a foreigner wanted to cross the boundary, become part of Israel, and partake of the Passover lamb, then every male in that person's household had to be circumcised. The household needed to prepare for the Passover by submitting to the covenant of Israel. In other words, the unclean people needed to receive the cleansing provided by the covenant.

In the new covenant, the apostle Paul places a similar emphasis on boundaries and preparedness. But this time the boundaries are not based on nationality or circumcision but on repentance, faith, and public confession of God's truth.

In 1Co 5, Paul urges the Corinthian congregation to expel a man unrepentant for sexual immorality. In vv 7–8, Paul mentions Christ as the Passover Lamb and the Feast of Unleavened Bread, which the congregation must keep with "sincerity and truth." He then urges the congregation "not even to eat" with unrepentant people (v 11). Paul has the Lord's Supper in view as the new Passover. In 1Co 10 and 11, Paul writes about boundaries at the meals of the congregation. He warns them against partaking of idolatrous meals if they also want to receive the Lord's Supper. He calls the congregation to repentance, reviews the doctrine of the Lord's Supper with them, and reminds them to "examine" themselves before partaking of the body and blood of Christ. He also warns that dire consequences befall those who do not recognize, and confess, the actual presence of the Lord's body.

Christ at the Door

In Rv 2–3, Jesus speaks to a congregation He loves. He confronts them for their sins and calls them to repentance. He says, “I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears My voice and opens the door, I will come in to him and eat with him, and he with Me” (3:20). Jesus determines to cross the boundary that separates them and feast with them.

Christ calls to you and the members of your congregation in the same way today. He sets boundaries of right and wrong for your lives and calls you to account when you trespass. But this is all an expression of His love for you. By His Holy Supper, He makes you clean. He restores you to fellowship with Him.

False Prophets Then and Now

More than 3,400 years ago, the prophet Moses warned God's people about the coming of false prophets. He gave the people specific instructions about how to distinguish true prophets from false ones:

- False prophets would teach people to follow other gods (Dt 13:1–3).
- False prophets would speak what God had not commanded (Dt 18:20).
- False prophets would predict things that would not come true (Dt 18:22).

Moses' counsel about false prophets ends with an important note: "You need not be afraid of [them]" (Dt 18:22). With these words, Moses anticipated the fear tactics so often used by false prophets.

Old Testament Examples

As Moses predicted, false prophets plagued ancient Israel. For example, an evil spirit filled King Saul and aroused murderous envy in him (1Sm 18:10–11). The Lord grew so frustrated with Saul that He refused to answer his questions. Saul turned to a medium at En-dor for spiritual guidance (1Sm 28:4–20).

Later rulers welcomed the prophets of the Canaanite god Baal but persecuted the Lord's prophets (1Ki 18:16–40). Rather than relying exclusively on fear, later false prophets also began prophesying peace and victory in order to gain the favor of Israel's leadership (1Ki 22:12; Jer 6:13–15; Ezk 13:1–16). Jeremiah repeatedly described the activities of these false prophets (chs 23; 26–28).

New Testament Examples

Jesus also warned about the coming of false prophets (Mt 7:15–23), especially during two times that were yet to come: the fall of Jerusalem in AD 70 and the end of the world (Mt 24). Since the ascension of Jesus, false teachers seem to have taken over the role of false prophets. The apostle John teaches that the spirits of people should be tested to see whether they come from the Lord (1Jn 4:1–6). The specific test in his day was to ask whether they confessed that "Jesus Christ has come in the flesh," that is, whether they taught Jesus was truly human or merely a spirit.

In Revelation, John warns of a false prophet who will appear at the end of time and will deceive many with miraculous signs. He will convince people to follow the "beast" (or Antichrist). Whether the false prophet represents an individual or a movement remains to be seen. John concludes by stating that the false prophet and the beast will be cast into the lake of fire (19:20).

Failed Prophecies Today

Until Christ returns, God's people may anticipate the work of false prophets. The chart below lists individuals and groups whose prophecies about the return of Christ or the end of the world have failed. This is only a small sampling but includes prominent names that you may have heard on the news or seen in your local bookstore.

Abide by God's Word

Since the days of John Nelson Darby, people have repeatedly tried to predict the end of the world. Every one of these predictions has failed. But the people who publish predictions today continue to receive much attention and, often, financial gain. Do not be fooled and misled by false prophets. Apply Moses' test of prophets. Apply the apostle John's test for false teachers. Heed Jesus' warning that false prophets will stealthily seek to deceive God's people. Beware of groups that obsess about the "rapture" doctrine or the end of the world.

Before ascending to heaven, Jesus assured us that He would return. He refused to give dates to His disciples (Ac 1:7). He insisted that only the heavenly Father knew when the last things would take place (Mt 24:36). Rather than talking about these issues, Jesus called His disciples to serve as witnesses to the great and gracious salvation He accomplished through His death and resurrection. Christian, this is your focus and mission! Rejoice in Jesus' promise. Pray for His return. As you are strengthened through His Word and Sacraments, live and bear witness by His grace, confident of your future.

The Pattern of the Prophets

In 1854, mathematician George Boole published a pattern of logic that profoundly affects your life today. Using two digits, 0 and 1, Boole created the form of algebra that led to modern computers and digital technology. By reducing information to its simplest two-digit form, Boole's pattern of logic made it possible to record digital sound, shoot digital pictures, store information on tiny devices of all kinds, and send it around the world via the Internet.

Just as every message that appears on our modern computer depends on the simple two-digit logic of George Boole, so every story and message of the Bible depends on a simple twofold logic called Law and Gospel (see note, Ex 34:6–7). The Lutheran Confessions say that the proper distinction between Law and Gospel is "a particularly brilliant light" and "serves the purpose of rightly dividing God's Word and properly explaining and understanding the Scriptures of the holy prophets and apostles. We must guard this distinction with special care" (FC SD V 1). See pp xxxi–xxxii. Bible interpreters have long recognized this simple pattern in prophetic preaching. The following article will help you understand and identify this twofold pattern in Scripture.

Curses and Blessings

The twofold pattern of prophetic preaching appears in the writings of the greatest Old Testament prophet, Moses. At the end of Deuteronomy—during his extended farewell sermon—Moses summarizes the future of Israel with a service of curses and blessings the Israelites were to use when they settled the Promised Land. Here is the pattern:

Curses for disobeying
27:9–26
Blessings for obeying
28:1–14
More curses for disobeying the covenant
28:15–29:29
Blessings and prosperity
30:1–20

After Moses died, Joshua led the people into the land and settled them. He gathered them at Mount Ebal, according to God's word through Moses, and led them in renewing the covenant with "the blessing and the curse" (Jsh 8:34).

Confrontation and Comfort

A similar pattern emerges in the preaching of the next great prophet, Samuel. When Israel insisted on having its own king, like the other nations, the Lord gave them a king and a twofold message through His prophet.

Confrontation
1Sm 12:6–19

Comfort
1Sm 12:20–25

Samuel's words reminded the people that God's covenant with them was not simply commands—"do this" and "do that." God also gave them His comforting promise of love and care through the covenant. Ultimately, God promised them an eternal King—Jesus—who would deliver them from evil (2Sm 7:5–17).

Judgment and Forgiveness

When King David sinned by committing adultery with Bathsheba and then plotting the death of her husband, God spoke His twofold message through the prophet Nathan.

Judgment on David

2Sm 12:1–12

Forgiveness for David

2Sm 12:13

David repented of his sin, and God forgave him, restored him, and prospered his rule over Israel. Through David's family, God fulfilled His promise of a Savior-King, whose reign of justice and mercy would never end. David was a forebearer of Jesus, who was called the "Son of David" (Mt 21:9).

This same pattern and message continued in the later prophets. As you study the Prophetic Books of Isaiah through Malachi, take note of the pattern in their preaching. A simple outline that appears repeatedly in the "writing prophets" is as follows:

1. God's judgment on the nations
2. God's judgment on Israel
3. God's forgiveness for Israel and the nations

This pattern appears from the shortest Prophetic Book, Obadiah, to the longest Prophetic Books. God's pattern for ministering to the needs of people remained consistent throughout the Old Testament.

The Apostles' Preaching

The pattern of curses and blessings, confrontation and comfort, judgment and forgiveness did not just apply to the people of the Old Testament. That same pattern appears in the preaching of the apostles, as recorded in the Book of Acts (note especially the sermons in 2:22–39; 3:12–26; and 17:22–31). When Paul gave his final instructions to the elders at Ephesus, he called them to this twofold pattern of ministry. He warned them to be on their guard against false teaching, which threatened God's flock. He committed them to God and His word of grace by which they were saved (Ac 20:25–32).

God’s Pattern for Your Life

For decades, people did not recognize the importance of George Boole’s simple pattern of logic. His writing remained a mere curiosity. Then in 1937, electrical engineer Claude Elwood Shannon recognized its importance. Four years later, Bell Telephone hired Shannon, and his discoveries have revolutionized our lives.

God’s simple pattern of Law and Gospel will likewise revolutionize your life. Each day as you read God’s Word and pray, thank Him for the pattern of the prophets. Repent of your sins and rejoice in God’s forgiveness through His Son, Jesus. Anticipate this pattern in all Christian preaching and teaching. When you find this pattern missing, humbly encourage your pastor or teacher to use the pattern of the prophets, the proclamation of God’s Word through Law and Gospel.

Remember that this is how the Lord works through His Word to care for you as His child. He saves you through the ministry of the ultimate Prophet, Jesus. Your Lord will bless and comfort you, forgive and encourage you through the pattern of the prophets. Until Christ comes again, this pattern of the prophets will continue, correcting and rebuking through the Law, encouraging and comforting through the Gospel of Jesus Christ (2Tm 4:1–2).

Study Notes

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:1–2 Moses delivers his final sermon east of the Jordan River, c 15 mi SW of modern Amman, Jordan. See color map 2.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:1 all Israel. All the Israelites are assembled, not just their tribal representatives.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:2 eleven days' journey. Covering c 150 mi.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:3 spoke. Historians date this event to Dec/Jan 1407/1406 BC. given him in commandment. Moses reissues God's Commandments to a new generation. The older generation died for their disobedience (Nu 13–14).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:4 Sihon … Og. Both were defeated by Israel but fell by God's hand (cf 2:33; 3:3).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:5 explain this law. Moses expounds God's instruction prescribed in Ex 20–24; Lv; and Nu. See pp 94–95.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:6 Horeb. Name for Sinai Peninsula and Mount Sinai. Here Moses received God's Commandments. long enough. After 40 years, God was about to fulfill the promise He swore to Abram (see note, v 7).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:7 Moses repeats God's intention to deliver them into the Promised Land by describing the area geographically. These are the same dimensions God gave by covenant to Abram (Gn 15:18–21; cf Gn 26:2–4; 35:11–12).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:8 set the land before you. God considers the land as though already possessed by Israel.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:1–8 Through many trials, God raises a new generation in Israel and brings them to the plains of Moab just east of the Jordan River. The Promised Land is in sight. God's covenant promise is sure. He keeps His word to His people, including His word to you. Rejoice in the Lord's faithfulness as you share His testimonies with others. The Gospel is fresh and precious for every new generation. • Heavenly Lord, we praise You and thank You for Your faithfulness in Christ, our Lord. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:9–18 Moses restates the events of Ex 18:13–26.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:10 The LORD your God. Title occurs more than 250 times in Dt. The living Lord who called Israel out of Egypt continues to be with them (cf Ex 3:14). See note, Lv 11:44–45. numerous as the stars. God faithfully blessed His people with numerous offspring in keeping with His pledge to Abram.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:11 bless. Cf Nu 6:24–26; see p 842.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:12 strife? Sin brings strife. Moses faced an impossible task when trying to administer justice to so many.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:13 Choose … experienced men. The judges were leading Israelite men. Moses wisely urged the people to choose their own leaders, whom he would approve. Moses retained the authority to handle the most difficult cases and provided the appropriate training (cf v 18). appoint. A cooperative effort between a congregation and its called servant. See note, Ac 6:3. Luth: "Beasts are managed by power and skill. Men should be ruled by wisdom and understanding, since man thrives on reason, which cannot be assaulted with a rope or brandished sword but through a word directed to the ear. And when reason has been grasped through a word, the whole man is moved and led wherever you wish" (AE 9:18).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:15 heads. Male judges selected by the people. commanders … tribes. Israel's judicial system, under God, was as far reaching as the local tribes, or family groups. See p 228.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:16 judges. Other specific responsibilities are given in 17:8; 19:17. See p 228.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:17 not be partial. Show no favoritism. not be intimidated. Provide fair treatment even in the face of reprisals. judgment is God's. God rules through the judges. bring to me. Moses is the ultimate human authority in Israel.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:18 at that time. When the Israelites were encamped at Sinai (1446 BC).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:9–18 In His great love, God establishes a judicial system administered by God-fearing men selected from among the Israelites. God knows the human heart. He knows that sin brings discord and dissent. Left unchecked, sin can destroy a nation and finally cause eternal separation from God. But thanks be to God, we have a faithful Judge in heaven who wishes not to condemn us but to deliver us from sin. • Lord, we thank You because we know that on Judgment Day,

You will see believers through the blood of Jesus Christ and declare us "not guilty!" Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:19–33 Moses recounts the events of Nu 13. He includes only the reassuring words of Joshua and Caleb (v 25) and omits the negative reports.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:19 set out. At God's direction, the Israelites broke camp after 11 months in Sinai (cf Ex 19:1; Nu 10:11) and traveled to Kadesh-barnea, c 50 mi SW of Beersheba. See map, p 60. terrifying wilderness. The terrain along their route (over 100 mi) to Kadesh-barnea is nothing but sand and limestone. Kadesh-barnea. The site of Israel's most vehement rebellion.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:20 giving us. See note, Jsh 1:11.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:21 set the land before you. See note, v 8.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:22 all of you. Previous generation, now deceased. explore. Unwilling to take God at His word, the Israelites insist on sending spies to assure them that they can defeat the Canaanites. By comparing this account with Nu 13, we learn that the Lord told Moses to send spies after the people grumbled. go up. Has two senses: (1) to go into the land; and (2) a rise in elevation. On elevations in Canaan, see map, p 971.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:24 Valley of Eshcol. Near the city of Hebron (see color map 1). spied. Cf v 22, "explore."
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:25 good land. Cf Nu 13:23.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:26 rebelled. Cf Nu 14.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:27 hated us. So deep was the Israelite rebellion, they falsely concluded that God hated them and only brought them to this point to die at the hands of the Amorites.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:28 Where. Instead of following God, the Israelites sought an alternative route. brothers. The 10 spies who returned with a negative report. The Israelites trusted their word above God's. fortified up to heaven. See note, 2:36. Anakim. The name "Anak" appears in Egyptian texts for a ruler in Canaan. These descendants of Anak lived near Hebron. See note, Nu 13:22. The spies also exaggerated their claim by comparing the Anakim to the Nephilim (Nu 13:33), a race of ungodly men from before the time of the flood (Gn 6:4).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:30 goes before you. God leads the Israelites into Canaan. fight. The battles in Canaan are won because it is

God who does the fighting. See note, Ex 14:14.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:31 carried you. The God of creation has sustained the Israelites, bearing them up throughout their Sinai journey.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:33 seek. Hbr tur, "search out"; used here to describe God's work. Also used in Nu 13:17 to describe the mission of the spies. fire by night … cloud by day. See notes, Ex 13:21; Nu 9:15–23.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:19–33 Moses retells the story of the Israelites' rebellion. Although God promised to drive out the Canaanites, the Israelites listened to the 10 spies instead and recoiled in fear. As a result, an entire generation of Israelites died in the desert. Today, we are wrong to trust the word of others over the Word of God. God gives His Word for our blessing and to strengthen us in faith. • Lord, at those times when we rebel against You, send Your Spirit to show us the error of our ways. Remember that we are Your sons and daughters through Holy Baptism, and sustain and strengthen us by the body and blood of Your own dear Son, Jesus Christ. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:34–35 The Lord took an oath; when He does so, He swears by His own faithfulness (cf Gn 22:16). See note, 2Tm 2:13; see also "oath," p 7.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:36 except Caleb. Caleb and Joshua (v 38) were the only spies who brought favorable reports. land. By God's decree, the land of Caleb's inheritance included Hebron (Jsh 14:13–15). wholly followed. Caleb trusted God completely.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:37–46 Cf Nu 20:9–13.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:38 Joshua. See note, v 36. stands before you. Joshua is soon named Moses' successor. inherit. Under Joshua's leadership, Israel will inherit what God had promised. See "portion," p 7.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:39 Except for Caleb, Joshua, and Israelites under 20 years old, none of the Israelites who came out of Egypt would enter the Promised Land (Nu 32:11). no knowledge of good or evil. These children were too young to carefully distinguish between right and wrong. See note, Is 7:16.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:40 direction of the Red Sea. God commands Moses to lead His people away from the Promised Land.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:41 sinned. Although the older generation confessed their sin of rebellion, the consequences remained.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:42 not in your midst. God has withdrawn His presence. See "be with," p 5.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:44 Without God to fight their battle, the Israelites were driven from the battlefield in disarray. Seir as far as Hormah. The rout was complete; the defeated Israelites fled some 30 mi S of Hebron. See color map 1.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:45 wept before the LORD. The Israelites' stinging defeat brings heartfelt contrition.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:46 Difficult to determine whether the 38 years were spent in the wilderness near Kadesh-barnea or journeying through Edom (2:14). Luth: "This gave those nations which were already about to perish a period of time for repentance, that they might be terrified by the threats of God and be converted [cf Jsh 2:9]. So even at the cost of damage and peril to His own people He is concerned for the Gentiles too as He smites it and spares them to show that He is the God not only of the Jews but also of the Gentiles" (AE 9:20–21).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:34–46 The Israelites' disobedience causes God to withdraw His presence and delay giving them the Promised Land. After 40 years, God teaches His faithfulness to a new generation and prepares them as a father prepares his dear children. How patient is our heavenly Father's love and care! • Gentle Shepherd, lead us patiently, that we may one day cross from death to eternal life. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:1 Mount Seir. Also known as Edom. Region southeast of the Salt Sea, now part of Saudi Arabia. See color map 2.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:3 A decisive change in plan.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:4 brothers. The Israelites were not to take the land of the Edomites (descendants of Esau) or of the Moabites or Ammonites (vv 9, 19; see note, v 19). This command shows that the conquest was not a greedy landgrab on the part of the Israelites. Rather, it was part of God's plan of salvation, which included punishment for the Canaanites and preservation of Abraham's descendants for the sake of God's promises of salvation for the whole world through the Messiah. See "Salvation History," p 9; see also note, Gn 12:3. afraid of you. God strikes fear in the Canaanites. See note, Jsh 2:9.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:5 given Mount Seir to Esau. Descendants of Esau were also promised land (Gn 36:8–9).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:7 The Israelites had plundered sufficient wealth from Egypt (Ex 12:35–36). They did not need to plunder their relatives.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:8 Arabah road. Difficult to trace the exact route, but most likely they kept to the southeast border of Edom. See color map 3. direction of the wilderness. The Israelites' journey "northward" carried them east of Moab and across the Valley of Arnon (Nu 21:13).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:9 Moses begins to describe specific peoples Israel will encounter (vv 9–12, 19–23). See p 345. Do not harass Moab. Moabite land was north of Edom. Ar. Once the center of the Moabite territory; location unknown (Nu 21:28). people of Lot. Descendants of Abraham's nephew Lot.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:10–12, 20–23 Parentheses set off digressions about the nations. (Hbr has no parentheses.)
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:10 Emim. "Frightful ones." These people once inhabited Moabite land and may have moved into Canaan from the west. Anakim. See note, 1:28.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:11 Rephaim. Ancient race of large people known for their historic deeds.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:12 Horites. Non-Semitic peoples who inhabited Canaan and the Transjordan. They descended from the Hurrians, an ancient Mesopotamian race, and are also known by that name. destroyed them. Esau's descendants (Edomites) drove the Horites out, and their culture disappeared.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:13 brook Zered. Intermittent stream that still flows into southern tip of the Salt Sea; once served as the northern border of Edom. See color map 1.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:14 men of war. The previous generation of eligible men had died. Lord had sworn. God said that their bodies would fall in the wilderness because of their unfaithfulness (Nu 14:29).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:19 sons of Lot. Lot's daughters bore Moab and Ben-ammi, whose descendants were the Moabites and the Ammonites. See note, v 4.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:20 Rephaim. See note, v 11. Zamzummim. "Murmurers." Perhaps the Zuzim of Gn 14:5.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:21 Anakim. See note, 1:28. LORD destroyed. God removed all obstacles as Israel prepared to enter Canaan.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:22 Horites. See note, v 12.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:23 Avvim. A coastal tribe. Caphtorim. Perhaps the Sea People of Crete who settled in Canaan and conquered the homeland of the Avvim. The Philistines also came from Crete and settled along the Mediterranean coast. See p 345.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:25 dread and fear. As the Israelites begin their conquest of Canaan, God is already at work.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:1–25 God's promise of land for the Edomites, Moabites, and Ammonites means that the Israelites must pass farther east. God leads the charge to drive the Amorites from the land. The Israelites' victories belong only to God. Our victories, too, belong to God. Our salvation is only by God's hand, not our own. By His Son's precious blood, we are justified; by His Spirit, we are sanctified. • Father, whenever we are tempted to boast of our own deeds, let us recall Paul's words: " 'Let the one who boasts, boast in the Lord.' For it is not the one who commends himself who is approved, but the one whom the Lord commends" (2Co 10:17–18). Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:26–37 Recounts Nu 21:21–30 but adds an important detail. Sihon refused to allow the Israelites to travel through his land because God hardened his heart as part of God's plan to provide land to the Israelites. See notes, Ex 4:21; 9:12.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:26 messengers. Moses sent emissaries to announce his intention to pass through Sihon's land. Kedemoth. "Eastern regions," east of the Jordan River.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:27 road. After bypassing Edom and Moab to the east and crossing the Arnon River, the Israelites traveled north on the King's Highway. See color map 2.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:29 At first the Edomites refused Israel passage (Nu 20:19–21). However, it seems that they did allow Israel to pass along the eastern border instead of going through the middle of their country.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:30 God hardened his spirit. See note, vv 26–37.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:31 occupy his land. Sihon's land was given to the Reubenites. See map, p 365.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:32 Jahaz. C 15 mi SE of Heshbon. See map, p 250.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:34 devoted to destruction … no survivors. Sihon's sin led to complete annihilation; the sin of the Amorites had reached its full measure (cf Gn 15:16). See p 6; see also note, Nu 31:2.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:36 Archaeologists note that kings often surrounded their territories with armed fortresses. Sihon could have stayed in his fortifications and allowed the Israelites to pass, but instead he stubbornly marched against them over open ground. The high walls of the Canaanite cities frightened the first generation of Israelites (1:28).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:37 For now, God preserved the territory occupied by the Ammonites. Jabbok. C 30 mi N of Mount Nebo. See color map 2. hill country. The east side of the Jordan River is marked by mountains and hills extending north like a backbone.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:26–37 The conquest is underway. Stubborn King Sihon places his army in God's path, and it is swallowed up as easily as Pharaoh's army in the Red Sea. The Lord fights the battles of His people. • Lord, soften our hearts and create in us a faith that never rejects Your precious Word, like Sihon and Pharaoh did. Bring us to a richer understanding of how the waters of Baptism have drowned the old Adam and made us new people. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:1–22 Restates Nu 21:31–35. God defeats Og's army and the 60 fortified cities in Argob. To prevent a counterattack, all inhabitants were completely destroyed. See p 376.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:1 Bashan. Northeast of the Sea of Chinnereth; known today as the Golan Heights. At the time of Moses, it was known for its thick forest and lush pastures. See "Census Figures," p 213. Edrei. Site of Og's defeat. See map, p 250.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:4 Argob. A section of the tableland of Bashan.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:5 high walls, gates, and bars. Archaeologists have discovered stone doors 18 in thick secured by bars, and walls 4 ft thick built from stacks of rocks without cement.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:6 devoted them to destruction. See p 6.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:7 plunder. God often provided livestock and spoils as recompense for army service (2:35; Jsh 8:2).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:8 Mount Hermon. Over 9,000 ft high and visible from the heights of Moab, this peak in the Anti-Lebanon range marked the northern limits of Israel's conquests (Jsh 11:17). See color map 2.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:10 tableland. See note, v 4.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:11 bed of iron. Hbr word for "bed" may also mean "sarcophagus." See note, Jb 20:24. In this victory, we again see God at work. cubits … common cubit. See p cx. Og's bed was about 7 × 15 ft.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:12 Territory given to the tribes of Reuben and Gad. See map, p 365.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:13 half-tribe of Manasseh. See note, Nu 32:33.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:14–17 For a territorial breakdown of the tribes, as well as that of the Moabites and the Edomites, see map, p 365. Archaeologists have discovered remains of settlements from c 1500 to 1200 BC. These include new cultural features evidenced by the types of pottery and the homes. These features are characteristic of Israelite settlements west of the Jordan.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:14 Jair the Manassite. Jair led the attack against the Argob. Havvoth-jair. "Cities of Jair."
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:15 Machir. Descendants of Machir, son of Manasseh (Gn 50:23).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:17 Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea. See color map 1.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:18 All … shall cross over. Did not empty the region of all men over age 20. Joshua records that about 40,000 troops from Reuben, Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh crossed the Jordan and prepared to do battle with the Canaanites (Jsh 4:13). This figure constitutes c 37 percent of the three tribes' available fighting force (Nu 1:20–21, 24–25, 34–35). God promised the Transjordan to Abraham (Gn 15:18). men of valor. See note, Jsh 1:14.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:19 much livestock. God presented the tribes of Reuben and Gad with livestock and plunder for their conquest of Sihon and Og (2:35; 3:7).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:20 rest. Only when Canaan is subdued will the fighting men from Reuben, Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh return to their families.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:21 commanded Joshua. Restates Joshua's call (Nu 27:18–23). Moses also encourages Joshua by reviewing two key issues: (1) what God has already done, and (2) what God promises to do in the future.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:22 fights for you. See note, Ex 14:14.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:1–22 Moses presents Israel's victory over Og, the apportionment of land east of the Jordan River, and the installation of Joshua. Within these verses, believers are reminded of God's faithfulness. As He faithfully led Israel, God will also lead His people today. His promises to us are sealed in the blood of His Son (cf 2Co 1:20). • Lord of heaven and earth, You shower Your blessings on those who are led to faith by Your Holy Spirit. Guide and protect us from the evil one, who would take away our promised inheritance. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:23 pleaded. Moses prayed for God to allow him to cross into Canaan, but God's answer was no. Sin has consequences (cf 2Sm 12:11–18).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:24 Moses witnessed God's awesome power for 40 years. what god. Cf Is 40:9–31.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:26 angry with me because of you. Cf Nu 20:2–13. See note, Nu 20:11–12. Enough from you. God's forgiveness does not mean a removal of the consequences attached to sin. Luth: "But why is the prayer of Moses not heard, since it is likely that he prayed in the Spirit? This is written for our example and consolation. For even though the Lord does not hear him and this causes Moses to realize that He is angry with him, as he says here, nevertheless He does not desert him; He commands him to climb the mountain and view the land, and to give orders to Joshua. So, since we do not know in what manner we should pray (Rom. 8:26), let us not be surprised if we are not heard. At the same time, however, let us in no wise doubt that we are favored by, and dear to, God; and let us grasp at the favor beneath the wrath, lest we lose heart" (AE 9:42).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:27 Pisgah. This high plain overlooking the Salt Sea from the northeast contains Mount Nebo, which rises some 2,700 ft above sea level. God permitted only Moses to see the Promised Land from here.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:28 charge Joshua. Cf 31:7–8.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:29 valley opposite Beth-peor. Israelite encampment and site of apostasy recorded in Nu 25 (cf Dt 4:3). See map, p 250.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:23–29 Sin and its consequences walk hand in hand. Moses' consequence was that he did not enter the Promised Land at that time. What a sad reality. Yet, see application note, ch 34. Forgiven sinners rejoice that the consequences of sin no longer bring eternal separation from God. Paul says it best: "The wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Rm 6:23). • Lord, despite the earthly consequences of sin, teach us to live faithfully and in view of the eternal blessings of forgiveness. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Chs 4–26 The main section of the Book: a re-presentation of the covenant (see pp 274–76).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:1 statutes and the rules. See p 971. do them, that you may live. God's promise of blessing was subject to Israel's response to His laws and decrees. Israel's obedience here should be understood in the broad sense as obedience that results from God's gift of faith. go in and take possession of the land. Command given 70 times in Dt. However, as Israel transitions from the nomadic to the settled life, God's relationship with them will not change.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:2 Several places in Scripture repeat this theme. God's Word, with its promises of the Messiah and their fulfillment in Jesus Christ, is sacred, and mankind cannot change it. Luth: "But you will say: 'Then why have so many additional books of the prophets been added? And David decided that a temple should be built when the tabernacle of Moses had been done away with, and he arranged the orders of the Levites. And Joshua did many things and commanded the people. So it can be said about many other things.' I answer: It does not take away from or add to the word of Moses when someone teaches the same thing in other words or in more words. Thus the prophets taught and explained Moses, not themselves, and they judged according to his Law and reproved kings and people. Moreover, what Moses says here applies not to God but to the people: 'Do not add, etc.' For who doubts that as the time requires God Himself can add or subtract something? Whether He adds or subtracts, He Himself always remains true; His Word is always true and leads and preserves us faithfully" (AE 9:51–52).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:3 Baal of Peor. See note, 3:29. On "Baal," see note, Nu 25:3.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:5 statutes … rules … commanded. See p 971.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:6 your wisdom and your understanding. Nations passing along Israel's trade route will see God reflected in the lives of His people. See pp 775–78. great nation. See "Census Figures," p 213. A fulfillment of God's promise to Abram (Gn 12:2).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:7 a god so near. God will make His dwelling among the Israelites, who faithfully keep God's laws and decrees (Lv 26:11–12). See "be with," p 5.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:8 statutes … rules … law. See p 971. righteous. See p 843.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:9 keep your soul. The Israelites should be alert for deceptions that would turn their hearts away from God. Make them known. Parents have a covenant responsibility to train their children in obedience to God (Pr 22:6). This command extends into the NT (Mt 19:14; Ac 2:39). See note, Pr 1:8.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:10 fear. This admonition is often repeated (6:24; 8:6; 10:12; 28:58). See p 1001.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:11 Moses recounts God's appearance in fire at Mount Sinai.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:12 saw no form. See note, Ex 24:10. The visible appearance of God's presence is known as a theophany. See p 39. Cyr Jer: "He is Holy, and Almighty, and excels all in goodness, and majesty, and wisdom: of Whom we can declare neither beginning, nor form, nor shape…. If it is wholly impossible to imagine His likeness, how shall thought come near His substance? There have been many imaginations by many persons, and all have failed" (NPNF 2 7:35).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:13 His covenant … the Ten Commandments. God's Law included much more than the Ten Commandments, but they sum up the whole Law. See note, Ex 34:28. He wrote them. God personally inscribed the two stone tablets He gave to Moses (Ex 31:18). Luth: "It is impossible for men to think properly about God, speak about Him, or worship Him, without the Word of God" (AE 9:58).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:14 Iren: "The laws of bondage [civil and ceremonial], however, were one by one promulgated to the people by Moses, suited for their instruction or for their punishment…. These things, therefore, which were given for bondage, and for a sign to them, He cancelled by the new covenant of liberty. But He has increased and widened those laws which are natural, and noble, and common to all, granting to men largely and without grudging, by means of adoption, to know God the Father, and to love Him with the whole heart, and to follow His word unswervingly" (ANF 1:482).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:1–14 God desires to dwell among His people, but a holy God cannot live among an unholy people. So God lovingly establishes His ordinances, including the Ten Commandments. Through the Word, the Lord leads us to faith and to keep His commands faithfully; He shows forth His blessings in our lives. • Lord of all, we gratefully acknowledge that Christ has freed us from the bondage of the Law, for we are "justified by His grace as a gift, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus" (Rm 3:24). Thanks be to God! Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:15 saw no form. See note, v 12.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:16–18 See notes, Ex 20:3–4.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:19 Canaanites worshiped the sun, moon, and stars. E.g., Jericho was a center of Canaanite moon worship.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:20 iron furnace. Iron smelting required very high temperatures compared to other metals. Moses reminds the Israelites that their Egyptian captivity was a time of great suffering. See note, Jb 20:24.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:21 because of you. See note, Nu 20:11–12. If God was so strict with Moses, how much stricter would He be with the people if they flagrantly violated His commands? inheritance. See "portion," p 7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:23 covenant. See p 127.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:24 consuming fire. Iren: "God was indeed a consuming fire (igneum) to the people that transgressed the law, and threatened that God would bring upon them a day of fire; but to those who had the fear of God he said, 'The Lord God is merciful and gracious' " (ANF 1:490). Ambr: "[Moses] saw the fire in the bush, and had heard God when the voice from the flame of fire came to him … and the fire did no harm" (NPNF 2 10:112). See note, Lv 10:2. a jealous God. God maintains the honor of His promises. See note, Ex 20:5.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:25 in the form of anything. See note, Ex 20:4.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:26 heaven and earth to witness. Moses calls on all of God's creation as witness to God's covenant with His people. Parties in ancient Near Eastern treaties often called upon their gods as covenant witnesses.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:27–28 Unfortunately, this consequence for disobedience is in Israel's future (2Ki 17:6; 25:21). Blessings and curses were part of ancient Near Eastern treaties; cf Dt 28. See p 127.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:29 seek the LORD your God. See "seek," p 843. Although the Israelites will later be enslaved by the Assyrians and the Babylonians, God provides a means whereby the repentant may return to Him.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:30 tribulation. Lit, "narrowness." Similar to Eng expression "a tight spot." latter days. Moses prophesies Israel's future. return. See p 1080.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:31 a merciful God. Though God knows Israel's future unfaithfulness, He promises mercy and that He will not forget His covenant. covenant. See p 6. He swore to them. God attested to this covenant (Gn 22:15–18). See "vow," p 7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:15–31 Just as a loving father warns his children against life's dangers, so God warns Israel. Through Moses, God warns the Israelites of the perils of following pagan gods. Consequences would include forfeiting the land, though God retained ownership of it (Lv 25:23). He promises mercy to Israel and extends that kindness to us too. • Almighty God, though Israel's disobedience caused the forfeiture of their land, You never removed the promise of a Savior given first to Adam and Eve (Gn 3:15) and confirmed to Abram (Gn 12:3b). That promise is completed in the life, death, and resurrection of my Lord Jesus. Great is Your faithfulness! Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:32 ask now. A great source of learning comes from asking one's elders to explain the past (cf 32:7). The Passover Seder revolves around the asking of questions (Ex 12:26–27). When the Israelites entered the Promised Land, memorials were erected as teaching tools (Jsh 4:7–9).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:34 Israel's deliverance is unique in historical annals. hand … arm. See p 842.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:35 The exodus is a catechetical event. See notes, v 32; 32:39; see also SC, First Commandment, p xxxv.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:36 discipline. Or, "rebuke." God's discipline is designed to bring the recipient back to Him. See note, Mt 18:15–17.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:37 He loved your fathers. First reference to God's love for His people recorded in Dt. As a result of God's love, His people should love Him. See note, 6:5. chose their offspring. See "choose," p 5. brought … with His own presence. God's grace alone delivered Israel from the oppressions of Egypt. His great miracles confirmed His presence among them (Ex 13:21–22; 14:19–31).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:38 inheritance. See "portion," p 7.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:39 there is no other. No other god has authority over the forces of nature or history. See notes, 32:39; Is 44:6.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:40 prolong your days. See note, Eph 6:3.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:32–40 Moses reminds the people that with fire and wonders God has established Himself as the God of Israel. No other god has led a people away from their captors, conquered their enemies, and established them in a new land. Such a God is worthy of our worship and praise. In Christ, He declares us His very own people. • Lord Almighty, in our times of trouble, let us remember that You are with us always. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:41–43 Moses establishes three cities of refuge in the land east of the Jordan River. These cities are already securely in the hands of the Reubenites, Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh. See note, Nu 35:11.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:41–43 The Lord provides refuge for His people east of the Jordan. Today, the Lord Himself is our refuge. He prepares an everlasting home for us. • Father, as sinners, it is reassuring to know that You are our refuge and our strength (Ps 46:1). We trust in Your providential care. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:45 testimonies … statutes … rules. See p 971. Covenantal language similar to ancient Near Eastern treaties of the day. Everything God has commanded is obeyed in faith. Throughout the course of the OT, God calls on His people to abide by His Word. Cf Gn 26:5; Lv 10:11; 18:3; Ezk 43:11; Mal 3:7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:49 Arabah. See note, Jsh 3:16. slopes of Pisgah. Israel now possesses the territory on the east side of the Jordan as far north as Mount Hermon and as far south as the Arnon River, which separates the Reubenites from the Moabites. See color map 2.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:44–49 The conquest of Canaan is underway. Territories once belonging to Sihon and Og are under full control of the Reubenites, Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh. Moses presents God's Word to the Israelites, including many laws and promises. Holding fast to these laws and promises, the people would experience God's blessings. Still today, He promises many and great blessings to those who receive His testimonies. • Faithful Lord, we have the assurance that "all the promises of God find their Yes in [Jesus]" (2Co 1:20). For Your rich blessings in our lives, we humbly give You thanks. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:1 statutes … rules. See p 971.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:2 Horeb. See note, 1:6.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:3 covenant. Given to the first generation of Israelites at Sinai, but the terms now apply to this second generation. See note, Ex 19:5. Chem: "Before the birth of Christ no teaching was ever revealed in the church with such great miracles and testimonies as the promulgation of the Law" (LTh 2:354).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:4 face to face. The Lord spoke to them and heard their reply (4:12, 15).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:5 I stood between. Moses served as the mediator between God and His people at Sinai, carrying messages back and forth during the preparation for the covenant (Ex 19) and for the ratification (Ex 24). We see in Moses a preview of our Lord Jesus Christ, who mediates between God and us (1Tm 2:5).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:6–21 See notes, Ex 20:3–17. Differences in the accounts are noted below.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:6 God introduces Himself—part of a standard suzerain-vassal agreement of the ancient Near East. In these pacts, the ruler begins the agreement with a preamble ("I am the LORD your God"), followed by a historic prologue ("who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery"). This verse is critical for our understanding of the covenant. These Commandments were given to people who were already called and redeemed by God in order that they might show their love for God. They were not given to sinners in order for them to achieve justification, which they had already received by faith (Gn 15:6; Rm 4). See p 127.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:7 See note, 32:39.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:14 Text differs from Ex 20:8–11. seventh day. Chem: "God has willed that in the observances of the Sabbath there be a memorial of the article of creation … that the people may be instructed by this teaching device to pray to God and to await His blessings, and that thus faith be strengthened" (LTh 2:391). Ter: "The force of such precepts was temporary, and respected the necessity of present circumstances" (ANF 3:156). See note, Gn 2:2.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:15 you were a slave. Moses adds a reminder of how the Israelites are to treat their slaves on the Sabbath; both male and female slaves are given rest on each Sabbath, just as the Israelites. Chem: "This manifestly pertains to the people of Israel … [who] were put in a place of rest in the land of Canaan" (LTh 2:389).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:16 Honor. Hbr kabed, lit, "heavy." Here it means "consider someone very important, prize highly." See "glory of the LORD," pp 6–7. Luther emphasizes the wider implications of this commandment: "All authority flows and is born from the authority of parents" (LC I 141). that your days may be long. The blessings of obedience are also applied to all of the Commandments.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:21 Moses weaves together the Ninth and Tenth Commandments by transposing "house" and "wife." covet … desire. See note, Ex 20:17.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:22 spoke to all. Chem: "God in the very act of promulgating the Law showed that He did not place the ceremonial and the civil on the same level with the Decalog…. The Lord spoke these words to the whole multitude. But with regard to the other laws God [spoke] to Moses alone" (LTh 2:351).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:23 heads of your tribes … elders. See p 228.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:24 When the Israelites first heard God's voice at Mount Sinai, they thought they would die (Ex 20:19). However, no one died in this transaction. Iren: "God the Father is shown forth through all these [operations], the Spirit indeed working, and the Son ministering, while the Father was approving, and man's salvation being accomplished" (ANF 1:489).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:25–27 In this recounting of the events at Sinai, Moses recalls the fear expressed by the previous Israelite generation: that God had brought them to Mount Sinai to exterminate them. Moses served as the intermediary between God and His people (Ex 20:19).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:28 They are right. God Himself approved the Israelite nation's request for Moses to serve as an intermediary.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:29–30 In His infinite wisdom, God commended the Israelites' request for a mediator and for their fear and reverence toward Him.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:31 commandment … statutes … rules. See p 971. All of God's statutes and commands were shared exclusively with Moses. Moses then taught these regulations to God's people.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Ch 5 Moses recounts how all of the Israelites assembled at Mount Sinai to hear God present guidelines for a holy relationship with Him and with one another. Sinful men and women need an intermediary between themselves and God. Though Moses served in that capacity at Sinai, Jesus Christ fills that role in a much greater way for you and for me (1Tm 2:5–6; cf Rm 8:1–2). • Lord of mercy, in Your Law we become painfully aware that our sinful nature separates us from You. Through Christ, our Lord, draw us ever closer to You through Your Word and Sacraments. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:2 fear the LORD. See p 1001.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:3 multiply greatly. God promised to be Israel's God (Ex 6:7) and bless with offspring those who followed His precepts. This promise takes us back to the Garden of Eden, where God blessed Adam and Eve and commanded them to be "fruitful and multiply" (Gn 1:28). God's original desire was for a world filled with people who love and fear Him. This original love toward God and each other allowed God to commune with them in a very special way. flowing with milk and honey. See p 6.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:4 This verse, known as the Shema ("Hear") for the first word in Hbr, is an early creed of Israel's faith in God.

See p 1975. Observant Jews still say the Shema twice daily, during morning and evening prayers. The text includes Dt 6:4–9; 11:13–21; Nu 15:37–41. See Mishnah Berakhot. Ambr: "We must follow the ways of the Lord, and take heed to our own ways, lest they lead us into sin. One can take heed if one is not hasty in speaking…. Be silent therefore first of all, and hearken, that you fail not in your tongue" (NPNF 2 10:2). the LORD is one. God is unique (Hbr 'echad) and singular in His qualities. He alone is God. This is in contrast to the Canaanite Baals that represented various powers of nature. The oneness of God does not militate against the unity of the three persons in the Trinity. (E.g., "one" is also used in Gn 2:24 to describe the "one flesh" relationship of Adam and Eve.) "God is one divine essence who is eternal, without a body, without parts, of infinite power, wisdom, and goodness. He is the maker and preserver of all things, visible and invisible [Nehemiah 9:6]. Yet there are three persons, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit" (AC I 2–3). Ambr: "[He is] unchangeable, always abiding in unity of power, always the same, and not altered by any accession or diminution" (NPNF 2 10:150). See p 1815.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:5 love … with all. Hbr 'aheb; common term for affection. God commands His people to love Him above all else. Ter: "The primordial law was given to Adam and Eve in paradise, as a womb of all the precepts of God. In short, if they had loved the Lord their God, they would not have contravened His precept" (ANF 3:152). heart … soul … might. God's desire is that His people love Him with total sincerity, without reservation, and with all their faculties. See note, 29:4. Ambr: "First stands faith, which is a sign of wisdom…. You should give to God the most precious thing you have, that is, your mind, for you have nothing better than that. When you have paid your debt to your Creator, then you may labor for men, to show them kindness, and to give help" (NPNF 2 10:42). Mel: "The corrupt nature of man in this life cannot produce this perfect obedience. Doubts concerning both the anger and mercy of God cling in his heart. No one fears God as he ought. No one is so on fire with love as he ought to be" (Chem, LTh 2:365). "What does it mean to have a god? Or, what is God? Answer: A god means that from which we are to expect all good and in which we are to take refuge in all distress. So, to have a God is nothing other than trusting and believing Him with the heart. I have often said that the confidence and faith of the heart alone make both God and an idol. If your faith and trust is right, then your god is also true. On the other hand, if your trust is false and wrong, then you do not have the true God. For these two belong together, faith and God [Hebrews 11:6]. Now, I say that whatever you set your heart on and put your trust in is truly your god" (LC I 1–3).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:6 these words. Some rabbis regarded this as a reference to vv 4–5, but likely refers to the 10 "words," or Commandments (5:6–21). Here God presents a restatement of the First Tablet of the Law (Ex 20:3–11). on your heart. Always remembered and inwardly treasured. The Mishnah describes the priests at the Jerusalem temple reciting the Ten Commandments (Dt 6:4–9; 11:13–21; Nu 15:37–41; Tamid 5:1). See note, Rm 2:15.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:7 teach them diligently. Hbr shanan; verb for sharpening by repeatedly running the blade over a whetstone. Parents are to teach God's Word faithfully and repeatedly to their offspring so that God will continually dwell with His people. See note, Pr 1:8. sit … walk … lie … rise. Daily living presents numerous opportunities to talk to our children about what God has done—even the most mundane events. As Christians, we should take every opportunity to discuss what God has done through Christ, no matter where we are or what we are doing.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:8 bind them as a sign … frontlets. "It is so we might have our eyes constantly fixed on them. We should have them always in our memory. Then we might do them in all our actions and ways. Then everyone may make them his daily exercise in all cases, in every business and transaction, as though they were written in every place wherever he would look, indeed, wherever he walks or stands" (LC I 331–32). Although God uses the words here to emphasize the importance of remembering His Word continually in everything, many Jews later took the command literally and tied phylacteries to their foreheads and left arms. See note, Mt 23:5.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:9 write them. Later, Jews fastened small capsulelike containers called "mezuzoth" to their doorposts. Inside were the words of Dt 6:4–9 and 11:13–21 as a continual reminder of God's grace toward them. "He knows our danger and need, as well as the constant and furious assaults and temptations of devils. He wants to warn, equip, and preserve us against them, as with a good armor against their fiery darts

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:10–12 We easily forget the many blessings God has provided. Material blessings can even steal our hearts away from God. See note, Mt 19:23–24.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:13 fear. See p 1001. This command connects with v 5, which addresses a believer's love for God. An awe-filled reverence for God is in keeping with the First Tablet of the Law (Ex 20:3–11; Dt 5:7–15). swear. See p 7; see also note, Mt 5:34–35.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:14 See note, 32:39.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:15 in your midst. In keeping with the promise He made in Ex 25:8, God dwells among His people. See "be with," p 5. jealous. See note, Ex 20:5. In His love, God will not tolerate any unfaithfulness or the worship of a rival god (Jsh 24:19).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:16 The Israelites had tested God by questioning whether or not He was with them. Jesus quoted this verse in response to Satan's temptation.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:17 commandments … testimonies … statutes. See p 971.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:20–25 God's people practiced catechesis. See note, Lk 1:4; cf Jsh 4:6–7. Luther used this same teaching technique in his Large and Small Catechisms by asking, "What does this mean?" See note, Ex 10:2.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:24 fear the LORD. See p 1001.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:25 The faith God has worked in us causes us to obey God's commands as an act of love. See notes, Gal 5:22–23. righteousness. See p 843. Chem: "This is not a statement of Law, but it is speaking of the mercy which God bestows on the godly in this life…. Moses calls it mercy [Vulg.] because it is not given out of merit but out of grace" (LTh 2:644).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Ch 6 God desires to shower His people with blessings, but their hearing and following of His Word is required for Him to dwell among them. He alone is God. There is no other. Thankfully, the Father sent His one and only Son as our atoning sacrifice. God's Holy Spirit now dwells within all believers. Indeed, we become God's dwelling place (1Co 3:16). • Lord, we thank You for parents, relatives, friends, and pastors who speak Your Word in purity and truth. Use us now as instruments for the salvation of others. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:1 seven nations. See chart, p 345; see also notes, Gn 10:15–19.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:2 devote … to … destruction. See p 6. no covenant … no mercy. God calls for the total annihilation of the Canaanites, knowing that their apostasy may easily spread among the Israelites and lead them astray.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:3 You shall not intermarry. God's protection against the allure of cult worship. It is best not to deliberately seek a marriage partner who is outside the faith. However, see notes, 1Co 7:12–14.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:5 God is not tolerant of other religions that would separate people from Him. But God is just, and He gave the idolaters in Canaan centuries to repent. They refused. Sadly, many individuals today continue as the Canaanites did and persistently reject the work of the Holy Spirit. See note, Mk 3:29–30. pillars. See note, Gn 28:18. Asherim. See note, Ex 34:13.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:6 holy to the LORD. God declared the Israelites holy. See p 7. Their lineage would produce the world's Messiah, Jesus Christ. chosen … His treasured possession. God formed the nation of Israel for Himself, so they might proclaim His praise (Is 43:21) and lead other people to the Lord. See "choose," p 5.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:7–8 God selected Israel as His holy people by grace alone in fulfillment of His promise to Adam and Eve (Gn 3:15), Abram (Gn 12:3, 7), Isaac (Gn 26:3–6), and Jacob (Gn 28:13–15). See p 1245.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:9 faithful. See p 842; cf Nu 23:19. keeps covenant. See p 127. steadfast love. See p 843. Unlike sinful human beings, God fulfills each promise; He remains steadfast in His love toward those who love Him. thousand generations. There are no time limits on God's abundant mercy for those who love Him (Ex 34:7). See p 217.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:10 repays to their face. God promised to judge Israel's enemies in this life. Sometimes God's judgment comes as discipline (Ezk 5:13), while at other times it is everlasting condemnation (Heb 6:1–6).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:11 commandment … statutes … rules. See p 971.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:12–16 The blessings God has poured into the lives of the Israelites have overflowed in their love for God and His commands. In response, God pours out even more blessings. See "bless," p 842. In these verses, we see what it means to be "blessed." See notes, Gn 12:2–3.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:16 snare. See note, Ps 64:5. Failure to completely destroy the Canaanites would lead to idolatry. Such idolatry later caused Israel's enslavement in Assyria and Babylon (cf 2Ki 17). God foretold the consequences of disobeying His command to destroy the Canaanites. Cf Dt 28:15–68.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:19 great trials. God's 10 plagues (Ex 7:14–12:30) tested Pharaoh's unbelief. Only when God struck down Pharaoh's son did he relent and release the Israelites from enslavement (Ex 12:29–32). Even then, Pharaoh's heart remained hardened against God, and he remained in his sin of unbelief, sending troops after God's people (Ex 14:5–9). the signs, the wonders, the mighty hand. See note, 11:3.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:21 God is in your midst. See note, 6:15.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:22 Joshua's campaigns of conquest would last c six years (1406–1400 BC). See "Joshua versus Judges," p 339. The total defeat of the Canaanites extended over a longer period of time. See note, 1Ki 5:15.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:25–26 See note, v 5.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Ch 7 God's hand is raised against the inhabitants of Canaan, whose sin has ripened before God, causing His action. God, not the Israelites on their own, will drive the Canaanites from the Promised Land. He plans to fulfill His promise to Israel's greatest ancestors: Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Today, through Jesus Christ, believers are led into the promised land of eternal life. Each time we look upon the empty cross, we are reminded of God's promise of redemption fulfilled in Christ. • Lord of all creation, we thank You for the precious foretelling of deliverance made known to Your ancient people and delivered in Christ Jesus, our Lord. Grant us encouragement in Your precious Word. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:1 whole commandment. All of God's Commandments are intricately woven together, forming a unit. This exhortation ties in to 6:5.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:2 humble you, testing you. God already knows what is in our hearts, so He does the testing for our sake, not His. See note, Gn 22:1. These tests are designed to teach Israel to trust God more fully. Cf Heb 12:7–8.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:3 God's provision of manna humbled the Israelites. They quickly found that they could not provide for themselves. Instead, they had to trust in God for their daily bread. God provided only enough manna for each day (Ex 16:4–5) in order that the Israelites might learn to rely fully on God for sustenance. We pray that God would daily provide for us each time we pray the Lord's Prayer (Mt 6:11). Ambr: "It is therefore a good thing for us to be bedewed with the exhortations of the divine Scriptures, and that the word of God should come down upon us like the dew. When, therefore, you sit at the table of that great man, understand who that great man is. Set in the paradise of delight and placed at the feast of wisdom, think of what is put before you! The divine Scriptures are the feast of wisdom, and the single books the various dishes. Know, first, what dishes the banquet offers, then stretch forth your hand, that those things which you read, or which you receive from the Lord your God, you may carry out in action, and so by your duties may show forth the grace that was granted to you" (NPNF 2 10:28).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:5 God disciplines believers to strengthen their faith or to return them to His righteous path in order that He might bless them. Cf Lv 26:14–42.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:6 walking … ways. See p 7. fearing. See p 1001.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:8 See p 236.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:9 iron. The mountains of southern Lebanon and the territory east of the Sea of Chinnereth are rich in iron. copper. Copper mines and smelters have been found by archaeologists in the Arabah Desert south of the Salt Sea. See note, Jb 28:2.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:10 bless the LORD. See p 842; cf Ec 5:18–19.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:11 commandments … rules … statutes. See p 971.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:12–14 Ter: "[The Lord is] teaching man not to be studious of the stomach" (ANF 4:105). When we have everything we want, it becomes easy to forget the Lord.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:15 fiery serpents. Cf Nu 21:4–9.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:16 See notes, vv 2–3.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:18 God faithfully remembered His covenant promise to Abram (Gn 12:2–3) and continually provided for His people. covenant … swore. See pp 6, 7.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Ch 8 God weaves a pattern of worship into the lives of the Israelites. By remembering and keeping God's commands, they honor His name and show God's grace to the nations surrounding them (4:6). Their disobedience dishonors God's name. How easily Christians today look upon themselves as self-made, dishonoring God in the process. Instead, may we pray as J. S. Bach did, "To God alone be glory" (Soli Deo Gloria), for there is no other Savior. • Father, forgive us. We are poor, miserable sinners, often content to go our own way and seek our own glory. We ask that You send Your Holy Spirit to lead us to repentance, and then feed us with Your sustaining bread of life. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:1–12 The theme of this section of Scripture could be summarized as "By grace you have been saved" (Eph 2:5).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:1 today. Previously, the Israelites' disobedience had delayed their entry into the Promised Land. fortified up to heaven. Hyperbole depicting the strength of the Canaanites. See note, 2:36; cf 1:28.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:2 sons of Anak? See note, 1:28; cf Nu 13:31. The Israelites felt helpless fighting against the Anakim, but God would fight their battles for them.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:3 See note, Lv 10:2.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:4–5 righteousness. See p 843. God destroyed the Anakim because they were wicked. The Israelites needed to understand that the land was given to them by God's grace and not because of any righteousness they possessed.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:6 stubborn people. Or, "stiff-necked people." An expression God used some 40 years earlier during the golden calf incident (cf Ex 32:9).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:10 all the words. The Ten Commandments. See note, Ex 34:28.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:12 your people. God spoke as though Israel belonged to Moses. The sin of the Israelites distanced them from the Lord.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:1–12 God will soon lead the Israelites into Canaan, a land that 40 years earlier they had called unconquerable. But God Himself will lead the charge with "consuming fire" (v 3). Israel's victory will not be based on their righteousness; neither are the blessing and victory we receive. Our salvation came at a terrible price: it cost God the life of His Son, a gift we are to remember in Holy Communion until Christ comes again in His glory (1Co 11:26). • Heavenly Lord, let us never boast of the works of our hands. Everything we have is a precious gift of grace from You, through Your Son, Jesus Christ. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:13–21 Moses retells the golden calf incident. The order is not chronological, as detailed in Ex 32, but only gives highlights.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:13 stubborn people. Cf v 6.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:14 God's anger burned so strongly against the Israelites that He wanted to destroy them for their gross idolatry and raise up another people to take their place. (Consider how God totally destroyed all but eight people during the great flood; cf Gn 6–8.)
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:15 burning with fire. A theophany marked God's presence on Mount Sinai (Ex 19:16).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:17 broke them before your eyes. Several Near Eastern treaties contain provisions that if the treaty is broken, the other party may burn or smash the treaty document in a public confirmation that the treaty had been broken.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:18 Moses fasted an additional 40 days and 40 nights, confessing the people's sin of idolatry. God was sustaining his life during the meditation.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:19 the LORD listened. Moses offered intercessory prayers on Israel's behalf.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:20 so angry. Mel: "Let us [not] imagine that God is made of stone or is a stoic…. God was angry at Aaron and … at that time Aaron was not in a state of grace but was guilty of eternal punishment. We must shrink in horror from the fall of Aaron" (Chem, LTh

1:310). I prayed for Aaron. Cyr Jer: "Shall not Jesus, His Only-begotten, prevail with God when He prays for us? … Only, O man, repent also in like manner, and grace is not forbidden you" (NPNF 2 7:10).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:21 brook. Today no brook is found on Mount Sinai. Low-growing bushes at the base of the mountain indicate that moisture is present. See "Census Figures," p 213.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:22 Events in Sinai. Taberah. Where some Israelites complained and God destroyed them by fire. Massah. Where the Israelites quarreled and tested the Lord over the lack of water. Kibroth-hattaavah. Where some Israelites were struck down by a plague because they grumbled to the Lord for lack of meat.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:25 Time after time, we see Moses falling down to pray that God would forgive His rebellious people. Moses provides a model for intercessory prayer, the ultimate of which is seen in Christ's High Priestly Prayer (Jn 17).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:26 heritage. See p 7. redeemed through Your greatness. Moses recognized and acknowledged that the exodus deliverance was by God's grace. See "redeem," p 843.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:27 Do not regard. Hbr wording requests that God not "turn His face toward" the sin Israel has committed. By not noting these sins, God graciously withholds the punishment the people deserve.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:13–29 By retelling the story of the golden calf (Ex 32), Moses teaches a new generation about the consequences of disobeying God's commands. The entire nation was about to forfeit their status as God's chosen people. But God mercifully turned away from their sin. Today, God still calls His people to come before Him and seek His forgiveness in order that He might "cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (1Jn 1:9). • Loving Father, each sin we commit brings tears to Your eyes. By our own actions, we separate ourselves from You. Look past our faults to see the gracious intercession of Your Son at Calvary. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:1–11 Cf Ex 34.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:2 Moses had smashed the first tablets in anger over the golden calf. After forgiving the Israelites, God inscribed two new tablets.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:3 So I made an ark. Moses constructed a container to house God's Law. This was perhaps only a temporary housing for the two tablets of the Law until the more permanent ark of the covenant was built (Ex 25:16, 21; 40:20).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:6–9 Refers to events that happened after Israel's departure from Sinai. They show that God had indeed forgiven His people.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:6 There Aaron died. God might have struck Aaron dead at Mount Sinai, but thanks to Moses' intercessory prayer (9:26–29), Aaron survived. God graciously restored the priesthood to Aaron.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:7 Listed here are the places where the Israelites camped after departing Kadesh-barnea. Some places were not recorded in Nu 33:37. See map, p 250.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:8 At that time. Refers to Ex 28–29. ark of the covenant. See diagram, p 203. bless. See p 842.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:10 Refers to Moses' second period of fasting (9:25–29). unwilling to destroy you. Although God wanted to destroy the Israelites, He responded to Moses' intercessory pleas and relented (Ex 32:14).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:11 God's forgiveness is complete. The Israelites are granted permission to enter the land God had promised their ancestors.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:1–11 Moses reminds the Israelites of their idolatry at Sinai. Only Moses' prayer of intercession spared them. God inscribed two new tablets with His precious commands and promised to lead the Israelites into Canaan. Today, pray for yourself and others who face temptation. Take comfort in the promise that Jesus intercedes for you and will be with you amid all struggles. • Lord, have mercy on us and hear our cry for greater faith and greater faithfulness. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:12 fear the LORD. See p 1001. walk … ways. See p 7.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:14 heaven of heavens. The highest heaven. See note, 2Co 12:2.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:15 chose. God's chosen people are sinners. They bring no special qualities to merit God's favor, yet He chose them to be His people. See note, Eph 1:4. God still initiates the relationship of faith today (Rm 5:8; 1Jn 4:10).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:16 The call to circumcise the heart indicates that the human heart is by nature stubborn and rebellious toward God. A circumcised heart is a heart responding in faith to God's grace. On the symbolism of circumcision, see note, Gn 17:12.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:17–18 A creed-like statement. Many of God's names found here are repeated elsewhere in Scripture (e.g., Ps 136:2–3; 1Tm 6:15; 2Sm 7:22; 1Ch 16:25; Ne 1:5; 8:6; Ps 48:1; Jb 36:5; Is 9:6; Jer 32:18; Ps 68:35; Dn 9:4). Isaiah uses the name "Mighty God" to describe the coming Messiah (Is 9:6). See "Mighty One," p 1227.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:19 Love the sojourner. See note, Ex 12:19.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:20 hold fast. Hbr dabaq, "cling"; the same word used of Adam and Eve (Gn 2:24) and of Ruth and Naomi (Ru 1:14).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:21 He is your praise. God desires that He alone be the focus of worship, for it is He who has rescued and forgiven His people.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:22 Jacob and his descendants, 70 in all, traveled to Egypt to join Joseph, who was already living there (Ex 1:1). By His grace, God grew these Israelites into a mighty nation. See "Census Figures," p 213. numerous as the stars. Hyperbole. A reminder of God's faithfulness in fulfilling His promise to Abram.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:12–22 God desires that those who love Him realize that He has the awesome power to forgive sins. In respect of this power, and in honor due His holy name, the Israelites are to reflect God's love back to Him in their words and actions. In so doing, they witness God's love to the nations around them and to the foreigners among them. Reflected here is God's desire that all should be saved and learn of His coming Messiah, Jesus. By God's grace, we repent of our stubborness. Through Baptism, we are made new creatures (Rm 6:4), counting ourselves dead to sin and alive to God (Rm 6:11). • Precious Lord, almighty Father, we thank You for the abundant mercy You show to those who repent and turn away from their sins. Forgive us for the sake of Your dear Son. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:1 charge … statutes … rules … commandments. God's holy ordinances, kept in response to His love. See p 971. always. See note, Ps 1:2.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:2 not speaking to your children. Moses chides the adults to listen and to obey God faithfully. discipline of the LORD. God's punishment of the Egyptians. hand … arm. See p 842.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:3 God used the 10 plagues (signs) as well as the destruction of the Egyptian army (deeds) to deliver Israel.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:4 By God's hand, the Egyptian army had not sufficiently recovered to pursue the Israelites. God is in charge of safe passage for the Israelites, lest they think their survival is based on anything but His grace.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:7 This generation may have witnessed the exodus as children (under age 20; cf Nu 14:29). They certainly witnessed God's provision in the wilderness.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:8 going over to possess. In God's eyes, the occupation of Canaan is an accomplished fact.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:9 flowing with milk and honey. See p 6.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:10 irrigated it. See ESV note. Hbr refers to a water-lifting device that was operated with the feet (e.g., a treadmill or corkscrew for raising water). The feet were also used to open channels for water in the rows of soil. Egypt depended heavily on irrigation from the Nile River, so the people would have been well trained in irrigation methods.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:11 drinks. Porous limestone soaks up water and reserves it.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:12 Unlike the land of Egypt, where the Israelites struggled to irrigate the fields, God promises to attend their farmland in Canaan continually, providing rain in its season and ensuring abundant crops for His chosen people (v 14).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:13 with all your heart. Theme repeated throughout Dt (e.g., 4:29; 10:12; 11:13; 13:3; 26:16; 30:2, 6, 10). See note, 6:5.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:14 rain … season. See calendar, p 262.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:17 Today, parts of Canaan are bony and barren because God withheld the rain. C six centuries after the Israelites had entered Canaan, they turned away from God so extensively that God withheld His blessing of rain (1Ki 17:1) in a dramatic call for them to repent and return to Him.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:18–21 Cf 6:4–9.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:19 teach them to your children. Cf 4:9; 6:6–9; see note, 6:7.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:22 walking … ways. See p 7.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:23 See note, Ex 14:14.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:24 Israel's territory was large for a nation of that time. Their territory once included parts of Lebanon and the Sinai Desert. See color map 3.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:25 fear of you. Rahab later confirms this to the Israelite spies (Jsh 2:9). as He promised. God keeps all His promises.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:26–28 See p 127; cf chs 27–28.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:28 other gods. See note, 32:39.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:29 Cf Jsh 8:30–35 and notes. Located in the heart of Israel, Mount Ebal and Mount Gerizim today continue to echo with God's curses and blessings. Ebal is barren and unproductive, while Gerizim is rich and fertile. See color map 2.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:30 Rhetorical question; the location was well known. The mountains are near Shechem, the place where God appeared to Abram and promised that his offspring would inherit the land (Gn 12:6–7; cf Gn 33:18–20).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Ch 11 Soon the Israelites will cross the Jordan River to begin conquering the land God had promised to Abram so many years before. We can almost hear their cries of thanksgiving! Yet Moses' warning is stern. Even today, though we have the Bible and know its teaching, we may fail to heed it. Pause today to repent and give praise to your Lord for His merciful goodness. Abundant blessings, especially eternal life (Jn 6:47), are still yours through Jesus Christ. • Lord and sustainer of life, send Your Holy Spirit to us through Your Word and Sacraments. Make us new creatures who daily see Your abundant blessings and honor You with our lives. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Chs 12–25 Moses has been offering a commentary on the First Commandment: how to love and serve the Lord "with all your heart and with all your soul" (10:12). Now he begins teaching about (1) how the Israelites were to receive the gracious presence of God in worship and (2) the holy life that flowed from doing so.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:1 statutes and rules. The teachings in chs 12–25. See p 971. possess, all the days. See "portion," p 7.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:2–4 Idolatrous worship would remain a constant temptation for God's people (cf Is 57:5–7; Jer 2:20). See p 526. God gave the land for right worship. The defiling presence of idol worship was incompatible with the revelation of God's holiness (cf Ac 19:17–20). See "devote to destruction," p 6.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:3 pillars. See note, Gn 28:18. Asherim. See note, Ex 34:13. destroy their name. So they are forgotten.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:4 in that way. Worship must be done in a way that is instituted by God's Word. Luth: "All this He commands in order that in the worship of God the people may not be carried away by its own feeling, however holy and good, but may be governed by the Word; for if man does not live without the Word even with respect to the belly, how much less does he live without the Word in the work of God and in the spirit! God wants our conscience to be certain and sure that it is pleasing to Him. This cannot be done if the conscience is led by its own feeling, but only if it relies on the Word of God" (AE 9:123). See FC SD VI 20.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:5 place. Singular. There would be only one place of sacrifice in the land. See application note, Lv 17:1–9. His habitation. See p 495. Over time, God would establish His dwelling as the place where His name would be proclaimed (cf 1Ki 8). Later, this would be Jerusalem, and most specifically the temple. There God's people could have sure access to His gracious presence (cf 1Ch 21–22). Though God is everywhere, He leads us to seek Him in specific ways. As Christians, we find Christ present for us in His means of grace, around which His Church gathers.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:6 See pp 170–71.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:7 eat before the LORD … rejoice. While pagans sacrificed their own goods to appease the gods, the Israelites offered what God had provided (Lv 1–7). blessed. See p 842.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:8 Wilderness practices would not necessarily apply in the Promised Land. The people were not permitted to worship God in times, places, and ways that God had not instituted.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:9 rest … inheritance. See "portion," p 7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:10 over the Jordan. The conquest. See "Ethics of Conquest," p 339.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:11 make His name dwell. See "name," p 843. finest vow offerings. See "vow," p 7.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:12 Moses describes men, women, children, and slaves participating in worship. Levite. See p 228.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:15 Cf Lv 17:1–9.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:16 you shall not eat the blood. Blood taboos are common in many cultures. However, the Israelites had a special reason to abstain from eating blood: God provided the blood of slaughtered animals for a specific and holy use in worship, to cleanse what human sin had made unclean or defiled (cf Lv 17).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:21 too far. Cf Lv 17:3–4.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:23 do not eat the blood. See note, v 16.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:26 holy things. Cf Lv 1–5; see p 7.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:1–28 The Lord calls His people to cleanse the land of all places of false worship. He would provide for them a place to receive His presence in grace and blessing. Today, God forbids us from worshiping Him in ways that seem good to us but that are contrary to His Word. God gives us His clear Word in Christ Jesus. In His Word and Sacraments, we have rest in our consciences, and we experience the deep joy that comes from having God's forgiveness. • Lord Jesus, in You I find the fullness of God's glory. I worship and adore You, my Lord and my God. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:30 ensnared. See note, Ps 64:5. follow them. In ancient times, it was customary for new arrivals in a land to worship the gods and follow the customs of that land (cf 2Ki 17:24–28). Moses warned God's people against becoming trapped into following pagan worship customs.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:31 burn their sons and their daughters. Child sacrifice was associated with the worship of Molech (see note, Lv 18:21). Israel failed to heed God's warning about this practice. Solomon (1Ki 11:7), Ahaz (2Ch 28:3), and Manasseh (2Ki 21:6) later built altars to Molech and allowed the sacrifice of children. See p 403.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:32 Clear prohibition against worshiping the Lord according to pagan customs. See note, 4:2.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:1 a prophet or a dreamer of dreams. Someone claiming to have received a word or vision from God. See pp 74, 1081–83. Luth: "One must rest wholly on the Word alone and shut out everything from eyes and senses, because when the Word is lost, God is lost. It is better to lose friends, brothers, saints, mighty ones, and everything than to lose God" (AE 9:129). gives you a sign. See notes, Ex 7:11–12. Chem: "No miracles can prevail against the doctrine which has been revealed by God" (LTh 2:700).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:2 Let us go after other gods. See note, 18:20.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:3 God is testing you. Cypr: "Unless the battle has preceded, there cannot be a victory: … the crown is given to the victors. For the helmsman is recognized in the tempest; in the warfare the soldier is proved" (ANF 5:472). See note, Gn 22:1. to know whether you love. The Lord wanted people to trust His Word and to grow in their love for Him, and so warned them against placing their trust in signs or wonders. Similar warnings are given by Jesus (Mt 7:15–20) and by St Paul (Gal 1:6–9).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:4 walk after the LORD. See p 7. fear. See p 1001.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:5 redeemed. See p 843. purge the evil from your midst. See note, 21:21. God called His people to be intolerant toward those whose teaching would destroy their community and threaten their future (cf 12:31). Cypr: "Let no one, beloved brethren, make you to err from the ways of the Lord; let no one snatch you, Christians, from the Gospel of Christ" (ANF 5:318).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:6 wife you embrace. The person who is closest to you, who can speak to you in a whisper. See ESV note.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:9 Your hand shall be first. The person who made the accusation was responsible to effect the punishment. This shows the seriousness with which the temptation of idolatry was treated; it also served to protect the innocent against false accusation by forcing the accuser to take personal and public responsibility for the denunciation. afterward … all. By taking part in the punishment, the whole community was to confirm the rightness of the law and of the verdict against the guilty. It was illegal to put a person to death without a public hearing or on the evidence of one witness. Cf 17:5–6.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:13 worthless fellows. Traditionally rendered "children of Belial"; lit, "sons of worthlessness." I.e., troublemakers, people who maliciously incite chaos and murder by false report and false teaching. Cf 1Sm 10:27; 2Co 6:15.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:14 abomination. Describes a thing or action that is opposed to right worship of God or something at odds with right living as God's people. Cf 7:25, 26; 17:1; 27:15; 32:16; see note, Pr 6:16.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:15 devoting it to destruction. See p 6.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:16 It shall not be built again. The city would be a tell—a heap of ruins that would witness to the Lord's just wrath. See note, Jsh 6:26.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:17 devoted things. See p 6. mercy … compassion. See pp 842–43.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:29–13:18 The Lord warns His people to fear Him, especially when they are tempted to worship the gods and follow the abominable customs of the people whose land they are to possess. Those who oppose God can draw many followers through their displays of power and spectacle. God's Word gives us His solemn and binding promises. God means what He says: In Christ, your sins are forgiven. In Christ, you will find life to the full. In Christ, you will be free to love others as you love yourself. • Father, by the leading of Your Holy Spirit, let me always trust in Your Son, my Lord Jesus Christ. Only in Him can I find the light, the truth, and the peace that I need. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:1 sons of the LORD. In the OT, the people of Israel were regarded as God's own children; they were part of His household and subject to His rules. In the NT, all Christians are described as members of God's household (Eph 2:19; 1Tm 3:15) and as sons of God the Father (Rm 8:12–17). cut yourselves. In Canaanite religion, people ritually cut themselves until blood flowed (see note, 1Ki 18:28). baldness on your foreheads. Mourners were forbidden to tear out the hair from the front of their head (either out of despair or to arouse pity).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:2 His treasured possession. See note, 7:6.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:3–21 See notes, Lv 11; see also p 300. Luther held that God gave four basic reasons for forbidding His people at that time from eating unclean animals: (1) They were literally unclean and so unfit for human consumption (at least for that time and place). (2) Such strict dietary laws, which distinguished God's people from the other nations, would discourage His people from making additional laws of their own devising. (3) Through the strict laws, human pride might be broken, so that God's people might grow in desire for the One who would deliver them from their sins. (4) In seeing that "unclean, rapacious, and cruel animals were forbidden," God's people would be moved to love and gentleness (AE 9:134–38).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:3 eat any abomination. Same attitude toward unclean food as toward pagan practices of the land God's people were to enter (see note, 13:14).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:21 See note, Ex 23:19.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:1–21 The Lord calls His people, as members of His household, to avoid mimicking the self-destructive behaviors of their pagan neighbors. The Israelites were to adopt new and distinct table manners, eating only clean food. As members of God's household (Eph 2:19), we, too, must leave behind all those behaviors and habits that damage ourselves and the Christian community (Eph 5:1–7). Since God has adopted us in Christ Jesus, our Father in heaven will always give us His Holy Spirit so that we may be cleansed from all our sin (Rm 8:12–17). • Father, cleanse me from my guilt, and give me the will and the strength to lead a life worthy of my calling. In Jesus' name. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:22–29 In Nu 18:20–27, the Levites received the tithe. Here we see that the collection of the tithe was also a festive occasion that included a meal with the Levites and needy individuals.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:23 His name dwell there. See "name," p 843. fear the LORD. See p 1001.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:24 blesses. See p 842.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:26 wine or strong drink. God blessed the use of alcohol in this communal celebration. However, see note, Pr 20:1. Cf Jn 2:1–12; 1Co 11:23–26.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:27 Cf Nu 18.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:28–29 Mention of this law is also made in Tob 1:7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:29 bless. See p 842.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:22–29 God would provide for His people through the land that He was giving them. He commands them to use their portion for worship and to provide for the needy. Today, God calls us to share with our neighbor in need from the abundance of our possessions (cf Eph 4:28; Lk 10:25–37). Because God provides for us, we do not need to be anxious about our sustenance in this life (Mt 6:31). We are free to gratefully receive the generosity of others, to joyfully use the best we have in the worship of God, and to cheerfully experience God's love as we give to those in need (2Co 9:7). • Lord, thank You for Your great generosity to me. By Your Holy Spirit, lead me to give cheerfully and gratefully because of the gifts You have given. In Jesus' name. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:1–2 Luther comments that such a charitable model of business would limit the amount of litigation and disputes in a nation, and that it would make creditors rightly more cautious in lending (AE 9:144). See note, v 6. This model does not likely apply to today's economy since the law applied only to the "brothers" of Israel, who were connected by tribal kinship. Foreigners were not protected by this rule (v 3).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:1 grant a release. Not insist on repayment.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:4 no poor among you. See note, v 11. In the land the Lord was giving His people, there would always be plenty for everyone—old and young, sick and healthy. It was God's will that His people would harvest and use the produce of the land in a charitable manner, and that the people's strict obedience to God's commands would alleviate poverty. bless. See p 842. inheritance. See "portion," p 7.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:6 lend. God was not absolutely opposed to credit-based business. you shall not borrow. Such a rule would protect the Israelites from being dominated financially, which could open the way to cultural and religious domination by the idol-worshiping nations.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:7–11 It was sinful to ignore a brother in need. This teaching is taken up in the NT. See notes, 1Tm 5:8; Gal 6:10.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:7 not harden your heart. See notes, Ex 4:21; 9:12. People were forbidden from willfully refusing to help the poor.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:10 God's people should not hoard wealth as a source of security. Instead, God called the wealthy to trust that He would always provide bountifully for them through their work and their business dealings; He called them to live out this trust in freely sharing with those in need.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:11 never cease to be poor. People, through no fault of their own, would be vulnerable to falling into poverty (e.g., the elderly, the sick, widows and orphans, and refugees).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:12–14 In order to find a way out of poverty, God's people in need could sell themselves into slavery to their fellow Israelites. This, however, could only be for a limited time (up to six years), and upon release, poor workers were to receive enough to sustain themselves independently (so as not to have to resell themselves into slavery).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:14 blessed. See p 842.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:15 redeemed. See p 843.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:16–18 Describes how an Israelite could voluntarily enter into lifelong slavery. This possibility is envisaged as happening when a master and slave have established a mutually beneficial (even caring) relationship. The master or mistress of the slave would be obliged to receive the person as a slave and so be responsible for their care and provision.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:19 The Israelites consecrated the firstborn male to God as a reminder that He provided all their livestock (12:6; Nu 18:17–19).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:21 Only the best was fit for sacrificing to God and for sharing in religious celebration. The people's sacrifices were not intended to be offerings made in order to placate God's wrath. Rather, God provided them with the best animals, which were used for making them clean from guilt and for feasts.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:22 See p 300.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Ch 15 Since the Lord would generously provide for His people, He commands them to be generous with one another. Today, the existence of poverty in the Christian community is a scandal, and the cry of those in need in any community goes up before the Lord. In the Church, you have brothers and sisters given to you by God. This means that you can always be confident God will provide for you when you are in need, and that you can help others knowing that God will give you more than enough to live life to the full. • Gracious Father, grant me wisdom in caring for my brothers and sisters in Christ. Since You have adopted me in Holy Baptism, help me give and receive in ways that honor You. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:1–17 All males were to appear at the sanctuary for three annual pilgrim feasts: Passover (vv 1–8); the Feast of Weeks, or Pentecost (vv 9–12); and the Feast of Booths (vv 13–15).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:1 Abib. See calendar, p 262; see also pp 200–201.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:2 at the place. In Egypt, the Passover was celebrated in homes. In the wilderness, it was celebrated in tents clustered around the tabernacle. Now Moses directs them to celebrate the Passover at a central location to maintain solidarity, since they will be living in various parts of Canaan. See note, Jsh 5:10.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:3 God's people ate hastily prepared unleavened bread at the first Passover, when they were readying to flee from the distress of captivity in Egypt (Ex 13:3–16). The NT takes up the imagery of unleavened bread as a symbol of purity and deliverance from evil (1Co 5:6–8).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:6 time you came out. After the first Passover, God's people were sent out of Egypt at night (Ex 12:29–32).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:7 go to your tents. To the places they were staying while they were gathered together for the festival and away from their own homes.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:8 solemn assembly. See note, Lv 23:3.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:1–8 At the Passover festival, the people would remember the way God delivered them from slavery in Egypt. Today, if we forget all that God has done for us, we fall back into sinful actions and habits. Without God's help, we find ourselves suffering the distress and affliction of slavery to sin. Our Lord Jesus has given us His body and blood to make Himself present with us and to deliver us from evil. As we celebrate the Lord's Supper "in remembrance" of Jesus, we receive the freedom from sin that He alone gives. • Lord Jesus, remember me in Your kingdom, and deliver me from all evil. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:10 Feast of Weeks. So named because Moses commanded a seven-week interval (v 9). Known also as the Feast of Harvest (Ex 23:16) and "day of the firstfruits" (Nu 28:26). Later it was called Pentecost based on the LXX translation of "fifty days" (Lv 23:16).

See p 1835. freewill offering. See note, Ex 35:29. Made in addition to the required tithe. blesses. See p 842.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:9–12 God commands His people to remember their blessings and to share from their bounty with those in need. When God has given us much, He asks much from us (Lk 12:48). By sharing what God has given you, you show your trust in His generosity. He also promises through Jesus, the Savior, that you will receive many times more than you give, in this age and in the age to come (Lk 18:18–30). • Father, since You have given me so much, give me also Your Holy Spirit so that I may be generous to all who suffer need. In Jesus' name. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:13 seven days. From the 15th to 22nd day of the seventh month of Tishri (Sept/Oct). Cf Ex 23:14–17; 34:22 (Feast of Ingathering); Lv 23:33–44; see pp 200–201.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:14 An exhaustive list of everyone who would dwell in the land, with special mention of those who were economically and socially vulnerable and those who could have been viewed as outsiders with no right to participate in feasting.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:15 bless. See p 842.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:16 all your males. Men acted as representatives for their families; all the people of the land were included as participants in the times of celebration.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:13–17 The Feast of Booths includes foreigners, who are also called to celebrate God's gracious provision of the harvest. God gives blessings to all, even to those who are not His people (Mt 5:43–48). If we refuse to show God's generous love to other people, our behavior is no better than that of unbelievers. The fellowship we have in Christ with people "from every tribe and language and people and nation" (Rv 5:9) is God's great blessing to us. Together we experience the true unity that comes from access to God's grace in Christ Jesus. • Lord Jesus, thank You for giving me brothers and sisters from every tribe and language and people and nation! Grant us joy together in the Gospel. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:18–20 God commands impartial justice throughout the land.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:18 appoint judges and officers. Levitical priests and judges heard difficult cases at special locations (17:8–13). See p 228. tribes. Settled in specific regions. See map, p 365.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:19 The judges and officers were to be blind to the status of those coming before them for judgment; the poor were not to expect partiality, or the rich, deference. On the other hand, the judges and officers were to have their eyes open to the law and to beware of bribes that would blind them to seeing the true legal standing of the disputants in a case. righteous. See p 843.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:18–20 God commands impartiality in judges because He is Himself impartial in judgment (Rm 2:11). In this we stand warned: there will be tribulation and distress for all who do evil, including those within the household of God. Yet God shows His righteousness in judgment by leading us in faith to receive His mercy and forgiveness in Christ Jesus. • Lord Jesus, all my hope is in You, because You are my righteousness, my peace, and my joy. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:1 abomination. See notes, 13:14; 15:21.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:4 inquire diligently. The people had an obligation to confirm whether rumors about transgression of the covenant were based in fact. In this way, even the rumor of idolatry would be suppressed. See application note, Jsh 22:10–34. abomination. See notes, 13:14; 15:21.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:5 The people were not to tolerate idolatry in the land. The punishment was severe regardless of the offender's gender.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:6 two … three witnesses. Safeguard against false accusations made out of desire for revenge or personal gain. See p 217.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:7 The accuser was also responsible for the execution of justice. There could be no anonymous denunciations. See note, Jn 8:7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:21–17:7 God forbids all forms of false worship even as He provides for instruction in the truth. We did not choose God, but He chose us (Jn 15:16). We can be rightly confident that He will keep us in true faith and lead us through death to eternal life. • Thank You, Lord Jesus, for choosing me to be Your disciple. Keep me in true faith so I may do those things that are pleasing to You. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:8–13 Outlines the course of action when legal issues could not be decided locally (cf 16:18–20). Levitical priests had a prominent role in judging crimes. The decision of the Levitical priests, in conjunction with that of the presiding judge, was to be final. Chem: "[This] is not speaking of the doctrine which has been commanded or of the dogmas of the faith or religious controversies, but of ceremonial and civil matters" (LTh 2:709).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:10 Chem: "They were bound to the law of the Lord, and if they judged contrary to this, their decision was null and void" (LTh 2:710).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:12 Chem: "The duties of the priests were, first, to teach concerning the Law and to answer questions about it; to judge and settle controversies; Lev. 14:35; Deut. 17:9; Mal. 2:7; second, they were to pray, Lev. 4:20; Num. 15:25; third, to make sacrifices and offerings, Lev. 24:4; and fourth, to cleanse, Leviticus 14" (LTh 2:345).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:8–13 Difficult legal cases require special consideration, and the people are to respect the decisions. When the Law of God convicts us, we must not seek to escape judgment by trying to gain other people's approval for our sinful actions. God gives His judgment through the Law to drive us to repentance (Rm 3:20) so that we may receive salvation from sin in our Lord Jesus. • Lord, let me hear Your word of judgment so that I may place my hope not in the opinion of sinful human beings, but in Jesus Christ, my Lord. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:15 God gives a concession (not a command) that His people may have a king, but the process for choosing a king would be the Lord's prerogative (cf 1Sm 9:1–10:27). One from among your brothers. The king must be an Israelite.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:16 The king's power was limited. He was forbidden from having many horses because that would mean the unnecessary buildup of military forces.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:17 many wives. The king was forbidden from having many wives. Monogamy was God's original plan for human beings (Gn 2:8–25; see note, Gn 4:19), and polygamy often leads to further evils (cf 2Sm 11–12). A harem would also invite the possibility of idolatry with the introduction of foreign, idol-worshiping wives into the court of Israel (cf 1Ki 11). excessive silver and gold. The king was forbidden from imposing burdensome taxes and forced labor on the people (cf 1Ki 12).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:18 write for himself. The king must be literate and well instructed in God's Word. The king was personally accountable to God and the people on the basis of the teaching handed on by Moses. approved by the Levitical priests. Unlike the kings of foreign nations, the kings of Israel would not be lawmakers but lawkeepers. The Levitical priests would ensure that the king would not introduce his own laws but would submit to God's Law. Chem: "The duty of the ruler is to see that the people 'live in honesty,' that is, they are to establish and defend external order and not tolerate anything in conflict with it. The ruler must establish discipline … let him rule according to the Decalog" (LTh 2:400–401).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:19 all the days. See note, Ps 1:2. fear the LORD. See p 1001.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:20 Unlike Pharaoh or the other kings of the surrounding nations, the kings of Israel could not consider themselves descended from the gods, with special powers to make absolute laws. Instead, God called His kings to uphold His Law. lifted up. Prideful, considering himself above the Law.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:14–20 God gives His concession, allowing His people to have a king, but only on certain conditions. Note well the focus on God's Word in this description of a good and godly king. God's Word will similarly bless, equip, and strengthen you for faithful service. • Lord, Your instruction shows me the way of life and love; keep my heart always open to Your teaching. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:1 Unlike the other tribes of Israel, the Levites' inheritance is not to be a territory but portions of the peoples' offerings (cf Lv 7:28–36). Cf Dt 12:19 for an exhortation not to neglect the Levites. See "portion,"p 7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:2 Cf Nu 18:20.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:5 minister. Hbr sharath, "attend," "wait on." The work of the tabernacle and the rationale for the Levites' special treatment: they were chosen out of all Israel to minister before the Lord in His name for the people. They were the mediators between Israel and the Lord. Cf 10:8; 21:5.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:6–8 Levites residing elsewhere in Israel were permitted to come to the tabernacle as they desired to serve the Lord (cf Nu 3:5–4:49). (It is unclear whether this refers to a temporary or permanent change in location—perhaps both.) They were to be given equal portions with the regularly serving priests, even if they had other sources of income (sale of ancestral property, inheritance, etc.). Luth: "God commanded this to exercise their faith and love, that they might learn to share their substance gladly, persuaded by the sure faith that they would be supported by God" (AE 9:174–75).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:8 patrimony. Likely refers to a source of income that is not to affect his service or share of the offerings.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:1–8 Though the Levitical priesthood will not have an inheritance of land that will provide their sustenance, the Lord Himself will be their inheritance. They are to share in the offerings that are brought to the Lord. Today, we are not to neglect the physical needs of those who serve the Lord among us, for "you shall not muzzle an ox when it is treading out the grain" (25:4) and "the laborer deserves his food" (Mt 10:10). Cf 1Co 9:9–14; 1Tm 5:18. God provided for the needs of the Levitical priests through the gifts of His people. So also today, God's people are moved by His grace in Christ Jesus to support those who labor among them, especially in preaching the life-giving Gospel of Jesus. • Lord God, help us to give "double honor" (1Tm 5:17) to those who faithfully labor among us in Your vineyard, calling us to repentance with Your holy Law and uplifting us with the mercy, forgiveness, and life that are ours in Christ Jesus, our Savior. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:9 Techniques for invoking occult powers are prohibited. Following such abominable practices as other nations would be a rejection of the Lord, the sole source of truth and power, who provides His people with legitimate priesthood (vv 1–8) and prophecy (vv 15–22). See note, Pr 6:16.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:10–11 Prohibited abominable practices include all types of divination, magic, and consulting with the spirit world. "All such people place their heart and trust elsewhere than in the true God" (LC I 12). burns his son or his daughter. May refer to a nonlethal trial-by-fire ordeal (see ESV note) or to child sacrifice, such as to the false god Molech. See note, 12:31; cf 2Ki 3:26–27. divination … fortunes … omens. Various means to discover the course of future events or the will of the gods. See notes, Gn 30:27; 44:5. sorcerer … charmer. Using magic to supernaturally influence people or events. medium … necromancer … inquires of the dead. Cult of the dead or conjuring up spirits of the dead and consulting with the spirit world, esp to have the future revealed (cf 26:14; see note, 1Sm 28:8).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:12 Not only the practices but also anyone who engages in them is an abomination to the Lord. This is why God's judgment stood against the Canaanites and the Israelites would dispossess them of the land (v 14).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:13 blameless. Hbr tam, "complete" or "sound," in this case indicating faithfulness to the covenant conditions of fellowship with the Lord. Such undivided commitment would lead to blessedness and remaining in the land. See note, Jb 1:1.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:14 Unlike the Canaanites, who conduct their affairs by listening to sorcerers and diviners, Israel is to conduct its affairs in conformity with the word of the prophets (cf v 15). Luth: "All these—since they are human inventions without the Word of God—must be condemned among the people of God, whose life and works must be governed by the sure Word of God" (AE 9:176).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:9–14 As Israel enters the Promised Land, they will be exposed to the influences of the false, occultist worship practices of the nations surrounding them, which they are to avoid. The people are faced with a great challenge: will they remain faithful to the Lord, or will they desert Him? Today, consider to whom you will listen. As parents lovingly protect their children by warning, reminding, and encouraging them, so our gracious God comes to us in His Word, warning us of snares and pitfalls, reminding us of our relationship to Him as His beloved children, and encouraging and comforting us with the assurance of His love and forgiveness. • Lord God, give me an undivided heart that I may always honor Your name and be Your witness to others, a city set on a hill, whose light cannot be hidden (Mt 5:14). Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:15 prophet. Israel would have a succession of prophets resembling Moses in function, declaring the Word of Lord. See pp 1081–83. like me. Moses here describes a prophet having a unique relationship with the Lord, one no other prophet enjoyed (34:10; Nu 12:6–8). Jewish commentators expected the coming of a new Moses. Luth: "This is the chief passage in this whole book and a clearly expressed prophecy of Christ as the new Teacher. Hence the apostles also courageously adduce this passage (Acts 3:22–23; 7:37)…. Here Moses clearly describes his own end, and he yields his mastery to the Prophet who is to come…. Here he prophesies that Christ will be true man and will come from the blood of the Jews, because salvation is from the Jews (John 4:22). No one has ever arisen from this people who taught a different word from the word of Moses and set up a new ministry except this one Christ of ours" (AE 9:176, 180).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:16–18 Precedent for making prophecy the means for God's communication with Israel (cf 5:22–29). Israel felt the fear of sinners faced by a perfect, holy God and His demands, so they asked Moses to be the one who met with God on their behalf and brought His Word to them.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:17 The Lord acknowledged the appropriateness of their request.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:18 I will put My words in His mouth. The true prophet speaks only God's Word (cf Jer 15:16; Ezk 2:9–3:3; 1Pt 1:10–11; 2Pt 1:19–21). See note, Nu 12:6; see also p 1081–83. Cypr: "Concerning [the prophet,] Christ says in the Gospel according to John: 'Search the Scriptures, in which you think you have eternal life. These are they which testify concerning Me…. For if you had believed Moses, you would also believe Me' " (ANF 5:512). Chem: "When minds have in this way been prepared and crushed by the Law [v 15], then God explains and repeats His promise about raising up another prophet and about another kind of teaching, namely the Gospel" (LTh 2:464). all that I command. Wide variety of subjects: religion, domestic affairs, and foreign affairs. When the prophet speaks, the Lord speaks (Ex 4:15–16).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:19 require it of him. To obey the prophet's words was to obey the Lord's words. To ignore the prophet's word would lead to divine judgment. The Lord made no similar declaration about the orders of an Israelite king.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:20 Two types of prophecy are punishable by death: falsely attributing a prophecy to the Lord, and speaking in the name of other gods.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:22 If a prophet speaks in the name of the Lord, a record of reliability must be established: what the prophet says will or will not come to pass (cf 1Sm 3:19–20). If not, he has spoken falsely. They were not to be afraid of a false prophet's power or be afraid to punish him; such a prophet was a fraud and could not harm them (a true prophet apparently could; 1Ki 18:20–40). Luth: "Those who come in the name of strange gods are those who come without the Scriptures and the Word of God but use their own spirit as a pretext" (AE 9:187–88). See notes, 1Jn 4:1–3.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:15–22 Criteria for identifying false prophets and false prophecy are given. God will provide a source of revelation to communicate with His people: He will send a line of prophets that will culminate in the great Prophet promised here, the Lord Jesus Christ. God's Word is holy and is to be treated as such. Neglect of His Word, denial of His Word, adding to or subtracting from His Word, or twisting His Word are all sin. God graciously desires to speak to us to give to us what we cannot live without, the Word that has the power to bring us to repentance (Rm 3:20, Law), make us alive to eternal life (Rm 1:16, Gospel), and keep us in the truth (Jn 8:31–32). • "Lord, keep us steadfast in Your Word; Curb those who by deceit or sword Would wrest the kingdom from Your Son And bring to naught all He has done." Amen. (LSB 655:1)

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Ch 19 Cf Nu 35. Civil laws regarding homicide, unintentional (vv 4–10) and intentional (vv 11–13); movement of boundary markers (v 14); and perjury (vv 15–21).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:1–3 God establishes cities of refuge: three in the Transjordan (4:43) and three in Canaan after the conquest (v 2). Next of kin would seek blood revenge for a death, and these cities of refuge would ensure due process for the accused, preventing an injustice. They were to be evenly distributed throughout the land so no one would be at a disadvantage. According to Nu 35:6 and Jsh 21:13–36, the six cities of refuge were Levitical cities.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:4–6 kills … unintentionally. An accident with no prior hatred. Capital punishment is not deserved, and a city of refuge would prevent the injustice of an angry avenger striking down the offender. Luth: "Whatever the offense has been, the heart rather than the hand of the offender is to be considered…. If the heart is innocent of hate, the deed is innocent of murder" (AE 9:193–94). avenger of blood. See notes, Nu 35:12; 1Ki 2:31.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:8–10 God had promised, on condition of the peoples' fidelity to the covenant, that their land would be enlarged (11:22–24). If that happened, three more cities of refuge were to be added to help ensure that innocent blood would not be shed in their land. If innocent blood were shed, the guilt of it would be shared by the community.

According to Jgs 2:20–3:4, God revoked the promise of enlarged territory due to Israel's disobedience. However, Israel did expand greatly under David and Solomon. See color map 3. Cf 32:35; Ps 94:1–2; Rm 12:17, 19 for God's vengeance.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:9 walking. See p 7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:10 inheritance. See p 7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:11–13 Deliberate, premeditated killing is different (on account of hate), and such a murderer cannot abuse a city of refuge by claiming protection there. This crime, once determined, must be punished.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:12 hand him over. The elders of his city (see note, Ex 3:16) would demand his extradition and hand him over to the avenger of blood (see note, vv 4–6) for execution after conviction. so that he may die. Same verb is used of the victim (v 11); thus the punishment fits the crime (see note, v 21).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:13 There shall be no mercy for this crime. Shedding of innocent blood was a stain on Israel that had to be removed for their well-being. After all, the Lord dwelled there, and the land was not to be defiled (Nu 35:34). Luth: "Here [vv 11–13] you see that vengeance is assigned to the government" (AE 9:195). Cf Rm 13:1–5.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:1–13 God gives statutes covering both unintentional and intentional killings. God has given life—all life, from conception on—and reserves the right to take it. No individual can presume to take life into his or her own hands: "You shall not murder" (5:17). God has given us our own "city of refuge" to which we may flee when the guilt of sin threatens to overwhelm us: His grace in Christ Jesus, whose innocent blood was shed for sinners. There you will find free and full forgiveness—the guilt is purged away! • Almighty God, give to us a respect for all life as a sacred gift from You, no matter how small, no matter how feeble and frail, no matter how young or old. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:14 landmark. Large stone (or pile of stones) marking the boundary line of someone's property. Moving a landmark for personal gain was a serious moral offense; since the Lord gave the land, to act fraudulently was to act against Him. Jewish commentators saw this as a command against changing established practices of the elders.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:14 God gives each family of His people an allotment of land, and the property boundaries of neighbors are to respected (cf 5:19, 21). God indeed deals bountifully with us to care for our physical needs in this life, but even more so has He given us an inheritance in heaven, secured for us and marked out by Christ Jesus! • Lord God, let us not become enamored by the things of this life but rest secure in the knowledge that You will provide for Your children's needs. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:15 single witness … not suffice. Protection against a wrongful conviction on the basis of inadequate or false testimony (vv 16–17). Cf 17:6.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:17 before the LORD. In front of the tabernacle, where God's presence resided.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:18–19 A perjurer is punished with the penalty intended for the accused. See note, v 21. purge the evil. Mel: "He wills that the wild ravings of men be held in check and be punished by the penalties imposed by their rules" (Chem, LTh 2:437).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:20 This law ensured that others would be discouraged from bringing accusations that were questionable or known to be false (cf 5:20).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:21 The law of punishment in kind (lex talionis) was merciful. It meant that the punishment must fit the crime—the degree of vengeance could not exceed the degree of original injury. This was not personal vengeance but just punishment following a trial with due process. See note, Rm 12:19.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:15–21 Laws are given concerning witnesses who bring accusations against others, and safeguards concerning them are given to ensure justice. God calls us to deal with one another with integrity, being faithful witnesses for the protection of ourselves or others and never hurting others by bearing false witness against them. Holy Scripture itself is a witness that our God is just; His perfect justice is seen at the cross, where payment was made in full for sin. There, Jesus became a curse for us; the One who knew no sin was made sin for us (2Co 5:21). • Lord, joy fills our hearts at hearing that You sent Your Son to bear our sin for us and open the door of eternal life to us. We pray that Your Holy Spirit would keep us in the faith until the day of redemption. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Ch 20 Treats three aspects of conduct during war: before the battle (vv 1–9), at the siege of a city (vv 10–18), and the treatment of forests and orchards near the city (vv 19–20).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:1 When Israel crossed the Jordan into Canaan, they faced the great psychological disadvantage of confronting horses, chariots, and greater numbers of warriors (Jsh 11:4–9; 17:16; Jgs 1:19). But when faced with superior numbers and equipment, they were not to fear but to be mindful of the Lord and His mighty deed of delivering them from Egypt (cf Ex 14:26–28; Jgs 4:13–16). Luth: "What walls, what arms, what powers, what multitude will resist those for whom God fights?" (AE 9:202). with you. See "be with," p 5.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:2–4 Priests remind the people that the Lord will go with them into battle to fight for them and give them the victory.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:5–8 There are two classes of exemptions from military service: humanitarian situations and those of simple unsuitability for service (those who lack courage).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:9 Israel had no standing army at this time, but a militia was mobilized when needed.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:10–18 Two different cases of warfare are addressed here: besieging a distant city (vv 10–15) and besieging a city in the land Israel is to possess (vv 16–18).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:10–11 Israel is to offer peace (Hbr shalom), with terms of surrender and a promise to spare the city and its inhabitants if they agree to serve Israel. If peace is accepted, the inhabitants are spared and put to forced labor. See notes, Jgs 1:28; 1Ki 5:13, 15. The city becomes a vassal of Israel.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:12–14 If peace is rejected (v 10), then a siege is mounted. All males are put to death, and all women, children, and plunder are taken as Israel's possessions. God's orchestrating of the victory is taken for granted. (Cf 21:10–14 for restrictions on treatment of captives.)
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:15 Cities outside the Promised Land were treated differently because they posed a different threat to Israel's well-being (politically and spiritually).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:16–17 Cities within the Promised Land were not offered the option of surrender but were to be utterly destroyed.

This was the Lord's command. Cf 2:34. See "portion" and "devote to destruction," pp 7, 6.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:18 The influence of the wicked could (and did) lead Israel to forsake the Lord. The Israelites were instruments of the Lord's judgment against the wicked Canaanites (9:4–5). Luth: "Therefore He wants the Jews [Israelites] to proceed against the Gentiles, not with the greed of the avenger or the lust of the sword but in obedience to His command, that they may fulfill His wrath against those godless people" (AE 9:204).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:19–20 A warfare ethic: the purpose of war was not to destroy the land; i.e., there was to be no scorched-earth policy. Only trees without fruit were to be cut down for siege purposes (battering rams, towers, walls, ladders, etc.). The land was to be preserved for future generations (see notes, Nu 23:3; Jsh 17:15; Jgs 9:48).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Ch 20 God gives statutes governing warfare. God's moral will is not to be suspended but is to guide and direct our actions, even in matters of war. In the face of danger, God encourages His people with the promise of His presence and the assurance that He fights for them to give them the victory. We, too, have been given the promise of our Savior's constant presence with us, even on the battlefields we tread. In your struggles, call on Him, for He has promised grace, wisdom, and every blessing in your hour of need. • Lord Jesus Christ, clothe us, we pray, with the whole armor of God that we may stand firm in every assault and never lose sight of Your victory on our behalf at the cross and empty tomb. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:1 slain. Hbr "pierced." Placed the people and the land under blood guilt, so atonement was necessary (cf 19:4–13; Nu 35:33).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:2 Civil authorities determined the closest city to the slain victim, whose elders would then undertake the legal procedure described in vv 3–8.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:3–4 heifer … valley … water. All were undefiled by human use and therefore appropriate for sacred use.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:4 break the heifer's neck. Either ritual atonement or judicial execution; perhaps both. This method was used on the firstborn of impure animals not able to be sacrificed (cf Ex 13:2; 34:20). This action may point to a symbolic, substitutionary execution of the guilty.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:5 minister. See note, 18:5. Those who minister to the Lord become involved, conducting the prescribed liturgical rubrics. They exercise final judicial authority. bless. See p 842.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:6–7 See note, v 4. Twofold action by civil authorities from the city. First, they wash their hands, symbolically expressing their innocence. Second, they verbally testify to their innocence and pray to the Lord for forgiveness for Israel (v 8), the basis of which is the grace of God, who had redeemed Israel before.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:8 atonement. See p 5. Your people. Spoken twice to emphasize that the whole nation, not just the city nearest the slain person, needed absolution due to collective responsibility for bloodshed in the land.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:1–9 The Lord provides a sacrifice for an unsolved murder. He emphasizes the value of human life by describing the atonement that must be made for it. In satisfying His divine justice, God sent His own Son into this world to make the expiatory sacrifice, the atonement, for our lives on the cross of Calvary, there shedding His lifeblood for the guilt of our sins. • Lord Jesus Christ, as You alone are the sacrificial Lamb of God who takes away the sins of the world, accept our heartfelt repentance for our sins. Wash us in Your blood and clothe us in Your righteousness. We pray in Your holy name. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:10–14 These stipulations for marrying female captives ensure their appropriate moral treatment and consideration for their feelings.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:11 Taking a foreign wife from outside the land was permitted. Cf 20:10–15.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:12–13 See note, Nu 31:18.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:14 If marriage under these circumstances did not work, divorce was permissible. Cf 24:1–4. However, this wife was legally protected. God wanted Israel, in contrast to the nations around them, to treat women with respect and dignity. See "Standing of Women," p 213.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:10–14 Israel is given laws governing the marrying of female captives. God expects Israel to act differently than the world around them. God has established marriage for the good of men and women. The model for this union is that of the Bridegroom, Christ, with His Bride, the Church. For her, He gave Himself up unto death and applied the benefits of His death and resurrection to her in Holy Baptism. We the baptized, the Church, thus stand before God without spot or blemish as the Bride of Christ! • Lord God, as You have created us male and female and instituted marriage to be an intimate blessing to us, lead us to love and respect one another and keep the marriage covenant undefiled through our loving Bridegroom, Christ Jesus. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:15 two wives. See note, Gn 4:19.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:16 Regardless of the father's feelings for his wives, the firstborn is to be at no legal disadvantage in the inheritance.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:17 Firstborn's share of inheritance was to be double according to ancient custom in Israel (cf Gn 27; 48:14). Nuzi documents (fifteenth century BC) have a similar ruling. firstfruits of his strength. God's first gift and blessing, who then has preferential treatment in the family and greater responsibility. Cf Ps 127–28.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:15–17 The inheritance rights of the firstborn are safeguarded. God assures fair treatment and proper inheritance, which helps stabilize family life. Since He gives all things to us by grace, there is no basis for rivalry based on our merits. In Christ Jesus, we are assured of an inheritance imperishable, undefiled, and unfading, kept in heaven for us! • Lord God, for Your undeserved goodness to us, we give You our thanks. You have made us to be partakers of the inheritance of Your Son, our Lord Jesus Christ, Your only-begotten Son, the firstborn from the dead. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:18–21 Upholding parental authority was necessary for the stability of the family and community (see note, 5:16; cf Mk 7:10). The offense here is one so serious that it would threaten the stability and continuity of the covenant community. However, parents did not have the right to kill their children but had to bring them before the authorities, which protected children against capricious punishment by parents. On authority in Israel, see p 228.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:20 glutton and a drunkard. Examples of behaviors that could lead to this offense.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:21 Though there are no examples in the OT of this sentence being carried out, this law emphasized the seriousness of the offense. The intent of this law was not to rehabilitate but to cleanse the community and deter evil.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:18–21 Persistent and utter rebellion against parental authority is covered by a law that demands capital punishment if there is no repentance. God demands that the integrity of the family be maintained by honoring fathers and mothers as His representatives to their children. To despise one's mother and father is to despise God Himself and threaten the well-being of the larger community. God is our heavenly Father, who has given us a new birth to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, making us members of His household. • Keep me, dear heavenly Father, from despising or angering my parents and other authorities. Lead me by Your grace to honor, serve, obey, love, and cherish them, through Jesus Christ, whose perfect obedience as a Son has won my forgiveness and salvation. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:22–23 To deter crime, ancient Near Eastern cultures would often display the corpses of executed criminals by hanging or impaling them publicly as a visual statement that justice was upheld. See note, 1Sm 31:10; cf 2Sm 4:12; 21:8–9.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:23 a hanged man is cursed by God. See "curse," p 6. The body was accursed on account of the capital crime. The NT uses this verse to describe Christ's work for us! He became sin for us (2Co 5:21), was publicly hanged on a tree (1Pt 2:24), and was accursed and forsaken by God for it (Mt 27:46). Just: "[This curse] confirms our hope which depends on the crucified Christ, not because He who has been crucified is cursed by God, but because God foretold that which would be done by you all, and by those like to you, who do not know that this is He who existed before all, who is the eternal Priest of God, and King, and Christ" (ANF 1:247). inheritance. See "portion," p 7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:22–23 Executed criminals are not to be left hanging but must be buried the same day. They are cursed by God and will defile God's gift, the land of promise, which God had hallowed. God gave Israel and us the gift of a Savior, His Son, who was hung on a tree to redeem us. He hallows us from the curse of the Law by becoming a curse for us. • Lord Jesus Christ, save us from the curse of our sin. Move us to fix our eyes on You as we persevere through this life until You at last grant us deliverance. In Your name we pray. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:1–4 One's brother is anyone in need, friend or enemy!
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:1 Stray animals were a common problem in an agrarian society. The Lord requires positive action to restore a neighbor's lost livestock. ignore them. Lit, "hide oneself," i.e., try to avoid the inconvenience or expense of helping.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:2 Obligation held, even if the brother was distant or unknown.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:4 See notes, vv 1, 2; the situation is different, but the mandate is the same.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:5 Male and female are visibly distinct. Wearing the other's clothing gives the appearance of reversing God's natural order. (Such practices likely involved homosexuality or foreign cults.)
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:6–7 Legislation unique to Dt protects the potential future food source rather than allowing an immediate short-term gain.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:8 Roofs in ancient Near East were flat and used for drying and storing produce, socializing, and sleeping in warm weather. See note, Jsh 2:6. Negligence in providing a low restraining wall or railing around the edge of the roof would amount to homicide if someone fell from it and died.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:9–11 These three laws forbidding the mixing of dissimilar items served as object lessons reminding the people that they belonged to the Lord and were to be separate from the surrounding nations with their false gods and abominable practices.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:10 The ox was ritually clean, but the donkey was unclean (14:3–8). They are also of differing sizes and strengths, so this law protects the weaker.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:11 See note, Lv 19:19.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:12 tassels. Characterized priestly clothing and reminded Israel that they are to strive to become "a kingdom of priests and a holy nation" (Ex 19:6). Also a clear reminder to keep the Lord's Law as a response to His saving them from bondage (Nu 15:39–40).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:1–12 God gives a variety of laws governing brotherly love, maintaining distinctions in the created order, and keeping Israel unto Himself. Love is the fulfilling of the Law in both our relationship to God and to one another. Our Savior, Jesus, did not come "to be served but to serve, and to give His life as a ransom for many" (Mt 20:28). It is in His serving us, atoning for all our sins, and opening for us the door to heaven that we are set free from concern for self and are enabled to turn our attention to serving others (cf Jn 13:34). • Praise be to You, O God, for setting us apart in this world as new creations in Christ. Strengthen us through Your means of grace to keep us ever in the faith and to be servants to our neighbors and witnesses of Your love in Christ to all. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:13–30 Cf Lv 18; 20:10–21.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:13–15 hates her. Rejects her, accusing her of premarital unfaithfulness. evidence. Sheet or garment marked with blood from the night the marriage was consummated.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:18 He is degraded by whipping for defaming the girl and her family.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:19 fine him. Levied because the man's accusation would have forced his bride's father to return the bride-price. Severe and public punishments would prevent slanderous charges. she shall be his wife. The man loses his right to ever divorce the woman, which is really a protection for her.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:21 her father's house. Where she was under his authority.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:22 Adultery (consensual intercourse between a married person and someone other than that person's spouse) was a crime (5:18) and punishable by death. It was destructive to the social order, defiled the land, and had to be purged (cf Lv 18:20, 24–30). The Code of Hammurabi (c 1728–1686 BC) ruled that adulterers were to be bound and thrown into a river.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:23–29 These laws do not always clearly cover the difference between consent and force (rape).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:23–24 Betrothal makes this woman another man's wife (a ruling also found in the Code of Hammurabi). The crime is thus adultery and punishable by death (see note, v 22). With no evidence that she cried out for help, it is presumed to be consensual sex, and both are guilty of a capital crime.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:25–27 Differs from vv 23–24 in that the man seizes the woman and her cries cannot be heard.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:25 seizes her. Implies rape.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:28–29 See note, vv 25–27. Since the woman is not betrothed, there is no adultery and hence no death penalty. The man is punished by a bride-price. See note, Gn 34:12. not divorce her. Thus providing for the woman and any child from this union.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:30 Cf Lv 20:11. uncover his father's nakedness. Adultery with a stepmother. To "cover" was a metaphor for taking a woman in marriage, thus this man uncovers his stepmother's nakedness and invades the marital relationship. Occasionally, sons tried to take the headship role by having sexual relations with their father's concubines (cf Gn 35:22; 2Sm 16:22; 1Ki 2:21).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:13–30 Laws are given concerning marriage, promiscuity, adultery, rape, and incestuous adultery. These laws protect individuals, the integrity of the family unit, and the social stability and purity of the nation. Our God has blessed us with the institution of marriage to provide family, companionship, and a God-pleasing outlet for sexual desire. Such an intimate union is in fact a reflection of the oneness God establishes with us through faith in the relationship of the Church (the Bride) with Christ (the Bridegroom) who "gave Himself up for her" (Eph 5:25). • Lord Jesus Christ, keep us faithful and pure that our lives and marriages may honor You. Where we have fallen, forgive us our sins, enable us to forgive one another, and restore us by Your grace to wholeness. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:1–8 Heritage and identity were passed on through the father, who was circumcised as a member of the assembly of the Lord or who lived outside the boundaries of that covenant (cf Gn 17:1–4). The prohibitions here are focused on males. Women and girls could be assimilated into Israel more easily, as various examples show (Nu 31:18–20; Dt 21:10–14). However, note the issues raised by marriage with foreign women described in Ezr 9.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:1 Likely refers to voluntary self-mutilation that could be identified with paganism—the sign of submission to another god. assembly. Hbr qahal. Convened to officially transact business (war, crowning a king, adjudicating legal cases, parceling land) and for worship.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:2 forbidden union. Likely refers to a son from incest, from a cult prostitute, or from a mixed marriage with certain foreigners (e.g., Philistines, Ammonites, Moabites). to the tenth generation. Forever. See p 217.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:3–6 Permanent prohibition from the assembly for male descendants of Moab and Ammon who were living in the land of Israel as resident aliens.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:5 curse … blessing. See p 6.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:7–8 Those covered by this command were not to be treated as unclean forever. abhor. Hbr is from the same root as "abomination" and is used generally of ritual uncleanness.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:1–8 The regulations given here prohibit certain nations from entering and taking part in the assembly of Israel. Other foreigners are to be treated more leniently. The worship of God is a serious matter (cf Ps 51:17). Today, all who approach Him with broken hearts are received by Him, for "now in Christ Jesus you who once were far off have been brought near by the blood of Christ" (Eph 2:13). • Lord Jesus Christ, blessed Savior of all, thank You for reconciling me to God, making peace between us through the blood of Your cross, and for inviting me to Your "assembly," Your Church, to partake of Your life-giving gifts. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:9–14 During a military campaign, the soldiers were to keep the camp ritually clean (e.g., toilet facilities were to be kept outside the camp and excrement covered up). The purpose is hygienic but also relates directly to the presence of the Lord walking in the camp (v 14).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:9 evil thing. Apparently not morally evil, but unclean and unbecoming.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:10 nocturnal emission. Perhaps simply urination (not necessarily a parallel to Lv 15:16).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:14 deliver. See p 842.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:9–14 When Israel was at war, the Lord's presence among them was to be recognized and respected by keeping the camp holy, free from anything unclean and unbecoming. Since God is always with us, we dare not live as though He is not present or in ways that would dishonor Him. In Christ, we are assured that His love, forgiveness, and grace are always present and that He stands with us in our daily life as our sure defense. • O Lord God, thanks and praise to You that, as the new Israel, we are Your people, whom You save, sanctify, and grant ultimate victory. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:15–16 Escaped slaves from foreign countries could settle wherever they wished in Israel (all Israel was to be considered a sanctuary). They were not reduced to slavery again in Israel. Israel's covenant relationship with the Lord prohibited extradition treaties with foreign powers.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:17 cult prostitute. Lit, "holy one." Pagan religions among Israel's neighbors employed religious prostitutes for the fertility rituals of their deities.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:18 wages of a dog. Possibly indicating worship of foreign gods; see note, Lv 1:2; see also ESV note. abomination. See note, Pr 6:16.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:19 Loans were made to alleviate poverty, but a fellow Israelite's need was not to become an opportunity for another's gain (cf Lv 25:35–36). Ambr: "Is it not a wicked thing to demand under the guise of kindly feeling a larger sum from him who has not the means to pay off a less amount?" (NPNF 2 10:70). brother. Fellow Israelite.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:20 foreigner. Likely in Israel as traders and merchants. bless. See p 842.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:21–23 vow. See p 7. Cf Ec 5:5. See note, Nu 30:2.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:24–25 God demands charity and hospitality but protects the owner from being taken advantage of. Such an attitude of charity and hospitality toward others is also expected of NT believers (cf Rm 12:9–13; Gal 6:10; Heb 13:2; Jas 2:14–18; 1Pt 4:8–11). See note, Gn 18:4.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:15–25 Miscellaneous laws encourage love for God and compassion for others. God's moral Law governs all our behavior and relationships. To transgress any part of His Law is to place ourselves at odds with Him, to sin against Him, and to incur His wrath. However, "we love because He first loved us" (1Jn 4:19), as He demonstrated in the exodus of Israel and in the cross of His Son. • Lord God, help me to show my thankfulness by a reverent and cheerful obedience to Your will and by a steadfast trust in Your loving-kindness and unfailing mercy, through Jesus Christ. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:1 some indecency. Lit, "nakedness"; suggests indecent exposure, not adultery, for that would be punished by death. Luther condemned this perversion: "If one took a fancy to another's wife, he might declare any reason both to dismiss his own wife and to estrange his neighbor's wife from him, so that he might get her in a way that appeared right. That was not considered a sin or a disgrace among them" (LC I 295). writes. Israel's leadership was likely literate, but the general population probably was not. See pp 1081–83.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:4 The Law prevents frivolous divorces, since the wife could not return to her first husband. abomination. See note, Pr 6:16. All forms of sexual impurity are disgusting to the Lord. inheritance. See "portion," p 7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:1–4 Jesus explained that Moses only allowed laws about divorce because of "hardness of heart" (Mt 19:8). Israel's hardness of heart made it necessary for Moses to give divorce laws despite all the laws about family and morality that the Lord had already given through Moses. Yet, in all circumstances, the Lord does not simply tolerate sin but calls people to repent and to have their hearts changed by His Word of grace. • Lord, teach us to pray with David, "Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me" (Ps 51:10). Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:6 Women usually ground meal with a mill and baked bread each day. Taking a family's mill would threaten people's lives. pledge. Security for a loan that a lender demanded of the borrower (cf vv 10–13, 17).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:7 Kidnapping for the purpose of selling someone into slavery was widespread in the ancient Near East.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:8 As I commanded. Hus: "He who commands ought only to command things in agreement with the law, and the person obeying ought to the same extent to obey them and never act contrary to the will of God Almighty" (The Church, p 194).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:10–11 Shows consideration for someone forced to borrow. The borrower has the right to select what pledge he chooses to give, not the lender (see note, v 6).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:12–13 Should a poor person offer his cloak as security for a loan, the lender was required to return it by nightfall. See note, Am 2:8. righteousness for you. See p 843. Chem: "To give a pledge back to the poor is certainly a good and righteous work, and yet it is not such a work that—if measured by the rigorous standard of the Law—would merit the title of 'righteousness.' … Hence, because the person has already been justified, the term 'righteousness' has already been assigned to him" (LTh 2:646).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:14 sojourners. See note, Ex 23:9.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:16 put to death for his own sin. Cypr: "Every one is himself held fast in his own sin; nor can one become guilty for another" (ANF 5:334).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:18 remember. Motivation for showing justice and love to the unfortunate (cf v 22). redeemed. See p 843.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:19–22 Unripe or overlooked grain, olives, and grapes were to be left behind to show compassion for those who were allowed to glean for food (cf Ru 2:1–7). Care for the poor still required the poor to work.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:19 bless. See p 842.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:2 See note, 19:21.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:3 Restraint on the one meting out punishment, which protected the humanity of both.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:4 God's Law shows concern not only for the poor, the widow, the stranger, and the criminal, but also for animals. See pp 822–23; cf Hos 10:11. Paul cites this compassionate law as proof by comparison that Christians ought to financially support ministers of the Gospel (1Co 9:9–14).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:5–25:4 These miscellaneous laws protect the weak from the strong. Jesus may have had some of these laws in mind when He taught the Golden Rule: "Whatever you wish that others would do to you, do also to them" (Mt 7:12). Luther picks up on this loving concern for one's neighbor in several of his explanations to the Commandments (see pp xxxv–xxxvi). When we examine our words and actions, we must confess our failure to love our neighbor as we love ourselves. Thanks be to God for His compassion toward us! His Son loved us more than Himself, and He died for our sins. • Precious Savior, move me to love others more and more because of Your great love for me. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:5 Some of Israel's neighbors also followed this practice. Except in the situation described here, such a marriage to a close family member was forbidden (Lv 18:16; 20:21).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:6 See note, Gn 38:8.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:7 gate. See p 792. elders. See note, Ex 3:16. See also p 228.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:9 These symbolic actions express utmost disdain, a public ritual of disgrace. See note, Ru 4:8.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:10 This family nickname would perpetuate the memory of a brother's loveless action.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:5–10 The man who refused to marry his brother's widow lacked God's gift of love. He cared for his own interests, not his brother's. God calls us to live and act differently: in love. How very different is our Savior, who cared not for His own interests but for the interests of us all and has chosen the Church as His beloved Bride. • Dear Jesus, Your sacrifice leads me to sing, "Love so amazing, so divine, Demands my soul, my life, my all!" Amen. (LSB 425:4)
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:11–12 The harsh punishment compensates for the crime of a scandalous attack on a husband's opponent (see note, 19:21).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:13–16 The last of the civil and criminal laws recorded in Dt. Such dishonest business practices were persistent and widespread in biblical times. See note, Pr 11:1. Mel: "The lazy and wasteful are all thieves, for unless they take from someone else they cannot sustain their laziness and costly habits" (Chem, LTh 2:417).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:16 abomination. See note, Pr 6:16.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:17–19 Amalekites were descendants of Esau (Gn 36:9–12) who lived south and east of the Salt Sea. The Lord's judgment (Ex 17:14) is against Amalek because of their attack of Israel at Rephidim during the exodus. As Israel is about to enter the Promised Land, the Lord reminds them of this obligation (cf 1Sm 15; 30:16–20).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:11–19 People in every society sin by taking unfair advantage of one another. Such behavior stirs the Lord to anger. He therefore authorizes Israel to blot out the memory of Amalek. God must address all sin by punishment, atonement, or forgiveness. Only because Jesus bore our punishment can we escape God's wrath and receive full pardon for our sins. • Lord Jesus, may Your goodness lead me to be an instrument of justice and fairness in the world. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:1–11 land … Lord … giving. These words recur repeatedly. The ritual offering of firstfruits reminded the individual worshiper that the Promised Land is God's gracious gift and is to be received with joyful thanksgiving.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:1 inheritance. See "portion," p 7.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:2 make His name to dwell there. See note, 1Ki 8:18; see also "name," p 843.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:5b–10a This brief recital of Israelite history is similar to a creed or liturgy. As the Israelites offer the firstfruits of the land, they remember their ancestors, who had been landless and suffered countless hardships in Egypt before the Lord finally delivered them. The worshiper's concluding words, addressed directly to the Lord, confess that this firstfruit offering is a gift from Him. See p 1835.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:5 wandering Aramean. Reference to Jacob (Israel), who spent 20 years in Aram working for his uncle Laban and later moved to Egypt with his 12 sons.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:6 In Egypt, the Israelites worked as slaves and had no land they could call their own.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:9 land flowing with milk and honey. See p 6.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:12 The Lord commanded both an annual tithe and a third-year tithe (14:22–29).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:13 Individual Israelites were required to verify to the Lord that they had paid their third-year tithe by speaking these prescribed words. I have not transgressed. This assertion of innocence refers to the proper payment of the tithe, including following the ritual restrictions (v 14).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:15 Declaration closes with a prayer for blessing on the people and the land. See "bless," p 842. flowing with milk and honey. See p 6.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:16 commands … statutes … rules. See p 971.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:17–18 Moses first reminds the people of their solemn declaration to the Lord and then of His declaration to them (Ex 19:3–8). declared. The Hbr verb form used here suggests a very formal and intense declaration of covenant loyalty. walk. See p 7. ways … statutes … commandments … rules. See p 971.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:18 treasured possession. See "portion," p 7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:19 holy. See p 7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Ch 26 God's grace to Israel is celebrated as they are reminded of deliverance from slavery in Egypt, the gift of land, and being a holy people chosen as the Lord's treasured possession. Also described is Israel's response in the offering of firstfruits, the payment of the tithe for the sake of the needy, and a promise to keep the Lord's command. Like Israel, our joyful response is to serve the Lord with good works. Baptism celebrates God's grace to us: deliverance from the slavery of sin, the promise of an inheritance in God's heavenly land, and being declared a saint even now. • Lord, accept my heartfelt thanks for Your grace, which strengthens me to walk in Your ways. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:1 elders. Since Moses would not be crossing over the Jordan, the elders, along with Joshua, would be responsible for spiritual leadership in the future.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:2 large stones … plaster. This method of preparation and writing is well attested in the ancient world and is typically Egyptian in technique. See note, Nu 22:5.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:3 flowing with milk and honey. See p 6.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:4 Mount Ebal. North of Shechem, opposite Mount Gerizim. See color map 2.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:5–6 altar … uncut stones. Specially constructed of field stones to celebrate the occupation of the Promised Land and the renewal of God's covenant with His people. Archaeologists have found cut stone altars at Dan and Beersheba, which were likely used for pagan sacrifices. In the 1980s, archaeologists excavated a site on Mount Ebal that may have contained a large altar and courtyard, which was compared to Joshua's altar (Jsh 8:30). The interpretation of the site remains disputed.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:1–8 The Lord's command regarding Mount Ebal emphasizes the importance of God's written Word and God's desire that His people respond joyfully with sacrifices of praise. He encourages us to treasure His Word rather than the words of humans. Thanks be to God that He has given us the Word made flesh to save us from the word of the Law by the word of blessing in the Gospel. • Move me, Spirit of God, to sing from the heart: "How precious is the book divine, by inspiration giv'n! Bright as a lamp its teachings shine to guide our souls to heav'n. Amen." (LW 332:1)

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:9–10 The priests added their voices to that of Moses in admonishing all Israel to keep God's command.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:9 become the people of the LORD. Reference to the covenant renewal reported in 26:16–19.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:10 commandments … statutes. See p 971.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:12–26 Levites shall declare. Since the tribe of Levi is included with those who bless the people (v 12), the curses spoken by the Levites in vv 15–26 must be distinguished from those mentioned in v 13.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:12 bless. See p 842.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:13 curse. See p 6.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:15–26 These specific sins largely correspond with sins more generally forbidden in the Ten Commandments. All these sins are also condemned in other OT laws. Cursed. God's curse is the sole penalty imposed on those guilty of the sins described in these verses. Such a curse from God on a person or thing (such as a house; cf Zec 5:4) was understood to have destructive power. See p 6. Amen. This affirmation of agreement is equivalent to pronouncing the curse on one's self, with one's own mouth. See p 1901.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:16 dishonors his father or his mother. Cf Ex 21:17, which mandates the death penalty for anyone who curses his parents.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:17 neighbor's landmark. Marking the property line. See notes, 19:14; Gn 28:18.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:20–23 his father's wife … his sister. Appears to refer to one's stepmother and half sister. Mention of these sexual sins is an indication that such immorality existed in the surrounding cultures, and perhaps even in Israel.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:24 Such secret murder might go unpunished by authorities, but God's curse remains.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:25 Anyone who accepts payment to commit murder, but does not carry out the crime, is still cursed.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:26 Whoever fails to keep a law is cursed.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:9–26 The old covenant promised blessings to those who kept God's Law and curses to anyone who did not (cf Gal 3:10). To say "Amen" to God's law is not enough. God demands perfect obedience (Jas 2:10). Israel broke the old covenant with their sins, as does everyone (cf Jer 31:31–34). But Jesus Christ is the mediator of a new covenant. His death redeems us "from the transgressions committed under the first covenant" (Heb 9:15). The remedy for sin's curse is to believe with Luther that "this is our highest comfort, to clothe and wrap Christ this way in my sins, your sins, and the sins of the entire world" (AE 26:279). • Holy Spirit, comfort me with the sure knowledge that Christ has removed sin's curse. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Ch 28 Luth: "Just as this chapter is the longest, it is also the easiest; for it contains nothing but a heap of blessings and cursings" (AE 9:267). Ancient covenants typically included curses on those who broke the covenant. Critics have argued that the curses (e.g., regarding exile) prove a late date for Dt, around the era of Israel's and Judah's exiles under Assyria and Babylon. However, such curses are known from the early second millennium BC (e.g., documents from Mari and the Code of Hammurabi [c 1728–1686 BC]), which have numerous curses in common with the list here. This chapter does not teach the way to eternal salvation. Rather, earthly blessings are promised to God's chosen people for obeying His voice. Such blessings come to us believers as well, for "good works have merit, not for forgiveness of sins, for grace, or for justification (for these we receive only through faith), but for other rewards, bodily and spiritual, in this life and after this life" (Ap V 73).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:1 today. Israel is in the land of Moab, about to enter Canaan (cf vv 13–14; 29:1).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:2 Unimaginable blessings will catch up with and overflow to the Israelites if they obey, but curses will come if they do not (v 15). blessings. See p 842.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:3–6 Blessed. Repeated six times to emphasize the reward for obedience. See p 842. Cf vv 16–19, where the word "cursed" is repeated for the same six items.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:5 kneading bowl. Wide, shallow bowl for preparing bread dough.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:6 when you come in … when you go out. Refers to a person fulfilling daily responsibilities, possibly carrying out military actions (cf 31:2).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:7 Image of enemy's unity of attack and disarray of retreat. Victory over neighboring nations is one of the blessings held out to Israel (vv 1, 10). seven ways. See p 217.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:9 holy … walk. See p 7.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:10 they shall be afraid of you. Neighboring nations will avoid attacking Israel for fear of defeat (v 7). See note, Jsh 2:9.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:12 Heaven is pictured as having a storehouse of water from which the Lord pours down rain (cf 11:11). lend … not borrow. Israel would be blessed with a favorable balance of trade. Cf 1Ki 10:14–25.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:13 Israel will be prince among the nations, rich in produce, strong against her enemies, if only they will obey the command of the Lord.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:1–14 The Lord presents the blessings connected with the covenant; the curses will be described next. Threat and promise, Law and Gospel, are the ways of God with humankind. Here, the blessings seal the renewal of the covenant, and the curses that follow anticipate the need for the new covenant, sealed in the blood of Christ, which was shed for our blessing and pardon. • Heavenly Father, You have richly blessed me with all I need for daily life. Give me a thankful heart and a desire to serve You and my neighbor. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:15–68 After Moses describes the blessings that would result from obeying the voice of the Lord (vv 1–14), he depicts in vivid language the punishments for disobedience. Specific sins are not named (as in 27:15–26), but rather these curses would fall on Israel for forsaking the Lord (v 20). There are several general categories of punishments: bodily afflictions; mental anguish; family disruptions; loss of crops; defeat in war, including the besieging of towns and the resulting cannibalism. The ultimate curse will be the destruction of Israel as a nation (vv 20, 24, 45, 48, 51, 61, 63; also note the words "perish," "ruin," and "consume"). The curses outnumber the blessings four to one. "The old Adam, like an unruly, stubborn ass, is still a part of them [believers]. It must be forced to obey Christ. It not only requires the teaching, admonition, force, and threatening of the Law, but it also often needs the club of punishments and troubles. This goes on until the body of sin is entirely put off [Romans 6:6] and a person is perfectly renewed in the resurrection.

Then he will need neither the preaching of the Law nor its threats and punishments, just as he will no longer need the Gospel. These belong to this imperfect life" (FC SD VI 24).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:15 curses. See p 6. overtake. See note, v 2.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:16–19 Cf vv 3–6 for corresponding list of six blessings.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:21 pestilence stick to you. General term describing a lingering, severe epidemic. See note, Ps 91:3.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:22 Afflictions affecting people and cropland. See note, Ps 106:15.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:23 bronze … iron. Bas: "It threatens him with a complete drought" (NPNF 2 8:70).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:25 Reverse of v 7, which describes Israel as victorious in battle.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:26 your dead body shall be food. To be denied burial and have one's body consumed was an ultimate curse in the ancient world. Cf Is 66:24.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:27 boils of Egypt … cannot be healed. Sixth of 10 plagues that befell Egypt will strike Israel even more severely.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:28 madness. Physical afflictions bring on psychological disorders.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:29 no one to help you. Similar descriptions of abandonment are found in vv 26, 31.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:30–32 Demise of a household (cf Ex 20:17). Ordered and tranquil life is displaced by utter futility and helplessness (cf v 51).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:30 betroth a wife. Betrothal more or less equals the relationship of marriage (see note, Hos 2:19; cf 2Sm 3:14).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:32 eyes look on and fail with longing. Like the idiom "to cry one's eyes out."
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:33 nation that you have not known. God's agents for inflicting punishment on Israel will be powerful foreign nations like Assyria and Babylon.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:34 See note, v 28.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:36 king. Moses had earlier spoken of Israel's future king (17:14–20). serve other gods of wood and stone.

Because Israel failed to serve the Lord (v 47), they would be forced to serve idols (v 64) and their enemies (v 48).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:37 Illustrated in destructions of Jerusalem. Israel would become a horrible object lesson of what happens when a nation fails to serve the Lord.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:38–40 Reverse of blessings promised in vv 11–12a. Labor will be in vain. Cf vv 30–32, 51.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:41 captivity. Assyrians and Babylonians would eventually lead into captivity young and old alike.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:43–44 The foreigners residing in Israel (cf 24:14) would come to have the upper hand. The blessings in vv 12b–13a would be radically reversed.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:45 pursue. Intensifies the threatened destruction for failure to obey the Lord's voice. See note, vv 15–68.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:46 a sign and a wonder. See note, Ex 3:20. forever. There will never come a time when the descendants of Israel will forget that sin is punished.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:48 yoke of iron. Common metaphor to express submission to foreign rule.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:49 eagle. Or, vulture, which frequented the battlefields. Symbolized an enemy's power and speed in warfare. language you do not understand. Israel's conquerors would speak a foreign language. See notes, Is 28:11; 1Co 14:21–22.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:50 hard-faced nation. With armies noted for brutality.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:53–57 Possibly the most gruesome scenes in the Bible. Moses does not mince words when warning about the consequences of divine judgment.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:55 A note of ultimate desperation.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:58 fear this glorious and awesome name. God's name is synonymous with God Himself and for this reason must be revered. Cf 12:5, 11, 21; 14:23–24. See "name," p 843.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:59 afflictions. Lit, "blows"; sometimes translated "plagues."
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:60–61 diseases of Egypt … affliction. Israel is threatened both with Egypt's plagues and with diseases not previously described.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:62 stars of heaven. Abraham's offspring were to be as numerous as the stars (Gn 15:5). few in number. As when Israel went down to Egypt (cf 26:5).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:63 plucked off the land. Even before Israel enters the Promised Land, they are warned of possibly being pulled up as one tears a weed from the soil.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:65 Vivid portrayal of one with cried-out eyes (v 32), feeble and fearful, in dread of what might come next (vv 66–67).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:66 Cyr Jer: "It was Life, which hung on the Cross" (NPNF 2 7:87). Leo: "In the crucified LORD they could think of nothing but their wicked deed, having not the fear, by which true faith is justified, but that by which an evil conscience is racked. But let our understandings, illumined by the Spirit of Truth, foster with pure and free heart the glory of the cross which irradiates heaven and earth, and see with the inner sight what the LORD meant when He spoke of His coming Passion" (NPNF 2 12:172).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:67 Sights of destruction provoke feelings of dread.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:68 The children of Israel had earlier been forced to serve as slaves in Egypt. Now, their desire to sell themselves as slaves will fail. So dreadful is God's curse.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:15–68 Moses forcefully details the dreadful consequences of disobeying the voice of the Lord God. These punishments would not be the result of the natural cycles of history. Moses repeatedly identifies the Lord as the One who sends the curses. The message is clear: "God threatens to punish all who break these commandments. Therefore, we should fear His wrath and not do anything against them" (SC, Close of the Commandments, p xxxvi). St Paul reminds believers that the things that happened to Israel are examples for us (1Co 10:6). Although we trust in Jesus for the forgiveness of sins and eternal salvation, as sinners, we still need the preaching of the Law. Praise God, who always provides for our needs, speaking the truth to us in love—the harsh truth and the healing truth in Christ. • Help me, loving Savior, to treasure both Law and Gospel as I travel the way that leads to eternal life. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Ch 29 At Horeb (Sinai), Moses had been the mediator of a covenant between the Lord and Israel (Ex 24:3–8). Now, 40 years later, this covenant is renewed in Moab as the people are about to enter the Promised Land. This new generation replaces the one that died in the wilderness (Nu 14:22–35). Luther points out the importance of renewing the covenant, "lest [the new generation] think that the Law given to the fathers did not apply to them, and that they could disregard it" (AE 9:271). See p 127.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:4 Israel lacked spiritual insight. This verse supports the teaching that the Holy Spirit "opens the mind and heart to understand the Scriptures and to listen to the Word" (FC SD II 26). People are spiritually blind until they have been enlightened by the Holy Spirit, though they may also resist Him. See note, Eph 1:18. heart. Chem: "The Hebrews absolutely do not have in the Scriptures a word with which to designate the seat of knowledge, namely, the brain, but locate knowledge and intellect in the heart" (LTh 1:230).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:5–6 Moses is quoting the Lord, who revealed Himself to Israel by His providential care throughout their 40 years in the wilderness. See note, Ex 20:2.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:8 inheritance. See "portion," p 7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:10–11 Comprehensive list emphasizes that all Israel is bound by the covenant requirements, including the resident foreigners who labored among them.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:12 enter into the sworn covenant. Lit, "cross over into the covenant guarded by oath." Cf vv 14, 19; see p 127; see also "vow," p 7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:13 Existing covenant was ratified, and God confirmed that Israel was His people, based on His sworn promise to the patriarchs (26:18–19).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:14 sworn covenant. See note, v 12.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:15 whoever is not here. Future generations on whom the covenant conditions would also be binding.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:18 Moses issues a strong warning, both to individuals and groups, against the sinful worship practices of other nations. Idol worship is compared to a root that grows into a plant producing fruit of bitter poison. The sinful action of a few spreads poison throughout the entire people (cf 1Co 5:6).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:19 walk. See p 7. stubbornness. Smug attitude betrays a false sense of security. moist and dry alike. Likely proverbial; when punishment comes, both good and bad will be swept away. Community health depended on each individual.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:20 Lord will not be willing to forgive him. Jesus also teaches about an unforgivable sin (cf Mk 3:29). This Israelite's spiritual arrogance (v 19) warranted a similar harsh verdict. jealousy. See note, Ex 20:5.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:21 curses. See p 6. Book of the Law. Likely part or all of Dt. Cf 28:58; 30:10; 31:24, 26.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:22–28 land. Key word in these verses.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:22–24 Long and involved sentence poses two questions that "your children," "the foreigner," and "all the nations" might ask after observing the devastation of the land of Israel.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:23 the whole land burned out with brimstone and salt. Reminder of what happened to Sodom and Gomorrah, but may also refer to the practice of conquerors spreading salt on the soil to make it infertile. Admah … Zeboiim. Cities named along with Sodom and Gomorrah as being in the Valley of Siddim (Gn 14:2–8).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:25 covenant. See p 127.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:28 uprooted … cast them into another land. What would happen to Israel for serving other gods.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:29 secret things. Lit, "hidden things." Mysteries that only God knows. See notes, Rm 11:33, 34. revealed. God clearly revealed the words of His Law to Israel at Horeb and in Moab for them and their children to do.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Ch 29 In this farewell speech, Moses emphasizes several important truths: the Lord's gracious care for every Israelite, the responsibility of each person to abide by God's covenant, and the certainty that anyone who turns away from the Lord will be punished. Individual responsibility is highlighted. Though there are spiritual mysteries, God has revealed what each one of us needs to know for eternal salvation, from our helplessness because of our sins to the sending of His Son to suffer and die to save us from these. • Lord, thank You for revealing to me the way of salvation. Grant me a bold heart to share this blessed truth with others. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:1 Moses admonishes the Israelites to reflect on the blessing and the curse by faith in God and so interpret what has taken place. Cf 1:32–33. blessing. See p 842. curse. See p 6. call them to mind. Not a shallow mental reflection.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:2 return to the LORD your God. Phrase underscores both Israel's repeated unfaithfulness and the unfathomable depth of the Lord's grace and compassion. Cf 4:30 for the function of the Law in confronting rebellious Israel with the recognition of their apostasy. Without the Gospel—without God's grace—Israel was incapable of returning. all your heart and with all your soul. Recalls the commandment in 6:5 (repeated in 30:6, 10). In the Sermon on the Mount (Mt 5–7), Jesus explains that just as sin begins in the heart and manifests itself in the bodily members, so does righteousness wrought by God's grace. Each bears fruit, whether bad or good (Mt 7:16–20).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:3 History of God's people Israel illustrates His plan of salvation. In His holiness, God punishes Israel's disobedience not as an end in itself but to teach that salvation comes only from the one true God—the God who made His covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. In permitting His chosen people to fall away and realize the consequences of their disobedience, God demonstrates both His absolute intolerance of sin and His mysterious love for humankind. The Holy Spirit, through the Law, drove the hard-hearted children of Israel into contrition; they confessed their sin and recognized that they could not save themselves. He then made their hearts tender by bringing the message of salvation through the promised Messiah. See pp xxxi–xxxii. compassion. See "mercy," pp 842–43.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:4 uttermost parts of heaven. Hyperbole underscores dispersion of Israelites through future invasion and captivity. Years later, Nehemiah reminded God of His covenant and the promise He made to gather His scattered people (Ne 1:4–9).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:5 God's covenant with Abraham and his offspring included the promise of land (Gn 17:8).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:6 circumcise your heart. Reinforces the theme that faith begins in the heart with the gracious work of the Holy Spirit through the Word, and manifests itself in obedience to the one true God. Jeremiah described the new covenant that God would make with His people: God Himself, with no assistance from humans, would write His Law (torah) on their hearts (Jer 31:31–34). Likewise, Ezekiel prophesied how God would restore His people, with no assistance from humankind (Ezk 11:19–20; cf Ezk 36:25–29; Rm 2:28–29).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:7 When God's chosen people trust in God alone, He protects them from their enemies. Cf Ps 54:6–7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:8 Living in daily contrition and repentance, obedience to God proceeds from faith and constitutes the fruit of faith. Cf Heb 11:6.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:10 See p 971. this Book of the Law. Probably refers to something more than the Decalogue, possibly the statutes described in chs 12–26, since 4:13 makes specific reference to the Ten Commandments.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:1–10 Moses, approaching the end of his life, reviews God's covenant relationship with the Israelites. God gives His Law to His people, not as a legalistic code, but to establish their holiness. However, the people fail miserably to walk in holiness of life and repeatedly commit apostasy. Moses taught them, and teaches us, that a relationship with God means a circumcision of the heart, i.e., faith rooted in the heart and soul. Such faith lives in obedience to the one true God, who gathers and blesses His people. • Holy Spirit, circumcise our hearts through the Word so we cling to Christ in faith and walk in obedience to the Father. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:11 this commandment. Cf v 8; 6:5–6; see p 971. A commandment derives its force from its source, in this case, God Almighty. This commandment summed up all of the commandments Moses taught the people: to love the Lord your God with all your heart. not too hard. It is not beyond one's grasp to understand. Those with circumcised hearts—i.e., those who believe—will understand.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:12–14 It. The commandment in 6:5–6. No one will have to search for it; the Lord God, the source of the commandment, will Himself place it in the heart and mouth of His people. Cf Am 8:11–12.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:15 life and good, death and evil. Just: "God spoke thus to the man first created [, Adam]" (ANF 1:177). God's ways with humankind thus always remain the same (see pp xxxi–xxxii). Daniel would describe how Israel brought down on themselves the curse of death and evil by departing from God's Law—the whole Word of God (Dn 9:11).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:16 ways … commandments … statutes … rules. Each suggests a different emphasis. See p 971.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:19 heaven and earth to witness. God informed Israel that His whole creation was summoned to testify that He had told His people in advance what the results of their choice would be: it was a matter of life and death. choose life. On the basis that God had chosen them and established a covenant relationship with them based upon grace. See p 127. Chem: "These statements must not be understood as applying only to the concerns of this life, for in Luke 10:25ff., when the scribe says, 'What shall I do to gain eternal life?' Christ replies, 'What is written in the Law … this do and you shall live' " (LTh 2:620).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:20 holding fast to Him, for He is your life. The Spirit of God, who breathed life-giving breath into Adam, breathes life-giving breath into His people through His Word. Cf Ezk 36:22–28. Iren: "Preparing man for this life, the Lord Himself did speak in His own person to all alike the words of the Decalogue [Ten Commandments]; and therefore, in like manner, do they remain permanently with us" (ANF 1:482).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:11–20 The Lord's declaration to His people to choose life is inseparable from His covenant of grace that He established with them. Israel's history clearly demonstrates that they spurned the life God had reserved for them through His grace, pursuing death instead. Consequently, by rejecting God's grace, they rejected the length of days God promised to those who love the Lord, walk in His ways, and keep His commands. • Heavenly Father, we pray for forgiveness, for all too often we pursue the way of death and evil rather than life and good. Forgive us for the sake of Christ, who perfectly obeyed Your commands and died for our sins. May Your Holy Spirit work mightily within our hearts. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:1–2 Moses did not have God's permission to lead the people any further. Cf 3:23–28; 32:51–52.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:3 Moses asserts that the Lord God Himself, the real leader of Israel, would not only enter the Promised Land with the Israelites but would go before them and destroy their enemies.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:4 Sihon. See notes, 1:4; 2:26–37. Og. See notes, 1:4; 3:1–22.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:6–7 Be strong and courageous. See note, Jsh 1:6. Phrase forms thematic underpinnings of Joshua's inauguration as Moses' successor and indicates that when Israel crosses the Jordan, the people would face the certain prospect of numerous military campaigns (cf vv 7, 23).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:8 He will not leave you or forsake you. Because of His covenant of grace He made with their forefathers. Cf Mt 28:19–20; Jn 14:18.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:1–8 Moses' introduction of Joshua as his successor begins with acknowledging God's judgment on his own disobedience, which disqualified him from entering the Promised Land. Yet, God in His mercy would go before His covenant people, destroy their enemies, and cause them to inherit the Promised Land. Because of the covenant of grace God made with His people, He would not leave them or forsake them. • Heavenly Father, when I feel alone and afraid, remind me that You will never leave me or forsake me. Revive me with the strength and courage that comes from Your Word. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:9 gave it to the priests. God directed priests to serve as custodians of the Law and to ensure that it was read at regular intervals. See note, Lv 10:11. elders. See note, Ex 3:16. See also p 228.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:10 the year of release. Lv 25:23–34 lists provisions for redemption of people, property, and possessions in observance of the Year of Jubilee, a year of liberty. The Lord directed His people to observe the seventh year—the sabbatical year—as a year of rest for the entire land (Lv 25:1–7). See p 206. Feast of Booths. Dwelling in booths for seven days commemorated how the Israelites dwelled in booths when the Lord delivered them out of the hands of the Egyptians (cf Lv 23:42–43). See calendar, p 262.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:11–13 The Lord established the frequency, time, and location for the public reading of the Law. Everyone traveling with Israel was to assemble for the reading. Cf Jsh 23–24.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:13 their children. Provision to teach children the ways of the Lord constituted an indispensable element of the people's response to God's covenant of grace (cf 6:7). See note, Pr 1:8.

Luth: “It is the duty of every father of a family to question and examine his children and servants at least once a week and to ascertain what they know, or are learning from the catechism. And if they do not know the catechism, he should keep them learning it faithfully” (LC, Short Preface, 4).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:9–13 Israel could have no relationship with the Lord God apart from His Word. Israel’s very existence depended upon the Lord. In response to His grace, Israel was to engage in regularly reading the Law and instructing future generations about the one true God, who led them through the wilderness to the Promised Land. • Let Your Holy Spirit dwell mightily within my heart that I do not forsake the path of faith and thereby be disqualified from entering the eternal promised land. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:14 God’s direction signaled the transfer of authority from Moses to Joshua. See note, 34:9.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:15 cloud. See note, Ex 40:34.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:16 whore after the foreign gods. In Hos 1:2; 2:1–23, God illustrated Israel’s spiritual condition of chronic infidelity by commanding the prophet Hosea to marry a prostitute to symbolize how Israel committed spiritual adultery through their idolatry. covenant. See p 127.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:17 I will forsake them. When God’s people forsake Him, He will forsake them. The full force of the Father’s fury that sinful human beings deserved fell upon His own Son at the cross (cf Mk 15:34).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:19 song may be a witness for Me. Another witness against the people if they should break the covenant. See note, 4:26; see also p 127.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:20 flowing with milk and honey. See p 6. grown fat, they will turn. Israel would forget that God is the source of their fatness, i.e., their abundance (cf Is 1:4). Rather than glorifying the one true God for opening up the windows of heaven and showering blessings upon them (Mal 3:6–12), they would turn to other gods.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:21 unforgotten in … their offspring. Ironically, children would remember this indicting song and convict Israel. Similarly, it is mere children, with their song of “Hosanna to the Son of David,” that both incites and indicts the chief priests and scribes during Jesus’ triumphal entry into Jerusalem (Mt 21:15–16; see note, Ps 8:2).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:22 same day. Urgency underscores the song's gravity.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:23 commissioned. Unlike Moses, Joshua expressed no reluctance in accepting this commission (cf Ex 3). Cf 2Ki 2 for the transfer of the mantle from Elijah to Elisha, Is 6 for Isaiah's call from the Lord, Jer 1 for Jeremiah's call from the Lord, Ezk 2–3 for Ezekiel's call, and Am 7:14–15 for Amos's description of his call. be with. See p 5.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:24–29 Records the stinging message Moses delivered, along with the presentation of the written Law (vv 9–13). Reinforces 30:14.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:24 to the very end. Identifies the author and that the written Law would be completed in its entirety.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:25 Levites. Descendants of Levi, the Levites were substituted for the firstborn among the people of Israel and performed duties pertaining to the worship of the one true God (cf Ex 6:16–25; Lv 10:11; 25:32; Nu 3:11–13; 35:2–8; Dt 10:8; 17:18).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:26 Book of the Law. Not just Dt. See pp 274–76. by the side. Ex 25:22 identifies the ark of the covenant as the place where God would instruct Moses regarding the message he was to deliver orally to Israel. The placement of the written Word by the side of the ark indicates to those assembled that the written Word will be just as authoritative as if it were delivered orally by Moses and then orally passed within each household (cf Dt 5:23–33; 6:6–9; 11:18–20). God's oral Word, heretofore communicated through Moses, is now God's written Word.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:27 even today … rebellious. Suggests that Moses, even in the face of impending death, enjoyed no respite from Israel's rebellious behavior and was judging breaches against the Ten Commandments.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:28 elders. Leaders who themselves fomented rebellion (e.g., Nu 12–14; 16). See note, Ex 3:16. heaven and earth to witness. See note, 30:19.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:14–29 As Moses focuses on his impending death, he identifies Joshua as his successor and God's Word as a lasting authority. Moses puts the Israelites on notice that the words he has just finished writing, i.e., the Book of the Law, is just as authoritative as the words he had spoken to them in the past because God was the author of both the oral and the written Word. Employing the Law, Moses prophesies that Israel will be unfaithful. Yet, he also encourages Joshua to be strong and repeats God's promise that He will bring them into the Promised Land (31:23). • Lord God, heavenly Father, let Your Holy Spirit so work in my heart through faith in Christ that I never disregard Your Word but hold it sacred and gladly hear and learn it. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:30 spoke … this song. Hbr expression likely refers to singing.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:1–4 Both a confession of faith in and an exaltation of the one true God. Chem: "The works which God performs in Himself (per se) are holy and perfect, … since God is without any iniquity, He is just and righteous. But those things which the Holy Spirit works in our body of sin and death in the regenerate, these things the Spirit Himself affirms are imperfect because of our flesh which has not yet been completely destroyed, Rom. 6:6" (LTh 2:341).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:4 Rock. See p 843. perfect. Hbr tamim, "complete," "sound." Iren: "God recapitulated [brought together] in Himself the ancient formation of man, that He might kill sin, deprive death of its power, and vivify man; and therefore His works are true" (ANF 1:448). ways. See p 844. justice. See p 842. faithfulness. See p 842. upright. See note, Jb 1:1.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:5 Viewing Israel through prophetic eyes, Moses wrote this indicting song as if Israel had already occupied the Promised Land and "dealt corruptly with" the Lord. Daniel's prayer signals the fulfillment of Moses' prophecy (Dn 9). Ps 78 provides a thorough treatment of Israel's apostasy and the Lord's repeated attempts to turn them back. no longer His children. Gr Naz: "How shall we bear His convictions; or what reply shall we make, when He reproaches us not only with the multitude of the benefits for which we have continued ungrateful, but also with His chastisements, and reckons up the remedies with which we have refused to be healed? Calling us His children indeed, but unworthy children, and His sons, but strange sons who have stumbled" (NPNF 2 7:250). Cyr Jer: "Not according to nature, but according to God's grace, and by adoption, we call Him Father" (NPNF 2 7:46).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:6 created … established. "Scripture testifies that God has created human nature not only before the fall, but that it is God's creature and work also since the fall" (FC SD I 34). Iren:

"[Moses] indicates that He who from the beginning founded and created them, the Word, who also redeems and vivifies us in the last times, is shown as hanging on the tree, and they will not believe on Him" (ANF 1:474).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:7 ask your father. Elderly were esp respected because of their wisdom. The Lord God charged parents with the sacred duty of passing on the covenant history and God's acts of deliverance to their children. See notes, Dt 6:7; Pr 1:8; cf Ex 13:8–9. Jn D: "If we read once or twice and do not understand what we read, let us not grow weary, but let us persist, let us talk much, let us enquire" (NPNF 2 9:89).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:8 nations. Iren: "He did also make one race of men to dwell upon all the earth" (ANF 1:433). sons of God. In this context, the phrase signifies the tribes of Israel (Nu 26:52–56).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:9 Lord 's portion is His people. Cf Ex 19:3–6; 1Pt 2:9–10. See "portion," p 7. 1 Clem: "Our gracious and merciful Father … made us partakers in the blessing of His elect" (ANF 1:12).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:10 He found him. God found His people; they did not find Him—they were not even looking for Him (cf 7:7–8; 9:6–7).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:11 The Lord bore His people on eagles' wings.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:12 the Lord alone. There is only one true God, and He is jealous (5:6–9).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:13–14 honey … milk. Underscores God's promise to bring His people to a good land (Ex 3:8, 17; 13:5; 33:3; Lv 20:24; Nu 14:8; Dt 6:3). See "flowing with milk and honey," p 6. During their rebellion, Abiram and Eliab employed this phrase to mock Moses, thereby mocking God (Nu 16:12–15).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:13 on the high places. When God sets His people on the high places, they have security (see note, Hab 3:19), in contrast to the wicked, who presume in their pride that no one can bring them down from their high places (Ob 3–4).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:15 Jeshurun. Name for Israel derived from Hbr word for "straight" or "right," used to describe God in v 4 ("upright"). Applied ironically to Israel here, it describes how the chosen nation was to have been; instead it was "crooked." Cf 33:5, 26 for its use as a complimentary title of how Israel could be by the grace of God. V 5 intimates the use of this nickname. Cf Mt 3:3, the message of John the Baptist. 1 Clem: "Every kind of honour and happiness was bestowed upon you…. So the worthless rose up against the honoured, those of no reputation against such as were renowned, the foolish against the wise, the young against those advanced in years. For this reason righteousness and peace are departed from you" (ANF 1:5–6). Rock … salvation. See p 843.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:16 jealousy. See note, Ex 20:5.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:17–43 Since the twofold purpose of this song was to prophesy Israel's apostasy and serve as a witness against them (31:19–22), the two titles "Jeshurun" and "Rock" establish a pattern for the remainder of the song: Jeshurun, i.e., Israel (see note, v 15), forsook God, committed idolatry and abominations, and forgot God. The Rock, i.e., God, was stirred to jealousy, provoked to anger against them, would hide His face, and would stir them to jealousy by employing foreign nations to turn them back to Him.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:17 demons. Chem: "The prophets taught that men of this kind, who out of good intention had gone off on their own into their own forms of worship, were not serving God but the devil" (LTh 2:576). See note, Lv 17:7.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:18 Rock. See p 843. you forgot the God. Forgetting and remembering serve as key indicators of the covenantal relationship between God and humankind. When we forget God, we stand in danger of God forgetting us and of being cut off forever. Sinful human beings, like rebellious Israel, will forget God. God's grace is the controlling principle for the covenant and for remembrance: we are enabled to remember God's promise because He does not forget us. See "remember," p 843. gave you birth. See note, v 6.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:20 I will hide My face. Reversal of Aaronic blessing (Nu 6:24–26). faithfulness. See p 842.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:21 God's discipline would match their apostasy. He would stir them to jealousy by showing them that the gods and nations they put their faith in were not a source of good, but of evil, and were powerless to help them. no people. Aph: "The holy People [the Church] inherited an eternal Kingdom; the holy people who were chosen instead of the People [Israel]" (NPNF 2 13:360–61).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:22 depths of Sheol. Conveys the sense of the grave, the place where the dead are. See p 792.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:24–25 The Lord would provoke them to jealousy by these curses of the covenant. See note, Rm 10:19–21. plague … pestilence. See note, Ps 91:3.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:26–27 The Lord would not unleash the full measure of His wrath on Israel because enemy nations would misinterpret the Lord's act to mean that they had achieved a victory on their own. Ps 106:8 captures the essence of the Lord working judgment and redemption for His own glory.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:28 nation. Not the Israelites but the nations God selected to discipline His people.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:29 wise. See pp 775–78.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:30–35 Rather than the enemy acknowledging the one true God as their Rock and their source of life, they trusted in other gods. This aligned them with Sodom and Gomorrah and consigned them to "calamity" and "doom" at the hands of the Lord, to whom belongs vengeance. rock. See p 843.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:36 Remembering His covenant, the Lord will deliver His people. God does not desire punishment for punishment's sake but for the purposes of discipline and growth in faith (Ezk 18:23; cf 1Tm 2:3–4; 2Pt 3:9). compassion. See "mercy," pp 842–43.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:37–38 The Lord God mocks the false gods pursued by His people. Similarly, Elijah mocked the false prophets who called on the name of Baal on Mount Carmel (1Ki 18:1–40).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:39 no god beside Me. Bas: "In Scripture 'one' and 'only' are not predicated of God to mark distinction from the Son and the Holy Ghost, but to except the unreal gods falsely so called" (NPNF 2 8:117). Chem: "There is no other essence, no different essence in the Deity, than that one and only essence which has thus been revealed" (LTh 1:64). I kill … I wound. God's "alien" work (see note, Is 28:21). The Lord kills and wounds so that sinners blinded by pride might see the reality that they are wounded and dead in their sin and trust the Lord, who alone heals and makes alive. "When they are idle, negligent, and rebellious in this matter because of the flesh, He rebukes them through the Law. So the Spirit carries out both offices together: He slays and makes alive [Deuteronomy 32:39]. He leads into hell and brings up again. For His office is not only to comfort, but also to rebuke" (FC SD VI 12). Luth: "God wants us to regard the evils that we experience as coming to us with His permission…. God permits evil to come to us; for it is His will that, when we have been chastened, we cast ourselves on His mercy" (AE 13:135). none that can deliver. Aph: "My beloved, have no doubt as to the Resurrection of the dead…. Believe that in the day of Resurrection, your body shall arise in its entirety, and you shall receive from our Lord the reward of your faith, and in all that you have believed, you shall rejoice and be made glad…. When Death heard all these things, amazement seized him, and he sat him down in mourning" (NPNF 2 13:383, 402–3).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:40–41 lift up My hand. A threat to execute judgment with sword and arrows from the divine armory. hand. See p 842.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:42 My sword shall devour flesh. Bern: "Let divine fear transfix your flesh, that the desire of the flesh may not deceive you. It flatters, but under its tongue is suffering and sorrow; it weeps, but betrays" (SLSB, p 184). long-haired heads. Refers to those who brandish a sense of invincibility. Warriors styled their hair to look more fearsome.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:43 bow down. Philistine statue of the god Dagon "bowed" before the ark of the covenant (1Sm 5:1–4). all gods. Cf v 17.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:44 Joint recitation of the song validated the transfer of authority from Moses to Joshua and validated the message of the song. The one true God ordained Joshua and inspired the words of the song.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:46 Take to heart. "Where the heart is rightly set toward God [Deuteronomy 32:46] and this commandment is observed, all the other commandments follow" (LC I 48).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:47 no empty word for you. Upon completion of the song, Moses puts Israel on notice that this song is not just some clever ditty. by this word you shall live long. Illustrates the covenant of grace God established with His people. See note, Eph 6:3.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:30–32:47 Moses' song prophesies Israel's apostasy and professes the one true God. Employing enemy forces and the elements of nature, God would bring His calamity upon them. Yet, for His name's sake and in His compassion, He would vindicate His people and vanquish the enemy. • Father, I am ashamed to say that I am no better than Israel. Through Your Spirit and Word, take away my heart of stone and create in me a new heart—a heart that yearns to live with You forever. In Jesus' name I pray. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:49 Abarim. Region east of Jordan and south of Bashan; its mountains overlook the Jordan River and the Salt Sea. See color map 2. Mount Nebo. A 2,643-ft summit in the Pisgah of Abarim range in Moab. See color map 2.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:50 gathered to your people. Euphemism for death; phrase was used for Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, but not for Joseph. See note, 1Ki 2:10.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:51–52 Though Moses disqualified himself from entering the Promised Land by breaking faith with the Lord, the Lord would allow him to see it from a distance.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:51 you broke faith. See note, Lv 6:2. holy. See p 7.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:48–52 The Lord reminds Moses that he has disqualified himself from entering the Promised Land due to breaking faith with Him. Yet, in His mercy, God permits Moses to see the Promised Land from a distance. He received Moses into the eternal promised land so that he might also stand on another mountain with the Messiah during His transfiguration (Mt 17:1–13). • Father, forgive my breaking faith with You. Work mightily within my heart that I may live my Christ-redeemed life by faith in all I think, do, and say. Amen.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:1–5 Moses' blessing takes the hearers back to the moment when God gave them the Law at Sinai.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:1 man of God. Prophet. See pp 1081–83. blessed. See p 842.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:2 Seir. See map, p 60. ten thousands of holy ones. Angels (cf Is 6:1–7).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:5 king in Jeshurun. See note, 32:15.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:6–25 Moses blesses the tribes. Cf Gn 49, the blessing pronounced by Jacob upon his sons, which incorporated an acknowledgment of their transgressions. Moses' blessing on the tribes hints at their inheritance of land and the manner in which they would use or perhaps misuse their inheritance. Although Moses did not mention the tribe of Simeon by name, Simeon was not excluded from the inheritance of land in Nu 26. Jsh 19:1–9 explains how the tribe of Simeon received land in the territory of Judah. Jgs 1:1–20 records how Simeon joined with Judah to fight their adversaries. Consequently, the name exclusion may indicate the future association with Judah, participation in fighting the adversaries (33:7), and a share in Judah's blessing.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:8 Thummim … Urim. See note, 1Sm 14:39–42.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:9 I regard them not. Cypr: "Being redeemed and quickened by the blood of Christ, we ought to prefer nothing to Christ" (ANF 5:500). observed … kept. Ambr: "His trusty ones … have no deceit in their hearts, hide no treachery within them, but guard His words and ponder them in their heart, as Mary pondered them [Lk 2:19]" (NPNF 2 10:43). covenant. See p 127.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:12 dwells between his shoulders. May denote hilly slopes; in this case, may also point to the temple, which would stand on Benjamin's rocky border and would be the final place to serve as God's dwelling among His people.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:16 favor. See p 6.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:20 Blessed. See p 842.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:23 favor. See p 6. blessing. See p 842.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:24 oil. Strategic and abundant natural resource for Asher that would allow this tribe to protect its borders as if it had bars of iron and bronze (v 25).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:26 Jeshurun. See note, 32:15.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:27 underneath are the everlasting arms. No enemies would be able to rob Israel of the blessings God had in store for them, the instrument of His choice to bring salvation to a sin-cursed world. Destroy. See "devote to destruction," p 6.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:29 saved … shield. See "salvation," p 843.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Ch 33 While Moses' final blessing hints at Israel's future in the Promised Land, it ultimately points Israel beyond the physical Promised Land to the eternal promised land made possible through the Messiah. The Messiah, unlike Moses, kept faith (cf 32:51) and lived in perfect obedience to the Father. He secured the eternal promised land to prepare a place for all (Jn 14). • Father, bless me and make me a blessing to others so that I proclaim Your Word of salvation through Christ in this broken world. Amen.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 34:1–4 The Lord may have granted Moses a onetime, unlimited view of the land as well as a onetime view into the future of Israel's occupation. not go over there. Moses was allowed to stand in the Promised Land at Christ's transfiguration, however (Mt 17:1–8).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 34:1 Mount Nebo. See note, 32:49.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 34:6 He buried him. LXX takes the verb impersonally ("they buried"), and some Jewish commentators believe angels were involved in the burial. Unlike Elijah, Moses was not bodily translated into heaven. His burial by the Lord has been interpreted to mean that his lifeless body was immune to decay (cf Jude 9). Aph: "Two goodly benefits did his Lord accomplish for Moses in not making known his tomb to the children of Israel. He rejoiced that his adversaries should not know it, and cast forth his bones from his tomb; and in the second place, that the children of his people should not know it, and make his tomb a place of worship" (NPNF 2 13:378).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 34:7 undimmed … unabated. Until his death, Moses was blessed by the Lord with the stamina and vigor to lead God's people.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 34:9 full of the spirit of wisdom. Just as the Lord called Moses and the Holy Spirit sanctified him for the Lord's work through the Word, now the Holy Spirit would sanctify Joshua to lead God's people. See pp 775–78. laid his hands on him. Signified the public and final transfer of authority to Joshua. Cyr Jer: "In the days of Moses, the Spirit was given by laying on of hands…. And on you also, who are about to be baptized, shall His grace come" (NPNF 2 7:122).
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 34:10 the LORD knew face to face. Cf Ex 3:1–4:17 (esp 4:12, 16); see notes, 18:15; 31:26.
DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON Ch 34 The conclusion of Dt signals a transition in leadership from Moses to Joshua, a transition from the oral communication of the Word to the written communication of the Word, a transition from the wilderness wanderings to the eventual occupation of the Promised Land. Moses' final messages to the people include both warnings (in the words of a song) and promises (in the words of a blessing). The promises in Moses' blessing point to the One "counted worthy of more glory than Moses" (Heb 3:3), namely Christ, because while Moses was a faithful servant of God who spoke God's Word, Christ is Son of God (Heb 3:6), whom God appointed heir of all things (Heb 1:2). "For the law was given through Moses; grace and truth came through Jesus Christ" (Jn 1:17). Although Moses disqualified himself from entering the Promised Land because of his disobedience, God allowed him to see firsthand the fulfillment of all Scripture, for Moses and us, at Christ's transfiguration. • Father, when I close my eyes in death, awaken me to behold Your glory and see You face-to-face, through Your Son, Jesus Christ. Amen.

JOSHUA THROUGH ESTHER

The Books of History

Be strong and very courageous, being careful to do according to all the law that Moses my servant commanded you. Do not turn from it to the right hand or to the left, that you may have good success wherever you go. This Book of the Law shall not depart from your mouth, but you shall meditate on it day and night, so that you may be careful to do according to all that is written in it. For then you will make your way prosperous, and then you will have good success. (Jsh 1:7–8)

With these words, the Lord sets before Joshua His plan for Israel's future and the two ways that the writers of the Books of History would judge Israel's leaders and events. These historians would distinguish (1) Israel's failure to keep God's Word revealed to Moses and (2) Israel's faithfulness to God's Word. The Books of History record the consequences of condemnation under God's Law and the blessings that flow from God's gracious promises. In these two ways, God's Word through Moses anticipated Israel's life and future, the failure or prosperity that would come with sin or with faith.

Sources Cited in the Books of History

The writers of the Books of History reference numerous other collections and documents in their works. The following list is not exhaustive, but it illustrates the number and variety of the documents. There is probably duplication within the list, because the writers likely referred to the same documents by different titles.

The Book of the Law of Moses (Jsh 1:8)
The Book of Jashar (Jsh 10:13)
The Description of the Land (Jsh 18:9)

The Book of Memorable Deeds (Persian; Est 6:1)

The Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Media and Persia (Persian; Est 10:2)

Though many of these sources are lost, some of the titles listed above may be names for books of Scripture. Most significantly, there are numerous references throughout the Books of History to the "Law," which refers to one or more of the Books of Moses (the Pentateuch). This shows the continuing importance and influence that the Books of Moses played in guiding the style and themes of later writers.

The Books of History also include numerous references to letters during the kingdom period, such as the Letter to Artaxerxes listed above. Scribes may have collected these for the different kings and used them as a basis for writing comprehensive historical accounts (e.g., 2Sm 11:14; see p 1900). There are also references to oral prophecies, such as the Prophecy of Azariah the Son of Obed listed above, and chronicles, or historical accounts.

Unlike the other Books of History, Judges lacks the numerous references to other documents. However, Judges shows special interest in oral accounts of naming (1:17, 26; 6:24, 32; 10:4; 15:17, 19; 18:12), which was also of interest to Moses (see pp 3–4).

Relation to One Another in the Scriptures

Joshua, Judges, 1 and 2 Samuel, and 1 and 2 Kings were known by the rabbis as "the Former Prophets." Their writings followed the ministry and the manner of Moses, so their works naturally followed his in the Hebrew Scriptures. The rabbis placed Ruth, Esther, Ezra, Nehemiah, and Chronicles in the general category of "Writings." Editors for the Septuagint brought all these books together as a running history of Israel from the death of Moses to the reestablishment of the temple after the Babylonian exile.

Critical scholars have assumed that the theological and historical perspectives of "the Former Prophets" were shaped by a common editor, the "Deuteronomist," who interpreted Israelite history in view of the covenant blessings and curses described in Dt 27–28. Clearly, Moses' farewell sermon in Deuteronomy influenced the content and writing of these books; an editor must have brought these books together in the canon of Scripture.

However, one should note that the books of the Former Prophets were written by authors from different eras who shared a common theology of history, which they drew from Moses. For example, Joshua was written by Joshua. Judges was clearly authored before the kingdom period, and 1 and 2 Samuel date from the united monarchy. These accounts and their interests are followed by 1 and 2 Kings, which record the history of the divided monarchies down to the time of the Babylonian exile. (See chronology, pp xcii–cix.)

Aside from Ruth, which was likely written to honor the rule of David, the other "Writings" were penned after the exile and served the purpose of strengthening and reestablishing the remnant of God's people after that national crisis. Ezra, Nehemiah, and 1 and 2 Chronicles are like the Former Prophets in style, emphasizing the curses and blessings of the Law of Moses. Ruth and Esther are wonderfully plotted stories about faithful women.

History and God's People

As the size and scope of the Books of History show, history is an important field of study for God's people. St Paul wrote about the history of Israel, "Now these things took place as examples for us, that we might not desire evil as they did" (1Co 10:6). The stories of the Israelites stand in Scripture like sermon illustrations for the teachings of Moses.

In his Preface to Galeatius Capella's History, Luther wrote about the value and use of history with specific reference to Judges, Kings, Chronicles, Ezra, and Nehemiah.

> Upon thorough reflection one finds that almost all laws, art, good counsel, warning, threatening, terrifying, comforting, strengthening, instruction, prudence, wisdom, discretion, and all virtues well up out of the narratives and histories as from a living fountain. It all adds up to this: histories are nothing else than a demonstration, recollection, and sign of divine action and judgment, how He upholds, rules, obstructs, prospers, punishes, and honors the world, and especially men, each according to his just desert, evil or good. And although there are many who do not acknowledge God or esteem him, they must nevertheless come up against the examples and histories and be afraid lest they fare like those individuals whom the histories portray. They are more deeply moved by this than if one were simply to restrain and control them with mere words of the law or instruction. Thus we read not only in the Holy Scriptures, but also in the books of pagans how they cited as witnesses and held up the examples, words, and deeds of forebears when they wanted to carry a point with the people or when they intended to teach, admonish, warn, or deter. The historians, therefore, are the most useful people and the best teachers, so that one can never honor, praise, and thank them enough…. One can see especially in the books of Judges, Kings, and Chronicles that among the Jewish people such masters were appointed and retained. That was also the case among the kings of Persia who had such libraries in Media, as one can gather from the book of Ezra and Nehemiah [Ezra 6:2]. (AE 34:275–76).

How fitting that the Lord of history, the promised Son of David (2Sm 7:8–16), should Himself become man and part of history in order to be our Savior. In Him, we see the Law of Moses fulfilled and the promised Kingdom come.

God Commissions Joshua

1 [1]‡†After the death of Moses the servant of the Lord, the Lord said to Joshua the son of Nun, Moses' assistant, [2]†"Moses my servant is dead. Now therefore arise, go over this Jordan, you and all this people, into the land that I am giving to them, to the people of Israel. [3]Every place that the sole of your foot will tread upon I have given to you, just as I promised to Moses. [4]†From the wilderness and this Lebanon as far as the great river, the river Euphrates, all the land of the Hittites to the Great Sea toward the going down of the sun shall be your territory. [5]†No man shall be able to stand before you all the days of your life. Just as I was with Moses, so I will be with you. I will not leave you or forsake you. [6]†Be strong and courageous, for you shall cause this people to inherit the land that I swore to their fathers to give them. [7]†Only be strong and very courageous, being careful to do according to all the law that Moses my servant commanded you. Do not turn from it to the right hand or to the left, that you may have good success[1] wherever you go. [8]†This Book of the Law shall not depart from your mouth, but you shall meditate on it day and night, so that you may be careful to do according to all that is written in it. For then you will make your way prosperous, and then you will have good success. [9]†Have I not commanded you? Be strong and courageous. Do not be frightened, and do not be dismayed, for the Lord your God is with you wherever you go."

Joshua Assumes Command

10 ‡ ‡ And Joshua commanded the officers of the people, 11 † “Pass through the midst of the camp and command the people, ‘Prepare your provisions, for within three days you are to pass over this Jordan to go in to take possession of the land that the Lord your God is giving you to possess.’” 12 ‡ And to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh Joshua said, 13 “Remember the word that Moses the servant of the Lord commanded you, saying, ‘The Lord your God is providing you a place of rest and will give you this land.’ 14 † Your wives, your little ones, and your livestock shall remain in the land that Moses gave you beyond the Jordan, but all the men of valor among you shall pass over armed before your brothers and shall help them, 15 † until the Lord gives rest to your brothers as he has to you, and they also take possession of the land that the Lord your God is giving them. Then you shall return to the land of your possession and shall possess it, the land that Moses the servant of the Lord gave you beyond the Jordan toward the sunrise.” 16 ‡ And they answered Joshua, “All that you have commanded us we will do, and wherever you send us we will go. 17 † Just as we obeyed Moses in all things, so we will obey you. Only may the Lord your God be with you, as he was with Moses! 18 † Whoever rebels against your commandment and disobeys your words, whatever you command him, shall be put to death.
Only be strong and courageous.”

Rahab Hides the Spies

2 [1]†And Joshua the son of Nun sent[1] two men secretly from Shittim as spies, saying, “Go, view the land, especially Jericho.” And they went and came into the house of a prostitute whose name was Rahab and lodged there. [2]†And it was told to the king of Jericho, “Behold, men of Israel have come here tonight to search out the land.” [3]Then the king of Jericho sent to Rahab, saying, “Bring out the men who have come to you, who entered your house, for they have come to search out all the land.” [4]But the woman had taken the two men and hidden them. And she said, “True, the men came to me, but I did not know where they were from. [5]†And when the gate was about to be closed at dark, the men went out. I do not know where the men went. Pursue them quickly, for you will overtake them.” [6]†But she had brought them up to the roof and hid them with the stalks of flax that she had laid in order on the roof. [7]†So the men pursued after them on the way to the Jordan as far as the fords. And the gate was shut as soon as the pursuers had gone out.

[8]Before the men[2] lay down, she came up to them on the roof [9]†and said to the men, “I know that the Lord has given you the land, and that the fear of you has fallen upon us, and that all the inhabitants of the land melt away before you. [10]†For we have heard how the Lord dried up the water of the Red Sea before you when you came out of Egypt, and what you did to the two kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan, to Sihon and Og, whom you devoted to destruction.[1] [11]†And as soon as we heard it, our hearts melted, and there was no spirit left in any man because of you, for the Lord your God, he is God in the heavens above and on the earth beneath. [12]†Now then, please swear to me by the Lord that, as I have dealt kindly with you, you also will deal kindly with my father’s house, and give me a sure sign [13]that you will save alive my father and mother, my brothers and sisters, and all who belong to them, and deliver our lives from death.” [14]†And the men said to her, “Our life for yours even to death! If you do not tell this business of ours, then when the Lord gives us the land we will deal kindly and faithfully with you.”

15 †Then she let them down by a rope through the window, for her house was built into the city wall, so that she lived in the wall. 16 †And she said[2] to them, “Go into the hills, or the pursuers will encounter you, and hide there three days until the pursuers have returned. Then afterward you may go your way.” 17 †The men said to her, “We will be guiltless with respect to this oath of yours that you have made us swear. 18 †Behold, when we come into the land, you shall tie this scarlet cord in the window through which you let us down, and you shall gather into your house your father and mother, your brothers, and all your father’s household. 19 †Then if anyone goes out of the doors of your house into the street, his blood shall be on his own head, and we shall be guiltless. But if a hand is laid on anyone who is with you in the house, his blood shall be on our head. 20 †But if you tell this business of ours, then we shall be guiltless with respect to your oath that you have made us swear.” 21 †And she said, “According to your words, so be it.” Then she sent them away, and they departed. And she tied the scarlet cord in the window.

22 †They departed and went into the hills and remained there three days until the pursuers returned, and the pursuers searched all along the way and found nothing. 23 †Then the two men returned. They came down from the hills and passed over and came to Joshua the son of Nun, and they told him all that had happened to them. 24 †And they said to Joshua, “Truly the Lord has given all the land into our hands. And also, all the inhabitants of the land melt away because of us.”

Israel Crosses the Jordan

3 [1]†Then Joshua rose early in the morning and they set out from Shittim. And they came to the Jordan, he and all the people of Israel, and lodged there before they passed over. [2]†At the end of three days the officers went through the camp [3]†and commanded the people, “As soon as you see the ark of the covenant of the Lord your God being carried by the Levitical priests, then you shall set out from your place and follow it. [4]†Yet there shall be a distance between you and it, about 2,000 cubits[1] in length. Do not come near it, in order that you may know the way you shall go, for you have not passed this way before.” [5]†Then Joshua said to the people, “Consecrate yourselves, for tomorrow the Lord will do wonders among you.” [6]†And Joshua said to the priests, “Take up the ark of the covenant and pass on before the people.” So they took up the ark of the covenant and went before the people.

[7]†The Lord said to Joshua, “Today I will begin to exalt you in the sight of all Israel, that they may know that, as I was with Moses, so I will be with you. [8]†And as for you, command the priests who bear the ark of the covenant, ‘When you come to the brink of the waters of the Jordan, you shall stand still in the Jordan.’” [9]†And Joshua said to the people of Israel, “Come here and listen to the words of the Lord your God.” [10]†And Joshua said, “Here is how you shall know that the living God is among you and that he will without fail drive out from before you the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Hivites, the Perizzites, the Girgashites, the Amorites, and the Jebusites. [11]†Behold, the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth[2] is passing over before you into the Jordan. [12]†Now therefore take twelve men from the tribes of Israel, from each tribe a man. [13]†And when the soles of the feet of the priests bearing the ark of the Lord, the Lord of all the earth, shall rest in the waters of the Jordan, the waters of the Jordan shall be cut off from flowing, and the waters coming down from above shall stand in one heap.”

[14]So when the people set out from their tents to pass over the Jordan with the priests bearing the ark of the covenant before the people, [15]†and as soon as those bearing the ark had come as far as the Jordan, and the feet of the priests bearing the ark were dipped in the brink of the water (now the Jordan overflows all its banks throughout the time of harvest), [16] ‡ † the waters coming down from above stood and rose up in a heap very far away, at Adam, the city that is beside Zarethan, and those flowing down toward the Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea, were completely cut off. And the people passed over opposite Jericho. [17]Now the priests bearing the ark of the covenant of the LORD stood firmly on dry ground in the midst of the Jordan, and all Israel was passing over on dry ground until all the nation finished passing over the Jordan.

Twelve Memorial Stones from the Jordan

4 [1]†When all the nation had finished passing over the Jordan, the Lord said to Joshua, [2]†"Take twelve men from the people, from each tribe a man, [3]†and command them, saying, 'Take twelve stones from here out of the midst of the Jordan, from the very place where the priests' feet stood firmly, and bring them over with you and lay them down in the place where you lodge tonight.'" [4]†Then Joshua called the twelve men from the people of Israel, whom he had appointed, a man from each tribe. [5]††And Joshua said to them, "Pass on before the ark of the Lord your God into the midst of the Jordan, and take up each of you a stone upon his shoulder, according to the number of the tribes of the people of Israel, [6]†that this may be a sign among you. When your children ask in time to come, 'What do those stones mean to you?' [7]†then you shall tell them that the waters of the Jordan were cut off before the ark of the covenant of the Lord. When it passed over the Jordan, the waters of the Jordan were cut off. So these stones shall be to the people of Israel a memorial forever."

[8]†And the people of Israel did just as Joshua commanded and took up twelve stones out of the midst of the Jordan, according to the number of the tribes of the people of Israel, just as the Lord told Joshua. And they carried them over with them to the place where they lodged and laid them down[1] there. [9]†And Joshua set up twelve stones in the midst of the Jordan, in the place where the feet of the priests bearing the ark of the covenant had stood; and they are there to this day. [10]†For the priests bearing the ark stood in the midst of the Jordan until everything was finished that the Lord commanded Joshua to tell the people, according to all that Moses had commanded Joshua.

The people passed over in haste. [11]†And when all the people had finished passing over, the ark of the Lord and the priests passed over before the people. [12]†The sons of Reuben and the sons of Gad and the half-tribe of Manasseh passed over armed before the people of Israel, as Moses had told them. [13]About 40,000 ready for war passed over before the Lord for battle, to the plains of Jericho. [14]†On that day the Lord exalted Joshua in the sight of all Israel, and they stood in awe of him just as they had stood in awe of Moses, all the days of his life.

15 †And the Lord said to Joshua, 16 †“Command the priests bearing the ark of the testimony to come up out of the Jordan.” 17 †So Joshua commanded the priests, “Come up out of the Jordan.” 18 †And when the priests bearing the ark of the covenant of the Lord came up from the midst of the Jordan, and the soles of the priests’ feet were lifted up on dry ground, the waters of the Jordan returned to their place and overflowed all its banks, as before.

19 †The people came up out of the Jordan on the tenth day of the first month, and they encamped at Gilgal on the east border of Jericho. 20 †And those twelve stones, which they took out of the Jordan, Joshua set up at Gilgal. 21 †And he said to the people of Israel, “When your children ask their fathers in times to come, ‘What do these stones mean?’ 22 †then you shall let your children know, ‘Israel passed over this Jordan on dry ground.’ 23 †For the Lord your God dried up the waters of the Jordan for you until you passed over, as the Lord your God did to the Red Sea, which he dried up for us until we passed over, 24 †so that all the peoples of the earth may know that the hand of the Lord is mighty, that you may fear the Lord your God forever.”[1]

The New Generation Circumcised

5 [1]‡†As soon as all the kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan to the west, and all the kings of the Canaanites who were by the sea, heard that the Lord had dried up the waters of the Jordan for the people of Israel until they had crossed over, their hearts melted and there was no longer any spirit in them because of the people of Israel.

[2]†At that time the Lord said to Joshua, "Make flint knives and circumcise the sons of Israel a second time." [3]So Joshua made flint knives and circumcised the sons of Israel at Gibeath-haaraloth.[2] [4]† And this is the reason why Joshua circumcised them: all the males of the people who came out of Egypt, all the men of war, had died in the wilderness on the way after they had come out of Egypt. [5]‡ Though all the people who came out had been circumcised, yet all the people who were born on the way in the wilderness after they had come out of Egypt had not been circumcised. [6]For the people of Israel walked forty years in the wilderness, until all the nation, the men of war who came out of Egypt, perished, because they did not obey the voice of the Lord; the Lord swore to them that he would not let them see the land that the Lord had sworn to their fathers to give to us, a land flowing with milk and honey. [7]‡†So it was their children, whom he raised up in their place, that Joshua circumcised. For they were uncircumcised, because they had not been circumcised on the way.

[8]†When the circumcising of the whole nation was finished, they remained in their places in the camp until they were healed. [9]† And the Lord said to Joshua, "Today I have rolled away the reproach of Egypt from you." And so the name of that place is called Gilgal[1] to this day.

First Passover in Canaan

10 ‡ † While the people of Israel were encamped at Gilgal, they kept the Passover on the fourteenth day of the month in the evening on the plains of Jericho. 11 † And the day after the Passover, on that very day, they ate of the produce of the land, unleavened cakes and parched grain. 12 † And the manna ceased the day after they ate of the produce of the land. And there was no longer manna for the people of Israel, but they ate of the fruit of the land of Canaan that year.

The Commander of the Lord's Army

13 ✝✝✝When Joshua was by Jericho, he lifted up his eyes and looked, and behold, a man was standing before him with his drawn sword in his hand.
And Joshua went to him and said to him, "Are you for us, or for our adversaries?" 14✝And he said, "No; but I am the commander of the army of the Lord. Now I have come." And Joshua fell on his face to the earth and worshiped and said to him, "What does my lord say to his servant?" 15And the commander of the Lord's army said to Joshua, "Take off your sandals from your feet, for the place where you are standing is holy." And Joshua did so.

The Fall of Jericho

6 [1]†Now Jericho was shut up inside and outside because of the people of Israel. None went out, and none came in. [2]†And the Lord said to Joshua,
"See, I have given Jericho into your hand, with its king and mighty men of valor. [3]†You shall march around the city, all the men of war going around the city once. Thus shall you do for six days. [4]†Seven priests shall bear seven trumpets of rams' horns before the ark. On the seventh day you shall march around the city seven times, and the priests shall blow the trumpets.
[5]†And when they make a long blast with the ram's horn, when you hear the sound of the trumpet, then all the people shall shout with a great shout, and the wall of the city will fall down flat,[1] and the people shall go up, everyone straight before him." [6]†So Joshua the son of Nun called the priests and said to them, "Take up the ark of the covenant and let seven priests bear seven trumpets of rams' horns before the ark of the Lord." [7]†And he said to the people, "Go forward. March around the city and let the armed men pass on before the ark of the Lord."

[8]†And just as Joshua had commanded the people, the seven priests bearing the seven trumpets of rams' horns before the Lord went forward, blowing the trumpets, with the ark of the covenant of the Lord following them. [9]The armed men were walking before the priests who were blowing the trumpets, and the rear guard was walking after the ark, while the trumpets blew continually. [10]† But Joshua commanded the people, "You shall not shout or make your voice heard, neither shall any word go out of your mouth, until the day I tell you to shout. Then you shall shout." [11]So he caused the ark of the Lord to circle the city, going about it once. And they came into the camp and spent the night in the camp.

[12]Then Joshua rose early in the morning, and the priests took up the ark of the Lord. [13]And the seven priests bearing the seven trumpets of rams' horns before the ark of the Lord walked on, and they blew the trumpets continually. And the armed men were walking before them, and the rear guard was walking after the ark of the Lord, while the trumpets blew continually. 14 † And the second day they marched around the city once, and returned into the camp. So they did for six days.

15 On the seventh day they rose early, at the dawn of day, and marched around the city in the same manner seven times. It was only on that day that they marched around the city seven times. 16 And at the seventh time, when the priests had blown the trumpets, Joshua said to the people, "Shout, for the Lord has given you the city. 17 † And the city and all that is within it shall be devoted to the Lord for destruction.[2] Only Rahab the prostitute and all who are with her in her house shall live, because she hid the messengers whom we sent. 18 † But you, keep yourselves from the things devoted to destruction, lest when you have devoted them you take any of the devoted things and make the camp of Israel a thing for destruction and bring trouble upon it. 19 † But all silver and gold, and every vessel of bronze and iron, are holy to the Lord; they shall go into the treasury of the Lord." 20 † So the people shouted, and the trumpets were blown. As soon as the people heard the sound of the trumpet, the people shouted a great shout, and the wall fell down flat, so that the people went up into the city, every man straight before him, and they captured the city. 21 † Then they devoted all in the city to destruction, both men and women, young and old, oxen, sheep, and donkeys, with the edge of the sword.

22 † But to the two men who had spied out the land, Joshua said, "Go into the prostitute's house and bring out from there the woman and all who belong to her, as you swore to her." 23 † So the young men who had been spies went in and brought out Rahab and her father and mother and brothers and all who belonged to her. And they brought all her relatives and put them outside the camp of Israel. 24 † And they burned the city with fire, and everything in it. Only the silver and gold, and the vessels of bronze and of iron, they put into the treasury of the house of the Lord. 25 † But Rahab the prostitute and her father's household and all who belonged to her, Joshua saved alive. And she has lived in Israel to this day, because she hid the messengers whom Joshua sent to spy out Jericho.

26 † Joshua laid an oath on them at that time, saying, "Cursed before the Lord be the man who rises up and rebuilds this city, Jericho.

"At the cost of his firstborn shall he lay its foundation,

and at the cost of his youngest son shall he set up its gates.”

27 †So the Lord was with Joshua, and his fame was in all the land.

Israel Defeated at Ai

7 [1] ‡ † But the people of Israel broke faith in regard to the devoted things, for Achan the son of Carmi, son of Zabdi, son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, took some of the devoted things. And the anger of the Lord burned against the people of Israel.

[2] † Joshua sent men from Jericho to Ai, which is near Beth-aven, east of Bethel, and said to them, "Go up and spy out the land." And the men went up and spied out Ai. [3] And they returned to Joshua and said to him, "Do not have all the people go up, but let about two or three thousand men go up and attack Ai. Do not make the whole people toil up there, for they are few." [4] † So about 3,000 men went up there from the people. And they fled before the men of Ai, [5] † and the men of Ai killed about thirty-six of their men and chased them before the gate as far as Shebarim and struck them at the descent. And the hearts of the people melted and became as water.

[6] † Then Joshua tore his clothes and fell to the earth on his face before the ark of the Lord until the evening, he and the elders of Israel. And they put dust on their heads. [7] † And Joshua said, "Alas, O Lord God, why have you brought this people over the Jordan at all, to give us into the hands of the Amorites, to destroy us? Would that we had been content to dwell beyond the Jordan! [8] ‡ O Lord, what can I say, when Israel has turned their backs before their enemies! [9] † For the Canaanites and all the inhabitants of the land will hear of it and will surround us and cut off our name from the earth. And what will you do for your great name?"

The Sin of Achan

10 †The Lord said to Joshua, “Get up! Why have you fallen on your face?
11 †Israel has sinned; they have transgressed my covenant that I commanded them; they have taken some of the devoted things; they have stolen and lied and put them among their own belongings. 12 †Therefore the people of Israel cannot stand before their enemies. They turn their backs before their enemies, because they have become devoted for destruction.[1] I will be with you no more, unless you destroy the devoted things from among you. 13 †Get up! Consecrate the people and say, ‘Consecrate yourselves for tomorrow; for thus says the Lord, God of Israel, “There are devoted things in your midst, O Israel. You cannot stand before your enemies until you take away the devoted things from among you.” 14 †In the morning therefore you shall be brought near by your tribes. And the tribe that the Lord takes by lot shall come near by clans. And the clan that the Lord takes shall come near by households. And the household that the Lord takes shall come near man by man. 15 †And he who is taken with the devoted things shall be burned with fire, he and all that he has, because he has transgressed the covenant of the Lord, and because he has done an outrageous thing in Israel.’”

16 So Joshua rose early in the morning and brought Israel near tribe by tribe, and the tribe of Judah was taken. 17 And he brought near the clans of Judah, and the clan of the Zerahites was taken. And he brought near the clan of the Zerahites man by man, and Zabdi was taken. 18 And he brought near his household man by man, and Achan the son of Carmi, son of Zabdi, son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, was taken. 19 †Then Joshua said to Achan, “My son, give glory to the Lord God of Israel and give praise[2] to him. And tell me now what you have done; do not hide it from me.” 20 †And Achan answered Joshua, “Truly I have sinned against the Lord God of Israel, and this is what I did: 21 †when I saw among the spoil a beautiful cloak from Shinar, and 200 shekels of silver, and a bar of gold weighing 50 shekels,[1] then I coveted them and took them. And see, they are hidden in the earth inside my tent, with the silver underneath.”

22 So Joshua sent messengers, and they ran to the tent; and behold, it was hidden in his tent with the silver underneath. 23 †And they took them out of the tent and brought them to Joshua and to all the people of Israel. And they laid them down before the Lord. 24 ‡ † And Joshua and all Israel with him took Achan the son of Zerah, and the silver and the cloak and the bar of gold, and his sons and daughters and his oxen and donkeys and sheep and his tent and all that he had. And they brought them up to the Valley of Achor. 25 † And Joshua said, “Why did you bring trouble on us? The Lord brings trouble on you today.” And all Israel stoned him with stones. They burned them with fire and stoned them with stones. 26 † And they raised over him a great heap of stones that remains to this day. Then the Lord turned from his burning anger. Therefore, to this day the name of that place is called the Valley of Achor.[2]

The Fall of Ai

8 [1] ‡ † And the Lord said to Joshua, “Do not fear and do not be dismayed. Take all the fighting men with you, and arise, go up to Ai. See, I have given into your hand the king of Ai, and his people, his city, and his land. [2] † And you shall do to Ai and its king as you did to Jericho and its king. Only its spoil and its livestock you shall take as plunder for yourselves. Lay an ambush against the city, behind it.”

[3] ‡ † So Joshua and all the fighting men arose to go up to Ai. And Joshua chose 30,000 mighty men of valor and sent them out by night. [4] And he commanded them, “Behold, you shall lie in ambush against the city, behind it. Do not go very far from the city, but all of you remain ready. [5] And I and all the people who are with me will approach the city. And when they come out against us just as before, we shall flee before them. [6] And they will come out after us, until we have drawn them away from the city. For they will say, ‘They are fleeing from us, just as before.’ So we will flee before them.
[7] † Then you shall rise up from the ambush and seize the city, for the Lord your God will give it into your hand. [8] † And as soon as you have taken the city, you shall set the city on fire. You shall do according to the word of the Lord. See, I have commanded you.” [9] † So Joshua sent them out. And they went to the place of ambush and lay between Bethel and Ai, to the west of Ai, but Joshua spent that night among the people.

[10] † Joshua arose early in the morning and mustered the people and went up, he and the elders of Israel, before the people to Ai. [11] † And all the fighting men who were with him went up and drew near before the city and encamped on the north side of Ai, with a ravine between them and Ai. [12] † He took about 5,000 men and set them in ambush between Bethel and Ai, to the west of the city. [13] † So they stationed the forces, the main encampment that was north of the city and its rear guard west of the city. But Joshua spent that night in the valley. [14] † And as soon as the king of Ai saw this, he and all his people, the men of the city, hurried and went out early to the appointed place[1] toward the Arabah to meet Israel in battle. But he did not know that there was an ambush against him behind the city. [15] And Joshua and all

Israel pretended to be beaten before them and fled in the direction of the wilderness. 16 †So all the people who were in the city were called together to pursue them, and as they pursued Joshua they were drawn away from the city. 17 †Not a man was left in Ai or Bethel who did not go out after Israel. They left the city open and pursued Israel.

18 †Then the Lord said to Joshua, “Stretch out the javelin that is in your hand toward Ai, for I will give it into your hand.” And Joshua stretched out the javelin that was in his hand toward the city. 19 And the men in the ambush rose quickly out of their place, and as soon as he had stretched out his hand, they ran and entered the city and captured it. And they hurried to set the city on fire. 20 †So when the men of Ai looked back, behold, the smoke of the city went up to heaven, and they had no power to flee this way or that, for the people who fled to the wilderness turned back against the pursuers. 21 And when Joshua and all Israel saw that the ambush had captured the city, and that the smoke of the city went up, then they turned back and struck down the men of Ai. 22 †And the others came out from the city against them, so they were in the midst of Israel, some on this side, and some on that side. And Israel struck them down, until there was left none that survived or escaped. 23 But the king of Ai they took alive, and brought him near to Joshua.

24 †When Israel had finished killing all the inhabitants of Ai in the open wilderness where they pursued them, and all of them to the very last had fallen by the edge of the sword, all Israel returned to Ai and struck it down with the edge of the sword. 25 And all who fell that day, both men and women, were 12,000, all the people of Ai. 26 †But Joshua did not draw back his hand with which he stretched out the javelin until he had devoted all the inhabitants of Ai to destruction.[2] 27 Only the livestock and the spoil of that city Israel took as their plunder, according to the word of the Lord that he commanded Joshua. 28 †So Joshua burned Ai and made it forever a heap of ruins, as it is to this day. 29 †And he hanged the king of Ai on a tree until evening. And at sunset Joshua commanded, and they took his body down from the tree and threw it at the entrance of the gate of the city and raised over it a great heap of stones, which stands there to this day.

Joshua Renews the Covenant

30 ‡ ‡ ‡ At that time Joshua built an altar to the Lord, the God of Israel, on Mount Ebal, 31 † just as Moses the servant of the Lord had commanded the people of Israel, as it is written in the Book of the Law of Moses, “an altar of uncut stones, upon which no man has wielded an iron tool.” And they offered on it burnt offerings to the Lord and sacrificed peace offerings.
32 † And there, in the presence of the people of Israel, he wrote on the stones a copy of the law of Moses, which he had written. 33 † And all Israel, sojourner as well as native born, with their elders and officers and their judges, stood on opposite sides of the ark before the Levitical priests who carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord, half of them in front of Mount Gerizim and half of them in front of Mount Ebal, just as Moses the servant of the Lord had commanded at the first, to bless the people of Israel. 34 † And afterward he read all the words of the law, the blessing and the curse, according to all that is written in the Book of the Law. 35 † There was not a word of all that Moses commanded that Joshua did not read before all the assembly of Israel, and the women, and the little ones, and the sojourners who lived[1] among them.

The Gibeonite Deception

9 [1]‡†As soon as all the kings who were beyond the Jordan in the hill country and in the lowland all along the coast of the Great Sea toward Lebanon, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, heard of this, [2]they gathered together as one to fight against Joshua and Israel.

[3]†But when the inhabitants of Gibeon heard what Joshua had done to Jericho and to Ai, [4]†they on their part acted with cunning and went and made ready provisions and took worn-out sacks for their donkeys, and wineskins, worn-out and torn and mended, [5]with worn-out, patched sandals on their feet, and worn-out clothes. And all their provisions were dry and crumbly. [6]And they went to Joshua in the camp at Gilgal and said to him and to the men of Israel, "We have come from a distant country, so now make a covenant with us." [7]†But the men of Israel said to the Hivites, "Perhaps you live among us; then how can we make a covenant with you?" [8]†They said to Joshua, "We are your servants." And Joshua said to them, "Who are you? And where do you come from?" [9]†They said to him, "From a very distant country your servants have come, because of the name of the Lord your God. For we have heard a report of him, and all that he did in Egypt, [10]†and all that he did to the two kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan, to Sihon the king of Heshbon, and to Og king of Bashan, who lived in Ashtaroth. [11]So our elders and all the inhabitants of our country said to us, 'Take provisions in your hand for the journey and go to meet them and say to them, "We are your servants. Come now, make a covenant with us."' [12]Here is our bread. It was still warm when we took it from our houses as our food for the journey on the day we set out to come to you, but now, behold, it is dry and crumbly. [13]†These wineskins were new when we filled them, and behold, they have burst. And these garments and sandals of ours are worn out from the very long journey." [14]‡So the men took some of their provisions, but did not ask counsel from the Lord. [15]†And Joshua made peace with them and made a covenant with them, to let them live, and the leaders of the congregation swore to them.

16 † At the end of three days after they had made a covenant with them, they heard that they were their neighbors and that they lived among them.
17 † And the people of Israel set out and reached their cities on the third day.
Now their cities were Gibeon, Chephirah, Beeroth, and Kiriath-jearim.
18 ‡ † But the people of Israel did not attack them, because the leaders of the congregation had sworn to them by the Lord, the God of Israel. Then all the congregation murmured against the leaders. 19 But all the leaders said to all the congregation, “We have sworn to them by the Lord, the God of Israel, and now we may not touch them. 20 This we will do to them: let them live, lest wrath be upon us, because of the oath that we swore to them.” 21 † And the leaders said to them, “Let them live.” So they became cutters of wood and drawers of water for all the congregation, just as the leaders had said of them.

22 ‡ Joshua summoned them, and he said to them, “Why did you deceive us, saying, ‘We are very far from you,’ when you dwell among us? 23 † Now therefore you are cursed, and some of you shall never be anything but servants, cutters of wood and drawers of water for the house of my God.” 24 † They answered Joshua, “Because it was told to your servants for a certainty that the Lord your God had commanded his servant Moses to give you all the land and to destroy all the inhabitants of the land from before you—so we feared greatly for our lives because of you and did this thing.
25 And now, behold, we are in your hand. Whatever seems good and right in your sight to do to us, do it.” 26 So he did this to them and delivered them out of the hand of the people of Israel, and they did not kill them. 27 † But Joshua made them that day cutters of wood and drawers of water for the congregation and for the altar of the Lord, to this day, in the place that he should choose.

The Sun Stands Still

10 [1]‡†As soon as Adoni-zedek, king of Jerusalem, heard how Joshua had captured Ai and had devoted it to destruction,[1] doing to Ai and its king as he had done to Jericho and its king, and how the inhabitants of Gibeon had made peace with Israel and were among them, [2]† he[2] feared greatly, because Gibeon was a great city, like one of the royal cities, and because it was greater than Ai, and all its men were warriors. [3]†So Adoni-zedek king of Jerusalem sent to Hoham king of Hebron, to Piram king of Jarmuth, to Japhia king of Lachish, and to Debir king of Eglon, saying, [4]"Come up to me and help me, and let us strike Gibeon. For it has made peace with Joshua and with the people of Israel." [5]† Then the five kings of the Amorites, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon, gathered their forces and went up with all their armies and encamped against Gibeon and made war against it.

[6]†And the men of Gibeon sent to Joshua at the camp in Gilgal, saying, "Do not relax your hand from your servants. Come up to us quickly and save us and help us, for all the kings of the Amorites who dwell in the hill country are gathered against us." [7]†So Joshua went up from Gilgal, he and all the people of war with him, and all the mighty men of valor. [8]†And the Lord said to Joshua, "Do not fear them, for I have given them into your hands. Not a man of them shall stand before you." [9]†So Joshua came upon them suddenly, having marched up all night from Gilgal. [10]†And the Lord threw them into a panic before Israel, who[1] struck them with a great blow at Gibeon and chased them by the way of the ascent of Beth-horon and struck them as far as Azekah and Makkedah. [11]†And as they fled before Israel, while they were going down the ascent of Beth-horon, the Lord threw down large stones from heaven on them as far as Azekah, and they died. There were more who died because of the hailstones than the sons of Israel killed with the sword.

[12]‡At that time Joshua spoke to the Lord in the day when the Lord gave the Amorites over to the sons of Israel, and he said in the sight of Israel,

"Sun, stand still at Gibeon, and moon, in the Valley of Aijalon." 13 And the sun stood still, and the moon stopped,
until the nation took vengeance on their enemies.

Is this not written in the Book of Jashar? The sun stopped in the midst of heaven and did not hurry to set for about a whole day. 14 † There has been no day like it before or since, when the LORD heeded the voice of a man, for the LORD fought for Israel.

15 So Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, to the camp at Gilgal.

Five Amorite Kings Executed

16 ‡ † These five kings fled and hid themselves in the cave at Makkedah.
17 And it was told to Joshua, “The five kings have been found, hidden in the cave at Makkedah.” 18 † And Joshua said, “Roll large stones against the mouth of the cave and set men by it to guard them, 19 † but do not stay there yourselves. Pursue your enemies; attack their rear guard. Do not let them enter their cities, for the Lord your God has given them into your hand.” 20 † When Joshua and the sons of Israel had finished striking them with a great blow until they were wiped out, and when the remnant that remained of them had entered into the fortified cities, 21 † then all the people returned safe to Joshua in the camp at Makkedah. Not a man moved his tongue against any of the people of Israel.

22 Then Joshua said, “Open the mouth of the cave and bring those five kings out to me from the cave.” 23 And they did so, and brought those five kings out to him from the cave, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon. 24 † And when they brought those kings out to Joshua, Joshua summoned all the men of Israel and said to the chiefs of the men of war who had gone with him, “Come near; put your feet on the necks of these kings.” Then they came near and put their feet on their necks. 25 † And Joshua said to them, “Do not be afraid or dismayed; be strong and courageous. For thus the Lord will do to all your enemies against whom you fight.” 26 † And afterward Joshua struck them and put them to death, and he hanged them on five trees. And they hung on the trees until evening. 27 † But at the time of the going down of the sun, Joshua commanded, and they took them down from the trees and threw them into the cave where they had hidden themselves, and they set large stones against the mouth of the cave, which remain to this very day.

28 † As for Makkedah, Joshua captured it on that day and struck it, and its king, with the edge of the sword. He devoted to destruction every person in it; he left none remaining. And he did to the king of Makkedah just as he had done to the king of Jericho.

Conquest of Southern Canaan

29 ‡ ‡ ‡ Then Joshua and all Israel with him passed on from Makkedah to Libnah and fought against Libnah. 30 † And the Lord gave it also and its king into the hand of Israel. And he struck it with the edge of the sword, and every person in it; he left none remaining in it. And he did to its king as he had done to the king of Jericho.
31 Then Joshua and all Israel with him passed on from Libnah to Lachish and laid siege to it and fought against it. 32 † And the Lord gave Lachish into the hand of Israel, and he captured it on the second day and struck it with the edge of the sword, and every person in it, as he had done to Libnah.
33 † Then Horam king of Gezer came up to help Lachish. And Joshua struck him and his people, until he left none remaining.
34 † Then Joshua and all Israel with him passed on from Lachish to Eglon.
And they laid siege to it and fought against it. 35 † And they captured it on that day, and struck it with the edge of the sword. And he devoted every person in it to destruction that day, as he had done to Lachish.
36 Then Joshua and all Israel with him went up from Eglon to Hebron.
And they fought against it 37 † and captured it and struck it with the edge of the sword, and its king and its towns, and every person in it. He left none remaining, as he had done to Eglon, and devoted it to destruction and every person in it.
38 Then Joshua and all Israel with him turned back to Debir and fought against it 39 † and he captured it with its king and all its towns. And they struck them with the edge of the sword and devoted to destruction every person in it; he left none remaining. Just as he had done to Hebron and to Libnah and its king, so he did to Debir and to its king.
40 † So Joshua struck the whole land, the hill country and the Negeb and the lowland and the slopes, and all their kings. He left none remaining, but devoted to destruction all that breathed, just as the Lord God of Israel commanded. 41 And Joshua struck them from Kadesh-barnea as far as Gaza, and all the country of Goshen, as far as Gibeon. 42 † And Joshua captured all these kings and their land at one time, because the Lord God of Israel fought for Israel. [43]Then Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, to the camp at Gilgal.

Conquests in Northern Canaan

11 [1]†When Jabin, king of Hazor, heard of this, he sent to Jobab king of Madon, and to the king of Shimron, and to the king of Achshaph, [2]and to the kings who were in the northern hill country, and in the Arabah south of Chinneroth, and in the lowland, and in Naphoth-dor on the west, [3]to the Canaanites in the east and the west, the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, and the Jebusites in the hill country, and the Hivites under Hermon in the land of Mizpah. [4]†And they came out with all their troops, a great horde, in number like the sand that is on the seashore, with very many horses and chariots. [5]And all these kings joined their forces and came and encamped together at the waters of Merom to fight against Israel.

[6]†And the Lord said to Joshua, "Do not be afraid of them, for tomorrow at this time I will give over all of them, slain, to Israel. You shall hamstring their horses and burn their chariots with fire." [7]†So Joshua and all his warriors came suddenly against them by the waters of Merom and fell upon them. [8]†And the Lord gave them into the hand of Israel, who struck them and chased them as far as Great Sidon and Misrephoth-maim, and eastward as far as the Valley of Mizpeh. And they struck them until he left none remaining. [9]And Joshua did to them just as the Lord said to him: he hamstrung their horses and burned their chariots with fire.

[10]†And Joshua turned back at that time and captured Hazor and struck its king with the sword, for Hazor formerly was the head of all those kingdoms. [11]And they struck with the sword all who were in it, devoting them to destruction;[1] there was none left that breathed. And he burned Hazor with fire. [12]†And all the cities of those kings, and all their kings, Joshua captured, and struck them with the edge of the sword, devoting them to destruction, just as Moses the servant of the Lord had commanded. [13]†But none of the cities that stood on mounds did Israel burn, except Hazor alone; that Joshua burned. [14]†And all the spoil of these cities and the livestock, the people of Israel took for their plunder. But every man they struck with the edge of the sword until they had destroyed them, and they did not leave any who breathed. [15]†Just as the Lord had commanded Moses his servant, so Moses commanded Joshua, and so Joshua did. He left nothing undone of all that the Lord had commanded Moses.

16 So Joshua took all that land, the hill country and all the Negeb and all the land of Goshen and the lowland and the Arabah and the hill country of Israel and its lowland 17 from Mount Halak, which rises toward Seir, as far as Baal-gad in the Valley of Lebanon below Mount Hermon. And he captured all their kings and struck them and put them to death. 18 Joshua made war a long time with all those kings. 19 There was not a city that made peace with the people of Israel except the Hivites, the inhabitants of Gibeon. They took them all in battle. 20 For it was the Lord's doing to harden their hearts that they should come against Israel in battle, in order that they should be devoted to destruction and should receive no mercy but be destroyed, just as the Lord commanded Moses.

21 And Joshua came at that time and cut off the Anakim from the hill country, from Hebron, from Debir, from Anab, and from all the hill country of Judah, and from all the hill country of Israel. Joshua devoted them to destruction with their cities. 22 There was none of the Anakim left in the land of the people of Israel. Only in Gaza, in Gath, and in Ashdod did some remain. 23 So Joshua took the whole land, according to all that the Lord had spoken to Moses. And Joshua gave it for an inheritance to Israel according to their tribal allotments. And the land had rest from war.

Kings Defeated by Moses

12 [1]‡†Now these are the kings of the land whom the people of Israel defeated and took possession of their land beyond the Jordan toward the sunrise, from the Valley of the Arnon to Mount Hermon, with all the Arabah eastward: [2]Sihon king of the Amorites who lived at Heshbon and ruled from Aroer, which is on the edge of the Valley of the Arnon, and from the middle of the valley as far as the river Jabbok, the boundary of the Ammonites, that is, half of Gilead, [3]†and the Arabah to the Sea of Chinneroth eastward, and in the direction of Beth-jeshimoth, to the Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea, southward to the foot of the slopes of Pisgah; [4]and Og[1] king of Bashan, one of the remnant of the Rephaim, who lived at Ashtaroth and at Edrei [5]and ruled over Mount Hermon and Salecah and all Bashan to the boundary of the Geshurites and the Maacathites, and over half of Gilead to the boundary of Sihon king of Heshbon. [6]†Moses, the servant of the Lord, and the people of Israel defeated them. And Moses the servant of the Lord gave their land for a possession to the Reubenites and the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh.

Kings Defeated by Joshua

7 ‡‡‡And these are the kings of the land whom Joshua and the people of Israel defeated on the west side of the Jordan, from Baal-gad in the Valley of Lebanon to Mount Halak, that rises toward Seir (and Joshua gave their land to the tribes of Israel as a possession according to their allotments, 8in the hill country, in the lowland, in the Arabah, in the slopes, in the wilderness, and in the Negeb, the land of the Hittites, the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites): 9 ‡the king of Jericho, one; the king of Ai, which is beside Bethel, one; 10the king of Jerusalem, one; the king of Hebron, one; 11the king of Jarmuth, one; the king of Lachish, one; 12the king of Eglon, one; the king of Gezer, one; 13the king of Debir, one; the king of Geder, one; 14the king of Hormah, one; the king of Arad, one; 15the king of Libnah, one; the king of Adullam, one; 16the king of Makkedah, one; the king of Bethel, one; 17the king of Tappuah, one;
the king of Hepher, one; 18the king of Aphek, one; the king of Lasharon, one; 19the king of Madon, one; the king of Hazor, one; 20the king of Shimron-meron, one; the king of Achshaph, one; 21the king of Taanach, one;
the king of Megiddo, one; 22the king of Kedesh, one; the king of Jokneam in Carmel, one; 23the king of Dor in Naphath-dor, one; the king of Goiim in Galilee,[1] one; 24the king of Tirzah, one: in all, thirty-one kings.

Land Still to Be Conquered

13 [1]†† Now Joshua was old and advanced in years, and the Lord said to him, “You are old and advanced in years, and there remains yet very much land to possess. [2]† This is the land that yet remains: all the regions of the Philistines, and all those of the Geshurites [3](from the Shihor, which is east of Egypt, northward to the boundary of Ekron, it is counted as Canaanite; there are five rulers of the Philistines, those of Gaza, Ashdod, Ashkelon, Gath, and Ekron), and those of the Avvim, [4]in the south, all the land of the Canaanites, and Mearah that belongs to the Sidonians, to Aphek, to the boundary of the Amorites, [5]and the land of the Gebalites, and all Lebanon, toward the sunrise, from Baal-gad below Mount Hermon to Lebo-hamath, [6] † all the inhabitants of the hill country from Lebanon to Misrephoth-maim, even all the Sidonians. I myself will drive them out from before the people of Israel. Only allot the land to Israel for an inheritance, as I have commanded you. [7] † Now therefore divide this land for an inheritance to the nine tribes and half the tribe of Manasseh.”

The Inheritance East of the Jordan

8 With the other half of the tribe of Manasseh[2] the Reubenites and the Gadites received their inheritance, which Moses gave them, beyond the Jordan eastward, as Moses the servant of the Lord gave them: 9 from Aroer, which is on the edge of the Valley of the Arnon, and the city that is in the middle of the valley, and all the tableland of Medeba as far as Dibon; 10 and all the cities of Sihon king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon, as far as the boundary of the Ammonites; 11 and Gilead, and the region of the Geshurites and Maacathites, and all Mount Hermon, and all Bashan to Salecah; 12 all the kingdom of Og in Bashan, who reigned in Ashtaroth and in Edrei (he alone was left of the remnant of the Rephaim); these Moses had struck and driven out. 13 Yet the people of Israel did not drive out the Geshurites or the Maacathites, but Geshur and Maacath dwell in the midst of Israel to this day.

14 To the tribe of Levi alone Moses gave no inheritance. The offerings by fire to the Lord God of Israel are their inheritance, as he said to him.

15 And Moses gave an inheritance to the tribe of the people of Reuben according to their clans. 16 So their territory was from Aroer, which is on the edge of the Valley of the Arnon, and the city that is in the middle of the valley, and all the tableland by Medeba; 17 with Heshbon, and all its cities that are in the tableland; Dibon, and Bamoth-baal, and Beth-baal-meon, 18 and Jahaz, and Kedemoth, and Mephaath, 19 and Kiriathaim, and Sibmah, and Zereth-shahar on the hill of the valley, 20 and Beth-peor, and the slopes of Pisgah, and Beth-jeshimoth, 21 that is, all the cities of the tableland, and all the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon, whom Moses defeated with the leaders of Midian, Evi and Rekem and Zur and Hur and Reba, the princes of Sihon, who lived in the land. 22 Balaam also, the son of Beor, the one who practiced divination, was killed with the sword by the people of Israel among the rest of their slain. 23 And the border of the people of Reuben was the Jordan as a boundary. This was the inheritance of the people of Reuben, according to their clans with their cities and villages.

[24]Moses gave an inheritance also to the tribe of Gad, to the people of Gad, according to their clans. [25]Their territory was Jazer, and all the cities of Gilead, and half the land of the Ammonites, to Aroer, which is east of Rabbah, [26]and from Heshbon to Ramath-mizpeh and Betonim, and from Mahanaim to the territory of Debir,[1] [27]and in the valley Beth-haram, Beth-nimrah, Succoth, and Zaphon, the rest of the kingdom of Sihon king of Heshbon, having the Jordan as a boundary, to the lower end of the Sea of Chinnereth, eastward beyond the Jordan. [28]This is the inheritance of the people of Gad according to their clans, with their cities and villages.

[29]† And Moses gave an inheritance to the half-tribe of Manasseh. It was allotted to the half-tribe of the people of Manasseh according to their clans.
[30]Their region extended from Mahanaim, through all Bashan, the whole kingdom of Og king of Bashan, and all the towns of Jair, which are in Bashan, sixty cities, [31]and half Gilead, and Ashtaroth, and Edrei, the cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan. These were allotted to the people of Machir the son of Manasseh for the half of the people of Machir according to their clans.

[32]These are the inheritances that Moses distributed in the plains of Moab, beyond the Jordan east of Jericho. [33]† But to the tribe of Levi Moses gave no inheritance; the Lord God of Israel is their inheritance, just as he said to them.

The Inheritance West of the Jordan

14 [1]‡†These are the inheritances that the people of Israel received in the land of Canaan, which Eleazar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun and the heads of the fathers' houses of the tribes of the people of Israel gave them to inherit. [2]† Their inheritance was by lot, just as the Lord had commanded by the hand of Moses for the nine and one-half tribes. [3]†For Moses had given an inheritance to the two and one-half tribes beyond the Jordan, but to the Levites he gave no inheritance among them. [4]†For the people of Joseph were two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim. And no portion was given to the Levites in the land, but only cities to dwell in, with their pasturelands for their livestock and their substance. [5]The people of Israel did as the Lord commanded Moses; they allotted the land.

Caleb’s Request and Inheritance

6 †Then the people of Judah came to Joshua at Gilgal. And Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite said to him, “You know what the Lord said to Moses the man of God in Kadesh-barnea concerning you and me. 7 †I was forty years old when Moses the servant of the Lord sent me from Kadesh-barnea to spy out the land, and I brought him word again as it was in my heart. 8 †But my brothers who went up with me made the heart of the people melt; yet I wholly followed the Lord my God. 9 †And Moses swore on that day, saying, ‘Surely the land on which your foot has trodden shall be an inheritance for you and your children forever, because you have wholly followed the Lord my God.’ 10 †And now, behold, the Lord has kept me alive, just as he said, these forty-five years since the time that the Lord spoke this word to Moses, while Israel walked in the wilderness. And now, behold, I am this day eighty-five years old. 11 †I am still as strong today as I was in the day that Moses sent me; my strength now is as my strength was then, for war and for going and coming. 12 †So now give me this hill country of which the Lord spoke on that day, for you heard on that day how the Anakim were there, with great fortified cities. It may be that the Lord will be with me, and I shall drive them out just as the Lord said.”

13 †Then Joshua blessed him, and he gave Hebron to Caleb the son of Jephunneh for an inheritance. 14 Therefore Hebron became the inheritance of Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite to this day, because he wholly followed the Lord, the God of Israel. 15 †Now the name of Hebron formerly was Kiriath-arba.[1] (Arba[2] was the greatest man among the Anakim.) And the land had rest from war.

The Allotment for Judah

15 [1]†‡The allotment for the tribe of the people of Judah according to their clans reached southward to the boundary of Edom, to the wilderness of Zin at the farthest south. [2]And their south boundary ran from the end of the Salt Sea, from the bay that faces southward. [3]It goes out southward of the ascent of Akrabbim, passes along to Zin, and goes up south of Kadesh-barnea, along by Hezron, up to Addar, turns about to Karka, [4]passes along to Azmon, goes out by the Brook of Egypt, and comes to its end at the sea.
This shall be your south boundary. [5]And the east boundary is the Salt Sea, to the mouth of the Jordan. And the boundary on the north side runs from the bay of the sea at the mouth of the Jordan. [6]And the boundary goes up to Beth-hoglah and passes along north of Beth-arabah. And the boundary goes up to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben. [7]And the boundary goes up to Debir from the Valley of Achor, and so northward, turning toward Gilgal, which is opposite the ascent of Adummim, which is on the south side of the valley. And the boundary passes along to the waters of En-shemesh and ends at En-rogel. [8]†Then the boundary goes up by the Valley of the Son of Hinnom at the southern shoulder of the Jebusite (that is, Jerusalem). And the boundary goes up to the top of the mountain that lies over against the Valley of Hinnom, on the west, at the northern end of the Valley of Rephaim. [9]Then the boundary extends from the top of the mountain to the spring of the waters of Nephtoah, and from there to the cities of Mount Ephron. Then the boundary bends around to Baalah (that is, Kiriath-jearim).
[10]And the boundary circles west of Baalah to Mount Seir, passes along to the northern shoulder of Mount Jearim (that is, Chesalon), and goes down to Beth-shemesh and passes along by Timnah. [11]The boundary goes out to the shoulder of the hill north of Ekron, then the boundary bends around to Shikkeron and passes along to Mount Baalah and goes out to Jabneel. Then the boundary comes to an end at the sea. [12]†And the west boundary was the Great Sea with its coastline. This is the boundary around the people of Judah according to their clans.

[13]† According to the commandment of the Lord to Joshua, he gave to Caleb the son of Jephunneh a portion among the people of Judah, Kiriath-arba, that is, Hebron (Arba was the father of Anak). 14And Caleb drove out from there the three sons of Anak, Sheshai and Ahiman and Talmai, the descendants of Anak. 15And he went up from there against the inhabitants of Debir. Now the name of Debir formerly was Kiriath-sepher. 16†And Caleb said, “Whoever strikes Kiriath-sepher and captures it, to him will I give Achsah my daughter as wife.” 17And Othniel the son of Kenaz, the brother of Caleb, captured it. And he gave him Achsah his daughter as wife. 18When she came to him, she urged him to ask her father for a field. And she got off her donkey, and Caleb said to her, “What do you want?” 19†She said to him, “Give me a blessing. Since you have given me the land of the Negeb, give me also springs of water.” And he gave her the upper springs and the lower springs.

20†This is the inheritance of the tribe of the people of Judah according to their clans. 21The cities belonging to the tribe of the people of Judah in the extreme south, toward the boundary of Edom, were Kabzeel, Eder, Jagur, 22Kinah, Dimonah, Adadah, 23Kedesh, Hazor, Ithnan, 24Ziph, Telem, Bealoth, 25Hazor-hadattah, Kerioth-hezron (that is, Hazor), 26Amam, Shema, Moladah, 27Hazar-gaddah, Heshmon, Beth-pelet, 28Hazar-shual, Beersheba, Biziothiah, 29Baalah, Iim, Ezem, 30Eltolad, Chesil, Hormah, 31Ziklag, Madmannah, Sansannah, 32Lebaoth, Shilhim, Ain, and Rimmon: in all, twenty-nine cities with their villages.

33And in the lowland, Eshtaol, Zorah, Ashnah, 34Zanoah, En-gannim, Tappuah, Enam, 35Jarmuth, Adullam, Socoh, Azekah, 36Shaaraim, Adithaim, Gederah, Gederothaim: fourteen cities with their villages.

37Zenan, Hadashah, Migdal-gad, 38Dilean, Mizpeh, Joktheel, 39Lachish, Bozkath, Eglon, 40Cabbon, Lahmam, Chitlish, 41Gederoth, Beth-dagon, Naamah, and Makkedah: sixteen cities with their villages.

42Libnah, Ether, Ashan, 43Iphtah, Ashnah, Nezib, 44Keilah, Achzib, and Mareshah: nine cities with their villages.

45Ekron, with its towns and its villages; 46from Ekron to the sea, all that were by the side of Ashdod, with their villages.

47Ashdod, its towns and its villages; Gaza, its towns and its villages; to the Brook of Egypt, and the Great Sea with its coastline.

48And in the hill country, Shamir, Jattir, Socoh, 49Dannah, Kiriath-sannah (that is, Debir), 50Anab, Eshtemoh, Anim, 51Goshen, Holon, and Giloh:

eleven cities with their villages.

[52]Arab, Dumah, Eshan, [53]Janim, Beth-tappuah, Aphekah, [54]Humtah, Kiriath-arba (that is, Hebron), and Zior: nine cities with their villages.

[55]Maon, Carmel, Ziph, Juttah, [56]Jezreel, Jokdeam, Zanoah, [57]Kain, Gibeah, and Timnah: ten cities with their villages.

[58]Halhul, Beth-zur, Gedor, [59]Maarath, Beth-anoth, and Eltekon: six cities with their villages.

[60]Kiriath-baal (that is, Kiriath-jearim), and Rabbah: two cities with their villages.

[61]†In the wilderness, Beth-arabah, Middin, Secacah, [62]Nibshan, the City of Salt, and Engedi: six cities with their villages.

[63]†But the Jebusites, the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the people of Judah could not drive out, so the Jebusites dwell with the people of Judah at Jerusalem to this day.

The Allotment for Ephraim and Manasseh

16 [1]The allotment of the people of Joseph went from the Jordan by Jericho, east of the waters of Jericho, into the wilderness, going up from Jericho into the hill country to Bethel. [2]Then going from Bethel to Luz, it passes along to Ataroth, the territory of the Archites. [3]Then it goes down westward to the territory of the Japhletites, as far as the territory of Lower Beth-horon, then to Gezer, and it ends at the sea.

[4]The people of Joseph, Manasseh and Ephraim, received their inheritance.

[5]The territory of the people of Ephraim by their clans was as follows: the boundary of their inheritance on the east was Ataroth-addar as far as Upper Beth-horon, [6]and the boundary goes from there to the sea. On the north is Michmethath. Then on the east the boundary turns around toward Taanath-shiloh and passes along beyond it on the east to Janoah, [7]then it goes down from Janoah to Ataroth and to Naarah, and touches Jericho, ending at the Jordan. [8]From Tappuah the boundary goes westward to the brook Kanah and ends at the sea. Such is the inheritance of the tribe of the people of Ephraim by their clans, [9]together with the towns that were set apart for the people of Ephraim within the inheritance of the Manassites, all those towns with their villages. [10]† However, they did not drive out the Canaanites who lived in Gezer, so the Canaanites have lived in the midst of Ephraim to this day but have been made to do forced labor.

17 [1]†† Then allotment was made to the people of Manasseh, for he was the firstborn of Joseph. To Machir the firstborn of Manasseh, the father of Gilead, were allotted Gilead and Bashan, because he was a man of war.
[2]And allotments were made to the rest of the people of Manasseh by their clans, Abiezer, Helek, Asriel, Shechem, Hepher, and Shemida. These were the male descendants of Manasseh the son of Joseph, by their clans.

[3]† Now Zelophehad the son of Hepher, son of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh, had no sons, but only daughters, and these are the names of his daughters: Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. [4]They approached Eleazar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun and the leaders and said, “The Lord commanded Moses to give us an inheritance along with our brothers.” So according to the mouth of the Lord he gave them an inheritance among the brothers of their father. 5Thus there fell to Manasseh ten portions, besides the land of Gilead and Bashan, which is on the other side of the Jordan, 6because the daughters of Manasseh received an inheritance along with his sons. The land of Gilead was allotted to the rest of the people of Manasseh.

7The territory of Manasseh reached from Asher to Michmethath, which is east of Shechem. Then the boundary goes along southward to the inhabitants of En-tappuah. 8The land of Tappuah belonged to Manasseh, but the town of Tappuah on the boundary of Manasseh belonged to the people of Ephraim. 9Then the boundary went down to the brook Kanah. These cities, to the south of the brook, among the cities of Manasseh, belong to Ephraim. Then the boundary of Manasseh goes on the north side of the brook and ends at the sea, 10the land to the south being Ephraim’s and that to the north being Manasseh’s, with the sea forming its boundary. On the north Asher is reached, and on the east Issachar. 11Also in Issachar and in Asher Manasseh had Beth-shean and its villages, and Ibleam and its villages, and the inhabitants of Dor and its villages, and the inhabitants of En-dor and its villages, and the inhabitants of Taanach and its villages, and the inhabitants of Megiddo and its villages; the third is Naphath.[1] 12† Yet the people of Manasseh could not take possession of those cities, but the Canaanites persisted in dwelling in that land. 13Now when the people of Israel grew strong, they put the Canaanites to forced labor, but did not utterly drive them out.

14† Then the people of Joseph spoke to Joshua, saying, “Why have you given me but one lot and one portion as an inheritance, although I am a numerous people, since all along the Lord has blessed me?” 15† And Joshua said to them, “If you are a numerous people, go up by yourselves to the forest, and there clear ground for yourselves in the land of the Perizzites and the Rephaim, since the hill country of Ephraim is too narrow for you.” 16† The people of Joseph said, “The hill country is not enough for us. Yet all the Canaanites who dwell in the plain have chariots of iron, both those in Beth-shean and its villages and those in the Valley of Jezreel.” 17† Then Joshua said to the house of Joseph, to Ephraim and Manasseh, “You are a numerous people and have great power. You shall not have one allotment only, [18]but the hill country shall be yours, for though it is a forest, you shall clear it and possess it to its farthest borders. For you shall drive out the Canaanites, though they have chariots of iron, and though they are strong."

Allotment of the Remaining Land

18 [1]‡‡Then the whole congregation of the people of Israel assembled at Shiloh and set up the tent of meeting there. The land lay subdued before them.
[2]There remained among the people of Israel seven tribes whose inheritance had not yet been apportioned. [3]†So Joshua said to the people of Israel, “How long will you put off going in to take possession of the land, which the Lord, the God of your fathers, has given you? [4]† Provide three men from each tribe, and I will send them out that they may set out and go up and down the land. They shall write a description of it with a view to their inheritances, and then come to me. [5]† They shall divide it into seven portions. Judah shall continue in his territory on the south, and the house of Joseph shall continue in their territory on the north. [6]† And you shall describe the land in seven divisions and bring the description here to me.
And I will cast lots for you here before the Lord our God. [7]† The Levites have no portion among you, for the priesthood of the Lord is their heritage.
And Gad and Reuben and half the tribe of Manasseh have received their inheritance beyond the Jordan eastward, which Moses the servant of the Lord gave them.”
[8]† So the men arose and went, and Joshua charged those who went to write the description of the land, saying, “Go up and down in the land and write a description and return to me. And I will cast lots for you here before the Lord in Shiloh.” [9]†So the men went and passed up and down in the land and wrote in a book a description of it by towns in seven divisions. Then they came to Joshua to the camp at Shiloh, [10]† and Joshua cast lots for them in Shiloh before the Lord. And there Joshua apportioned the land to the people of Israel, to each his portion.

The Inheritance for Benjamin

11 † The lot of the tribe of the people of Benjamin according to its clans came up, and the territory allotted to it fell between the people of Judah and the people of Joseph. 12 On the north side their boundary began at the Jordan. Then the boundary goes up to the shoulder north of Jericho, then up through the hill country westward, and it ends at the wilderness of Bethaven. 13 From there the boundary passes along southward in the direction of Luz, to the shoulder of Luz (that is, Bethel), then the boundary goes down to Ataroth-addar, on the mountain that lies south of Lower Beth-horon.
14 Then the boundary goes in another direction, turning on the western side southward from the mountain that lies to the south, opposite Beth-horon, and it ends at Kiriath-baal (that is, Kiriath-jearim), a city belonging to the people of Judah. This forms the western side. 15 And the southern side begins at the outskirts of Kiriath-jearim. And the boundary goes from there to Ephron,[1] to the spring of the waters of Nephtoah. 16 † Then the boundary goes down to the border of the mountain that overlooks the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, which is at the north end of the Valley of Rephaim. And it then goes down the Valley of Hinnom, south of the shoulder of the Jebusites, and downward to En-rogel. 17 Then it bends in a northerly direction going on to En-shemesh, and from there goes to Geliloth, which is opposite the ascent of Adummim. Then it goes down to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben, 18 and passing on to the north of the shoulder of Beth-arabah[2] it goes down to the Arabah. 19 Then the boundary passes on to the north of the shoulder of Beth-hoglah. And the boundary ends at the northern bay of the Salt Sea, at the south end of the Jordan: this is the southern border. 20 The Jordan forms its boundary on the eastern side. This is the inheritance of the people of Benjamin, according to their clans, boundary by boundary all around.

21 Now the cities of the tribe of the people of Benjamin according to their clans were Jericho, Beth-hoglah, Emek-keziz, 22 Beth-arabah, Zemaraim, Bethel, 23 Avvim, Parah, Ophrah, 24 Chephar-ammoni, Ophni, Geba—twelve cities with their villages: 25 Gibeon, Ramah, Beeroth, 26 Mizpeh, Chephirah, Mozah, 27 Rekem, Irpeel, Taralah, 28 † Zela, Haeleph, Jebus[3] (that is, Jerusalem), Gibeah[4] and Kiriath-jearim[5]—fourteen cities with their villages. This is the inheritance of the people of Benjamin according to its clans.

The Inheritance for Simeon

19 [1]‡‡†The second lot came out for Simeon, for the tribe of the people of Simeon, according to their clans, and their inheritance was in the midst of the inheritance of the people of Judah. [2]†And they had for their inheritance Beersheba, Sheba, Moladah, [3]Hazar-shual, Balah, Ezem, [4]Eltolad, Bethul, Hormah, [5]Ziklag, Beth-marcaboth, Hazar-susah, [6]‡Bethlebaoth, and Sharuhen—thirteen cities with their villages; [7]Ain, Rimmon, Ether, and Ashan—four cities with their villages, [8]together with all the villages around these cities as far as Baalath-beer, Ramah of the Negeb.
This was the inheritance of the tribe of the people of Simeon according to their clans. [9]†The inheritance of the people of Simeon formed part of the territory of the people of Judah. Because the portion of the people of Judah was too large for them, the people of Simeon obtained an inheritance in the midst of their inheritance.

The Inheritance for Zebulun

10 ‡ ‡ The third lot came up for the people of Zebulun, according to their clans. And the territory of their inheritance reached as far as Sarid. 11 Then their boundary goes up westward and on to Mareal and touches Dabbesheth, then the brook that is east of Jokneam. 12 From Sarid it goes in the other direction eastward toward the sunrise to the boundary of Chisloth-tabor. From there it goes to Daberath, then up to Japhia. 13 From there it passes along on the east toward the sunrise to Gath-hepher, to Eth-kazin, and going on to Rimmon it bends toward Neah, 14 then on the north the boundary turns about to Hannathon, and it ends at the Valley of Iphtahel; 15 † and Kattath, Nahalal, Shimron, Idalah, and Bethlehem—twelve cities with their villages. 16 This is the inheritance of the people of Zebulun, according to their clans—these cities with their villages.

The Inheritance for Issachar

17 ‡ ‡ The fourth lot came out for Issachar, for the people of Issachar, according to their clans. 18 Their territory included Jezreel, Chesulloth, Shunem, 19 Hapharaim, Shion, Anaharath, 20 Rabbith, Kishion, Ebez, 21 Remeth, En-gannim, En-haddah, Beth-pazzez. 22 The boundary also touches Tabor, Shahazumah, and Beth-shemesh, and its boundary ends at the Jordan—sixteen cities with their villages. 23 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the people of Issachar, according to their clans—the cities with their villages.

The Inheritance for Asher

[24]‡‡The fifth lot came out for the tribe of the people of Asher according to their clans. [25]Their territory included Helkath, Hali, Beten, Achshaph, [26]Allammelech, Amad, and Mishal. On the west it touches Carmel and Shihor-libnath, [27]then it turns eastward, it goes to Beth-dagon, and touches
Zebulun and the Valley of Iphtahel northward to Beth-emek and Neiel.
Then it continues in the north to Cabul, [28]†Ebron, Rehob, Hammon, Kanah, as far as Sidon the Great. [29]Then the boundary turns to Ramah, reaching to the fortified city of Tyre. Then the boundary turns to Hosah, and it ends at the sea; Mahalab,[1] Achzib, [30]Ummah, Aphek and Rehob—twenty-two cities with their villages. [31]This is the inheritance of the tribe of the people of Asher according to their clans—these cities with their villages.

The Inheritance for Naphtali

[32]‡‡The sixth lot came out for the people of Naphtali, for the people of Naphtali, according to their clans. [33]And their boundary ran from Heleph, from the oak in Zaanannim, and Adami-nekeb, and Jabneel, as far as Lakkum, and it ended at the Jordan. [34]Then the boundary turns westward to Aznoth-tabor and goes from there to Hukkok, touching Zebulun at the south and Asher on the west and Judah on the east at the Jordan. [35]The fortified cities are Ziddim, Zer, Hammath, Rakkath, Chinnereth, [36]Adamah, Ramah, Hazor, [37]Kedesh, Edrei, En-hazor, [38]†Yiron, Migdal-el, Horem, Beth-anath, and Beth-shemesh—nineteen cities with their villages. [39]This is the inheritance of the tribe of the people of Naphtali according to their clans—the cities with their villages.

The Inheritance for Dan

40 The seventh lot came out for the tribe of the people of Dan, according to their clans. 41 And the territory of its inheritance included Zorah, Eshtaol, Ir-shemesh, 42 Shaalabbin, Aijalon, Ithlah, 43 Elon, Timnah, Ekron, 44 Eltekeh, Gibbethon, Baalath, 45 Jehud, Bene-berak, Gath-rimmon, 46 and Me-jarkon and Rakkon with the territory over against Joppa. 47 When the territory of the people of Dan was lost to them, the people of Dan went up and fought against Leshem, and after capturing it and striking it with the sword they took possession of it and settled in it, calling Leshem, Dan, after the name of Dan their ancestor. 48 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the people of Dan, according to their clans—these cities with their villages.

The Inheritance for Joshua

49 ‡ ‡ ‡ When they had finished distributing the several territories of the land as inheritances, the people of Israel gave an inheritance among them to Joshua the son of Nun. 50 † By command of the Lord they gave him the city that he asked, Timnath-serah in the hill country of Ephraim. And he rebuilt the city and settled in it.

51 † These are the inheritances that Eleazar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun and the heads of the fathers' houses of the tribes of the people of Israel distributed by lot at Shiloh before the Lord, at the entrance of the tent of meeting. So they finished dividing the land.

The Cities of Refuge

20 [1]Then the Lord said to Joshua, [2]"Say to the people of Israel, 'Appoint the cities of refuge, of which I spoke to you through Moses, [3]† that the manslayer who strikes any person without intent or unknowingly may flee there. They shall be for you a refuge from the avenger of blood. [4]† He shall flee to one of these cities and shall stand at the entrance of the gate of the city and explain his case to the elders of that city. Then they shall take him into the city and give him a place, and he shall remain with them. [5]† And if the avenger of blood pursues him, they shall not give up the manslayer into his hand, because he struck his neighbor unknowingly, and did not hate him in the past. [6]† And he shall remain in that city until he has stood before the congregation for judgment, until the death of him who is high priest at the time. Then the manslayer may return to his own town and his own home, to the town from which he fled.'"

[7]†† So they set apart Kedesh in Galilee in the hill country of Naphtali, and Shechem in the hill country of Ephraim, and Kiriath-arba (that is, Hebron) in the hill country of Judah. [8]† And beyond the Jordan east of Jericho, they appointed Bezer in the wilderness on the tableland, from the tribe of Reuben, and Ramoth in Gilead, from the tribe of Gad, and Golan in Bashan, from the tribe of Manasseh. [9]† These were the cities designated for all the people of Israel and for the stranger sojourning among them, that anyone who killed a person without intent could flee there, so that he might not die by the hand of the avenger of blood, till he stood before the congregation.

Cities and Pasturelands Allotted to Levi

21 [1]†Then the heads of the fathers' houses of the Levites came to Eleazar the priest and to Joshua the son of Nun and to the heads of the fathers' houses of the tribes of the people of Israel. [2]†And they said to them at Shiloh in the land of Canaan, "The Lord commanded through Moses that we be given cities to dwell in, along with their pasturelands for our livestock." [3]†So by command of the Lord the people of Israel gave to the Levites the following cities and pasturelands out of their inheritance.

[4]†The lot came out for the clans of the Kohathites. So those Levites who were descendants of Aaron the priest received by lot from the tribes of Judah, Simeon, and Benjamin, thirteen cities.

[5]And the rest of the Kohathites received by lot from the clans of the tribe of Ephraim, from the tribe of Dan and the half-tribe of Manasseh, ten cities.

[6]The Gershonites received by lot from the clans of the tribe of Issachar, from the tribe of Asher, from the tribe of Naphtali, and from the half-tribe of Manasseh in Bashan, thirteen cities.

[7]The Merarites according to their clans received from the tribe of Reuben, the tribe of Gad, and the tribe of Zebulun, twelve cities.

[8]These cities and their pasturelands the people of Israel gave by lot to the Levites, as the Lord had commanded through Moses.

[9]Out of the tribe of the people of Judah and the tribe of the people of Simeon they gave the following cities mentioned by name, [10]which went to the descendants of Aaron, one of the clans of the Kohathites who belonged to the people of Levi; since the lot fell to them first. [11]They gave them Kiriath-arba (Arba being the father of Anak), that is Hebron, in the hill country of Judah, along with the pasturelands around it. [12]But the fields of the city and its villages had been given to Caleb the son of Jephunneh as his possession.

[13]And to the descendants of Aaron the priest they gave Hebron, the city of refuge for the manslayer, with its pasturelands, Libnah with its pasturelands, [14]Jattir with its pasturelands, Eshtemoa with its pasturelands, [15]Holon with its pasturelands, Debir with its pasturelands, [16]Ain with its pasturelands, Juttah with its pasturelands, Beth-shemesh with its pasturelands—nine cities out of these two tribes; [17]then out of the tribe of Benjamin, Gibeon with its pasturelands, Geba with its pasturelands, [18]Anathoth with its pasturelands, and Almon with its pasturelands—four cities. [19]The cities of the descendants of Aaron, the priests, were in all thirteen cities with their pasturelands.

[20]As to the rest of the Kohathites belonging to the Kohathite clans of the Levites, the cities allotted to them were out of the tribe of Ephraim. [21]To them were given Shechem, the city of refuge for the manslayer, with its pasturelands in the hill country of Ephraim, Gezer with its pasturelands, [22]Kibzaim with its pasturelands, Beth-horon with its pasturelands—four cities; [23]and out of the tribe of Dan, Elteke with its pasturelands, Gibbethon with its pasturelands, [24]Aijalon with its pasturelands, Gath-rimmon with its pasturelands—four cities; [25]and out of the half-tribe of Manasseh, Taanach with its pasturelands, and Gath-rimmon with its pasturelands—two cities. [26]The cities of the clans of the rest of the Kohathites were ten in all with their pasturelands.

[27]And to the Gershonites, one of the clans of the Levites, were given out of the half-tribe of Manasseh, Golan in Bashan with its pasturelands, the city of refuge for the manslayer, and Beeshterah with its pasturelands—two cities; [28]and out of the tribe of Issachar, Kishion with its pasturelands, Daberath with its pasturelands, [29]Jarmuth with its pasturelands, En-gannim with its pasturelands—four cities; [30]and out of the tribe of Asher, Mishal with its pasturelands, Abdon with its pasturelands, [31]Helkath with its pasturelands, and Rehob with its pasturelands—four cities; [32]and out of the tribe of Naphtali, Kedesh in Galilee with its pasturelands, the city of refuge for the manslayer, Hammoth-dor with its pasturelands, and Kartan with its pasturelands—three cities. [33]The cities of the several clans of the Gershonites were in all thirteen cities with their pasturelands.

[34]And to the rest of the Levites, the Merarite clans, were given out of the tribe of Zebulun, Jokneam with its pasturelands, Kartah with its pasturelands, [35]Dimnah with its pasturelands, Nahalal with its pasturelands —four cities; [36]and out of the tribe of Reuben, Bezer with its pasturelands, Jahaz with its pasturelands, [37]Kedemoth with its pasturelands, and Mephaath with its pasturelands—four cities; [38]and out of the tribe of Gad,

Ramoth in Gilead with its pasturelands, the city of refuge for the manslayer, Mahanaim with its pasturelands, [39]Heshbon with its pasturelands, Jazer with its pasturelands—four cities in all. [40]As for the cities of the several Merarite clans, that is, the remainder of the clans of the Levites, those allotted to them were in all twelve cities.

[41]The cities of the Levites in the midst of the possession of the people of Israel were in all forty-eight cities with their pasturelands. [42]These cities each had its pasturelands around it. So it was with all these cities.

[43]†† Thus the Lord gave to Israel all the land that he swore to give to their fathers. And they took possession of it, and they settled there. [44]† And the Lord gave them rest on every side just as he had sworn to their fathers. Not one of all their enemies had withstood them, for the Lord had given all their enemies into their hands. [45]† Not one word of all the good promises that the Lord had made to the house of Israel had failed; all came to pass.

The Eastern Tribes Return Home

22 [1]At that time Joshua summoned the Reubenites and the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh, [2]and said to them, “You have kept all that Moses the servant of the Lord commanded you and have obeyed my voice in all that I have commanded you. [3]You have not forsaken your brothers these many days, down to this day, but have been careful to keep the charge of the Lord your God. [4]And now the Lord your God has given rest to your brothers, as he promised them. Therefore turn and go to your tents in the land where your possession lies, which Moses the servant of the Lord gave you on the other side of the Jordan. [5]Only be very careful to observe the commandment and the law that Moses the servant of the Lord commanded you, to love the Lord your God, and to walk in all his ways and to keep his commandments and to cling to him and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul.” [6]So Joshua blessed them and sent them away, and they went to their tents.

[7]Now to the one half of the tribe of Manasseh Moses had given a possession in Bashan, but to the other half Joshua had given a possession beside their brothers in the land west of the Jordan. And when Joshua sent them away to their homes and blessed them, [8]he said to them, “Go back to your tents with much wealth and with very much livestock, with silver, gold, bronze, and iron, and with much clothing. Divide the spoil of your enemies with your brothers.” [9]So the people of Reuben and the people of Gad and the half-tribe of Manasseh returned home, parting from the people of Israel at Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan, to go to the land of Gilead, their own land of which they had possessed themselves by command of the Lord through Moses.

The Eastern Tribes' Altar of Witness

10 ‡† And when they came to the region of the Jordan that is in the land of Canaan, the people of Reuben and the people of Gad and the half-tribe of Manasseh built there an altar by the Jordan, an altar of imposing size. 11 And the people of Israel heard it said, "Behold, the people of Reuben and the people of Gad and the half-tribe of Manasseh have built the altar at the frontier of the land of Canaan, in the region about the Jordan, on the side that belongs to the people of Israel." 12 † And when the people of Israel heard of it, the whole assembly of the people of Israel gathered at Shiloh to make war against them.

13 † Then the people of Israel sent to the people of Reuben and the people of Gad and the half-tribe of Manasseh, in the land of Gilead, Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest, 14 † and with him ten chiefs, one from each of the tribal families of Israel, every one of them the head of a family among the clans of Israel. 15 † And they came to the people of Reuben, the people of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, in the land of Gilead, and they said to them, 16 † "Thus says the whole congregation of the Lord, 'What is this breach of faith that you have committed against the God of Israel in turning away this day from following the Lord by building yourselves an altar this day in rebellion against the Lord? 17 † Have we not had enough of the sin at Peor from which even yet we have not cleansed ourselves, and for which there came a plague upon the congregation of the Lord, 18 † that you too must turn away this day from following the Lord? And if you too rebel against the Lord today then tomorrow he will be angry with the whole congregation of Israel. 19 ‡† But now, if the land of your possession is unclean, pass over into the Lord's land where the Lord's tabernacle stands, and take for yourselves a possession among us. Only do not rebel against the Lord or make us as rebels by building for yourselves an altar other than the altar of the Lord our God. 20 † Did not Achan the son of Zerah break faith in the matter of the devoted things, and wrath fell upon all the congregation of Israel? And he did not perish alone for his iniquity.'"

21 Then the people of Reuben, the people of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh said in answer to the heads of the families of Israel, 22 † "The Mighty One, God, the Lord! The Mighty One, God, the Lord! He knows; and let Israel itself know! If it was in rebellion or in breach of faith against the Lord, do not spare us today [23]† for building an altar to turn away from following the Lord. Or if we did so to offer burnt offerings or grain offerings or peace offerings on it, may the Lord himself take vengeance.

[24]No, but we did it from fear that in time to come your children might say to our children, 'What have you to do with the Lord, the God of Israel? [25]For the Lord has made the Jordan a boundary between us and you, you people of Reuben and people of Gad. You have no portion in the Lord.' So your children might make our children cease to worship the Lord. [26]† Therefore we said, 'Let us now build an altar, not for burnt offering, nor for sacrifice, [27]† but to be a witness between us and you, and between our generations after us, that we do perform the service of the Lord in his presence with our burnt offerings and sacrifices and peace offerings, so your children will not say to our children in time to come, "You have no portion in the Lord."' [28]† And we thought, If this should be said to us or to our descendants in time to come, we should say, 'Behold, the copy of the altar of the Lord, which our fathers made, not for burnt offerings, nor for sacrifice, but to be a witness between us and you.' [29]Far be it from us that we should rebel against the Lord and turn away this day from following the Lord by building an altar for burnt offering, grain offering, or sacrifice, other than the altar of the Lord our God that stands before his tabernacle!"

[30]† When Phinehas the priest and the chiefs of the congregation, the heads of the families of Israel who were with him, heard the words that the people of Reuben and the people of Gad and the people of Manasseh spoke, it was good in their eyes. [31]† And Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest said to the people of Reuben and the people of Gad and the people of Manasseh,
"Today we know that the Lord is in our midst, because you have not committed this breach of faith against the Lord. Now you have delivered the people of Israel from the hand of the Lord."

[32]Then Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest, and the chiefs, returned from the people of Reuben and the people of Gad in the land of Gilead to the land of Canaan, to the people of Israel, and brought back word to them.
[33]† And the report was good in the eyes of the people of Israel. And the people of Israel blessed God and spoke no more of making war against them to destroy the land where the people of Reuben and the people of Gad were settled. [34]†The people of Reuben and the people of Gad called the altar Witness, “For,” they said, “it is a witness between us that the Lord is God.”

Joshua's Charge to Israel's Leaders

23 [1]†A long time afterward, when the Lord had given rest to Israel from all their surrounding enemies, and Joshua was old and well advanced in years, [2]†Joshua summoned all Israel, its elders and heads, its judges and officers, and said to them, "I am now old and well advanced in years. [3]†And you have seen all that the Lord your God has done to all these nations for your sake, for it is the Lord your God who has fought for you. [4]†Behold, I have allotted to you as an inheritance for your tribes those nations that remain, along with all the nations that I have already cut off, from the Jordan to the Great Sea in the west. [5]The Lord your God will push them back before you and drive them out of your sight. And you shall possess their land, just as the Lord your God promised you. [6]†Therefore, be very strong to keep and to do all that is written in the Book of the Law of Moses, turning aside from it neither to the right hand nor to the left, [7]†that you may not mix with these nations remaining among you or make mention of the names of their gods or swear by them or serve them or bow down to them, [8]but you shall cling to the Lord your God just as you have done to this day.
[9]†For the Lord has driven out before you great and strong nations. And as for you, no man has been able to stand before you to this day. [10]‡†One man of you puts to flight a thousand, since it is the Lord your God who fights for you, just as he promised you. [11]Be very careful, therefore, to love the Lord your God. [12]†For if you turn back and cling to the remnant of these nations remaining among you and make marriages with them, so that you associate with them and they with you, [13]†know for certain that the Lord your God will no longer drive out these nations before you, but they shall be a snare and a trap for you, a whip on your sides and thorns in your eyes, until you perish from off this good ground that the Lord your God has given you.

[14]†"And now I am about to go the way of all the earth, and you know in your hearts and souls, all of you, that not one word has failed of all the good things[1] that the Lord your God promised concerning you. All have come to pass for you; not one of them has failed. [15]‡But just as all the good things that the Lord your God promised concerning you have been fulfilled for you, so the LORD will bring upon you all the evil things, until he has destroyed you from off this good land that the LORD your God has given you, [16]if you transgress the covenant of the LORD your God, which he commanded you, and go and serve other gods and bow down to them. Then the anger of the LORD will be kindled against you, and you shall perish quickly from off the good land that he has given to you."

The Covenant Renewal at Shechem

24 [1]‡ †Joshua gathered all the tribes of Israel to Shechem and summoned the elders, the heads, the judges, and the officers of Israel. And they presented themselves before God. [2]‡ ‡ †And Joshua said to all the people, “Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel, ‘Long ago, your fathers lived beyond the Euphrates, Terah, the father of Abraham and of Nahor; and they served other gods. [3]†Then I took your father Abraham from beyond the River and led him through all the land of Canaan, and made his offspring many. I gave him Isaac. [4]†And to Isaac I gave Jacob and Esau. And I gave Esau the hill country of Seir to possess, but Jacob and his children went down to Egypt. [5]And I sent Moses and Aaron, and I plagued Egypt with what I did in the midst of it, and afterward I brought you out.

[6]“‘Then I brought your fathers out of Egypt, and you came to the sea. And the Egyptians pursued your fathers with chariots and horsemen to the Red Sea. [7]†And when they cried to the Lord, he put darkness between you and the Egyptians and made the sea come upon them and cover them; and your eyes saw what I did in Egypt. And you lived in the wilderness a long time. [8]†Then I brought you to the land of the Amorites, who lived on the other side of the Jordan. They fought with you, and I gave them into your hand, and you took possession of their land, and I destroyed them before you. [9]† Then Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab, arose and fought against Israel. And he sent and invited Balaam the son of Beor to curse you, [10]†but I would not listen to Balaam. Indeed, he blessed you. So I delivered you out of his hand. [11]And you went over the Jordan and came to Jericho, and the leaders of Jericho fought against you, and also the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Girgashites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites. And I gave them into your hand. [12]†And I sent the hornet before you, which drove them out before you, the two kings of the Amorites; it was not by your sword or by your bow. [13]†I gave you a land on which you had not labored and cities that you had not built, and you dwell in them. You eat the fruit of vineyards and olive orchards that you did not plant.’

Choose Whom You Will Serve

14 ‡ ‡ † “Now therefore fear the Lord and serve him in sincerity and in faithfulness. Put away the gods that your fathers served beyond the River and in Egypt, and serve the Lord. 15 ‡ And if it is evil in your eyes to serve the Lord, choose this day whom you will serve, whether the gods your fathers served in the region beyond the River, or the gods of the Amorites in whose land you dwell. But as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.”
16 Then the people answered, “Far be it from us that we should forsake the Lord to serve other gods, 17 for it is the Lord our God who brought us and our fathers up from the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery, and who did those great signs in our sight and preserved us in all the way that we went, and among all the peoples through whom we passed. 18 † And the Lord drove out before us all the peoples, the Amorites who lived in the land. Therefore we also will serve the Lord, for he is our God.” 19 † But Joshua said to the people, “You are not able to serve the Lord, for he is a holy God. He is a jealous God; he will not forgive your transgressions or your sins. 20 † If you forsake the Lord and serve foreign gods, then he will turn and do you harm and consume you, after having done you good.” 21 † And the people said to Joshua, “No, but we will serve the Lord.” 22 † Then Joshua said to the people, “You are witnesses against yourselves that you have chosen the Lord, to serve him.” And they said, “We are witnesses.” 23 † He said, “Then put away the foreign gods that are among you, and incline your heart to the Lord, the God of Israel.” 24 And the people said to Joshua, “The Lord our God we will serve, and his voice we will obey.” 25 † So Joshua made a covenant with the people that day, and put in place statutes and rules for them at Shechem. 26 † And Joshua wrote these words in the Book of the Law of God. And he took a large stone and set it up there under the terebinth that was by the sanctuary of the Lord. 27 † And Joshua said to all the people, “Behold, this stone shall be a witness against us, for it has heard all the words of the Lord that he spoke to us. Therefore it shall be a witness against you, lest you deal falsely with your God.” 28 † So Joshua sent the people away, every man to his inheritance.

Joshua's Death and Burial

29 ‡ † After these things Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the Lord, died, being 110 years old. 30 † And they buried him in his own inheritance at Timnath-serah, which is in the hill country of Ephraim, north of the mountain of Gaash.

31 † Israel served the Lord all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders who outlived Joshua and had known all the work that the Lord did for Israel.

32 † As for the bones of Joseph, which the people of Israel brought up from Egypt, they buried them at Shechem, in the piece of land that Jacob bought from the sons of Hamor the father of Shechem for a hundred pieces of money.[1] It became an inheritance of the descendants of Joseph.

33 † And Eleazar the son of Aaron died, and they buried him at Gibeah, the town of Phinehas his son, which had been given him in the hill country of Ephraim.

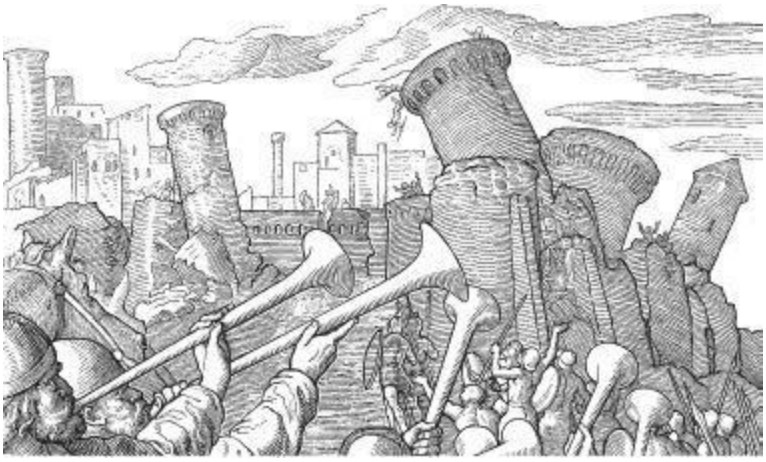
Introduction to Joshua

Reading Joshua

A bronze blade growls and yawns as a young man draws it across the whetstone. Its edges glimmer copper-bright, like ripples on the Jordan at dawn. He turns over the broad blade, nearly as long as his forearm, and eyes it carefully. The grinding has smoothed out the dents caused by helmets and shields. The blade whistles as he wields it in mock combat. His thumb feels the letters of his father's name and his grandfather's name, etched along the blade's spine. Another year, and the young man will leave the sharpening to his younger brother. Another year, at age 20, he will join the men in battle.



The conquest of Canaan did not happen overnight, nor was it completed during Joshua's lifetime. The Book of Joshua covers only seven years and three campaigns against the people of Canaan, a struggle that would last until David's reign c 400 years later. Yet, Joshua's account anticipates full success and shows the people the way to ultimate victory: trust in the Lord, for He always fulfills His promises.

Luther on Joshua

Joshua, however, denotes Christ, because of his name and because of what he does. Although he was a servant of Moses, yet after his master's death he leads the people in and parcels out the inheritance of the Lord. Thus Christ, who was first made under the Law (Gal. 4:4), served it for us; then, when it was ended, He established another ministry, that of the Gospel, by which we are led through Him into the spiritual kingdom of a conscience joyful and serene in God, where we reign forever. (AE 9:43)

Joshua also fulfilled it [Dt 27–28] after the city of Ai was taken (Josh. 8:30 ff.); there both the blessings and the curses were read before the whole people, and burnt offerings and thankofferings were made, as Moses says here. Of course, this was done that through the external show the crude people (as I have said) might be stirred to remember the Law, for people are moved by outward ceremonies more than by bare words alone….

[Moses] recounts no blessings here, but only cursings, although he assigns seven tribes to blessings and it is written in Joshua that blessings were also recounted (Joshua 8:33 ff.). I think that the reason for this was that Moses shows himself to be the minister of sin and death through the Law, which holds all under a curse (Gal. 3:10). Finally this people of the Law perished through the curse. But Joshua adds blessings, that he might point to Christ, who blesses all who are under the curse of the Law and yearn for Him. On account of Christ, Judah is classified among those who ought to stand forth to receive a blessing, because He [Christ] was to come from Judah. (AE 9:258–59)

This [Jsh 24:19–20] was the farewell speech of Joshua. He admonishes the people with extraordinary feeling, as if he would say, "I fear that you will provoke God's wrath again. If so, God will punish you, for he can't tolerate this. If you provoke him and fall away from him, God will be angry," etc. Another solution is that the earlier words [24:14–15] were said of the ungodly and the later words [vv 19–20] of the godly, just as we have many psalms in which, here and there, people are praised and are lifted up to heaven and immediately after are put down into hell; by synecdoche, in the former case the godly in the whole people are spoken of, and in the latter case the ungodly. We do the same thing in our churches when we preach; we praise those among the people who are good and then, on the other hand, we reprove the bad and the ungodly. So the church is called holy, although only the smallest part of it is actually holy. (AE 54:301)

Challenges for Readers

Joshua versus Judges. Critics have questioned the historical reliability of Joshua and Judges. In fact, they have read these biblical books in opposition to each other and incorporated archaeological findings in attempts to reach what they regard as a more faithful reconstruction of Israel's conquests. They have derived at least three theories: (1) Israel conquered the Canaanites much later than biblical accounts suggest; (2) Israel peacefully infiltrated Canaan; and (3) Israel emerged from an existing population of Canaanites and never came out of Egypt. Responding to these theories, interpreters carefully studied the Scriptures and the archaeological data to arrive at another explanation: Joshua led three successful campaigns of conquest in Canaan, but these campaigns did not permanently defeat or remove the Canaanites. Over time, Israel's population spread from the central highlands to occupy more and more of Canaan. Judges describes the struggles the Israelites faced because they settled among the Canaanites, contrary to God's command (see pp 380–81).

Sequence and Length of Events. Based on 1Ki 6:1, the exodus took place in 1446 BC, 480 years before Solomon built the temple. Subtracting the reigns of Solomon, David, and Saul, as well as the time for the conquest and the wilderness wanderings, one ends up with a figure of c 300 years for the time of the judges. However, the total time for leaders, oppressions, and periods of rest in Judges is 407 years. Some of the time periods in Judges are likely rounded off (40 and multiples of 40 appear numerous times). Other time periods may overlap because some accounts could describe local rather than national events. (See chronology, pp xcii–cix.) See notes, Jgs 11:26; 20:28.

Ethics of Conquest. Various features of Joshua cause ethical concerns for modern readers. For example, the practice of devoting the Canaanites to destruction (cf 2:10; see p 6) appears throughout Joshua. (Also, Rahab lies to protect the Israelite spies [see note, 2:5]). Readers should recognize that the specific practices God commanded for the conquest are not commanded for armies of all times. See p 376. The intensive conquest of the land seems to have lasted seven years, 1406–1399 BC. We arrive at that figure of seven years partly from chronological information concerning the life of Caleb.

He was 78 when the conquest began and 85 when it was finished. (Some explicit chronological information appears in 14:10.)

Blessings for Readers

As you study the Book of Joshua, consider how the Lord prepared Joshua to lead Israel. He succeeded, not because he was a brilliant strategist or charismatic genius, but because he believed "this Book of the Law" (1:8), that is, God's Holy Word. Joshua continually emphasizes that the Lord gave them the land according to His promise, that the Lord fulfills His Word and so grants success. Even the name Joshua is a word of promise, anticipating the appearance of a later and greater leader for God's people who would give them decisive victory (see note, 1:1).

Just as the Lord called Israel to remain steadfast in the physical and spiritual struggle they faced among the Canaanites, He calls us today to be spiritually steadfast. Christ won salvation for us on the cross, and through His Word, He continues to equip us and rally us for challenges today.

The Peoples of Canaan

The Seven Nations. Jsh 3:10 names seven nations that the Lord will drive out. These seven nations are representative and stand for the complete number of Israel's enemies that are ripe for judgment. Similar lists are found in Gn 10:15–18; 13:7; 15:19–21; Ex 3:8; Nu 13:29; Dt 7:1; cf Ac 13:19.

Scripture offers the background needed to uncover the identities of the seven nations and the reason God desires their expulsion from Canaan. One commonality shared by these nations is their relationship to Noah (Gn 10:15–19). (Only the Perizzites fail to receive mention in Gn 10. Every other nation finds its origin in Canaan, the son of Ham and the grandson of Noah.) As a result of Ham dishonoring his father, Noah, Ham's son Canaan was cursed (Gn 9:24–25). Thus, Gn 9:25 portends that the Canaanites would be "a servant of servants," for the Semitic root of his name means "to sink, be low."

The peoples occupying the land of Canaan likewise share a common rejection of God's grace and subsequent decadence. Dt 18:9–13 lists the detestable practices of the nations already in the land. Among these are child sacrifices, the practice of divination or sorcery, and occult activity. In addition, Lv 18 and 20 detail the rampant sexual depravity among the Canaanites.

Canaanites: Not only do the Canaanites derive their name from the son of Ham, but they also lend that name to the land in which they settled, as well as to the peoples who settled along the Great Sea and along the Jordan River (Nu 13:29; Jsh 5:1; 11:3). Interestingly, some scholars attribute the creation of the Semitic alphabet, which developed into the Hebrew and Northwest Semitic languages, to the Canaanites. The Phoenicians carried this Semitic alphabet to Greece, where it was adapted and then carried by Etruscans to Italy. "God thus used the heathen Canaanites, by way of their alphabet, to help disseminate His word" (CC Jsh, p 177). What a wonderful example of how God uses all things for His benefit.

Amorites: Like the Canaanites, the Amorites were descendants of Canaan, the son of Ham. The Amorites settled the southern slopes of the Judean mountains (Dt 1:7, 19, 20) and were principally a farming culture. Sihon and Og were both Amorite kings defeated before the Israelites crossed the Jordan (Nu 21:21–35; Dt 1:4–7). Five Amorite kings found God's wrath through Joshua (Jsh 10:10) and suffered additional defeats (Jsh 11:8). The Amorites spoke a Semitic language and, like the Canaanites, often lent their name in a broad sense to all the area of Canaan (Gn 15:16; Jsh 24:15).

Jebusites: The Jebusites lived in the Canaanite hill country (Nu 13:29; Jsh 11:3). Their capital city was known as Jebus (Jerusalem) at the time of Joshua (Jsh 10; 15:63; 2Sm 5:5–9). Jebus was captured and burned by the men of Judah (cf Jgs 1:8), but the Jebusites regained possession and held it until the time of David, Israel's greatest king (2Sm 5:6–9; 1Ch 11:4–9). Not all of the Jebusites were destroyed, however, because David later purchased Araunah the Jebusite's threshing floor (2Sm 24:18–24), which later became the foundation for the Jerusalem temple. Under Solomon, the pre-Israelite peoples like the Jebusites were made slaves (1Ki 9:20–21).

Hittites: Gn 15 ties the Hittites to Canaan. They were of Indo-European origin. Some scholars speculate that the Hittites had physical features similar to the Mongols, while others believe the Hittites may have emigrated from Russia. In any case, the cave Abraham bought as a tomb for his beloved wife, Sarah, was purchased from Ephron the Hittite (Gn 23:3–20). Esau took a wife from among the Hittites (Gn 26:34). The Hittites are closely aligned with the Amorites and mentioned as living among the mountains of Canaan. They were found among the Amorites in the mountain region of Judah when Joshua and the spies entered the Promised Land (Nu 13:29). In addition, they took part with other Canaanites in campaigns against Israel (Jsh 9:1).

Hivites: Listed among the lineage of Canaan (Gn 10:15–19), scholars believe that the Hivites inhabited Gibeon (Jsh 9:7, 17), the area below Mount Hermon (Jsh 11:3), and the Lebanon mountains (Jgs 3:3). The Hivites remained in Canaan until the time of King David (2Sm 24:7). The Hivites were not a warlike people; they made a treaty with Joshua in Jsh 9. The Bible indicates that one reason why God allowed a few of these Canaanite peoples like the Hivites to remain was so that the Israelites might be trained in warfare and to test Israel to see if they would obey God's commands to remove them (cf Jgs 3:3–4).

Girgashites: The Girgashites comprised a nation west of the Jordan (Jsh 24:11). Like many other peoples in Canaan, the Girgashites were descendants of Ham through Canaan. Outside of Scripture, the words grgs and bn grgs ("son of Grgs") have been found in Ugaritic literature, suggesting that the name was familiar in Canaan. Along with the lands of other Canaanite nations, God promised the land of the Girgashites to Abraham and his descendants (cf Gn 15:17–21).

Perizzites: Very little is known about the Perizzites. Along with other pre-Israelite nations, the Perizzites are mentioned in several places outside of Joshua (Gn 15:20; 34:30; 1Ki 9:20). Some scholars believe the name Perizzite links them to occupants of rural areas or unwalled towns. However, the Bible places the Perizzites in the hill country of Canaan (Jsh 11:3), perhaps in the forest country between Judah and Ephraim (cf Gn 15:18–21; Jsh 17:15). In spite of their victory over this nation (Jsh 12:7–8), the Israelites intermarried with the Perizzites (Jgs 3:5–6) and never fully removed them from the land (Ezr 9:1).

The Philistines. The Philistines were not descendants of Canaanite tribes but were non-Semites who came from Caphtor (Crete; Am 9:7; Jer 47:4). They may be the "Sea Peoples" mentioned in Egyptian texts (see note, Gn 21:22); it is not clear when they settled in Canaan. Their country ultimately stretched from Joppa to south of Gaza. They formed a league of five cities: Gaza, Ekron, Ashdod, Ashkelon, and Gath. Philistines later dominated Israel (Jgs 3:31; 13–16; 1Sm 7:3–14) and held a monopoly on iron (1Sm 13:19–22). They were defeated by Jonathan (1Sm 13–14) and subjugated by David and made a tributary of Israel (1Sm 17–18). During the divided monarchy, the Philistines regained power (1Ki 15:27; 2Ch 21:16; 28:18). See note, 2Sm 15:18.

Divine Warfare

Satan and Man's Sin Started Warfare

Before the rebellion of Satan, war did not exist…. Humanity's conflict is first vertical, because reprobate man naturally hates the just and holy God, and then horizontal, between people, even between husband and wife (Gn 3:16), who are united as one flesh.

The first point that must be made, then, is that wars will continue to flare up between sinful human beings as long as they live in this fallen world, in which Satan is at work. The devil is the original murderer, and he continues to foster hatred and killing. Christ himself declared that there would continue to be wars and rumors of war, and that "it is necessary for this to happen" (Mt 24:6; similar are Mk 13:7; Lk 21:9). Only when he returns in glory to bring this world to its end and fully subjugate Satan will war cease.

Therefore every utopian religion or philosophy that has the goal of eliminating all earthly warfare is doomed to fail because it fails to reckon with the total depravity of human nature and the ongoing activity of Satan in this world.

Christ's Divine Warfare Achieves Victory and Salvation

The second and crucial point is that divine warfare is God's means for saving his chosen people. For the sake of OT Israel, God engaged in temporal and national warfare, while for the salvation of all believers of both Testaments, God won the spiritual war through the physical death of Jesus on the cross and his bodily resurrection. Without this divine warfare, mankind would have been doomed to eternity in hell, but God's warfare enabled Israel to inherit the promised land, and his victory on the cross has made all believers heirs of eternal life in the new heavens and new earth….

The book of Joshua has striking historical records of the personal involvement of the LORD in the battles of Israel for the promised land. God told Israel that it was "not by [their] sword and not by [their] bow" that they were victorious over the Canaanites (Josh 24:12). The LORD himself must fight and achieve the victory for the benefit of his people, in keeping with the biblical doctrine of divine monergism (versus synergism) in salvation….

Divine Warfare as God's Just Punishment on Human Sin

A third point is that justified warfare is God's means to punish evildoers and that such punishment is necessary to curb sin and maintain temporal order. God carries out such punishment not only for the good and stability of societies, but also so that his church can do its proper work of proclaiming the Gospel. A pacifist religion or philosophy actually contributes to violence and iniquity by failing to curtail evildoers—by death if necessary. God may be patient for long periods of time, justice may be delayed, and evildoers may evade their temporal due, but the final day of reckoning will come.

To comprehend the twofold meaning of the military conquest of Canaan by Israel in the book of Joshua, we need to bear in mind that the LORD is a God of Law and Gospel, judgment and salvation. He damns the impenitent to eternity in hell and justifies penitent believers, making them heirs of eternal life in the new heavens and new earth. Both of these actions are expressions of his character as the one holy and righteous God….

The Church's Warfare Is Spiritual

We see the long history of divine warfare culminate at the cross in the suffering and death of Jesus Christ, who atoned vicariously for the sin and rebellion of the whole world. As he lay dead in the tomb, he appeared vanquished by the devil, who had entered his betrayer, Judas. But on earth's gladdest day, he rose as the victor, having conquered sin, Satan, and death. Paradoxically, the instrument of his death was his instrument of conquest: "Having disarmed the powers and authorities, he made a public spectacle of them, triumphing over them by the cross" (Col 2:15). He is the stronger man who has disarmed the strong man—the devil—and plundered the devil's palace (Lk 11:22) by freeing those the devil had kept in bondage….

Through the preaching of the Gospel and administration of the Sacraments, lost sinners are transferred from the kingdom of Satan into the kingdom of God. This transfer took place through OT Israel too, as in the cases of the former prostitute Rahab and her family (Josh 6:22–25) and the Gibeonites (Joshua 9), who were spared, incorporated into God's Israel, and justified before God (Heb 11:31 and James 2:25 affirm this about Rahab). The Gibeonites even became sanctuary servants, cutting wood and drawing water for "the house of my [Joshua's] God" and "for the altar of the LORD" (Josh 9:23, 27).

The Christian Gospel in Word and Sacrament rescues the perishing from eternal destruction and fortifies them to do battle against the forces of evil within (the sinful flesh) and without (the devil and the world) that assail them. It is necessary for Christians to oppose detestable practices such as idolatry, sexual immorality, homosexuality, abortion, euthanasia, and occult practices, which correspond to the ancient abominations of the Canaanites. The church rightly prohibits God's people from engaging in such practices. The church also rightly endeavors to persuade society at large to prohibit such evils, and to do so Christians work peacefully through lawful means, not by violence….

A Christian View of Warfare Must Distinguish Law from Gospel

The church and individual Christians must carefully distinguish Law and Gospel in order to follow and implement what God's Word says about warfare. Physical warfare may be a justified use of force according to God's Law, since God uses nations, armies, and society's laws to punish evil and protect the common welfare. However, earthly warfare cannot bring about God's kingdom of grace, which comes only through the Gospel in Word and Sacrament. In the OT too, it was not Israel's warfare, but faith in God's acts of salvation in fulfillment of his Word that caused Rahab and the Gibeonites to be saved.

Study Notes

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:1 After the death of Moses. Israel mourned for 30 days (Dt 34:8; 1406 BC). The Lord spoke to Joshua in Abib (later called Nisan), our Mar/Apr (4:19). servant of the LORD. See p 7. Joshua will receive this title in 24:29. Joshua. Originally Hoshea ("salvation"), expanded by Moses to Joshua or "Jehoshuah" ("the LORD/Yahweh is salvation"; Nu 13:16). Later in the OT, it was spelled Jeshua. Its contracted form is Jesus; Joshua's name and that of the Savior are identical in the Gk NT (Ac 7:45; Heb 4:8). Cyr Jer: "Jesus the son of Nave was in many things a type of Him. For when he began to rule over the people, he began from Jordan, whence Christ also, after He was baptized, began to preach the gospel" (NPNF 2 7:60). assistant. Hbr term is used of Joshua in Ex 24:13; 33:11; Nu 11:28. Joshua accompanied Moses on Mount Sinai, guarded Moses' tent, and deferred to Moses by calling him "my lord."

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:2 arise. "Prepare to" or "get ready to," referring to some preliminary activity.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:4 Cf Dt 11:24. Four corners of Israel's territory would be the wilderness, Lebanon, the Euphrates River, and the Great (Mediterranean/Western) Sea. Cf Nu 34:1–12; Dt 1:7.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:5 stand before you. Hbr expression for holding one's ground or position. In military confrontations with enemies, Joshua will prevail. I will be with you. See "be with," p 5.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:6 strong and courageous. Encapsulates theme of vv 1–9, as seen in repetition of terms in vv 7, 9. Hbr often uses two synonymous terms for a single idea in order to emphasize it. inherit. Central theme of Jsh, namely, that the Lord fulfills His promise to give the land of Canaan to His covenant people as an inheritance. See "portion," p 7.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:7 law. See p 7. turn … right … left. See note, 2Ch 34:2. success. See ESV note. When Joshua studies God's written Word, he will act wisely and be successful. For the believer, "success" is measured by God's definition, not by the world's definition (cf Lk 16:22–23).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:8 Book of the Law. First five books of our Bible. See p 5. meditate. See p 842. prosperous. Parallel with "success" (see note, v 7), Israel becomes "prosperous" when the Lord leads Joshua to conquer and allot the land of Canaan, just as He has promised.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:9 commanded. Joshua now carries an authority imparted by the Lord Himself. Therefore, he has no reason to fear his big task or to doubt its success, because the Lord supplies what is necessary to carry out His commands.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:1–9 The Lord encourages Joshua with assurances of success and promises of His presence through His empowering Word, as Joshua begins the critical work of conquering and allotting the Promised Land to Israel. If left alone in our sin and weakness, we would not be able to serve God and to become successful in His eyes. Yet, God enables us through the promises of His Scriptures. He makes us strong and courageous for service by assuring us that through Immanuel ("God with us") we are forgiven and will inherit not a piece of land, such as Israel, but a better, eternal home (Heb 11:16). • Fill us, O Lord, with the promises of Your Word, so blessed by Your presence that we may serve You with strength and courage and find success through You. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:10 officers. Hbr refers to subordinate administrators in the service of government, military, or society.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:11 provisions. May imply military provisions (Jgs 20:10); probably includes food supplies. God's special provision of manna would not cease until Israel was in the Promised Land some days later (5:12). giving. Joshua emphasizes that the land is a gift from the Lord in accord with His promise to Abraham (Gn 17:8); in this chapter alone, "give" is used in vv 2, 3, 6, 11, 13. See "portion," p 7.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:12–13 half-tribe of Manasseh. See note, Nu 32:33. rest. Reuben, Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh are already enjoying the "rest" of physical security in their share of the land (13:8–32). Their enemies east of the Jordan are defeated, and they are settled after 40 years on the move. The rest they enjoy points forward to the greater rest found in Jesus (Heb 4:1–11).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:14 beyond the Jordan. The Transjordan, or land east of the Jordan. men of valor. Strong warriors, the special fighting forces of these three tribes (cf 6:2; 8:3; 10:7). See note, Ru 2:1.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:15 rest to your brothers. The other 9½ tribes would receive their rest from the Lord when the Canaanites west of the Jordan were defeated and their land was allotted to Israel, some seven years later (based on the age of Caleb at the beginning and end of the conquest; cf 14:6–10).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:16–18 The 2½ Transjordanian tribes wholeheartedly agree to help the other tribes find rest across the Jordan (Nu 32:25–27, 31–32.) They affirm complete loyalty to Joshua and, thereby, to the Lord; they call for God's presence with Joshua and encourage him with the same words that the Lord had spoken in Jsh 1:6–7, 9.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:17 we obeyed Moses. Previous generation rebelled against Moses. The Lord, however, raised up in their place an obedient generation (5:6–7). your God. People acknowledge Joshua's faith in the Lord and his God-given authority as their leader.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:18 Some Egyptian texts pronounce curses on rebellious leaders. Rebellion against Joshua would constitute treason in this military context. More than that, it would display rebellion against the Lord, who appointed Joshua as leader of the covenant nation. The Lord arms Joshua not with empty threats but with authority to end rebellion.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:10–18 Encouraged by the Lord's Word, Joshua assumes command and encourages the people, especially the three eastern tribes, who in turn encourage Joshua. When we search for faults in our leaders, spew forth loveless words about them, and display a fractious spirit, we rob faithful leaders of the joy of serving the Lord. God is at work by the power of His Word to create unity and cooperation between leaders and followers. • O Lord, cause us to live "with all humility and gentleness, with patience, bearing with one another in love, eager to maintain the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace" (Eph 4:2–3). Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:1 Shittim. Abel-shittim, "brook of the acacia trees," located 8 mi from the Jordan River, opposite Jericho, in the plains of Moab (Tell el-Hammam or Tell el-Kefren; cf Nu 25:1; 33:49–50). Area offers strategic locations overlooking plains of Moab. spies. Scripture does not condemn the use of spies either here or in Nu 13, where the Lord commands their use. Joshua uses his "spirit of wisdom" (Dt 34:9). Jesus says that His disciples are to be "wise as serpents" even while they are "innocent as doves" (Mt 10:16). especially Jericho. Key city because it controlled the routes into the heart of Canaan. It was near the main fords across the southern Jordan, and it controlled the fresh spring water vital to the area. To take Jericho would be a first step in taking the heart of Canaan (cf Nu 13:18–20). came into the house of a prostitute. Context shows their purpose was to gather information. Rahab's house may have served as an inn and was an ideal place for soaking up information on Jericho and the area. Because the house was built into the city wall (v 15), a quick escape from the city would be possible. Ultimately, the Lord's grace leads them to this house so that He may rescue Rahab for eternal salvation. She will even become an ancestress of Jesus (Mt 1:5).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:2 king. Canaan at this time consisted of city-states, each with a king. Ch 12 names 31 such kings. The Amarna Letters, written about the time of Joshua, show that these Canaanite kings thought of Egyptian pharaohs as their overlords and protectors.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:5 Author simply records the facts and does not comment on the appropriateness of Rahab's deception. Account does not use the word "lie" to describe what she does, nor do the two NT passages that speak of her actions (Heb 11:31; Jas 2:25). See note, 2Sm 17:20. We do not owe the truth to people who will use it for evil.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:6 roof. Flat roofs of ancient houses made them practical as work spaces, spare rooms, storage areas, or as drying floors for crops (Jgs 16:27; 1Sm 9:25). stalks of flax. Used to make linen clothing, sails, rope, and lamp wicks. Author does not explain how Rahab hid the men with the flax.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:7 the fords. Shallow places in the Jordan gave Jericho strategic importance. Definite article "the" may indicate that they were well known and used often. Cf 2Sm 19:16–19.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:9 I know. Rahab reflects her saving faith (Heb 11:31; Jas 2:25). She has somehow learned about the Lord of salvation and His plans for Israel. Because faith is always God's gift, He ultimately is the author of her faith (1Co 12:3). Ambr: "After she believed in God, she found salvation" (NPNF 2 10:377). melt away. Hearts disintegrating in fear. Moses had prophesied this "melting" of Canaanites in Ex 15:15, where he uses the same Hbr verb.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:10 we have heard. Word of two dramatic events traveled far: Israel's crossing of the Red Sea by the hand of the Lord 40 years earlier, and Israel's recent defeat of two kings east of the Jordan River. devoted to destruction. See p 6.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:11 no spirit. Or, "no courage." the LORD your God, He is God. Rahab's saving faith shines in her confession. She knows the special name for the true God of free and faithful grace: the Lord, or Yahweh. She acknowledges that He is God of all. See p 1227.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:12 swear. Oath that Rahab requests from the spies is evidence of her faith in the saving God, because she insists that they swear "by the LORD." She ties her future safety to the Lord by a solemn oath. See "vow," p 7. my father's house. Rahab's concern is for the entire household. See note, v 14. a sure sign. Oath in the Lord's name guarantees safety. Rahab needs no other sign because the Lord is always faithful to His name.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:14 Our life for yours. The spies vow to give their very lives, if necessary, to keep their promise and protect Rahab. See "vow," p 7. yours. Hbr plural, showing their pledge extends to Rahab's entire family. See note, v 12.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:15 built into the city wall. Three possibilities of construction: (1) Rahab's house may have made use of part of the city wall for an inner wall, with its upper story extending higher than the city wall; (2) her house may have been built on timbers across two parallel city walls several yards apart; or (3) most likely, her house consisted of one or more chambers within a "casemate" wall, which has two long parallel walls subdivided by cross walls that create little rooms. Those rooms could be used for living or storage, or they could be filled in for defensive purposes. Archaeology has uncovered many examples of casemate construction in Israel.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:16 Ancient Hittite document stipulates that an enemy invader must be tracked for three days. Perhaps that rule was widespread and known to Rahab. She anticipates what is about to take place and devises a plan for the spies' safety. Jas 2:25–26 shows that her actions are evidence of living faith.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:17 guiltless. Spies are declaring by this word that they will be exempt from the obligations of their oath if Rahab does not meet certain conditions. Cf v 19: "his blood shall be on his own head."

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:18 scarlet cord. Not the rope of v 15. Cord would mark the house to be safeguarded by Israel. On scarlet dye, see p 141. From the time of the Early Church, Christians attached symbolism to this blood-colored cord, associating it with the blood of Jesus (see ANF 1:8). However, a connection between Christ's blood and the symbol of the cord is not absolutely certain.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:19 blood shall be on his own head. Those who go outside the safety of Rahab's house will be responsible for their own destruction when Israel comes to take Jericho.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:20 business. Hbr dabar, "word," "instruction." The king of Jericho and others already know that these men are involved in the "business" of spying. The specific "business" that Rahab must not reveal may relate to the instructions about the scarlet cord.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:21 they departed. The city gate had been closed (v 7). However, v 15 suggests that when Rahab let the spies down by a rope through a window, they landed outside the city wall.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:22 hills. West of Jericho (cf v 16); part of the mountainous backbone of Canaan.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:23 passed over. Crossed the Jordan.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:24 In their debriefing with Joshua, the spies all but repeat Rahab's words in v 9. The spies' conclusion is based on the facts they have gathered, but esp on the promises of the Lord to give this land to Israel. They thus speak from a perspective of God-given faith (cf Nu 13).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 2 Joshua sends two spies to Jericho, where they find a people filled with fear, but they also find a person who shares their faith: Rahab the prostitute. Our deepest human fears arise from a sense of guilt and the deserved judgment of God. Although these fears flourished at Jericho, as they do today, the God of free and faithful grace grants forgiveness, safety, and peace to repentant sinners, who are justified by grace through faith in Christ and who perform works that prove their God-given faith (Rm 3:22, 24; Jas 2:25–26). • We praise You, Lord, that You call people of all kinds out of the darkness of their sin and haunting fears into the light and safety of Your grace. Amen.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON Chs 3–4 At least seven promises here: (1) to exalt Joshua (3:7; 4:14); (2) to show that the Lord is with Joshua as He was with Moses (3:7); (3) to assure Israel that the Lord is among them (3:10); (4) to show the Lord's resolve to drive out the enemies of Israel (3:10); (5) to provide a teaching tool for future generations (4:6–7, 21–22); (6) to lead all the peoples of the earth to know the Lord's strength to save (4:24); and (7) to lead people to fear and worship the Lord (4:24).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:1 Shittim. See note, 2:1. lodged. In their tents; cf v 14.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:2 officers. See note, 1:10.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:3 ark of the covenant. See notes, Ex 25:10–22. The ark is the central focus of the miracle at the Jordan in chs 3–4. To follow the ark of the covenant is to follow the Lord. Levitical priests. All the priests were Levites, but only those Levites who came from the line of Aaron were priests. The rest of the Levites had other duties. Cf Nu 3.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:4 2,000 cubits. C ½ mi. See ESV note. know the way. The press of the crowd around the ark could obscure the view for many. Through the ark, the Lord leads the way.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:5 Consecrate yourselves. Joshua does not prescribe specific acts of consecration. See p 6. wonders. Or, "miraculous acts." Hbr term describes the 10 plagues on Egypt (Ex 3:20). among you. Parallel to "in the sight of all Israel" (v 7).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:6 priests. Carrying the ark was a priestly function. Cf v 3.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:7 begin to exalt. The Lord will see that Joshua receives the respect necessary for leading His people. In 4:14, we see that the Lord fulfilled His promises. See note, chs 3–4. Moses … you. Dt 34:10–12 tells of the matchless role of the prophet Moses and the Lord's unique relationship with him. Jsh emphasizes a number of striking parallel events shared by Joshua and Moses and the special title they both enjoyed, "servant of the LORD" (cf 1:1). Subtheme of Jsh is "as Moses, so Joshua." Cf 1:3–5; Dt 11:24–25.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:8 stand still in the Jordan. See note, v 16.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:9 Joshua speaks like a prophet, as one to whom the Lord has spoken directly. His divinely appointed leadership and authority are thus emphasized. Ambr: "After he believed, he forthwith conquered, being found worthy to triumph in the battle of faith" (NPNF 2 10:300). Aph: "Joshua the son of Nun by faith cast down the walls of Jericho, and they fell without difficulty. Again by faith he destroyed thirty-one kings and made the children of Israel to inherit the land" (NPNF 2 13:351).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:10 living God. Hbr for God is El, "Mighty One," to emphasize His power in this context. He is "living," in contrast to the dead, worthless idols of the nations named in this verse. Cf Is 44:6–28. See note, Mt 16:16. Canaanites … Jebusites. See p 345.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:11 Lord of all the earth. See ESV note. God has the right and power to drive out the seven nations in judgment and to give this land to Israel in grace.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:12 twelve men … from each tribe a man. The Levites may be exempted because they are engaged in carrying the ark. However, Ephraim and Manasseh likely could be represented by only one man, as they are sons of Joseph.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:13 Lord of all the earth. See note, v 11. cut off. See note, v 16. A dry divide would separate the waters of the river to the north from those to the south. Those southern waters would flow into the Salt Sea with nothing coming behind them.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:15 harvest. Barley and flax harvest (2:6) occurs during the month of Abib (later, Nisan; 4:19); our Mar/Apr. See calendar, p 262.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:16–17 Mighty miracle from God. No natural phenomenon, such as a landslide cutting off the water, could explain all that transpires here. Certain facts attest to a miracle: the prediction (v 5), the split-second timing (vv 13, 15), the time of year (v 15), the time involved for the whole nation to cross on dry ground, and the fact that Joshua would not be exalted because of a mere landslide (v 7; 4:14).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:16 stood. They stopped flowing any farther southward. They were "cut off from flowing" (v 13). Their movement then could only be upward to form a heap. Adam. City of Adam may have been on the east bank of the Jordan where the Jabbok met the Jordan. Arabah. Portion of the Great Rift Valley within the Promised Land. The Great Rift Valley stretches from Turkey to Mozambique. This miracle at the Jordan is comparable to the miracle at the Red Sea. The phenomenon of a "heap" of water ties the two accounts together (3:13, 16; Ex 15:8). What God once did under Moses, He now does under Joshua in order to exalt him.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 3 With the ark of the covenant of the Lord leading Israel, the waters of the Jordan pile up in a heap, allowing Israel to cross safely on dry land. Today, you can find direction and purpose in the Lord Jesus as "the way" (Jn 14:6). He who did wonders at the Jordan will lead you through this life and land you safely in the heavenly Canaan. • "Jesus, lead Thou on Till our rest is won. Heav'nly leader, still direct us, Still support, console, protect us, Till we safely stand In our fatherland." Amen. (LSB 718:4)
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:1 Nation has crossed, but priests with the ark hold their position in the middle of the dry riverbed (vv 10, 16).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:2 In 3:12, Joshua commanded that 12 men be chosen. Now their task is made known.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:3 out of the midst of the Jordan. Priests with the ark are still in the riverbed. from the very place. Implies that the Lord is speaking from His location at the ark of the covenant. He is in the thick of things, holding back the waters and protecting His people.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:4 appointed. Cf v 2; 3:12.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:5–7 Memorials in stone were common in OT Israel. Jacob ("Israel") on four occasions set up stones after a significant event in his life (Gn 28:18; 31:45; 35:14, 20). In Jsh, there are many different stone memorials (4:1–9, 20–24; 7:25–26; 8:28–32; 10:27; 22:10–34; 24:26–27).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:5 each of you. Emphasizes participation of all Israel, a subtheme of Jsh.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:6 sign. "Memorial" (v 7); in the OT, a thing, act, or event that establishes the certainty of a promise or event (e.g., the rainbow is a "sign"; Gn 9:12). children ask. The 12 rocks will serve as an aid for parents to teach their children in catechetical fashion. Cf Ex 12:26; 13:14 for children's questions.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:7 before. Or, "because of." the ark of the covenant of the LORD. Using the full name of the ark emphasizes that the Lord, through the means of His ark, effected the miracle. a memorial forever. The physical stones are not known to us today, but because this account is included in Scripture, the stones continue to be a memorial to the Lord's power and grace.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:8 These 12 stones become a memorial at Gilgal, as v 20 reveals; different from the 12-stone memorial of v 9.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:9 Two memorials with 12 stones each thus commemorate the miracle at the Jordan: one at Gilgal and one in the river itself. in the midst of the Jordan. In the middle of the riverbed. they are there. The 12 stones are probably large and conspicuous. At least the top of this memorial would be high, dry, and visible most of the year. Their unusual midriver position would catch the eye. to this day. When Jsh was written. Common phrase in Jsh (5:9; 6:25; 7:26 [twice]; 8:28, 29; 9:27; 10:27; 13:13; 14:14; 15:63; 16:10; 23:8–9) and other biblical books, which accents the historical reality of the events.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:10 until … finished. Text does not say just how long but there are three indicators of time: the whole nation of hundreds of thousands of people cross while the priests hold the ark; the people pass over "in haste"; and the crossing happens within one day (vv 3, 19). in haste. Not to suggest a frantic rush for fear that disaster might strike, but rather that there was no delay and no obstacle because of God's steady, powerful hand holding back the waters. Cf Ex 12:11; Dt 16:3 regarding the Passover meal.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:11 After the people crossed, the priests with the ark evidently moved from the rear of the people, passed by them, and resumed a leading position.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:12–13 40,000. About one-third of the total number of armed men for these 2½ tribes, which was 110,580, according to the census of Nu 26. The rest of their troops evidently remained in the Transjordan without compromising the promise of these tribes. Cf 1:12–18. plains of Jericho. Area north of the Salt Sea that spreads out into a large flat plain on both sides of the Jordan River. West of the river, this plain is called "the plains of Jericho"; east of the river it is called "the plains of Moab" (Nu 22:1).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:14 exalted … awe. See notes, chs 3–4; 3:7.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:15–18 The Lord caused the miracle and directed the activity around it. This recurring literary pattern gives structure to Jsh: (1) the Lord commands Joshua, (2) Joshua commands Israel, and (3) Israel obeys the command.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:16 testimony. See note, Ex 25:16; see also p 971. Hbr terms for "covenant" and "testimony" were sometimes used interchangeably (cf Ex 31:18; Dt 9:11).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:17 From v 11, it appears that the priests with the ark have already crossed over. Here in v 17, it seems they still stand in the dry riverbed. Narration may be arranged topically, not chronologically. In reference to time, the command of v 17 may have preceded the action of v 11.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:18 covenant. Cf v 16; 3:3. overflowed. River returns to its flooded condition (3:15).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:19 the tenth day of the first month. The 10th of Abib (later, Nisan) our Mar/Apr. See calendar, p 262. Exactly 40 years earlier on this day, the Israelites selected lambs for the Passover before their exodus from Egypt (Ex 12:3). The lambs were sacrificed on the 14th of Abib (Ex 12:6).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:20 In v 8, these stones were laid down there. Now Joshua sets them up as a memorial (v 7).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:21 Repetition from v 6 stresses the need for continuing catechesis in the saving acts of the Lord. In v 6, Joshua addresses the 12 stone carriers; in v 21, he speaks to the Israelites. His audiences are different, yet readers get the benefit of repetition.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:22 dry ground. Highlights the grace and power of the Lord.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:23 See note, 3:16.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:24 all the peoples of the earth may know. One aim of the Lord at the miracle at the Jordan is evangelism, that all people know His saving acts. That aim continues to be accomplished as people everywhere read of this miracle in Scripture. hand of the LORD. Symbol of His strength. His miracle with the waters of the Jordan proclaims the power of his "hand." See p 842. fear the LORD. See p 1001.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 4 Israel safely and miraculously enters the Promised Land, and Joshua is exalted (3:7). The stone memorials will serve to teach the power of God in judgment and salvation. • Praise to You, O Lord, that Your hand controls our enemies, Satan, sin, and death, and that the hands of our risen Savior were once pierced for our salvation. Amen.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:1 Amorites … Canaanites. Cf 3:10. Each name has a narrow and a broad sense—as individual people and as a name that stands for all the peoples of the land. Here, the two names represent all the peoples west of the Jordan. See p 345. sea. Great Sea (1:4). melted. Cf 2:9, though a different Hbr word is used there. no longer any spirit. They lost courage.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:2 flint. Sharp and plentiful. Stone knives would also remind Israel that circumcision was an ancient sign of God's covenant with Abraham. circumcise. OT circumcision prefigures NT Baptism, as Paul shows in Col 2:11–12. a second time. Not recircumcising individuals but reestablishing the practice of circumcision.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:4 died in the wilderness. As God foretold (Nu 14:26–30).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:5–6 Either no one was circumcised for the entire 40 years between leaving Egypt and entering the Promised Land or, more likely, circumcision ceased at the time of the rebellion of Nu 14, for 38 years (Dt 2:14). voice of the LORD. His Word. a land flowing with milk and honey. See p 6.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:7–8 Special circumstances call for mass circumcision. In the future, all eight-day-old males could be circumcised, as originally commanded (Gn 17:12). Just: "The blood of that circumcision is obsolete, and we trust in the blood of salvation; there is now another covenant, and another law has gone forth from Zion. Jesus Christ circumcises all who will … that they may be a righteous nation, a people keeping faith, holding to the truth, and maintaining peace" (ANF 1:206).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:7 not been circumcised on the way. The wandering would not necessarily have affected the practice, as the nation camped for long periods. See note, vv 5–6.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:8 healed. In Gn 34, the men of Shechem were still in pain and unable to fight three days after circumcision. Israel crossed the river on the 10th of the month (4:19) and celebrated Passover the evening of the 14th (5:10). The circumcision took place between those dates.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:9 the reproach of Egypt. Included the lack of circumcision and the disdain Egypt would have shown toward Israel and the Lord, had all Israel died without taking the Promised Land (Ex 32:12; Nu 14:13–16; Dt 9:28). Gilgal. See ESV note. Aram Golgotha ("skull") is related.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:1–9 In the Promised Land, the nation resumes the practice of circumcision, the sign and seal of God's covenant with His people, by which He rolls away the reproach of Egypt at Gilgal. Our sin brings us eternal reproach before God. Through His appointed means today (Baptism), the Lord removes our guilt. • Thank You, Lord, for rolling away the sin of the world at Golgotha, even as You rolled away the reproach of Egypt at Gilgal. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:10 Passover. See pp 200–201. Israel arrived in the Promised Land on the 10th of Nisan (4:19), the day of selecting Passover lambs (Ex 12:3). The males of Israel were circumcised, a requisite for eating the Passover (Ex 12:48). Thus, the nation could celebrate Passover according to God's institution under the full moon on the 14th of Nisan in the Promised Land, exactly 40 years after the first Passover. The OT Passover anticipates the Lord's Supper, which Jesus instituted at Passover (Lk 22:15).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:11 produce of the land. See note, 3:15. unleavened. Eaten the week after the Passover (Lv 23:4–6).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:12 No hint of sadness at the end of the manna. Entry into the "land flowing with milk and honey" (v 6) is a time of joy, and the miraculous manna is no longer needed because of God's fulfilled promise. By grace, they eat what they did not labor over (cf Dt 6:10–12). fruit. Or, "yield," "produce."
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:10–12 Israel celebrates its spiritual holidays, as the Lord provides for its worldly needs. We sometimes ignore spiritual priorities while fretting over inferior matters. Awareness of God's saving grace and generous gifts leads us to set right priorities and to "seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness" (Mt 6:33). • Forgive our materialism, O Lord, and lead us to give priority to Your heavenly treasures. Amen.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:13–15 The person whom Joshua encounters is sequentially (1) a man with drawn sword; (2) the commander of the army of the Lord; (3) one whom Joshua worships and calls "my lord"; (4) one before whom Joshua is to remove his sandals as Moses did before the Lord in Ex 3:5; and (5) and one whose presence makes the place holy, also as in Ex 3:5.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:13 Man is in fighting stance with unsheathed sword. An astonished Joshua wonders whom the man intends to fight. Jerome: "Joshua went forth, and was met by the Prince of the host, sword in hand, that is either to show that he was ready to fight for the circumcised people, or to sever the tie [to them]…. If the armed host of the Lord was represented by the trumpets of the priests, we may see in Jericho a type of the overthrow of the world by the preaching of the Gospel" (NPNF 2 6:362).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:14 commander. Hbr word can refer to a representative of a king, an official, a leader, or various kinds of military or civilian officials. Can also refer to an angel. In Is 9:6, the Child is called the "Prince [Commander] of Peace." In Dn 8:11, God is called "the Prince of the host [army]." Now I have come. His arrival is timely, just before battles begin. worshiped. Physically bending low. See p 1276. my lord. Hbr 'adoni, "my lord." The same word is used of God in 3:11, 13, so perhaps here it refers to Yahweh, the Lord. See p 1227.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:13–15 Joshua has a surprise encounter with the commander of the army of the Lord, who will provide him success in battle. When we think we have the strength to fight our spiritual enemies, we are on our way to defeat. Through Word and Sacraments, God leads us to rely on His strength for victory (cf Rm 8:31). • "For us fights the valiant One, Whom God Himself elected…. He holds the field forever." Amen. (LSB 656:2)

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:1 shut up inside and outside. Lit, "shut and shut off." Every entrance and exit of Jericho is sealed off.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:2 The Lord wants Joshua to see the frightened and seemingly impregnable city as already defeated. men of valor. See note, 1:14.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:3 The Lord evidently wants to build up the faith of Israel during a long ritual before He tears down the walls of Jericho (cf Heb 11:30). The size of Jericho is estimated to have been 9–12 acres. Its circumference may have been ½–1 mi. We know nothing about the width of the line of marchers around the city. A large processional could circle Jericho in less than an hour. Israel is able to complete seven circuits on the seventh day (v 15).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:4 seven. See p 217. rams' horns. Trumpets in OT times could be made of rams' horns or of metal. "Jubilee" is a modification of the Hbr word for the horn of a ram. See p 993.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:5 fall down flat. Complete collapse; pictures the wall coming straight down, rather than toppling on its side.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:6 As in the miracle at the Jordan (chs 3–4), the ark of the covenant will be the focus in the march around the city. The ark, the vehicle and symbol of the Lord's presence, will show that He is responsible for what will happen at Jericho.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:7 the people. It is unclear whether every individual of Israel joined in the march. The small size of the site of Jericho (Tell es-Sultan) and the large numbers of Israelites would seem to indicate a representative number of people. armed men pass on before. Armed men lead the march and will have a role later in the destruction of the city. Because of resistance from the leaders of Jericho, the army was needed (24:11).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:8 See note, 4:15–18.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:10 Silence solemnly depicts the Lord's approaching judgment.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:14 Implication is that the people continue to march in silence each day.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:17 devoted to the LORD for destruction. See ESV note; see also p 6. Rahab. Her house was marked by a scarlet cord (2:18) and safeguarded by an oath in the Lord's name (2:12). (Cf vv 22–23.)
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:18 With several related terms, Joshua emphatically warns about what is set apart for destruction. This prepares us for the disobedience of Achan and events of ch 7.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:19 iron. Events of Jsh transpired in the Late Bronze Age (1550–1200 BC), but iron is already in common use. Cf 8:31; 17:16, 18; 22:8; see note, Jb 20:24. treasury. See note, v 24. Because the temple would not be built for another four centuries, this "treasury" must be at the tabernacle at Gilgal.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:20 Author does not state whether God used any natural phenomena, such as an earthquake or rain, as an agent of His miracle. At the Red Sea, He used "a strong east wind" (Ex 14:21). Mere naturalistic explanations do not do justice to what the text depicts.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:21 men and women, young and old. Destruction of Jericho is total. Soldiers of Israel follow the orders of the Lord as agents of His just judgment. Residents of Jericho are destroyed, temporally and eternally, for not repenting of their unbelief, child sacrifice, ritual prostitution, etc., despite the abundant time given them to do so (Gn 15:16; cf Ezk 33:11; 2Pt 3:9). In not sparing the Canaanites, the Lord spares Israel from the "abominable practices" and temptations of these people (Dt 20:18). See p 345.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:22 Cf 2:12–14. In the midst of judgment and destruction comes a scene of mercy and safety. The former prostitute, with her God-given faith (Heb 11:31; Jas 2:25–26), and her family are delivered from the judgment that surrounds them—a picture and reminder of God's mercy in Christ as the place of refuge.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:23 outside the camp. Temporarily; v 25 says Rahab lives "in Israel." Initially, she and her family may have been considered ceremonially unclean. Cf Lv 13:46.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:24 treasury. Metal coins were not used as money; minting of coins was a much later development (see notes, 24:32; Gn 37:28). These precious metals were likely used to allow Israel and its priests to carry out the worship prescribed by the Lord. E.g., see note, Lv 27:31.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:25 saved alive. Same verb used in 2:13. she has lived in Israel to this day. May mean that Rahab still "lived" in Israel through her offspring; 24:31 seems to show that Jsh was written at least a generation or two after the time of the man Joshua. See note, p 4:9.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:26 God had ordered the destruction of Jericho because of its sin. It would thus be an evil act to rebuild what God had condemned and destroyed. The collapsed foundation and gates would be a continuing reminder of His judgment against sin and His victory for Israel. Israel could live in the city (18:21; Jgs 3:13 [the "city of palms" is Jericho]; 2Sm 10:5) but not rebuild its foundation and gates. This curse was "according to the word of the LORD," and not merely Joshua's idea (cf 1Ki 16:34). Cursed. See p 6.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:27 fame. Or, "report," "news." The Lord has given Joshua success and has exalted him according to His promises of 1:8 and 3:7. The victory over Jericho was God's work; yet by grace, He shares His fame with His leader.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 6 As a woman of faith in the Lord, Rahab is kept safe in the middle of the destruction of unrepentant Jericho; she becomes part of Israel. God is a God of justice, who cannot let sin go unpunished. Judgment awaits those who refuse His loving forgiveness in Christ. Yet, God is also a God of love, whose justice was satisfied when His Son took the punishment for the sin of the world. The Lord delivers us, through faith in Jesus, from the destruction awaiting this present evil age. • We thank You, O Lord, that while You are just, You are the justifier of all who rest their faith in Jesus. We praise You, O Jesus, that You gave Yourself for our sins to deliver us from the present evil age. Amen.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:1 broke faith. These two words have the same Hbr root: "broke faith (by doing) a breaking of faith." Conscious act of treachery or unfaithfulness against the Lord in direct violation of His covenant with Israel. See note, 1Ch 2:7. devoted things. See p 6. The "devoting" is carried out either by destroying them or by placing them in the treasury of the Lord (6:17–19). anger of the LORD burned. God's fierce anger that acts "as a consuming fire" (Dt 9:3) against Israel's enemies now flares at His own people. It will not cool until appropriate judgment is carried out.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:2 Ai. Lit, "the ruin." Site may have contained a heap of ruins already before this time. See note, v 5. Go up. From Jericho at 800 ft below sea level, the spies ascend to Ai on the central ridge of mountains that form the backbone of Canaan. See map, p 357.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:4 Even the higher number of recommended troops is forced to flee in defeat. The disaster is not due to faulty intelligence from the spies. When God is opposed to human plans, they fail.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:5 about thirty-six. Any loss would be shocking after the collapse of Jericho and the spies' recommendation about Ai. Shebarim … at the descent. Shebarim may refer to stone quarries. A stone quarry c 1½ mi SW of Khirbet-el-Maqatir and descending c 220 yd below it may be the site of biblical Ai. hearts of the people melted. In the past, Canaanite hearts had melted in fear and discouragement (2:11; 5:1). Now, the hearts of Israel, God's own covenant people, melt.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:6 tore … dust. Signs of distress or mourning; cf Gn 44:13. In the ancient Near East, grief and distress were dramatized rather than internalized. See notes, Jb 1:20; 2:12. before the ark. Location of Joshua's action at the ark of the covenant shows that he knows that something related to Israel's covenant relationship with the Lord has gone wrong. The Lord will confirm this in v 11. See p 495. elders. First reference in Jsh to the "elders" in Israel (cf 8:10, 33; 23:2; 24:1, 31). See note, Ex 3:16. See also p 228.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:7 Words of Joshua come dangerously close to those of the Israelite grumblers in the wilderness (Ex 14:11–12; 16:3; 17:3; Nu 14:2–3).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:8–9 Joshua and the elders expected quick and complete victory with no loss to Israel. But now, Israel was defeated at Ai, right in the heart of the land. "Melted" Canaan had won half of the battles and could take heart from the recent defeat of Israel.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:9 cut off our name. Israel's name would be lost to history if the Canaanites were allowed to wipe out the nation. from the earth. Or, "from the land." From the early victory at Jericho, it seemed that the name Israel would be associated with the land. Joshua wonders now if that will continue. what will You do for Your great name? Joshua knows that the Lord has attached the name Israel to His own name by making a covenant with the Israelites. The implication is that there will be great harm to the Lord's own name if He lets the name Israel drop from the land He promised them and allows the name Canaan to prevail. See "for Your name's sake," p 842.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:1–9 The sin of one man, Achan, results in defeat and death for the Israelites at Ai. Likewise, the sin of one man, Adam, resulted in death spreading to all men, because all men have sinned. But one man, Jesus Christ, has brought righteousness and eternal life as a free gift that is received through faith. (Cf Rm 5:12–21.) • We praise You, Lord, that in Christ "the tribes of Adam boast more blessings than their father lost." Amen. (TLH 511:5)

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:11 transgressed. Irony. Same Hbr word is used often in Jsh to refer to "crossing" the Jordan. The nation that the Lord caused to cross over the Jordan has now crossed over or transgressed His covenant. stolen and lied. Israel/Achan stole what belonged to God. Covering up the action made it a lie.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:12 Contrast with God's promise in 1:5. cannot stand. In the sense of "stand up against, prevail." they have become devoted for destruction. Cf 6:18, where Joshua warned this would happen if Israel took for private use the things devoted to the Lord. See "devote to destruction," p 6.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:13 Consecrate. See p 6.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:14 Lists four categories of Israelite social structure: (1) tribe. Achan is from the tribe of Judah. (2) clan. "Family"; Achan is from the clan of Zerah, son of Judah (Gn 38:30). (3) household. Broader term than "nuclear family"; Achan is from the household of Zabdi, son of Zerah. (4) man by man. Individuals. See pp 54–55. brought near. Most likely to the ark of the covenant, where Joshua was (v 6). by lot. The Hbr does not say explicitly "takes by lot," but only "takes"; likely this involves lots or the high priest's Urim and Thummim. See notes, 1Sm 14:39–42. The drawn-out process will give the culprit time to step forward. No one can hide sin (Heb 4:13).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:15 shall be burned with fire. What was done to Jericho as a city set apart for destruction (6:21, 24) is to be done to an Israelite who broke the covenant. Cf 6:18. all that he has. Could mean all his possessions or all his family members. Phrase is repeated in v 24, where it stands closer to the list of his possessions than to the references to his sons and daughters. outrageous. Same word refers to incestuous rape in 2Sm 13:12 and to a request for homosexual relations in Jgs 19:23–24.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:19 My son. Joshua displays a fatherly attitude toward the transgressor. give glory. Solemn charge to tell the truth (cf Jn 9:24). give praise. Largely synonymous with "give glory"; the two expressions together say the equivalent of "tell the whole truth, so help you God."
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:20 I have sinned. In Hbr, the pronoun "I" is emphasized. What the Lord in v 11 said Israel had done, Achan personally confesses.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:21 beautiful cloak. Robe from a distant land was probably very expensive (the same Hbr word describes the robe worn by the king of Nineveh in Jnh 3:6). Shinar. Near Babylon. See map, p 609. coveted. See note, Ex 20:17. earth inside my tent. The very dirt of the Promised Land, on which his tent rests, was used for the dirty work of covenant violation and cover-up. with the silver underneath. Such detail reveals that Achan is now confessing his personal, specific guilt without excuse.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:23 laid them down before the LORD. These items belonged to the Lord; resolution of the sin involved their presentation to Him (probably before the ark). See "presence," p 843.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:24–25 Achor … trouble. Achor means "trouble" or "disaster."
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:24 sons and daughters. Either as witnesses or to be executed, if they were willing participants in the covenant violation (see note, v 25). Law strictly forbade putting to death children for the sins of their father (Dt 24:16).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:25 trouble on you. His just execution. The text, however, is silent about Achan's eternal destiny. Repentant believers who are taken from death row to their execution by civil justice are ushered into paradise (Lk 23:43). Faith in the saving Lord may have been present in Achan at the time of his honest confession and just execution. stoned. Commanded method of capital punishment for a number of crimes, as stated in the Law of Moses. Two Hbr terms for "to stone" used here, and two objects of the stoning. (1) "Stoned him" refers only to Achan. (2) "Stoned them" may mean "pelting with stones" the ashes of Achan, his animals, and his goods (or "them" may refer to his family). Cf v 26, where the singular "him" is used in reference to stones being raised. burned. Accomplishes the Lord's direct order in v 15, in keeping with the Lord's words in 6:18. Achan himself became devoted to destruction. See "devote to destruction," p 6.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:26 great heap. The first two stone memorials in the land praised the Lord for His miracle at the Jordan (4:9, 20); this memorial shouts stern warning about disobedience. the LORD turned. His anger cooled, and reconciliation was achieved when judgment was meted out against the transgressor. See "turn," p 1080. Achor. Cf vv 24–25 and 6:18, where wordplay involves the Hbr word for "to bring trouble," the name of the valley where Achan is stoned, and the similar sounding name of Achan. Thus, God brings trouble on the troubler of Israel in the valley of trouble. Cf Hos 2:15, where the prophet Hosea reveals that even the earth's most troubled locations, like the Valley of Achor, will enjoy the hope that the Messiah brings.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:10–26 Guilty Achan is caught by the Lord, confesses before Joshua, and is stoned at the Valley of Achor. Since Adam and Eve hid in the foliage of Eden, people have imagined that they can keep their sins hidden from God. But "all are naked and exposed to the eyes of Him to whom we must give account" (Heb 4:13). "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (1Jn 1:9). • We thank You, dear Lord, that we can confess freely before You and receive Your free and faithful forgiveness for Jesus' sake. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:1 Do not fear. Having met the Lord's conditions (1:6), there is no reason for fear or dismay, for God is with them. all the fighting men. The whole army gathered to Joshua (c 160,000–200,000 men), as opposed to the advice of the spies (7:3). go up to Ai. See note, 7:2.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:2 plunder. Jericho's spoils were for the Lord, who gives the spoils of Ai to Israel. behind it. Ambush takes place on the back side of the city, from the west (cf v 9).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:3–8 Joshua divides his army. The first portion will draw Ai's army out of the city moving eastward; then the remainder of Joshua's army will enter the city, capture it, and burn it. After this, they will leave the city heading eastward, and the two armies will smash the army of Ai and Bethel between them.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:3 men of valor. See note, 1:14. out by night. This was the expected second wave that would swarm in behind the army of Ai as it left in pursuit of Joshua to the east.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:7 God will give. Even the cities of Israel's enemies are God's to keep or to give. See note, 1:6.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:8 set the city on fire. The buildings of Ai were to be completely destroyed—as Jericho had been—along with all the people. according to the word of the LORD. Cf vv 1–2.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:9 between Bethel and Ai, to the west of Ai. Area provided large rocks and the like, which made good cover. See map, p 357.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:10 elders of Israel. See note, Ex 3:16. See also p 228. By going, the elders demonstrated faithfulness to Joshua as the Lord's chosen leader.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:11 with a ravine between them and Ai. Ai could see Israel's camp but not easily attack it.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:12 The 5,000 were to capture and destroy the city, while the 30,000 would ambush the men pursuing Joshua and his army.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:13 rear guard. The 30,000 who would come behind them to crush the army of Ai.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:14 appointed place. Appointed by the Lord for Ai's defeat. Arabah. See note, 3:16.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:16 all the people. All the fighting men.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:17 or Bethel. Perhaps as a result of a treaty, the fighting men of Bethel joined Ai in pursuit of Israel. left the city open. Unprotected and vulnerable to attack.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:18 javelin. Cf Ex 7:19; 8:16; 14:26 for similar gestures of Moses. True power for victory comes from the Lord. Cf v 26.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:20 no power to flee. Lit, "no hands in them," referring to an awareness of their helplessness.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:22 some on this side, and some on that side. Refers to the ambush of the men who came from behind, westward out of the city, as Joshua came from the east.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:24 killing all the inhabitants. These deaths come at God's command; they are His judgment against evil.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:26 Joshua literally does what the Lord told him, until what the Lord commanded is completed; cf Ex 17:11–13.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:28 forever a heap of ruins. God's judgment is irreversible. to this day. See note, 4:9.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:29 hanged the king of Ai on a tree. Standard practice for public humiliation and demonstration of victory. gate. Main gate. a great heap of stones. Visible reminder of what becomes of all who are evil, no matter how great. See note, 4:5–7.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:1–29 After the sin of Achan has been punished and Joshua does all that the Lord commanded, Israel successfully destroys the city of Ai. This is an example of God's judgment and sentence against all sin and sinners. Thanks be to God, He judges us "not guilty" in Christ. • Lord, preserve us from sin and judgment, and give us repentant hearts that find refuge in Christ alone. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:30–35 Testimony that possession of the Promised Land depended on the people's faithfulness to God's covenant.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:30 built an altar. A way of laying claim to the land the Lord had promised. Ebal. At Shechem, between Ebal and Gerizim, Abraham had also built an altar (Gn 12:6–7). See color map 2. Archaeologists have uncovered what may be an Israelite shrine on this site.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:31 uncut stones. Not hewn or cut by people. burnt offerings … peace offerings. See pp 170–71.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:32 copy of the law. Could have been the Ten Commandments and/or the curses and blessings (Dt 27–28).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:33 sojourner. Those who had come out of Egypt (Ex 12:38, 48–49) and those who had joined Israel during the wanderings (cf Nu 25; 31). elders … officers … judges. Leaders of every rank, emphasizing all were gathered. See p 228. opposite sides of the ark. Those facing Gerizim to the south pronounced blessings, and those facing Ebal to the north pronounced curses, as described in Dt 27–28. ark of the covenant. Sacred symbol of the Lord's presence with the people. See diagram, p 203.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:34 he read. Joshua's position on the mountain made it possible for all to hear. the blessing and the curse. Cf Dt 27–28.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:35 little ones. Children were in attendance. sojourners. See note, v 33.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:30–35 This event rededicates the people to the covenant and announces to those in the Promised Land that God had come to claim the land. The Law is written in stone to remind the people that it has not gone away. The Word was given by God in Christ, the Rock of Ages, so forgiveness and life might be written on our hearts. • Dear Lord, etch Your Word more deeply into my heart and life, so that I might live in Jesus Christ—the Word who is life. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:1–2 Other inhabitants of Canaan feared that they would share the fate of Jericho and Ai unless they joined forces against the invaders. (Cf chs 10–11 for Israel's battles against such coalitions.)
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:1 beyond the Jordan. Land west of the Jordan. See color map 2.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:3 Gibeon. Confederation of towns north of Jerusalem.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:4 they. Likely a collective of leaders from the various towns of Gibeon.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:7 Questioning is based on the fact that the Lord strictly forbids making any covenant with any peoples in Canaan (Ex 34:12; Nu 33).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:8 We are your servants. Common words of politeness, not an indication on their part to become submissive to Israel. Who … where. Joshua's questions indicate that their response is unsatisfactory.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:9 Lord. Speaking the Lord's name may have been part of the ruse by which they appeared respectful of Israel's God to gain Israel's favor. heard a report. Probably the same report that had come to Jericho. See note, 2:10.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:10 Ashtaroth. Another way of referencing the region of Canaan, which was dedicated to the worship of the goddess Ashtaroth. See note, Ex 34:13.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:13 wineskins. New wineskins are used for new wine because they can stretch during fermentation. they have burst. Excellent detail to add to the illusion. Wineskins would have likely burst during a long journey with exposure to heat and jostling.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:14–15 did not ask counsel from the Lord. Instead of inquiring of the Lord through Urim and Thummim (Nu 27:21), the men of Israel trusted in their own judgment, bought the deception, and made a forbidden covenant/treaty with them (cf Ex 23:32; Dt 7:2). See "seek," p 843.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:15 swore. At the conclusion of making any covenant or agreement, an oath, binding on all Israel, was sworn in the name of the God of Israel (cf Ex 24:7; 2Ch 15:12–15). See "vow," p 7.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:16 heard. Perhaps through their own scouts who were searching the region.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:17 their cities. Located in central Canaan. See map, p 357.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:18–20 sworn to them by the LORD, the God of Israel. In the leaders' oath, with the Lord as witness, they had called upon the Lord to bring wrath upon Israel if they broke their word (v 20). This wrath fell upon Israel when Saul ignored the oath and attacked the Gibeonites (2Sm 21:1–14).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:18 murmured. Over the violation of the rules in Dt 7 and over their inability to take possession of and plunder the Gibeonite cities.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:21 cutters of wood and drawers of water. The Gibeonites had said, "We are your servants" (v 8), and, perhaps with a measure of vengeance, they were made to do menial service for the tabernacle and households of Israel (vv 23, 27). See notes, v 27; 1Ki 5:15.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:22–24 Questioning reveals that the leaders had not intentionally disobeyed the Lord or brought shame on Israel.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:23 cursed. See p 6. Punishment for their deception was servitude of the lowest class in the house of the Lord and to the people of Israel. This curse is believed to be the fulfillment of the curse of Noah on Canaan (Gn 9:25). some. All would be servants, but in time some would earn, or be granted, their freedom. house of my God. At this time, the tabernacle, including the needs of the Levites.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:24 told. See note, v 9.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:27 for the congregation. The Gibeonites would be slaves to the people and to the tabernacle. Serving in the tabernacle was a constant reminder that Canaanite worship was over. See note, v 21. place that He should choose. God would choose where He would have the Gibeonites serve, be it in the tabernacle or in His temple that would eventually be built.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 9 Because Joshua and the Israelites neglect to seek the Lord's counsel, they fall for the deceit of the Gibeonites and make a treaty that they must honor. How often do we judge things based on appearance and act without consulting the Lord and His Word? His Word is a lamp to our feet and a light to our path. • Lord, grant us the wisdom and guidance of Your Spirit, so we might seek Your counsel in all we do. Amen.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:1 devoted it to destruction. See p 6.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:2 royal cities. Cities or centers secure against the enemies of a king. warriors. Despite their military superiority, the Gibeonites still feared the power of the Lord that was displayed against Jericho and Ai.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:3 Adoni-zedek. Lit, "The LORD is righteous," a name similar to that of another king of Jerusalem, Melchizedek ("King of Righteousness"). Jerusalem. Also called "Jebus"; first usage of "Jerusalem" for this city in the OT. Hebron … Jarmuth … Lachish … Eglon. See map, p 357.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:5 against Gibeon. Jerusalem led the attack, hence it came from the southeast.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:6 Do not relax your hand. Joshua stretched out his hand against the city of Ai (8:18), and the armies of Israel destroyed it. This phrase is a call for Joshua to use the armies of Israel to defend against the Canaanites. your servants. Gibeonites were reminding Joshua of their vassal relationship to Israel.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:7 went up. From Gilgal to Gibeon. mighty men of valor. See note, 1:14.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:8 The Lord would bring the attacking armies into Joshua's hand to do with as He instructed.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:9 marched up all night. In order to reach Gibeon in one night from Gilgal near Jericho, the Israelites would have had to climb a rise of 3,000 ft in 17 mi. See maps, pp 357, 971.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:10 Israelites were able to chase the panic-stricken enemy westward down a 1,000-ft descent to lower Beth-horon and south toward the lowlands known as the Shephelah, where Azekah and Makkedah were located. See map, p 357. Makkedah. See note, v 16.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:11 large stones from heaven … hailstones. In keeping His promise, the Lord aided Israel by casting hailstones down on the enemy. Hail was referred to as stones from the sky.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:12–13 Heated discussion of this passage proceeds from opposing viewpoints. (1) Some interpreters find here no miraculous intervention in the regular course of nature but rather a poetic, figurative way of saying that the day was long enough to permit Israel to destroy the fleeing enemy. Hence, it would be similar to the poetic statement "The stars fought … against Sisera" (Jgs 5:20). (2) A second interpretation finds the miraculous element in the fact that God, at the right moment, commandeered the forces of nature (as in Egypt and at Jericho) by sending a barrage of hailstones at Gibeon. The accompanying storm prolonged the darkness of the night. Under its cover, the Israelites surprised the enemy and were able to complete the pursuit of the fleeing allies. Accordingly, the result of God's intervention was sustained darkness rather than additional hours of sunlight. (3) Opposed to this contention is the view that this day was miraculously prolonged beyond the normal 24 hours, which is the best reading. A believer may readily trust that He who created "the heavens and the earth … and all the host of them" (Gn 2:1) could control His creation and stop the vast machinery of the universe. Luth: "God's power had been so ordered that the sun retained its course and motion; but when Joshua prayed in his distress and commanded the sun to stand still, the sun stood still at Joshua's word. Ask the astronomers how great a miracle this is! But what is the reason? No other than that God does the will of those who fear Him and subordinates His will to ours, provided we continue to fear Him…. In Scripture there are more evidences of this kind; they prove that God allows Himself to be prevailed upon and subordinates His will to ours. Why, then, are we so remiss in regard to prayer? Why are we without faith to such an extent and so fainthearted, as though our prayer amounted to nothing?" (AE 3:289). stand still. "Be silent"; by analogy, "cease" or "desist" from a given activity. Hipp: "The sun stood still, and the moon, in their places, so that that day was one of twenty-four hours" (ANF 5:176). Ath: "This was the work, not of the son of Nun, but of the Lord, Who heard his prayer" (NPNF 2 4:550). Book of Jashar? Lit, "the book of the upright one." This anthology of ancient Israel has not survived. From time to time, other poetic descriptions of events apparently were added to this collection of songs (2Sm 1:18). See note, Nu 21:14; see also pp 335–37.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:14 heeded. See note, Nu 21:3. Hus: "Obedience is a more general thing than submission, since obedience is becoming in God and submission is not…. God, the Trinity, was not subject to man, or under a man as a lesser to a greater" (The Church, pp 185–86).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:1–15 When the kings in Canaan set out to destroy Gibeon for its covenant with Israel, Joshua honors that covenant and God delivers Gibeon (v 11). When confronted by strife, do we try to handle it ourselves, or do we call on the Lord to save and help us? What a blessing to call boldly on the Lord Jesus Christ in our troubles and find in

His baptismal covenant with us grace and mercy to help in time of need. • Deliver us, good Lord, according to Your promises, for we trust in Your good Word. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:16 Makkedah. Town in western foothills near Azekah (v 10). See map, p 357.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:18 The place they sought for refuge became a prison and ultimately their tomb.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:19 yourselves. Commanders of Israel who had gone up to fight against the five kings. their rear guard. The danger now is the reserve of the five kings' armies that could assist and protect the cities in the event they lost.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:20 remnant. Though the armies as units had been wiped out, not every member had been killed.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:21 Not a man moved his tongue. Unlike in 9:18, when they had grumbled over the treaty with the Gibeonites.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:24 chiefs. General term for commanders of the armies of Israel. The same term was found on a pottery shard in the Judean fort in the Arael Valley. put your feet on the necks of these kings. Humiliating gesture symbolized that the kings were completely under the power of the victors. This symbolism is used elsewhere in Scripture to show the Lord's rule (Ps 110:5; Mal 4:3; 1Co 15:25–28; Eph 1:22; Col 2:14–15).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:25 be strong and courageous. See note, 1:6. There were more wars to wage, and this was to instill confidence in the people for what lay ahead. the LORD will do. Prophetic promise. The Lord had given them into Joshua's hands.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:26 he hanged them. To make a statement to one and all that these kings were cursed by God (Dt 21:22–23). See note, Jsh 8:29.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:27 they took them down. According to God's command (Dt 21:23).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:28 Makkedah. See note, v 16. just as he had done. Joshua faithfully carries out God's command.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:16–28 Joshua captures and destroys the five kings, who tried to hide in a cave that later became their tomb. When the Lord promises victory, He brings it to pass. No matter how great or how many challenges face you, cling to the Lord's promises and pray based on them. He will hear and answer in mercy, as the promises of Christ prove. •

Lord Jesus, defend us from all dangers, and bring us to everlasting life. Amen.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:29–43 See map, p 357.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:30 The armies of Israel attacked and destroyed the people, possessions, and city without taking anything for themselves, just as they had done to Jericho.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:32 as … Libnah. This and similar expressions in vv 35, 37, 39 emphasize the faithfulness of Joshua and Israel to the Lord.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:33 Gezer. Israel never captured this city, but the defeat of its army was a great victory.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:34 laid siege. Attacked it with the purpose of capturing it.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:35 devoted every person in it to destruction. See p 6. as … Lachish. See note, v 32.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:37 as … Eglon. See note, v 32. devoted it to destruction. See p 6.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:39 devoted to destruction. See p 6. as … Hebron and to Libnah. See note, v 32.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:40 all that breathed. Likely refers to all people and domesticated animals. Along with "devoted to destruction," it is an expression of obedience to the Lord.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:42 captured … one time. Captured in one campaign by the hand of God.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:29–43 The Lord leads His people through a series of successive victories. Consider the deliverance that came by God's hand as you reflect on the challenges you face. What a blessing that by Christ's crucified hands He gives us His victory against all our sin and death's power. He equips us for every new challenge. • Grant that I may in all things, Lord, seek the hand and the victory of Christ through faith in Him. Amen.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:1–3 See map, p 357. Chinneroth. See note, 12:3.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:4 in number like the sand. Figure of speech to depict a seemingly impossible situation that the Lord will turn to victory. horses and chariots. Sophisticated military equipment, which Israel did not have until the time of Solomon. Israel was to rely on the Lord as their defense and offense.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:6 this time. Despite overwhelming numbers, Joshua would be given victory over them within a 24-hour period, emphasizing the power of the Lord for Israel. hamstring their horses. Cutting the tendons on the hind legs of the horses so they could never bear or pull a load. burn. See note, 17:16.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:7 came suddenly. Before their armies were ready. The enemy chariots were not suitable for this wooded central hill country.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:8 left none remaining. Israel obeyed the Lord's command of v 6.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:10 turned back. Another way of saying that when Joshua returned from pursuit and destruction of the previous kingdoms, he went on the offensive again. Hazor … head of all those kingdoms. Due to its size, fortifications, and strategic location on the main north-south route from the Jezreel Valley to the Beqa Valley in Lebanon. Archaeology has confirmed the city's greatness. See map, p 357.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:12 devoting them to destruction. See p 6. as Moses … commanded. Cf Dt 7:2; 20:16–17.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:13 stood on mounds … except Hazor alone. Cities on mounds were common because of their more defensible position. Apparently, the Israelites took possession of those cities that were not burned.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:14 plunder. See note, 8:2.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:15 Stated to legitimize Joshua as Moses' successor and to express that in everything, Joshua was faithful to all that the Lord had commanded Moses.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:16–17 See color map 2.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:18 a long time. C 7 years passed in the life of Caleb, who was 78 when the conquest began (cf 14:7; Dt 2:14) and 85 when Joshua took Hebron (cf 14:10).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:19 not a city that made peace. They were unwilling to submit to the Israelites, and the Lord hardened their hearts (v 20) so as to bring them to destruction.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:20 harden their hearts. See notes, Ex 4:21; 9:12. devoted to destruction. See p 6. no mercy. Because they refused to submit.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:21 Anakim. Dreaded and oldest inhabitants of Canaan, whose presence convinced the spies sent by Moses to rebel against the Lord (Nu 13:28, 33). Possibly called "Ya'anaq" in Egyptian texts of the era. Elimination of this group serves as a conclusion to the conquest.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:22 Gaza … Gath … Ashdod. Some of the Anakim fled to these cities, a fact that may have later caused trouble for Israel, as Goliath would come from Gath (1Sm 17:4). See color map 1.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:23 spoken to Moses. Expresses Joshua's faithful leadership as Moses' successor. inheritance. See note, 1:6. the land had rest from war. Though there was still more land to possess, the time of war ceased for now. See note, Jgs 1:27–36.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 11 The initial conquest of the land under the leadership of Joshua is completed. Joshua, by the hand of God, gives the Israelites the land as their inheritance. The Lord has said, "Do not be afraid" (v 6). Fear should not affect our faithfulness to the will and direction of the Lord. Jesus, by His faithfulness and His own hand, gives us the promised land of the new heavens and new earth as our eternal inheritance. • Gracious Lord, grant us faith in Your faithfulness, and accomplish Your service in and through us. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 12:1 beyond the Jordan toward the sunrise. Lands to the east of the Jordan.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 12:3 Sea of Chinneroth. Also spelled "Chinnereth" ("lutes"; see p 993). Canaanite name for the Sea of Galilee. See color map 1. Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea. See note, 3:16; see also color map 1.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 12:6 Moses … gave. Stresses the legitimacy of the Reubenite and Gadite claims to this land. servant of the LORD. See p 7. Manasseh. Half the tribe of Manasseh was given land on the eastern side of the Jordan. The other half was given land on the western side (13:8–13).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 12:1–6 This list of defeated enemies serves as a reminder that no power, no matter how great or glorious, can withstand the power of the Lord. Through the power of God, Moses gave the land to the Lord's chosen. So Christ, the Son of God, by His power hidden in the cross, gives us the promised land of the new heavens and the new earth. • May the Lord work in us a faith that looks not to the powers as they are now but to His eternal power to save. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 12:7–24 west side of the Jordan. A second tabulation repeats the names of kings whom Joshua defeated (chs 2–7) and adds a considerable number not mentioned previously. This summary credits Joshua with victories over the Canaanite rulers. It does not claim that he "took possession of their land," as Moses had done east of the Jordan (v 1). These victories took seven years (see note, 11:18).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 12:7–8 (and Joshua ... Jebusites). Parenthetic note anticipates the following chapters. Joshua was commanded to take this action, even though "there remains yet very much land to possess" (13:1). The detailed catalog of the division of the land shows its importance, for the land symbolized that better country that God has prepared for His people (Heb 11:16; Rv 11:15).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 12:9–24 See map, p 357.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 12:7–24 How remarkable that Joshua, once a slave in Egypt, becomes a conqueror of all of these kings! It is because the Lord is with him. How remarkable that the Lord is also with you and will strengthen you to overcome all that would enslave you. • May the Lord keep us faithful to the one true King, who reigns in grace. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:1 Joshua was old. Joshua was 40 or older at the time of the spying episode (Nu 13:2–16); he served 40 more years at Moses' side; it is now c 7 years after crossing the Jordan. Thus, Joshua is 87 or older. very much land to possess. Though allotted to tribes of Israel and promised by God, many parts of the land remained occupied or controlled by non-Israelites. Jgs 1–3 gives some explanation for why God allowed this (cf esp Jgs 3:1–4).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:2–3 Philistines. Mentioned only here in Jsh, they would grow to become Israel's chief rivals in Jgs and 1Sm.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:6 I myself will drive them out. God challenges their faith. He will complete all His promises in time. allot the land … inheritance. God gives a portion of the land to each tribe as an inheritance, not as something earned. See note, 1:6; cf Nu 27:1–11; 36:7–12; Ru 4:10; Pr 17:2; Ezk 45; 48:29. As part of God's covenant, the possession of the inheritance is forfeited when the people's transgression becomes excessive.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:7 nine tribes and half the tribe of Manasseh. Tribes of Gad and Reuben and half the tribe of Manasseh had petitioned Moses to receive the Transjordan lands as their inheritance, regarding them to be suitable. Cf Nu 32.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:1–7 Even with much already accomplished to bring the people of God into their promised possession, much remains to be done for the promises to be completely fulfilled. Though God has established a place for His people to dwell eternally, many things conspire to rob us of that promised inheritance and peace. Nevertheless, God continues to reinforce His promises and to strengthen us through His Sacraments so we do not give up. • Dear Jesus, lead us onward until our rest is complete in You. Remind us always that You have won the battles for us and will drive out our enemies before us. You are our inheritance and treasure. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:8–33 Eastern holdings are not to be considered as separate from the rest of Israel, even though they are outside of the official boundaries of the land. Thus, the eastern tribes and clans are as much a part of God's people as the western ones. Cf 22:10–34; see map, p 365.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:12 Og … of the Rephaim. Cf Gn 14:5; Dt 2:11, 20; 3:11. Size of bed mentioned in Dt 3:11 suggests the Rephaim were giants like Goliath of Gath. See note, 1Ch 20:4.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:14 Levi … no inheritance. Instead of permanent possession of a parcel of land, the Levites were to have a permanent position involved in the worship and sacrifices brought to the Lord. offerings by fire. Most important offering the Levites are to receive. They are also to receive the tithes and firstfruits brought to the Lord (Nu 18:8–16). Cf Dt 18:1–5; see pp 170–71.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:15–28 Cf Nu 32.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:22 Balaam … was killed. Balaam's first encounter with Israel on behalf of the king of Moab (Nu 22–25) is not his last; he was later successful in bringing a curse on Israel, though he fell in battle (Nu 31:8, 15–16). practiced divination. Cf Nu 22:4–6. One method was to examine the entrails of animals sacrificed to a god (Nu 23:1–6; 24:1–4). See note, Dt 18:10–11.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:29–31 half-tribe of Manasseh. See note, Nu 32:33.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:33 See note, v 14.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:8–33 The promise of the land to Abraham's descendants finds earliest fulfillment in the tribes east of the Jordan. This fulfillment, centuries in the making, teaches us why we live by faith, trusting God's timing and purpose as He holds out His promises to all. • Lord, though my name is not listed in these pages of Scripture, You have given me the most important promise of an eternal inheritance through Your Son, Jesus Christ. Help me to remember and hold fast to that until I enjoy my inheritance in its completeness. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:1 Eleazar the priest. Third of Aaron's sons; he survived and remained faithful throughout the wilderness wanderings. heads of the fathers' houses. Each tribe had one representative in the process—their chief or most prominent member. See p 228.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:2 by lot. Method to determine God's will in the distribution of lands; exact procedure is not clearly known, but the process required faith that God would indeed guide the choice, as well as a willingness to abide by the choice as being from God. Such a method would exclude favoritism. See note, 7:14.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:3 Levites … no inheritance. See note, 13:14.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:4 people of Joseph were two tribes. Right of firstborn included a double portion; as Joseph had been given that right, each of his two sons received one portion. no portion … Levites. Because Levi inherited the sacrifices of the tabernacle, he received no major portion of the land. See note, 13:14; see also "portion," p 7. cities to dwell in, with their pasturelands. Agricultural communities frequently had common and private pasturelands surrounding the community. The Levites were assigned to live in such communities, allowing them to keep animals for their own needs.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:1–5 Final preparations and explanatory remarks are given before the land is apportioned to the remaining tribes. All the tribes have a place in the Promised Land! God does not fail to bless even one member of His people in Christ. • O Lord, though I may not always have tangible rewards as a member of Your people, still I give thanks for the greater blessings, which the world cannot understand: the death and resurrection of my Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:7 spy. Cf Nu 13:1–16. as it was in my heart. Caleb's positive report reflected the confidence that God would provide what was needed to conquer the land.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:8 melt. Majority report of the spies provoked fear in the hearts of the people (Nu 14:1–4). See note, 2:9.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:9 forever. Added to the promise of Nu 14:24; Dt 1:36. Hbr phrase can mean simply "for a very long time" instead of "into eternity." The promise would be conditioned on Caleb's descendants continuing in the Lord's ways. wholly followed. Caleb did not waver in his wholehearted trust in God.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:10 forty-five years. It had been 38 years since the spying episode and 7 years since entering the land.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:11 still as strong. Considering the description of Moses at his death at age 120 (Dt 34:7) and that Joshua lived to age 110 (24:29), this is no exaggeration. strength. Caleb counts on God being his strength in battle.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:12 the LORD will be with me. Further example of Caleb following wholly after God (v 9), counting on His promise to help, and taking up the challenge to possess the remaining land (13:6). See p 5.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:13 Joshua blessed him. Perhaps along the lines of Ru 2:4 and Nu 6:22–27. See "bless," p 842. Hebron. See note, 1Sm 30:31.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:15 land had rest from war. No further efforts take place to secure more land until after the land distribution is complete. There are no attacks on the people of Israel as they settle into their new possession.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:6–15 The first allotment begins with Caleb. His story reminds us of God's judgment on faithless Israel (the conquest was delayed) and God's faithfulness to the faithful (His promises are completed to Caleb). Throughout, Caleb shows that the Lord is the strength of the faithful. • Lord, thank You for all that You have promised me. Keep me faithful and counting on Your help until I am able to enjoy the very last portion of Your promises, in Jesus Christ. Amen.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 15:1–12 See map, p 365.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 15:1 Judah. First to receive allotment, as he was given greater prominence than his three older brothers, who had committed acts that caused them to lose their inheritance as firstborn (cf Gn 49:1–12). Jacob's prophecies confer a leadership role on Judah, but not the double portion of material blessings, which went to Joseph (Gn 48:17–22).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 15:8 the Jebusite (that is, Jerusalem). City is identified first by its inhabitants; then by the name it will be known by when David dislodges those inhabitants. See note, v 63.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 15:12 west boundary was the Great Sea. Both the southern (v 4) and northern boundaries were to extend to the Great Sea, but the Philistines continued to occupy and control the coastal plain.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 15:13 the commandment of the LORD to Joshua. It is Joshua's responsibility (Dt 1:38) to carry out this command, first conveyed through Moses (Nu 14:24; Dt 1:36).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 15:16–19 give Achsah my daughter as wife. Though the action here suggests that men might marry women for political advancement, note the response to Achsah's boldness and requests in vv 18–19. See "Standing of Women," p 213.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 15:19 Give me a blessing. Achsah asks that she be given rights as one who could receive inheritance; thus also her husband is to be included as a descendant of Caleb. See "bless," p 842. upper springs and the lower springs. Hbr for "blessing" is similar to "pool" or "pond," and the blessing Achsah seeks is that their life on the land be sustainable. Caleb's response is double what she expects, overflowing (cf Jn 4:13–14; 7:37–39).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 15:20–63 Lists of cities possessed by Judah are grouped with a description of the region within Judah. Apparent discrepancies between the numbers given and the actual number of names mentioned may be due to the inclusion of alternate names or the listing of "villages" as well as "cities." Many cities with enclosures also had outlying communities without enclosures that were not considered large or significant enough to note here.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 15:61 wilderness. Along the western shore of the Salt Sea.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 15:63 Borders of Judah come very close to Jerusalem around the south. The city was in Benjamin's territory (18:28). Neither tribe had complete success in dislodging the Jebusites (Jgs 1:8; 1:21), unlike David (2Sm 5:6–7).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 15 Judah receives precedence in the allotment of land. The assigning of land to Judah points to our end-times promised land through Christ, who came from the tribe of Judah. As Judah was assigned land before fully possessing it, so the Lord gives us eternal life even before we fully possess it in the resurrection. • Lord, grant me faith to receive the promises You have laid before me for the sake of Your Son. Help me also to be faithful to those promises until they are fulfilled completely in heaven. Amen.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 16 Not only was Joseph the favorite son of Jacob, but his two sons were adopted by Jacob (Gn 48:5–6). Ephraim, the second son, receives territory before his firstborn brother, in keeping with Gn 48:17–20. See map, p 365.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 16:10 they did not drive out the Canaanites. They failed to take God up on all His promises (13:6). forced labor. See note, 2Sm 20:24.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 16 Failures of Ephraim to drive out the Canaanites warn us against neglecting our spiritual battles as Christians. The Lord equips us for these struggles, giving us His Spirit and the Word. God's allotment to Ephraim can also give us hope because it shows the Lord keeping a long-standing promise. The giving of land to Ephraim ahead of his brother highlights God's unmerited grace to an undeserving people. • O Lord, help us identify and know our enemies, so we do not grow complacent. Stir us to bold service through Christ, our Lord. Amen.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 17:1–11 See map, p 365.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 17:1 he was the firstborn. Even though Ephraim preceded him, Manasseh received a total allotment second only to Judah's. See note, ch 16. man of war. As a condition for receiving land east of the Jordan, the clan of Machir had agreed to leave their families behind and assist in the conquest of the land (1:12–15; Nu 32:1–27).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 17:3–6 See notes, Nu 27:1–11; 36:2–6.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 17:12–13 See note, 16:10.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 17:14 one lot and one portion. Combined tribes claim the promise of Israel/Jacob of the double portion of the firstborn son (Gn 48:21–22). a numerous people. According to the second census (Nu 26), Ephraim and Manasseh together have a population greater than any single tribe, fulfilling the prophecy of Gn 48:19–20.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 17:15 forest … clear ground. Evidence is plentiful that this land, and much of the eastern Mediterranean, was heavily forested. Population pressures were the main cause of later deforestation. See note, Jgs 9:48. Rephaim. See note, 13:12.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 17:16 chariots of iron. Joshua burned some of these chariots (11:9), so wood was predominant in the chariot's construction, but iron parts could have been used in the axle, wheel rims, or as armor.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 17:17–18 you shall drive out. In addition to promising a healthy population, God also promises to fight for His people to give them full possession of the land.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 17 The tribes of Joseph move to lay claim to the promises of God by inheriting their land. But they forget His promises about acquiring His blessings. God's promises do not come up short. He promises to address our true needs in Christ. • Dear God, help me to see how all of Your promises fit together and how well You have already acted to secure my portion in Your Son, my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Grant me all diligence in my calling of service to You. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON Chs 18–19 This section begins and ends with the mention of the tabernacle at Shiloh (18:1; 19:51). Remaining tribal allotments are ordered around the mothers of the tribal patriarchs: Rachel (Jacob's favorite wife) had Benjamin; Leah had Simeon, Zebulun, and Issachar; Zilpah had Asher; Bilhah had Naphtali and Dan.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:1 whole congregation. See note, 23:2. Shiloh. Located in territory of Ephraim, 20 mi N of Jerusalem, between Shechem and Bethel. See color map 1. After the tribes of Joseph settled all the issues of their allotment at Gilgal, the process shifted to this new location. Shiloh was accessible to the rest of Israel. subdued. Israel had sufficient control of the country, and specifically of this area, so this location was free from Canaanite threat. See p 495.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:3 put off going in to take possession. Some hesitation had developed concerning finishing the job of occupying the land. There was a lack of claiming and also settling on the land.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:4 They shall write a description. Surveys were to be taken of the quantity and quality of the land. Indicates that a significant number of Israelites were literate. See pp 1081–83.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:5 seven portions. Surveyors were to determine how best to divide the remaining land, according to Nu 26:52–56, so more populous tribes received sufficient land. Their estimations may not have yielded exactly equal portions in terms of acreage or population capacity.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:6 The 21 surveyors described and divided the land. Lots were then cast to choose which tribe would receive each division. cast lots … before the LORD. See note, 14:2. God would direct the drawing so the portion selected for each tribe matched their needs.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:7 Levites have no portion. See note, 13:14.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:8 cast lots … before the LORD in Shiloh. In vv 4–6, the charge is to all the tribes assembled. Here, Joshua repeats the task to the three representatives from each of the remaining seven tribes.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:9 a book. Scroll or tablet. Can also be translated "document." by towns. Towns or cities would be a key defining factor to the land, indicating boundaries, water sources, and which lands went with a given town.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:10 It seems that all went according to the instructions Joshua had outlined and repeated in vv 4–8. cast lots. See note, 14:2.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:1–10 Settling the land of Canaan was not an overnight event. God's servant Joshua needed to remind, encourage, and direct the people in this matter, lest they become negligent in following God's promises to their completion. Take heart! God will not let His promised blessings go unused or unclaimed. • When we have received abundantly from You, O Lord, help us realize the fullness of Your blessings. Fill our borders with the peace and protection Your mercy provides through Your Son, our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Amen.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:11–28 Benjamin. The other son of Jacob's favorite wife. See note, chs 18–19. These 26 cities are located between Ephraim and Judah. See map, p 365. On size and allotments, see note, v 5.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:16 Valley of the Son of Hinnom. On the south and west of Jerusalem. "Son of" is later dropped, and name is later transliterated "Gehenna," a place where children were sacrificed to Molech by fire (Jer 7:31; 19:4–6; 32:35). See map, p 493.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:28 Jebus (that is, Jerusalem). See notes, 15:8, 63.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 18 Benjamin, one of the smallest tribes, receives its allotment between Judah and Ephraim, the two most powerful tribes. Benjamin's land would become the heartland of the kingdom of Israel. No matter how small we may seem to others in the Church or the world, we can take confidence, because the Lord makes plans for us and promises our salvation. • Lord, teach me my place in the service of Your kingdom, and strengthen me for greater service. Amen.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:1–9 Lists 17 cities allotted to Simeon. See map, p 365.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:1 midst … of the people of Judah. See note, v 9.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:2 Beersheba. Important place in Abraham's life (Gn 21:22–34); later, part of the description of the entirety of Israel, from north to south (cf Jgs 20:1; 1Sm 3:20; 2Sm 3:10).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:6–7 Sharuhen. Mentioned as the location of an Egyptian garrison in Egyptian military texts, which record a rebellion taking place north of this region during the fifteenth century BC. Egyptians were active in southern Canaan and along the coast up to Megiddo. thirteen cities … four cities. In the second census (Nu 26), Simeon is listed as having fewer clans and less than half the population of Benjamin, thus Simeon receives fewer cities than Benjamin.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:9 Simeon … in the midst. Note Jacob's curse that Levi and Simeon (Gn 49:5–7) would be scattered among other tribes. In Levi's case, this meant receiving cities among all the other tribes; in Simeon's case, it meant dwelling in Judah. When the kingdom later became divided, the tribe of Simeon remained with Judah (David's tribe), along with parts of Benjamin (1Ki 11:11–13).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:1–9 Simeon's clans receive land and cities within the boundaries of Judah. Consequences of the rash actions of Simeon and Levi were visited upon their descendants (see note, v 9). Yet, there is still blessing on the tribe of Simeon, for they are not without an inheritance. They come under the care of their brother, according to God's mercy. • Thank You, Lord, that You have a place for all who repent. All who believe and put their hope in You will not be disappointed but will receive a place in Your kingdom. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:10–16 Lists 12 cities allotted to Zebulun, with boundary descriptions. See map, p 365.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:15 Bethlehem. Not the famous ancestral home of David and Christ, but a city northwest of Nazareth. Though Nazareth was the most notable town in this territory, it is never mentioned in the OT.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:10–16 The disbursement of inheritance continues with Zebulun. This tribe receives so little mention in Scripture that the people are virtually anonymous. Yet, their territory would be the first to hear the Gospel preached from the life of Jesus, as Isaiah prophesied (Is 9:1; Mt 4:12–16). • Lord, help us to remember that our peace lies not in the permanent possession of a parcel of land but in the promises You gave us concerning the One born in Bethlehem of Judea, raised in Nazareth of Zebulun. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:17–23 Lists 16 cities allotted to Issachar, with border descriptions. See map, p 365.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:17–23 Issachar receives as inheritance the area west of the Jordan and south of the Sea of Chinnereth. Issachar receives even less attention in Scripture than Zebulun. Yet, the Lord prepared their eternal inheritance, for Ezekiel later prophesied that they would have a gate to the new Jerusalem, as would believers from the other tribes (Ezk 48:33). • Father, You have promised to be with us and see us through to the eternal inheritance prepared for us in Your Son, our risen Lord and Savior. By His grace, open to us the gates of heaven. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:24–31 Lists 22 cities allotted to Asher, with border descriptions. See map, p 365.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:28 Sidon the Great. Old Canaanite and then Phoenician city on the coast (Gn 10:15) that was later the source of serious temptation to Israel, esp through Jezebel, wife of King Ahab. She was the daughter of Ethbaal, king of Sidon (1Ki 16:31).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:24–31 Asher's allotment runs along the Great Sea north of Mount Carmel, up to the pagan city of Sidon. By giving this border/coastal territory to Asher, the Lord gives the tribe a great challenge, which they would not properly meet. When the Lord challenges us, He also equips us by His good Word and Spirit. Praise God! The region of Asher became a haven for the Gospel through the ministry of Jesus and the apostles (Mt 15:21–28). • Father, we often dwell too near temptations and do not rely on You to overcome them. Grant us strength to avoid temptation and to proclaim Your Son as the Savior of all. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:32–39 Lists 19 cities allotted to Naphtali, with border descriptions. See map, p 365.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:38 nineteen cities. See note, 15:20–63.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:32–39 Naphtali's portion and inheritance to the north would be hit hard by invading armies but would also be among the first to hear the preaching of Christ (Is 9:1; Mt 4:15). • Lord, make our way glorious, for the sake of Christ. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:40–48 Lists 19 cities allotted to Dan, with border descriptions. See map, p 365.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:47 lost to them. Tribe was unable to move into its allotment by the Great Sea and sought out other, unclaimed land far to the north. Like Naphtali, Dan had a challenging inheritance and was furiously resisted by the Amorites (Jgs 1:34). They soon fell into idolatry and remained in it (Jgs 18).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:40–48 Dan's failure to gain its inheritance often stands for the evil from which we need the salvation of the Lord (Gn 49:16–18; note Dan's absence from the list in Rv 7:4–8). When we fail and fall into sin, we will be tempted to give up completely on what we know is good and right. Yet, when we are at our lowest, the Lord remembers us in His mercy. • "Lord, keep us steadfast in Your Word; Curb those who by deceit or sword Would wrest the kingdom from Your Son And bring to naught all He has done." Amen. (LSB 655:1)

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:49–51 Last allotment is to Joshua, of the tribe of Ephraim, and is within the territory granted to Ephraim. See Caleb's special treatment (14:6–9; 15:13). Cf Nu 14:24–30; Dt 1:36–38.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:49 Israel gave. Tribes show gratitude.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:50 command of the LORD. Emphasizing properness of the allotment.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:51 Eleazar the priest. See note, 22:13. by lot. See note, 14:2.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:49–51 As a strong leader, Joshua receives his portion last! The allotment of land began with Caleb, one of the faithful spies. It ends with Joshua, the other faithful spy. All of this was done with God having a firm hand in the proceedings and the people trusting that He would deal generously with them. • We thank You, Lord, for Your faithful dealings with us. Teach us how to put You, not ourselves, first in all things. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 20 No examples in the OT of anyone making use of the refuge afforded by these cities. We may assume that Israel used this arrangement during times of covenant faithfulness but perhaps ignored it when unfaithful. Even the Passover was neglected for years (2Ki 23:21–23).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 20:3 manslayer. Form of Hbr verb used in the Fifth Commandment, "You shall not murder" (Ex 20:13; Dt 5:17). avenger of blood. Hbr go'el. In other contexts, translated "redeemer" (cf Ru 3:12; Jb 19:25). Life belongs to God, who has authority in issues of life and death. In the OT, He exercised His authority under this arrangement involving an "avenger of blood" (cf Gn 4:10; 9:6; Dt 32:35). Both OT and NT affirm the practice of capital punishment (see note, Gn 9:6; Rm 12:19). The high value of each human life under the Creator is affirmed by requiring the payment of the highest price if a life is taken unjustly. Ancient documents attest that avengers existed also in Mesopotamia at the time of Joshua. They exist today in countries with strong tribal identity. See note, 1Ki 2:31.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 20:4 stand at the entrance … explain his case. See p 792. The preliminary hearing; the full trial took place inside the city (v 6). elders. Distinguished from Israel's "heads," "judges," and "officers" (23:2; 24:1). See note, Ex 3:16.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 20:5 Those who unintentionally kill another have a God-ordained legal right to safety in a city of refuge.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 20:6 until the death of him who is high priest. The death of the high priest, intercessor for all Israel, evidently restored harmony and signaled the safe release of the manslayer to his former hometown. Death of the OT high priest anticipated the death of the great High Priest, Jesus Christ, whose blood makes full atonement for all. the manslayer may return to his own town. Assures safety for the unintentional manslayer. The avenger of blood has no legal right to harm him.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 20:7–8 Lists 6 of the 48 cities the Levites would receive by lot from the inheritance of the other 12 tribes (cf ch 21; Nu 35:1–8). Ultimately, God is the "owner" of these cities and all the tribal allotments (Lv 25:23). The fact that these were Levite cities places a special burden for judgment and justice on the priestly tribe. The locations of these six cities (see map, p 365), no more than c 30 mi from any spot in the land, made it possible for one fleeing to arrive at a city of refuge within hours. The six cities lie in a horseshoe pattern beginning in the northwest and ending in the northeast.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 20:7 Only these three cities are newly appointed here by Joshua.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 20:8 Cf Dt 4:43 for Moses' earlier appointment of these three cities.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 20:9 stranger sojourning. Native and nonnative Israelites had equal rights in regard to the safety afforded by the cities of refuge. Cf Ex 22:21; 23:9; Lv 19:33–34; Dt 10:17–19.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 20 At the Lord's direction, Joshua appoints six cities of refuge, demonstrating the Lord's desire for both justice and mercy. Today, through Jesus' perfect life and atoning death, our God of grace "is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble" (Ps 46:1). •

Dear God of love, "we flee for refuge to Your infinite mercy, seeking and imploring Your grace for the sake of our Lord Jesus Christ." Amen. (LSB, p 184)

JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 21 In his curse on Simeon and Levi for their fierce anger, Jacob prophesied that Levi would be scattered and dispersed in Israel (Gn 49:5–7). Those words are fulfilled as the Levites receive their cities scattered among the 12 tribes. The Levites living in their 48 cities (v 41) throughout the land serve as roving teachers of God's people as they watch over the Word and covenant of the Lord (cf Dt 33:8–11; 2Ch 17:8–9). See note, 20:7–8. At the tabernacle, and later at the temple, the priestly Levites from the line of Aaron offered the sacrifices that pointed forward to the sacrifice of Jesus.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 21:1 heads of the fathers' houses. Chiefs of the various clans within a tribe. See note, 22:14.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 21:2 Cf Nu 35:1–8.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 21:3–40 Cities for the Levites come proportionately from the inheritance of the other tribes. Larger tribes give up more cities than the smaller tribes (Nu 35:8).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 21:4–5 Kohathites. Kohath was one of Levi's three sons. (The other sons were Gershon and Merari.) Moses and Aaron were from Kohath's line. Aaron's line of Kohathites was the priestly line. Aaron's line thus receives cities near the future site of the temple, where they will serve, namely, Jerusalem. The nonpriestly Kohathites (v 5) did not need to receive cities near Jerusalem because they would not necessarily serve at the temple each day.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 21:43–45 Encapsulates the theme of Jsh: the Lord is faithful and fulfills His promise to give the land. A tone of praise and thanksgiving resonates as the author reflects Joshua's own words (23:14; cf Jesus' words in Mt 5:18).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 21:43 the LORD gave to Israel all the land. Israel has an expanse of land from Mount Hermon to the Negeb and from the Great Sea to the Arabian Desert. took possession of it. See pp 338–40.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 21:44 rest. Cf 1:15; Dt 3:20. The Lord has given Israel "rest" by defeating their enemies, providing security, and giving them land after 40 years of wandering. This rest anticipates the more valuable rest found only in Jesus and received through faith (Heb 4:3, 8; see note, Jsh 1:12–13.) Not one of all their enemies had withstood them. Sure to His promises, the Lord provided complete victory over enemies, as Israel acted in faith. Without faith in Him, Israel would experience defeat, as ch 7 demonstrated. Even that initial defeat was erased by the victory of ch 8 as Israel repented. Jsh 13:1–7; 15:63 show that even land given by the Lord and allotted to Israel needs the continuing faithful action of His covenant people. Failure to rest on the Lord's promises of victory would lead to future defeat. Yet, that does not detract from the Lord's complete victory to date. See pp 338–40.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 21:45 had failed. Lit, "had fallen." The promises of the land are God's promises to Joshua in 1:2–6 and, still earlier, His original promise to Abraham (Gn 12:2–3; 13:14–17).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 21 The Lord provides for the tribe of Levi, and with that, the author proclaims with praise that the Lord has kept all of His promises. We are not to become attached to the things of this world as though they have lasting value. The Lord provided the Levites with earthly cities that anticipated a better city, a heavenly one (Heb 11:16). Likewise, He promises that as we seek first His kingdom and His righteousness through Christ, He will grant us what we need for this life (Mt 6:33). • Heavenly Father, release us from worries and undue attachment to earthly things, so we might find our true joy in You and the enduring city awaiting us through Christ. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:1 The 2½ tribes that had received their land on the east side of the Jordan River before the conquest of Canaan west of the river. Cf Nu 32; Dt 3:12–20; Jsh 13:8–32.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:2 Moses the servant of the LORD. See note, 1:1.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:3 keep the charge. Lit, "the keeping of the command"; i.e., their "duty." Cf 1:12–15.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:4 rest. See note, 21:44. tents. Hbr can also refer to more permanent "homes," probably the meaning here.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:5 Summary of how Israel is to respond in faith under the Mosaic covenant. love … walk … keep … cling … serve. These verbs guide believing Israelites in their response of faith. Israel's actions flow from the Lord's prior deep affection displayed through His acts of deliverance. (Cf 1Jn 4:19.)

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:6–7 blessed. Blessing in its highest sense invokes the name of the Lord for spiritual and physical well-being. Joshua may have used a liturgical formula, such as the Aaronic blessing of Nu 6:22–27, or v 8 may quote the actual words of the blessing. See note, v 8.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:8 If these are the actual words of Joshua's blessing, he gives the tribes a peaceful dismissal (like our "Depart in peace") and speaks of their being able to share their wealth (giving to others is a blessed activity and a blessing for the giver, Ac 20:35). wealth. Spoils of war from Jericho had been devoted to destruction at God's command (ch 6). But thereafter, Israel was allowed to keep the spoils from their victories and amassed a great quantity of their enemies' livestock, metals, and clothing. your brothers. Fellow tribesmen who had stayed behind in Gilead, east of the Jordan, to protect their families and livestock.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:9 Canaan. Land west of the Jordan. Gilead. Land east of the Jordan. See color map 2.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:1–9 In the first of his three farewell sermons, Joshua dismisses the eastern tribes after they faithfully finished the work they promised to do. Commitment, responsibility, and faithfulness to our word are not always present among us. The commitment and faithfulness of the Lord in saving us from our enemies is proven by the cross of Christ, who grants us faith and faithfulness. • When we finish the tasks You give us, "Lord, dismiss us with Your blessing, Fill our hearts with joy and peace; Let us each, Your love possessing, Triumph in redeeming grace. O refresh us; O refresh us, Trav'ling through this wilderness." Amen. (LSB 924:1)

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:10 altar of imposing size. Lit, "large in regard to appearance." The altar may have been large to make it clear to the other tribes that they were not trying to hide a small, secret altar.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:12 whole assembly … gathered … to make war against them. Cf Dt 13:12–18, which tells what Israel is to do if fellow Israelites start to worship other gods. In their assumption about the eastern tribes' action, the western tribes are following this command.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:13 Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest. Eleazar is the son of Aaron (Ex 6:23) and the high priest at the time of Joshua. Phinehas is thus the grandson of Aaron; he will be the high priest at the death of Eleazar. First mention of Phinehas in Jsh. Cf Nu 25:10–13; Ps 106:28–31 for his righteous actions earlier.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:14 chiefs. Tribe of Levi is represented by Phinehas. The 9½ tribes each have a representative chief (including a chief from the half-tribe of Manasseh west of the river). Thus there are 10 chiefs plus Phinehas.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:15 Gilead. See note, v 9.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:16 whole congregation. They speak as though the eastern tribes have already rejected the true God and are no longer part of the congregation. breach of faith. See note, 7:1. rebellion. Allegation (not the reality) is that by building the altar, the eastern tribes have revolted against the Lord.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:17 Peor. Lit, "the sin of Peor"; refers to Israel's evil action recorded in Nu 25 involving "Baal of Peor." Baal was the Canaanite male fertility god, said to be the son of the Canaanite's chief god, El, and his wife, Asherah. plague. Refers to the divine punishment described in Nu 25:8–9.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:18 tomorrow He will be angry with the whole congregation of Israel. The Lord deals with His people as one body; therefore, all the tribes of Israel will feel His just anger if the 2½ tribes have rebelled against Him. Thus, the 9½ tribes seek to end the problem, even by means of war, so they are not affected by God's wrath because of collective retribution.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:19–20 Western tribes extend a generous offer to the eastern tribes; they can return to the west side of the Jordan and even take some of the western tribes' land for their own. They reason that losing some land is preferable to losing God's covenant and experiencing His judgment. The delegation believes the tribes can reconcile the matter peacefully.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:19 unclean. Western tribes reason that the eastern tribes might consider the land east of the Jordan to be spiritually unclean, perhaps due to the absence of the tabernacle there. The tabernacle is the place of various rites prescribed by the Lord to take away spiritual uncleanness. the Lord 's land. Land west of the Jordan, where the tabernacle, the dwelling place of the Lord, was. The Law of Moses had said that the Lord would choose one place where He would cause His name to dwell (Dt 12:5, 11); that was the tabernacle and later the temple. Those words prepared for the redeeming work of Jesus, the new temple (Jn 2:18–22). other than the altar of the Lord. The altar of the Lord, prescribed in Ex 27, was at the tabernacle, presently at Shiloh, west of the Jordan.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:20 he did not perish alone for his iniquity. Probably refers to the 36 Israelite soldiers who died at the first attempt to capture Ai (7:5); they died at Canaanite hands because of Achan's guilt. Less likely that this refers to the death of Achan's family, since the Hbr of 7:24–25 is ambiguous as to whether the family of Achan was executed along with him (see note, 7:25).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:22 In their vehement and solemn oath of denial, the eastern tribes invoke three names of the true God: El (The Mighty One), Elohim (God), and Yahweh (the LORD). See p 1227.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:23 offerings. See pp 170–71; cf Lv 1:3–3:17; 6:14–23; 7:11–18. Dt 12:13–14 gives an explicit command not to offer burnt offerings anywhere except at the Lord's one designated location: His tabernacle and later the Jerusalem temple. The offerings at Mount Ebal (8:30–35) were by special divine command and thus did not violate the prohibition. The offering of sacrifices only at the Lord's one altar points forward to the once for all sacrifice of Jesus on the one cross at Jerusalem.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:26–27 nor for sacrifice, but to be a witness. Purpose of their altar is the same as that of the heap of stones that Jacob and Laban set up in Gn 31:43–52: a witness between them. It was never intended to function as a sacrificial altar.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:27 the service of the LORD. Worship that God prescribed, esp in Lv. in His presence. Emphasizes that the location of their service would not be at the replica altar they have just built but at the tabernacle at Shiloh (18:1). Cf v 29.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:28 copy of the altar of the LORD. Replica altar near the Jordan is to serve as a type of the true altar at the tabernacle at Shiloh.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:30 heard … it was good in their eyes. Mixed metaphor, common in languages when idioms are used.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:31 the LORD is in our midst. Refers to His gracious presence in Israel, not to His omnipresence. Peaceful resolution proves that the Lord has been present in grace with the whole nation. The Lord is present according to His grace with His covenant people through His OT means of grace: His Word, ark, tabernacle, altar where atonement takes place, and His sacred institutions, such as circumcision. you have delivered the people. If the original allegations had been correct, the hand of the Lord would have fallen in judgment on Israel. By not committing sin, they spared Israel that judgment.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:33 report. Concerning what the altar truly meant and about the peaceful resolution. blessed God. See p 842.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:34 Witness. Even inanimate objects can serve as witnesses or reminders. The replica altar silently witnesses to the truth that the real altar resides at the tabernacle and that the eastern tribes are a part of Israel, though separated from the tabernacle by a river. On covenant witnesses, see p 127.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:10–34 The misunderstanding about the altar is peacefully resolved. Believers still carry their old sinful natures; therefore, misunderstandings or false accusations sometimes flare up among them. But the power of God's Word and Spirit working in our hearts can bring about genuine reconciliation and peace. • When we presume guilt on the part of others, lead us, O Lord, to listen humbly and to speak the truth in love. May Your name be blessed as Your Spirit cleans our ears of unfounded skepticism and our tongues of loveless criticism. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:1 A long time afterward. Probably c 1375 BC, based on the age of Caleb (see note, 14:10) and other chronological information from Scripture, archaeology, and astronomy. See pp 338–40.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:2 elders … heads … judges … officers. Leaders of Israelite society. As representatives, they could properly be called "all Israel." Cf 8:33. See p 228. officers. See note, 1:10. I am now old. Joshua died at age 110 (24:29).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:3 the LORD your God who has fought for you. Theme of Jsh is that Israel's success was the result of the Lord's victories for His people (cf 24:2–13).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:4 those nations that remain. Cf 13:1–7 for the land still to be conquered. Nations of Canaan have been hamstrung, but much work remains if Israel is to take full possession and hold on to the land that has been allotted. See pp 338–40.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:6 be very strong. Joshua borrows the Lord's language (1:7–8). Strength to carry out God's will comes from God through the power He gives in His Word (cf Php 2:13). Book of the Law of Moses. First five books of the Bible; portion of the inspired Scriptures completed by the time of Joshua. See p 5. neither to the right … left. See note, 2Ch 34:2.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:7 may not mix. Intermarriage with heathen nations was prohibited (Ex 34:13–16). The real threat to Israel in mixing with heathen nations is spiritual, not political. make mention … swear … serve … bow down. Each term can refer to worship.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:9 the LORD has driven out. Chs 1–12 attest to the Lord's victories for Israel, fulfilling His promises of Dt 4:38; 7:1; 9:1; 11:23. driven out. Verb does not mean simply "remove to another location," but rather "destroy."
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:10–11 By accenting what the Lord has done for His people, Joshua motivates Israel to love the Lord, who first loved Israel (1Jn 4:19).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:10 puts to flight a thousand. What God promises, He fulfills, no matter the seeming odds against it. Gr Nys: "Victory in battle being due not to numbers, but to righteousness" (NPNF 2 5:250).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:12 make marriages. Intermarriage with unbelievers is perilous because the unbelieving spouse may seduce the believer into abandoning the faith and cause destruction (Dt 7:4). Cf 1Co 7:12–16; 2Co 6:14.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:13 these nations. Canaanites will afflict Israel with spiritual and physical disaster if she turns away from the Lord and His covenant. a snare and a trap … a whip on your sides … thorns in your eyes. Cf Ex 34:12. good ground. The ground is good as God's gift, the place where Christ would carry out His ministry to give all believers an eternally good inheritance.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:14 go the way of all the earth. Because the whole world fell into sin, this is an apt phrase for "to die." not one word has failed. See note, 21:43–45.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:15–16 Blessings and curses as found in Dt 28. For her own good, Israel must see the tragic picture of life without the Lord and His covenant. Cf Lv 26:14–39; Dt 28:15–68; 29:18–28 for earlier warnings of disaster for covenant rejection. In breaking the covenant, Israel's name would be added to the list of nations driven from the land (cf Lv 18:28). This came to pass in 722 BC, when idolatrous northern Israel was destroyed, and in 587 BC, when Judah was defeated and exiled to Babylon.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON Ch 23 In the second of Joshua's three farewell sermons, he addresses the leaders of Israel with warnings against serving other gods and reminds them of the Lord's faithfulness and victories for Israel. What God threatens to those who reject Him and His salvation will certainly come to pass. God has not failed to fulfill even one word of all the good things He has promised. We can trust all the promises of His Word. • Lord, cause us to know that You are always faithful to Your Word, so that we heed Your warnings and trust Your gracious promises. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:1 Shechem. At the heart of the land; rich in salvation history (e.g., Gn 12:6–7). elders … heads … judges … officers. See note, 23:2. presented themselves before God. Probably before the tabernacle and ark of the covenant, as divinely appointed vehicles of God's presence (see note, v 26; see also p 495). Scene recalls Ex 19:17, when Israel stood in covenant assembly before God at Mount Sinai with Moses as their mediator.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:2–13 Records essentials of salvation history from Abraham to Joshua, accenting God's grace. He does not choose people who are righteous in themselves. In His unmerited favor, He calls sinners. Full account appears in Gn 11:27 through Jsh 12. I. See note, vv 14–28.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:2–3 served other gods. Abraham and his family were serving other gods when God "took" him and gave him His gracious promises. Later Jewish interpreters misread the idolatry as applying to Terah and Nahor but not to Abraham. They regarded Abraham's purity as the reason for God's choice of Abraham rather than His grace. Mel: "Not even Abraham, the father of all believers, along with his leading people, was immune to the abomination of idolatry, but when God wanted to keep him safe, He was compelled to call him from the deep mire of idolatry" (Chem, LTh 2:322).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:2 beyond the Euphrates. East of the Euphrates in Mesopotamia ("between the rivers"), where Abraham and his family first lived, specifically in Ur and Haran. Nahor. Nahor and Haran were brothers of Abraham (Abram). Cf Gn 11:26. other gods. People of Ur, from whom Abraham came, had invented some 4,000 gods.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:3 made his offspring many. Abraham and Sarah's many offspring include the hundreds of thousands who listen to Joshua speak here at Shechem. Cf Nu 26.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:4 down to Egypt. Background to years of bondage, from which God, in grace and power, redeemed His chosen people.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:7 made the sea come upon them. Cf Ex 15:4–5, 10. your eyes. May be understood in the sense of "the eyes of the Israelites as a nation" (e.g., Americans might say collectively, "We landed on the moon in 1969"). Only the eyes of the oldest Israelites literally saw what the Lord did to the Egyptians (cf Nu 14:29–30). lived in the wilderness a long time. The 40 years described in Ex 16–Nu 21.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:8 into your hand. Graphic expression for "I caused you to defeat them." See "hand," p 842.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:9 Balaam the son of Beor to curse you. Cf Nu 22–24. Under the influence of the Lord, Balaam instead blessed Israel with four beautiful oracles. He even saw the future advent of Jesus Christ as a "star" and "scepter" (Nu 24:17).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:10 he blessed you. See note, v 9. I delivered you. Balaam's plan to curse was not effective because God promised to bless Israel. Later, Balaam himself was killed by God's people (Nu 31:8).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:12 I sent the hornet. Probably a colorful metaphor for the dread that gripped the Canaanites (2:11); cf Ex 23:27–28, where "terror" and "hornet" seem to be parallel. Alternatively, since the hornet was a symbol of Lower Egypt and since Egyptian raids into Canaan prior to Israel's entry had weakened the Canaanites, Egypt's army could figuratively be "the hornet." Of course a literal "hornet" is also possible. The God who had summoned frogs, gnats, flies, and locusts to plague Egyptians could also gather swarms of hornets.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:13 God's pure grace toward Israel is the message. Both the defeat of the Canaanites (v 12) and the life that Israel enjoyed thereafter came by God's unmerited favor, not by the power or merit of Israelites. Cf Dt 6:10–12 for Moses' exhortation, which uses much of the same thought and vocabulary as this verse.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:1–13 At Shechem, Joshua summarizes for Israel the history of salvation by grace, from the call of Abraham to the victories under Joshua. Likewise, we deserve none of the good that God gives us. God Himself in Christ has defeated our great enemies: sin, Satan, and death. He calls us by the Gospel of Christ and gives us an everlasting heritage, kingdom, and life. • Dear Lord of grace, make me know through Your Word that real success is not by my effort but by Your cross. Cause gratitude, love, and loyalty to well up in me as I rehearse Your victories for me and Your blessings to me. Amen.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:14–28 The Lord spoke in the first person through Joshua in vv 2–13. Now in v 14, Joshua himself speaks.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:14 fear the LORD. See p 1001. Put away the gods. Chem: "The Israelites in Egypt were accustomed to the practice of idolatry" (LTh 2:373). Although 23:8 and 24:31 emphasize Israel's faithfulness, this verse speaks of idols their ancestors served and the temptation they caused. Not mentioned here are the immediate consequences of unfaithfulness, such as those that followed the sin of Achan. Instead, Joshua demands throwing away all false gods of the heart—anything that keeps Israel from serving the Lord alone.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:15–16 If Israel rejects the Lord, she can choose between two groups of worthless gods—Mesopotamian or Canaanite. This is like saying to a hungry person: If you reject this banquet of delicacies, you may choose between garbage or dung. Joshua's statement evokes holy horror from Israel. we will serve the LORD. Even if Joshua and his house have to stand alone against all Israel and the surrounding pagan nations, as he and Caleb did earlier (Nu 14:1–9), they will serve the Lord. This is a bold profession of faith in the Lord and commitment to His covenant.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:18 the LORD drove out. See note, 23:9. we also will serve the LORD, for He is our God. People of Israel fashion their confession after the words of Joshua in v 15. Their commitment to the Lord is the same as his.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:19 Joshua's response to the people's good confession is surprising. Here are some possible explanations: (1) He is testing the sincerity of Israel with the intent of strengthening their commitment; (2) he is trying to break down all ideas that sinful Israel can remain loyal by their own power so that they rest on the Lord's power alone; (3) he may have been given a revelation of the idolatry that will bring God's curse on Israel in the future; or (4) he may be addressing unbelievers hiding within faithful Israel. The second alternative seems most likely.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:20 He will turn. Becoming justifiably hostile toward people who previously enjoyed His favor. harm and consume you. God is holy and thus never the source of evil, but the execution of His anger brings disaster upon sinful people. What God had done to Israel's enemies, He will do to Israel if she forsakes Him. The threat is a warning against apostasy.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:21 People seem to cut off Joshua midspeech with a holy no! Their resolve in vv 16–18 remains unshaken here.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:22 you have chosen the LORD, to serve Him. The choice here is not made by unbelievers who are choosing the Lord for their salvation; this is impossible for unbelievers because of their naturally sinful condition (Rm 8:6–7; 1Co 2:14; Eph 2:1). This is the choice of believers who, like Joshua himself, are led by the Holy Spirit and are determined not to abandon the faith God has given them.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:23 put away the foreign gods. Temptations for Israel would be strong from the foreign gods among them and the thoughts about them lurking in their hearts. heart. In its abstract sense, the richest biblical term for the totality of the nonphysical part of a person. Most OT usages of "heart" refer to one or all of the personality features that we often call emotion, thought, and will.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:25 made a covenant. Renewal of the Mosaic covenant, which the Lord set in place at Mount Sinai. Renewed covenant will continue to serve as (1) a mirror for Israelites so that they know their sin, receive atonement in the sacrifices instituted by God, and trust in God's gracious covenant first given to Abraham; (2) a sanctifying hedge to set Israel apart from all other nations by its righteous ordinances; and (3) a shadow or prefiguration that pictures and previews the new and better covenant of pure grace in Christ. statutes and rules. Hbr terms are singular. The idea is probably the one covenant pledge that Israel will serve the Lord alone, as the people just stated in v 24. See p 971.
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:26 wrote these words. Author does not reveal which words. We can surmise that they include at least the terms, charges, and promises of ch 24 that will keep the conditional Mosaic covenant in force for Israel. Some think "these words" refers to the substance of Jsh, with the exception of 24:29–33. the Book of the Law of God. Implies that these written words receive canonical status as the authoritative Word of God along with the Books of Moses. See p 5. a large stone. See note, 4:5–7. Archaeologists have found the remains of a temple at Shechem that included a huge upright stone (massebah). terebinth. See note, Jgs 6:11. sanctuary of the LORD. The tabernacle, which was now at Shechem, moved there from Shiloh (18:1).
JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:27 this stone shall be a witness. The same term for "witness" appears in Gn 21:30 and Gn 31:52; in the latter verse it refers to a heap of stones and a stone pillar that attested to the covenant between Jacob and Laban. There is no hint in the OT of animistic ideas concerning stone witnesses and memorials, as though they housed spirits. See notes, 22:34; Gn 28:18.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:28 every man to his inheritance. Only a handful of individual allotments are recorded in Jsh (14:6–15; 15:16–19; 17:3–6; 19:49–50; 24:33). Usually the allotment is to each tribe, "according to their clans" (e.g., 18:28).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:14–28 As the Mosaic covenant is formally renewed at Shechem, Joshua and the people boldly profess their faithfulness to the God who redeemed them and gave them victory. In our weakness and fear of the world, we may be hesitant to witness to the God who has given us our eternal inheritance. Pray for courage. His saving grace and His Spirit can enable us to boldly confess His name. • "All who confess Christ's holy name, Give God the praise and glory. Let all who know His pow'r proclaim Aloud the wondrous story. Cast ev'ry idol from its throne, For God is God, and He alone: To God all praise and glory!" Amen. (LSB 819:5)

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:29 servant of the LORD. See note, 1:1. 110 years old. Joseph had also died at age 110 (Gn 50:26). Egyptian writings show that 110 was considered the ideal number of years on this earth.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:30 Joshua's burial in the Promised Land attests that the Lord is faithful to His promises. Timnath-serah. Cf Jgs 2:9.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:31 the elders who outlived Joshua. Those in leadership positions who were a generation younger than Joshua and Caleb, the two longest surviving men in Israel. had known all the work that the LORD did for Israel. Some elders had experienced as children the Lord's work at the exodus from Egypt and His care of Israel in the wilderness. More had observed His mighty victories over the Canaanites and His allotment of their inheritance in the Promised Land. The Lord's acts of grace and power motivated a generation for faithful service.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:32 bones of Joseph. Cf Gn 50:24–26. Joseph's instructions concerning his bones (four centuries earlier) were an expression of his faith in God's promises. Now, the burial of his bones in the Promised Land at Shechem stresses that faith in God's promises is never misplaced (cf Ac 7:15–17). buried them at Shechem. This is where Joseph was looking for his brothers before his abduction hundreds of years earlier (Gn 37:13). Now, he is returned to Shechem at the center of the Promised Land, also at the center of the land allotted to his two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh. Culturally, burial on a piece of property indicated ownership. Maintaining the family tomb showed evidence of the family's property rights. hundred pieces of money. See ESV note. Not coins, but a common unit of weight. Term appears only in the oldest books of the Bible (cf Gn 33:19, Jb 42:11). Minted coins came much later. See note, Ezr 2:69.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:33 Eleazar. Important in the pages of Jsh as the priestly officiant at the allotting of the land (14:1; 17:4; 19:51; 21:1). His name at the end emphasizes the theme of the fulfillment of the Lord's promises.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:29–33 Three graves in the Promised Land (of Joshua, Joseph, and Eleazar) attest to the faithfulness of the Lord in fulfilling His promises. "Sin came into the world through one man, and death through sin, and so death spread to all men because all sinned" (Rm 5:12). "If, because of one man's trespass, death reigned through that one man, much more will those who receive the abundance of grace and the free gift of righteousness reign in life through the one man Jesus Christ" (Rm 5:17). • We praise You, dear Lord, that when we lie buried in the ground, we also lie buried in Your sure promises of the resurrection to eternal life, through Jesus, the new Joshua. He lived, died, and rose so that after we die, we might be raised and live with Him forever. Amen.

The Continuing Conquest of Canaan

1 [1] ‡ † After the death of Joshua, the people of Israel inquired of the Lord, “Who shall go up first for us against the Canaanites, to fight against them?” [2] The Lord said, “Judah shall go up; behold, I have given the land into his hand.” [3] And Judah said to Simeon his brother, “Come up with me into the territory allotted to me, that we may fight against the Canaanites. And I likewise will go with you into the territory allotted to you.” So Simeon went with him. [4] † Then Judah went up and the Lord gave the Canaanites and the Perizzites into their hand, and they defeated 10,000 of them at Bezek. [5] † They found Adoni-bezek at Bezek and fought against him and defeated the Canaanites and the Perizzites. [6] † Adoni-bezek fled, but they pursued him and caught him and cut off his thumbs and his big toes. [7] † And Adoni-bezek said, “Seventy kings with their thumbs and their big toes cut off used to pick up scraps under my table. As I have done, so God has repaid me.” And they brought him to Jerusalem, and he died there.

[8] † And the men of Judah fought against Jerusalem and captured it and struck it with the edge of the sword and set the city on fire. [9] † And afterward the men of Judah went down to fight against the Canaanites who lived in the hill country, in the Negeb, and in the lowland. [10] † And Judah went against the Canaanites who lived in Hebron (now the name of Hebron was formerly Kiriath-arba), and they defeated Sheshai and Ahiman and Talmai.

[11] † From there they went against the inhabitants of Debir. The name of Debir was formerly Kiriath-sepher. [12] ‡ And Caleb said, “He who attacks Kiriath-sepher and captures it, I will give him Achsah my daughter for a wife.” [13] † And Othniel the son of Kenaz, Caleb’s younger brother, captured it. And he gave him Achsah his daughter for a wife. [14] † When she came to him, she urged him to ask her father for a field. And she dismounted from her donkey, and Caleb said to her, “What do you want?” [15] † She said to him, “Give me a blessing. Since you have set me in the land of the Negeb, give me also springs of water.” And Caleb gave her the upper springs and the lower springs.

16 †And the descendants of the Kenite, Moses' father-in-law, went up with the people of Judah from the city of palms into the wilderness of Judah, which lies in the Negeb near Arad, and they went and settled with the people. 17 †And Judah went with Simeon his brother, and they defeated the Canaanites who inhabited Zephath and devoted it to destruction. So the name of the city was called Hormah.[1] 18 †Judah also captured Gaza with its territory, and Ashkelon with its territory, and Ekron with its territory. 19 †And the Lord was with Judah, and he took possession of the hill country, but he could not drive out the inhabitants of the plain because they had chariots of iron. 20 †And Hebron was given to Caleb, as Moses had said. And he drove out from it the three sons of Anak. 21 †But the people of Benjamin did not drive out the Jebusites who lived in Jerusalem, so the Jebusites have lived with the people of Benjamin in Jerusalem to this day.

22 †The house of Joseph also went up against Bethel, and the Lord was with them. 23 †And the house of Joseph scouted out Bethel. (Now the name of the city was formerly Luz.) 24 †And the spies saw a man coming out of the city, and they said to him, "Please show us the way into the city, and we will deal kindly with you." 25 And he showed them the way into the city.
And they struck the city with the edge of the sword, but they let the man and all his family go. 26 †And the man went to the land of the Hittites and built a city and called its name Luz. That is its name to this day.

Failure to Complete the Conquest

27 ‡ ‡ † Manasseh did not drive out the inhabitants of Beth-shean and its villages, or Taanach and its villages, or the inhabitants of Dor and its villages, or the inhabitants of Ibleam and its villages, or the inhabitants of Megiddo and its villages, for the Canaanites persisted in dwelling in that land. 28 † When Israel grew strong, they put the Canaanites to forced labor, but did not drive them out completely.
29 † And Ephraim did not drive out the Canaanites who lived in Gezer, so the Canaanites lived in Gezer among them.
30 † Zebulun did not drive out the inhabitants of Kitron, or the inhabitants of Nahalol, so the Canaanites lived among them, but became subject to forced labor.
31 † Asher did not drive out the inhabitants of Acco, or the inhabitants of Sidon or of Ahlab or of Achzib or of Helbah or of Aphik or of Rehob, 32 so the Asherites lived among the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land, for they did not drive them out.
33 † Naphtali did not drive out the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh, or the inhabitants of Beth-anath, so they lived among the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land. Nevertheless, the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh and of Beth-anath became subject to forced labor for them.
34 † The Amorites pressed the people of Dan back into the hill country, for they did not allow them to come down to the plain. 35 The Amorites persisted in dwelling in Mount Heres, in Aijalon, and in Shaalbim, but the hand of the house of Joseph rested heavily on them, and they became subject to forced labor. 36 And the border of the Amorites ran from the ascent of Akrabbim, from Sela and upward.

Israel's Disobedience

2 [1]‡†Now the angel of the Lord went up from Gilgal to Bochim. And he said, "I brought you up from Egypt and brought you into the land that I swore to give to your fathers. I said, 'I will never break my covenant with you, [2]† and you shall make no covenant with the inhabitants of this land; you shall break down their altars.' But you have not obeyed my voice. What is this you have done? [3]†So now I say, I will not drive them out before you, but they shall become thorns in your sides,[1] and their gods shall be a snare to you." [4]† As soon as the angel of the Lord spoke these words to all the people of Israel, the people lifted up their voices and wept. [5]† And they called the name of that place Bochim.[2] And they sacrificed there to the Lord.

The Death of Joshua

6 † When Joshua dismissed the people, the people of Israel went each to his inheritance to take possession of the land. 7 † And the people served the Lord all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders who outlived Joshua, who had seen all the great work that the Lord had done for Israel.
8 And Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the Lord, died at the age of 110 years. 9 And they buried him within the boundaries of his inheritance in Timnath-heres, in the hill country of Ephraim, north of the mountain of Gaash. 10 † And all that generation also were gathered to their fathers. And there arose another generation after them who did not know the Lord or the work that he had done for Israel.

Israel’s Unfaithfulness

11 ‡‡‡And the people of Israel did what was evil in the sight of the Lord and served the Baals. 12 †And they abandoned the Lord, the God of their fathers, who had brought them out of the land of Egypt. They went after other gods, from among the gods of the peoples who were around them, and bowed down to them. And they provoked the Lord to anger. 13 † They abandoned the Lord and served the Baals and the Ashtaroth. 14 †So the anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel, and he gave them over to plunderers, who plundered them. And he sold them into the hand of their surrounding enemies, so that they could no longer withstand their enemies. 15 †Whenever they marched out, the hand of the Lord was against them for harm, as the Lord had warned, and as the Lord had sworn to them. And they were in terrible distress.

The Lord Raises Up Judges

16 ‡ † Then the Lord raised up judges, who saved them out of the hand of those who plundered them. 17 † Yet they did not listen to their judges, for they whored after other gods and bowed down to them. They soon turned aside from the way in which their fathers had walked, who had obeyed the commandments of the Lord, and they did not do so. 18 † Whenever the Lord raised up judges for them, the Lord was with the judge, and he saved them from the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge. For the Lord was moved to pity by their groaning because of those who afflicted and oppressed them. 19 But whenever the judge died, they turned back and were more corrupt than their fathers, going after other gods, serving them and bowing down to them. They did not drop any of their practices or their stubborn ways. 20 So the anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel, and he said, “Because this people has transgressed my covenant that I commanded their fathers and have not obeyed my voice, 21 I will no longer drive out before them any of the nations that Joshua left when he died, 22 † in order to test Israel by them, whether they will take care to walk in the way of the Lord as their fathers did, or not.” 23 So the Lord left those nations, not driving them out quickly, and he did not give them into the hand of Joshua.

3 1 ‡ † Now these are the nations that the Lord left, to test Israel by them, that is, all in Israel who had not experienced all the wars in Canaan.
2 † It was only in order that the generations of the people of Israel might know war, to teach war to those who had not known it before. 3 † These are the nations: the five lords of the Philistines and all the Canaanites and the Sidonians and the Hivites who lived on Mount Lebanon, from Mount Baal-hermon as far as Lebo-hamath. 4 † They were for the testing of Israel, to know whether Israel would obey the commandments of the Lord, which he commanded their fathers by the hand of Moses. 5 † So the people of Israel lived among the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites. 6 † And their daughters they took to themselves for wives, and their own daughters they gave to their sons, and they served their gods.

Othniel

7 ‡ † And the people of Israel did what was evil in the sight of the Lord.
They forgot the Lord their God and served the Baals and the Asheroth.
8 † Therefore the anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel, and he sold them into the hand of Cushan-rishathaim king of Mesopotamia. And the people of Israel served Cushan-rishathaim eight years. 9 † But when the people of Israel cried out to the Lord, the Lord raised up a deliverer for the people of Israel, who saved them, Othniel the son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother. 10 † The Spirit of the Lord was upon him, and he judged Israel. He went out to war, and the Lord gave Cushan-rishathaim king of Mesopotamia into his hand. And his hand prevailed over Cushanrishathaim. 11 † So the land had rest forty years. Then Othniel the son of Kenaz died.

Ehud

12 ‡ † And the people of Israel again did what was evil in the sight of the Lord, and the Lord strengthened Eglon the king of Moab against Israel, because they had done what was evil in the sight of the Lord. 13 † He gathered to himself the Ammonites and the Amalekites, and went and defeated Israel. And they took possession of the city of palms. 14 And the people of Israel served Eglon the king of Moab eighteen years.
15 † Then the people of Israel cried out to the Lord, and the Lord raised up for them a deliverer, Ehud, the son of Gera, the Benjaminite, a left-handed man. The people of Israel sent tribute by him to Eglon the king of Moab.
16 † And Ehud made for himself a sword with two edges, a cubit[1] in length, and he bound it on his right thigh under his clothes. 17 † And he presented the tribute to Eglon king of Moab. Now Eglon was a very fat man. 18 † And when Ehud had finished presenting the tribute, he sent away the people who carried the tribute. 19 † But he himself turned back at the idols near Gilgal and said, “I have a secret message for you, O king.” And he commanded, “Silence.” And all his attendants went out from his presence. 20 † And Ehud came to him as he was sitting alone in his cool roof chamber. And Ehud said, “I have a message from God for you.” And he arose from his seat.
21 And Ehud reached with his left hand, took the sword from his right thigh, and thrust it into his belly. 22 † And the hilt also went in after the blade, and the fat closed over the blade, for he did not pull the sword out of his belly;
and the dung came out. 23 † Then Ehud went out into the porch[1] and closed the doors of the roof chamber behind him and locked them.
24 † When he had gone, the servants came, and when they saw that the doors of the roof chamber were locked, they thought, “Surely he is relieving himself in the closet of the cool chamber.” 25 † And they waited till they were embarrassed. But when he still did not open the doors of the roof chamber, they took the key and opened them, and there lay their lord dead on the floor.
26 ‡ Ehud escaped while they delayed, and he passed beyond the idols and escaped to Seirah. 27 When he arrived, he sounded the trumpet in the hill country of Ephraim. Then the people of Israel went down with him from the hill country, and he was their leader. [28]†And he said to them, “Follow after me, for the Lord has given your enemies the Moabites into your hand.” So they went down after him and seized the fords of the Jordan against the Moabites and did not allow anyone to pass over. [29]And they killed at that time about 10,000 of the Moabites, all strong, able-bodied men; not a man escaped. [30]†So Moab was subdued that day under the hand of Israel. And the land had rest for eighty years.

Shamgar

31 †† After him was Shamgar the son of Anath, who killed 600 of the Philistines with an oxgoad, and he also saved Israel.

Deborah and Barak

4 [1]†And the people of Israel again did what was evil in the sight of the Lord after Ehud died. [2]†And the Lord sold them into the hand of Jabin king of Canaan, who reigned in Hazor. The commander of his army was Sisera, who lived in Harosheth-hagoyim. [3]†Then the people of Israel cried out to the Lord for help, for he had 900 chariots of iron and he oppressed the people of Israel cruelly for twenty years.

[4]†Now Deborah, a prophetess, the wife of Lappidoth, was judging Israel at that time. [5]†She used to sit under the palm of Deborah between Ramah and Bethel in the hill country of Ephraim, and the people of Israel came up to her for judgment. [6]†She sent and summoned Barak the son of Abinoam from Kedesh-naphtali and said to him, "Has not the Lord, the God of Israel, commanded you, 'Go, gather your men at Mount Tabor, taking 10,000 from the people of Naphtali and the people of Zebulun. [7]†And I will draw out Sisera, the general of Jabin's army, to meet you by the river Kishon with his chariots and his troops, and I will give him into your hand'?" [8]†Barak said to her, "If you will go with me, I will go, but if you will not go with me, I will not go." [9]†And she said, "I will surely go with you. Nevertheless, the road on which you are going will not lead to your glory, for the Lord will sell Sisera into the hand of a woman." Then Deborah arose and went with Barak to Kedesh. [10]†And Barak called out Zebulun and Naphtali to Kedesh. And 10,000 men went up at his heels, and Deborah went up with him.

[11] † Now Heber the Kenite had separated from the Kenites, the descendants of Hobab the father-in-law of Moses, and had pitched his tent as far away as the oak in Zaanannim, which is near Kedesh.

[12]‡When Sisera was told that Barak the son of Abinoam had gone up to Mount Tabor, [13]Sisera called out all his chariots, 900 chariots of iron, and all the men who were with him, from Harosheth-hagoyim to the river Kishon. [14]†And Deborah said to Barak, "Up! For this is the day in which the Lord has given Sisera into your hand. Does not the Lord go out before you?" So Barak went down from Mount Tabor with 10,000 men following him. [15]†And the Lord routed Sisera and all his chariots and all his army before

Barak by the edge of the sword. And Sisera got down from his chariot and fled away on foot. [16]And Barak pursued the chariots and the army to Harosheth-hagoyim, and all the army of Sisera fell by the edge of the sword; not a man was left.

[17]†But Sisera fled away on foot to the tent of Jael, the wife of Heber the Kenite, for there was peace between Jabin the king of Hazor and the house of Heber the Kenite. [18]†And Jael came out to meet Sisera and said to him, "Turn aside, my lord; turn aside to me; do not be afraid." So he turned aside to her into the tent, and she covered him with a rug. [19]†And he said to her, "Please give me a little water to drink, for I am thirsty." So she opened a skin of milk and gave him a drink and covered him. [20]And he said to her, "Stand at the opening of the tent, and if any man comes and asks you, 'Is anyone here?' say, 'No.'" [21]†But Jael the wife of Heber took a tent peg, and took a hammer in her hand. Then she went softly to him and drove the peg into his temple until it went down into the ground while he was lying fast asleep from weariness. So he died. [22]†And behold, as Barak was pursuing Sisera, Jael went out to meet him and said to him, "Come, and I will show you the man whom you are seeking." So he went in to her tent, and there lay Sisera dead, with the tent peg in his temple.

[23]So on that day God subdued Jabin the king of Canaan before the people of Israel. [24]And the hand of the people of Israel pressed harder and harder against Jabin the king of Canaan, until they destroyed Jabin king of Canaan.

The Song of Deborah and Barak

5 [1]† Then sang Deborah and Barak the son of Abinoam on that day:

[2]† "That the leaders took the lead in Israel,
that the people offered themselves willingly, bless the LORD!

[3]† "Hear, O kings; give ear, O princes;
to the LORD I will sing;
I will make melody to the LORD, the God of Israel.

[4]† "LORD, when you went out from Seir, when you marched from the region of Edom,
the earth trembled
and the heavens dropped,
yes, the clouds dropped water.
[5] The mountains quaked before the LORD,
even Sinai before the LORD, the God of Israel.

[6]† "In the days of Shamgar, son of Anath, in the days of Jael, the highways were abandoned,
and travelers kept to the byways.
[7]† The villagers ceased in Israel;
they ceased to be until I arose;
I, Deborah, arose as a mother in Israel.
[8] When new gods were chosen,
then war was in the gates.
Was shield or spear to be seen among forty thousand in Israel?

9† My heart goes out to the commanders of Israel
who offered themselves willingly among the people.
Bless the Lord.

10† “Tell of it, you who ride on white donkeys, you who sit on rich carpets[1]
and you who walk by the way.
11† To the sound of musicians[2] at the watering places,
there they repeat the righteous triumphs
of the Lord,
the righteous triumphs of his villagers in Israel.

“ Then down to the gates marched the people of the Lord.

12† “Awake, awake, Deborah!
Awake, awake, break out in a song!
Arise, Barak, lead away your captives,
O son of Abinoam.
13† Then down marched the remnant of the noble;
the people of the Lord marched down for me against the mighty.
14 From Ephraim their root they marched down into the valley,[1] following you, Benjamin, with your kinsmen;
from Machir marched down the commanders,
and from Zebulun those who bear the lieutenant's[2] staff;

15 the princes of Issachar came with Deborah,
and Issachar faithful to Barak;
into the valley they rushed at his heels.
Among the clans of Reuben
there were great searchings of heart.
16 Why did you sit still among the sheepfolds,
to hear the whistling for the flocks?
Among the clans of Reuben
there were great searchings of heart.
17† Gilead stayed beyond the Jordan;
and Dan, why did he stay with the ships?
Asher sat still at the coast of the sea,
staying by his landings.
18 Zebulun is a people who risked their lives to the death;
Naphtali, too, on the heights of the field.

19† "The kings came, they fought;
then fought the kings of Canaan,
at Taanach, by the waters of Megiddo;
they got no spoils of silver.
20† From heaven the stars fought,
from their courses they fought against Sisera.
21† The torrent Kishon swept them away,
the ancient torrent, the torrent Kishon.
March on, my soul, with might!

22† "Then loud beat the horses' hoofs with the galloping, galloping of his steeds.

23† "Curse Meroz, says the angel of the LORD, curse its inhabitants thoroughly,
because they did not come to the help of the

LORD,
to the help of the LORD against the mighty.

24† "Most blessed of women be Jael,
the wife of Heber the Kenite,
of tent-dwelling women most blessed.
25† He asked water and she gave him milk;
she brought him curds in a noble's bowl.
26† She sent her hand to the tent peg and her right hand to the workmen's mallet;
she struck Sisera;
she crushed his head;
she shattered and pierced his temple.
27† Between her feet
he sank, he fell, he lay still;
between her feet
he sank, he fell;
where he sank,
there he fell—dead.

28† "Out of the window she peered, the mother of Sisera wailed through the lattice:
'Why is his chariot so long in coming?
Why tarry the hoofbeats of his chariots?'
29 Her wisest princesses answer,
indeed, she answers herself,
30 'Have they not found and divided the spoil?—
A womb or two for every man;
spoil of dyed materials for Sisera,
spoil of dyed materials embroidered,
two pieces of dyed work embroidered for the neck as spoil?'

31 “So may all your enemies perish, O Lord!
But your friends be like the sun as he rises in his might.”

And the land had rest for forty years.

Midian Oppresses Israel

6 [1]‡†The people of Israel did what was evil in the sight of the Lord, and the Lord gave them into the hand of Midian seven years. [2]†And the hand of Midian overpowered Israel, and because of Midian the people of Israel made for themselves the dens that are in the mountains and the caves and the strongholds. [3]†For whenever the Israelites planted crops, the Midianites and the Amalekites and the people of the East would come up against them. [4]‡They would encamp against them and devour the produce of the land, as far as Gaza, and leave no sustenance in Israel and no sheep or ox or donkey. [5]†For they would come up with their livestock and their tents; they would come like locusts in number—both they and their camels could not be counted—so that they laid waste the land as they came in.
[6]And Israel was brought very low because of Midian. And the people of Israel cried out for help to the Lord.

[7]†When the people of Israel cried out to the Lord on account of the Midianites, [8]‡the Lord sent a prophet to the people of Israel. And he said to them, “Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: I led you up from Egypt and brought you out of the house of bondage. [9]And I delivered you from the hand of the Egyptians and from the hand of all who oppressed you, and drove them out before you and gave you their land. [10]And I said to you, ‘I am the Lord your God; you shall not fear the gods of the Amorites in whose land you dwell.’ But you have not obeyed my voice.”

The Call of Gideon

11 †Now the angel of the Lord came and sat under the terebinth at Ophrah, which belonged to Joash the Abiezrite, while his son Gideon was beating out wheat in the winepress to hide it from the Midianites. 12 †And the angel of the Lord appeared to him and said to him, “The Lord is with you, O mighty man of valor.” 13 †And Gideon said to him, “Please, sir,[1] if the Lord is with us, why then has all this happened to us? And where are all his wonderful deeds that our fathers recounted to us, saying, ‘Did not the Lord bring us up from Egypt?’ But now the Lord has forsaken us and given us into the hand of Midian.” 14 †And the Lord[2] turned to him and said, “Go in this might of yours and save Israel from the hand of Midian; do not I send you?” 15 †And he said to him, “Please, Lord, how can I save Israel? Behold, my clan is the weakest in Manasseh, and I am the least in my father’s house.” 16 †And the Lord said to him, “But I will be with you, and you shall strike the Midianites as one man.” 17 †And he said to him, “If now I have found favor in your eyes, then show me a sign that it is you who speak with me. 18 Please do not depart from here until I come to you and bring out my present and set it before you.” And he said, “I will stay till you return.”

19 †So Gideon went into his house and prepared a young goat and unleavened cakes from an ephah[1] of flour. The meat he put in a basket, and the broth he put in a pot, and brought them to him under the terebinth and presented them. 20 And the angel of God said to him, “Take the meat and the unleavened cakes, and put them on this rock, and pour the broth over them.” And he did so. 21 †Then the angel of the Lord reached out the tip of the staff that was in his hand and touched the meat and the unleavened cakes. And fire sprang up from the rock and consumed the meat and the unleavened cakes. And the angel of the Lord vanished from his sight.
22 †Then Gideon perceived that he was the angel of the Lord. And Gideon said, “Alas, O Lord God! For now I have seen the angel of the Lord face to face.” 23 †But the Lord said to him, “Peace be to you. Do not fear; you shall not die.” 24 †Then Gideon built an altar there to the Lord and called it, The Lord Is Peace. To this day it still stands at Ophrah, which belongs to the Abiezrites.

25 ✝That night the Lord said to him, “Take your father’s bull, and the second bull seven years old, and pull down the altar of Baal that your father has, and cut down the Asherah that is beside it 26and build an altar to the Lord your God on the top of the stronghold here, with stones laid in due order. Then take the second bull and offer it as a burnt offering with the wood of the Asherah that you shall cut down.” 27✝So Gideon took ten men of his servants and did as the Lord had told him. But because he was too afraid of his family and the men of the town to do it by day, he did it by night.

Gideon Destroys the Altar of Baal

28 †† When the men of the town rose early in the morning, behold, the altar of Baal was broken down, and the Asherah beside it was cut down, and the second bull was offered on the altar that had been built. 29 † And they said to one another, “Who has done this thing?” And after they had searched and inquired, they said, “Gideon the son of Joash has done this thing.” 30 † Then the men of the town said to Joash, “Bring out your son, that he may die, for he has broken down the altar of Baal and cut down the Asherah beside it.” 31 † But Joash said to all who stood against him, “Will you contend for Baal?
Or will you save him? Whoever contends for him shall be put to death by morning. If he is a god, let him contend for himself, because his altar has been broken down.” 32 † Therefore on that day Gideon[1] was called Jerubbaal, that is to say, “Let Baal contend against him,” because he broke down his altar.

33 † Now all the Midianites and the Amalekites and the people of the East came together, and they crossed the Jordan and encamped in the Valley of Jezreel. 34 † But the Spirit of the Lord clothed Gideon, and he sounded the trumpet, and the Abiezrites were called out to follow him. 35 † And he sent messengers throughout all Manasseh, and they too were called out to follow him. And he sent messengers to Asher, Zebulun, and Naphtali, and they went up to meet them.

The Sign of the Fleece

[36]‡‡Then Gideon said to God, “If you will save Israel by my hand, as you have said, [37]†behold, I am laying a fleece of wool on the threshing floor. If there is dew on the fleece alone, and it is dry on all the ground, then I shall know that you will save Israel by my hand, as you have said.” [38]†And it was so. When he rose early next morning and squeezed the fleece, he wrung enough dew from the fleece to fill a bowl with water. [39]†Then Gideon said to God, “Let not your anger burn against me; let me speak just once more.
Please let me test just once more with the fleece. Please let it be dry on the fleece only, and on all the ground let there be dew.” [40]And God did so that night; and it was dry on the fleece only, and on all the ground there was dew.

Gideon’s Three Hundred Men

7 [1] Then Jerubbaal (that is, Gideon) and all the people who were with him rose early and encamped beside the spring of Harod. And the camp of Midian was north of them, by the hill of Moreh, in the valley.
[2] The Lord said to Gideon, “The people with you are too many for me to give the Midianites into their hand, lest Israel boast over me, saying, ‘My own hand has saved me.’ [3] Now therefore proclaim in the ears of the people, saying, ‘Whoever is fearful and trembling, let him return home and hurry away from Mount Gilead.’” Then 22,000 of the people returned, and 10,000 remained.
[4] And the Lord said to Gideon, “The people are still too many. Take them down to the water, and I will test them for you there, and anyone of whom I say to you, ‘This one shall go with you,’ shall go with you, and anyone of whom I say to you, ‘This one shall not go with you,’ shall not go.” [5] So he brought the people down to the water. And the Lord said to Gideon, “Every one who laps the water with his tongue, as a dog laps, you shall set by himself. Likewise, every one who kneels down to drink.” [6] And the number of those who lapped, putting their hands to their mouths, was 300 men, but all the rest of the people knelt down to drink water. [7] And the Lord said to Gideon, “With the 300 men who lapped I will save you and give the Midianites into your hand, and let all the others go every man to his home.” [8] So the people took provisions in their hands, and their trumpets. And he sent all the rest of Israel every man to his tent, but retained the 300 men.
And the camp of Midian was below him in the valley.
[9] That same night the Lord said to him, “Arise, go down against the camp, for I have given it into your hand. [10] But if you are afraid to go down, go down to the camp with Purah your servant. [11] And you shall hear what they say, and afterward your hands shall be strengthened to go down against the camp.” Then he went down with Purah his servant to the outposts of the armed men who were in the camp. [12] And the Midianites and the Amalekites and all the people of the East lay along the valley like locusts in abundance, and their camels were without number, as the sand that is on the seashore in abundance. [13] When Gideon came, behold, a man was telling a dream to his comrade. And he said, “Behold, I dreamed a dream, and behold, a cake of barley bread tumbled into the camp of Midian and came to the tent and struck it so that it fell and turned it upside down, so that the tent lay flat.” [14]†And his comrade answered, “This is no other than the sword of Gideon the son of Joash, a man of Israel; God has given into his hand Midian and all the camp.”

[15]†As soon as Gideon heard the telling of the dream and its interpretation, he worshiped. And he returned to the camp of Israel and said, “Arise, for the Lord has given the host of Midian into your hand.” [16]†And he divided the 300 men into three companies and put trumpets into the hands of all of them and empty jars, with torches inside the jars. [17]†And he said to them, “Look at me, and do likewise. When I come to the outskirts of the camp, do as I do. [18]When I blow the trumpet, I and all who are with me, then blow the trumpets also on every side of all the camp and shout, ‘For the Lord and for Gideon.’”

Gideon Defeats Midian

19 ‡ † So Gideon and the hundred men who were with him came to the outskirts of the camp at the beginning of the middle watch, when they had just set the watch. And they blew the trumpets and smashed the jars that were in their hands. 20 † Then the three companies blew the trumpets and broke the jars. They held in their left hands the torches, and in their right hands the trumpets to blow. And they cried out, “A sword for the Lord and for Gideon!” 21 † Every man stood in his place around the camp, and all the army ran. They cried out and fled. 22 † When they blew the 300 trumpets, the Lord set every man’s sword against his comrade and against all the army.
And the army fled as far as Beth-shittah toward Zererah,[1] as far as the border of Abel-meholah, by Tabbath. 23 † And the men of Israel were called out from Naphtali and from Asher and from all Manasseh, and they pursued after Midian.

24 † Gideon sent messengers throughout all the hill country of Ephraim, saying, “Come down against the Midianites and capture the waters against them, as far as Beth-barah, and also the Jordan.” So all the men of Ephraim were called out, and they captured the waters as far as Beth-barah, and also the Jordan. 25 † And they captured the two princes of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb.
They killed Oreb at the rock of Oreb, and Zeeb they killed at the winepress of Zeeb. Then they pursued Midian, and they brought the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon across the Jordan.

Gideon Defeats Zebah and Zalmunna

8 [1]‡† Then the men of Ephraim said to him, “What is this that you have done to us, not to call us when you went to fight against Midian?” And they accused him fiercely. [2]‡ And he said to them, “What have I done now in comparison with you? Is not the gleaning of the grapes of Ephraim better than the grape harvest of Abiezer? [3]God has given into your hands the princes of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb. What have I been able to do in comparison with you?” Then their anger[2] against him subsided when he said this.

[4]‡ And Gideon came to the Jordan and crossed over, he and the 300 men who were with him, exhausted yet pursuing. [5]‡ So he said to the men of Succoth, “Please give loaves of bread to the people who follow me, for they are exhausted, and I am pursuing after Zebah and Zalmunna, the kings of Midian.” [6]And the officials of Succoth said, “Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna already in your hand, that we should give bread to your army?” [7]† So Gideon said, “Well then, when the Lord has given Zebah and Zalmunna into my hand, I will flail your flesh with the thorns of the wilderness and with briers.” [8]† And from there he went up to Penuel, and spoke to them in the same way, and the men of Penuel answered him as the men of Succoth had answered. [9]† And he said to the men of Penuel, “When I come again in peace, I will break down this tower.”

[10]‡† Now Zebah and Zalmunna were in Karkor with their army, about 15,000 men, all who were left of all the army of the people of the East, for there had fallen 120,000 men who drew the sword. [11]† And Gideon went up by the way of the tent dwellers east of Nobah and Jogbehah and attacked the army, for the army felt secure. [12]And Zebah and Zalmunna fled, and he pursued them and captured the two kings of Midian, Zebah and Zalmunna, and he threw all the army into a panic.

[13]Then Gideon the son of Joash returned from the battle by the ascent of Heres. [14]† And he captured a young man of Succoth and questioned him.
And he wrote down for him the officials and elders of Succoth, seventy-seven men. [15]† And he came to the men of Succoth and said, “Behold Zebah and Zalmunna, about whom you taunted me, saying, ‘Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna already in your hand, that we should give bread to your men who are exhausted?’” [16]†And he took the elders of the city, and he took thorns of the wilderness and briers and with them taught the men of Succoth a lesson. [17]And he broke down the tower of Penuel and killed the men of the city.

[18]†Then he said to Zebah and Zalmunna, “Where are the men whom you killed at Tabor?” They answered, “As you are, so were they. Every one of them resembled the son of a king.” [19] † And he said, “They were my brothers, the sons of my mother. As the Lord lives, if you had saved them alive, I would not kill you.” [20]†So he said to Jether his firstborn, “Rise and kill them!” But the young man did not draw his sword, for he was afraid, because he was still a young man. [21]†Then Zebah and Zalmunna said, “Rise yourself and fall upon us, for as the man is, so is his strength.” And Gideon arose and killed Zebah and Zalmunna, and he took the crescent ornaments that were on the necks of their camels.

Gideon’s Ephod

22 ‡ † Then the men of Israel said to Gideon, “Rule over us, you and your son and your grandson also, for you have saved us from the hand of Midian.” 23 † Gideon said to them, “I will not rule over you, and my son will not rule over you; the Lord will rule over you.” 24 † And Gideon said to them, “Let me make a request of you: every one of you give me the earrings from his spoil.” (For they had golden earrings, because they were Ishmaelites.) 25 † And they answered, “We will willingly give them.” And they spread a cloak, and every man threw in it the earrings of his spoil. 26 † And the weight of the golden earrings that he requested was 1,700 shekels[1] of gold, besides the crescent ornaments and the pendants and the purple garments worn by the kings of Midian, and besides the collars that were around the necks of their camels. 27 † And Gideon made an ephod of it and put it in his city, in Ophrah. And all Israel whored after it there, and it became a snare to Gideon and to his family. 28 † So Midian was subdued before the people of Israel, and they raised their heads no more. And the land had rest forty years in the days of Gideon.

The Death of Gideon

29 ‡† Jerubbaal the son of Joash went and lived in his own house. 30 † Now Gideon had seventy sons, his own offspring,[1] for he had many wives. 31 † And his concubine who was in Shechem also bore him a son, and he called his name Abimelech. 32 † And Gideon the son of Joash died in a good old age and was buried in the tomb of Joash his father, at Ophrah of the Abiezrites.

33 † As soon as Gideon died, the people of Israel turned again and whored after the Baals and made Baal-berith their god. 34 And the people of Israel did not remember the Lord their God, who had delivered them from the hand of all their enemies on every side, 35 † and they did not show steadfast love to the family of Jerubbaal (that is, Gideon) in return for all the good that he had done to Israel.

Abimelech's Conspiracy

9 [1] ‡ † Now Abimelech the son of Jerubbaal went to Shechem to his mother's relatives and said to them and to the whole clan of his mother's family, [2] † "Say in the ears of all the leaders of Shechem, 'Which is better for you, that all seventy of the sons of Jerubbaal rule over you, or that one rule over you?' Remember also that I am your bone and your flesh." [3] And his mother's relatives spoke all these words on his behalf in the ears of all the leaders of Shechem, and their hearts inclined to follow Abimelech, for they said, "He is our brother." [4] † And they gave him seventy pieces of silver out of the house of Baal-berith with which Abimelech hired worthless and reckless fellows, who followed him. [5] † And he went to his father's house at Ophrah and killed his brothers the sons of Jerubbaal, seventy men, on one stone. But Jotham the youngest son of Jerubbaal was left, for he hid himself. [6] † And all the leaders of Shechem came together, and all Beth-millo, and they went and made Abimelech king, by the oak of the pillar at Shechem.
[7] † When it was told to Jotham, he went and stood on top of Mount Gerizim and cried aloud and said to them, "Listen to me, you leaders of Shechem, that God may listen to you. [8] ‡ The trees once went out to anoint a king over them, and they said to the olive tree, 'Reign over us.' [9] But the olive tree said to them, 'Shall I leave my abundance, by which gods and men are honored, and go hold sway over the trees?' [10] And the trees said to the fig tree, 'You come and reign over us.' [11] But the fig tree said to them,
'Shall I leave my sweetness and my good fruit and go hold sway over the trees?' [12] And the trees said to the vine, 'You come and reign over us.' [13] But the vine said to them, 'Shall I leave my wine that cheers God and men and go hold sway over the trees?' [14] Then all the trees said to the bramble, 'You come and reign over us.' [15] And the bramble said to the trees, 'If in good faith you are anointing me king over you, then come and take refuge in my shade, but if not, let fire come out of the bramble and devour the cedars of Lebanon.'

16 † “Now therefore, if you acted in good faith and integrity when you made Abimelech king, and if you have dealt well with Jerubbaal and his house and have done to him as his deeds deserved— 17 for my father fought for you and risked his life and delivered you from the hand of Midian, 18 † and you have risen up against my father’s house this day and have killed his sons, seventy men on one stone, and have made Abimelech, the son of his female servant, king over the leaders of Shechem, because he is your relative— 19 if you then have acted in good faith and integrity with Jerubbaal and with his house this day, then rejoice in Abimelech, and let him also rejoice in
you. 20 † But if not, let fire come out from Abimelech and devour the leaders of Shechem and Beth-millo; and let fire come out from the leaders of Shechem and from Beth-millo and devour Abimelech.” 21 † And Jotham ran away and fled and went to Beer and lived there, because of Abimelech his brother.

The Downfall of Abimelech

22 Abimelech ruled over Israel three years. 23 And God sent an evil spirit between Abimelech and the leaders of Shechem, and the leaders of Shechem dealt treacherously with Abimelech, 24 that the violence done to the seventy sons of Jerubbaal might come, and their blood be laid on Abimelech their brother, who killed them, and on the men of Shechem, who strengthened his hands to kill his brothers. 25 And the leaders of Shechem put men in ambush against him on the mountaintops, and they robbed all who passed by them along that way. And it was told to Abimelech.

26 And Gaal the son of Ebed moved into Shechem with his relatives, and the leaders of Shechem put confidence in him. 27 And they went out into the field and gathered the grapes from their vineyards and trod them and held a festival; and they went into the house of their god and ate and drank and reviled Abimelech. 28 And Gaal the son of Ebed said, "Who is Abimelech, and who are we of Shechem, that we should serve him? Is he not the son of Jerubbaal, and is not Zebul his officer? Serve the men of Hamor the father of Shechem; but why should we serve him? 29 Would that this people were under my hand! Then I would remove Abimelech. I would say[1] to Abimelech, 'Increase your army, and come out.'"

30 When Zebul the ruler of the city heard the words of Gaal the son of Ebed, his anger was kindled. 31 And he sent messengers to Abimelech secretly,[2] saying, "Behold, Gaal the son of Ebed and his relatives have come to Shechem, and they are stirring up[3] the city against you. 32 Now therefore, go by night, you and the people who are with you, and set an ambush in the field. 33 Then in the morning, as soon as the sun is up, rise early and rush upon the city. And when he and the people who are with him come out against you, you may do to them as your hand finds to do."

34 So Abimelech and all the men who were with him rose up by night and set an ambush against Shechem in four companies. 35 And Gaal the son of Ebed went out and stood in the entrance of the gate of the city, and Abimelech and the people who were with him rose from the ambush.
36 And when Gaal saw the people, he said to Zebul, "Look, people are coming down from the mountaintops!" And Zebul said to him, "You mistake[4] the shadow of the mountains for men." 37†Gaal spoke again and said, "Look, people are coming down from the center of the land, and one company is coming from the direction of the Diviners' Oak." 38†Then Zebul said to him, "Where is your mouth now, you who said, 'Who is Abimelech, that we should serve him?' Are not these the people whom you despised? Go out now and fight with them." 39And Gaal went out at the head of the leaders of Shechem and fought with Abimelech. 40†And Abimelech chased him, and he fled before him. And many fell wounded, up to the entrance of the gate. 41†And Abimelech lived at Arumah, and Zebul drove out Gaal and his relatives, so that they could not dwell at Shechem.

42 ‡ On the following day, the people went out into the field, and Abimelech was told. 43He took his people and divided them into three companies and set an ambush in the fields. And he looked and saw the people coming out of the city. So he rose against them and killed them. 44‡Abimelech and the company that was with him rushed forward and stood at the entrance of the gate of the city, while the two companies rushed upon all who were in the field and killed them. 45And Abimelech fought against the city all that day. He captured the city and killed the people who were in it, and he razed the city and sowed it with salt.

46†When all the leaders of the Tower of Shechem heard of it, they entered the stronghold of the house of El-berith. 47Abimelech was told that all the leaders of the Tower of Shechem were gathered together. 48†And Abimelech went up to Mount Zalmon, he and all the people who were with him. And Abimelech took an axe in his hand and cut down a bundle of brushwood and took it up and laid it on his shoulder. And he said to the men who were with him, "What you have seen me do, hurry and do as I have done." 49†So every one of the people cut down his bundle and following Abimelech put it against the stronghold, and they set the stronghold on fire over them, so that all the people of the Tower of Shechem also died, about 1,000 men and women.

50†Then Abimelech went to Thebez and encamped against Thebez and captured it. 51†But there was a strong tower within the city, and all the men and women and all the leaders of the city fled to it and shut themselves in, and they went up to the roof of the tower. 52†And Abimelech came to the tower and fought against it and drew near to the door of the tower to burn it with fire. [53]†And a certain woman threw an upper millstone on Abimelech's head and crushed his skull. [54]†Then he called quickly to the young man his armor-bearer and said to him, "Draw your sword and kill me, lest they say of me, 'A woman killed him.'" And his young man thrust him through, and he died. [55] † And when the men of Israel saw that Abimelech was dead, everyone departed to his home. [56] † Thus God returned the evil of Abimelech, which he committed against his father in killing his seventy brothers. [57]†And God also made all the evil of the men of Shechem return on their heads, and upon them came the curse of Jotham the son of Jerubbaal.

Tola and Jair

10 [1] ‡ ‡After Abimelech there arose to save Israel Tola the son of Puah, son of Dodo, a man of Issachar, and he lived at Shamir in the hill country of Ephraim. [2]And he judged Israel twenty-three years. Then he died and was buried at Shamir.

[3]After him arose Jair the Gileadite, who judged Israel twenty-two years.
[4]†And he had thirty sons who rode on thirty donkeys, and they had thirty cities, called Havvoth-jair to this day, which are in the land of Gilead.
[5]†And Jair died and was buried in Kamon.

Further Disobedience and Oppression

6 ‡†The people of Israel again did what was evil in the sight of the Lord and served the Baals and the Ashtaroth, the gods of Syria, the gods of Sidon, the gods of Moab, the gods of the Ammonites, and the gods of the Philistines. And they forsook the Lord and did not serve him.
7 †So the anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel, and he sold them into the hand of the Philistines and into the hand of the Ammonites, 8 and they crushed and oppressed the people of Israel that year. For eighteen years they oppressed all the people of Israel who were beyond the Jordan in the land of the Amorites, which is in Gilead. 9 And the Ammonites crossed the Jordan to fight also against Judah and against Benjamin and against the house of Ephraim, so that Israel was severely distressed.

10 †And the people of Israel cried out to the Lord, saying, “We have sinned against you, because we have forsaken our God and have served the Baals.” 11 ‡And the Lord said to the people of Israel, “Did I not save you from the Egyptians and from the Amorites, from the Ammonites and from the Philistines? 12 The Sidonians also, and the Amalekites and the Maonites oppressed you, and you cried out to me, and I saved you out of their hand.
13 †Yet you have forsaken me and served other gods; therefore I will save you no more. 14 Go and cry out to the gods whom you have chosen; let them save you in the time of your distress.” 15 †And the people of Israel said to the Lord, “We have sinned; do to us whatever seems good to you. Only please deliver us this day.” 16 †So they put away the foreign gods from among them and served the Lord, and he became impatient over the misery of Israel.

17 † Then the Ammonites were called to arms, and they encamped in Gilead. And the people of Israel came together, and they encamped at Mizpah. 18 †And the people, the leaders of Gilead, said one to another, “Who is the man who will begin to fight against the Ammonites? He shall be head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.”

Jephthah Delivers Israel

11 [1]Now Jephthah the Gileadite was a mighty warrior, but he was the son of a prostitute. Gilead was the father of Jephthah. [2]And Gilead's wife also bore him sons. And when his wife's sons grew up, they drove Jephthah out and said to him, "You shall not have an inheritance in our father's house, for you are the son of another woman." [3]Then Jephthah fled from his brothers and lived in the land of Tob, and worthless fellows collected around Jephthah and went out with him.

[4]After a time the Ammonites made war against Israel. [5]And when the Ammonites made war against Israel, the elders of Gilead went to bring Jephthah from the land of Tob. [6]And they said to Jephthah, "Come and be our leader, that we may fight against the Ammonites." [7]But Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead, "Did you not hate me and drive me out of my father's house? Why have you come to me now when you are in distress?" [8]And the elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, "That is why we have turned to you now, that you may go with us and fight against the Ammonites and be our head over all the inhabitants of Gilead." [9]Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead, "If you bring me home again to fight against the Ammonites, and the Lord gives them over to me, I will be your head." [10]And the elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, "The Lord will be witness between us, if we do not do as you say." [11]So Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people made him head and leader over them. And Jephthah spoke all his words before the Lord at Mizpah.

[12]Then Jephthah sent messengers to the king of the Ammonites and said,
"What do you have against me, that you have come to me to fight against my land?" [13]And the king of the Ammonites answered the messengers of Jephthah, "Because Israel on coming up from Egypt took away my land, from the Arnon to the Jabbok and to the Jordan; now therefore restore it peaceably." [14]Jephthah again sent messengers to the king of the Ammonites [15]and said to him, "Thus says Jephthah: Israel did not take away the land of Moab or the land of the Ammonites, [16]but when they came up from Egypt, Israel went through the wilderness to the Red Sea and came to Kadesh. [17]Israel then sent messengers to the king of Edom, saying, ‘Please let us pass through your land,’ but the king of Edom would not listen. And they sent also to the king of Moab, but he would not consent. So Israel remained at Kadesh.

[18]“‘Then they journeyed through the wilderness and went around the land of Edom and the land of Moab and arrived on the east side of the land of Moab and camped on the other side of the Arnon. But they did not enter the territory of Moab, for the Arnon was the boundary of Moab. [19]Israel then sent messengers to Sihon king of the Amorites, king of Heshbon, and Israel said to him, ‘Please let us pass through your land to our country,’ [20]but Sihon did not trust Israel to pass through his territory, so Sihon gathered all his people together and encamped at Jahaz and fought with Israel. [21]And the Lord, the God of Israel, gave Sihon and all his people into the hand of Israel, and they defeated them. So Israel took possession of all the land of the Amorites, who inhabited that country. [22]And they took possession of all the territory of the Amorites from the Arnon to the Jabbok and from the wilderness to the Jordan. [23] † So then the Lord, the God of Israel, dispossessed the Amorites from before his people Israel; and are you to take possession of them? [24]†Will you not possess what Chemosh your god gives you to possess? And all that the Lord our God has dispossessed before us, we will possess. [25]†Now are you any better than Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab? Did he ever contend against Israel, or did he ever go to war with them? [26]†While Israel lived in Heshbon and its villages, and in Aroer and its villages, and in all the cities that are on the banks of the Arnon, 300 years, why did you not deliver them within that time? [27]†I therefore have not sinned against you, and you do me wrong by making war on me. The Lord, the Judge, decide this day between the people of Israel and the people of Ammon.” [28]†But the king of the Ammonites did not listen to the words of Jephthah that he sent to him.

Jephthah's Tragic Vow

29 ‡†Then the Spirit of the Lord was upon Jephthah, and he passed through Gilead and Manasseh and passed on to Mizpah of Gilead, and from Mizpah of Gilead he passed on to the Ammonites. 30 †And Jephthah made a vow to the Lord and said, "If you will give the Ammonites into my hand, 31 †then whatever[1] comes out from the doors of my house to meet me when I return in peace from the Ammonites shall be the Lord's, and I will offer it[2] up for a burnt offering." 32So Jephthah crossed over to the Ammonites to fight against them, and the Lord gave them into his hand. 33 †And he struck them from Aroer to the neighborhood of Minnith, twenty cities, and as far as Abel-keramim, with a great blow. So the Ammonites were subdued before the people of Israel.

34Then Jephthah came to his home at Mizpah. And behold, his daughter came out to meet him with tambourines and with dances. She was his only child; besides her he had neither son nor daughter. 35 †And as soon as he saw her, he tore his clothes and said, "Alas, my daughter! You have brought me very low, and you have become the cause of great trouble to me. For I have opened my mouth to the Lord, and I cannot take back my vow." 36 †And she said to him, "My father, you have opened your mouth to the Lord; do to me according to what has gone out of your mouth, now that the Lord has avenged you on your enemies, on the Ammonites." 37 †So she said to her father, "Let this thing be done for me: leave me alone two months, that I may go up and down on the mountains and weep for my virginity, I and my companions." 38So he said, "Go." Then he sent her away for two months, and she departed, she and her companions, and wept for her virginity on the mountains. 39 †And at the end of two months, she returned to her father, who did with her according to his vow that he had made. She had never known a man, and it became a custom in Israel 40 †that the daughters of Israel went year by year to lament the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite four days in the year.

Jephthah's Conflict with Ephraim

12 [1] The men of Ephraim were called to arms, and they crossed to Zaphon and said to Jephthah, "Why did you cross over to fight against the Ammonites and did not call us to go with you? We will burn your house over you with fire." [2] And Jephthah said to them, "I and my people had a great dispute with the Ammonites, and when I called you, you did not save me from their hand. [3] And when I saw that you would not save me, I took my life in my hand and crossed over against the Ammonites, and the Lord gave them into my hand. Why then have you come up to me this day to fight against me?" [4] Then Jephthah gathered all the men of Gilead and fought with Ephraim. And the men of Gilead struck Ephraim, because they said, "You are fugitives of Ephraim, you Gileadites, in the midst of Ephraim and Manasseh." [5] And the Gileadites captured the fords of the Jordan against the Ephraimites. And when any of the fugitives of Ephraim said,
"Let me go over," the men of Gilead said to him, "Are you an Ephraimite?"
When he said, "No," [6] they said to him, "Then say Shibboleth," and he said, "Sibboleth," for he could not pronounce it right. Then they seized him and slaughtered him at the fords of the Jordan. At that time 42,000 of the Ephraimites fell.

[7] Jephthah judged Israel six years. Then Jephthah the Gileadite died and was buried in his city in Gilead.[1]

Ibzan, Elon, and Abdon

[8]†† After him Ibzan of Bethlehem judged Israel. [9]† He had thirty sons, and thirty daughters he gave in marriage outside his clan, and thirty daughters he brought in from outside for his sons. And he judged Israel seven years.
[10]Then Ibzan died and was buried at Bethlehem.

[11]After him Elon the Zebulunite judged Israel, and he judged Israel ten years. [12]† Then Elon the Zebulunite died and was buried at Aijalon in the land of Zebulun.

[13]After him Abdon the son of Hillel the Pirathonite judged Israel. [14]† He had forty sons and thirty grandsons, who rode on seventy donkeys, and he judged Israel eight years. [15]Then Abdon the son of Hillel the Pirathonite died and was buried at Pirathon in the land of Ephraim, in the hill country of the Amalekites.

The Birth of Samson

13 [1]†And the people of Israel again did what was evil in the sight of the Lord, so the Lord gave them into the hand of the Philistines for forty years.
[2]†There was a certain man of Zorah, of the tribe of the Danites, whose name was Manoah. And his wife was barren and had no children. [3]†And the angel of the Lord appeared to the woman and said to her, "Behold, you are barren and have not borne children, but you shall conceive and bear a son.
[4]Therefore be careful and drink no wine or strong drink, and eat nothing unclean, [5]† for behold, you shall conceive and bear a son. No razor shall come upon his head, for the child shall be a Nazirite to God from the womb, and he shall begin to save Israel from the hand of the Philistines." [6]†Then the woman came and told her husband, "A man of God came to me, and his appearance was like the appearance of the angel of God, very awesome. I did not ask him where he was from, and he did not tell me his name, [7]†but he said to me, 'Behold, you shall conceive and bear a son. So then drink no wine or strong drink, and eat nothing unclean, for the child shall be a Nazirite to God from the womb to the day of his death.'" [8]†Then Manoah prayed to the Lord and said, "O Lord, please let the man of God whom you sent come again to us and teach us what we are to do with the child who will be born." [9]†And God listened to the voice of Manoah, and the angel of God came again to the woman as she sat in the field. But Manoah her husband was not with her. [10]†So the woman ran quickly and told her husband, "Behold, the man who came to me the other day has appeared to me." [11]And Manoah arose and went after his wife and came to the man and said to him, "Are you the man who spoke to this woman?" And he said, "I am." [12]†And Manoah said, "Now when your words come true, what is to be the child's manner of life, and what is his mission?" [13]And the angel of the Lord said to Manoah, "Of all that I said to the woman let her be careful. [14]She may not eat of anything that comes from the vine, neither let her drink wine or strong drink, or eat any unclean thing.
All that I commanded her let her observe."

15 Manoah said to the angel of the Lord, “Please let us detain you and prepare a young goat for you.” 16 † And the angel of the Lord said to Manoah, “If you detain me, I will not eat of your food. But if you prepare a burnt offering, then offer it to the Lord.” (For Manoah did not know that he was the angel of the Lord.) 17 † And Manoah said to the angel of the Lord, “What is your name, so that, when your words come true, we may honor you?” 18 † And the angel of the Lord said to him, “Why do you ask my name, seeing it is wonderful?” 19 † So Manoah took the young goat with the grain offering, and offered it on the rock to the Lord, to the one who works[1] wonders, and Manoah and his wife were watching. 20 † And when the flame went up toward heaven from the altar, the angel of the Lord went up in the flame of the altar. Now Manoah and his wife were watching, and they fell on their faces to the ground.

21 † The angel of the Lord appeared no more to Manoah and to his wife.
Then Manoah knew that he was the angel of the Lord. 22 † And Manoah said to his wife, “We shall surely die, for we have seen God.” 23 † But his wife said to him, “If the Lord had meant to kill us, he would not have accepted a burnt offering and a grain offering at our hands, or shown us all these things, or now announced to us such things as these.” 24 † And the woman bore a son and called his name Samson. And the young man grew, and the Lord blessed him. 25 † And the Spirit of the Lord began to stir him in Mahaneh-dan, between Zorah and Eshtaol.

Samson's Marriage

14 [1]†Samson went down to Timnah, and at Timnah he saw one of the daughters of the Philistines. [2]† Then he came up and told his father and mother, "I saw one of the daughters of the Philistines at Timnah. Now get her for me as my wife." [3]†But his father and mother said to him, "Is there not a woman among the daughters of your relatives, or among all our people, that you must go to take a wife from the uncircumcised Philistines?" But Samson said to his father, "Get her for me, for she is right in my eyes."

[4]†His father and mother did not know that it was from the LORD, for he was seeking an opportunity against the Philistines. At that time the Philistines ruled over Israel.

[5]† Then Samson went down with his father and mother to Timnah, and they came to the vineyards of Timnah. And behold, a young lion came toward him roaring. [6]† Then the Spirit of the LORD rushed upon him, and although he had nothing in his hand, he tore the lion in pieces as one tears a young goat. But he did not tell his father or his mother what he had done.
[7]† Then he went down and talked with the woman, and she was right in Samson's eyes.

[8]After some days he returned to take her. And he turned aside to see the carcass of the lion, and behold, there was a swarm of bees in the body of the lion, and honey. [9]†He scraped it out into his hands and went on, eating as he went. And he came to his father and mother and gave some to them, and they ate. But he did not tell them that he had scraped the honey from the carcass of the lion.

[10]† His father went down to the woman, and Samson prepared a feast there, for so the young men used to do. [11]† As soon as the people saw him, they brought thirty companions to be with him. [12]† And Samson said to them, "Let me now put a riddle to you. If you can tell me what it is, within the seven days of the feast, and find it out, then I will give you thirty linen garments and thirty changes of clothes, [13]but if you cannot tell me what it is, then you shall give me thirty linen garments and thirty changes of clothes."

And they said to him, “Put your riddle, that we may hear it.” 14And he said to them,

> “Out of the eater came something to eat.
> Out of the strong came something sweet.”

And in three days they could not solve the riddle.

15†On the fourth[1] day they said to Samson’s wife, “Entice your husband to tell us what the riddle is, lest we burn you and your father’s house with fire. Have you invited us here to impoverish us?” 16† And Samson’s wife wept over him and said, “You only hate me; you do not love me. You have put a riddle to my people, and you have not told me what it is.” And he said to her, “Behold, I have not told my father nor my mother, and shall I tell you?” 17†She wept before him the seven days that their feast lasted, and on the seventh day he told her, because she pressed him hard. Then she told the riddle to her people. 18†And the men of the city said to him on the seventh day before the sun went down,

> “What is sweeter than honey?
> What is stronger than a lion?”

And he said to them,

> “If you had not plowed with my heifer,
> you would not have found out my riddle.”

19 † And the Spirit of the Lord rushed upon him, and he went down to Ashkelon and struck down thirty men of the town and took their spoil and gave the garments to those who had told the riddle. In hot anger he went back to his father’s house. 20 † And Samson’s wife was given to his companion, who had been his best man.

Samson Defeats the Philistines

15 [1]†After some days, at the time of wheat harvest, Samson went to visit his wife with a young goat. And he said, “I will go in to my wife in the chamber.” But her father would not allow him to go in. [2]†And her father said, “I really thought that you utterly hated her, so I gave her to your companion. Is not her younger sister more beautiful than she? Please take her instead.” [3]†And Samson said to them, “This time I shall be innocent in regard to the Philistines, when I do them harm.” [4]†So Samson went and caught 300 foxes and took torches. And he turned them tail to tail and put a torch between each pair of tails. [5]And when he had set fire to the torches, he let the foxes go into the standing grain of the Philistines and set fire to the stacked grain and the standing grain, as well as the olive orchards. [6]†Then the Philistines said, “Who has done this?” And they said, “Samson, the son-in-law of the Timnite, because he has taken his wife and given her to his companion.” And the Philistines came up and burned her and her father with fire. [7]And Samson said to them, “If this is what you do, I swear I will be avenged on you, and after that I will quit.” [8]†And he struck them hip and thigh with a great blow, and he went down and stayed in the cleft of the rock of Etam.

[9]†Then the Philistines came up and encamped in Judah and made a raid on Lehi. [10]And the men of Judah said, “Why have you come up against us?” They said, “We have come up to bind Samson, to do to him as he did to us.” [11]†Then 3,000 men of Judah went down to the cleft of the rock of Etam, and said to Samson, “Do you not know that the Philistines are rulers over us? What then is this that you have done to us?” And he said to them, “As they did to me, so have I done to them.” [12]†And they said to him, “We have come down to bind you, that we may give you into the hands of the Philistines.” And Samson said to them, “Swear to me that you will not attack me yourselves.” [13]†They said to him, “No; we will only bind you and give you into their hands. We will surely not kill you.” So they bound him with two new ropes and brought him up from the rock.

[14]†When he came to Lehi, the Philistines came shouting to meet him. Then the Spirit of the Lord rushed upon him, and the ropes that were on his arms became as flax that has caught fire, and his bonds melted off his hands. 15 † And he found a fresh jawbone of a donkey, and put out his hand and took it, and with it he struck 1,000 men. 16 † And Samson said,

"With the jawbone of a donkey,
heaps upon heaps,
with the jawbone of a donkey
have I struck down a thousand men."

17 As soon as he had finished speaking, he threw away the jawbone out of his hand. And that place was called Ramath-lehi.[1]

18 † And he was very thirsty, and he called upon the Lord and said, "You have granted this great salvation by the hand of your servant, and shall I now die of thirst and fall into the hands of the uncircumcised?" 19 † And God split open the hollow place that is at Lehi, and water came out from it. And when he drank, his spirit returned, and he revived. Therefore the name of it was called En-hakkore;[2] it is at Lehi to this day. 20 And he judged Israel in the days of the Philistines twenty years.

Samson and Delilah

16 [1]‡†Samson went to Gaza, and there he saw a prostitute, and he went in to her. [2]The Gazites were told, “Samson has come here.” And they surrounded the place and set an ambush for him all night at the gate of the city. They kept quiet all night, saying, “Let us wait till the light of the morning; then we will kill him.” [3]†But Samson lay till midnight, and at midnight he arose and took hold of the doors of the gate of the city and the two posts, and pulled them up, bar and all, and put them on his shoulders and carried them to the top of the hill that is in front of Hebron.

[4]†After this he loved a woman in the Valley of Sorek, whose name was Delilah. [5]†And the lords of the Philistines came up to her and said to her, “Seduce him, and see where his great strength lies, and by what means we may overpower him, that we may bind him to humble him. And we will each give you 1,100 pieces of silver.” [6]†So Delilah said to Samson, “Please tell me where your great strength lies, and how you might be bound, that one could subdue you.”

[7]‡Samson said to her, “If they bind me with seven fresh bowstrings that have not been dried, then I shall become weak and be like any other man.” [8]Then the lords of the Philistines brought up to her seven fresh bowstrings that had not been dried, and she bound him with them. [9]†Now she had men lying in ambush in an inner chamber. And she said to him, “The Philistines are upon you, Samson!” But he snapped the bowstrings, as a thread of flax snaps when it touches the fire. So the secret of his strength was not known.

[10]Then Delilah said to Samson, “Behold, you have mocked me and told me lies. Please tell me how you might be bound.” [11]‡And he said to her, “If they bind me with new ropes that have not been used, then I shall become weak and be like any other man.” [12]So Delilah took new ropes and bound him with them and said to him, “The Philistines are upon you, Samson!”
And the men lying in ambush were in an inner chamber. But he snapped the ropes off his arms like a thread.

[13]†Then Delilah said to Samson, “Until now you have mocked me and told me lies. Tell me how you might be bound.” And he said to her, “If you weave the seven locks of my head with the web and fasten it tight with the pin, then I shall become weak and be like any other man.” 14So while he slept, Delilah took the seven locks of his head and wove them into the web. [1] And she made them tight with the pin and said to him, “The Philistines are upon you, Samson!” But he awoke from his sleep and pulled away the pin, the loom, and the web.

15†And she said to him, “How can you say, ‘I love you,’ when your heart is not with me? You have mocked me these three times, and you have not told me where your great strength lies.” 16And when she pressed him hard with her words day after day, and urged him, his soul was vexed to death. 17†And he told her all his heart, and said to her, “A razor has never come upon my head, for I have been a Nazirite to God from my mother’s womb. If my head is shaved, then my strength will leave me, and I shall become weak and be like any other man.”

18When Delilah saw that he had told her all his heart, she sent and called the lords of the Philistines, saying, “Come up again, for he has told me all his heart.” Then the lords of the Philistines came up to her and brought the money in their hands. 19†She made him sleep on her knees. And she called a man and had him shave off the seven locks of his head. Then she began to torment him, and his strength left him. 20†And she said, “The Philistines are upon you, Samson!” And he awoke from his sleep and said, “I will go out as at other times and shake myself free.” But he did not know that the Lord had left him. 21†And the Philistines seized him and gouged out his eyes and brought him down to Gaza and bound him with bronze shackles. And he ground at the mill in the prison. 22†But the hair of his head began to grow again after it had been shaved.

The Death of Samson

23 ‡† Now the lords of the Philistines gathered to offer a great sacrifice to Dagon their god and to rejoice, and they said, “Our god has given Samson our enemy into our hand.” 24 And when the people saw him, they praised their god. For they said, “Our god has given our enemy into our hand, the ravager of our country, who has killed many of us.”[1] 25 † And when their hearts were merry, they said, “Call Samson, that he may entertain us.” So they called Samson out of the prison, and he entertained them. They made him stand between the pillars. 26 ‡ And Samson said to the young man who held him by the hand, “Let me feel the pillars on which the house rests, that I may lean against them.” 27 Now the house was full of men and women. All the lords of the Philistines were there, and on the roof there were about 3,000 men and women, who looked on while Samson entertained.

28 ‡ Then Samson called to the Lord and said, “O Lord God, please remember me and please strengthen me only this once, O God, that I may be avenged on the Philistines for my two eyes.” 29 And Samson grasped the two middle pillars on which the house rested, and he leaned his weight against them, his right hand on the one and his left hand on the other.
30 † And Samson said, “Let me die with the Philistines.” Then he bowed with all his strength, and the house fell upon the lords and upon all the people who were in it. So the dead whom he killed at his death were more than those whom he had killed during his life. 31 † Then his brothers and all his family came down and took him and brought him up and buried him between Zorah and Eshtaol in the tomb of Manoah his father. He had judged Israel twenty years.

Micah and the Levite

17 [1]†There was a man of the hill country of Ephraim, whose name was Micah. [2]†And he said to his mother, “The 1,100 pieces of silver that were taken from you, about which you uttered a curse, and also spoke it in my ears, behold, the silver is with me; I took it.” And his mother said, “Blessed be my son by the Lord.” [3]†And he restored the 1,100 pieces of silver to his mother. And his mother said, “I dedicate the silver to the Lord from my hand for my son, to make a carved image and a metal image. Now therefore I will restore it to you.” [4]†So when he restored the money to his mother, his mother took 200 pieces of silver and gave it to the silversmith, who made it into a carved image and a metal image. And it was in the house of Micah. [5]†And the man Micah had a shrine, and he made an ephod and household gods, and ordained[1] one of his sons, who became his priest. [6]†In those days there was no king in Israel. Everyone did what was right in his own eyes.

[7]†Now there was a young man of Bethlehem in Judah, of the family of Judah, who was a Levite, and he sojourned there. [8]†And the man departed from the town of Bethlehem in Judah to sojourn where he could find a place. And as he journeyed, he came to the hill country of Ephraim to the house of Micah. [9]And Micah said to him, “Where do you come from?” And he said to him, “I am a Levite of Bethlehem in Judah, and I am going to sojourn where I may find a place.”
[10]†And Micah said to him, “Stay with me, and be to me a father and a priest, and I will give you ten pieces of silver a year and a suit of clothes and your living.” And the Levite went in. [11]And the Levite was content to dwell with the man, and the young man became to him like one of his sons.
[12]†And Micah ordained the Levite, and the young man became his priest, and was in the house of Micah. [13]†Then Micah said, “Now I know that the Lord will prosper me, because I have a Levite as priest.”

Danites Take the Levite and the Idol

18 [1]†In those days there was no king in Israel. And in those days the tribe of the people of Dan was seeking for itself an inheritance to dwell in, for until then no inheritance among the tribes of Israel had fallen to them.
[2]†So the people of Dan sent five able men from the whole number of their tribe, from Zorah and from Eshtaol, to spy out the land and to explore it.
And they said to them, "Go and explore the land." And they came to the hill country of Ephraim, to the house of Micah, and lodged there. [3]†When they were by the house of Micah, they recognized the voice of the young Levite.
And they turned aside and said to him, "Who brought you here? What are you doing in this place? What is your business here?" [4]And he said to them,
"This is how Micah dealt with me: he has hired me, and I have become his priest." [5]†And they said to him, "Inquire of God, please, that we may know whether the journey on which we are setting out will succeed." [6]†And the priest said to them, "Go in peace. The journey on which you go is under the eye of the Lord."

[7]†Then the five men departed and came to Laish and saw the people who were there, how they lived in security, after the manner of the Sidonians, quiet and unsuspecting, lacking[1] nothing that is in the earth and possessing wealth, and how they were far from the Sidonians and had no dealings with anyone. [8]And when they came to their brothers at Zorah and Eshtaol, their brothers said to them, "What do you report?" [9]They said, "Arise, and let us go up against them, for we have seen the land, and behold, it is very good.
And will you do nothing? Do not be slow to go, to enter in and possess the land. [10]†As soon as you go, you will come to an unsuspecting people. The land is spacious, for God has given it into your hands, a place where there is no lack of anything that is in the earth."

[11]‡So 600 men of the tribe of Dan, armed with weapons of war, set out from Zorah and Eshtaol, [12]and went up and encamped at Kiriath-jearim in Judah. On this account that place is called Mahaneh-dan[2] to this day; behold, it is west of Kiriath-jearim. [13]And they passed on from there to the hill country of Ephraim, and came to the house of Micah.

14 †Then the five men who had gone to scout out the country of Laish said to their brothers, “Do you know that in these houses there are an ephod, household gods, a carved image, and a metal image? Now therefore consider what you will do.” 15And they turned aside there and came to the house of the young Levite, at the home of Micah, and asked him about his welfare. 16 †Now the 600 men of the Danites, armed with their weapons of war, stood by the entrance of the gate. 17And the five men who had gone to scout out the land went up and entered and took the carved image, the ephod, the household gods, and the metal image, while the priest stood by the entrance of the gate with the 600 men armed with weapons of war.
18 †And when these went into Micah’s house and took the carved image, the ephod, the household gods, and the metal image, the priest said to them, “What are you doing?” 19And they said to him, “Keep quiet; put your hand on your mouth and come with us and be to us a father and a priest. Is it better for you to be priest to the house of one man, or to be priest to a tribe and clan in Israel?” 20And the priest’s heart was glad. He took the ephod and the household gods and the carved image and went along with the people.
21 †So they turned and departed, putting the little ones and the livestock and the goods in front of them. 22 †When they had gone a distance from the home of Micah, the men who were in the houses near Micah’s house were called out, and they overtook the people of Dan. 23And they shouted to the people of Dan, who turned around and said to Micah, “What is the matter with you, that you come with such a company?” 24And he said, “You take my gods that I made and the priest, and go away, and what have I left? How then do you ask me, ‘What is the matter with you?’” 25And the people of Dan said to him, “Do not let your voice be heard among us, lest angry fellows fall upon you, and you lose your life with the lives of your household.” 26Then the people of Dan went their way. And when Micah saw that they were too strong for him, he turned and went back to his home.
27But the people of Dan took what Micah had made, and the priest who belonged to him, and they came to Laish, to a people quiet and unsuspecting, and struck them with the edge of the sword and burned the city with fire. 28 †And there was no deliverer because it was far from Sidon, and they had no dealings with anyone. It was in the valley that belongs to Beth-rehob. Then they rebuilt the city and lived in it. 29 †And they named the city Dan, after the name of Dan their ancestor, who was born to Israel; but the name of the city was Laish at the first. 30 † And the people of Dan set up the carved image for themselves, and Jonathan the son of Gershom, son of Moses,[1] and his sons were priests to the tribe of the Danites until the day of the captivity of the land. 31 † So they set up Micah's carved image that he made, as long as the house of God was at Shiloh.

A Levite and His Concubine

19 [1] ‡ † In those days, when there was no king in Israel, a certain Levite was sojourning in the remote parts of the hill country of Ephraim, who took to himself a concubine from Bethlehem in Judah. [2] † And his concubine was unfaithful to[2] him, and she went away from him to her father's house at Bethlehem in Judah, and was there some four months.
[3] † Then her husband arose and went after her, to speak kindly to her and bring her back. He had with him his servant and a couple of donkeys. And she brought him into her father's house. And when the girl's father saw him, he came with joy to meet him. [4] † And his father-in-law, the girl's father, made him stay, and he remained with him three days. So they ate and drank and spent the night there. [5] ‡ And on the fourth day they arose early in the morning, and he prepared to go, but the girl's father said to his son-in-law,
"Strengthen your heart with a morsel of bread, and after that you may go."
[6] So the two of them sat and ate and drank together. And the girl's father said to the man, "Be pleased to spend the night, and let your heart be merry." [7] And when the man rose up to go, his father-in-law pressed him, till he spent the night there again. [8] And on the fifth day he arose early in the morning to depart. And the girl's father said, "Strengthen your heart and wait until the day declines." So they ate, both of them. [9] And when the man and his concubine and his servant rose up to depart, his father-in-law, the girl's father, said to him, "Behold, now the day has waned toward evening.
Please, spend the night. Behold, the day draws to its close. Lodge here and let your heart be merry, and tomorrow you shall arise early in the morning for your journey, and go home."

[10] † But the man would not spend the night. He rose up and departed and arrived opposite Jebus (that is, Jerusalem). He had with him a couple of saddled donkeys, and his concubine was with him. [11] When they were near Jebus, the day was nearly over, and the servant said to his master, "Come now, let us turn aside to this city of the Jebusites and spend the night in it." [12] † And his master said to him, "We will not turn aside into the city of foreigners, who do not belong to the people of Israel, but we will pass on to Gibeah." [13] ‡ And he said to his young man, "Come and let us draw near to one of these places and spend the night at Gibeah or at Ramah.” 14So they passed on and went their way. And the sun went down on them near Gibeah, which belongs to Benjamin, 15and they turned aside there, to go in and spend the night at Gibeah. And he went in and sat down in the open square of the city, for no one took them into his house to spend the night.

16 † And behold, an old man was coming from his work in the field at evening. The man was from the hill country of Ephraim, and he was sojourning in Gibeah. The men of the place were Benjaminites. 17And he lifted up his eyes and saw the traveler in the open square of the city. And the old man said, “Where are you going? And where do you come from?” 18 † And he said to him, “We are passing from Bethlehem in Judah to the remote parts of the hill country of Ephraim, from which I come. I went to Bethlehem in Judah, and I am going to the house of the Lord,[1] but no one has taken me into his house. 19We have straw and feed for our donkeys, with bread and wine for me and your female servant and the young man with your servants. There is no lack of anything.” 20 † And the old man said, “Peace be to you; I will care for all your wants. Only, do not spend the night in the square.” 21So he brought him into his house and gave the donkeys feed. And they washed their feet, and ate and drank.

Gibeah’s Crime

22 ‡‡‡As they were making their hearts merry, behold, the men of the city, worthless fellows, surrounded the house, beating on the door. And they said to the old man, the master of the house, “Bring out the man who came into your house, that we may know him.” 23 † And the man, the master of the house, went out to them and said to them, “No, my brothers, do not act so wickedly; since this man has come into my house, do not do this vile thing.
24 † Behold, here are my virgin daughter and his concubine. Let me bring them out now. Violate them and do with them what seems good to you, but against this man do not do this outrageous thing.” 25 †But the men would not listen to him. So the man seized his concubine and made her go out to them.
And they knew her and abused her all night until the morning. And as the dawn began to break, they let her go. 26 † And as morning appeared, the woman came and fell down at the door of the man’s house where her master was, until it was light.

27 †And her master rose up in the morning, and when he opened the doors of the house and went out to go on his way, behold, there was his concubine lying at the door of the house, with her hands on the threshold. 28 †He said to her, “Get up, let us be going.” But there was no answer. Then he put her on the donkey, and the man rose up and went away to his home. 29 †And when he entered his house, he took a knife, and taking hold of his concubine he divided her, limb by limb, into twelve pieces, and sent her throughout all the territory of Israel. 30 †And all who saw it said, “Such a thing has never happened or been seen from the day that the people of Israel came up out of the land of Egypt until this day; consider it, take counsel, and speak.”

Israel's War with the Tribe of Benjamin

20 [1]†Then all the people of Israel came out, from Dan to Beersheba, including the land of Gilead, and the congregation assembled as one man to the Lord at Mizpah. [2]†And the chiefs of all the people, of all the tribes of Israel, presented themselves in the assembly of the people of God, 400,000 men on foot that drew the sword. [3](Now the people of Benjamin heard that the people of Israel had gone up to Mizpah.) And the people of Israel said, "Tell us, how did this evil happen?" [4]†And the Levite, the husband of the woman who was murdered, answered and said, "I came to Gibeah that belongs to Benjamin, I and my concubine, to spend the night. [5]And the leaders of Gibeah rose against me and surrounded the house against me by night. They meant to kill me, and they violated my concubine, and she is dead. [6]†So I took hold of my concubine and cut her in pieces and sent her throughout all the country of the inheritance of Israel, for they have committed abomination and outrage in Israel. [7]Behold, you people of Israel, all of you, give your advice and counsel here."

[8]And all the people arose as one man, saying, "None of us will go to his tent, and none of us will return to his house. [9]†But now this is what we will do to Gibeah: we will go up against it by lot, [10]and we will take ten men of a hundred throughout all the tribes of Israel, and a hundred of a thousand, and a thousand of ten thousand, to bring provisions for the people, that when they come they may repay Gibeah of Benjamin, for all the outrage that they have committed in Israel." [11]So all the men of Israel gathered against the city, united as one man.

[12]And the tribes of Israel sent men through all the tribe of Benjamin, saying, "What evil is this that has taken place among you? [13]†Now therefore give up the men, the worthless fellows in Gibeah, that we may put them to death and purge evil from Israel." But the Benjaminites would not listen to the voice of their brothers, the people of Israel. [14]† Then the people of Benjamin came together out of the cities to Gibeah to go out to battle against the people of Israel. [15]†And the people of Benjamin mustered out of their cities on that day 26,000 men who drew the sword, besides the inhabitants of Gibeah, who mustered 700 chosen men. [16]†Among all these were 700 chosen men who were left-handed; every one could sling a stone at a hair and not miss. [17]And the men of Israel, apart from Benjamin, mustered 400,000 men who drew the sword; all these were men of war.

[18]†The people of Israel arose and went up to Bethel and inquired of God, "Who shall go up first for us to fight against the people of Benjamin?" And the Lord said, "Judah shall go up first."

[19]Then the people of Israel rose in the morning and encamped against Gibeah. [20]And the men of Israel went out to fight against Benjamin, and the men of Israel drew up the battle line against them at Gibeah. [21]†The people of Benjamin came out of Gibeah and destroyed on that day 22,000 men of the Israelites. [22]‡But the people, the men of Israel, took courage, and again formed the battle line in the same place where they had formed it on the first day. [23]And the people of Israel went up and wept before the Lord until the evening. And they inquired of the Lord, "Shall we again draw near to fight against our brothers, the people of Benjamin?" And the Lord said, "Go up against them."

[24]So the people of Israel came near against the people of Benjamin the second day. [25]†And Benjamin went against them out of Gibeah the second day, and destroyed 18,000 men of the people of Israel. All these were men who drew the sword. [26]†Then all the people of Israel, the whole army, went up and came to Bethel and wept. They sat there before the Lord and fasted that day until evening, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before the Lord. [27]†And the people of Israel inquired of the Lord (for the ark of the covenant of God was there in those days, [28]†and Phinehas the son of Eleazar, son of Aaron, ministered before it in those days), saying, "Shall we go out once more to battle against our brothers, the people of Benjamin, or shall we cease?" And the Lord said, "Go up, for tomorrow I will give them into your hand."

[29]‡So Israel set men in ambush around Gibeah. [30]And the people of Israel went up against the people of Benjamin on the third day and set themselves in array against Gibeah, as at other times. [31]And the people of Benjamin went out against the people and were drawn away from the city. And as at other times they began to strike and kill some of the people in the highways, one of which goes up to Bethel and the other to Gibeah, and in the open country, about thirty men of Israel. 32And the people of Benjamin said, “They are routed before us, as at the first.” But the people of Israel said, “Let us flee and draw them away from the city to the highways.” 33†And all the men of Israel rose up out of their place and set themselves in array at Baal-tamar, and the men of Israel who were in ambush rushed out of their place from Maareh-geba.[1] 34And there came against Gibeah 10,000 chosen men out of all Israel, and the battle was hard, but the Benjaminites did not know that disaster was close upon them. 35†And the Lord defeated Benjamin before Israel, and the people of Israel destroyed 25,100 men of Benjamin that day. All these were men who drew the sword. 36†† So the people of Benjamin saw that they were defeated.

The men of Israel gave ground to Benjamin, because they trusted the men in ambush whom they had set against Gibeah. 37†Then the men in ambush hurried and rushed against Gibeah; the men in ambush moved out and struck all the city with the edge of the sword. 38Now the appointed signal between the men of Israel and the men in the main ambush was that when they made a great cloud of smoke rise up out of the city 39the men of Israel should turn in battle. Now Benjamin had begun to strike and kill about thirty men of Israel. They said, “Surely they are defeated before us, as in the first battle.” 40But when the signal began to rise out of the city in a column of smoke, the Benjaminites looked behind them, and behold, the whole of the city went up in smoke to heaven. 41Then the men of Israel turned, and the men of Benjamin were dismayed, for they saw that disaster was close upon them. 42†Therefore they turned their backs before the men of Israel in the direction of the wilderness, but the battle overtook them. And those who came out of the cities were destroying them in their midst. 43†Surrounding the Benjaminites, they pursued them and trod them down from Nohah[1] as far as opposite Gibeah on the east. 44Eighteen thousand men of Benjamin fell, all of them men of valor. 45†And they turned and fled toward the wilderness to the rock of Rimmon. Five thousand men of them were cut down in the highways. And they were pursued hard to Gidom, and 2,000 men of them were struck down. 46†So all who fell that day of Benjamin were 25,000 men who drew the sword, all of them men of valor. 47†But 600 men turned and fled toward the wilderness to the rock of Rimmon and remained at the rock of Rimmon four months. 48†And the men of Israel turned back against the people of Benjamin and struck them with the edge of the sword, the city, men and beasts and all that they found. And all the towns that they found they set on fire.

Wives Provided for the Tribe of Benjamin

21 [1]Now the men of Israel had sworn at Mizpah, “No one of us shall give his daughter in marriage to Benjamin.” [2]† And the people came to Bethel and sat there till evening before God, and they lifted up their voices and wept bitterly. [3]And they said, “O Lord, the God of Israel, why has this happened in Israel, that today there should be one tribe lacking in Israel?” [4]And the next day the people rose early and built there an altar and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings. [5]†And the people of Israel said, “Which of all the tribes of Israel did not come up in the assembly to the Lord?” For they had taken a great oath concerning him who did not come up to the Lord to Mizpah, saying, “He shall surely be put to death.” [6]And the people of Israel had compassion for Benjamin their brother and said, “One tribe is cut off from Israel this day. [7]†What shall we do for wives for those who are left, since we have sworn by the Lord that we will not give them any of our daughters for wives?”

[8]† And they said, “What one is there of the tribes of Israel that did not come up to the Lord to Mizpah?” And behold, no one had come to the camp from Jabesh-gilead, to the assembly. [9]For when the people were mustered, behold, not one of the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead was there. [10]† So the congregation sent 12,000 of their bravest men there and commanded them, “Go and strike the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead with the edge of the sword;
also the women and the little ones. [11]†This is what you shall do: every male and every woman that has lain with a male you shall devote to destruction.” [12]† And they found among the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead 400 young virgins who had not known a man by lying with him, and they brought them to the camp at Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.

[13]† Then the whole congregation sent word to the people of Benjamin who were at the rock of Rimmon and proclaimed peace to them. [14]And Benjamin returned at that time. And they gave them the women whom they had saved alive of the women of Jabesh-gilead, but they were not enough for them. [15]†And the people had compassion on Benjamin because the Lord had made a breach in the tribes of Israel.

16 Then the elders of the congregation said, “What shall we do for wives for those who are left, since the women are destroyed out of Benjamin?” 17 And they said, “There must be an inheritance for the survivors of Benjamin, that a tribe not be blotted out from Israel. 18 † Yet we cannot give them wives from our daughters.” For the people of Israel had sworn, “Cursed be he who gives a wife to Benjamin.” 19 † So they said, “Behold, there is the yearly feast of the Lord at Shiloh, which is north of Bethel, on the east of the highway that goes up from Bethel to Shechem, and south of Lebonah.” 20 And they commanded the people of Benjamin, saying, “Go and lie in ambush in the vineyards 21 † and watch. If the daughters of Shiloh come out to dance in the dances, then come out of the vineyards and snatch each man his wife from the daughters of Shiloh, and go to the land of Benjamin. 22 ‡ † And when their fathers or their brothers come to complain to us, we will say to them, ‘Grant them graciously to us, because we did not take for each man of them his wife in battle, neither did you give them to them, else you would now be guilty.’” 23 And the people of Benjamin did so and took their wives, according to their number, from the dancers whom they carried off. Then they went and returned to their inheritance and rebuilt the towns and lived in them. 24 † And the people of Israel departed from there at that time, every man to his tribe and family, and they went out from there every man to his inheritance.

25 † In those days there was no king in Israel. Everyone did what was right in his own eyes.

Introduction to Judges

Reading Judges

A young man climbs down from the loft. Oxen, a donkey, and a few goats rise up from the dirt-packed floor. They low and bleat for more fodder as they stretch and stomp. The young man leans against a pillar, watching his grandmother, who turns flat loaves of bread in an oven. She rises and places a warm loaf in his left hand. His father passes and places a lead rope in his right. It is time to yoke the oxen. Late fall means preparing the fields for sowing.

The young man steps into the cool air, leading the oxen from the ground floor of their home. As he walks, he runs his hand along a light gray mud-brick wall, worn smooth by the oxen's girth as they lumber to and from the fields each day. Near the edge of town, they pass a high, square tower. Its rugged stones stand ready to resist the next raid on their village. In the village gateway, elders take their seats. They nod in approval at the young man's early start and the modest gait of his ox team. Outside the city walls spread the stubbled fields where they had cut the wheat that June. Beyond, on the hills, rises an oak forest that echoes with the ax blows of slaves, felling trees for the morning and evening sacrifices at the local shrine. So go the days and seasons in the Israelite settlements of central Canaan.

Luther on Judges

The historians, therefore, are the most useful people and the best teachers, so that one can never honor, praise, and thank them enough. (AE 34:276)

It is necessary to know the scope of this word [judges] in Hebrew; for it denotes also an official position itself or the administration of law, as in Ps. 1:5: "The godless shall not stand in the judgment," which others would render, "in rule"; likewise Ps. 72:1: "God, give judgment to the king." Hence it is used in the name of the Book of Judges, which in Latin would be called the book of princes, rulers, governors, or magistrates. (AE 9:49)

He calls leaders "saviors," as we find in the Book of Judges (Judg. 3:9), where He sent them many saviors, that is, leaders to lead them and take charge of them, to be in the lead if they ever had to fight with enemies. (AE 18:204)

In the book of Judges one can see the good that God did through Ehud [Judg. 3:15–30], Gideon [Judg. 6:11–8:28], Deborah [Judg. 4:4–5:31], Samson [Judg. 13:2–16:31], and other individuals, though the people were not worthy of it. (AE 46:192–93)

Challenges for Readers

Joshua versus Judges. See p 339.

Sequence and Length of Events. See p 339.

Documentation. Other biblical books do not fill in gaps for events that took place during the time of the judges. There are only a few references: Is 9:4 (Midian); Hos 9:9; 10:9 (Benjaminites at Gibeah); Hos 6:7–10 (Gilead, Shechem, and Ephraimite); and Ps 68:7–14 (Deborah). Also, the Book of Judges does not show the same interest in documents that the other Historical Books do. See pp 335–37.

Cycles in History. A structured presentation of events in Judges is found in 2:10–23: (1) Israel strays from the Lord, (2) another nation invades to oppress Israel, (3) Israel cries to the Lord for deliverance, and (4) the Lord provides a judge. Such features appear with variations throughout the Book and drive home its purpose.

Blessings for Readers

The Book of Judges chronicles the moral decay that afflicted Israel and led to its oppression, at times recording events so shocking one can scarcely believe they appear in Sacred Scripture. Yet these historic examples have a blessed purpose: to warn us against the spiritual indifference and moral decay that would stalk our generation and the next. They show how important our duty is as God's family to teach God's Word.

And what is the message of the Word? The Lord hears the cry of His people. He does not forget them but multiplies His mercy generation after generation. As you study Judges, call out to the Lord on behalf of your family, your children and grandchildren, that the Spirit of the Lord would rest on them and they would know their deliverer, Jesus.

OUTLINE

I. Prologue (1:1–3:6)
   A. Israel's Failure to Purge the Land (1:1–2:5)
   B. God's Dealings with Israel's Spiritual Failure (2:6–3:6)
II. The Judges Cycles (3:7–16:31)
   A. Major Judge: Othniel (3:7–11)
   B. Major Judge: Ehud (3:12–30)
   C. Minor Judge: Shamgar (3:31)
   D. Major Judge: Deborah (chs 4–5)
   E. Major Judge: Gideon (chs 6–8)
   F. Interlude: Abimelech's Doomed Attempt at Kingship (ch 9)
   G. Minor Judge: Tola (10:1–2)
   H. Minor Judge: Jair (10:3–5)
   I. Major Judge: Jephthah (10:6–12:7)
   J. Minor Judge: Ibzan (12:8–10)
   K. Minor Judge: Elon (12:11–12)
   L. Minor Judge: Abdon (12:13–15)
   M. Major Judge: Samson (chs 13–16)
III. Dual Epilogue (chs 17–21)
   A. The Danites Move North (chs 17–18)

B. Bethlehem and Jabesh-gilead (chs 19–21)

The accounts in this Book probably overlap somewhat, but the accounts of the major and minor judges (3:7–16:31) are presented largely in chronological order. The incidents in the dual epilogue (chs 17–21) are more difficult to date but probably took place early in the period. The era extended from the death of Joshua (c 1399 BC) to the beginning of the reign of Saul, the first king of Israel's united monarchy (c 1048 BC). While the entire period thus comprised slightly more than three centuries, Othniel did not come to leadership until an entire generation had died after the death of Joshua (cf 2:10). In addition, Samuel must also be included within this chronology prior to 1048 BC. Several judges may have ruled simultaneously in separate locations.

Prophetesses in the Bible

Old Testament Prophetesses

Miriam. The Old Testament speaks about five prophetesses. The first is Miriam, the sister of Moses. She led the women of Israel in a song of triumph after the crossing of the Red Sea (Ex 15:20–21). Later, in Nu 12:1–2, Miriam seems to refer to her role as prophetess as she questions Moses' marriage to a Cushite woman. God, however, noted the difference between Moses and other prophets (Nu 12:5–8). He struck Miriam with leprosy and had Moses send her out of the camp for seven days before He answered Moses' prayer and healed her (Nu 12:10–15). Despite the incident, the prophet Micah remembered Miriam favorably and acknowledged her leadership role for God's people during the exodus (Mi 6:4).

Deborah. Of all the prophetesses, we know the most about Deborah (Jgs 4–5). She led Israel and settled disputes between the people. (See also 2Sm 14:2; 20:16.) Through her, the Lord called Barak to lead Israel against the Canaanites. When Barak refused to follow the Lord's counsel without her help, Deborah told him that not he, but a woman, would have the honor of victory (Jael; Jgs 4:21–24). Like Miriam, Deborah sang a song of victory to rally the troops (Jgs 5).

Mother of King Lemuel. A brief note in Pr 31:1 mentions an "oracle" taught to King Lemuel by his mother. The passage is rather ambiguous for a number of reasons. Lemuel is mentioned nowhere else. The term translated "oracle" might be the name of a region among the Ishmaelites (Arabs). At the very least, the passage shows the role of a mother instructing her son through a song.

Huldah. When the priest Hilkiah discovered the Book of the Law in the temple and presented it to King Josiah, the king sent a delegation to "inquire of the Lord" about the message of the book (2Ki 22:8–20; 2Ch 34:22–28). The king's delegation sought out the prophetess Huldah, who was close by, rather than one of the male prophets (Jeremiah and Zephaniah) who lived at this time. Through Huldah, the Lord rebuked the people and also promised mercy to Josiah.

Isaiah's Wife. Isaiah's wife is called a prophetess in Is 8:3. The passage, however, describes her simply in terms of normal husband-wife relations. She may be called a prophetess because she is married to a prophet.

Old Testament False Prophetesses

Lying Prophetesses. Just as false prophets misled God's people, so prophetesses misled God's people during the Babylonian exile. God commanded Ezekiel to speak against the prophetesses "who prophesy out of their own minds [imagination]" (Ezk 13:17). In particular, he mentions their use of charms, false visions, and divination. Apparently these women were mixing the prophetic practices of Israel with the religious practices of the other nations.

Noadiah. Nehemiah mentions intimidation from the prophetess Noadiah and other prophets who did not want him to rebuild the walls of Jerusalem (Ne 6:14).

New Testament Prophetesses

Anna. The first prophetess mentioned in the New Testament was an elderly widow who was constantly at the temple (Lk 2:36–38). It is possible that she had a room at the temple and may have served there in some capacity. Luke does not record her "thanks" spoken over the baby Jesus. Most likely, she spoke or sang poetically, as had Simeon (Lk 2:25–35).

Daughters of Philip. In Ac 21:9, Luke mentions that Philip the evangelist had four unmarried daughters who prophesied. Luke gives no other details except that they lived in Caesarea.

Prophetesses at Corinth. Paul makes a passing reference in 1Co 11:5 to women praying and prophesying. His concern in the passage is that they may pray or prophesy without exercising the modesty of the time by covering their heads (wearing a veil). In 1Co 11:1–16 (as well as in other writings), Paul emphasizes the headship of the husband over his wife and the headship of Christ over men. When a woman prophesies with her head uncovered, she "dishonors her head, since it is the same as if her head were shaven" (v 5). Paul sees this as a violation of the created order and authority given by God. See p 1291.

For the sake of good order, the prophets of Corinth were to take turns speaking and were to judge one another's messages (1Co 14:26–40). In this context, Paul never mentions prophetesses. But he notes that the women should not speak in the congregation, according to the custom everywhere (vv 33–35). Paul was confident that the prophets would recognize the authority of his teaching. In other words, the prophets were subject to Paul's teaching as an apostle called by Christ.

New Testament False Prophetesses

Jezebel. The New Testament also mentions a false prophetess (Rv 2:20–23). Jesus calls her "Jezebel," after the Old Testament queen who introduced so many elements of Canaanite religion into Israel (cf 1Ki 18:19). This New Testament Jezebel was notorious for immorality and idolatry. Revelation states that Jesus had called her to repent, which probably means she was a straying member of the Thyatira congregation. He threatened to strike her dead and her "children" (followers?) if they would not repent.

Prophetesses Today

The few passages about prophetesses from both the Old and New Testaments show the blessings God at times bestowed through the leadership of women. But though Scripture describes prophetesses, it does not encourage the establishment of an office of prophetess. In fact, Paul's reference to prophetesses in 1Co 11 occurs in a passage emphasizing the leadership role of a husband! When Paul returned to the matter of prophets and prophecy, he specifically limited the role women were to play as speakers in the congregation.

At first, Paul's words about prophetesses may seem to conflict with the Old Testament examples of Miriam, Deborah, and Huldah. However, careful consideration of these passages reveals remarkable compatibility. For example, none of the passages show a prophetess serving as a public speaker for God during a congregational gathering (Paul's concern in 1Co 14:33b–35). However, they do show women offering private counsel, settling disputes, and perhaps most important, publicly thanking and praising God. God called women especially to share His Word in song and poetry (Miriam, Deborah, the mother of King Lemuel, and possibly Anna; note also the song of Mary in Lk 1:46–55). Song may have been a key element in what defined a prophetess.

Scripture, like much of human culture, consistently distinguishes the roles of men and women. In particular, it describes women speaking God's Word publicly in song and privately through counsel. It describes men speaking God's Word publicly when Christ calls them through His Church. These modes of service blessed God's people during biblical times and continue to bless and guide God's people today. See notes, Gn 2:18, 24; Eph 5; see also pp 1972, 2080.

Israel's Identity Crisis

How quickly the Israelites (and you and I) forget whose people we are: we belong to God. Instead of remembering our true identity, we suffer an identity crisis when we sin. The first identity crisis came in the Garden of Eden as Adam and Eve doubted God's Word and chose to be identified with a lying serpent. Now the Israelites ask, "Did God really say to destroy the Canaanites? What harm is there in a little compromise? The Canaanites I've met are nice people. Surely, God wouldn't want to destroy them, would He?" Who were these gods that caused the Israelites to fall? Who were these contenders against the almighty God who would tempt them with a new identity? The Bible names some of them: Baal (Jgs 2:11); Asherah (Jgs 6:25); Molech (1Ki 11:7; cf Jgs 10:6); and Dagon (Jgs 16:23).

Baal

Baal was the most popular Canaanite god and the son of El, the high god. Every region in Canaan had a Baal to worship. Archaeologists have discovered artifacts near Ras Sharma (ancient Ugarit) that portray Baal as the god of rain, thunder, and lightning. The Canaanites believed that Baal controlled the changing seasons and that his touch made colors wilt. They also believed that Baal provided the earth's produce, and temple prostitution was used to remind him to send rain. During religious ceremonies, an officiating priest danced about Baal's altar, chanting and cutting himself with a knife, hoping to attract Baal's attention. New Year festivals celebrating the death and rebirth of nature provided the annual epitome of Baal worship. Baal's priests taught that he was responsible for plagues and misfortunes. Only human sacrifices could placate Baal. Most often, those sacrificed were children. When the Phoenicians, a people who originated on the island of Crete, arrived in Canaan by ship, they adopted Baal and his consort, Asherah, as their fertility gods. The Phoenicians later carried their newly adopted gods throughout the Mediterranean aboard their cargo ships. See note, Nu 25:3.

Asherah/Ashtoreth

(Plural forms: Asherim/Asheroth/Ashtaroth)

Baal's female counterpart is commonly called Asherah, though other titles appear in the Bible (see note, Ex 34:13). To honor Asherah, a Canaanite woman had to offer either her hair or her chastity. The city of Ashkelon, where Samson killed 30 Philistines (Jgs 14:19), once housed a shrine for Asherah. Like her counterpart, Baal, Asherah had a retinue of temple prostitutes. The precise origins of Asherah as the mother-goddess are unknown, because her fame was so far-reaching in the ancient world, and female goddesses were easily confused or treated as interchangeable. E.g., in Phoenicia, there was "Ashtarte of the name of Baal." In some parts of Assyria and Babylon, the goddess "Nana" was worshiped as the goddess of sexual love and fertility. Elsewhere in Babylon was "Shamash, the wife of Molech," or "Zarpanit," the goddess of plant and animal fertility. In Assyria, there was "Ishtar of Arbela," the goddess of war. And in southern Arabia, there was "Athtar."

Molech

Molech was the Phoenician god of human sacrifice. At times, Molech's idol welcomed children into his searing arms. Innocent victims were placed between the outstretched arms of Molech's heated statue and burned to death. In later times, Solomon established a temple to Molech at Mount Olivet (1Ki 11:7). Josiah destroyed the temple of Molech at Topheth (2Ki 23:10). The worship of Molech spread to Carthage, where it is reported that in one incident alone, 200 young boys were sacrificed in hopes of lifting a siege.

Dagon

Dagon was the Philistines' national god, who had numerous temples throughout Canaan. Samson was brought to Dagon's temple in Gaza in an elaborate thank-you ceremony to this Philistine god (Jgs 16:23). When Samson destroyed Dagon's temple, 3,000 Dagon worshipers died (Jgs 16:27–30). The Philistines brought war trophies into other Dagon temples, including the ark of God (1Sm 5:1–2) and the head of Saul (1Ch 10:8–10). Historians believe that Dagon worship began in Babylon and spread throughout Canaan, continuing into the late centuries BC, when many of his temples were destroyed by Jonathan Maccabee.

Sin and Lost Identities

We may find no appeal in the ancient gods of Canaan. There is no allure, no enticement. Yet, it was the Canaanite gods who caused many Israelites to be tempted away from the true God. Perhaps the Israelites wanted a god they could manipulate with rites and ceremonies, regardless of how inhumane their practice. We often seek gods we can manipulate as well. Even some Christians are enticed to worship such things as possessions, money, lust, greed, and power. Pornography causes some Christians to fall. Drug abuse, child abuse, homosexuality, and sexual, physical, and mental abuse cause others to fall. Sin causes us to forget that we are God's temple (1Co 3:16). For the ancient Israelites, sin began innocently enough (it usually does in our lives too). Sadly, doubting God's Word has eternal ramifications. As we fall into sin, we lose sight of the consequences—that "those who practice such things deserve to die" (Rm 1:32). Here are three personal questions to ask ourselves: (1) What idols have I set up in God's place? (2) Is the god of self-indulgence, the god of promiscuous sex, or the god of child sacrifice (abortion) a part of my life? (3) Is the god of money and material possessions seeking to topple me into sin?

Our True Identity

Now, let us consider our true identity as children of God, the identity God gave us at our Baptism. At Baptism, our old, sinful self was drowned and was crucified with Christ so "that the body of sin might be brought to nothing" (Rm 6:6). Jesus Christ is our Savior. He paid the full price to rescue those overcome by sin with His dear body and blood. God's peace warms our hearts each time we consider what Jesus Christ has done. He has "saved us, not because of works done by us in righteousness, but according to His own mercy, by the washing of regeneration and renewal of the Holy Spirit" (Ti 3:5).

Savior and Judge

Some religious scholars credit the prophet Samuel as the author of Judges, though his name is not found among its pages. Others have suggested that either Nathan or Gad (1Ch 29:29) was the author. In the Hebrew Bible, Judges is found in a section known as the "Former Prophets," along with three other books: Joshua, Samuel, and Kings. "Judges" is taken from the Hebrew word shaphat, meaning both "to judge" and "to govern." These judges not only governed the Israelites but also acted as "saviors," delivering God's people from the merciless hands of the Canaanites. Only one, Deborah, actually settled legal disputes (Jgs 4:5). Six judges are titled or described as deliverers, using the same word from which Jesus' title of "Savior" is derived. These six savior judges are Othniel (3:9), Ehud (3:15), Shamgar (3:31), Gideon (ch 6), Tola (10:1), and Samson (ch 13).

Remember that God reserves judgment for Himself, so each judge is acting as God's under-judge. It is God who is working through their weaknesses to judge and save His people. In the broadest sense, we might say that God raised judges as rulers, or governors, in order that He might redeem (save) His people from the atrocities they were committing when they followed the false gods of the Canaanites. As sinful human beings (as you and I are), these judges had both strengths and weaknesses.

Othniel

Othniel is the first of God's six deliverers. After Israel turned away from God and worshiped the false gods Baal and Asheroth (3:7), God led Israel into eight years of servanthood to Cushan-rishathaim. By His grace, God used Othniel as a military leader and a judge/savior to free Israel from the hands of the king of Aram. Othniel's conquest was followed by 40 years of peace (3:11). Othniel is often called Israel's ideal judge, a preview of Christ's return and His judgment (Rv 19:11).

Ehud

Following another cycle of sinfulness after Othniel's death (Jgs 3:11–12), Israel cried out for rescue (3:15). God provided a second judge/savior to free them from Eglon, king of Moab. That deliverer was Ehud, who used his left-handedness to conceal a sword on his right thigh (3:16). As Ehud approached Eglon by pretending to share a secret, he drew the sword with his left hand and "thrust it into" Eglon's belly (3:21). Because the Hebrew word for left-handedness means "restricted as to the right hand," some scholars believe Ehud's right hand was crippled. Israel enjoyed 80 years of rest following Ehud's victory (Jgs 3:30).

Shamgar

Information about Shamgar, God's third deliverer, is limited to the biblical account found only in Jgs 3:31. Shamgar was the son of Anath, and God used him to kill 600 Philistines with a stick used to prod oxen. Shamgar's exploits may have overlapped Ehud's time, since Ehud's death is not mentioned until 4:1.

Deborah and Barak

Following the death of Ehud, the Israelites once more slipped back into sin (4:1). This time, God called out Jabin, king of Canaan, to rule over Israel for nearly 20 years. Then God raised Deborah, a prophetess, wife, and judge (4:4), and Barak (4:6). God's plan of redemption was given to Deborah, who employed Barak to carry it out (4:11–24). Together they judged/saved Israel, and 40 years of peace followed (5:31).

Gideon

Israel again became corrupt (6:1), and God allowed His people's captivity at the hands of the Midianites. After seven years (6:1), the Israelites cried out to God (6:7). God answered with an unknown prophet, sent to explain the reason for Israel's enslavement (6:7–8). Then God personally called Gideon as His fourth deliverer, or judge/savior (6:11–12). By God's hand, Gideon defeated the Midianites (7:1–8:21). In peace, Gideon refused attempts to crown him king, but took tributes from his fellow Israelites and dishonored God by creating a golden ephod. Despite Gideon's disobedience, God granted Israel 40 years of rest (8:28).

Abimelech

Abimelech was Gideon's son by a concubine (8:31). Upon Gideon's death, Israel set up Baal-berith as its god (8:33–34). Abimelech is called an "antijudge" because he murdered his own family (9:5). His rule lasted only three years (9:22), and Abimelech died when a millstone was dropped on his head, followed by a death blow administered by his servant (9:52–54).

Tola and Jair

Tola is Israel's fifth deliverer, or judge/savior (10:1). The Book of Judges reveals that Tola judged for 23 years (10:2) and that Jair judged 22 years and managed 30 cities (10:3–4).

Jephthah

Israel again fell into sin (10:6) and was subjected to Philistine and Ammonite rule for 18 years (10:7–8) before God raised another judge/savior. His name was Jephthah, and he judged for six years. Jephthah made a hasty vow to God that may have resulted in the tragic death of his own daughter (see notes, 11:37, 39).

Ibzan, Elon, and Abdon

The writer of Judges reveals very little about the lives of Ibzan, Elon, and Abdon other than that they judged/saved Israel for 7 (12:9), 10 (12:11), and 8 years (12:13–14), respectively.

Samson

Samson is the last of God's six deliverers (13:5). The account of Samson's life reflects the same cycle of sin and repentance seen in the lives of his fellow Israelites.

Come, Lord Jesus

Each judge of Israel acted to save God's people from oppression and apostasy. In so doing, they pointed us to Jesus Christ. He has given us permanent release from the power of sin by ransoming us from death to life (Rm 6:23). We long for His second coming, when He will come to judge the living and the dead (2Tm 4:1). Through His Gospel, we already have God's verdict: not guilty!

Study Notes

JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:1 After the death of Joshua. See "Sequence and Length of Events," p 339. inquired. Probably by means of the Urim and Thummim. See "call," p 842.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:4 into their hand. The Lord was behind the victory. See note, Jsh 24:8. Bezek. Lit, "pebble." Possibly an early, and belittling, reference to Jerusalem.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:5 Adoni-bezek. "Lord of pebble," possibly mimicking the names of two former kings of Jerusalem: Melchizedek ("King of Righteousness"; Gn 14:18–20) and Adoni-zedek ("Lord of Righteousness"; Jsh 10:1–2).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:6 cut off his thumbs and his big toes. Body mutilation to humiliate the victim and incapacitate him, as well as to inflict fear on other rulers. Such cruelty was common in the ancient Near East; it is troubling to see the men of Judah and Simeon practice it here. As time went by, the Israelites acted and thought less as the Lord's covenant people and more as Canaanites.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:7 they. Israelites.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:8 captured it. This conquest of Jerusalem was only temporary. In v 21, the Benjaminites were unable to drive the Jebusites out of Jerusalem, as archaeology confirms. A stepped-stone structure built in the northeast part of the old city dates to this period and could be the work of Jebusite defenders. The city remained a pocket of resistance for more than three centuries, until David captured it as his capital city (2Sm 5:6–7).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:9 hill country. Rocky hills running like a spine north to south through the land. Negeb. Desert region extending south from Jerusalem toward the Sinai Peninsula. lowland. Shephelah, the gentle hilly region sloping from Jerusalem to the flat coastal plain along the Great Sea. See color map 2.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:10 Kiriath-arba. Hebron's alternate name, meaning "City of Four," probably referring to an original federation of four cities.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:11 Debir. Also called Kiriath-sepher, "City of the Book," located c 10 mi S of Hebron.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:12–15 Achsah. Women often go unnamed in OT, but Achsah is named as a strong, independent woman.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:13 Othniel. See note, 3:9.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:14 she urged him to ask her father for a field. Well within Achsah's right to request; an illustration of the boldness with which a daughter could approach her father. See "Standing of Women," p 213.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:15 blessing. See p 842. give me also springs of water. Achsah wanted a reliable source of water in this semiarid climate.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:16 Arad. C 10 mi E of Beersheba (traditional southern boundary of the land) and 20 mi S of Hebron. Archaeologists discovered a small temple or shrine within the fortress, the design of which agreed in many ways with biblical descriptions of a sanctuary. The priestly names Pashhur and Meremoth (cf Jer 20:1; Ezr 8:33) were found on potsherds near the temple, which was in use for centuries.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:17 Zephath. "Watchtower"; Canaanite city in the region of Judah. Hormah. New name may be a description instead of a proper name. See ESV note; see also "devote to destruction," p 6.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:18 Gaza … Ashkelon … Ekron. These cities, along with Gath and Ashdod, were the five major Philistine cities, controlling the Great Sea coast in southwest Canaan. See p 345; see also color map 1.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:19 chariots of iron. They had iron axles and perhaps iron plates over their structure.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:20 the three sons of Anak. Anakim were already in Canaan when the Israelites arrived, said to be descended from the Nephilim (Gn 6:1–4) and regarded as very powerful.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:21 did not drive out. Beginning of a litany of the failure of the tribes to complete Israel's conquest of the land. See notes, vv 8, 27–36; cf Jsh 13:2–6.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:22 house of Joseph. Ephraim, one of two tribes descended from the sons of Joseph.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:23 Bethel. "House of God"; strategically located 12 mi N of Jerusalem at the border between Benjamin and Ephraim. See color map 1.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:24 we will deal kindly with you. A covenant agreement, violating the Lord's prohibition against making covenants with the peoples of the land (Dt 7:2). Luth: "To be sure, the Jebusite and the Canaanite will always live in our midst," but we must not allow them to rule us (AE 10:381n). These verses serve as a warning to "coarse, lazy Christians" who fail to appreciate spiritual matters and "become sluggish and secure" (AE 38:131).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:26 land of the Hittites. The Hittites flourished along the southern coast of present-day Turkey two centuries earlier; these were probably remnant groups that migrated into Canaan after the Hittite Empire disbanded. See color map 3; see also chronology pp xcvi–xcviii.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:1–26 After the optimistic, faith-filled account in Jsh, Jgs 1 introduces the disappointing next phase of Israelite history. Despite the sinful disappointments of our life histories, Jesus knows our weaknesses and forgives our neglect of His promises. Daily, we return to our Baptism to drown our sinful nature with its evil desires and to put on our new nature, which is righteous and pure (see SC, Baptism, pp xxxix–xl). The righteousness of Jesus replaces our unrighteousness. • Thank You, Lord, for rescuing us from our own worst enemies—our sinful flesh and the "Canaanites" that surround us. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:27–36 List of failures in the conquest. Archaeology has confirmed the persistent presence of Canaanites in many of these places. Adoni-bezek had lost his fingers and toes, his freedom, and finally his life (vv 5–7), but the Canaanite traitors at Bethel were allowed to remain alive and flourish. The Israelites generally permitted the Canaanites to live as their slaves or simply to live among them. Dan was entirely pressed out of its tribal allotment by the Amorites.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:27 Beth-shean. Strategic crossroads at the junction of the Jezreel and Jordan valleys. ("Beth-shan" in 1Sm 31:10, 12; 2Sm 21:12.) See color map 1. Taanach. 17 mi W of Beth-shean (see note, 5:19). Dor. On the coast of the Great Sea, just south of Mount Carmel. Megiddo. Also located at a strategic crossroads. See notes, 5:19; Rv 16:16.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:28 forced labor. Having endured forced labor and slavery in Egypt, the Israelites then inflicted slavery on some of the Canaanite peoples. See p 101. This went against God's command in Dt 7:2.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:29 Gezer. In Ephraim's allotment, c 20 mi NW of Jerusalem, guarding an important east-west trade route.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:30 Kitron … Nahalol. West of the Sea of Chinnereth.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:31 More Canaanite city-states were allowed to remain in Asher than in any other tribal allotment. Sidon. A center of Canaanite shipping and trade, this entire region was vulnerable to religious influence by other peoples.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:33 Beth-shemesh. "House of the sun." Beth-anath. "House of [the goddess] Anath." Both names reflect pagan worship practiced in those cities.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:34 pressed the people of Dan back into the hill country. Dan received an allotment along the coastal plain west of Judah but seems never to have gained control of its land. Being driven out by the Amorites, Dan faced additional resistance from the Philistines along the coast. An account in the epilogue tells how Dan moved to the northernmost point of the land, beyond the Sea of Chinnereth (18:27–29).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 1:27–36 The various tribes of Israel allow the Canaanites to remain in the land, which creates a powerful temptation for Israelites to adopt their culture and worship their gods. How history repeats itself! Yet God in His mercy never abandons us. • Forgive us, Lord, for indifference to Your will. Help us to love what You command, turn to You for mercy, and seek to conform our lives to Your holy will. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:1 the angel of the LORD. See p 1227. went up from Gilgal to Bochim. In Jsh 5:13–15, the angel of the Lord appeared to Joshua to announce the upcoming conquest of the land. The angel now reappears to remind Israel that the campaign begun on a triumphant note is in danger of failure. Gilgal. On the west bank of the Jordan River, to the east of Jericho. I brought you up. What follows is classic covenant language, as the Lord reviews His saving acts on Israel's behalf. See p 127.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:2 you shall make no covenant … you have not obeyed. After reviewing the Lord's kindness, covenant formulas list the obedience the Lord asked for in response.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:3 I will not drive them out. The Lord would repay the Israelites with exactly what their actions allowed. The presence of these peoples and their gods would become "thorns" and "a snare"—painful burdens and treacherous temptations to their spiritual well-being.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:4 lifted up their voices and wept. Not necessarily a sign of true repentance. Any genuine repentance at Bochim was short-lived.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:5 Bochim. Apparently near Gilgal. See color map 1. sacrificed. To their credit, the people offered sacrifices. This was done at the tabernacle, now located at Shiloh (Jsh 18:1); the distance there was not great. See color map 1.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:1–5 Israel's failure to drive out its Canaanite opponents is not caused by military weakness but rather by spiritual weakness. Because of spiritual weakness, believers today also experience suffering, disappointments, and even death. Yet the Lord faithfully calls us to repentance amid our sufferings. He suffered for our sins and renews us by the Gospel. • O Lord, "make us glad for as many days as You have afflicted us, and for as many years as we have seen evil" (Ps 90:15). Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:7 all the days of Joshua. A reminder of the great beginning of conquest under Joshua and his peers (e.g., Jsh 5:13–6:21; 8:1–29; 10:29–11:23). Luther noted that when a godly nation loses its reverence for God, "another nation far worse and more godless takes its place." Though people may remain outwardly religious, "they devise acts of worship that are horrible monstrosities." Israel succumbed to "loathsome idolatry" in the worship of the Baals, of Ashtaroth, and of Molech (AE 8:131–32).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:10 gathered to their fathers. See note, 1Ki 2:10. generation … did not know the LORD. The author anticipates even worse trouble because the families had failed to teach the faith to their children, as God called them to do. See notes, Dt 6:7; Ps 145:4.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:6–10 The Israelites know who the Lord is, but they no longer experience His blessed presence among them. Despite Israel's favored history, paganism is never far from the surface. Where the Law shows us our sin, the Gospel shows us the Father's loving heart in Jesus. He cures our spiritual blindness and leads us to seek Him and worship Him with new hearts. • "Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me. … Restore to me the joy of Your salvation" (Ps 51:10, 12). Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:11–23 See "Cycles in History," p 381.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:11 did what was evil. The particular evil of worshiping the false gods of their neighbors. Baals. See note, Nu 25:3.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:12 other gods. Others called their gods by different names, but their beliefs and worship practices were similar. peoples. See notes, 3:12, 13. provoked the LORD to anger. The Lord is a personal being, not a mere inanimate force or divine principle. He loves us, eagerly desires fellowship with us, is outraged at our sin, and has spared no expense to restore us to fellowship with Him. See note, Ex 20:5.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:13 Ashtaroth. Plural of "Asherah." See note, Ex 34:13.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:14 anger … kindled. See note, v 12.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:15 the hand of the LORD. See p 842. against them for harm. The hand of the Lord, which had richly blessed them, would now be turned against them.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:11–15 Israel's sad reversal of fortune is more than a coincidence. They made God their enemy because of their unfaithfulness. Without sincere faith, it is impossible to please God and rightly receive His blessings. God exposes our faulty motives so that He can bring us to a greater appreciation of His grace. • Dear Lord, direct our hearts in sincerity so that we receive Your blessings with grateful hearts. Amen.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:16 judges. Hbr shophetim. Not officers of law courts, but temporary military saviors for their people. See pp 380–81. Unlike priests and kings, they did not come to their office because of tribal or family background; the Lord raised them up. saved. See "salvation," p 843.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:17 whored after other gods. Faith in God is never mere intellectual agreement to doctrinal statements; it always involves trust and a living relationship. (See p 2016.) Unbelief is unfaithfulness to God and abandonment of His faithful promises. Devotion to the Baals included various practices in which Baal's worshipers "prostituted" themselves. Cf Hos 4:14.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:18 the LORD was moved to pity by their groaning. God responded to the people's prayers, even though they were offered selfishly or from shallow motives.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:22 test Israel by them. The Lord protected the people, even though they would fail the test of faithfulness. See note, Gn 22:1.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 2:16–23 Unfortunately, Israel's repentance does not last long. Yet even in these dark times, God does not withdraw His mercy from His people but raises up a series of champions to be their "saviors." God does not forgive us because of our faith—as if faith were a good work to make up for all we have done wrong. God forgives us entirely for the sake of and through the merits of our Savior, Jesus (Rm 5:17–19). •

O Lord, grant us the rhythm of repentance and forgiveness in our day-to-day lives. Grant also sincerity and faith through Christ, our Savior. Amen.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:1 test. See note, Gn 22:1.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:2 Israel might know war. The Lord wanted Israel to understand the physical and spiritual war in which they were engaged. Avoiding this spiritual warfare would result in no true peace at all. Luth: "The most dangerous trial of all is when there is no trial, when everything is all right and running smoothly. This is when a man tends to forget God, to become too independent and put his time of prosperity to a wrong use" (AE 44:47).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:3 lords. Or, "princes," suggesting a distinctive political structure, different from both the tribal league of Israel and the Canaanite city-states. Philistines. The only nation not native to the land. See notes, 10:7; Ps 83:6–8; see also p 345.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:4 testing … obey the commandments of the LORD. This test was not for the Lord's benefit but for the Israelites', to see if they would measure their actions against God's justice and the covenant He promised.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:5 Canaanites … Jebusites. See p 345.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:6 their. Canaanites, etc. (cf v 5). they. The Israelites. Intermarriage would lead Israel into pagan worship and idolatry.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:1–6 Israel would no longer enjoy the blessings promised in Lv 26:1–13 and Dt 28:1–14 under the Lord's covenant; instead, the Israelites would find themselves engaged in a struggle against their pagan neighbors. How wonderful that God promises to stand by us, despite our wavering faith. "If we are faithless, He remains faithful—for He cannot deny Himself" (2Tm 2:13). • Merciful Father, assure us in Your faithfulness so that we live by faith in our Savior. Amen.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:7 what was evil. See note, 2:11.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:8 anger of the LORD. God's anger was fueled by His jealous love for Israel and His keen disappointment for their failing to heed His warnings. See note, 2:12. He sold them … served. Note the language of slavery, to which the people had returned due to their unfaithfulness. Cushan-rishathaim. Lit, "doubly wicked Cushan." May have been a nickname or even a self-chosen designation. Cushan's territory, identified with Aram, extended from northeast of the Sea of Chinnereth to the Taurus Mountains on the north and to the Euphrates River on the east. The first oppressor God sent against Israel was not the leader of a nearby confederation of city-states but an international power. See map, p 60.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:9 cried out to the LORD. Not a cry of repentance but of distress. See notes, 2:18; 10:10. deliverer … Othniel. He had an established record of military success. A relative of Caleb, he provided a link to the past generation, which had remained faithful to the Lord. He married Achsah, the daughter of Caleb, an Israelite war hero (1:12–15). Othniel was not guilty of intermarriage with the Canaanite women or of sexual immorality (cf 3:6). The author does not mention any character flaws or motives of personal revenge of Othniel's, which distinguishes him from other judges.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:10 The Spirit of the LORD was upon him. The Spirit transformed the hearts of the judges (6:34; 11:29; 13:25; 14:6; etc), though their sinful failings were not miraculously removed. The person and work of the Holy Spirit is more fully revealed in the NT (see p 1815). The Spirit always "calls, gathers, enlightens, and sanctifies" people in faith and equips them for service (SC, Third Article, p xxxvii). he judged Israel. See note, 2:16. into his hand. Victory comes from the Lord. See note, Jsh 24:8.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:11 rest forty years. It is unclear how long Othniel's career continued after this rescue. The "rest" he brought may have extended well beyond his death. Only once did the Israelites enjoy a period of rest longer than 40 years (cf v 30).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:7–11 Othniel, the ideal judge, is God's first champion to rescue Israel from a powerful foreign oppressor. God gave Othniel His Spirit and victory. Today, our struggles with temptation and problems may at times seem greater than we are able to bear. We may feel overwhelmed, confused, hopeless. Yet God's grace is sufficient for us, and His power is made perfect in weakness (2Co 12:9). In times of struggle, God's blessings may become most apparent and most treasured. • Assure us, O Lord, that Your grace is sufficient for all our needs. Grant us Your Spirit and boldness. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:12 did what was evil. See note, 2:11. Eglon. Means "little calf." Through his own stupidity, Eglon will become a sacrificial animal. Moab. Nation east of the Jordan, descended from the incestuous relationship of Lot and one of his daughters (see note, Gn 19:37). See color map 2.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:13 Ammonites and the Amalekites. Ammon was descended from the incestuous relationship between Lot and one of his daughters (see notes, Gn 19:36–38, 37, 38; application note, Gn 19:30–38); Amalek was descended from Esau, Jacob's brother (cf Gn 36:12). city of palms. Jericho. Nations east of the Jordan had gained a foothold by taking this important city, which had been rebuilt (cf Jsh 6:1–21) and stood by the fords of the river.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:15 a deliverer. Hbr moshia'. A "savior" of his people, but not a "judge." Ehud … Benjaminite. Benjamin means "son of the right hand," but Ehud himself was left-handed. left-handed. Lit, "restricted in his right hand." Ehud rescued Israel in a tricky, "left-handed" way. Ironically, Ehud gained Eglon's trust by hand-delivering Israel's annual tribute payment. tribute. Conquerors required regular payment from their vassal states, similar to the collection of taxes.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:16 a cubit in length. C 18–20 in long. he bound it on his right thigh. A right-handed man would ordinarily strap a weapon to his left thigh. Ehud's restricted right hand seemed to render him too weak to be a threat to the Moabite guards, and they would not have considered checking his other thigh.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:17 a very fat man. Sign of wealth and ease. Eglon is portrayed as susceptible to flattery and a victim of his own appetite.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:18 he sent away the people. Ehud wanted to act alone.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:19 idols near Gilgal. Whether Eglon's palace was on the east or west side of the Jordan River, these idols seem to have served as road markers. secret message. A ploy to get a private audience with Eglon. all his attendants went out. That Eglon dismissed his attendants from the room is a sign of his trust in Ehud. Eglon's eagerness for the secret illustrates other weaknesses—greed and corruption.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:20 cool roof chamber. Perhaps a room over the beams, a raised throne room that would catch the breeze. from God. Ehud added these words to his original statement (v 19), speaking as though he were a prophet. Eglon may have regarded such a message with a mixture of dread and curiosity. he arose. Presumably from his throne, though subsequent events suggest a toilet or latrine was nearby (v 24).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:22 the hilt also went. Eglon's greedy body consumed and hid the sword. the dung came out. Ehud's surprise attack and the deep thrust of his sword caused Eglon's bowels to fail as he fell to his death.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:23 porch. See ESV note. Ehud may have exited by the same way he entered, locking the door from the outside, or he may have locked the door from the inside, escaping over the side of a wall onto a porch or outer courtyard.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:24 Surely he is relieving himself. Eglon's attendants delayed, allowing Ehud additional time to escape.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:25 embarrassed. Though originally considering vulgar thoughts, the attendants grew nervous as their king failed to emerge.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:26–27 beyond the idols. At Gilgal, just north of Jericho, safely outside Moabite control. Seirah … the hill country of Ephraim. High ground in the heart of Israel. See color map 2.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:28 the LORD has given. Ehud credited God with the success, in the manner of a sincere Israelite warrior. the fords. The crossing for the Jordan River, near the northern edge of the Salt Sea. did not allow. Israel prevented Moabite soldiers from retreating to their own land and divided the fleeing soldiers.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:30 subdued. As a vassal to Israel. rest. See note, v 11. eighty years. See "Sequence and Length of Events," p 339.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:12–30 The treachery-filled victory of Ehud over Eglon and the Moabites is told in greater detail than the account of Othniel's victory over Cushan-rishathaim (vv 9–11). Although we may admire Ehud's courage and ingenuity, his deceptive method in God's name brings the sincerity of his confession about the Lord (v 28) into question. God uses the people available to Him to achieve His larger purposes, and God blesses us despite our misdeeds and selfish motives. In all things, He works for the good of those who love Him (Rm 8:28). • "I need Thy presence ev'ry passing hour; What but Thy grace can foil the tempter's pow'r? Who like Thyself my guide and stay can be? Through cloud and sunshine, O abide with me." Amen. (LSB 878:2)
JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:31 Shamgar. Because this name does not seem to be Hbr in origin, Shamgar was probably not an Israelite. son of Anath. Well-attested Canaanite name, also found inscribed on an arrowhead found south of Bethlehem. A group of professional soldiers was known as the "sons of Anath" (cf Anathoth, 1Ch 7:8, 11); Shamgar may have been associated with them. Anath was also a deity worshiped from Egypt to Mesopotamia. killed

600 of the Philistines. Possibly the total of Philistines he killed throughout his lifetime, rather than in any single campaign. oxgoad. A pole, 8–10 ft long, with a metal, chisel-shaped blade, used by farmers to clean the plow blade and to prod oxen. It could serve as a weapon. saved. The author does not call Shamgar a "judge." See "salvation," p 843.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 3:31 Almost everything about this one-verse summary differs from the surrounding accounts. There is no announcement that Israel did evil in the eyes of the Lord and no mention that they cried out to Him; no mention that the Lord raised up His person to save them, or that Shamgar was clothed with the Spirit, or that God acted in this judge's behalf. Had the Israelites become so enmeshed in Canaanite culture that there were no Israelites to answer the Lord's call? The company of men and women the Lord has called includes many common people (1Co 1:26). God can use even those whose parentage, education, or vocation are humble or obscure. When and where it pleases the Spirit of God, He can make judges out of farmers and apostles out of fishermen. • Lord, accomplish great outcomes through ordinary-looking vessels. Begin with me. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON Chs 4–5 The account of Deborah and Barak is presented in both prose and poetry. The prose version uses more common words than the poetic account and focuses on telling the story in logical order. The poetic account offers impressions of the story and adds details. See pp 775–78.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:1 did what was evil. See note, 2:11. Ehud. Cf 3:12–30.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:2 the LORD sold them. See note, 3:8. Jabin. Probably a royal title rather than a personal name. Hazor. Called "the head of all those kingdoms" at the time of Joshua, who burned the city (Jsh 11:10–11). Hazor occupied a strategic site in the valley north of the Sea of Chinnereth along a major road connecting Egypt with Mesopotamia. See color map 1. Sisera. Neither a Canaanite nor Hbr name; he may have arrived in Canaan with the Sea Peoples, some of whom were the Philistines (see note, 10:7). Harosheth-hagoyim. Lit, "metal forge of the nations." Perhaps the Canaanites forged iron there, with which they built the chariots that play prominently in the story. See note, 1Sm 13:19.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:3 cried out to the LORD. See notes, 2:18; 10:10. chariots of iron. Technological advantage over the Israelites, who did not acquire such things until the time of the Israelite kings. See note, 1Sm

13:19. cruelly for twenty years. The oppression of Israel grew still worse (cf 3:8, 14).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:4 Deborah, a prophetess. A prophet was one who spoke on behalf of another (Ex 7:1–2). See p 389. wife of Lappidoth, was judging. Luther noted the service of Deborah and other women as rulers; they "have been very good at management" (AE 28:276). See p 389. Luther even suggested that women's leadership in other areas of life might motivate men to properly fulfill their responsibility of preaching (AE 36:151–52). See p 1972.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:5 Ramah and Bethel. In southern Ephraim, 50 mi S of where the decisive battle against the Canaanites later took place (vv 12–16). See map, p 451.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:6 Kedesh-naphtali. 5 mi NW of Lake Huleh, the northernmost outpost in Israelite territory. See map, p 365. commanded you. See note, v 4. Deborah's words to Barak may indicate that the Lord had already commanded him and he had hesitated. He needed affirmation to fulfill his duty (cf v 8).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:7 Sisera … Jabin's. See note, v 2. Kishon. North of Mount Carmel. See color map 2.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:8 Although Barak's name means "thunderbolt" and he is listed among the "heroes of faith" in Heb 11:32, he appears hesitant to go to battle without assurances from Deborah. His hesitance may be attributed to fear, or it may have been a commendable reluctance to fight without the assurance of the Lord's support.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:9 hand of a woman. Shameful defeat for a proud warrior. woman. Not Deborah but Jael (v 21).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:10 at his heels. Following him.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:11 Zaanannim. Meaning "to pack up," possibly a location where traders and caravanners stopped to sell or trade goods.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:12–13 Mount Tabor. The Israelites camped on the slopes of the mountain as a refuge from chariot attack, hoping to draw Sisera and his troops into a trap. to the river Kishon. See note, v 7. Sisera chose to station his army in the Jezreel Valley, where his sizable chariot force would have room to maneuver. This decision led to his downfall. See color map 2.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:14 Deborah did not lead the troops herself but fulfilled the prophet's true role by encouraging with the words and promises of God.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:15 routed. The poetry version explains how the rout occurred (5:20–22). The wet ground around the Kishon River made the chariots ineffective. A downpour and a flash flood swept the army away. fled. When the battle was clearly lost, Sisera abandoned his panic-stricken men to seek shelter for himself.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:17 Jael. Her husband, Heber the Kenite, was mentioned earlier (v 11), foreshadowing what would come. Kenite territory was far to the south, but Heber had left his homeland and thrown his support to Jabin and Sisera. Jabin and Heber had made a covenant with each other but, as will become clear, Jael remained loyal to Israel.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:18 Clearly, Jael knew Sisera, and her comforting words lured Sisera into false security.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:19 give me a little water … she opened a skin of milk. Jael appeared to be showing kindness by offering Sisera something better (goats' or sheep's milk) than he had requested (water). Yet the milk made him sleepy. Jos: "He [Sisera] drank so unmeasurably that he fell asleep" (Ant 5:208).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:21 drove the peg into his temple. In a dramatic, brutal act, Jael proved that her loyalty to the Lord and to Israel was greater than her devotion to her husband. She fulfilled the NT directive "We must obey God rather than men" (Ac 5:29).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 4:22 I will show you the man whom you are seeking. Barak could now see how Deborah's prediction (v 9) had come true: the Lord delivered Sisera into the hand of a woman, and the glory was hers, not his.
JUDGES—NOTE ON Ch 4 After Israelite armies led by Barak defeat Jabin and the Canaanites, an Israelite woman kills Sisera the Canaanite general by pounding a tent peg through his skull. Barak does not demonstrate strong faith, but many Christians can sympathize with his misgivings. We, too, can be weak and slow to act. Yet the Lord is with us, alongside us. Jesus went ahead of us to the cross and through death to everlasting life. He will lead us to the victory ground of heaven. • Lord Jesus, give us faith to believe Your promises and courage to wage our battles and win the victory You give. Amen.
JUDGES—NOTE ON Ch 5 The first lines of the poem state its theme. It is a call to praise "the LORD, the God of Israel" (v 3), who by omnipotence (v

4) raised Israel from the depths of humiliation (vv 6–9). The "triumphs of the LORD" (v 11) were achieved when the people rallied to Deborah's and Barak's call for action against the oppressor, even though some tribes failed to cooperate (vv 12–18, 22). The kings of Canaan (v 19) were swept away by the power of the Ruler of the universe (vv 19–21). Their commander suffered an ignominious death at the hands of a woman (vv 24–27), while his mother waited in vain for his return (vv 28–30). The Lord's victory demonstrated the futility of all opposition to His will.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:1 on that day. Poetic outburst of exuberant thanksgiving for Israel's deliverance. In short sentences and vivid descriptions, the poem voices spontaneous emotion. Such superb qualities suggest that it was composed by Deborah. Barak joined her in singing it just as "Moses and the people" sang his hymn of praise (Ex 15:1). It may have been preserved in such anthologies of war songs as "the Book of Jashar" (see note, Jsh 10:12–13) or "the Book of the Wars of the Lord" (see note, Nu 21:14). The text in its present form is at times difficult to translate. Apparently later copyists no longer understood some of its ancient terms and expressions.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:2 bless the LORD! See p 842.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:3 the LORD, the God of Israel. This title for God expresses that the triumph belonged to the whole nation as His people.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:4 Seir. Just as the Lord once led His people out of Sinai's wilderness, so He again arose from the desert to rescue Israel from its oppressor. See map, p 60.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:6 God worked change and victory through His chosen judges. The verse demonstrates how devastating Jabin's grip on Israel had become. Frightened travelers were forced to abandon major roads, where chariots could easily travel. Unwalled villages became easy marks for marauding Canaanites. Shamgar, son of Anath. See notes, 3:31.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:7 a mother in Israel. Though no biological children of Deborah are mentioned, she encouraged and strengthened her people.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:9 Bless the LORD. See p 842.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:10 white donkeys … carpets. Reserved for the wealthy.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:11 musicians. See ESV note. Storytellers would relate the Lord's victory. watering places … gates. Where people gathered for civil conversation. See note, 2Sm 2:13; see also p 792. righteous. See p 843.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:12 your captives. Anticipation of victory before the battle began.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:13–18 In previous episodes, each tribe was expected to regain control of its own territory. In this battle, however, help from neighboring tribes would have been welcomed, but only some tribes offered assistance. The tribes that did respond—Ephraim, Benjamin, Manasseh (Machir; cf Gn 50:23), Zebulun, Issachar, and Naphtali—were concentrated in the central and northern regions of the land most affected by the Canaanite coalition under Jabin. Reuben, Asher, Dan, and Gilead (east of the Jordan River) were situated at a distance from battle with the Canaanites, yet Deborah deplored their indecision and lack of resolve to offer help to their fellow tribes. Two tribes, Judah and Simeon, are not even mentioned since they were in the far south. Deborah's words betray a lack of unity and cohesion among the tribes, anticipating the later verdict, "Everyone did what was right in his own eyes" (21:25). See map, p 365.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:17 Gilead. Not a tribe, but a region east of the Jordan. The people there were too attached to their land to offer their help. ships. People from Dan and Asher may have worked on Canaanite or Philistine ships or docks.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:19 Taanach … Megiddo. Dominated the main pass that runs northeast through the hill country from the Plain of Sharon to the Plain of Megiddo. Megiddo was the site of numerous key battles. Cf Rv 16:16; see color map 2.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:20 Israel's victory was no mere human achievement. The skies opened and torrential rain fell, overwhelming Sisera's chariots.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:21 Kishon. This normally small river flooded.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:22 galloping, galloping. In the downpour of rain, riders panicked and the horses pulling Sisera's chariots broke rank. As the chariot wheels became stuck in the mud, the horses galloped away from their helpless drivers.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:23 Meroz. Apparently a city in one of the tribal areas that refused help. to the help of the LORD. The Creator of the universe needs no help from His creatures, yet He enlists us to labor and fight for His cause.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:24 Most blessed of women be Jael. The prose account simply recalls Jael's grisly deeds, but the poetic account begins with praise for her resourcefulness and courage.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:25 He asked water. Sisera requested the very element that had just destroyed his army. she brought him curds in a noble's bowl. Jael treated Sisera with mock obeisance. The verse is a taunt: this powerful commander of men was reduced to asking a woman for a drink of water.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:26 Sisera is not the only would-be victor to become the victim of a woman; cf 9:54.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:27 Between her feet he sank. Completely vanquished. Cf Jsh 10:24–25.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 5:28–30 Just when the reader might muster some sympathy for Sisera, the poetic account closes with a gruesome, mocking vignette featuring his mother, who waited anxiously at the window for a glimpse of his return. As she agonized over his delay, she was reassured by the women around her. Raping the defeated enemy's wives and daughters takes time! She callously depersonalized her son's imagined victims, reducing them to mere "wombs." Unknown to her, Sisera had been killed by one of these "wombs."
JUDGES—NOTE ON Ch 5 The Song of Deborah and Barak is a poetic and vivid retelling of the Lord's victory over the Canaanites, especially praising Jael's triumph over Sisera. It rightly gives God credit for the triumph, for He is the ultimate Judge and Savior. • Almighty God, we implore Your daily help in our struggle with our spiritual enemies—the devil, the world, and our sinful flesh. Forgive us our failings, and grant us victory through Jesus, Your Son and our Savior. Amen.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:1 did what was evil. See note, 2:11. Midian. Descendants of Abraham by his wife Keturah following the death of Sarah (Gn 25:1–2). Midianites are mentioned as one of the caravan traders that took Joseph as a slave into Egypt (Gn 37:28–36). Moses' wife was a Midianite (Ex 2:15–22). See map, p 120. They were quite prosperous when Israel conquered them (Nu 31:32–54); archaeologists associate the Qurayyah pottery found in northwest Arabia with the Midianites. They did not continue as a national people after the rise of the Israelite kings.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:2 dens … caves … strongholds. Dry ravines, valleys, and caves in the clefts of the mountains carved by water erosion were refuges of last resort.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:3 Normally living farther south in the Negeb (see color map 2), the Amalekites allied with the Midianites in making raids into Israelite territory. These desert dwellers would have found the fertile, well-watered Israelite lands attractive to raid.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:4–5 devour the produce. Bringing their livestock and tents with them, the raiders set up camp at strategic locations all the way to Gaza, on the Great Sea shore. See color map 1.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:5 camels. Not typical livestock of the Israelites. A single camel could carry a load of up to 400 lb, plus its rider, and travel for up to a week without water. See note, Gn 12:16.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:7 cried out. See notes, 2:18; 10:10.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:8–9 a prophet. This unnamed male prophet was a counterpart to Deborah (4:4). Using covenant language (cf Ex 20:2), the prophet reminded Israel of the blessings God had showered on Israel: freedom from slavery in Egypt and rescue to the land of Canaan.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:11 terebinth. Also known as the turpentine tree, which grows over 32 ft tall. Ophrah. Uncertain location, possibly 8 mi NW of Beth-shean. beating out. See note, Ps 1:4. Fearful and demoralized, Gideon was beating out the grain with a stick, under cover of the walls of a wine vat.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:12 angel of the LORD. See p 1227. At first, Gideon assumed he was talking only to another man. This messenger spoke as the Lord Himself. O mighty man of valor. Given the pitiful circumstances in which Gideon found himself, the angel's greeting may have seemed ironic, even sarcastic. But this greeting foreshadowed Gideon's future. Because the Lord was with him, Gideon would become a man of valor. See note, Ru 2:1.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:13 if the LORD is with us. Though outwardly polite, Gideon's response expressed skepticism and his demoralized spirit.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:14 the LORD turned. To face Gideon, who was complaining about the Lord's inaction. Go in this might of yours. Foreshadowing Gideon's future success, it is expressed, however, with sarcasm.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:15 Gideon felt not only his own inadequacy but also that of his clan. See pp 54–55. The clan was the basis of the military unit called a "thousand." See p 217.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:16 be with you. See p 5. as one man. As if they were a single man, echoing the promise to Joshua (Jsh 23:10).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:17 show me a sign. Gideon then realized he may have been speaking with more than a mere mortal. He will continue asking for signs, however, and his response to the Lord's signs demonstrates his reluctance and insecurity in answering the Lord's call.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:19 terebinth. See note, v 11. presented. Gave a sacrificial gift. Gideon's gift is lavish. Even in times of plenty, people did not eat meat every day. See p 236.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:21 fire sprang up. Evidence that the Lord accepted Gideon's gift.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:22 Gideon could see that his visitor was the Lord, and he became convinced he would die, as Moses (Ex 33:20) and Isaiah (Is 6:5) also feared.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:23 But the Lord said to him. Gideon now spoke with the Lord directly, as Abraham and Moses had done in the past. Peace. See p 7.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:24 built an altar. Cf Gn 8:20; 12:7–8; 13:18; 26:25; 35:7. Offerings were typically to be made at the tabernacle. The Lord Is Peace. Relieved that his life had been spared, Gideon expressed his newfound safety and security in the name he gave to the altar. To this day. Until c 1000 BC, when Jgs was written. See note, Jsh 4:9.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:25–26 bull … second bull. Gideon likely yoked them together to pull down the altar. seven years old. How long Midian had oppressed Israel (v 1). Baal … Asherah. See notes, Ex 34:13; Nu 25:3. Growing up in pagan surroundings, Gideon may not have known much about the Lord until this appearance. build an altar. Gideon's construction of an altar to the Lord posed a direct challenge to the community and to his father. stronghold. A community fort. For an example, see note, 9:46. burnt offering. See pp 170–71. wood of the Asherah. See note, Ex 34:13.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:27 too afraid. Gideon's immediate response showed fear rather than zeal. He removed the Baal altar at night, hoping not to incur the wrath of his community and family.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:1–27 Gideon's initial call to be a judge reveals his demoralized spirit and weak character, yet with the assurance of the Lord's presence, he makes a first assault on the Baal worship in his own community. Unchecked, sin takes an ever greater hold on individuals and entire communities. Instead of speaking God's words and promises from generation to generation, parents may leave a legacy of unbelief and false worship (cf Dt 5:9). Gideon seems an unlikely figure to become a future champion of Israel. Yet the Lord of surprising, unearned grace seeks sinners and equips them to accomplish great things. • Help us, Lord, to believe Your promises, seek Your will, and act in the courage You alone give. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:28 rose early. Dawn was a common hour for offering sacrifice. See pp 170–71.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:29 Who has done this thing? Spoken not in appreciation for Gideon's courageous act but in anger and with the intent of punishing the perpetrator. they said. The informants are not identified.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:30 Because Gideon still lived in his father's household as the youngest son of the family, the responsibility for his action lay with his father, Joash.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:31 Will you contend for Baal? Joash's question uses legal language. If Baal was such a powerful god, why would he need any human being to act in his defense? Though he does not directly defend his son, Joash seems to support his actions.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:32 Jerubbaal. Ironic nickname. Joash put the name positively: Gideon had challenged Baal by tearing down the altar devoted to him. Yet Gideon never fully renounced his loyalty to Baal; cf 8:27, 33.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:33 Jezreel. The invading armies, sweeping from the east, crossed the Jordan at this spot, where rich farmland was clearly visible. See color map 2.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:34 clothed. Descriptive expression for how the Holy Spirit surrounded Gideon with divine protection for his assignment. In vv 36–40, Gideon used an article of clothing to discern the Lord's will. In 8:27, he formed an article of clothing that became the object of idolatrous worship.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:35 Gideon's summons for help went out to the northernmost tribes clustered around the Sea of Chinnereth. See map, p 365.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:28–35 Gideon's act of tearing down the Baal altar arouses antagonism. He receives an outpouring of the Holy Spirit to empower him for battle and win the support of neighboring Israelite tribes.

As Gideon is clothed by the Lord, so the Holy Spirit clothes us with the righteousness of Christ Jesus. Through Baptism, we live here in safety and will stand bold "on the great day of God the Almighty" (Rv 16:14). • "Jesus, Thy blood and righteousness My beauty are, my glorious dress; Midst flaming worlds, in these arrayed, With joy shall I lift up my head." Amen. (LSB 563:1)

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:36–37 At best, Gideon's challenge is a weakness of faith, maybe even outright unbelief (cf Dt 6:16). Gideon did not need these signs to ascertain the will of God; the Lord had clearly revealed His will (v 14). Gideon sought signs because he wanted a demonstration that the Lord had the power and the willingness to keep His promises. The Lord is patient with him.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:37 fleece. Blanket of wool shorn in one piece from a sheep.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:38 dew. Sign of God's blessing; dew sustained life in a dry climate (cf Gn 27:28; Dt 33:28). Through the summer months, there is little or no rain in Israel, but the appearance of the morning dew is the guarantee of moisture on crops. See calendar, p 262.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:39 dry on the fleece only. The second sign would go against nature, since the wool fleece would ordinarily absorb moisture. Luth: "In all his promises, moreover, in addition to the word, God has usually given a sign, for the greater assurance and strengthening of our faith. Thus he gave Noah the sign of the rainbow. To Abraham he gave circumcision as a sign. To Gideon he gave the rain on the ground and on the fleece. So we constantly find in the Scriptures many of these signs, given along with the promises" (AE 35:86).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 6:36–40 Despite a clear revelation of the Lord's will, Gideon twice puts the Lord to a test, hoping to gain certainty for his faltering faith. Jesus said that an evil and adulterous generation looks for a sign (Mt 12:39). But when the Lord wishes to give us a sign, we are arrogant to reject it (cf Is 7:10–14). The Lord is patient with us and merciful through His Son. • Almighty God, send us Your Holy Spirit, that through Your Holy Word our faith may be built up and strengthened. Help us realize that in the Word alone we find the Good News of salvation, through Jesus Christ. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:1 spring of Harod. Located at the foot of Mount Gilboa. See color map 2. The Israelite army was barely 10 mi from the camp of the Midianite forces. hill of Moreh. "Teacher's" Hill.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:2 too many. After reassuring Gideon with a pair of signs, the Lord then severely weakened Gideon's military power. These two apparently contradictory actions have the common goal of leading Gideon to place his trust in the Lord, not in himself or his troops. lest Israel boast. If given an unexpected victory, the fearful may turn overconfident and arrogant.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:3 Though 32,000 had answered Gideon's call to fight, their morale was low. According to Dt 20:8, a man was exempted from military service if he was fearful of battle and would demoralize other soldiers. With the loss of more than two-thirds of their army, Gideon's troops were outnumbered by more than 13 to 1.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:4 test. To "sift" or "purify," as is done in purifying metals. See note, Mal 3:3.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:5 laps … as a dog laps. Unclear. Apparently scooping the water to their faces as a dog scoops water with its tongue. Some have suggested that "lapping" the water in this manner indicated that these soldiers were more alert and ready for battle. The vast majority of the others—9,700 of the 10,000—went down on their hands and knees and would then, presumably, be slower to react.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:6 lapped … hands to their mouths. Possibly to keep their heads raised in alertness (see note, v 5). (In contrast, Josephus wrote that the 300 the Lord selected were the least fit for battle, so that it would be obvious that this victory was the Lord's doing [Ant 5:217].) At any rate, the lapping was the Lord's mechanism to reduce Gideon's army to a ridiculously small number: Gideon was now outnumbered 450 to 1!
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:7–8 I will save you. Gideon's only hope now was to trust in God's promise. let all the others go. The very assurance Gideon hoped to gain with his two requests for a sign—that the battle would be successful—was now taken away by the Lord as He drastically reduced the size of Gideon's army. home
… tent. The men removed to camp or even their home territory.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:9–11 Gideon's hesitancy continued. The Lord provided still another sign by what Gideon would hear in the Midianite camp. Purah your servant. Detail from a secretive event. Purah may have been Gideon's armor-bearer, who kept company with the nervous leader.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:13 a cake of barley bread. Probably a griddle cake. Barley was considered an inferior grain (2Ki 7:1). This lesser grain symbolized the inferiority of Israel's troops and the lack of courage of Israel's leader.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:14 no other than … Gideon. The Lord provided an interpreter for the ambiguous dream so that Gideon could not mistake the meaning.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:15 worshiped. Bowed down. Gideon finally took courage.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:16 trumpets. Made of animals' horns, usually rams, for Israel's soldiers to signal one another. Cf Jsh 6:6; see p 973.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:17–18 Gideon's battle plan seemed crazy but was actually brilliant. For this night attack, swords would be an unnecessary encumbrance. Instead, trumpet blasts and the glare of torch lights would create mayhem in the Midianite camp.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:1–18 After his army is reduced to a frighteningly low number, Gideon gains confidence when he overhears a dream in the Midianite camp. Gideon then devises a clever plan to create confusion. We are tempted to criticize Gideon's lack of decisiveness, but we, too, need repeated assurance that God will keep His promises. • Lord, help us leave our sinful mistakes behind us so we may look ahead with the confidence only You can give. Amen.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:19 the middle watch … they had just set the watch. Between 10 p.m. and 2 a.m. (Israelites at this time divided the watches into three shifts of four hours each; see p 1567); the darkness and the changing of the guard could confuse the enemy. Soldiers coming on watch would still be adjusting their eyes and ears to the darkness.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:20 A sword for the LORD and for Gideon! Delightful irony! Gideon and his troops won the victory without ever wielding their swords.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:21 stood. As the Israelite warriors stood their ground, Midianite troops tried frantically to escape. ran … cried out … fled. Natural response of people roused from deep sleep—highly effective psychological warfare.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:22 They probably fled across the Jordan River toward the mountains of eastern Gilead. Zererah. See ESV note. May be modern-day Tell el-Sa'idiyah, on the Jabbok River, east of the Jordan. Abel- meholah. On the western side of the Jordan River, c 12 mi S of Beth-shean. See map, p 581.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:23 The men who returned to their tents (v 8) then came out in pursuit.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:24 as far as Beth-barah, and also the Jordan. West and a bit south of where the Jabbok meets the Jordan, a considerable distance downriver from the Midianite camp.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:25 they brought the heads. Heads, hands, or even foreskins were brought back from campaigns, not only to facilitate a body count, but also to indicate complete defeat of the enemy. See note, 1Sm 18:25.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 7:19–25 In the same way the Lord fought for Gideon, so He also fights for us against seemingly insurmountable odds. He overcame our greatest enemy in the most improbable way: the sacrifice of Jesus on the cross. • Almighty God, Lord of hosts, encourage us with the assurance that You are with us always and that with You at our side, we never need fear. In the Savior's name we pray. Amen.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:1 The tribe of Ephraim was as proud as it was powerful, resentful that Gideon had not enlisted soldiers from its ranks to assist in what had become a great victory. See note, 12:1.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:2–3 gleaning of the grapes. Leftovers from the harvest, what was dropped or discarded. Ephraim better than … Abiezer? "A soft answer turns away wrath" (Pr 15:1). Gideon's question sounds like a compliment to Ephraim and a humbling of his tribe, Abiezer (6:11). The Ephraimites walked away satisfied, but they also exposed their vanity for sly ridicule by Gideon's troops. God has given … Oreb and Zeeb. Gideon was a persuasive diplomat, highlighting and complimenting the men of Ephraim's greatest achievement in the conflict and making them God's choice for this victory.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:4–9 Gideon sought support for his most loyal men and was turned away. Succoth and Penuel, east of the Jordan, were close to the territory of the Midianite and Amalekite soldiers who fled. This may explain why these Israelites refused to help, since they would fear revenge.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:5–6 Succoth. Along the Jabbok River, c 32 mi from the original battle site, identified today usually as Tell Deir Alla. See color map 1. loaves …
exhausted. Though Gideon's request seems reasonable and respectful, the princes of Succoth responded sarcastically. The leaders at Succoth did not have confidence in Gideon's ability to complete this victory.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:7 I will flail your flesh. Instead of gentle diplomacy, Gideon met disloyalty and treason with threats.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:8 Penuel. Where centuries before, Jacob had wrestled with God. The men here also denied Gideon support. See color map 1.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:9 I will break down this tower. Apparently, Penuel's pride was its fortress tower. Gideon's mission had now become a personal campaign for recognition and retribution, and he would use Israel's troops for revenge.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:10–12 Gideon's anger toward Succoth and Penuel took second place to his mission of crushing the Midianites.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:10 Karkor. Oasis beyond the borders of Canaan and likely in the territory of Ammon, over 100 mi from Succoth and Penuel. 15,000 men … 120,000 men. The Midianite army had been greatly reduced. The dead Midianites are ironically described as those "who drew the sword," which they could no longer do. See note, 7:20.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:11 tent dwellers. Families living like today's Bedouin. felt secure. They weren't expecting an attack in their own region.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:14 wrote down. Incidental detail demonstrates that writing was a common skill. See pp 1081–83. Canaanites were among the first people to move beyond picture writing to an alphabet with fewer than 30 characters. See p 345.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:15 you taunted me. Total victory did not soften Gideon's personality. His greatest opposition came not from the enemy but from those who were supposedly his allies. See note, vv 4–9.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:16–17 taught … a lesson. Polite description of a likely deadly act. Cf v 7. killed the men of the city. Gideon's character was transformed—but this time, not for the better. He learned zeal but not mercy.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:18 killed at Tabor? Along the Zebulun-Issachar border, on or near Mount Tabor. This incident is not recorded. See color map 1. As you are … resembled the son of a king. Ambiguous attempt at flattery.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:19 my brothers. Gideon's interest in the men of Tabor became clear. The Midianites had killed his brothers, and he suspected Zebah and Zalmunna were personally responsible for their deaths. Some military historians suggest that the brothers were deployed near Tabor to block the advance of the Midianites. the sons of my mother. In a polygamous time, it would not always have been obvious that they were full brothers. I would not kill you. Seems rhetorical given what Gideon did to his fellow Israelites at Succoth and Penuel (vv 16–17).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:20 young man. Gideon's command to Jether added to his insult against the Midianite kings, but it put the boy in a difficult position. If he disobeyed his father, he would have appeared rebellious and unmanly. If he complied with his father's demand, he would have become an accomplice in his father's vengeance. He also may have hesitated because of his low status or rank, which did not accord him the honor of slaying a king.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:21 Rise yourself. Seems mocking. The Midianite kings are defiant to the end. crescent ornaments. Probably moon amulets to ward off evil spirits.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:1–21 In pursuit of the Midianites, Gideon acts magnanimously toward the Ephraimites jealous of his victory, but bitterly toward other countrymen. A desire for personal gain, recognition, or revenge can also cloud the actions of God's people today, though our actions may seldom be as physically cruel as Gideon's. Such vengeance arises from the sinful flesh. However, battle against spiritual enemies is proper. Fight the good fight of faith; our warfare is not against flesh and blood but against the enemies of the Savior (Eph 6:12). He has won the victory, which is ours through faith. • Lord of hosts, strengthen us to fight the good fight of faith. In our Savior's name we pray. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:22 men of Israel. A delegation, perhaps representing only the 300 (v 4), or only those northern tribes most affected by the Midianite oppression. Rule. There is no mention of the Israelites praising God for this improbable victory. Instead, they turn to the human agent of victory. This is the first record of Israel asking for a king (cf Dt 17:14–15). Cf 1Sm 8.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:23 the LORD will rule over you. Theocracy (God's rule over His people) is an important theme from Ex to 1Sm. Though Gideon's reply sounds like a pious refusal of kingship, his previous and subsequent behavior betray his bartering for leadership. (See note, v 31.)

Gideon's response magnifies his humility yet still secures his power. See the barter process in Gn 23:12–16.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:24 Ishmaelites. These people of the east were descended from Ishmael and thus were related to Midian (see note, 6:1) and were sometimes associated with them. They apparently had the custom of wearing earrings, which may have distinguished them from the Israelites. See note, Ex 21:6.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:25 cloak. Commonly used for carrying things, slung over the back.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:26 1,700 shekels of gold. Depending on the weight of the shekel used, this was 40–75 lb of gold. See p cx. This wealth ensured Gideon's position as a ruler. Such rich spoil would also have strengthened the northern tribes. pendants. Drop-shaped decorations such as earrings.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:27 ephod. An article of clothing. Ordinarily, the God-approved upper garment made of linen, which the priest wore in performance of religious duties. Gideon's ephod must have been heavily laden with gold thread and ornamentation, and it may have been formed in the shape of a statue. See note, 6:34. And all Israel whored after it. Israel's lapse into idolatry is described with an indelicate term. God's people were guilty of horrific unfaithfulness to Him. Chem: "Gideon out of good intention made an ephod out of the booty of the Midianites, which brought his own house into ruins. On the basis of this the worship of Baal and other gods flourished among them, although Gideon had established it on the excuse that the people were really desiring to serve the true God" (LTh 2:576). See notes, 2:17; Hos 1:2; 4:13. a snare to Gideon and to his family. Gideon's actions might be construed as misplaced piety. Luth: "How strange was the fall of that wondrous man Gideon. … Let everyone see to it that he is certain his worship and service of God has been instituted by God's word, and not invented by pious notions or good intentions" (AE 35:271, 273).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:28 The Midianites never again asserted themselves as a great nation or power, but their importance as traders continued. See note, 6:1.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:22–28 Gideon's apparently pious refusal of kingship masks a heart already sold to monarchy. His request for gold from his supporters allows him to make an idol that leads Israel into idolatry. Even the lowliest person may have the heart of a tyrant. With fame, popularity, power, and material success comes the danger that one's heart may be turned away from the Savior. Yet the God of persistent grace continues to work on our stubborn hearts. • Lord, let us never fall victim to our own wishes or devices, but keep us humble, as was Jesus, who took on the form of a servant and became obedient to death on a cross to forgive our pride. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:29 Jerubbaal. Gideon (cf v 35).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:30 seventy sons. Multiples of seven typically symbolized completeness (see p 217). In a polygamous society, a powerful man like Gideon could well have had numerous wives and concubines and a large number of children. Abdon also had 40 sons and 30 grandsons (12:14).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:31 concubine. See pp 54–55. Shechem. Important city for the tribe of Manasseh. See color map 1. Its population was composed of both Israelites and Canaanites, a significant detail as the story in ch 9 unfolds. Abimelech. "My father is king." Name makes Gideon's feelings about kingship clear. See note, v 23.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:32 a good old age. Used elsewhere of Abraham (Gn 15:15) and David (1Ch 29:28). tomb. Cave or rock-hewn chamber owned by the family. After a corpse decomposed, bones were often moved to make room for another corpse.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:33 As soon as Gideon died. Gideon instilled no lasting change in the hearts of his people. whored. See note, v 27. Baal-berith. "Lord of the covenant." The Israelites made a covenant with the lord Baal, but Baal was not the Lord who had made a covenant with them. Though Gideon was not directly responsible for their return to the Baals, his ephod encouraged idolatry and superstition. See note, Nu 25:3.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:35 steadfast love. See p 843. all the good. Celebrates Gideon's leadership, which could have done the people more good if loyalties had endured. However, the chaotic condition left by Gideon's polygamy and idolatry was directly responsible for the disturbing events with his son Abimelech (ch 9).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 8:29–35 Despite military success, prestige, and wealth, Gideon's judgeship brings Israel little lasting good. One of his many sons will now seek to gain the crown Gideon ceremoniously rejected. Career accomplishments and material wealth may be overshadowed by foolish choices and unrestrained ambition. What matters is not what people think about us but what God has declared about us. Christ's forgiveness pardons even the worst of our failures, and we become new creatures, eager to do good. • "Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me" (Ps 51:10). Then I will serve Your people with true honor and humility. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON Ch 9 Abimelech's story illustrates a tragically flawed attempt at kingship during the judges era. He acted willfully throughout. The lack of tribal designations in ch 9 probably reflects the weak association these people had with Israel. Archaeology confirms that Israelites and Canaanites lived alongside one another for centuries at Shechem.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:1 Abimelech. See note, 8:31. This oppressor of Israel was half-Israelite, half-Canaanite. Shechem. See note, 8:31.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:2 Abimelech must have felt monarchy was inevitable and that the people's only choice concerned who their monarch would be.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:4 seventy pieces of silver out of the house of Baal-berith. Cf 8:33. Ancient temples also served as depositories for personal and government money. See note, 1Ch 26:20–28. worthless and reckless fellows. The Israelite majority were greatly influenced by Canaanite religion and culture.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:5 brothers … seventy men. Cf 8:30. on one stone. He killed his brothers in a ritual execution.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:6 Beth-millo. "House of filling-in," referring to earthen fill or rubble used to build a platform for walls and other structures. See note, v 46. made Abimelech king. Probably a local ruler for the people around Shechem. However, see note, v 22. pillar. A large stone ("stela") set up as a monument (cf Is 29:3, where the term is used in a military context).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:7 God may listen to you. Jotham hoped to persuade people that Abimelech was a poor choice to be their king. If they would reject Abimelech, God would answer their prayers. Jotham spoke as a prophet might speak, but he is never called a prophet.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:8–15 Jotham's parable features plants that can speak, representing various rulers; first parable recorded in Scripture. See p 1609. Jotham's story did not oppose kingship but rejected Abimelech as king. The olive tree, fig tree, and vine all produced abundant food in the land, but the bramble was worthless and its thorns were harmful. The parable also voiced a warning to the Shechemites. If they had not made their choice in good faith, and if their choice did not give proper recognition to Abimelech's father and his family, the "bramble" would stir a fire that would devour their beautiful "cedars."

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:16 good faith and integrity. Jotham's conclusion is sarcastic. Because neither Abimelech nor the Shechemites had acted in good faith and integrity, they could each rejoice in the other.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:18 female servant. Concubine. See pp 54–55.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:20 let fire come out. A curse, anticipating that the conspirators would destroy one another. See "curse," p 6.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:21 Beer. Most likely in Moab. See ESV note, Nu 21:16.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:1–21 Abimelech, Gideon's illegitimate son, brutally murders his 70 brothers and has himself appointed king in Shechem. One brother, however, manages to escape and in a parable warns that Abimelech is unworthy of the office. Today, the Lord calls us to act with integrity when we choose our leaders or when we speak up against them. Through God's Word we learn genuine integrity, which the Holy Spirit produces in sinners through the Word of Christ, our Savior. • Heavenly Father, forgive our lack of integrity and failure to follow Your Word. Make us bold to speak the truth with integrity from You. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:22 ruled. During his three years as ruler in the central region of Israel, Abimelech exploited Israel and did not rule for people's benefit.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:23 God sent an evil spirit. The Lord allows Satan and his evil angels to inspire an attitude of distrust and bitterness. See note, 1Ki 22:20–22. the leaders of Shechem dealt treacherously. The Shechemites' true character became obvious. Their unhappiness with Abimelech may have arisen because Abimelech did not reside in their city (cf v 26; 41), and they had not benefited from his kingship.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:25 ambush against him on the mountaintops. Shechem lay on the most important trade route through the central hill country of Canaan, where most Israelites dwelt. People expected a king to collect taxes from passing merchants and in return provide the merchants safe travel. The robbers stole Abimelech's profit and his reputation.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:26 Gaal. Another character entered the drama and won the confidence of the disgruntled Shechemites. Just as they had conspired with Abimelech against their rightful rulers, so they conspired with Gaal against Abimelech.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:27 gathered the grapes. Harvested in Aug and Sept. See calendar, p 262. held a festival. Harvest festivals could disintegrate into debauchery, particularly when devoted to pagan gods. house of their god. Cf 8:33. Temples were equipped with kitchens and banquet halls. See notes, 1Sm 9:22, 24. reviled Abimelech. As today, people enjoyed complaining about their government.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:28 son of Jerubbaal. Baal worshipers complained about Abimelech, whose father, Gideon, had torn down Baal's altar (6:25–32) and reestablished worship of Yahweh. Hamor. Canaanite prince (Hivite; see p 345) who founded Shechem (Gn 33:19).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:29 under my hand! Similar to the later would-be king Absalom, who stole the hearts of the people (cf 2Sm 15–18).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:30–31 In Shechem, Zebul was angered by Gaal's insurrection and, true to his loyalties, warned Abimelech.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:32–33 ambush. Zebul proposed that Abimelech's men attack the hungover followers of Gaal (cf v 27) at sunrise.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:34 four companies. Four smaller segments instead of one large mass of troops would decrease the chance of detection and cause the attack to come from several directions.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:36 Zebul could be treacherous, as his misinformation shows.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:37 Diviners' Oak. Large trees served as gathering points and as places of superstitious devotion. A diviner used interpretive methods to discern the will of the gods (e.g., reading signs in nature). See note, 1Sm 15:23. Gaal's vision was likely distorted from the previous night's revelry (cf v 27).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:38 Where is your mouth now. In panic, he ceased to be mouthy and boastful.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:40 fell … up to the entrance. Disastrous retreat to the city.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:41 lived. Lit, "sat down." Arumah. Abimelech's encampment. Zebul pressed the engagement. Shechem. See color map 1.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:42–43 Not satisfied with Gaal's defeat, Abimelech attacked the unsuspecting Shechemites on their way out to their fields, because they had supported his enemy. Jotham's parable (v 15) had come true: the "bramble" had brought "fire" to the city.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:44–45 Abimelech's attack blocked the people's retreat to safety. sowed it with salt. Plants could not grow in salt, so the land became an unproductive wilderness. The Romans did this to Carthage in 146 BC.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:46 leaders. Lit, "lords," the aristocrats of Shechem (cf v 6). Tower. Taller fortress outside the city wall. Perhaps the "millo" (v 6). This tower may have been the Baal-berith temple (v 4). Communities built special fortifications because city walls could easily be breached. Such towers were squat-shaped piles of stone and debris (not the tall, hollow spires of later architecture). Archaeologists discovered a square base of unworked stones for such a tower at Giloh. El-berith. Lit, "god of the covenant." Previously called Baal-berith (8:33; 9:4). Hbr 'el could be used interchangeably with baal, "lord."
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:48 Mount Zalmon … brushwood. The high ground was still wooded. See note, Jsh 17:15.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:49 set the stronghold on fire. The heat may have expanded the stones of the tower, causing them to burst or fall from the wall. Smoke would have smothered the people.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:50 Thebez. Usually identified as modern Tubas, 9 mi NE of Shechem, though recent scholarship suggests Tell el-Farah, 6 mi from Shechem. See Shechem on color map 1.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:51 Apparently the town was loyal to Gaal. strong tower. Probably located along the city's edge, perhaps even constructed on the city wall. From the tower, defenders could deploy rocks, arrows, spears, or boiling water or oil on attackers below. Cf Pr 18:10.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:52 Same strategy as in vv 48–49, but against a better fortress ("strong," v 51).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:53 upper millstone. The "rider" stone rolled along a track carved in a larger lower stone. Descriptions of its size and shape vary: perhaps 1–1½ ft wide, 3–5 in thick, either circular or loaf-shaped. It was small enough to be used by one person. Milling grain was woman's work. See note, Jb 31:10.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:54 armor-bearer. A warrior's apprentice, who maintained and bore the equipment. lest they say. Proud to the end, Abimelech tried to make the circumstances of his death appear more heroic. 3,200 years later, readers still learn that Abimelech was killed by a woman. Cf 5:26.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:55 men of Israel. See note, 8:22.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:56 Thus God returned the evil of Abimelech. He who by a stone once overcame (v 18) was likewise by a stone overcome (v 53). God avenged the blood of His servant Gideon. See note, 1Ki 2:31.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:57 Jotham's curse was fulfilled about the people of Shechem just as it was about Abimelech. See note, vv 8–15.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 9:22–57 The first attempt at kingship in Israel fails miserably, not because monarchy is an unacceptable form of government but because Abimelech is an unworthy candidate. How frequently rulers exploit people rather than seeing leadership as an opportunity for service! Luther once said that a wise prince was a rare bird; every form of government requires leaders of integrity. How different a leader is our Lord Jesus, who maintained His integrity. Rather than exploit us, He sacrificed Himself for us. • Lord God, ruler of the nations, bless our land with wise and godly leaders. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 10:1–5 save. No foreign oppressor is mentioned, nor is any description offered of how Tola and Jair discharged their duties. They may have been military leaders or judicial arbiters. The good news is they served Israel rather than spending their energies on personal vengeance. Tola. Second of the so-called "minor" judges. Shamir. West of Shechem. Centuries later, King Omri chose Shamir as the site for his capital and called it Samaria. Cf 1Ki 16:23–24. See color map 1.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 10:4 thirty donkeys. Israelites did not ride horses or have chariots at this time. See note, Jsh 11:4. Hbr features a clever wordplay, which could be rendered: "He had thirty boys who rode thirty burros and owned thirty boroughs" (New Jewish Version). Havvoth-jair. "Tent villages of Jair," east of the Jordan, south of the Sea of Chinnereth.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 10:5 Kamon. Probably Qamm in modern Jordan.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 10:1–5 Following the discredited kingship of Abimelech, the Lord provides rescue and safety through two "minor" judges (see note, v 6). Even good judges like Jair are affected by the sins of the culture—polygamy and a thirst for wealth. How blind we may be to the besetting sins of our culture! God's grace stepped into our world in the person of Jesus, who rode a donkey in humility so that He might teach and serve the people. • We praise You, O Lord, for the many blessings we enjoy through men and women who remain little known to us. We rejoice in the way Your Word focuses on the One we need to know most: Jesus. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 10:6 again did what was evil. See note, 2:11. Suggests that Tola and Jair may have helped restore or sustain Israel's devotion to the Lord. Unfortunately, the spiritual influence of Tola and Jair did not extend beyond their lives. Though the Ten Commandments call for complete loyalty to the Lord, Israel sank deeper into polytheism and religious syncretism. served. Worshiped. The number of false gods increased in Israel. Perhaps the 45 years of leadership under Tola and Jair allowed increased trade, exposing the people to new peoples and religions. Baals and the Ashtaroth. Canaanite deities. See notes, Ex 34:13; Nu 25:3. gods of Syria. See note, 2Ch 28:23. gods of Sidon. Principally their version of Ashtaroth. gods of Moab. Cf 1Ki 11:33. gods of the Ammonites. Cf Lv 18:21. gods of the Philistines. Cf 16:23. The writer lists seven groups of deities. Vv 11–12 list seven nations from whom the Lord delivered Israel. forsook … did not serve Him. People commonly multiplied the number of gods they worshiped, seeking greater favor by every means. E.g., an inscription from Kutillet 'Ajrud pairs Yahweh, the God of Israel, with Asherah, a Canaanite goddess.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 10:7 anger … kindled. See note, 2:12. sold. See note, 2Ki 17:17. Religious apostasy and political degeneration went hand in hand. Philistines. One of the many Sea Peoples who infiltrated Canaan from the west and southwest during the second half of the second millennium BC. Ammonites. See note, 3:13. As Israelites sought out false gods on all sides, the Lord sent oppressors from all sides.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 10:10 cried out. See note, 2:18. The method for approaching the Lord is not specifically described but is characteristic of "inquiring of the Lord" by speaking with a priest or the high priest at the tabernacle (cf 20:27–28; see "call," p 842). The tabernacle and the priesthood are explicitly featured in Jgs until the last story (chs 17–21), which heightens the sense of lawlessness and false religion throughout the Book. Chs 17–21 illustrate that even the priests and Levites were falling away until the Lord called the nation to repentance, which is the dominant theological theme of the Book. Baals. See note, Nu 25:3.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 10:11–12 the LORD said. We are not told where, how, or through whom the Lord revealed this message, but it appears not to have been through the angel of the Lord (cf 2:1–3) or through a prophet (cf 6:8–10). Did I not save you. The past three centuries had been filled with instances in which the Lord rescued His people from their oppressors. Egyptians … Maonites. Cf v 6 list.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 10:13 I will save you no more. Even divine patience can be exhausted. Cf Gn 15:16.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 10:15 We have sinned. In response to their great spiritual distress (v 10) and the Lord's withering sarcasm (v 14), Israel's remorse seems genuine. do to us. In their answer, they seem willing to accept whatever disciplinary pain the Lord deemed suitable for their spiritual correction.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 10:16 they put away the foreign gods. The people appealed to God only when circumstances became truly dire. Yet the repentance here may be genuine. The Lord responds to them by sending Jephthah (chs 11–12).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 10:17 Gilead. Southeast of the Sea of Chinnereth. See color map 2. Ammonites hoped to follow their initial success (vv 7–9) with a second campaign against Israel. Mizpah. "Watchpost." OT mentions several Mizpahs in this general area, and it is uncertain which Mizpah is meant. Mizpah in Gilead offered a rallying place that may have best served this purpose.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 10:18 Who … will begin to fight against. Israel rallied not to muster troops but to address their lack of leadership.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 10:6–18 Israel's spiritual well-being deteriorates after the death of Tola and Jair. During oppression from the Ammonites, Israel is left to beg for a leader to repulse this latest threat. Spiritual gullibility leads people to believe anything that suits their desires. God is remarkable in His persistent mercy and in His willingness to begin anew with us. • All that was written in the Scripture was written to teach us. Enable us to learn and grow, dear Jesus. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:1 a mighty warrior. Lit, "a mighty one of power." A man who possessed bravery and military means to accomplish great things. son of a prostitute. Circumstances of Jephthah's birth made him socially disadvantaged, since he likely had no father to care for him. See note, v 7; see also pp 54–55. As Israel's spiritual condition continued to spiral downward, the men selected by the Lord to become judges possessed fewer ideal qualities.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:2 wife's sons. Legal heirs. See note, v 7.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:3 the land of Tob. Volcanic highlands east of Bashan, north of Gilead. See color map 2. worthless fellows. Opportunists who were distressed, discontented, in debt, or outcasts found in Jephthah a man of similar circumstances.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:4 Ammonites. See note, 10:17.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:5–6 elders. See note, Ex 3:16. See also p 228.Come and be our leader. Village elders could offer leadership during times of peace and would normally disdain people like Jephthah. But the Ammonite threat made them desperate. leader. A military commander.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:7 hate me and drive me out of my father's house? Elders served as judges in a community (see p 792). Jephthah had a grudge against their judgment. Whether rightly or wrongly, he lost his inheritance due to their decisions. One or more of the elders could have been Jephthah's brothers (cf v 2). Why … me now. Jephthah's rhetorical questions demonstrate his shrewd negotiating ability. He took advantage of the elders' desperation to negotiate an agreement more favorable to himself.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:8 head. Elders sweetened their offer, adding more comprehensive leadership.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:9 bring me home. See note, v 7. the LORD gives them over to me. While not reluctant to advance his own position, Jephthah commendably ascribed ultimate victory to the Lord.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:10 The LORD will be witness. Elders are making a covenant (see p 127). Jephthah will recount Israel's history to the Ammonite messengers in covenant format. See note, vv 14–27.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:11 the people made him head. By public rite. head and leader. Jephthah received the level of leadership he had negotiated (v 8; see p 228). before the LORD at Mizpah. Jephthah took an oath at the same place as did Jacob (Gn 31:48–54).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:12 Jephthah sent messengers. The only instance in Jgs of an effort at diplomacy before the exercising of a military option. against my land? Jephthah claimed that land east of the Jordan rightfully belonged to Israel and to him (see notes, vv 2, 7).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:13 The Ammonite king countered that the land east of the Jordan was Ammon's possession, not Israel's, because the Ammonites had a more ancient claim to it.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:14–27 Jephthah's reply reveals a remarkable knowledge of history and of the Lord's covenant with Israel. The Ammonites' charge against Israel rings hollow; Ammon was living on land the Moabites could claim legitimately. Jephthah recounts how Israel had first sought permission to pass through the historic territories of the Edomites, Moabites, and Amorites, but were not granted it. Permission denied, Israel took the longer route around Moab and established camp beyond Moabite territory. Jephthah refers only to those facts that strengthen his claim. He implies that though Israel had respected Moabite boundaries, other local peoples (the generalized term "Amorites") must have violated those boundaries in order to have come into possession of this area.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:23 the Lord … dispossessed the Amorites. "To the victors belong the spoils"; thus neighboring peoples understood that if Israel was victorious in battle, it had legitimate claim to the land.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:24 Chemosh. The god of the Moabites; the god of the Ammonites was Milcom/Molech (see note, Lv 18:21). Jephthah did not acknowledge the existence of other gods, but was making a legal claim on terms the Ammonites would be forced to concede.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:25 Balak. Though Moab had more legitimate claims to the land than Ammon, Balak, the king of Moab, never made such a claim.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:26 Heshbon … Aroer … villages … cities. Land formerly belonging to Moab. See map, p 250. 300 years. Since the Israelites had been living there for three centuries with no counter claim from Moab or Ammon, what claim did the king of Ammon think he had on those lands now? Jephthah's round figure corroborates the understanding that the judges period lasted c 350 years, and supports the reference in 1Ki 6:1 that the time period from the exodus to the 40-year reign of Solomon was 480 years. See pp 338–40.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:27 The Lord , the Judge. Whatever "legitimacy" he appeared to grant to the gods of Moab and Ammon, Jephthah confessed that the Lord was the God who would settle this dispute—if not through Jephthah's diplomacy, then through military victory.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:28 The Ammonite king's refusal to listen set the stage for Jephthah's military victory, which also became the occasion for one of the most well known and controversial events in the Book.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:1–28 Despite his outcast status, Jephthah is selected to lead the Israelite armies against the Ammonites. He argues that Israel has proper claim to the lands east of the Jordan after living there three centuries. God's people today, too, have a homeland that the Lord has appointed: the promised land of the new creation. Christians may appear an unimportant minority on earth, with no particular claim to power, and losing influence as society becomes more and more secular. Yet God still guides the affairs of the world in the interest of His people. • Lord God, ruler over the nations, encourage us when we seem to be surrounded and overwhelmed by an ungodly world. Prepare us for our eternal homeland, which we will enter when Jesus returns. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:29 Spirit of the LORD was upon Jephthah. See note, 3:10. The Lord's Spirit made Jephthah bold to pursue the Ammonites in battle but did not prevent him from making an impulsive decision (v 30).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:30 Jephthah made a vow. Common practice among the Israelites; once made, it was not to be broken (see note, Nu 30:2; cf Dt 23:21–23). Whether as a calculated risk or with reckless abandon, Jephthah must have sought additional assurance of the Lord's blessing. Could a man who knew the Law of the Lord as well as Jephthah appears to have known it (cf vv 14–27) have been ignorant of the Lord's opposition to human sacrifice? As a social outcast and the son of a prostitute, Jephthah may have assimilated heathen beliefs and practices.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:31 whatever comes out. Rash vow, which can only lead to trouble. Throughout the passage, the pronouns are masculine, indicating that Jephthah did not expect it to be his daughter. shall be the LORD 's, and I will offer it up. Some Hbr grammarians translate "and" as "or." Jephthah's wording may suggest a different course of action if met by a person or by an animal. See notes, vv 37, 39. burnt offering. See pp 170–71.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:33 Aroer. Near the Arnon River; marks the southern edge of the territory Ammon had invaded. Minnith. Location unknown. Abel-keramim. C 12 mi from Rabbah, the Ammonite capital.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:35 tore his clothes. See note, Jb 1:20. very low … great trouble. Men go to war to protect their wives and children, not to put them in harm's way. But in this case, his victory tore apart his family. vow. Cf vv 30–31.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:36 His daughter's gentle spirit and willing submission is extraordinary, like that of Mary (Lk 1:38).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:37 two months. Possessing greater presence of mind than did her father, she requested an extended time to bewail her fate with her female friends. weep for my virginity. It seems unusual that she would bewail her virginity rather than her impending death. Because she was his only child, his family line would be cut off with her death. It is possible that he offered her or dedicated her to perpetual service at the tabernacle, such that she could not marry. Cf 1Sm 2:22; see also p 389.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:39 according to his vow. Cf vv 30–31. Jewish commentators, first-century historian Flavius Josephus, and Christian Church Fathers believed that Jephthah did indeed offer his daughter as a burnt offering. In other biblical texts, there were methods of substitution (e.g., the Lord accepted a ram caught in a thicket as a substitute for Isaac; Gn 22:13). The firstborn of every womb, spared by the Lord when He passed over Israelite homes in Egypt, belonged to the Lord but could be redeemed by the Levites, who were assigned to lifetime service (Ex 13:1–2; Nu 3:11–13).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:40 lament … four days. Though heartfelt and sorrowful at the time, this observance apparently did not endure.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 11:29–40 Jephthah's carefully crafted speech and military victory over the Ammonites are overshadowed by his rash vow to sacrifice the first thing that comes out to him from his doorway—which turns out to be his only child. Beware the foolishness of making vows or swearing in frivolous or uncertain situations. We can be thankful that Jesus offered Himself as payment for all our thoughtless words and foolish actions. • Forgive us, O Lord, for the thoughtless and foolish words that we speak. Guide us to speak the truth of Your Word in love. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 12:1 did not call us. Ephraim, in its arrogance, chafed because it wanted leadership of the region and a share in the booty. Luth: "The sons of Ephraim were always prouder than the rest, for they had been adopted by Jacob and preferred to Manasseh, and they had been born of Joseph, a patriarch exalted above the others. Therefore they had grown haughty because of such privileges, as they were also proudly puffed up in opposition to Gideon and Jephthah" (AE 11:40).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 12:2 Ephraim wanted to share in the credit for victory after the fighting was already over. called. Not mentioned in ch 11 because it had no effect. did not save. Ephraimites failed to come when Jephthah needed them.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 12:3 would not save. See note, v 2. I took my life in my hand. Jephthah risked his life for a victory but the Ephraimites did nothing but complain.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 12:4 Gilead. Tribes of Gad, Reuben, and part of Manasseh lived east of the Jordan, outside the boundaries of the Promised Land. God approved this arrangement (Nu 32:33; see map, p 365). they. Ephraimites. fugitives. Ephraim is insulting the Gileadites as an illegitimate mob living outside the tribal identities. Cf Jsh 22.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 12:5 fords of the Jordan. Where the Ephraimites were trying to retreat back across the river to their homeland.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 12:6 say. Tribes were already so disunified as to have acquired regional dialects. Shibboleth. Means "a stream" or "flood." 42,000. Number of casualties in the war.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 12:1–7 The tribe of Ephraim, in its pride and jealousy, is angry at not participating in the glory of Jephthah's victory and threatens to kill the Gileadites. Instead, identifying their enemies by their regional dialect, the Gileadites defeat Ephraim, killing 42,000 of their fellow Israelites. God uses Jephthah, a sinner, to deliver His people. God's grace to and through Jephthah may remind us of the deliverance He provides us through Christ, not by our own merit. This destroys human pride, but gives us a greater victory. • O Lord, forgive us for our desire for glory and for despising others. Give us the right word for crossing into eternity, namely, the right confession of Your Son, in whose name we pray. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 12:8 Bethlehem. May be the city in Judah where David and Jesus were born or the other town of that same name in Zebulun (Jsh 19:15).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 12:9 outside. Marriage outside the "clan," or extended family unit, would have been proper. Marriage outside Israel would not. The Hbr does not specify "clan" but just says "outside," so the meaning is not completely clear. thirty daughters he brought. One way to achieve civic order among such fractious tribes was through marriage alliances, which may have kept the peace for the seven years of his judgeship. See note, 1Ki 3:1–2.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 12:12 Elon … Aijalon. Name of the judge and name of his burial site have exactly the same consonantal spelling in Hbr. Aijalon in the land of Zebulun. Archaeologists have identified possible sites for this city. See color map 1.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 12:14 forty sons. Polygamy was common. See note, 8:30; see also pp 54–55.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 12:8–15 Three "minor" judges are mentioned, but nothing is said of their deeds, other than that two of them have large families. Unlike other judges, these deal with no invaders, no civil war, and no dramatic sins. Nevertheless, the people still need to be judged through God's servants who apply His Law. Ibzan, Elon, and Abdon—living out both their spiritual offices (in their judgeships) and temporal offices (in their families)—stand as examples of the doctrine of vocation. Nothing is recorded of their good works. Yet, God was still pleased with them on account of their faith. • O Lord, make me faithful in my everyday callings. May I ever cling to Your Word, appreciate Your daily blessings, and call on You in every need. Through Christ, our Lord, I pray. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:1 did what was evil. See note, 2:11. Philistines. See notes, 10:7; Ps 83:6–8; see also p 345. forty years. See "Sequence and Length of Events," p 339.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:2 Zorah. Small town 14 mi W of Jerusalem. was barren and had no children. Repetition underscores her physical inability to bear children.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:3 angel of the Lord. See p 1227. you shall conceive and bear a son. Sarah (Gn 17:15–16), Hannah (1Sm 1:12–20), and Elizabeth (Lk 1:8–24) were other barren women in the Bible who were visited by the Lord (through an angel or a priest) and then conceived a child who became an important agent of God (Isaac, Samuel, and John the Baptist). See pp 54–55.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:5 No razor. Israelite men wore their hair at different lengths, as artistic inscriptions and biblical texts attest. The head was shaved as a sign of mourning. See note, 16:22. Nazirite. From a word meaning "dedication"—by which an Israelite consecrated himself to God. See notes, Nu 6:1–20. begin to save. Israel's struggle against the Philistines continued with Samuel (1Sm 7), Saul (1Sm 13–14), David (1Sm 17; 2Sm 5:17–25), and on through the kings.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:6 like the appearance of the angel of God. She assumed he was a human prophet, but she was overwhelmed by his majestic appearance, to the point of neglecting to ask him his name and where he was from. angel. See p 5.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:7 Nazirite vow was usually temporary, as that taken by St Paul (Ac 21:23–24). Only two others are recorded in Scripture as being Nazirites from birth: Samuel (1Sm 1:11) and John the Baptist (Lk 1:14–15).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:8 Manoah may have believed his wife, but he prayed to know more about how he should raise this special child. May the Lord place such a prayer on the lips of parents today and likewise place the Scriptures in their hands.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:9 God listened. God heard the prayer offered in such faith. the angel of God came again. See note, v 6.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:10 The woman was alone the first time the angel appeared (vv 3–5). This time, she brought her husband to see the angel so that he, too, as the father, would be involved in the revelation about their son (vv 13–14).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:12–14 Manoah wanted to know more, but the angel simply repeated what he first told Manoah's wife. God's Word does not always tell us everything we would like to know. Our part is simply to trust what God has revealed. See note, 2Ch 35:22.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:16 angel of the LORD. See p 1227. I will not eat. Angel rejected Manoah's attempt to manipulate God through the obligations of hospitality and use of His name (v 17). to the LORD. Angel transformed into a divine sacrifice what Manoah regarded as an ordinary meal. In a similar situation with Abraham and Sarah, the Angel of the Lord did share a human meal, in light of their faith (Gn 18:3–8), but Manoah's motives were not as pure as Abraham's. did not know. Manoah may not have completely accepted his wife's account.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:17 honor. Many ancient people believed that one could manipulate people and spiritual beings through their names. The Angel of the Lord rejected Manoah's attempt to exercise power over God.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:18 wonderful? Far beyond what Manoah could grasp (see title for Christ, Is 9:6).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:19 offered it on the rock. Though sacrifices were not to be offered except at the tabernacle (cf Lv 17:8–9), here the Lord sanctified the offering by His presence and His command. Cf 1Tm 4:5.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:20 altar. The rock became an altar when the Lord accepted the sacrifice.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:21 angel of the Lord. See p 1227.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:22 We shall surely die. The holiness of God consumes sinners who come into His presence (Ex 33:3). God. With the offering, the angel revealed His true nature, and Manoah and his wife experienced a "theophany," a direct revelation of God. See p 39.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:23 Manoah's wife showed greater faith and insight than her husband as she recognized that the Lord had accepted the sacrifice and covered their sinfulness. Also, the Lord had promised to work through them and their son.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:24 Samson. Similar to term "sun" (Hbr shemesh). Some scholars see a connection with pagan solar deities, but Josephus says that the word means "the strong one" or "the daring one."
JUDGES—NOTE ON 13:25 the Spirit of the Lord began to stir him. The Holy Spirit made Samson begin his work of deliverance, equipping him with supernatural strength. See note, 3:10. Mahaneh-dan. Lit, "the camp of Dan," possibly a temporary settlement for displaced refugees from the tribe of Dan. See note, 1:34. The location may be less than a mile from Samson's birthplace.

JUDGES—NOTE ON Ch 13 The Lord's messenger appears to a barren woman, promising that she will bear a son who must live as a Nazirite and who will save Israel from the Philistines. This special experience anticipates the special life the woman's son will lead. God's Word comes to us with special purpose too. In the humble forms of the pages of the Bible; the water, bread, and wine of the Sacraments; and the preaching of a pastor, the Lord strengthens us for our special mission of serving Him in a hostile world. • O Lord, we thank You for Your Word, which You have graciously communicated to us in human language. Forgive us for being blind to Your wonderful Word, and lead us to trust it. For You reveal to us that You have provided a Savior, Jesus Christ. Amen.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:1 Timnah. Small village c 4 mi from where Samson lived.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:2 get her for me. Commanding his parents, rather than making a polite request, showed that Samson was a spoiled child who violated the Fourth Commandment. Parents did not always arrange marriages (cf Gn 28:6–9). as my wife. Marrying outside of Israel was wrong, as Samson's parents indicate (v 3). The Law of Moses forbade marrying Canaanites (Dt 7:3–4). Although technically the Philistines were not Canaanites, neither did they worship the one true God. Jsh 13:2–3 counted them among the Canaanites as pagan enemies of Israel. The marriage would go against his Nazirite vow. See note, 13:5.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:3 uncircumcised Philistines? A number of Semitic people groups practiced circumcision (see, e.g., note, 1Sm 18:25), but the Philistines, who were from Aegean or Greek lands, did not. right. Hbr yashar, "straight" and thereby correct. Her appearance pleased him. Perhaps a wordplay because, as his parents noted, the relationship would not at all be right. See note, 17:6.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:4 from the LORD. Often, we cannot clearly tell what the Lord is doing with our lives, except we know that He has our good in mind (Rm 8:28). God providentially used even Samson's sins for His purpose of igniting conflict between the Israelites and the Philistines. ruled. Dominated and likely exacted tribute from them as vassals.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:5 young lion. See note, Ps 34:10. See also note, 1Sm 17:37.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:6 Spirit of the LORD rushed upon him. The mighty deeds of previous judges also are ascribed to the descent of the Holy Spirit (see note, 3:10). one tears a young goat. Emphasis is on the ease with which he handled the lion. Verb suggests tearing down the middle, as in pulling the hind legs apart. To this day in the Near East, young goats and lambs are so torn in pieces after they are cooked. did not tell his father or his mother. Both Samson and his parents set out for Timnah, but they did not travel together, perhaps because of the tensions between them (v 3).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:7 right. See note, v 3.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:9 Nazirites were forbidden to touch anything dead, so Samson violated the Nazirite vow. The honey also would have been considered unclean, yet he gave it to his parents without telling them.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:10 used to do. Israelites typically held the wedding feast at the groom's home. Either holding it at the bride's home was a practice at the time, or it was a Philistine custom, in which case

Samson was again violating the Law's prohibitions against following the customs of the pagans. See pp 54–55.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:11 thirty companions. Normally, the groom would provide his own groomsmen. They had to be provided for Samson, since Israelites would not accompany him in his fraternization with the Philistines. The exchange of gifts and services is typical in wedding arrangements and may have played a role in the tensions that followed.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:12 riddle. Riddles were often used as entertainment at banquets and to teach wisdom. See note, Pr 1:6. See also "Enigmatic Sayings," p 1775. thirty linen garments … changes of clothes. Hugely expensive wager. Commoners did not own changes of clothes, though nobles did.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:15–16 Samson's wife feared her fellow Philistines' threats against her and her parents. She probably did not realize then just how strong Samson was.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:16 You only hate me. Manipulation, rather than love and trust, manifests itself immediately.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:17 Samson's wife had been entreating him with tears every day of the feast, wanting to know the answer herself. But not until the fourth day did the Philistine companions come to her with their threats (cf v 15).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:18 before the sun went down. Once the sun went down, the seventh day of the wedding feast would be over, the deadline Samson had set. plowed with my heifer. Literally refers to imposing hard service on an inexperienced animal, which signifies the manipulation of Samson's wife. Some commentators think Samson was accusing them of having sexual relations with his wife.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:19 Spirit of the Lord. The Holy Spirit did not give Samson supernatural strength merely to kill lions but to deliver Israel from the Philistines. See note, 3:10. Ashkelon. Major city of the Philistines, 23 mi away. See color map 2. spoil. Rather than inviting local retribution by plundering a nearby village, Samson attacked a Philistine city. This escalated the petty personal conflict into a military confrontation. God providentially used Samson's weakness and bad behavior for His purpose of punishing the Philistines.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 14:20 given to his companion. Because Samson stormed out on the last day of the wedding feast, the marriage would not have been consummated. best man. It would have been embarrassing for the bride to have been abandoned at the very end of the wedding festivities. This "best man" would have been one of the 30 Philistine companions that were provided for him (v 11) and who won the riddle contest (v 18).

JUDGES—NOTE ON Ch 14 Samson sees a Philistine woman and urges his parents to approve an inappropriate marriage with her. Samson is strong physically, but weak morally. Although his long hair marks him externally as a Nazirite, he violates God's Law repeatedly and disrespects his parents. Despite Samson's sinfulness, "the Spirit of the LORD" comes upon him for the sake of God's purposes. God saves Samson and uses him to deliver Israel. God still has a plan and compassion for the weak in faith today. • O Father, I confess that I am like Samson, filled with lusts, disobedience, and violent passions. Forgive my sin, and fill me with Your Holy Spirit, through Your Son, that I might serve Your greater purposes and learn humility through the cross. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 15:1 wheat harvest. End of May or beginning of June. See calendar, p 262. a young goat. In the Near East to this day, there is a certain kind of marriage in which the wife continues to live with her parents with the husband visiting periodically, always bearing a gift. Samson assumed that the wedding, which he left in a rage, had been valid. chamber. The woman's room.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 15:2 hated. May have meant divorce. To the Philistine, Samson had abandoned his bride by leaving before the feast was over and the marriage was consummated. Samson never initiated a divorce under Mosaic Law. Confusion about whether the couple was married illustrates one of the problems of marriages that involve different marriage laws and customs. your companion. See note, 14:20.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 15:3 He felt he deserved revenge. His treatment at the hands of these Philistines was emblematic of how the whole nation mistreated the Israelites.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 15:4–5 foxes. Or jackals, which travel in packs. The Romans would tie torches to the tails of foxes as part of their worship of Ceres, goddess of the harvest. Hannibal sent oxen with torches between their horns to attack the Romans. Samson, in effect, turned the animals into incendiary devices.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 15:6 son-in-law. Philistines blamed the father's efforts to save his family's honor. burned her and her father. What the companions threatened to do if the woman did not come up with the answer to the riddle (14:15), making this an example of Philistine unfaithfulness and cruelty. Taking revenge against this helpless family was easier than fighting Samson.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 15:8 he struck them hip and thigh. Expression for unsparing slaughter. Imagery may refer to limbs hewed off and piled up or to a wrestling move, which is pictured in an ancient Babylonian inscription of Gilgamesh. rock of Etam. Location unclear. Caves in the cliffs of nearby Wadi Isma'in are accessible only by climbing through a fissure wide enough for only one person.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 15:9 Lehi. Lit, "jawbone." Probably named after Samson's exploit (vv 15, 18). Location uncertain.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 15:11 rulers over us? The Judeans feared the Philistines' domination. As they did to me. Echoes the Philistines (v 10). Motivation on each side was reprisal and an escalating counterreprisal.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 15:12 Illustrates degradation of the Israelites. Instead of seeing in Samson a God-sent deliverer and joining him in battle, they cooperated with their oppressors and sought to arrest him. Unlike other judges, Samson raised no army but fought the enemy hosts completely alone.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 15:13 new. Not brittle or rotten. Anticipates 16:11.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 15:14 Lehi. See note, v 9. Spirit of the LORD. See note, 3:10.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 15:15 jawbone of a donkey. Impromptu weapon. See notes, 1Sm 13:19–22.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 15:16 Hbr for "donkey" and "heaps" have the same consonantal spelling; wordplay.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 15:18 salvation. See p 843.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 15:19 hollow place. Lit, the "socket" of a tooth. Luther translated it to mean that water came out of the socket of the donkey's jawbone, but the term more likely refers to a formation in the rock. to this day. It still flowed when Jgs was written. See also note, Jsh 4:9.

JUDGES—NOTE ON Ch 15 Samson goes to claim his bride, only to find that her father has married her to someone else. Enraged, Samson begins a personal conflict with the Philistines. Despite Samson's rage, the Holy Spirit works through Samson to accomplish "great salvation" for His people. Samson rightly confesses that this is God's gift, for He is the true

Judge and Savior. • O Lord, protect me from the impulse to take revenge. Forgive me for having sinned by conforming to the godless culture around me. Give me courage to resist the temptations of the world and to trust that I am never alone, thanks to Your Holy Spirit, who keeps me strong in faith. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:1 Gaza. See color map 1. prostitute. See pp 54–55. For all of his physical strength, Samson was not strong enough to control his physical lusts, which would eventually be his downfall. Samson is a type of the whole nation of Israel, which, while capable of great strength through God's grace, continually sinned and fell into spiritual adultery (cf 2:17).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:3 doors of the gate. The gates had heavy doors, likely clad in metal and fitted with round-bottomed posts set into sockets, allowing the doors to swing open. They would be locked with a bar that went through the whole assembly, including the posts, to prevent them from rotating. in front of Hebron. Hebron is c 40 mi away, but that the hill is "in front" of the region may mean it was much closer. (Perhaps the hill marked the direction of Hebron.) Samson tore the entire structure out of the wall, carried it up a hill, and set it up so all could see. This prodigious feat of strength with the gates that were supposed to guarantee the city's security made a mockery of the Philistines.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:4 Valley of Sorek. Near Zorah, Samson's birthplace.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:5 1,100 pieces of silver. Three years' wages. With five Philistine rulers promising Delilah this sum (cf 3:3), the bribe would support her for 15 years. pieces. Sometimes translated as "shekels." A shekel was about a month's wages, about 2/5 oz. See p cx.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:6 Delilah made a brazen request. Samson was convinced of his own invulnerability. As a lover of riddles and games, he toyed with her.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:7–8 seven fresh bowstrings. Made from animal sinew or gut, these would contract as they dried, causing the binding to tighten.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:9 inner chamber. See note, 1Ki 22:25. The Philistines are upon you. Philistines did not necessarily attack each time. Delilah, in effect, may have been shouting "Gotcha!" to test Samson's reaction and the effectiveness of each scheme to weaken him.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:11–12 new ropes. Event in 15:13–14 may have given Samson this idea. The Philistines are upon you. See note, v 9. inner chamber. See note, 1Ki 22:25.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:13 the web. Threads of a weaver's loom. Stakes of Delilah's loom were probably driven into the ground. On Israelite weaving, see note, Gn 37:3.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:15–16 Samson was fooled by his passion for Delilah and by his sense of invincibility. vexed to death. Seems that Samson genuinely loved her and continued to seek her love.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:17 Nazirite. Samson had broken his other Nazirite vows. His uncut hair was the last sign of his commitment.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:19 on her knees. Perhaps with his head on her lap. shave off. Typical means for cutting hair, using a straight razor. she began to torment him. Exact nature of torment, whether physical torture or verbal cruelty, is not clear. The theme in Jgs of a woman conquering a warrior appears again (cf 4:9; 9:53).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:20 The Philistines are upon you. See note, v 9. This time, Delilah was telling the truth. the LORD had left him. Samson assumed that, as in the other cases, he still would be strong. God had been long-suffering with Samson's sinful ways, but now, with Samson repudiating his final sign of dedication to God, the Holy Spirit left him. Because his strength came from God and not, as he assumed, from himself, Samson now had nothing but weakness. See note, 3:10.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:21 ground at the mill. Means of humiliating prisoners, since grinding was women's work performed on the ground with a hand mill. See note, Jb 31:10.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:22 Nazirite vows could be renewed. Samson—weak, blind, and defeated—is in a position to repent and turn to God. In Lv 19:27, God forbids trimming hair at the temples and the edge of one's beard, which were required by Canaanite funeral rituals. Levitical laws entailed shaving off all of one's hair (Lv 14:8–9). Only the Nazirite vow, which could be temporary, required not cutting one's hair (Nu 6:5). At the end of the term of the Nazirite vow, the hair would all be cut off and burned as a sacrifice on the altar (Nu 6:18).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:1–22 Samson's weakness for women proves to be his doom when Delilah coaxes from him the secret of his strength. Bereft of all of his powers, Samson is at the mercy of the Philistines. Often, like Samson, it is when we are weak and broken spiritually (or perhaps also physically) that we finally despair of ourselves. In that hour, Christ is the true strong man for us spiritually. Samson carried the gates of a city, but Jesus carried the cross and all our sin. • O Lord, forgive me both for succumbing to temptation and for presuming Your forbearance again and again. Take not Your Holy Spirit from me. Help me to trust not in my own strength but in the strength of Jesus Christ, my Lord, in whose name I pray. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:23 Dagon. Thought to be a water deity with the body of a fish and the head and hands of a man, more recent scholars think Dagon may have been a corn or vegetation god. god. Hbr is plural, "gods." Our god has given Samson our enemy into our hand. The Philistines interpreted the defeat of Samson as a great victory for their god (or "gods"), thus vaunting Dagon over the true God of the Israelites, who worked through Samson.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:25 entertain. Connotes laughter and derision. Perhaps Philistines mockingly called him to perform feats of strength, of which he was no longer capable.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:26–27 Archaeologists have not yet found such temples in Canaan but have found them in Cyprus, the Aegean culture from which the Philistines came. The structure enclosed a large courtyard, with pillars supporting the roof.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:28–29 Samson called upon God, invoking Him by each of His three revealed names in the OT: Adonai (Lord), Yahweh (LORD), and Elohim (God). See p 1227. Samson repented and turned to the true God. He then asked that God strengthen him one more time so he could be what God had intended him to be, a Nazirite called to deliver Israel. remember me. Cf Lk 23:42, where the thief on the cross has the same request. See p 843.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:30 Let me die with the Philistines. Not an act of self-destruction—that happened when he threw his life away with Delilah—but the laying down of his life to destroy the temple of the false god and to deliver God's people. Chem: "Samson was not a private individual but a judge over the people of God who … prayed of the Lord, from whom he had his mandate, for the public punishment of the Philistines so that he might be able to avenge himself on the enemy. Just as a ruler in punishing the enemy in a lawful war, when he exposes himself to the danger of death, is not sinning, neither did Samson. Furthermore, Samson was a type of Christ, who in dying must destroy death in keeping with the statement of Hos. 13:14, 'I will be your death, O death' " (LTh 2:409).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:31 his brothers … brought him up. Samson's family showed courage in retrieving his body from the ruins and giving it an honorable burial in the tomb of his now-deceased father. Because Samson's mother had been barren, giving birth to him by a miracle, these "brothers" may have been tribal kinsmen. Zorah and Eshtaol. C 1½ mi apart; Zorah was his birthplace. Site would have overlooked the Valley of Sorek, where Delilah lived.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 16:23–31 As Samson is weak and humiliated, the Philistines ascribe their victory to their god Dagon. In that hour, Samson turns to God in faith. He pushes down the columns that support the roof of the temple, destroying thousands of the enemy. Like Samson, Christ died for His people. But unlike Samson, Christ fulfilled the Law and brought forgiveness and eternal life. • O Father, I, too, am a defeated sinner, spiritually blind and in bondage to the devil according to my sinful flesh. Remember me, Lord. Give me strength to carry out what You have called me to do. May Christ in His sacrifice pull down the works of Satan and deliver me from captivity. In His name I pray. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON Chs 17–21 On chronology, see p 339.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 17:1 hill country. Much of Ephraim is hilly, but this probably refers to the territory between Bethel and the Jezreel River. See color map 2.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 17:2 1,100 pieces of silver. See note, 16:5. uttered a curse. Apparently, Micah returned the money out of fear of his mother's curse on the thief, himself. See note, Gn 12:3. Blessed. Not wanting her curse to fall on her son, she tried to reverse the effect by blessing him. See p 842.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 17:3 Remarkably, the mother dedicated all of the silver to the Lord, but then made an idolatrous image. a carved image and a metal image. First term refers to a statue, as of stone or wood, that is shaped or "gravened" by a tool; latter term refers to a statue that has been cast of molten metal. Some scholars believe these were two separate images, while others think the image had two parts, perhaps the idol and its pedestal.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 17:4 Apparently, 200 pieces of silver for the image and the balance for the maintenance of the shrine.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 17:5 ephod. See note, 8:27. ordained. Micah presumed to make one of his own sons a priest, in direct violation of God's Word, which required that all priests of the Lord be from the tribe of Levi and, specifically, descendants of Aaron (Nu 3:5–10).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 17:6 right in his own eyes. Variation of the expression used in 14:3. Since there was no central civil authority, people developed their own individual and regional practices, resulting in moral and religious relativism. Chem: "Scripture is constantly describing the corrupt and dissolute state of the church, for example Judg. 17:6; 21:25. Thus people boast of their Christian liberty and under this pretext claim that they are permitted to spread whatever opinions they wish" (LTh 1:17).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 17:7 Levite. Jonathan (see note, 18:30). The Levites were given cities distributed throughout the lands of the other tribes (Nu 35:1–8). They were counted, in civil matters, as belonging to the tribe in whose land they lived. So the young man could be considered "of the family of Judah," though he was literally a descendant of Levi.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 17:8 Bethlehem was not one of the cities given to the Levites. The young man dwelt temporarily in different places rather than serving in the place where God assigned him, showing how the Israelites had drifted away from following God's Word. Economic hardship or lack of support for the priestly tribe may have forced the man to move. See color map 2.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 17:10 father. Title of respect to a spiritual adviser (e.g., 2Ki 6:21; 13:14).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 17:12 ordained. Lit, Micah "filled the hand" of the Levite by entrusting the sacrifices to him. Though Micah had irregularly ordained his own son as the priest for his idolatry (v 5), he knew enough of God's Word to know that Levites were preferable, since God appointed the members of that tribe for service in His tabernacle. Not just any Levite was to preside as priest, but only those of the clan descended from Aaron (cf Nu 18:1). And Levites were to serve the true God at the tabernacle sacrifices, not false gods at idolatrous shrines.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 17:13 Pagan religiosity seeks to manipulate deities for the worshiper's tangible benefit.
JUDGES—NOTE ON Ch 17 A dishonest Ephraimite named Micah uses cursed treasure to create idols, which he worships as the true God of Israel. He even hires a wandering Levite to serve as the priest of his idolatrous shrine. Remarkably, the situation will grow far worse in the coming chapters. Even at our worst, the Lord has chosen and ordained for us a Savior, our true High Priest, Jesus Christ, who is the only way to salvation. • O Lord, forgive me for my idolatry, for the way I exalt my own opinions and preferences and hold to them rather than to Your holy Word. Teach me to forsake the materialism of our times and to follow You as my King. Through Christ, I pray. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:1 In those days … no king. Implies that the account was written at a later date, when there was a king for Israel. See pp 338–40; see also note, 17:6. Dan … no inheritance. They were presumptuously trying to seize land that God had not allotted to them. See note, 1:34; see also "portion," p 7.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:2 Zorah … Eshtaol. Towns originally assigned to the Danites (Jsh 19:41), proving that these Danites were not totally bereft of an inheritance, as they claimed, but simply wanted something more.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:3 recognized the voice. They may have known him from Bethlehem, or they may have recognized his regional and tribal dialect. See note, 12:6.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:5 Inquire. See note, 1:1; see also "call," p 842.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:6 under the eye. The Lord is watching over them.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:7 Laish. Called Leshem in Jsh 19:47 and Dan elsewhere, at the extreme north of Israelite territory, past the allotment of Naphtali, near the source of the Jordan. See map, p 365. the manner of the Sidonians. They followed the customs and culture of the Sidonians. no dealings with anyone. They were physically isolated because of the mountains that separated them from the Sidonians and other potential allies.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:10 God has given it. They assumed this from the word of the idolatrous priest (v 6).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:11–12 See map, p 365.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:14 Danites wanted the priest and his cult objects so their new settlement would have a religious shrine. Regarding these objects, see notes, 8:27; 17:3; Hos 3:4.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:16–17 The Danites, too weak to take possession of their own territory (see note, 1:34), were not only willing to attack a peaceful people, but they also plundered Micah despite the hospitality he showed them. stood by … the gate. Ready to leave. went up. The shrine may have been on a hill or on the second story of a building. the priest stood by … the gate. He had already been collected by the soldiers.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:18–20 Describes what happened when the Danites entered the shrine (v 17). The Levite priest seemed willing to go along with the robbery. He also showed his bad character, betraying his earlier benefactor out of ambition to serve more people.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:21 little ones … livestock. Danites put their children and property in front, where they would be safer in the event of an attack from pursuers.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:22–26 Micah's attempt to reason with the Danites failed, ending in threats.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:28 no deliverer. No one could rescue them. See "deliver," p 842. the valley that belongs to Beth-rehob. In Syria, rather than in the Promised Land. See map, p 500.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:29 Dan … Laish. See note, v 7; see also map, p 365.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:30 Jonathan. Name of Micah's Levite (17:7). The Levitical family established its own priestly dynasty, which lasted c 280 years. Jonathan was possibly a grandson of Moses. This indicates these events happened early in the time of the judges. See "Sequence and Length of Events," p 339. day of the captivity. Probably not the Assyrian conquest of c 722 BC. Likely refers to the capture of the ark of the covenant by the Philistines (1Sm 4–6; c 1060 BC), referred to as a "captivity" in Ps 78:61–62.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 18:31 Contrasts the idolatrous shrine with the true tabernacle located at Shiloh until the time of Samuel, when it was captured by the Philistines (1Sm 4–6). Archaeologists have discovered the remains of a shrine at Dan, which later became the site of a temple set up by Jeroboam (1Ki 12:26–33).
JUDGES—NOTE ON Ch 18 The Danites believe it is too difficult to take the inheritance assigned to them, so they look for easier prey, acting with cruelty and idolatry. God's commands are often difficult to obey, but acting on our own impulses only multiplies sin. The Lord had generously provided the Danites with priests and a sanctuary at Shiloh, where He promised to meet with them and grant them His mercy. Even so, the Lord meets with us and blesses us through the means He has ordained: the Word and the Sacraments. • O Lord, I, too, often substitute my own will for Yours. Forgive my self-chosen theologies, my selfish cruelty to others, and my lack of trust. Grant me refuge in Your Word and in the sacrifice of Jesus Christ. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:1 no king. See note, 18:1. a certain Levite. This Levite was another itinerant, "sojourning" outside the cities that were the inheritance of his tribe (cf 17:7).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:2 unfaithful. Being a concubine was lawful (see pp 54–55). Her unfaithfulness constituted adultery. went away. She may have fled to escape the death penalty (Lv 20:10).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:3 husband. See note, v 2. a couple of donkeys. To bring his concubine home with him. he came with joy. The father would have been disgraced if his daughter remained separated from her husband.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:4 Elaborate and leisurely hospitality of the culture contrasts with the violations described later (vv 22–30).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:5–9 Extreme hospitality may have been the father's attempt to make up with the man for his daughter's misbehavior.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:10 the man would not spend the night. He needed to leave, but the insistent hospitality of his father-in-law meant that he could travel only a short distance before nightfall. Jebus. Occupied by the Jebusites. See note, 1:8.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:12 city of foreigners. He did not feel safe trusting the hospitality of the Jebusites, preferring to stay with fellow Israelites. Gibeah. See color map 3.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:13–15 at Gibeah or at Ramah. See map, p 451. no one took them. Ironic, given his feelings about the Jebusites (v 12). The town square was the social center of the community, but none of the Benjaminites extended their hospitality, an unspeakable breach of etiquette in that culture. On hospitality, see note, Gn 18:4.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:16 sojourning in Gibeah. The old man was not a Benjaminite but an Ephraimite, the tribe with whom the Levite himself lived (v 1). He may have been temporarily doing business with the Benjaminites.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:18 going to the house of the Lord. The Levite intended to go to Shiloh, c 24 mi away, where the tabernacle was located. Perhaps he would offer a sacrifice for the reconciliation he made with his concubine.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:20–21 Peace be to you. Common Israelite greeting. See p 7. his house. Though a temporary resident, the old man had established a home in the city and exceeded the Levite's expectation of hospitality.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:1–21 A Levite travels to find his concubine. Though the woman has sinned, the family makes a great effort to be reconciled. Such sins still wound and divide families today. Through the prayers and encouragement we share, the Lord works to restore broken relationships and bring healing. • O Lord, help us to love our family members, even those who sin against us, and to extend Your love to those who need our hospitality, through Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:22–26 In the events that followed, no one acted rightly, illustrating how wicked Israel had become. Cf Gn 6:5.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:22 making … merry. Probably drinking. Cf Ps 104:15. worthless fellows. Rulers of the city made no attempt to curb or punish the mob of rabble-rousers, so the whole community was implicated in the crime. master of the house. Responsible for his guests. know him. The writer uses a polite way to say they wanted to have sex with the man. Cf Gn 4:1.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:23 my brothers. The Benjaminites, who were to be God's own people, replayed the sin of Sodom (Gn 19:4–11). vile thing. The Ephraimite recognized the sinful character of the men's request.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:24 Shockingly, the old man put the obligations of hospitality above everything else, even the safety of his own daughter and his guest's wife. Violate them. The man clearly recognized the sinful character of the illicit sexual relations he suggested. outrageous thing. Homosexual rape was esp abhorrent to the old man.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:25 the man. The Levite. made her go out. Despite the Levite's earlier interest in being reconciled to his concubine, in apparent fear for his life, he turned her over to the mob. His actions and attitude here may explain why she had been unfaithful to him (cf v 28) or may indicate that he had not truly forgiven her. The Ephraimite's daughter was not forced to go out, perhaps the one point of mercy in the entire story. knew her and abused her. Rape and likely other acts of violence (cf v 26).

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:26 her master. Her husband, the Levite, who was responsible for her but showed a sinful callousness and lack of courage in abandoning her.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:27 hands on the threshold. Pathetically reaching out her arms for help.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:28 Get up. Colder words have rarely been spoken. no answer. She was possibly unconscious but most likely had died from the abuse she suffered. put her on the donkey. Not an act of kindness but part of a plan (vv 29–30).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:29 divided her. The Levite, who would have had experience dismembering animal sacrifices, cut up her body in the same way. sent her. The 12 pieces were delivered to the 12 tribes of Israel (which would include Benjamin) so that all could see with their own eyes the results of this monstrous, repulsive crime. The writer does not clearly explain the Levite's motives or what message accompanied the packages. Given his callousness toward his concubine and his treatment of her body, he shows no remorse but coldly reports the horror that had taken place. The reader is left to contemplate the meaning of it all and how to respond (cf v 30b).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:30 never happened. Israelites show a keen sense for history and precedent. Same sorts of things had not taken place since the exodus (perhaps a few generations earlier), though they had happened to Lot's family c 1,000 years earlier (Gn 19:1–11). consider it, take counsel, and speak. The deed was unspeakably horrible, and the people realized that something must be done. They could not immediately reach a course of action.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 19:22–30 The violent death of a Levite's concubine illustrates the low point of wickedness during this period in Israel's history. Consider that such horrors happen still today and are even promoted under the guise of sexual or artistic freedom. Lord, have pity! Deliver the Church, Your Bride, from evil. • Our Father who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name, Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven; give us this day our daily bread; and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory forever and ever. Amen.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:1 Dan to Beersheba. From the northernmost settlement in the land of Israel to the southernmost. Gilead. Land east of the Jordan that was occupied by Israelites. as one man. All of Israel (except, of course, for Benjamin) united against the Benjaminites, in the first such collective action since the time of Joshua. Mizpah. This point of assembly was in the land of Benjamin, not Gilead, as in 10:17. See map, p 451.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:2 chiefs. Family leaders or elders, who often also served as military leaders. See p 228. assembly of the people of God. See "great congregation," p 842. on foot. See note, Jsh 11:4.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:4–5 The Levite's account is self-serving, since he downplayed his own role in the woman's death. His emphasis on how his own life was at risk may accurately illustrate the fear that motivated his cowardly behavior. Details in 19:22–29 indicate that other witnesses had a chance to report the matter.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:6 abomination. See note, Pr 3:32. outrage. The Levite characterized well the sin of the Benjaminites, but in failing to confess his own sin, he may have stirred up the Israelites to a harsher response than may have been warranted.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:9–11 by lot. Each tribe had its men cast lots to determine who would fight in the army and who would supply provisions for the campaign. as one man. See note, v 1.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:13 give up. The Benjaminites had already prepared to resist.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:14 Organized for formal engagement.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:15 26,000. Benjamin was one of the smallest tribes. chosen. The best.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:16 left-handed. Because most soldiers held their sword in their right hand and would have trained to fight right-handed combatants, left-handed soldiers were esp treacherous. See note, 3:15. sling a stone at a hair and not miss. Vivid description of the Benjaminites' prowess and accuracy with the sling.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:18 Bethel. Location of the tabernacle. inquired of God. Cf v 9; see "call," p 842. Judah shall go up first. In the hilly terrain of Benjamin, Israel's advantage in numbers could not be fully exploited against the defenders. Judah was selected to lead the attack against its fellow Israelites, just as it was selected to lead the attack against the Canaanites (1:2). This also foreshadowed the later civil war, in which David with his tribe of Judah fought Saul's tribe of Benjamin (2Sm 3:1).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:21 22,000 men. Horrible losses. Judah had the "honor" of leading the attack, but, judging from the casualties, the other tribes also took part in the combat.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:22–23 Shall we. Cf v 18. The great losses shook their confidence.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:25 destroyed 18,000 men. 40,000 Israelites had been killed in two days, 10 percent of the entire force. Cf vv 17, 21.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:26 Bethel. Location of the tabernacle. See p 495. fasted … offerings. Acts of repentance and atonement.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:27 inquired. Cf v 9; see "call," p 842.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:28 Phinehas. The grandson of Aaron, Phinehas was the priest who struck down the leaders of the apostasy at Peor during the exodus (Nu 25:7–8) and who negotiated peace with the Transjordan tribes in the time of Joshua (Jsh 22:10–34). That means this war with Benjamin must have taken place quite early in the period of the judges, even though it is described, out of sequence, at the very end of the Book. (Some Jewish interpreters held that God rewarded Phinehas with immortality because of his faithfulness.) The focus on Benjamin prepares the reader for the events of 1Sm. I will give them into your hand. On the first two days, the Israelites fought their "brothers" in a spirit of self-righteousness and confidence. But then the whole army went to the tabernacle at Bethel, where they wept, fasted, and offered sacrifices. Now that the Israelites confessed their own sinfulness and turned to God, He would bless their sad work of executing judgment and, for the first time, promised them victory.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:29–32 ambush. Not the frontal attacks as on the first two days. This time the Israelites, helped by God, employed strategy. When the allied tribes were driven back by the Benjaminites, as on the other days, they retreated on purpose. This drew the main force of the Benjaminites away from their city, making it vulnerable to the Israelites' second force. Benjamin went out. Essentially the same strategy and results employed when the Israelites took the Canaanite city of Ai (Jsh 8:3–28). highways. The battle moved along the roads that led out from the city.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:33 Baal-tamar. Means "possessor of palms," referring to a region not far from Gibeah. This is where the main force was in battle formation. Maareh-geba. Means "the plains of Geba," located a few mi northeast of Gibeah (Geba). Troops stationed for the ambush were hiding here. See map, p 451.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:35 the LORD defeated. God punished the Benjaminites by means of the other 11 tribes, fulfilling His promise.

Virtually their entire force was destroyed.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:36–43 Parallel account of the battle fills in the details, e.g., the use of signals.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:36 they trusted. They relied on the ambush they had set up (see note, vv 29–32).
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:37 all the city. The city of God's own apostate people was devoted to total annihilation, as if it were a city of the Canaanites when Joshua led the people to first occupy the land. See "devote to destruction," p 6.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:42 the direction of the wilderness. Toward the northeast and the desert between Jericho and the mountains of Bethel.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:43 Nohah. Lit, "resting place." Could be either the proper name of a city or a place where the Benjaminite army had temporarily halted to rest.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:45 rock of Rimmon. See note, v 47.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:46 25,000 men. Evidence that the Bible sometimes employs round numbers, since the more precise number is given in v 35 as 25,100.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:47 rock of Rimmon. Survivors fled to this rock in the desert, located just beyond the border of the settled lands. Such places were esp difficult to attack. See "rock," p 843.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 20:48 turned back. The Israelites halted the pursuit of the remnants of the Benjaminite army and turned back to destroy and slaughter everyone throughout the land. It is not clear whether the Lord intended this action or the people planned it. In self-righteous indignation, the Israelites treated their apostate brothers like pagan Canaanites, virtually eradicating them.

JUDGES—NOTE ON Ch 20 The Levite tells the Israelites about the abomination committed by the Benjaminites, so the shocked tribes, unified for the first time since Joshua's day, resolve to punish their kindred tribe. But only when the Israelites repent and come before God in brokenness, humility, and with blood sacrifices does God save them. He is a God of justice and compassion. • O Lord, we tremble at Your wrath against sin. Forgive us when we condemn the sins of others but do not indict ourselves. We repent in brokenness and weeping. Our only recourse is to cling to the sacrifice of Jesus, whose blood covers all our sin. Amen.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:2 wept bitterly. After the heat of battle, the enormity of what they had done sank in. To avenge one murder, 40,000 men of Israel died on the battlefield, and a whole tribe of their kinsmen was all but exterminated.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:5 did not come … to Mizpah. Cf 20:1.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:7 not give them … wives. In their anger, the 11 tribes had made a rash vow not to allow any intermarriage with the tribe of Benjamin, but this meant that one of the 12 tribes of Israel must face extinction. See note, Nu 30:2.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:8 did not come … to Mizpah. Cf 20:1. Jabesh-gilead. A city c 8 mi E of the Jordan River, in the territory of Manasseh. See color map 1.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:10 The Israelites legalistically fulfilled one vow in order to circumvent another. The inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead arguably shared in the guilt of Benjamin for not taking part in the war and for violating the covenant unity of the rest of the tribes, but there is no indication that God commanded this punishment, which can be seen instead as an act of lovelessness.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:11 What Moses commanded that the Israelites do to the pagan Midianites (Nu 31:1–18). devote to destruction. See p 6. God was not consulted at all in this enterprise.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:12 Shiloh. Location of the tabernacle.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:13 rock of Rimmon. See note, 20:47.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:15 compassion. Again, we see the Israelites' selective morality in having compassion on the tribe of Benjamin, whom they had just nearly exterminated, but no compassion for the city of Jabesh-gilead. the LORD had made a breach. God is blamed for the tragedy, though the perpetrators acted mostly on their own initiative.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:18 Cursed. See note, Gn 12:3.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:19 yearly feast. Probably the Feast of Booths. See pp 200–201. highway. The highland trade route through the central hill country. See color map 1. Lebonah. Just off the main highway between Jerusalem and Bethel, at practically the geographic center of Israel.
JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:21 Shiloh. Where the tabernacle would periodically be set up and thus a shrine and place of pilgrimage for all of the tribes of Israel. See p 495.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:22–23 The fathers would not have violated the vow (v 1) because they did not intentionally "give" their daughters to Benjaminites; the Benjaminites just took them. As in vv 8–12, we see the Israelites' legalistic manipulation of the letter of the law. Ironically, what began as an attempt to punish the rape and murder of one woman ended with the punishers engineering the rape of 600 women and the murder of thousands.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:22 did not take … wife in battle. Excuses. The fathers need not feel the dishonor of losing their daughters due to defeat in war.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:24 inheritance. See "portion," p 7.

JUDGES—NOTE ON 21:25 no king. See note, 18:1. right in his own eyes. See note, 17:6. Lest anyone think this moral chaos is sanctioned by God, Jgs closes with this refrain, stressing the horrific consequences of the lack of social authority and the practice of moral relativism.

JUDGES—NOTE ON Ch 21 After the carnage against the Benjaminites, the Israelites begin to mourn the near eradication of one of their kindred tribes. They have compassion for the 600 survivors and hope to restore the tribe. So the elders devise a plan to come up with wives for the Benjaminites. These manipulations of morality are a final example of the moral degradation that comes from everyone doing what is right in his own eyes. God pours out His wrath on sinners, but He saves a remnant by His grace. • O Lord, Your Word reveals the depths of my sin, including my misguided attempts at righteousness. Forgive me by the Word of my King, Jesus, who gave His life to rescue me from sin. In His name I pray. Amen.

Naomi Widowed

1 [1]†† In the days when the judges ruled there was a famine in the land, and a man of Bethlehem in Judah went to sojourn in the country of Moab, he and his wife and his two sons. [2]† The name of the man was Elimelech and the name of his wife Naomi, and the names of his two sons were Mahlon and Chilion. They were Ephrathites from Bethlehem in Judah. They went into the country of Moab and remained there. [3]† But Elimelech, the husband of Naomi, died, and she was left with her two sons. [4]† These took Moabite wives; the name of the one was Orpah and the name of the other Ruth. They lived there about ten years, [5]and both Mahlon and Chilion died, so that the woman was left without her two sons and her husband.

Ruth’s Loyalty to Naomi

6 Then she arose with her daughters-in-law to return from the country of Moab, for she had heard in the fields of Moab that the Lord had visited his people and given them food. 7 So she set out from the place where she was with her two daughters-in-law, and they went on the way to return to the land of Judah. 8 But Naomi said to her two daughters-in-law, “Go, return each of you to her mother’s house. May the Lord deal kindly with you, as you have dealt with the dead and with me. 9 The Lord grant that you may find rest, each of you in the house of her husband!” Then she kissed them, and they lifted up their voices and wept. 10 And they said to her, “No, we will return with you to your people.” 11 But Naomi said, “Turn back, my daughters; why will you go with me? Have I yet sons in my womb that they may become your husbands? 12 Turn back, my daughters; go your way, for I am too old to have a husband. If I should say I have hope, even if I should have a husband this night and should bear sons, 13 would you therefore wait till they were grown? Would you therefore refrain from marrying? No, my daughters, for it is exceedingly bitter to me for your sake that the hand of the Lord has gone out against me.” 14 Then they lifted up their voices and wept again. And Orpah kissed her mother-in-law, but Ruth clung to her.

15 And she said, “See, your sister-in-law has gone back to her people and to her gods; return after your sister-in-law.” 16 But Ruth said, “Do not urge me to leave you or to return from following you. For where you go I will go, and where you lodge I will lodge. Your people shall be my people, and your God my God. 17 Where you die I will die, and there will I be buried.
May the Lord do so to me and more also if anything but death parts me from you.” 18 And when Naomi saw that she was determined to go with her, she said no more.

Naomi and Ruth Return

19 ‡†So the two of them went on until they came to Bethlehem. And when they came to Bethlehem, the whole town was stirred because of them. And the women said, “Is this Naomi?” 20 ‡†She said to them, “Do not call me Naomi;[1] call me Mara,[2] for the Almighty has dealt very bitterly with me.
21 †I went away full, and the Lord has brought me back empty. Why call me Naomi, when the Lord has testified against me and the Almighty has brought calamity upon me?”
22 †So Naomi returned, and Ruth the Moabite her daughter-in-law with her, who returned from the country of Moab. And they came to Bethlehem at the beginning of barley harvest.

Ruth Meets Boaz

2 [1]†Now Naomi had a relative of her husband's, a worthy man of the clan of Elimelech, whose name was Boaz. [2]†And Ruth the Moabite said to Naomi, "Let me go to the field and glean among the ears of grain after him in whose sight I shall find favor." And she said to her, "Go, my daughter." [3]†So she set out and went and gleaned in the field after the reapers, and she happened to come to the part of the field belonging to Boaz, who was of the clan of Elimelech. [4]†And behold, Boaz came from Bethlehem. And he said to the reapers, "The Lord be with you!" And they answered, "The Lord bless you." [5]†Then Boaz said to his young man who was in charge of the reapers, "Whose young woman is this?" [6]†And the servant who was in charge of the reapers answered, "She is the young Moabite woman, who came back with Naomi from the country of Moab. [7]† She said, 'Please let me glean and gather among the sheaves after the reapers.' So she came, and she has continued from early morning until now, except for a short rest."[1]

[8]††Then Boaz said to Ruth, "Now, listen, my daughter, do not go to glean in another field or leave this one, but keep close to my young women. [9]‡Let your eyes be on the field that they are reaping, and go after them. Have I not charged the young men not to touch you? And when you are thirsty, go to the vessels and drink what the young men have drawn." [10]†Then she fell on her face, bowing to the ground, and said to him, "Why have I found favor in your eyes, that you should take notice of me, since I am a foreigner?" [11]† But Boaz answered her, "All that you have done for your mother-in-law since the death of your husband has been fully told to me, and how you left your father and mother and your native land and came to a people that you did not know before. [12]†The Lord repay you for what you have done, and a full reward be given you by the Lord, the God of Israel, under whose wings you have come to take refuge!" [13]† Then she said, "I have found favor in your eyes, my lord, for you have comforted me and spoken kindly to your servant, though I am not one of your servants."

[14]†And at mealtime Boaz said to her, "Come here and eat some bread and dip your morsel in the wine." So she sat beside the reapers, and he passed to her roasted grain. And she ate until she was satisfied, and she had some left over. 15 † When she rose to glean, Boaz instructed his young men, saying, “Let her glean even among the sheaves, and do not reproach her. 16 † And also pull out some from the bundles for her and leave it for her to glean, and do not rebuke her.”

17 † So she gleaned in the field until evening. Then she beat out what she had gleaned, and it was about an ephah[1] of barley. 18 † And she took it up and went into the city. Her mother-in-law saw what she had gleaned. She also brought out and gave her what food she had left over after being satisfied. 19 † And her mother-in-law said to her, “Where did you glean today? And where have you worked? Blessed be the man who took notice of you.” So she told her mother-in-law with whom she had worked and said, “The man’s name with whom I worked today is Boaz.” 20 † And Naomi said to her daughter-in-law, “May he be blessed by the Lord, whose kindness has not forsaken the living or the dead!” Naomi also said to her, “The man is a close relative of ours, one of our redeemers.” 21 † And Ruth the Moabite said, “Besides, he said to me, ‘You shall keep close by my young men until they have finished all my harvest.’” 22 † And Naomi said to Ruth, her daughter-in-law, “It is good, my daughter, that you go out with his young women, lest in another field you be assaulted.” 23 † So she kept close to the young women of Boaz, gleaning until the end of the barley and wheat harvests. And she lived with her mother-in-law.

Ruth and Boaz at the Threshing Floor

3 [1]†Then Naomi her mother-in-law said to her, “My daughter, should I not seek rest for you, that it may be well with you? [2]†Is not Boaz our relative, with whose young women you were? See, he is winnowing barley tonight at the threshing floor. [3]†Wash therefore and anoint yourself, and put on your cloak and go down to the threshing floor, but do not make yourself known to the man until he has finished eating and drinking. [4]†But when he lies down, observe the place where he lies. Then go and uncover his feet and lie down, and he will tell you what to do.” [5]†And she replied, “All that you say I will do.”

[6]So she went down to the threshing floor and did just as her mother-in-law had commanded her. [7]†And when Boaz had eaten and drunk, and his heart was merry, he went to lie down at the end of the heap of grain. Then she came softly and uncovered his feet and lay down. [8]†At midnight the man was startled and turned over, and behold, a woman lay at his feet! [9]†He said, “Who are you?” And she answered, “I am Ruth, your servant. Spread your wings[1] over your servant, for you are a redeemer.” [10]†And he said, “May you be blessed by the Lord, my daughter. You have made this last kindness greater than the first in that you have not gone after young men, whether poor or rich. [11]†And now, my daughter, do not fear. I will do for you all that you ask, for all my fellow townsmen know that you are a worthy woman. [12]†And now it is true that I am a redeemer. Yet there is a redeemer nearer than I. [13]†Remain tonight, and in the morning, if he will redeem you, good; let him do it. But if he is not willing to redeem you, then, as the Lord lives, I will redeem you. Lie down until the morning.”

[14]†So she lay at his feet until the morning, but arose before one could recognize another. And he said, “Let it not be known that the woman came to the threshing floor.” [15]†And he said, “Bring the garment you are wearing and hold it out.” So she held it, and he measured out six measures of barley and put it on her. Then she went into the city. [16]†And when she came to her mother-in-law, she said, “How did you fare, my daughter?” Then she told her all that the man had done for her, [17]†saying, “These six measures of barley he gave to me, for he said to me, ‘You must not go back empty-handed to your mother-in-law.’” [18] † She replied, “Wait, my daughter, until you learn how the matter turns out, for the man will not rest but will settle the matter today.”

Boaz Redeems Ruth

4 [1]‡†Now Boaz had gone up to the gate and sat down there. And behold, the redeemer, of whom Boaz had spoken, came by. So Boaz said, “Turn aside, friend; sit down here.” And he turned aside and sat down. [2]†And he took ten men of the elders of the city and said, “Sit down here.” So they sat down. [3]†Then he said to the redeemer, “Naomi, who has come back from the country of Moab, is selling the parcel of land that belonged to our relative Elimelech. [4]†So I thought I would tell you of it and say, ‘Buy it in the presence of those sitting here and in the presence of the elders of my people.’ If you will redeem it, redeem it. But if you[1] will not, tell me, that I may know, for there is no one besides you to redeem it, and I come after you.” And he said, “I will redeem it.” [5]†Then Boaz said, “The day you buy the field from the hand of Naomi, you also acquire Ruth[2] the Moabite, the widow of the dead, in order to perpetuate the name of the dead in his inheritance.” [6]†Then the redeemer said, “I cannot redeem it for myself, lest I impair my own inheritance. Take my right of redemption yourself, for I cannot redeem it.”

[7]†Now this was the custom in former times in Israel concerning redeeming and exchanging: to confirm a transaction, the one drew off his sandal and gave it to the other, and this was the manner of attesting in Israel. [8]†So when the redeemer said to Boaz, “Buy it for yourself,” he drew off his sandal. [9]†Then Boaz said to the elders and all the people, “You are witnesses this day that I have bought from the hand of Naomi all that belonged to Elimelech and all that belonged to Chilion and to Mahlon. [10]†Also Ruth the Moabite, the widow of Mahlon, I have bought to be my wife, to perpetuate the name of the dead in his inheritance, that the name of the dead may not be cut off from among his brothers and from the gate of his native place. You are witnesses this day.” [11]‡Then all the people who were at the gate and the elders said, “We are witnesses. May the Lord make the woman, who is coming into your house, like Rachel and Leah, who together built up the house of Israel. May you act worthily in Ephrathah and be renowned in Bethlehem, [12]and may your house be like the house of Perez, whom Tamar bore to Judah, because of the offspring that the LORD will give you by this young woman."

Ruth and Boaz Marry

13 ‡†So Boaz took Ruth, and she became his wife. And he went in to her, and the Lord gave her conception, and she bore a son. 14 ‡†Then the women said to Naomi, “Blessed be the Lord, who has not left you this day without a redeemer, and may his name be renowned in Israel! 15 †He shall be to you a restorer of life and a nourisher of your old age, for your daughter-in-law who loves you, who is more to you than seven sons, has given birth to him.” 16 †Then Naomi took the child and laid him on her lap and became his nurse. 17 †And the women of the neighborhood gave him a name, saying, “A son has been born to Naomi.” They named him Obed. He was the father of Jesse, the father of David.

The Genealogy of David

18 ‡ ‡ ‡Now these are the generations of Perez: Perez fathered Hezron, 19 Hezron fathered Ram, Ram fathered Amminadab,
20 †Amminadab fathered Nahshon, Nahshon fathered Salmon, 21 † Salmon fathered Boaz, Boaz fathered Obed, 22 Obed fathered Jesse, and Jesse fathered David.

Introduction to Ruth

Reading Ruth

A sledge of heavy timbers and black basalt stones rolls and crushes stalks of barley against the bleached, concrete-hard earth. Two boys sit atop the sledge, reining an ox, which casually circles the threshing floor. The unmuzzled ox lowers its head often and licks the floor, drawing up its share of the harvest. To the side, young men rake, scoop, and toss the stubble. As wind blows away the lighter chaff, the men catch the precious grain in their wicker scoops and dump it into clay jars for storage. Women and girls approach, bearing fresh flat bread and goat skins sloshing with wine. Eating, drinking, and dancing with family and neighbors will begin at twilight.

As you read Ruth, consider the bond of families and neighbors who shared the same threshing floors, suffered together through dry years, and celebrated together in the good. The Book of Ruth illustrates for us the frailty and danger of isolation and the life-or-death bond of family.

Luther on Ruth

Ruth, who followed her mother-in-law Naomi, says (Ruth 1:16): “Your people shall be my people, and your God my God.” Although she did not belong to the holy people—for she was a Moabitess—she was nevertheless saved because she clung in faith to the God of Israel. (AE 3:133)

God has always been accustomed to collect a church for Himself even from among the heathen. Thus Ruth was a Moabitess, and Rahab was a Canaanite woman. They are numbered in the genealogy of Christ (Matt. 1:5). Nor were these the only women who attached themselves to the godly, but many other Canaanites did so along with them. Not that Ruth or Rahab partook of the forgiveness of sins because they were on the wrong path. No, they were converted; they received the Word from the Israelites. This means, of course, that a heathen or unbeliever became a believer. For after believing the Word which he heard, he was a member of the church and no longer a heathen. (AE 8:135–36)

This passage is an exposition of the law in Deuteronomy 25 [:5], namely, that if the brother of the deceased man is unwilling, then the next to him in blood kinship should marry her. Besides, Ruth didn’t demand that Boaz marry her. (AE 54:301)

Challenges for Readers

Propaganda for David. The Book of Ruth is clearly written in defense of David's rule. Some critics see this detracting from the Book's credibility.

Boaz's Feet. Some interpreters view the uncovering of Boaz's feet as a polite way to note sexual activity. However, nothing else in the Book agrees with this interpretation, and everywhere the faithfulness and integrity of Ruth and Boaz are emphasized.

Blessings for Readers

The Book of Ruth relates a beautiful story in the history of King David's family, illustrating how God guides history for the sake of His people. He works through suffering and redemption to preserve His people and to welcome the nations. These aspects of the Book point to the birth of Jesus, the world's Redeemer, who descends from Ruth and Boaz.

Though the Book of Ruth is not a love story, it beautifully illustrates the Lord's enduring love for you. As you read Ruth, consider how the Lord calls you to show love and faithfulness to your family and your neighbors, for whom Christ lived and gave His life.

OUTLINE

Ruth: A Drama of Faithfulness

The history of Ruth clearly divides according to its chapters into four acts. Each act may conveniently be divided into two scenes.

Act I The Dilemma

Scene A—Prologue: Tragedy (Famine in Israel; deaths of father and sons in Moab; 1:1–5)

Scene B—Setting: Return (Naomi returns with Ruth but no heir; 1:6–22)

Act II The Hope

Scene A—Acceptance (Boaz welcomes Ruth to his field and to Israel; 2:1–17)

Scene B—Nourishment (Widows are temporarily cared for; 2:18–23)

Act III The Risk

Scene A—Strategy (Naomi proposes daring plan for permanent solution; 3:1–6)

Scene B—Challenge (Ruth challenges Boaz to redemption and marriage; 3:7–18)

Act IV The Solution

Scene A—Climax: Sacrifice (Boaz acts to solve dilemma; 4:1–12)

Scene B—Epilogue: Heir (Fidelity is blessed eventually with descendant King David; 4:13–22)

Study Notes

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:1 when the judges ruled. The events took place within an 11-year period during the time of the judges. See pp 338–40. Ruth was likely written during David's reign (c 1009–970 BC). Bethlehem. Means "the house of bread"; ironic in a time of famine. went to sojourn in … Moab. During a famine, Elimelech led his family to more inviting agricultural prospects. There is nothing wrong in his move to Moab. To escape famine, Abraham went to Egypt, Isaac went to Gerar of the Philistines, and Jacob went to Egypt at God's command (Gn 46:1–7). To avoid Saul's rampage, David hid his parents in Moab (1Sm 22:3–5).

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:2 Ephrathites. David was an Ephrathite from Bethlehem (1Sm 17:12).

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:3 Elimelech. Lit, "my God is King." The true God and King, the protector of widows (Ps 68:5), will provide for Naomi.

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:4 These took Moabite wives. Intermarriage with Moabites was not prohibited as it was with the seven dispossessed peoples of Canaan: Hittites, Girgashites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites (Dt 7:1–3). The Moabites and the Ammonites were the descendants of the incestuous union of Lot with his daughters (Gn 19:36–38). Moabites were not to enter the assembly of worshipers "even to the tenth generation" (Dt 23:3; Ne 13:1). Ruth. Tradition has linked "Ruth" with the Hbr word for "friend."

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:1–5 Elimelech and his sons struggle during a famine and move to Moab to preserve their family. You, too, may struggle against unexpected changes in the economy or in your family. God gives you freedom in making family and business decisions, but He also gives you the blessings and guidance of His Holy Word. Whether you are prospering or struggling, look to the Word, wherein lies wisdom for this life and the promise of eternal life through Jesus. • Make my heart, Lord Jesus, captive to Your Word, which guides my family, my work, and my future. Amen.

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:6 the Lord had visited His people. God's people see His providence in everything. God had remembered to give food, particularly to Bethlehem, "the house of bread."

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:7 to return to the land of Judah. As God provides sustenance for their livelihood, He will provide for Naomi's future as well. Formerly, when Israelites left the Promised Land (e.g., Abraham and Isaac), they returned because of God's promises. Ultimately, God's promises regarding the land are fulfilled in Jesus, who gives all believers an eternal inheritance, "a better country, that is, a heavenly one" (Heb 11:13–16).
RUTH—NOTE ON 1:8 May the LORD deal kindly with you. Formula used in two other OT contexts (2Sm 2:6; 15:20). Naomi uses the personal name Yahweh, which refers to God's involvement in human affairs. kindly. Hbr chesed, which may be translated "in faithfulness." The theme of faithfulness or kindness is central to the story and its application (cf 3:10). See "steadfast love," p 843. In showing kindness, the Lord's ultimate aim is that His people repent and turn to Him.
RUTH—NOTE ON 1:9 rest. Humanly speaking, opportunity for this was bleak.
RUTH—NOTE ON 1:10 we will return with you. The faith of Naomi and her sons inspired her foreign daughters-in-law to have faith in the God of Israel.
RUTH—NOTE ON 1:11–12 Have I yet sons in my womb. Hyperbole. Naomi was referring to levirate marriage (Lat levir, "brother-in-law"). Elimelech's brother would be legally obligated to marry Naomi to perpetuate Elimelech's name and posterity (vv 12–13). Naomi ironically described a legal and logical possibility that would never be fulfilled: following Dt 25:5–6, Naomi's brother-in-law would marry her so that she could give birth to sons, who in due time would marry the two older widows Ruth and Orpah.
RUTH—NOTE ON 1:13 exceedingly bitter to me for your sake. Or, "much more bitter for me than for you." Cf v 20. the hand of the LORD has gone out against me. Naomi affirmed God's participation in the events. Her statement is a confession of faith and sorrowful resolve much like Job's (Jb 1:21).
RUTH—NOTE ON 1:14 Orpah kissed her mother-in-law, but Ruth clung to her. Naomi's words convinced Orpah to seek security through her own efforts. Ruth was willing to face a life of poverty, lack of marriage, childlessness, and prejudice in Israel. She could not live without Naomi and the God of Israel, even if she was to be treated as a second-class citizen in the Promised Land.

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:15 her gods. Orpah had believed and worshiped as her husband did. She now renounced her faith in the God of Israel, thinking she could better care for herself than could the Lord.

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:16–17 Poetry. Note the structure:

A Do not urge me to leave.	Plea against separation.
B For where you go I will go.	Promise of family loyalty.
C Your people shall be my people, and your God my God.	Confession of faith.
B′ Where you die I will die.	Promise of family loyalty.
A′ If anything but death parts me from you.	Oath against separation.

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:17 May the LORD do so to me. Common oath formula calling the Lord as witness (1Sm 14:44; 2Ki 6:31). See "oath," p 7.

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:18 Much like a present-day confirmand, Ruth satisfactorily confessed her faith in the Lord. Observing the faithfulness of Elimelech, Naomi, and Mahlon to the Lord and His covenant, Ruth was drawn to the God of Israel, forsaking her gods and people.

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:6–18 Ruth refuses to stay in Moab when Naomi determines to go back to Bethlehem, even though her sister-in-law stays in Moab. Ruth boldly confesses her faith in the Lord and her commitment to her family. What an incredible example of godly priorities: the Lord and family come first! • Thanks be to God that He put us first and made us family through the suffering, death, and resurrection of Jesus, who crossed heaven and earth to save us. Amen.

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:19 the whole town was stirred. More than 10 years had passed since Naomi had left in far better circumstances than when she returned (v 4).

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:20–21 Some scholars regard these verses as poetry.

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:20 Naomi is ashamed to return to Bethlehem without husband or sons. This shame is multiplied, for she knows she will remain childless, unable to provide sons for her daughters-in-law. the Almighty has dealt very bitterly with me. Or, "has made me very bitter." Naomi compares her experience in Moab to the Israelites' bitter slavery in Egypt.

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:21 testified against me. As with Job, there is no sin charged against Naomi in all her actions. At times, it appears that God is hidden and uncaring in a believer's suffering (Is 45:15). But God is surely present to bring relief in His time.

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:22 barley harvest. Mar/Apr. Spring rains had passed. See calendar, p 262.

RUTH—NOTE ON 1:19–22 Naomi confesses the bitterness she feels on returning to Bethlehem without her husband and sons. Yet Ruth is with her still. Like Naomi, Christians today seek to do their best when caring for loved ones. Intermittent times of suffering are used by God to humble us. In due time, God raises us up to see His mercy and to care more dearly. • Lord Jesus, when You act in ways we do not understand, direct us to our Baptism. There, You bound Yourself to us in forgiveness and love so that, like Naomi and Ruth, we will see Your deliverance in Your time. Amen.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:1 worthy. Lit, "a mighty man of valor." Boaz's social, legal, and economic status in the town was well respected. This expression commonly describes a seasoned warrior. See note, Jsh 1:14. Boaz was a "worthy man" before the Lord, as his forthcoming behavior makes apparent. These words imply that Naomi knew Boaz before departing for Moab.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:2 Ruth was careful to seek the most favorable opportunity for gleaning (Lv 19:9; 23:22). But even this was a challenge because she was a Moabite.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:3 she happened. "The heart of a man plans his way, but the LORD establishes his steps" (Pr 16:9). field belonging to Boaz. Beginning with fields owned by others, Ruth comes to Boaz's field.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:4 The LORD be with you! … The LORD bless you. Typical expressions of greeting and blessing still used today. They underscore the reality of the Lord's commitment to Israel when He says, "I am with you." This speaks of the Lord's fidelity toward those who fear Him (Ps 130:3–4). The angel Gabriel used the same words to proclaim the Lord's fidelity to the Virgin Mary (Lk 1:28). See "be with," p 5.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:5 Whose young woman is this? As a good businessman, Boaz inspected his fields. Boaz did not ask "who" Ruth was. Boaz asked under "whose" authority or family this woman found her identity. See pp 54–55.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:6 Moabite woman. Six times Ruth is called a Moabite (1:4; 2:2, 6, 21; 4:5, 10). This underscores that she is a foreigner who, hearing God's Word through Naomi and her family, willingly came in faith to the land of the God of Israel. with Naomi. Ruth is under the authority of Naomi, within the family of Elimelech, a kinsman of Boaz.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:7 Ruth worked hard at her task to the glory of God (cf 1Co 10:31).
RUTH—NOTE ON 2:8–9 As a young, attractive single woman, or as a foreigner whose presence might bring residual ethnic prejudice from the Israelites, Ruth was protected by Boaz's word. Boaz would keep a protective eye on Ruth.
RUTH—NOTE ON 2:8 my daughter. Naomi addressed Ruth in this language as well (2:2, 22; 3:1, 16), suggesting that she and Boaz were roughly the same age. my young women. After the menservants cut the grain stalks, the young women gathered it into sheaves (bundles) to be brought to the threshing floor. Ruth was to follow behind the young women—ahead of the other aliens, widows, and poor—to have first opportunity to collect the best and most abundant gleanings without fear of rough treatment from the hired help.
RUTH—NOTE ON 2:9–10 drink … foreigner. Though a foreigner, Ruth would not have to draw water for Israelites (Dt 29:10–11; Jsh 9:21–27); though a woman, she would not have to draw water for men (Gn 24:11–18; Jn 4:7–9). Now she would drink water drawn by Israelite men.
RUTH—NOTE ON 2:10 she fell … to the ground. Boaz was possibly the first person to show kindness to Ruth since she arrived in Bethlehem. Why have I found favor in your eyes. Ruth knew she had been found by Boaz, in whose sight she wanted to find favor (v 2). See "favor," p 6.
RUTH—NOTE ON 2:11 Till now, Boaz knew Ruth only by reputation. With his own eyes, Boaz now sees the righteousness of Ruth's actions. you left. Ruth was the antitheses of Orpah. Ruth's sacrifice of leaving family and country could have reminded Boaz of Abraham and Sarah's earlier pilgrimage (Gn 12:1–5) to the Promised Land.
RUTH—NOTE ON 2:12 The blessing pronounced by Boaz pointed ahead to the shed blood of Jesus Christ on Mount Calvary for the forgiveness of the sins of the world. This blessing reaches its most poetic expression when Jesus proclaims His redemptive love for Jerusalem (Mt 23:37–39). The LORD repay you for what you have done. "Faith must be the mother and source of works that are truly good and well pleasing to God, which God will reward in this world and in the world to come. This is why St. Paul calls them true fruit of faith, also fruit of the Spirit [Galatians 5:22–23]" (FC SD IV 9).

under whose wings. On the cherubim as God's "wings," see notes, Ps 80:1; 99:1.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:13 I have found favor. After suffering, Ruth is now the beneficiary of the Lord's mercy through Boaz's kindness. See "favor," p 6. kindly … though I am not one of your servants. Because she is not an Israelite, she has no legal standing in Israel.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:14 Boaz invites a destitute foreigner who was doing the menial work of gleaning to eat with him and his reapers. Boaz serves Ruth a meal with his own hands. This is a tremendous rise in status for Ruth. wine. Or, sour vinegar made from wine. she had some left over. Boaz's generosity overflows.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:15 Let her glean even among the sheaves. Gleaners typically followed the young women who bundled together stalks and ears of cut cereal grass into a sheaf. Now Ruth gleans before the young women bundled the sheaves.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:16 bundles for her … to glean. Boaz's generosity far exceeds the requirements prescribed in the Law for the poor (Lv 19:9; Dt 24:19). Such acts show that Boaz has a particular interest in Ruth.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:17 she gleaned in the field until evening. Though her work was manifestly easier and more productive, she did not become presumptuous and slack in her labors. beat out. See "Reading Ruth," p 422. an ephah of barley. C 29 lbs, an astonishing amount gleaned in one day's labor.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:18 city. Typical translation of the Hbr term, though it may describe a walled town of small size, such as Bethlehem.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:19 with whom I worked…. Boaz. Ruth makes it sound as though she was working for Boaz. She recognizes that he treated her as a member of his clan, but she is not affected by this. Throughout, Boaz hints at things that Ruth has yet to comprehend!

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:20 redeemers. Hbr go'el. A redeemer's responsibilities included the following.: "First, buying back the estate of a deceased relative (Lev 25:24–30; Jer 32:6–15); second, buying back an impoverished relative who had to sell himself into slavery (Lev 25:47–53); third, receiving restitution for a crime whose victim was deceased (Num 5:8); and fourth, avenging the willful, non-accidental killing of his relative by executing the murderer, for whom there was no ransom (Num 35:11–12, 16–21, 31–32; Deut 19:11–12), although this fourth practice was probably replaced by due procedures in criminal courts during the monarchy. Fifth, as implied in non-legal literature, the redeemer evidently also had the customary duty to assist the relative in a lawsuit" (CC Ru, p 38). Cf Jb 19:25; Ps 119:154; Pr 23:11; Jer 50:34; Lm 3:58.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:21 Boaz's men would also now keep a protective eye on Ruth.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:22 young women. Workers for Boaz. assaulted. As a young, single foreign woman, Ruth would be open to simmering verbal prejudice or worse.

RUTH—NOTE ON 2:23 she lived with her mother-in-law. Though times were improving, Ruth was still faithful to her mother-in-law in accord to the vow she made in 1:16–17.

RUTH—NOTE ON Ch 2 The Lord brings Ruth and Boaz together in mutual honor. We see a wonderful reversal in the fortunes of Ruth and Naomi. In times of darkness and suffering today, we may doubt God's Father-heart toward us. Yet God promises that He works all things for our good (Rm 8:28–39). • Dear Jesus, by Your Holy Spirit, open the eyes of our hearts so that we may see You caring for us through those around us. Amen.

RUTH—NOTE ON 3:1 seek rest for you. Naomi plays the matchmaker seeking a husband for her daughter-in-law. Arranged marriages were common in Israel (Gn 24; Jgs 14:1–10). See pp 54–55.

RUTH—NOTE ON 3:2 winnowing. See note, Ps 1:4. threshing floor. Located on a hilltop, c 30 ft in diameter with a compacted clay or rock surface. See pp 422–23.

RUTH—NOTE ON 3:3 Wash … anoint … put on. Ruth prepared herself as a bride does for her husband with washing, anointing (olive oil, perhaps with perfume), and special attire. cloak. Concealed her identity. until he has finished eating and drinking. As is commonly said, "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach."

RUTH—NOTE ON 3:4 observe the place where he lies. No amount of darkness could hide the embarrassment associated with approaching the wrong man! uncover his feet. The night's chill would waken Boaz. In light of v 9, the uncovering of Boaz's feet symbolized Ruth's proposal for marriage. See "Boaz's Feet," p 422.

RUTH—NOTE ON 3:5–6 Ruth was faithful to her vow in 1:16–17.

RUTH—NOTE ON 3:7 his heart was merry. Taken in moderation, wine is a gift of God that gladdens the heart (Ps 104:15). Boaz was a righteous man; therefore, it would be wrong to infer that he was drunk. He was content from a good meal and with knowledge of a bountiful crop.

RUTH—NOTE ON 3:8 startled. Out of a deep sleep. a woman lay at his feet! Women would not be staying at the threshing floor.
RUTH—NOTE ON 3:9 your servant. Earlier, Boaz treated her as a member of his familial clan (2:19). wings. Hbr kanaph, the outer garment that ancient men wrapped about themselves in the day and used as a blanket at night. A wife finds rest under the protective wing of her husband, just as Israel finds rest under the protective wing of Yahweh (2:12; see pp 212–13). Paul compares the relationship of Christ to the Church as a husband to his bride (Eph 5:25). Naomi's gamble was that Boaz would be favorably impressed by Ruth's loyalty and would agree to her marriage request.
RUTH—NOTE ON 3:10 blessed. Similar to the greeting in 2:4; Boaz underscores the reality of the Lord's commitment to Ruth. See p 842. kindness. See "steadfast love," p 843. By now, Ruth's virtue was known throughout Bethlehem. She could have married for love or for money, but she married for the sake of family loyalty. Though Ruth could have approached a young man her own age, she approaches Boaz, who is approximately the same age as Naomi. This is more evidence of the virtue of this woman. She thinks not of herself, but of Naomi, redeeming the property, and providing an heir for the family. All that Ruth does is motivated by fidelity to the Lord and His covenant. Boaz implies that he, too, trusts in Yahweh and sees His hand in all that Ruth does.
RUTH—NOTE ON 3:11 I will do for you all that you ask. Boaz agrees to marry Ruth. worthy. See note, 2:11.
RUTH—NOTE ON 3:12 nearer than I. Boaz cannot act alone, according to the Law (Lv 25:25). Like Ruth, Boaz modeled fidelity to the Lord and His covenant.
RUTH—NOTE ON 3:13 Remain. It would not be safe to be out late at night, esp for a young woman. Additionally, if she were seen, it would raise many questions. There is no reason to assume that Ruth or Boaz went beyond what Naomi said in vv 1–4, by engaging in sex. as the Lord lives. Boaz willingly subjects himself to divine punishment should he not keep his word to Ruth. See "vow," p 7. redeem. Boaz was going to redeem the situation much like today when a person says he will redeem the time. Out of fidelity to the God of Israel and His covenant, Boaz was going beyond the letter of the Law (Lv 19:18; Mt 22:39; Rm 13:9–10). He was going to live by the spirit of the Law. He would provide the economic means in case the primary redeemer would not. He was also consenting to Ruth's desire to mother an heir to perpetuate the names of Elimelech and Mahlon.

RUTH—NOTE ON 3:14 Let it not be known. Scandalous rumors would have been exceedingly harmful, making it difficult for Boaz to pursue Naomi's and Ruth's claims to the family estate.

RUTH—NOTE ON 3:15 garment. Ruth had frequently returned from Boaz's field in the evenings laden with grain; carrying grain in her garment would disguise it from curious eyes. She worked long hours to ward off poverty; carrying grain would quiet, not raise, suspicion about her activity. six measures. A generous gift.

RUTH—NOTE ON 3:16 Most likely, Naomi slept little that night. daughter. A tone of loving-kindness, but it also reflects how Naomi now viewed Ruth—as her daughter.

RUTH—NOTE ON 3:17 Through Boaz, the Lord was now reversing the "bitterness/Mara" of earlier days (1:20–21). Naomi returned from Moab empty. The full measure of grain would fill their bellies and anticipates, in due course, seed to fill Ruth's womb.

RUTH—NOTE ON 3:18 Wait. Ruth was not to worry. Naomi's plan for Ruth to find rest under the loving headship of a husband would soon be fulfilled.

RUTH—NOTE ON Ch 3 Naomi acts in faith and hope as she sends Ruth to Boaz as a potential redeemer. These women do not simply take matters into their own hands. Their actions are based on the promises in God's Word, which sets a marvelous example for us. We can always approach our Redeemer, Jesus. • Lord Jesus, through Your Gospel promises, work in us so that we follow the example of Naomi, Ruth, Boaz, and our father-in-faith Abraham, who waited patiently and received what was promised (Heb 6:15). Amen.

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:1 up to the gate. See p 792. friend. The relative's name is not included in the story so as not to shame his family.

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:2 ten … elders. A quorum to judge and settle the case. Participants and even passersby could freely discuss the matter until a decision was reached, based on consensus and common sense (vv 9–12). See p 792.

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:3 is selling. Or, "has sold." The Hbr verb is in the perfect tense, a straightforward way of saying the land had already been sold. Wives could act in business matters. See notes, Pr 31:10–31; 31:16; see also the covenant oath in Dt 29:10–13. Before leaving for Moab 11 years earlier, Elimelech sold the rights to the harvests on his land (see note, v 5). This is why Naomi returned to Bethlehem penniless and dependent on Ruth's gleanings from a generous kinsman. Naomi is now asking that the redeemer purchase back the use of the land. (See note, 2:20, the first responsibility.)

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:4 With such direct speech, Boaz rebukes the man for his unfaithfulness to the Lord and His covenant when he did not purchase the rights 11 years ago to keep the land from being sold outside the family (2:20). Those assembled show no surprise at Boaz's direct words, because they understood the man's responsibility, which he had not fulfilled. Boaz announced his plans, contingent on those of the primary redeemer.

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:5 The day you buy the field. Israelites could not literally sell their inheritance; land could only be leased (Lv 25:23–28; Nu 36:7). They owned the harvests, not the land itself. you also acquire Ruth. Or, "I will also acquire Ruth." In other words, "the day you redeem the land, I will marry Ruth as she and I agreed to earlier" (cf 3:10–13). The Hbr has historically presented some difficulty for translators (e.g., ESV note). Since the primary redeemer was not a brother of Elimelech, there is no biblical basis for the primary redeemer to enter into a levirate marriage (see note, 1:11). Additionally, levirate marriages were pursued with Israelite widows, not with foreigners. Ruth was not yet considered an Israelite, as her marriage with Mahlon had not been in the land of Israel (see note, vv 11–12). Neither the primary redeemer nor townspeople knew Boaz and Ruth planned to marry (3:13).

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:6 impair my own inheritance. When Boaz and Ruth had a son, the boy would perpetuate the name of his mother's first husband and stand as heir to his property, though the boy would physically be the son of Boaz the redeemer. The primary redeemer's family would ultimately lose the property rights to the boy. Take my right of redemption. Technically, the transaction is not one of redemption, for no exchange of goods occurred. Rather, it is the transfer of the right of redemption (see note, v 5). I cannot redeem it. The heart of the primary redeemer was not willing to do the sacrificial labor that would benefit Ruth and Naomi, relatives outside his immediate family.

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:7 custom in former times. Implies that the events were not familiar to the reader and that the writing occurred later. In earlier times, transfer of property occurred when the seller lifted up his foot from the property and placed the buyer's foot on it. To "set foot" on the land was associated with ownership (Dt 1:36; 11:24; Jsh 1:3; 14:9). drew off his sandal. The custom had changed. A sandal was removed and handed to the other, which symbolized the legal transaction.
RUTH—NOTE ON 4:8 drew off his sandal. See note, v 7. The primary redeemer gave Boaz the right to step onto the property. Such public symbolism was important testimony in a society that did not keep day-to-day legal records, as happened in later times. The primary redeemer publicly renounced his claim on the harvests from the land.
RUTH—NOTE ON 4:9 You are witnesses this day. The 10 elders (see note, v 2) could testify later, in case a dispute arose. The transaction, witnessed by all, was the equivalent of a notary or a judge's ruling.
RUTH—NOTE ON 4:10 bought. Or, "acquired." Boaz had assumed the right of redemption. Secondarily, in marrying Ruth, he would acquire the responsibility to raise up an heir. This placed Boaz at a financial disadvantage, but it secured the future for Ruth and Naomi. Boaz would benefit from the harvests until either the Year of Jubilee, when all land was returned to the original owners (Lv 25:8–13), or until an heir was born from Ruth's womb. The field was large enough to provide sustenance in normal (not famine) conditions.
RUTH—NOTE ON 4:11–12 Poetic. May the LORD make the woman … like Rachel and Leah. The elders regarded Ruth legally as an Israelite. Rachel and Leah were Arameans (Gn 30:14–15; 31:19–20). Tamar. Probably a Canaanite (Gn 38:2, 6, 14–18, 26). These foreign women gave birth to the descendants of Israel, and Judah in particular. young woman. She was of childbearing years. The drama comes full circle with words Boaz first used to describe Ruth (2:5). The man who inquired earlier about this young woman would take her home as his wife.
RUTH—NOTE ON 4:1–12 Boaz acts boldly on behalf of Naomi and Ruth to secure their future and family inheritance. Today, God calls us to act with wisdom on behalf of the helpless, to perpetuate their life and share with them the inheritance of eternal life in His name. Jesus bears witness that He has and will act as the Redeemer of us all. • Jesus, my inheritance is rich from You! Give me a bold heart to share what I have received from Your Word and blessings. Amen.

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:13 became his wife. In light of the culture, it is reasonable to assume Boaz was a family man, and so Ruth would become his second wife. conception. The Lord creates us in our mothers' wombs (Ps 139:13) as full human beings from the moment of conception.

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:14–15 Some scholars regard these verses as poetry. Naomi, who once felt shame (1:19–21), is now exalted at the birth of her grandson.

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:14 women. They wished to bless Naomi and Ruth, asking that Ruth's son become famous in all Israel. Blessed be the LORD, who has not left you. See p 842. The faithfulness of Boaz, Ruth, and Naomi to the Lord's covenant brought the praise of the villagers.

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:15 more to you than seven sons. Ruth's faithfulness multiplies blessings for others. Regarding Ruth, Naomi might say, "The LORD takes pleasure in those who fear Him, in those who hope in His steadfast love" (Ps 147:11).

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:16 nurse. Naomi did not serve as a wet nurse to the child but cared for him as a grandmother.

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:17 women … gave him a name. This passage and 1Sm 1:20 suggest that women gave children their names (cf Lk 1:57–63). Obed. "One who serves." He was going to care for the earthly needs of his mother and grandmother. the father of Jesse, the father of David. Obed is the grandfather of King David. There is the nuance in Obed's name that he is also the servant of Yahweh. Ruth and Obed are ancestors of King David and of Christ Jesus.

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:13–17 The Lord blesses Boaz and Ruth with marriage and with a child; Naomi's friends celebrate His merciful redemption. As the Lord blesses you, let others know of His kindness so that they may celebrate with you. He restores your life and guarantees your future through the blessings of His beloved Son. • Bless me, O Lord, that I may not fail to bless Your name before others and lead them in celebration of Your bountiful goodness. Amen.

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:18–22 This genealogy is not complete, nor was it meant to be. See p 9. Two other 10-generation lists are found in Genesis: Adam to Noah (5:1–29) and Shem to Abraham (11:10–26). Both lists end with a new beginning and hope.

RUTH—NOTE ON 4:18 generations. See p 9.
RUTH—NOTE ON 4:20 Nahshon. Brother-in-law of Aaron. Emerged as a tribal leader in Israel, helping Moses conduct the census of Israel in the wilderness. When Israel dedicated the temple, Nahshon was the first leader to do so (Nu 7:12, 17).
RUTH—NOTE ON 4:21 Boaz is the seventh ancestor named. Ancient genealogies reserved the seventh spot as a place of special honor and importance.
RUTH—NOTE ON 4:18–22 The Book of Ruth ends with a summary of the genealogy of King David. The drama of God's mercy has come full circle. Those seemingly abandoned by God now see His mighty arm of covenant blessing reaching out to them. • Lord God, Your faithfulness and covenant to us were seen when You did not spare Your Son, Jesus, for the forgiveness of our sins. May Your Spirit work in our hearts a desire for faithfulness to Jesus Christ and the new covenant He made for us in the Sacrament of the Altar, wherein we receive Jesus' body and blood for forgiveness and peace. Amen.

The Birth of Samuel

1 [1] ‡ † There was a certain man of Ramathaim-zophim of the hill country of Ephraim whose name was Elkanah the son of Jeroham, son of Elihu, son of Tohu, son of Zuph, an Ephrathite. [2] † He had two wives. The name of the one was Hannah, and the name of the other, Peninnah. And Peninnah had children, but Hannah had no children.

[3] † Now this man used to go up year by year from his city to worship and to sacrifice to the Lord of hosts at Shiloh, where the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were priests of the Lord. [4] ‡ † On the day when Elkanah sacrificed, he would give portions to Peninnah his wife and to all her sons and daughters. [5] † But to Hannah he gave a double portion, because he loved her, though the Lord had closed her womb.[1] [6] † And her rival used to provoke her grievously to irritate her, because the Lord had closed her womb. [7] So it went on year by year. As often as she went up to the house of the Lord, she used to provoke her. Therefore Hannah wept and would not eat. [8] † And Elkanah, her husband, said to her, “Hannah, why do you weep?
And why do you not eat? And why is your heart sad? Am I not more to you than ten sons?”

[9] † After they had eaten and drunk in Shiloh, Hannah rose. Now Eli the priest was sitting on the seat beside the doorpost of the temple of the Lord.
[10] She was deeply distressed and prayed to the Lord and wept bitterly. [11] † And she vowed a vow and said, “O Lord of hosts, if you will indeed look on the affliction of your servant and remember me and not forget your servant, but will give to your servant a son, then I will give him to the Lord all the days of his life, and no razor shall touch his head.”

[12] As she continued praying before the Lord, Eli observed her mouth.
[13] † Hannah was speaking in her heart; only her lips moved, and her voice was not heard. Therefore Eli took her to be a drunken woman. [14] And Eli said to her, “How long will you go on being drunk? Put your wine away from you.” [15] † But Hannah answered, “No, my lord, I am a woman troubled in spirit. I have drunk neither wine nor strong drink, but I have been pouring out my soul before the Lord. [16] Do not regard your servant as a worthless woman, for all along I have been speaking out of my great anxiety and vexation.” [17]†Then Eli answered, “Go in peace, and the God of Israel grant your petition that you have made to him.” [18]†And she said, “Let your servant find favor in your eyes.” Then the woman went her way and ate, and her face was no longer sad.

[19]†They rose early in the morning and worshiped before the Lord; then they went back to their house at Ramah. And Elkanah knew Hannah his wife, and the Lord remembered her. [20]†And in due time Hannah conceived and bore a son, and she called his name Samuel, for she said, “I have asked for him from the Lord.”[1]

Samuel Given to the LORD

21 ‡ † The man Elkanah and all his house went up to offer to the Lord the yearly sacrifice and to pay his vow. 22 † But Hannah did not go up, for she said to her husband, “As soon as the child is weaned, I will bring him, so that he may appear in the presence of the Lord and dwell there forever.” 23 † Elkanah her husband said to her, “Do what seems best to you; wait until you have weaned him; only, may the Lord establish his word.” So the woman remained and nursed her son until she weaned him. 24 † And when she had weaned him, she took him up with her, along with a three-year-old bull,[2] an ephah[3] of flour, and a skin of wine, and she brought him to the house of the Lord at Shiloh. And the child was young. 25 Then they slaughtered the bull, and they brought the child to Eli. 26 And she said, “Oh, my lord! As you live, my lord, I am the woman who was standing here in your presence, praying to the Lord. 27 For this child I prayed, and the Lord has granted me my petition that I made to him. 28 † Therefore I have lent him to the Lord. As long as he lives, he is lent to the Lord.”

And he worshiped the Lord there.

Hannah's Prayer

2 1 ‡‡‡And Hannah prayed and said,

"My heart exults in the Lord;
my strength[4] is exalted in the Lord.
My mouth derides my enemies,
because I rejoice in your salvation.

2 "There is none holy like the Lord;
there is none besides you;
there is no rock like our God.
3 ‡ Talk no more so very proudly,
let not arrogance come from your mouth;
for the Lord is a God of knowledge,
and by him actions are weighed.
4 The bows of the mighty are broken,
but the feeble bind on strength.
5 Those who were full have hired themselves out for bread,
but those who were hungry have ceased to hunger.
The barren has borne seven,
but she who has many children is forlorn.
6 ‡ The Lord kills and brings to life;
he brings down to Sheol and raises up.
7 The Lord makes poor and makes rich;
he brings low and he exalts.
8 ‡ He raises up the poor from the dust;
he lifts the needy from the ash heap
to make them sit with princes and inherit a seat of honor.
For the pillars of the earth are the Lord's,
and on them he has set the world.

9 † “He will guard the feet of his faithful ones, but the wicked shall be cut off in darkness,
for not by might shall a man prevail.
10 † The adversaries of the Lord shall be broken to pieces;
against them he will thunder in heaven.
The Lord will judge the ends of the earth;
he will give strength to his king and exalt the power[1] of his anointed.”

11 † Then Elkanah went home to Ramah. And the boy ministered to the Lord in the presence of Eli the priest.

Eli’s Worthless Sons

12 Now the sons of Eli were worthless men. They did not know the Lord. 13 The custom of the priests with the people was that when any man offered sacrifice, the priest’s servant[2] would come, while the meat was boiling, with a three-pronged fork in his hand, 14 and he would thrust it into the pan or kettle or cauldron or pot. All that the fork brought up the priest would take for himself. This is what they did at Shiloh to all the Israelites who came there. 15 Moreover, before the fat was burned, the priest’s servant would come and say to the man who was sacrificing, “Give meat for the priest to roast, for he will not accept boiled meat from you but only raw.” 16 And if the man said to him, “Let them burn the fat first, and then take as much as you wish,” he would say, “No, you must give it now, and if not, I will take it by force.” 17 Thus the sin of the young men was very great in the sight of the Lord, for the men treated the offering of the Lord with contempt.

18 Samuel was ministering before the Lord, a boy clothed with a linen ephod. 19 And his mother used to make for him a little robe and take it to him each year when she went up with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice. 20 Then Eli would bless Elkanah and his wife, and say, “May the Lord give you children by this woman for the petition she asked of the Lord.” So then they would return to their home.

21 Indeed the Lord visited Hannah, and she conceived and bore three sons and two daughters. And the young man Samuel grew in the presence of the Lord.

Eli Rebukes His Sons

22 Now Eli was very old, and he kept hearing all that his sons were doing to all Israel, and how they lay with the women who were serving at the entrance to the tent of meeting. 23 And he said to them, “Why do you do such things? For I hear of your evil dealings from all the people. 24 No, my sons; it is no good report that I hear the people of the Lord spreading abroad. 25 If someone sins against a man, God will mediate for him, but if someone sins against the Lord, who can intercede for him?” But they would not listen to the voice of their father, for it was the will of the Lord to put them to death.

26 Now the young man Samuel continued to grow both in stature and in favor with the Lord and also with man.

The LORD Rejects Eli's Household

27 ‡† And there came a man of God to Eli and said to him, "Thus the Lord has said, 'Did I indeed reveal myself to the house of your father when they were in Egypt subject to the house of Pharaoh? 28 † Did I choose him out of all the tribes of Israel to be my priest, to go up to my altar, to burn incense, to wear an ephod before me? I gave to the house of your father all my offerings by fire from the people of Israel. 29 † Why then do you scorn[1] my sacrifices and my offerings that I commanded, and honor your sons above me by fattening yourselves on the choicest parts of every offering of my people Israel?' 30 ‡ Therefore the Lord, the God of Israel, declares: 'I promised that your house and the house of your father should go in and out before me forever,' but now the Lord declares: 'Far be it from me, for those who honor me I will honor, and those who despise me shall be lightly esteemed. 31 Behold, the days are coming when I will cut off your strength and the strength of your father's house, so that there will not be an old man in your house. 32 Then in distress you will look with envious eye on all the prosperity that shall be bestowed on Israel, and there shall not be an old man in your house forever. 33 † The only one of you whom I shall not cut off from my altar shall be spared to weep his[1] eyes out to grieve his heart, and all the descendants[2] of your house shall die by the sword of men. [3] 34 † And this that shall come upon your two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, shall be the sign to you: both of them shall die on the same day. 35 † And I will raise up for myself a faithful priest, who shall do according to what is in my heart and in my mind. And I will build him a sure house, and he shall go in and out before my anointed forever. 36 † And everyone who is left in your house shall come to implore him for a piece of silver or a loaf of bread and shall say, "Please put me in one of the priests' places, that I may eat a morsel of bread."""

The LORD Calls Samuel

3 [1]†Now the young man Samuel was ministering to the Lord under Eli. And the word of the Lord was rare in those days; there was no frequent vision.

[2]At that time Eli, whose eyesight had begun to grow dim so that he could not see, was lying down in his own place. [3]†The lamp of God had not yet gone out, and Samuel was lying down in the temple of the Lord, where the ark of God was.

[4]†Then the Lord called Samuel, and he said, "Here I am!" [5]†and ran to Eli and said, "Here I am, for you called me." But he said, "I did not call; lie down again." So he went and lay down.

[6]And the Lord called again, "Samuel!" and Samuel arose and went to Eli and said, "Here I am, for you called me." But he said, "I did not call, my son; lie down again." [7]†Now Samuel did not yet know the Lord, and the word of the Lord had not yet been revealed to him.

[8]† And the Lord called Samuel again the third time. And he arose and went to Eli and said, "Here I am, for you called me." Then Eli perceived that the Lord was calling the young man. [9]Therefore Eli said to Samuel,
"Go, lie down, and if he calls you, you shall say, 'Speak, Lord, for your servant hears.'" So Samuel went and lay down in his place.

[10]† And the Lord came and stood, calling as at other times, "Samuel!
Samuel!" And Samuel said, "Speak, for your servant hears." [11]† Then the Lord said to Samuel, "Behold, I am about to do a thing in Israel at which the two ears of everyone who hears it will tingle. [12]On that day I will fulfill against Eli all that I have spoken concerning his house, from beginning to end. [13]†And I declare to him that I am about to punish his house forever, for the iniquity that he knew, because his sons were blaspheming God,[1] and he did not restrain them. [14]† Therefore I swear to the house of Eli that the iniquity of Eli's house shall not be atoned for by sacrifice or offering forever."

[15]†Samuel lay until morning; then he opened the doors of the house of the Lord. And Samuel was afraid to tell the vision to Eli. [16]But Eli called

Samuel and said, “Samuel, my son.” And he said, “Here I am.” [17]†And Eli said, “What was it that he told you? Do not hide it from me. May God do so to you and more also if you hide anything from me of all that he told you.” [18]†So Samuel told him everything and hid nothing from him. And he said, “It is the Lord. Let him do what seems good to him.”

[19]† And Samuel grew, and the Lord was with him and let none of his words fall to the ground. [20]†And all Israel from Dan to Beersheba knew that Samuel was established as a prophet of the Lord. [21]†And the Lord appeared again at Shiloh, for the Lord revealed himself to Samuel at Shiloh by the word of the Lord.

The Philistines Capture the Ark

4 [1]‡†And the word of Samuel came to all Israel.

Now Israel went out to battle against the Philistines. They encamped at Ebenezer, and the Philistines encamped at Aphek. [2]The Philistines drew up in line against Israel, and when the battle spread, Israel was defeated by the Philistines, who killed about four thousand men on the field of battle. [3]†And when the troops came to the camp, the elders of Israel said, "Why has the Lord defeated us today before the Philistines? Let us bring the ark of the covenant of the Lord here from Shiloh, that it may come among us and save us from the power of our enemies." [4]† So the people sent to Shiloh and brought from there the ark of the covenant of the Lord of hosts, who is enthroned on the cherubim. And the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were there with the ark of the covenant of God.

[5]As soon as the ark of the covenant of the Lord came into the camp, all Israel gave a mighty shout, so that the earth resounded. [6]† And when the Philistines heard the noise of the shouting, they said, "What does this great shouting in the camp of the Hebrews mean?" And when they learned that the ark of the Lord had come to the camp, [7]the Philistines were afraid, for they said, "A god has come into the camp." And they said, "Woe to us! For nothing like this has happened before. [8]† Woe to us! Who can deliver us from the power of these mighty gods? These are the gods who struck the Egyptians with every sort of plague in the wilderness. [9]†Take courage, and be men, O Philistines, lest you become slaves to the Hebrews as they have been to you; be men and fight."

[10]†So the Philistines fought, and Israel was defeated, and they fled, every man to his home. And there was a very great slaughter, for there fell of Israel thirty thousand foot soldiers. [11]And the ark of God was captured, and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, died.

The Death of Eli

12 ‡ † A man of Benjamin ran from the battle line and came to Shiloh the same day, with his clothes torn and with dirt on his head. 13 When he arrived, Eli was sitting on his seat by the road watching, for his heart trembled for the ark of God. And when the man came into the city and told the news, all the city cried out. 14 When Eli heard the sound of the outcry, he said, “What is this uproar?” Then the man hurried and came and told Eli. 15 Now Eli was ninety-eight years old and his eyes were set so that he could not see. 16 And the man said to Eli, “I am he who has come from the battle; I fled from the battle today.” And he said, “How did it go, my son?” 17 † He who brought the news answered and said, “Israel has fled before the Philistines, and there has also been a great defeat among the people. Your two sons also, Hophni and Phinehas, are dead, and the ark of God has been captured.” 18 † As soon as he mentioned the ark of God, Eli fell over backward from his seat by the side of the gate, and his neck was broken and he died, for the man was old and heavy. He had judged Israel forty years.

19 † Now his daughter-in-law, the wife of Phinehas, was pregnant, about to give birth. And when she heard the news that the ark of God was captured, and that her father-in-law and her husband were dead, she bowed and gave birth, for her pains came upon her. 20 † And about the time of her death the women attending her said to her, “Do not be afraid, for you have borne a son.” But she did not answer or pay attention. 21 † And she named the child Ichabod, saying, “The glory has departed[1] from Israel!” because the ark of God had been captured and because of her father-in-law and her husband.
22 And she said, “The glory has departed from Israel, for the ark of God has been captured.”

The Philistines and the Ark

5 [1]†When the Philistines captured the ark of God, they brought it from Ebenezer to Ashdod. [2]†Then the Philistines took the ark of God and brought it into the house of Dagon and set it up beside Dagon. [3]†And when the people of Ashdod rose early the next day, behold, Dagon had fallen face downward on the ground before the ark of the Lord. So they took Dagon and put him back in his place. [4]But when they rose early on the next morning, behold, Dagon had fallen face downward on the ground before the ark of the Lord, and the head of Dagon and both his hands were lying cut off on the threshold. Only the trunk of Dagon was left to him. [5]†This is why the priests of Dagon and all who enter the house of Dagon do not tread on the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod to this day.

[6]†The hand of the Lord was heavy against the people of Ashdod, and he terrified and afflicted them with tumors, both Ashdod and its territory.
[7]†And when the men of Ashdod saw how things were, they said, “The ark of the God of Israel must not remain with us, for his hand is hard against us and against Dagon our god.” [8]†So they sent and gathered together all the lords of the Philistines and said, “What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel?” They answered, “Let the ark of the God of Israel be brought around to Gath.” So they brought the ark of the God of Israel there. [9]†But after they had brought it around, the hand of the Lord was against the city, causing a very great panic, and he afflicted the men of the city, both young and old, so that tumors broke out on them. [10]†So they sent the ark of God to Ekron. But as soon as the ark of God came to Ekron, the people of Ekron cried out, “They have brought around to us the ark of the God of Israel to kill us and our people.” [11]†They sent therefore and gathered together all the lords of the Philistines and said, “Send away the ark of the God of Israel, and let it return to its own place, that it may not kill us and our people.” For there was a deathly panic throughout the whole city. The hand of God was very heavy there. [12]The men who did not die were struck with tumors, and the cry of the city went up to heaven.

The Ark Returned to Israel

6 [1]‡†The ark of the Lord was in the country of the Philistines seven months. [2]† And the Philistines called for the priests and the diviners and said, “What shall we do with the ark of the Lord? Tell us with what we shall send it to its place.” [3]‡They said, “If you send away the ark of the God of Israel, do not send it empty, but by all means return him a guilt offering.
Then you will be healed, and it will be known to you why his hand does not turn away from you.” [4]And they said, “What is the guilt offering that we shall return to him?” They answered, “Five golden tumors and five golden mice, according to the number of the lords of the Philistines, for the same plague was on all of you and on your lords. [5]So you must make images of your tumors and images of your mice that ravage the land, and give glory to the God of Israel. Perhaps he will lighten his hand from off you and your gods and your land. [6]†Why should you harden your hearts as the Egyptians and Pharaoh hardened their hearts? After he had dealt severely with them, did they not send the people away, and they departed? [7]†Now then, take and prepare a new cart and two milk cows on which there has never come a yoke, and yoke the cows to the cart, but take their calves home, away from them. [8]And take the ark of the Lord and place it on the cart and put in a box at its side the figures of gold, which you are returning to him as a guilt offering. Then send it off and let it go its way [9]†and watch. If it goes up on the way to its own land, to Beth-shemesh, then it is he who has done us this great harm, but if not, then we shall know that it is not his hand that struck us; it happened to us by coincidence.”

[10]The men did so, and took two milk cows and yoked them to the cart and shut up their calves at home. [11]And they put the ark of the Lord on the cart and the box with the golden mice and the images of their tumors. [12]†And the cows went straight in the direction of Beth-shemesh along one highway, lowing as they went. They turned neither to the right nor to the left, and the lords of the Philistines went after them as far as the border of Bethshemesh. [13]† Now the people of Beth-shemesh were reaping their wheat harvest in the valley. And when they lifted up their eyes and saw the ark, they rejoiced to see it. [14]‡†The cart came into the field of Joshua of Bethshemesh and stopped there. A great stone was there. And they split up the wood of the cart and offered the cows as a burnt offering to the LORD. 15And the Levites took down the ark of the LORD and the box that was beside it, in which were the golden figures, and set them upon the great stone. And the men of Beth-shemesh offered burnt offerings and sacrificed sacrifices on that day to the LORD. 16†And when the five lords of the Philistines saw it, they returned that day to Ekron.

17†These are the golden tumors that the Philistines returned as a guilt offering to the LORD: one for Ashdod, one for Gaza, one for Ashkelon, one for Gath, one for Ekron, 18†and the golden mice, according to the number of all the cities of the Philistines belonging to the five lords, both fortified cities and unwalled villages. The great stone beside which they set down the ark of the LORD is a witness to this day in the field of Joshua of Beth-shemesh.

19†And he struck some of the men of Beth-shemesh, because they looked upon the ark of the LORD. He struck seventy men of them,[1] and the people mourned because the LORD had struck the people with a great blow. 20†Then the men of Beth-shemesh said, "Who is able to stand before the LORD, this holy God? And to whom shall he go up away from us?" 21†So they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kiriath-jearim, saying, "The Philistines have returned the ark of the LORD. Come down and take it up to you."

7 1†And the men of Kiriath-jearim came and took up the ark of the LORD and brought it to the house of Abinadab on the hill. And they consecrated his son Eleazar to have charge of the ark of the LORD. 2†From the day that the ark was lodged at Kiriath-jearim, a long time passed, some twenty years, and all the house of Israel lamented after the LORD.

Samuel Judges Israel

3 ‡ † And Samuel said to all the house of Israel, “If you are returning to the Lord with all your heart, then put away the foreign gods and the Ashtaroth from among you and direct your heart to the Lord and serve him only, and he will deliver you out of the hand of the Philistines.” 4 † So the people of Israel put away the Baals and the Ashtaroth, and they served the Lord only.
5 † Then Samuel said, “Gather all Israel at Mizpah, and I will pray to the Lord for you.” 6 † So they gathered at Mizpah and drew water and poured it out before the Lord and fasted on that day and said there, “We have sinned against the Lord.” And Samuel judged the people of Israel at Mizpah.
7 † Now when the Philistines heard that the people of Israel had gathered at Mizpah, the lords of the Philistines went up against Israel. And when the people of Israel heard of it, they were afraid of the Philistines. 8 † And the people of Israel said to Samuel, “Do not cease to cry out to the Lord our God for us, that he may save us from the hand of the Philistines.” 9 † So Samuel took a nursing lamb and offered it as a whole burnt offering to the Lord. And Samuel cried out to the Lord for Israel, and the Lord answered him. 10 As Samuel was offering up the burnt offering, the Philistines drew near to attack Israel. But the Lord thundered with a mighty sound that day against the Philistines and threw them into confusion, and they were routed before Israel. 11 † And the men of Israel went out from Mizpah and pursued the Philistines and struck them, as far as below Beth-car.
12 † Then Samuel took a stone and set it up between Mizpah and Shen[1] and called its name Ebenezer;[2] for he said, “Till now the Lord has helped us.” 13 † So the Philistines were subdued and did not again enter the territory of Israel. And the hand of the Lord was against the Philistines all the days of Samuel. 14 † The cities that the Philistines had taken from Israel were restored to Israel, from Ekron to Gath, and Israel delivered their territory from the hand of the Philistines. There was peace also between Israel and the Amorites.
15 Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life. 16 † And he went on a circuit year by year to Bethel, Gilgal, and Mizpah. And he judged Israel in all these places. [17] † Then he would return to Ramah, for his home was there, and there also he judged Israel. And he built there an altar to the LORD.

Israel Demands a King

8 [1]‡†When Samuel became old, he made his sons judges over Israel.
[2]† The name of his firstborn son was Joel, and the name of his second, Abijah; they were judges in Beersheba. [3]†Yet his sons did not walk in his ways but turned aside after gain. They took bribes and perverted justice.
[4]‡†Then all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at Ramah [5]and said to him, "Behold, you are old and your sons do not walk in your ways. Now appoint for us a king to judge us like all the nations." [6]But the thing displeased Samuel when they said, "Give us a king to judge us."
And Samuel prayed to the LORD. [7]†And the LORD said to Samuel, "Obey the voice of the people in all that they say to you, for they have not rejected you, but they have rejected me from being king over them. [8]‡According to all the deeds that they have done, from the day I brought them up out of Egypt even to this day, forsaking me and serving other gods, so they are also doing to you. [9]Now then, obey their voice; only you shall solemnly warn them and show them the ways of the king who shall reign over them."

Samuel's Warning Against Kings

10 ‡ † So Samuel told all the words of the Lord to the people who were asking for a king from him. 11 ‡ He said, "These will be the ways of the king who will reign over you: he will take your sons and appoint them to his chariots and to be his horsemen and to run before his chariots. 12 † And he will appoint for himself commanders of thousands and commanders of fifties, and some to plow his ground and to reap his harvest, and to make his implements of war and the equipment of his chariots. 13 He will take your daughters to be perfumers and cooks and bakers. 14 He will take the best of your fields and vineyards and olive orchards and give them to his servants.
15 He will take the tenth of your grain and of your vineyards and give it to his officers and to his servants. 16 He will take your male servants and female servants and the best of your young men[1] and your donkeys, and put them to his work. 17 † He will take the tenth of your flocks, and you shall be his slaves. 18 † And in that day you will cry out because of your king, whom you have chosen for yourselves, but the Lord will not answer you in that day."

The LORD Grants Israel's Request

19 † But the people refused to obey the voice of Samuel. And they said, "No! But there shall be a king over us, 20 † that we also may be like all the nations, and that our king may judge us and go out before us and fight our battles." 21 † And when Samuel had heard all the words of the people, he repeated them in the ears of the LORD. 22 And the LORD said to Samuel, "Obey their voice and make them a king." Samuel then said to the men of Israel,
"Go every man to his city."

Saul Chosen to Be King

9 [1]†There was a man of Benjamin whose name was Kish, the son of Abiel, son of Zeror, son of Becorath, son of Aphiah, a Benjaminite, a man of wealth. [2]†And he had a son whose name was Saul, a handsome young man. There was not a man among the people of Israel more handsome than he. From his shoulders upward he was taller than any of the people.

[3]†Now the donkeys of Kish, Saul's father, were lost. So Kish said to Saul his son, "Take one of the young men with you, and arise, go and look for the donkeys." [4]†And he passed through the hill country of Ephraim and passed through the land of Shalishah, but they did not find them. And they passed through the land of Shaalim, but they were not there. Then they passed through the land of Benjamin, but did not find them.

[5]When they came to the land of Zuph, Saul said to his servant[1] who was with him, "Come, let us go back, lest my father cease to care about the donkeys and become anxious about us." [6]†But he said to him, "Behold, there is a man of God in this city, and he is a man who is held in honor; all that he says comes true. So now let us go there. Perhaps he can tell us the way we should go." [7]†Then Saul said to his servant, "But if we go, what can we bring the man? For the bread in our sacks is gone, and there is no present to bring to the man of God. What do we have?" [8]†The servant answered Saul again, "Here, I have with me a quarter of a shekel[2] of silver, and I will give it to the man of God to tell us our way." [9]†(Formerly in Israel, when a man went to inquire of God, he said, "Come, let us go to the seer," for today's "prophet" was formerly called a seer.) [10]And Saul said to his servant, "Well said; come, let us go." So they went to the city where the man of God was.

[11]As they went up the hill to the city, they met young women coming out to draw water and said to them, "Is the seer here?" [12]†They answered, "He is; behold, he is just ahead of you. Hurry. He has come just now to the city, because the people have a sacrifice today on the high place. [13]†As soon as you enter the city you will find him, before he goes up to the high place to eat. For the people will not eat till he comes, since he must bless the sacrifice; afterward those who are invited will eat. Now go up, for you will meet him immediately.” [14]So they went up to the city. As they were entering the city, they saw Samuel coming out toward them on his way up to the high place.

[15]Now the day before Saul came, the Lord had revealed to Samuel: [16]† “Tomorrow about this time I will send to you a man from the land of Benjamin, and you shall anoint him to be prince over my people Israel. He shall save my people from the hand of the Philistines. For I have seen[1] my people, because their cry has come to me.” [17]†When Samuel saw Saul, the Lord told him, “Here is the man of whom I spoke to you! He it is who shall restrain my people.” [18]Then Saul approached Samuel in the gate and said, “Tell me where is the house of the seer?” [19]†Samuel answered Saul, “I am the seer. Go up before me to the high place, for today you shall eat with me, and in the morning I will let you go and will tell you all that is on your mind. [20]†As for your donkeys that were lost three days ago, do not set your mind on them, for they have been found. And for whom is all that is desirable in Israel? Is it not for you and for all your father’s house?” [21]†Saul answered, “Am I not a Benjaminite, from the least of the tribes of Israel? And is not my clan the humblest of all the clans of the tribe of Benjamin? Why then have you spoken to me in this way?”

[22]†Then Samuel took Saul and his young man and brought them into the hall and gave them a place at the head of those who had been invited, who were about thirty persons. [23]And Samuel said to the cook, “Bring the portion I gave you, of which I said to you, ‘Put it aside.’” [24]†So the cook took up the leg and what was on it and set them before Saul. And Samuel said, “See, what was kept is set before you. Eat, because it was kept for you until the hour appointed, that you might eat with the guests.”[2]

So Saul ate with Samuel that day. [25]†And when they came down from the high place into the city, a bed was spread for Saul[3] on the roof, and he lay down to sleep. [26]Then at the break of dawn[4] Samuel called to Saul on the roof, “Up, that I may send you on your way.” So Saul arose, and both he and Samuel went out into the street.

[27]†As they were going down to the outskirts of the city, Samuel said to Saul, “Tell the servant to pass on before us, and when he has passed on, stop here yourself for a while, that I may make known to you the word of God.”

Saul Anointed King

10 [1]‡†Then Samuel took a flask of oil and poured it on his head and kissed him and said, “Has not the Lord anointed you to be prince over his people Israel? And you shall reign over the people of the Lord and you will save them from the hand of their surrounding enemies. And this shall be the sign to you that the Lord has anointed you to be prince[1] over his heritage.
[2]†When you depart from me today, you will meet two men by Rachel’s tomb in the territory of Benjamin at Zelzah, and they will say to you, ‘The donkeys that you went to seek are found, and now your father has ceased to care about the donkeys and is anxious about you, saying, “What shall I do about my son?”’ [3]†Then you shall go on from there farther and come to the oak of Tabor. Three men going up to God at Bethel will meet you there, one carrying three young goats, another carrying three loaves of bread, and another carrying a skin of wine. [4]†And they will greet you and give you two loaves of bread, which you shall accept from their hand. [5]†After that you shall come to Gibeath-elohim,[2] where there is a garrison of the Philistines.
And there, as soon as you come to the city, you will meet a group of prophets coming down from the high place with harp, tambourine, flute, and lyre before them, prophesying. [6]†Then the Spirit of the Lord will rush upon you, and you will prophesy with them and be turned into another man.
[7]†Now when these signs meet you, do what your hand finds to do, for God is with you. [8]Then go down before me to Gilgal. And behold, I am coming to you to offer burnt offerings and to sacrifice peace offerings. Seven days you shall wait, until I come to you and show you what you shall do.”

[9]†When he turned his back to leave Samuel, God gave him another heart.
And all these signs came to pass that day. [10]‡When they came to Gibeah,[3] behold, a group of prophets met him, and the Spirit of God rushed upon him, and he prophesied among them. [11]‡And when all who knew him previously saw how he prophesied with the prophets, the people said to one another, “What has come over the son of Kish? Is Saul also among the prophets?” [12]And a man of the place answered, “And who is their father?”

Therefore it became a proverb, “Is Saul also among the prophets?” 13When he had finished prophesying, he came to the high place.

14†Saul’s uncle said to him and to his servant, “Where did you go?” And he said, “To seek the donkeys. And when we saw they were not to be found, we went to Samuel.” 15And Saul’s uncle said, “Please tell me what Samuel said to you.” 16† And Saul said to his uncle, “He told us plainly that the donkeys had been found.” But about the matter of the kingdom, of which Samuel had spoken, he did not tell him anything.

Saul Proclaimed King

17 Now Samuel called the people together to the Lord at Mizpah. 18 And he said to the people of Israel, “Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel, ‘I brought up Israel out of Egypt, and I delivered you from the hand of the Egyptians and from the hand of all the kingdoms that were oppressing you.’ 19 But today you have rejected your God, who saves you from all your calamities and your distresses, and you have said to him, ‘Set a king over us.’ Now therefore present yourselves before the Lord by your tribes and by your thousands.”

20 Then Samuel brought all the tribes of Israel near, and the tribe of Benjamin was taken by lot. 21 He brought the tribe of Benjamin near by its clans, and the clan of the Matrites was taken by lot;[1] and Saul the son of Kish was taken by lot. But when they sought him, he could not be found.
22 So they inquired again of the Lord, “Is there a man still to come?” and the Lord said, “Behold, he has hidden himself among the baggage.” 23 Then they ran and took him from there. And when he stood among the people, he was taller than any of the people from his shoulders upward. 24 And Samuel said to all the people, “Do you see him whom the Lord has chosen? There is none like him among all the people.” And all the people shouted, “Long live the king!”

25 Then Samuel told the people the rights and duties of the kingship, and he wrote them in a book and laid it up before the Lord. Then Samuel sent all the people away, each one to his home. 26 Saul also went to his home at Gibeah, and with him went men of valor whose hearts God had touched.
27 But some worthless fellows said, “How can this man save us?” And they despised him and brought him no present. But he held his peace.

Saul Defeats the Ammonites

11 [1]†† Then Nahash the Ammonite went up and besieged Jabeshgilead, and all the men of Jabesh said to Nahash, “Make a treaty with us, and we will serve you.” [2]† But Nahash the Ammonite said to them, “On this condition I will make a treaty with you, that I gouge out all your right eyes, and thus bring disgrace on all Israel.” [3]† The elders of Jabesh said to him, “Give us seven days’ respite that we may send messengers through all the territory of Israel. Then, if there is no one to save us, we will give ourselves up to you.” [4]† When the messengers came to Gibeah of Saul, they reported the matter in the ears of the people, and all the people wept aloud.

[5]Now, behold, Saul was coming from the field behind the oxen. And Saul said, “What is wrong with the people, that they are weeping?” So they told him the news of the men of Jabesh. [6]†† And the Spirit of God rushed upon Saul when he heard these words, and his anger was greatly kindled. [7]† He took a yoke of oxen and cut them in pieces and sent them throughout all the territory of Israel by the hand of messengers, saying, “Whoever does not come out after Saul and Samuel, so shall it be done to his oxen!” Then the dread of the Lord fell upon the people, and they came out as one man.
[8]† When he mustered them at Bezek, the people of Israel were three hundred thousand, and the men of Judah thirty thousand. [9]And they said to the messengers who had come, “Thus shall you say to the men of Jabeshgilead: ‘Tomorrow, by the time the sun is hot, you shall have deliverance.’”
When the messengers came and told the men of Jabesh, they were glad.
[10]† Therefore the men of Jabesh said, “Tomorrow we will give ourselves up to you, and you may do to us whatever seems good to you.” [11]† And the next day Saul put the people in three companies. And they came into the midst of the camp in the morning watch and struck down the Ammonites until the heat of the day. And those who survived were scattered, so that no two of them were left together.

The Kingdom Is Renewed

12 Then the people said to Samuel, “Who is it that said, ‘Shall Saul reign over us?’ Bring the men, that we may put them to death.” 13 But Saul said, “Not a man shall be put to death this day, for today the Lord has worked salvation in Israel.” 14 Then Samuel said to the people, “Come, let us go to Gilgal and there renew the kingdom.” 15 So all the people went to Gilgal, and there they made Saul king before the Lord in Gilgal. There they sacrificed peace offerings before the Lord, and there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced greatly.

Samuel's Farewell Address

12 [1]†And Samuel said to all Israel, "Behold, I have obeyed your voice in all that you have said to me and have made a king over you. [2]And now, behold, the king walks before you, and I am old and gray; and behold, my sons are with you. I have walked before you from my youth until this day. [3]†Here I am; testify against me before the Lord and before his anointed.
Whose ox have I taken? Or whose donkey have I taken? Or whom have I defrauded? Whom have I oppressed? Or from whose hand have I taken a bribe to blind my eyes with it? Testify against me[1] and I will restore it to you." [4]They said, "You have not defrauded us or oppressed us or taken anything from any man's hand." [5]† And he said to them, "The Lord is witness against you, and his anointed is witness this day, that you have not found anything in my hand." And they said, "He is witness."

[6]And Samuel said to the people, "The Lord is witness,[2] who appointed Moses and Aaron and brought your fathers up out of the land of Egypt.
[7]Now therefore stand still that I may plead with you before the Lord concerning all the righteous deeds of the Lord that he performed for you and for your fathers. [8]† When Jacob went into Egypt, and the Egyptians oppressed them,[3] then your fathers cried out to the Lord and the Lord sent Moses and Aaron, who brought your fathers out of Egypt and made them dwell in this place. [9]But they forgot the Lord their God. And he sold them into the hand of Sisera, commander of the army of Hazor,[4] and into the hand of the Philistines, and into the hand of the king of Moab. And they fought against them. [10]†And they cried out to the Lord and said, 'We have sinned, because we have forsaken the Lord and have served the Baals and the Ashtaroth. But now deliver us out of the hand of our enemies, that we may serve you.' [11]†And the Lord sent Jerubbaal and Barak[5] and Jephthah and Samuel and delivered you out of the hand of your enemies on every side, and you lived in safety. [12]†And when you saw that Nahash the king of the Ammonites came against you, you said to me, 'No, but a king shall reign over us,' when the Lord your God was your king. [13]And now behold the king whom you have chosen, for whom you have asked; behold, the Lord has set a king over you. 14 †If you will fear the Lord and serve him and obey his voice and not rebel against the commandment of the Lord, and if both you and the king who reigns over you will follow the Lord your God, it will be well. 15But if you will not obey the voice of the Lord, but rebel against the commandment of the Lord, then the hand of the Lord will be against you and your king.[6]16Now therefore stand still and see this great thing that the Lord will do before your eyes. 17 † Is it not wheat harvest today? I will call upon the Lord, that he may send thunder and rain. And you shall know and see that your wickedness is great, which you have done in the sight of the Lord, in asking for yourselves a king." 18†So Samuel called upon the Lord, and the Lord sent thunder and rain that day, and all the people greatly feared the Lord and Samuel.

19†And all the people said to Samuel, "Pray for your servants to the Lord your God, that we may not die, for we have added to all our sins this evil, to ask for ourselves a king." 20And Samuel said to the people, "Do not be afraid; you have done all this evil. Yet do not turn aside from following the Lord, but serve the Lord with all your heart. 21And do not turn aside after empty things that cannot profit or deliver, for they are empty. 22 †For the Lord will not forsake his people, for his great name's sake, because it has pleased the Lord to make you a people for himself. 23†Moreover, as for me, far be it from me that I should sin against the Lord by ceasing to pray for you, and I will instruct you in the good and the right way. 24†Only fear the Lord and serve him faithfully with all your heart. For consider what great things he has done for you. 25But if you still do wickedly, you shall be swept away, both you and your king."

Saul Fights the Philistines

13 [1] ‡ † Saul was . . .[1] years old when he began to reign, and he reigned . . . and two[2] years over Israel.

[2] † Saul chose three thousand men of Israel. Two thousand were with Saul in Michmash and the hill country of Bethel, and a thousand were with Jonathan in Gibeah of Benjamin. The rest of the people he sent home, every man to his tent. [3] † Jonathan defeated the garrison of the Philistines that was at Geba, and the Philistines heard of it. And Saul blew the trumpet throughout all the land, saying, "Let the Hebrews hear." [4] † And all Israel heard it said that Saul had defeated the garrison of the Philistines, and also that Israel had become a stench to the Philistines. And the people were called out to join Saul at Gilgal.

[5] † And the Philistines mustered to fight with Israel, thirty thousand chariots and six thousand horsemen and troops like the sand on the seashore in multitude. They came up and encamped in Michmash, to the east of Beth-aven. [6] † When the men of Israel saw that they were in trouble (for the people were hard pressed), the people hid themselves in caves and in holes and in rocks and in tombs and in cisterns, [7] † and some Hebrews crossed the fords of the Jordan to the land of Gad and Gilead. Saul was still at Gilgal, and all the people followed him trembling.

Saul's Unlawful Sacrifice

8 ‡ ‡ ‡He waited seven days, the time appointed by Samuel. But Samuel did not come to Gilgal, and the people were scattering from him. 9 †So Saul said, "Bring the burnt offering here to me, and the peace offerings." And he offered the burnt offering. 10 †As soon as he had finished offering the burnt offering, behold, Samuel came. And Saul went out to meet him and greet him. 11 †Samuel said, "What have you done?" And Saul said, "When I saw that the people were scattering from me, and that you did not come within the days appointed, and that the Philistines had mustered at Michmash, 12 †I said, 'Now the Philistines will come down against me at Gilgal, and I have not sought the favor of the Lord.' So I forced myself, and offered the burnt offering." 13 †And Samuel said to Saul, "You have done foolishly. You have not kept the command of the Lord your God, with which he commanded you. For then the Lord would have established your kingdom over Israel forever. 14 †But now your kingdom shall not continue. The Lord has sought out a man after his own heart, and the Lord has commanded him to be prince over his people, because you have not kept what the Lord commanded you." 15 †And Samuel arose and went up from Gilgal. The rest of the people went up after Saul to meet the army; they went up from Gilgal[1] to Gibeah of Benjamin.

And Saul numbered the people who were present with him, about six hundred men. 16 †And Saul and Jonathan his son and the people who were present with them stayed in Geba of Benjamin, but the Philistines encamped in Michmash. 17 ‡ And raiders came out of the camp of the Philistines in three companies. One company turned toward Ophrah, to the land of Shual; 18 another company turned toward Beth-horon; and another company turned toward the border that looks down on the Valley of Zeboim toward the wilderness.

19 †Now there was no blacksmith to be found throughout all the land of Israel, for the Philistines said, "Lest the Hebrews make themselves swords or spears." 20 †But every one of the Israelites went down to the Philistines to sharpen his plowshare, his mattock, his axe, or his sickle,[2] 21 †and the charge was two-thirds of a shekel[3] for the plowshares and for the mattocks, and a third of a shekel[4] for sharpening the axes and for setting the goads.[5] 22 †So on the day of the battle there was neither sword nor spear found in the hand of any of the people with Saul and Jonathan, but Saul and Jonathan his son had them. 23 †And the garrison of the Philistines went out to the pass of Michmash.

Jonathan Defeats the Philistines

14 [1]One day Jonathan the son of Saul said to the young man who carried his armor, “Come, let us go over to the Philistine garrison on the other side.” But he did not tell his father. [2]Saul was staying in the outskirts of Gibeah in the pomegranate cave[1] at Migron. The people who were with him were about six hundred men, [3]including Ahijah the son of Ahitub, Ichabod’s brother, son of Phinehas, son of Eli, the priest of the Lord in Shiloh, wearing an ephod. And the people did not know that Jonathan had gone. [4]Within the passes, by which Jonathan sought to go over to the Philistine garrison, there was a rocky crag on the one side and a rocky crag on the other side. The name of the one was Bozez, and the name of the other Seneh. [5]The one crag rose on the north in front of Michmash, and the other on the south in front of Geba.

[6]Jonathan said to the young man who carried his armor, “Come, let us go over to the garrison of these uncircumcised. It may be that the Lord will work for us, for nothing can hinder the Lord from saving by many or by few.” [7]And his armor-bearer said to him, “Do all that is in your heart. Do as you wish.[2] Behold, I am with you heart and soul.” [8]Then Jonathan said, “Behold, we will cross over to the men, and we will show ourselves to them. [9]If they say to us, ‘Wait until we come to you,’ then we will stand still in our place, and we will not go up to them. [10]But if they say, ‘Come up to us,’ then we will go up, for the Lord has given them into our hand. And this shall be the sign to us.” [11]So both of them showed themselves to the garrison of the Philistines. And the Philistines said, “Look, Hebrews are coming out of the holes where they have hidden themselves.” [12]And the men of the garrison hailed Jonathan and his armor-bearer and said, “Come up to us, and we will show you a thing.” And Jonathan said to his armor-bearer, “Come up after me, for the Lord has given them into the hand of Israel.” [13]Then Jonathan climbed up on his hands and feet, and his armor-bearer after him. And they fell before Jonathan, and his armor-bearer killed them after him. [14]And that first strike, which Jonathan and his armor-bearer made, killed about twenty men within as it were half a furrow’s length in an acre[3] of land. 15 †And there was a panic in the camp, in the field, and among all the people. The garrison and even the raiders trembled, the earth quaked, and it became a very great panic.

16 †And the watchmen of Saul in Gibeah of Benjamin looked, and behold, the multitude was dispersing here and there.[4] 17 † Then Saul said to the people who were with him, “Count and see who has gone from us.” And when they had counted, behold, Jonathan and his armor-bearer were not there. 18 †So Saul said to Ahijah, “Bring the ark of God here.” For the ark of God went at that time with the people[5] of Israel. 19 †Now while Saul was talking to the priest, the tumult in the camp of the Philistines increased more and more. So Saul said to the priest, “Withdraw your hand.” 20 †Then Saul and all the people who were with him rallied and went into the battle.
And behold, every Philistine’s sword was against his fellow, and there was very great confusion. 21 † Now the Hebrews who had been with the Philistines before that time and who had gone up with them into the camp, even they also turned to be with the Israelites who were with Saul and Jonathan. 22 † Likewise, when all the men of Israel who had hidden themselves in the hill country of Ephraim heard that the Philistines were fleeing, they too followed hard after them in the battle. 23 †So the Lord saved Israel that day. And the battle passed beyond Beth-aven.

Saul's Rash Vow

24 And the men of Israel had been hard pressed that day, so Saul had laid an oath on the people, saying, "Cursed be the man who eats food until it is evening and I am avenged on my enemies." So none of the people had tasted food. 25 Now when all the people[1] came to the forest, behold, there was honey on the ground. 26 And when the people entered the forest, behold, the honey was dropping, but no one put his hand to his mouth, for the people feared the oath. 27 But Jonathan had not heard his father charge the people with the oath, so he put out the tip of the staff that was in his hand and dipped it in the honeycomb and put his hand to his mouth, and his eyes became bright. 28 Then one of the people said, "Your father strictly charged the people with an oath, saying, 'Cursed be the man who eats food this day.'" And the people were faint. 29 Then Jonathan said, "My father has troubled the land. See how my eyes have become bright because I tasted a little of this honey. 30 How much better if the people had eaten freely today of the spoil of their enemies that they found. For now the defeat among the Philistines has not been great."

31 They struck down the Philistines that day from Michmash to Aijalon.
And the people were very faint. 32 The people pounced on the spoil and took sheep and oxen and calves and slaughtered them on the ground. And the people ate them with the blood. 33 Then they told Saul, "Behold, the people are sinning against the Lord by eating with the blood." And he said,
"You have dealt treacherously; roll a great stone to me here."[2] 34 And Saul said, "Disperse yourselves among the people and say to them, 'Let every man bring his ox or his sheep and slaughter them here and eat, and do not sin against the Lord by eating with the blood.'" So every one of the people brought his ox with him that night and they slaughtered them there. 35 And Saul built an altar to the Lord; it was the first altar that he built to the Lord.

36 Then Saul said, "Let us go down after the Philistines by night and plunder them until the morning light; let us not leave a man of them." And they said, "Do whatever seems good to you." But the priest said, "Let us draw near to God here." 37 And Saul inquired of God, "Shall I go down after the Philistines? Will you give them into the hand of Israel?" But he did not answer him that day. 38And Saul said, “Come here, all you leaders of the people, and know and see how this sin has arisen today. 39†For as the Lord lives who saves Israel, though it be in Jonathan my son, he shall surely die.” But there was not a man among all the people who answered him. 40†Then he said to all Israel, “You shall be on one side, and I and Jonathan my son will be on the other side.” And the people said to Saul, “Do what seems good to you.” 41Therefore Saul said, “O Lord God of Israel, why[1] have you not answered your servant this day? If this guilt is in me or in Jonathan my son, O Lord, God of Israel, give Urim. But if this guilt is in your people Israel, give Thummim.” And Jonathan and Saul were taken, but the people escaped. 42Then Saul said, “Cast the lot between me and my son Jonathan.” And Jonathan was taken.

43 † Then Saul said to Jonathan, “Tell me what you have done.” And Jonathan told him, “I tasted a little honey with the tip of the staff that was in my hand. Here I am; I will die.” 44And Saul said, “God do so to me and more also; you shall surely die, Jonathan.” 45†Then the people said to Saul, “Shall Jonathan die, who has worked this great salvation in Israel? Far from it! As the Lord lives, there shall not one hair of his head fall to the ground, for he has worked with God this day.” So the people ransomed Jonathan, so that he did not die. 46Then Saul went up from pursuing the Philistines, and the Philistines went to their own place.

Saul Fights Israel’s Enemies

47 When Saul had taken the kingship over Israel, he fought against all his enemies on every side, against Moab, against the Ammonites, against Edom, against the kings of Zobah, and against the Philistines. Wherever he turned he routed them. 48 And he did valiantly and struck the Amalekites and delivered Israel out of the hands of those who plundered them.

49 Now the sons of Saul were Jonathan, Ishvi, and Malchi-shua. And the names of his two daughters were these: the name of the firstborn was Merab, and the name of the younger Michal. 50 And the name of Saul’s wife was Ahinoam the daughter of Ahimaaz. And the name of the commander of his army was Abner the son of Ner, Saul’s uncle. 51 Kish was the father of Saul, and Ner the father of Abner was the son of Abiel.

52 There was hard fighting against the Philistines all the days of Saul.
And when Saul saw any strong man, or any valiant man, he attached him to himself.

The LORD Rejects Saul

15 [1]†And Samuel said to Saul, “The Lord sent me to anoint you king over his people Israel; now therefore listen to the words of the Lord. [2]†Thus says the Lord of hosts, ‘I have noted what Amalek did to Israel in opposing them on the way when they came up out of Egypt. [3]†Now go and strike Amalek and devote to destruction[1] all that they have. Do not spare them, but kill both man and woman, child and infant, ox and sheep, camel and donkey.’”
[4]†So Saul summoned the people and numbered them in Telaim, two hundred thousand men on foot, and ten thousand men of Judah. [5]†And Saul came to the city of Amalek and lay in wait in the valley. [6]†Then Saul said to the Kenites, “Go, depart; go down from among the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them. For you showed kindness to all the people of Israel when they came up out of Egypt.” So the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites. [7]†And Saul defeated the Amalekites from Havilah as far as Shur, which is east of Egypt. [8]†And he took Agag the king of the Amalekites alive and devoted to destruction all the people with the edge of the sword. [9]†But Saul and the people spared Agag and the best of the sheep and of the oxen and of the fattened calves[2] and the lambs, and all that was good, and would not utterly destroy them. All that was despised and worthless they devoted to destruction.
[10]The word of the Lord came to Samuel: [11]†“I regret that I have made Saul king, for he has turned back from following me and has not performed my commandments.” And Samuel was angry, and he cried to the Lord all night. [12]†And Samuel rose early to meet Saul in the morning. And it was told Samuel, “Saul came to Carmel, and behold, he set up a monument for himself and turned and passed on and went down to Gilgal.” [13]†And Samuel came to Saul, and Saul said to him, “Blessed be you to the Lord. I have performed the commandment of the Lord.” [14]And Samuel said, “What then is this bleating of the sheep in my ears and the lowing of the oxen that I hear?” [15]Saul said, “They have brought them from the Amalekites, for the people spared the best of the sheep and of the oxen to sacrifice to the Lord your God, and the rest we have devoted to destruction." [16]†Then Samuel said to Saul, "Stop! I will tell you what the Lord said to me this night." And he said to him, "Speak."

[17]†And Samuel said, "Though you are little in your own eyes, are you not the head of the tribes of Israel? The Lord anointed you king over Israel. [18]†And the Lord sent you on a mission and said, 'Go, devote to destruction the sinners, the Amalekites, and fight against them until they are consumed.' [19]†Why then did you not obey the voice of the Lord? Why did you pounce on the spoil and do what was evil in the sight of the Lord?" [20]†And Saul said to Samuel, "I have obeyed the voice of the Lord. I have gone on the mission on which the Lord sent me. I have brought Agag the king of Amalek, and I have devoted the Amalekites to destruction. [21]But the people took of the spoil, sheep and oxen, the best of the things devoted to destruction, to sacrifice to the Lord your God in Gilgal." [22]†And Samuel said,

"Has the Lord as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices,
as in obeying the voice of the Lord?
Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice,
and to listen than the fat of rams.
[23]† For rebellion is as the sin of divination, and presumption is as iniquity and idolatry.
Because you have rejected the word of the Lord,
he has also rejected you from being king."

[24]†Saul said to Samuel, "I have sinned, for I have transgressed the commandment of the Lord and your words, because I feared the people and obeyed their voice. [25]†Now therefore, please pardon my sin and return with me that I may worship the Lord." [26]†And Samuel said to Saul, "I will not return with you. For you have rejected the word of the Lord, and the Lord has rejected you from being king over Israel." [27]†As Samuel turned to go away, Saul seized the skirt of his robe, and it tore. [28]And Samuel said to him, "The Lord has torn the kingdom of Israel from you this day and has given it to a neighbor of yours, who is better than you. 29 † And also the Glory of Israel will not lie or have regret, for he is not a man, that he should have regret." 30 † Then he said, "I have sinned; yet honor me now before the elders of my people and before Israel, and return with me, that I may bow before the LORD your God." 31 † So Samuel turned back after Saul, and Saul bowed before the LORD.

32 † Then Samuel said, "Bring here to me Agag the king of the Amalekites." And Agag came to him cheerfully.[1] Agag said, "Surely the bitterness of death is past." 33 † And Samuel said, "As your sword has made women childless, so shall your mother be childless among women." And Samuel hacked Agag to pieces before the LORD in Gilgal.

34 † Then Samuel went to Ramah, and Saul went up to his house in Gibeah of Saul. 35 † And Samuel did not see Saul again until the day of his death, but Samuel grieved over Saul. And the LORD regretted that he had made Saul king over Israel.

David Anointed King

16 [1]The Lord said to Samuel, “How long will you grieve over Saul, since I have rejected him from being king over Israel? Fill your horn with oil, and go. I will send you to Jesse the Bethlehemite, for I have provided for myself a king among his sons.” [2]And Samuel said, “How can I go? If Saul hears it, he will kill me.” And the Lord said, “Take a heifer with you and say, ‘I have come to sacrifice to the Lord.’ [3]And invite Jesse to the sacrifice, and I will show you what you shall do. And you shall anoint for me him whom I declare to you.” [4]Samuel did what the Lord commanded and came to Bethlehem. The elders of the city came to meet him trembling and said, “Do you come peaceably?” [5]And he said, “Peaceably; I have come to sacrifice to the Lord. Consecrate yourselves, and come with me to the sacrifice.” And he consecrated Jesse and his sons and invited them to the sacrifice.

[6]When they came, he looked on Eliab and thought, “Surely the Lord’s anointed is before him.” [7]But the Lord said to Samuel, “Do not look on his appearance or on the height of his stature, because I have rejected him. For the Lord sees not as man sees: man looks on the outward appearance, but the Lord looks on the heart.” [8]Then Jesse called Abinadab and made him pass before Samuel. And he said, “Neither has the Lord chosen this one.” [9]Then Jesse made Shammah pass by. And he said, “Neither has the Lord chosen this one.” [10]And Jesse made seven of his sons pass before Samuel.
And Samuel said to Jesse, “The Lord has not chosen these.” [11]Then Samuel said to Jesse, “Are all your sons here?” And he said, “There remains yet the youngest,[1] but behold, he is keeping the sheep.” And Samuel said to Jesse, “Send and get him, for we will not sit down till he comes here.” [12]And he sent and brought him in. Now he was ruddy and had beautiful eyes and was handsome. And the Lord said, “Arise, anoint him, for this is he.” [13]Then Samuel took the horn of oil and anointed him in the midst of his brothers.
And the Spirit of the Lord rushed upon David from that day forward. And Samuel rose up and went to Ramah.

David in Saul's Service

14 ‡ ‡ ‡ †Now the Spirit of the Lord departed from Saul, and a harmful spirit from the Lord tormented him. 15 †And Saul's servants said to him, "Behold now, a harmful spirit from God is tormenting you. 16 †Let our lord now command your servants who are before you to seek out a man who is skillful in playing the lyre, and when the harmful spirit from God is upon you, he will play it, and you will be well." 17 †So Saul said to his servants, "Provide for me a man who can play well and bring him to me." 18 †One of the young men answered, "Behold, I have seen a son of Jesse the Bethlehemite, who is skillful in playing, a man of valor, a man of war, prudent in speech, and a man of good presence, and the Lord is with him." 19 †Therefore Saul sent messengers to Jesse and said, "Send me David your son, who is with the sheep." 20 †And Jesse took a donkey laden with bread and a skin of wine and a young goat and sent them by David his son to Saul. 21 †And David came to Saul and entered his service. And Saul loved him greatly, and he became his armor-bearer. 22 †And Saul sent to Jesse, saying, "Let David remain in my service, for he has found favor in my sight." 23 †And whenever the harmful spirit from God was upon Saul, David took the lyre and played it with his hand. So Saul was refreshed and was well, and the harmful spirit departed from him.

David and Goliath

17 [1]†Now the Philistines gathered their armies for battle. And they were gathered at Socoh, which belongs to Judah, and encamped between Socoh and Azekah, in Ephes-dammim. [2]And Saul and the men of Israel were gathered, and encamped in the Valley of Elah, and drew up in line of battle against the Philistines. [3]And the Philistines stood on the mountain on the one side, and Israel stood on the mountain on the other side, with a valley between them. [4]†And there came out from the camp of the Philistines a champion named Goliath of Gath, whose height was six[1] cubits and a span. [5]†He had a helmet of bronze on his head, and he was armed with a coat of mail, and the weight of the coat was five thousand shekels[2] of bronze. [6]And he had bronze armor on his legs, and a javelin of bronze slung between his shoulders. [7]The shaft of his spear was like a weaver's beam, and his spear's head weighed six hundred shekels of iron. And his shieldbearer went before him. [8]†He stood and shouted to the ranks of Israel,
"Why have you come out to draw up for battle? Am I not a Philistine, and are you not servants of Saul? Choose a man for yourselves, and let him come down to me. [9]†If he is able to fight with me and kill me, then we will be your servants. But if I prevail against him and kill him, then you shall be our servants and serve us." [10]†And the Philistine said, "I defy the ranks of Israel this day. Give me a man, that we may fight together." [11]†When Saul and all Israel heard these words of the Philistine, they were dismayed and greatly afraid.

[12]†Now David was the son of an Ephrathite of Bethlehem in Judah, named Jesse, who had eight sons. In the days of Saul the man was already old and advanced in years.[3] [13]†The three oldest sons of Jesse had followed Saul to the battle. And the names of his three sons who went to the battle were Eliab the firstborn, and next to him Abinadab, and the third Shammah.
[14]David was the youngest. The three eldest followed Saul, [15]†but David went back and forth from Saul to feed his father's sheep at Bethlehem.
[16]†For forty days the Philistine came forward and took his stand, morning and evening.

17 †And Jesse said to David his son, “Take for your brothers an ephah[4] of this parched grain, and these ten loaves, and carry them quickly to the camp to your brothers. 18 †Also take these ten cheeses to the commander of their thousand. See if your brothers are well, and bring some token from them.” 19 Now Saul and they and all the men of Israel were in the Valley of Elah, fighting with the Philistines. 20 †And David rose early in the morning and left the sheep with a keeper and took the provisions and went, as Jesse had commanded him. And he came to the encampment as the host was going out to the battle line, shouting the war cry. 21 And Israel and the Philistines drew up for battle, army against army. 22 †And David left the things in charge of the keeper of the baggage and ran to the ranks and went and greeted his brothers. 23 †As he talked with them, behold, the champion, the Philistine of Gath, Goliath by name, came up out of the ranks of the Philistines and spoke the same words as before. And David heard him.
24 †All the men of Israel, when they saw the man, fled from him and were much afraid. 25 †And the men of Israel said, “Have you seen this man who has come up? Surely he has come up to defy Israel. And the king will enrich the man who kills him with great riches and will give him his daughter and make his father’s house free in Israel.” 26 †And David said to the men who stood by him, “What shall be done for the man who kills this Philistine and takes away the reproach from Israel? For who is this uncircumcised Philistine, that he should defy the armies of the living God?” 27 †And the people answered him in the same way, “So shall it be done to the man who kills him.”
28 †Now Eliab his eldest brother heard when he spoke to the men. And Eliab’s anger was kindled against David, and he said, “Why have you come down? And with whom have you left those few sheep in the wilderness? I know your presumption and the evil of your heart, for you have come down to see the battle.” 29 †And David said, “What have I done now? Was it not but a word?” 30 And he turned away from him toward another, and spoke in the same way, and the people answered him again as before.
31 †When the words that David spoke were heard, they repeated them before Saul, and he sent for him. 32 And David said to Saul, “Let no man’s heart fail because of him. Your servant will go and fight with this Philistine.” 33 †And Saul said to David, “You are not able to go against this Philistine to fight with him, for you are but a youth, and he has been a man of war from his youth." [34]†But David said to Saul, "Your servant used to keep sheep for his father. And when there came a lion, or a bear, and took a lamb from the flock, [35]†I went after him and struck him and delivered it out of his mouth. And if he arose against me, I caught him by his beard and struck him and killed him. [36]†Your servant has struck down both lions and bears, and this uncircumcised Philistine shall be like one of them, for he has defied the armies of the living God." [37]†And David said, "The Lord who delivered me from the paw of the lion and from the paw of the bear will deliver me from the hand of this Philistine." And Saul said to David, "Go, and the Lord be with you!"

[38]†Then Saul clothed David with his armor. He put a helmet of bronze on his head and clothed him with a coat of mail, [39]†and David strapped his sword over his armor. And he tried in vain to go, for he had not tested them. Then David said to Saul, "I cannot go with these, for I have not tested them." So David put them off. [40]†Then he took his staff in his hand and chose five smooth stones from the brook and put them in his shepherd's pouch. His sling was in his hand, and he approached the Philistine.

[41]†And the Philistine moved forward and came near to David, with his shield-bearer in front of him. [42]†And when the Philistine looked and saw David, he disdained him, for he was but a youth, ruddy and handsome in appearance. [43]†And the Philistine said to David, "Am I a dog, that you come to me with sticks?" And the Philistine cursed David by his gods. [44]†The Philistine said to David, "Come to me, and I will give your flesh to the birds of the air and to the beasts of the field." [45]†Then David said to the Philistine, "You come to me with a sword and with a spear and with a javelin, but I come to you in the name of the Lord of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel, whom you have defied. [46]†This day the Lord will deliver you into my hand, and I will strike you down and cut off your head. And I will give the dead bodies of the host of the Philistines this day to the birds of the air and to the wild beasts of the earth, that all the earth may know that there is a God in Israel, [47]†and that all this assembly may know that the Lord saves not with sword and spear. For the battle is the Lord's, and he will give you into our hand."

48 † When the Philistine arose and came and drew near to meet David, David ran quickly toward the battle line to meet the Philistine. 49 † And David put his hand in his bag and took out a stone and slung it and struck the Philistine on his forehead. The stone sank into his forehead, and he fell on his face to the ground.
50 † So David prevailed over the Philistine with a sling and with a stone, and struck the Philistine and killed him. There was no sword in the hand of David. 51 † Then David ran and stood over the Philistine and took his sword and drew it out of its sheath and killed him and cut off his head with it.
When the Philistines saw that their champion was dead, they fled. 52 † And the men of Israel and Judah rose with a shout and pursued the Philistines as far as Gath[1] and the gates of Ekron, so that the wounded Philistines fell on the way from Shaaraim as far as Gath and Ekron. 53 And the people of Israel came back from chasing the Philistines, and they plundered their camp.
54 † And David took the head of the Philistine and brought it to Jerusalem, but he put his armor in his tent.
55 † As soon as Saul saw David go out against the Philistine, he said to Abner, the commander of the army, “Abner, whose son is this youth?” And Abner said, “As your soul lives, O king, I do not know.” 56 And the king said, “Inquire whose son the boy is.” 57 † And as soon as David returned from the striking down of the Philistine, Abner took him, and brought him before Saul with the head of the Philistine in his hand. 58 † And Saul said to him, “Whose son are you, young man?” And David answered, “I am the son of your servant Jesse the Bethlehemite.”

David and Jonathan's Friendship

18 [1]†† As soon as he had finished speaking to Saul, the soul of Jonathan was knit to the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul. [2]And Saul took him that day and would not let him return to his father's house. [3]† Then Jonathan made a covenant with David, because he loved him as his own soul. [4]† And Jonathan stripped himself of the robe that was on him and gave it to David, and his armor, and even his sword and his bow and his belt. [5]† And David went out and was successful wherever Saul sent him, so that Saul set him over the men of war. And this was good in the sight of all the people and also in the sight of Saul's servants.

Saul's Jealousy of David

6 † † † As they were coming home, when David returned from striking down the Philistine, the women came out of all the cities of Israel, singing and dancing, to meet King Saul, with tambourines, with songs of joy, and with musical instruments.[1] 7 And the women sang to one another as they celebrated,

"Saul has struck down his thousands,
and David his ten thousands."

8 And Saul was very angry, and this saying displeased him. He said, "They have ascribed to David ten thousands, and to me they have ascribed thousands, and what more can he have but the kingdom?" 9 † And Saul eyed David from that day on.

10 † The next day a harmful spirit from God rushed upon Saul, and he raved within his house while David was playing the lyre, as he did day by day. Saul had his spear in his hand. 11 And Saul hurled the spear, for he thought, "I will pin David to the wall." But David evaded him twice.

12 † Saul was afraid of David because the Lord was with him but had departed from Saul. 13 † So Saul removed him from his presence and made him a commander of a thousand. And he went out and came in before the people. 14 † And David had success in all his undertakings, for the Lord was with him. 15 And when Saul saw that he had great success, he stood in fearful awe of him. 16 † But all Israel and Judah loved David, for he went out and came in before them.

David Marries Michal

17 ‡ † Then Saul said to David, “Here is my elder daughter Merab. I will give her to you for a wife. Only be valiant for me and fight the Lord’s battles.” For Saul thought, “Let not my hand be against him, but let the hand of the Philistines be against him.” 18 † And David said to Saul, “Who am I, and who are my relatives, my father’s clan in Israel, that I should be son-in-law to the king?” 19 † But at the time when Merab, Saul’s daughter, should have been given to David, she was given to Adriel the Meholathite for a wife.

20 † Now Saul’s daughter Michal loved David. And they told Saul, and the thing pleased him. 21 † Saul thought, “Let me give her to him, that she may be a snare for him and that the hand of the Philistines may be against him.” Therefore Saul said to David a second time,[1] “You shall now be my son-in-law.” 22 And Saul commanded his servants, “Speak to David in private and say, ‘Behold, the king has delight in you, and all his servants love you. Now then become the king’s son-in-law.’” 23 † And Saul’s servants spoke those words in the ears of David. And David said, “Does it seem to you a little thing to become the king’s son-in-law, since I am a poor man and have no reputation?” 24 And the servants of Saul told him, “Thus and so did David speak.” 25 † Then Saul said, “Thus shall you say to David, ‘The king desires no bride-price except a hundred foreskins of the Philistines, that he may be avenged of the king’s enemies.’” Now Saul thought to make David fall by the hand of the Philistines. 26 And when his servants told David these words, it pleased David well to be the king’s son-in-law. Before the time had expired, 27 † David arose and went, along with his men, and killed two hundred of the Philistines. And David brought their foreskins, which were given in full number to the king, that he might become the king’s son-in-law. And Saul gave him his daughter Michal for a wife. 28 † But when Saul saw and knew that the Lord was with David, and that Michal, Saul’s daughter, loved him, 29 † Saul was even more afraid of David. So Saul was David’s enemy continually.

30 † Then the princes of the Philistines came out to battle, and as often as they came out David had more success than all the servants of Saul, so that his name was highly esteemed.

Saul Tries to Kill David

19 [1]†And Saul spoke to Jonathan his son and to all his servants, that they should kill David. But Jonathan, Saul's son, delighted much in David.
[2]†And Jonathan told David, "Saul my father seeks to kill you. Therefore be on your guard in the morning. Stay in a secret place and hide yourself. [3]And I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where you are, and I will speak to my father about you. And if I learn anything I will tell you." [4]†And Jonathan spoke well of David to Saul his father and said to him, "Let not the king sin against his servant David, because he has not sinned against you, and because his deeds have brought good to you. [5]†For he took his life in his hand and he struck down the Philistine, and the Lord worked a great salvation for all Israel. You saw it, and rejoiced. Why then will you sin against innocent blood by killing David without cause?" [6]† And Saul listened to the voice of Jonathan. Saul swore, "As the Lord lives, he shall not be put to death." [7]And Jonathan called David, and Jonathan reported to him all these things. And Jonathan brought David to Saul, and he was in his presence as before.

[8]† And there was war again. And David went out and fought with the Philistines and struck them with a great blow, so that they fled before him.
[9]† Then a harmful spirit from the Lord came upon Saul, as he sat in his house with his spear in his hand. And David was playing the lyre. [10]And Saul sought to pin David to the wall with the spear, but he eluded Saul, so that he struck the spear into the wall. And David fled and escaped that night.

[11]†Saul sent messengers to David's house to watch him, that he might kill him in the morning. But Michal, David's wife, told him, "If you do not escape with your life tonight, tomorrow you will be killed." [12]So Michal let David down through the window, and he fled away and escaped. [13]†Michal took an image and laid it on the bed and put a pillow of goats' hair at its head and covered it with the clothes. [14]†And when Saul sent messengers to take David, she said, "He is sick." [15]Then Saul sent the messengers to see David, saying, "Bring him up to me in the bed, that I may kill him." [16]And when the messengers came in, behold, the image was in the bed, with the pillow of goats' hair at its head. [17] † Saul said to Michal, "Why have you deceived me thus and let my enemy go, so that he has escaped?" And Michal answered Saul, "He said to me, 'Let me go. Why should I kill you?'"

[18] † Now David fled and escaped, and he came to Samuel at Ramah and told him all that Saul had done to him. And he and Samuel went and lived at Naioth. [19] And it was told Saul, "Behold, David is at Naioth in Ramah." [20] † Then Saul sent messengers to take David, and when they saw the company of the prophets prophesying, and Samuel standing as head over them, the Spirit of God came upon the messengers of Saul, and they also prophesied. [21] When it was told Saul, he sent other messengers, and they also prophesied. And Saul sent messengers again the third time, and they also prophesied. [22] † Then he himself went to Ramah and came to the great well that is in Secu. And he asked, "Where are Samuel and David?" And one said, "Behold, they are at Naioth in Ramah." [23] † And he went there to Naioth in Ramah. And the Spirit of God came upon him also, and as he went he prophesied until he came to Naioth in Ramah. [24] And he too stripped off his clothes, and he too prophesied before Samuel and lay naked all that day and all that night. Thus it is said, "Is Saul also among the prophets?"

Jonathan Warns David

20 [1]†Then David fled from Naioth in Ramah and came and said before Jonathan, “What have I done? What is my guilt? And what is my sin before your father, that he seeks my life?” [2]†And he said to him, “Far from it! You shall not die. Behold, my father does nothing either great or small without disclosing it to me. And why should my father hide this from me? It is not so.” [3]†But David vowed again, saying, “Your father knows well that I have found favor in your eyes, and he thinks, ‘Do not let Jonathan know this, lest he be grieved.’ But truly, as the Lord lives and as your soul lives, there is but a step between me and death.” [4]†Then Jonathan said to David, “Whatever you say, I will do for you.” [5]†David said to Jonathan, “Behold, tomorrow is the new moon, and I should not fail to sit at table with the king.
But let me go, that I may hide myself in the field till the third day at evening. [6]†If your father misses me at all, then say, ‘David earnestly asked leave of me to run to Bethlehem his city, for there is a yearly sacrifice there for all the clan.’ [7]If he says, ‘Good!’ it will be well with your servant, but if he is angry, then know that harm is determined by him. [8]†Therefore deal kindly with your servant, for you have brought your servant into a covenant of the Lord with you. But if there is guilt in me, kill me yourself, for why should you bring me to your father?” [9]And Jonathan said, “Far be it from you! If I knew that it was determined by my father that harm should come to you, would I not tell you?” [10]†Then David said to Jonathan, “Who will tell me if your father answers you roughly?” [11]†And Jonathan said to David, “Come, let us go out into the field.” So they both went out into the field.

[12]†And Jonathan said to David, “The Lord, the God of Israel, be witness![1] When I have sounded out my father, about this time tomorrow, or the third day, behold, if he is well disposed toward David, shall I not then send and disclose it to you? [13]†But should it please my father to do you harm, the Lord do so to Jonathan and more also if I do not disclose it to you and send you away, that you may go in safety. May the Lord be with you, as he has been with my father. [14]†If I am still alive, show me the steadfast love of the Lord, that I may not die; [15]†and do not cut off[2] your steadfast love from my house forever, when the Lord cuts off every one of the enemies of David from the face of the earth.” [16]† And Jonathan made a covenant with the house of David, saying, “May[3] the Lord take vengeance on David’s enemies.” [17]And Jonathan made David swear again by his love for him, for he loved him as he loved his own soul.

[18]Then Jonathan said to him, “Tomorrow is the new moon, and you will be missed, because your seat will be empty. [19]† On the third day go down quickly to the place where you hid yourself when the matter was in hand, and remain beside the stone heap.[4] [20]And I will shoot three arrows to the side of it, as though I shot at a mark. [21]† And behold, I will send the young man, saying, ‘Go, find the arrows.’ If I say to the young man, ‘Look, the arrows are on this side of you, take them,’ then you are to come, for, as the Lord lives, it is safe for you and there is no danger. [22]† But if I say to the youth, ‘Look, the arrows are beyond you,’ then go, for the Lord has sent you away. [23]† And as for the matter of which you and I have spoken, behold, the Lord is between you and me forever.”

[24]† So David hid himself in the field. And when the new moon came, the king sat down to eat food. [25]† The king sat on his seat, as at other times, on the seat by the wall. Jonathan sat opposite,[5] and Abner sat by Saul’s side, but David’s place was empty.

[26]† Yet Saul did not say anything that day, for he thought, “Something has happened to him. He is not clean; surely he is not clean.” [27]But on the second day, the day after the new moon, David’s place was empty. And Saul said to Jonathan his son, “Why has not the son of Jesse come to the meal, either yesterday or today?” [28]Jonathan answered Saul, “David earnestly asked leave of me to go to Bethlehem. [29]† He said, ‘Let me go, for our clan holds a sacrifice in the city, and my brother has commanded me to be there. So now, if I have found favor in your eyes, let me get away and see my brothers.’ For this reason he has not come to the king’s table.”

[30]† Then Saul’s anger was kindled against Jonathan, and he said to him, “You son of a perverse, rebellious woman, do I not know that you have chosen the son of Jesse to your own shame, and to the shame of your mother’s nakedness? [31]† For as long as the son of Jesse lives on the earth, neither you nor your kingdom shall be established. Therefore send and bring him to me, for he shall surely die.” [32]Then Jonathan answered Saul his father, “Why should he be put to death? What has he done?” 33 †But Saul hurled his spear at him to strike him. So Jonathan knew that his father was determined to put David to death. 34 †And Jonathan rose from the table in fierce anger and ate no food the second day of the month, for he was grieved for David, because his father had disgraced him.

35 †In the morning Jonathan went out into the field to the appointment with David, and with him a little boy. 36 †And he said to his boy, “Run and find the arrows that I shoot.” As the boy ran, he shot an arrow beyond him. 37 And when the boy came to the place of the arrow that Jonathan had shot, Jonathan called after the boy and said, “Is not the arrow beyond you?” 38 And Jonathan called after the boy, “Hurry! Be quick! Do not stay!” So Jonathan’s boy gathered up the arrows and came to his master. 39 †But the boy knew nothing. Only Jonathan and David knew the matter. 40 †And Jonathan gave his weapons to his boy and said to him, “Go and carry them to the city.” 41 †And as soon as the boy had gone, David rose from beside the stone heap[1] and fell on his face to the ground and bowed three times. And they kissed one another and wept with one another, David weeping the most. 42 †Then Jonathan said to David, “Go in peace, because we have sworn both of us in the name of the Lord, saying, ‘The Lord shall be between me and you, and between my offspring and your offspring, forever.’” And he rose and departed, and Jonathan went into the city.[2]

David and the Holy Bread

21 [1][3] Then David came to Nob to Ahimelech the priest. And Ahimelech came to meet David trembling and said to him, “Why are you alone, and no one with you?” [2]And David said to Ahimelech the priest, “The king has charged me with a matter and said to me, ‘Let no one know anything of the matter about which I send you, and with which I have charged you.’ I have made an appointment with the young men for such and such a place. [3]Now then, what do you have on hand? Give me five loaves of bread, or whatever is here.” [4]And the priest answered David, “I have no common bread on hand, but there is holy bread—if the young men have kept themselves from women.” [5]And David answered the priest, “Truly women have been kept from us as always when I go on an expedition. The vessels of the young men are holy even when it is an ordinary journey. How much more today will their vessels be holy?” [6]So the priest gave him the holy bread, for there was no bread there but the bread of the Presence, which is removed from before the Lord, to be replaced by hot bread on the day it is taken away.

[8]Then David said to Ahimelech, “Then have you not here a spear or a sword at hand? For I have brought neither my sword nor my weapons with me, because the king’s business required haste.” [9]And the priest said, “The sword of Goliath the Philistine, whom you struck down in the Valley of Elah, behold, it is here wrapped in a cloth behind the ephod. If you will take that, take it, for there is none but that here.” And David said, “There is none like that; give it to me.”

David Flees to Gath

[10]And David rose and fled that day from Saul and went to Achish the king of Gath. [11]And the servants of Achish said to him, “Is not this David the king of the land? Did they not sing to one another of him in dances,

‘ Saul has struck down his thousands,
and David his ten thousands’?”

[12]And David took these words to heart and was much afraid of Achish the king of Gath. [13]So he changed his behavior before them and pretended to be insane in their hands and made marks on the doors of the gate and let his spittle run down his beard. [14]Then Achish said to his servants, “Behold, you see the man is mad. Why then have you brought him to me? [15]Do I lack madmen, that you have brought this fellow to behave as a madman in my presence? Shall this fellow come into my house?”

David at the Cave of Adullam

22 [1]David departed from there and escaped to the cave of Adullam. And when his brothers and all his father's house heard it, they went down there to him. [2]And everyone who was in distress, and everyone who was in debt, and everyone who was bitter in soul,[1] gathered to him. And he became captain over them. And there were with him about four hundred men.

[3]And David went from there to Mizpeh of Moab. And he said to the king of Moab, "Please let my father and my mother stay[2] with you, till I know what God will do for me." [4]And he left them with the king of Moab, and they stayed with him all the time that David was in the stronghold. [5]Then the prophet Gad said to David, "Do not remain in the stronghold; depart, and go into the land of Judah." So David departed and went into the forest of Hereth.

Saul Kills the Priests at Nob

6 Now Saul heard that David was discovered, and the men who were with him. Saul was sitting at Gibeah under the tamarisk tree on the height with his spear in his hand, and all his servants were standing about him. 7 And Saul said to his servants who stood about him, "Hear now, people of Benjamin; will the son of Jesse give every one of you fields and vineyards, will he make you all commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, 8 that all of you have conspired against me? No one discloses to me when my son makes a covenant with the son of Jesse. None of you is sorry for me or discloses to me that my son has stirred up my servant against me, to lie in wait, as at this day." 9 Then answered Doeg the Edomite, who stood by the servants of Saul, "I saw the son of Jesse coming to Nob, to Ahimelech the son of Ahitub, 10 and he inquired of the Lord for him and gave him provisions and gave him the sword of Goliath the Philistine."

11 Then the king sent to summon Ahimelech the priest, the son of Ahitub, and all his father's house, the priests who were at Nob, and all of them came to the king. 12 And Saul said, "Hear now, son of Ahitub." And he answered, "Here I am, my lord." 13 And Saul said to him, "Why have you conspired against me, you and the son of Jesse, in that you have given him bread and a sword and have inquired of God for him, so that he has risen against me, to lie in wait, as at this day?" 14 Then Ahimelech answered the king, "And who among all your servants is so faithful as David, who is the king's son-in-law, and captain over[3] your bodyguard, and honored in your house? 15 Is today the first time that I have inquired of God for him? No! Let not the king impute anything to his servant or to all the house of my father, for your servant has known nothing of all this, much or little." 16 And the king said, "You shall surely die, Ahimelech, you and all your father's house." 17 And the king said to the guard who stood about him, "Turn and kill the priests of the Lord, because their hand also is with David, and they knew that he fled and did not disclose it to me." But the servants of the king would not put out their hand to strike the priests of the Lord. 18 Then the king said to Doeg, "You turn and strike the priests." And Doeg the Edomite turned and struck down the priests, and he killed on that day eighty-five persons who wore the linen ephod. [19]And Nob, the city of the priests, he put to the sword; both man and woman, child and infant, ox, donkey and sheep, he put to the sword.

[20]But one of the sons of Ahimelech the son of Ahitub, named Abiathar, escaped and fled after David. [21]And Abiathar told David that Saul had killed the priests of the Lord. [22]And David said to Abiathar, "I knew on that day, when Doeg the Edomite was there, that he would surely tell Saul. I have occasioned the death of all the persons of your father's house. [23]Stay with me; do not be afraid, for he who seeks my life seeks your life. With me you shall be in safekeeping."

David Saves the City of Keilah

23 [1]Now they told David, “Behold, the Philistines are fighting against Keilah and are robbing the threshing floors.” [2]Therefore David inquired of the Lord, “Shall I go and attack these Philistines?” And the Lord said to David, “Go and attack the Philistines and save Keilah.” [3]But David’s men said to him, “Behold, we are afraid here in Judah; how much more then if we go to Keilah against the armies of the Philistines?” [4]Then David inquired of the Lord again. And the Lord answered him, “Arise, go down to Keilah, for I will give the Philistines into your hand.” [5]And David and his men went to Keilah and fought with the Philistines and brought away their livestock and struck them with a great blow. So David saved the inhabitants of Keilah.

[6]When Abiathar the son of Ahimelech had fled to David to Keilah, he had come down with an ephod in his hand. [7]Now it was told Saul that David had come to Keilah. And Saul said, “God has given him into my hand, for he has shut himself in by entering a town that has gates and bars.” [8]And Saul summoned all the people to war, to go down to Keilah, to besiege David and his men. [9]David knew that Saul was plotting harm against him. And he said to Abiathar the priest, “Bring the ephod here.” [10]Then said David, “O Lord, the God of Israel, your servant has surely heard that Saul seeks to come to Keilah, to destroy the city on my account. [11]Will the men of Keilah surrender me into his hand? Will Saul come down, as your servant has heard? O Lord, the God of Israel, please tell your servant.” And the Lord said, “He will come down.” [12]Then David said, “Will the men of Keilah surrender me and my men into the hand of Saul?” And the Lord said, “They will surrender you.” [13]Then David and his men, who were about six hundred, arose and departed from Keilah, and they went wherever they could go. When Saul was told that David had escaped from Keilah, he gave up the expedition. [14]And David remained in the strongholds in the wilderness, in the hill country of the wilderness of Ziph. And Saul sought him every day, but God did not give him into his hand.

Saul Pursues David

15 David saw that Saul had come out to seek his life. David was in the wilderness of Ziph at Horesh. 16 And Jonathan, Saul's son, rose and went to David at Horesh, and strengthened his hand in God. 17 And he said to him,
"Do not fear, for the hand of Saul my father shall not find you. You shall be king over Israel, and I shall be next to you. Saul my father also knows this." 18 And the two of them made a covenant before the LORD. David remained at Horesh, and Jonathan went home.

19 Then the Ziphites went up to Saul at Gibeah, saying, "Is not David hiding among us in the strongholds at Horesh, on the hill of Hachilah, which is south of Jeshimon? 20 Now come down, O king, according to all your heart's desire to come down, and our part shall be to surrender him into the king's hand." 21 And Saul said, "May you be blessed by the LORD, for you have had compassion on me. 22 Go, make yet more sure. Know and see the place where his foot is, and who has seen him there, for it is told me that he is very cunning. 23 See therefore and take note of all the lurking places where he hides, and come back to me with sure information. Then I will go with you. And if he is in the land, I will search him out among all the thousands of Judah." 24 And they arose and went to Ziph ahead of Saul.

Now David and his men were in the wilderness of Maon, in the Arabah to the south of Jeshimon. 25 And Saul and his men went to seek him. And David was told, so he went down to the rock and lived in the wilderness of Maon. And when Saul heard that, he pursued after David in the wilderness of Maon. 26 Saul went on one side of the mountain, and David and his men on the other side of the mountain. And David was hurrying to get away from Saul. As Saul and his men were closing in on David and his men to capture them, 27 a messenger came to Saul, saying, "Hurry and come, for the Philistines have made a raid against the land." 28 So Saul returned from pursuing after David and went against the Philistines. Therefore that place was called the Rock of Escape.[1] 29[2] And David went up from there and lived in the strongholds of Engedi.

David Spares Saul's Life

24 [1][3] When Saul returned from following the Philistines, he was told, "Behold, David is in the wilderness of Engedi." [2]Then Saul took three thousand chosen men out of all Israel and went to seek David and his men in front of the Wildgoats' Rocks. [3]And he came to the sheepfolds by the way, where there was a cave, and Saul went in to relieve himself.[4] Now David and his men were sitting in the innermost parts of the cave. [4]And the men of David said to him, "Here is the day of which the Lord said to you,
'Behold, I will give your enemy into your hand, and you shall do to him as it shall seem good to you.'" Then David arose and stealthily cut off a corner of Saul's robe. [5]And afterward David's heart struck him, because he had cut off a corner of Saul's robe. [6]He said to his men, "The Lord forbid that I should do this thing to my lord, the Lord's anointed, to put out my hand against him, seeing he is the Lord's anointed." [7]So David persuaded his men with these words and did not permit them to attack Saul. And Saul rose up and left the cave and went on his way.

[8]Afterward David also arose and went out of the cave, and called after Saul, "My lord the king!" And when Saul looked behind him, David bowed with his face to the earth and paid homage. [9]And David said to Saul, "Why do you listen to the words of men who say, 'Behold, David seeks your harm'? [10]Behold, this day your eyes have seen how the Lord gave you today into my hand in the cave. And some told me to kill you, but I spared you.[1] I said, 'I will not put out my hand against my lord, for he is the Lord's anointed.' [11]See, my father, see the corner of your robe in my hand. For by the fact that I cut off the corner of your robe and did not kill you, you may know and see that there is no wrong or treason in my hands. I have not sinned against you, though you hunt my life to take it. [12]May the Lord judge between me and you, may the Lord avenge me against you, but my hand shall not be against you. [13]As the proverb of the ancients says, 'Out of the wicked comes wickedness.' But my hand shall not be against you. [14]After whom has the king of Israel come out? After whom do you pursue? After a dead dog! After a flea! [15]May the Lord therefore be judge and give sentence between me and you, and see to it and plead my cause and deliver me from your hand.”

16 As soon as David had finished speaking these words to Saul, Saul said,
“Is this your voice, my son David?” And Saul lifted up his voice and wept.
17 He said to David, “You are more righteous than I, for you have repaid me good, whereas I have repaid you evil. 18 And you have declared this day how you have dealt well with me, in that you did not kill me when the Lord put me into your hands. 19 For if a man finds his enemy, will he let him go away safe? So may the Lord reward you with good for what you have done to me this day. 20 And now, behold, I know that you shall surely be king, and that the kingdom of Israel shall be established in your hand. 21 Swear to me therefore by the Lord that you will not cut off my offspring after me, and that you will not destroy my name out of my father’s house.” 22 And David swore this to Saul. Then Saul went home, but David and his men went up to the stronghold.

The Death of Samuel

25 [1]Now Samuel died. And all Israel assembled and mourned for him, and they buried him in his house at Ramah.

David and Abigail

Then David rose and went down to the wilderness of Paran. [2]And there was a man in Maon whose business was in Carmel. The man was very rich; he had three thousand sheep and a thousand goats. He was shearing his sheep in Carmel. [3]Now the name of the man was Nabal, and the name of his wife Abigail. The woman was discerning and beautiful, but the man was harsh and badly behaved; he was a Calebite. [4]David heard in the wilderness that Nabal was shearing his sheep. [5]So David sent ten young men. And David said to the young men, "Go up to Carmel, and go to Nabal and greet him in my name. [6]And thus you shall greet him: 'Peace be to you, and peace be to your house, and peace be to all that you have. [7]I hear that you have shearers. Now your shepherds have been with us, and we did them no harm, and they missed nothing all the time they were in Carmel. [8]Ask your young men, and they will tell you. Therefore let my young men find favor in your eyes, for we come on a feast day. Please give whatever you have at hand to your servants and to your son David.'"

[9]When David's young men came, they said all this to Nabal in the name of David, and then they waited. [10]And Nabal answered David's servants, "Who is David? Who is the son of Jesse? There are many servants these days who are breaking away from their masters. [11]Shall I take my bread and my water and my meat that I have killed for my shearers and give it to men who come from I do not know where?" [12]So David's young men turned away and came back and told him all this. [13]And David said to his men, "Every man strap on his sword!" And every man of them strapped on his sword. David also strapped on his sword. And about four hundred men went up after David, while two hundred remained with the baggage.

[14]But one of the young men told Abigail, Nabal's wife, "Behold, David sent messengers out of the wilderness to greet our master, and he railed at them. [15]Yet the men were very good to us, and we suffered no harm, and we did not miss anything when we were in the fields, as long as we went with them. [16]They were a wall to us both by night and by day, all the while we were with them keeping the sheep. [17]Now therefore know this and consider what you should do, for harm is determined against our master and against all his house, and he is such a worthless man that one cannot speak to him."

18 Then Abigail made haste and took two hundred loaves and two skins of wine and five sheep already prepared and five seahs[1] of parched grain and a hundred clusters of raisins and two hundred cakes of figs, and laid them on donkeys. 19 And she said to her young men, "Go on before me; behold, I come after you." But she did not tell her husband Nabal. 20 And as she rode on the donkey and came down under cover of the mountain, behold, David and his men came down toward her, and she met them. 21 Now David had said, "Surely in vain have I guarded all that this fellow has in the wilderness, so that nothing was missed of all that belonged to him, and he has returned me evil for good. 22 God do so to the enemies of David[2] and more also, if by morning I leave so much as one male of all who belong to him."

23 When Abigail saw David, she hurried and got down from the donkey and fell before David on her face and bowed to the ground. 24 She fell at his feet and said, "On me alone, my lord, be the guilt. Please let your servant speak in your ears, and hear the words of your servant. 25 Let not my lord regard this worthless fellow, Nabal, for as his name is, so is he. Nabal[3] is his name, and folly is with him. But I your servant did not see the young men of my lord, whom you sent. 26 Now then, my lord, as the Lord lives, and as your soul lives, because the Lord has restrained you from bloodguilt and from saving with your own hand, now then let your enemies and those who seek to do evil to my lord be as Nabal. 27 And now let this present that your servant has brought to my lord be given to the young men who follow my lord. 28 Please forgive the trespass of your servant. For the Lord will certainly make my lord a sure house, because my lord is fighting the battles of the Lord, and evil shall not be found in you so long as you live. 29 If men rise up to pursue you and to seek your life, the life of my lord shall be bound in the bundle of the living in the care of the Lord your God. And the lives of your enemies he shall sling out as from the hollow of a sling. 30 And when the Lord has done to my lord according to all the good that he has spoken concerning you and has appointed you prince over Israel, 31 my lord shall have no cause of grief or pangs of conscience for having shed blood without cause or for my lord taking vengeance himself. And when the Lord has dealt well with my lord, then remember your servant."

[32]And David said to Abigail, "Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, who sent you this day to meet me! [33]Blessed be your discretion, and blessed be you, who have kept me this day from bloodguilt and from avenging myself with my own hand! [34]For as surely as the Lord, the God of Israel, lives, who has restrained me from hurting you, unless you had hurried and come to meet me, truly by morning there had not been left to Nabal so much as one male." [35]Then David received from her hand what she had brought him. And he said to her, "Go up in peace to your house. See, I have obeyed your voice, and I have granted your petition."

[36]And Abigail came to Nabal, and behold, he was holding a feast in his house, like the feast of a king. And Nabal's heart was merry within him, for he was very drunk. So she told him nothing at all until the morning light. [37]In the morning, when the wine had gone out of Nabal, his wife told him these things, and his heart died within him, and he became as a stone. [38]And about ten days later the Lord struck Nabal, and he died.

[39]When David heard that Nabal was dead, he said, "Blessed be the Lord who has avenged the insult I received at the hand of Nabal, and has kept back his servant from wrongdoing. The Lord has returned the evil of Nabal on his own head." Then David sent and spoke to Abigail, to take her as his wife. [40]When the servants of David came to Abigail at Carmel, they said to her, "David has sent us to you to take you to him as his wife." [41]And she rose and bowed with her face to the ground and said, "Behold, your handmaid is a servant to wash the feet of the servants of my lord." [42]And Abigail hurried and rose and mounted a donkey, and her five young women attended her. She followed the messengers of David and became his wife.

[43]David also took Ahinoam of Jezreel, and both of them became his wives. [44]Saul had given Michal his daughter, David's wife, to Palti the son of Laish, who was of Gallim.

David Spares Saul Again

26 [1]Then the Ziphites came to Saul at Gibeah, saying, “Is not David hiding himself on the hill of Hachilah, which is on the east of Jeshimon?” [2]So Saul arose and went down to the wilderness of Ziph with three thousand chosen men of Israel to seek David in the wilderness of Ziph. [3]And Saul encamped on the hill of Hachilah, which is beside the road on the east of Jeshimon. But David remained in the wilderness. When he saw that Saul came after him into the wilderness, [4]David sent out spies and learned that Saul had come. [5]Then David rose and came to the place where Saul had encamped. And David saw the place where Saul lay, with Abner the son of Ner, the commander of his army. Saul was lying within the encampment, while the army was encamped around him.

[6]Then David said to Ahimelech the Hittite, and to Joab’s brother Abishai the son of Zeruiah, “Who will go down with me into the camp to Saul?”
And Abishai said, “I will go down with you.” [7]So David and Abishai went to the army by night. And there lay Saul sleeping within the encampment, with his spear stuck in the ground at his head, and Abner and the army lay around him. [8]Then said Abishai to David, “God has given your enemy into your hand this day. Now please let me pin him to the earth with one stroke of the spear, and I will not strike him twice.” [9]But David said to Abishai, “Do not destroy him, for who can put out his hand against the Lord’s anointed and be guiltless?” [10]And David said, “As the Lord lives, the Lord will strike him, or his day will come to die, or he will go down into battle and perish. [11]The Lord forbid that I should put out my hand against the Lord’s anointed. But take now the spear that is at his head and the jar of water, and let us go.” [12]So David took the spear and the jar of water from Saul’s head, and they went away. No man saw it or knew it, nor did any awake, for they were all asleep, because a deep sleep from the Lord had fallen upon them.

[13]Then David went over to the other side and stood far off on the top of the hill, with a great space between them. [14]And David called to the army, and to Abner the son of Ner, saying, “Will you not answer, Abner?” Then

Abner answered, “Who are you who calls to the king?” [15]And David said to Abner, “Are you not a man? Who is like you in Israel? Why then have you not kept watch over your lord the king? For one of the people came in to destroy the king your lord. [16]This thing that you have done is not good. As the Lord lives, you deserve to die, because you have not kept watch over your lord, the Lord’s anointed. And now see where the king’s spear is and the jar of water that was at his head.”

[17]Saul recognized David’s voice and said, “Is this your voice, my son David?” And David said, “It is my voice, my lord, O king.” [18]And he said, “Why does my lord pursue after his servant? For what have I done? What evil is on my hands? [19]Now therefore let my lord the king hear the words of his servant. If it is the Lord who has stirred you up against me, may he accept an offering, but if it is men, may they be cursed before the Lord, for they have driven me out this day that I should have no share in the heritage of the Lord, saying, ‘Go, serve other gods.’ [20]Now therefore, let not my blood fall to the earth away from the presence of the Lord, for the king of Israel has come out to seek a single flea like one who hunts a partridge in the mountains.”

[21]Then Saul said, “I have sinned. Return, my son David, for I will no more do you harm, because my life was precious in your eyes this day. Behold, I have acted foolishly, and have made a great mistake.” [22]And David answered and said, “Here is the spear, O king! Let one of the young men come over and take it. [23]The Lord rewards every man for his righteousness and his faithfulness, for the Lord gave you into my hand today, and I would not put out my hand against the Lord’s anointed. [24]Behold, as your life was precious this day in my sight, so may my life be precious in the sight of the Lord, and may he deliver me out of all tribulation.” [25]Then Saul said to David, “Blessed be you, my son David! You will do many things and will succeed in them.” So David went his way, and Saul returned to his place.

David Flees to the Philistines

27 [1]Then David said in his heart, “Now I shall perish one day by the hand of Saul. There is nothing better for me than that I should escape to the land of the Philistines. Then Saul will despair of seeking me any longer within the borders of Israel, and I shall escape out of his hand.” [2]So David arose and went over, he and the six hundred men who were with him, to Achish the son of Maoch, king of Gath. [3]And David lived with Achish at Gath, he and his men, every man with his household, and David with his two wives, Ahinoam of Jezreel, and Abigail of Carmel, Nabal’s widow. [4]And when it was told Saul that David had fled to Gath, he no longer sought him.

[5]Then David said to Achish, “If I have found favor in your eyes, let a place be given me in one of the country towns, that I may dwell there. For why should your servant dwell in the royal city with you?” [6]So that day Achish gave him Ziklag. Therefore Ziklag has belonged to the kings of Judah to this day. [7]And the number of the days that David lived in the country of the Philistines was a year and four months.

[8]Now David and his men went up and made raids against the Geshurites, the Girzites, and the Amalekites, for these were the inhabitants of the land from of old, as far as Shur, to the land of Egypt. [9]And David would strike the land and would leave neither man nor woman alive, but would take away the sheep, the oxen, the donkeys, the camels, and the garments, and come back to Achish. [10]When Achish asked, “Where have you made a raid today?” David would say, “Against the Negeb of Judah,” or, “Against the Negeb of the Jerahmeelites,” or, “Against the Negeb of the Kenites.” [11]And David would leave neither man nor woman alive to bring news to Gath, thinking, “lest they should tell about us and say, ‘So David has done.’” Such was his custom all the while he lived in the country of the Philistines. [12]And Achish trusted David, thinking, “He has made himself an utter stench to his people Israel; therefore he shall always be my servant.”

Saul and the Medium of En-dor

28 [1]In those days the Philistines gathered their forces for war, to fight against Israel. And Achish said to David, “Understand that you and your men are to go out with me in the army.” [2]David said to Achish, “Very well, you shall know what your servant can do.” And Achish said to David, “Very well, I will make you my bodyguard for life.”

[3]Now Samuel had died, and all Israel had mourned for him and buried him in Ramah, his own city. And Saul had put the mediums and the necromancers out of the land. [4]The Philistines assembled and came and encamped at Shunem. And Saul gathered all Israel, and they encamped at Gilboa. [5]When Saul saw the army of the Philistines, he was afraid, and his heart trembled greatly. [6]And when Saul inquired of the Lord, the Lord did not answer him, either by dreams, or by Urim, or by prophets. [7]Then Saul said to his servants, “Seek out for me a woman who is a medium, that I may go to her and inquire of her.” And his servants said to him, “Behold, there is a medium at En-dor.”

[8]So Saul disguised himself and put on other garments and went, he and two men with him. And they came to the woman by night. And he said, “Divine for me by a spirit and bring up for me whomever I shall name to you.” [9]The woman said to him, “Surely you know what Saul has done, how he has cut off the mediums and the necromancers from the land. Why then are you laying a trap for my life to bring about my death?” [10]But Saul swore to her by the Lord, “As the Lord lives, no punishment shall come upon you for this thing.” [11]Then the woman said, “Whom shall I bring up for you?” He said, “Bring up Samuel for me.” [12]When the woman saw Samuel, she cried out with a loud voice. And the woman said to Saul, “Why have you deceived me? You are Saul.” [13]The king said to her, “Do not be afraid. What do you see?” And the woman said to Saul, “I see a god coming up out of the earth.” [14]He said to her, “What is his appearance?” And she said, “An old man is coming up, and he is wrapped in a robe.” And Saul knew that it was Samuel, and he bowed with his face to the ground and paid homage.

[15]Then Samuel said to Saul, “Why have you disturbed me by bringing me up?” Saul answered, “I am in great distress, for the Philistines are warring against me, and God has turned away from me and answers me no more, either by prophets or by dreams. Therefore I have summoned you to tell me what I shall do.” [16]And Samuel said, “Why then do you ask me, since the Lord has turned from you and become your enemy? [17]The Lord has done to you as he spoke by me, for the Lord has torn the kingdom out of your hand and given it to your neighbor, David. [18]Because you did not obey the voice of the Lord and did not carry out his fierce wrath against Amalek, therefore the Lord has done this thing to you this day. [19]Moreover, the Lord will give Israel also with you into the hand of the Philistines, and tomorrow you and your sons shall be with me. The Lord will give the army of Israel also into the hand of the Philistines.”

[20]Then Saul fell at once full length on the ground, filled with fear because of the words of Samuel. And there was no strength in him, for he had eaten nothing all day and all night. [21]And the woman came to Saul, and when she saw that he was terrified, she said to him, “Behold, your servant has obeyed you. I have taken my life in my hand and have listened to what you have said to me. [22]Now therefore, you also obey your servant. Let me set a morsel of bread before you; and eat, that you may have strength when you go on your way.” [23]He refused and said, “I will not eat.” But his servants, together with the woman, urged him, and he listened to their words. So he arose from the earth and sat on the bed. [24]Now the woman had a fattened calf in the house, and she quickly killed it, and she took flour and kneaded it and baked unleavened bread of it, [25]and she put it before Saul and his servants, and they ate. Then they rose and went away that night.

The Philistines Reject David

29 [1]Now the Philistines had gathered all their forces at Aphek. And the Israelites were encamped by the spring that is in Jezreel. [2]As the lords of the Philistines were passing on by hundreds and by thousands, and David and his men were passing on in the rear with Achish, [3]the commanders of the Philistines said, "What are these Hebrews doing here?" And Achish said to the commanders of the Philistines, "Is this not David, the servant of Saul, king of Israel, who has been with me now for days and years, and since he deserted to me I have found no fault in him to this day." [4]But the commanders of the Philistines were angry with him. And the commanders of the Philistines said to him, "Send the man back, that he may return to the place to which you have assigned him. He shall not go down with us to battle, lest in the battle he become an adversary to us. For how could this fellow reconcile himself to his lord? Would it not be with the heads of the men here? [5]Is not this David, of whom they sing to one another in dances,

> ' Saul has struck down his thousands,
> and David his ten thousands'?"

[6]Then Achish called David and said to him, "As the LORD lives, you have been honest, and to me it seems right that you should march out and in with me in the campaign. For I have found nothing wrong in you from the day of your coming to me to this day. Nevertheless, the lords do not approve of you. [7]So go back now; and go peaceably, that you may not displease the lords of the Philistines." [8]And David said to Achish, "But what have I done? What have you found in your servant from the day I entered your service until now, that I may not go and fight against the enemies of my lord the king?" [9]And Achish answered David and said, "I know that you are as blameless in my sight as an angel of God. Nevertheless, the commanders of the Philistines have said, 'He shall not go up with us to the battle.' [10]Now then rise early in the morning with the servants of your lord who came with you, and start early in the morning, and depart as soon as you have light."

[11]So David set out with his men early in the morning to return to the land of the Philistines. But the Philistines went up to Jezreel.

David's Wives Are Captured

30 [1]Now when David and his men came to Ziklag on the third day, the Amalekites had made a raid against the Negeb and against Ziklag. They had overcome Ziklag and burned it with fire [2]and taken captive the women and all[1] who were in it, both small and great. They killed no one, but carried them off and went their way. [3]And when David and his men came to the city, they found it burned with fire, and their wives and sons and daughters taken captive. [4]Then David and the people who were with him raised their voices and wept until they had no more strength to weep.
[5]David's two wives also had been taken captive, Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail the widow of Nabal of Carmel. [6]And David was greatly distressed, for the people spoke of stoning him, because all the people were bitter in soul,[2] each for his sons and daughters. But David strengthened himself in the Lord his God.

[7]And David said to Abiathar the priest, the son of Ahimelech, "Bring me the ephod." So Abiathar brought the ephod to David. [8]And David inquired of the Lord, "Shall I pursue after this band? Shall I overtake them?" He answered him, "Pursue, for you shall surely overtake and shall surely rescue." [9]So David set out, and the six hundred men who were with him, and they came to the brook Besor, where those who were left behind stayed.
[10]But David pursued, he and four hundred men. Two hundred stayed behind, who were too exhausted to cross the brook Besor.

[11]They found an Egyptian in the open country and brought him to David.
And they gave him bread and he ate. They gave him water to drink, [12]and they gave him a piece of a cake of figs and two clusters of raisins. And when he had eaten, his spirit revived, for he had not eaten bread or drunk water for three days and three nights. [13]And David said to him, "To whom do you belong? And where are you from?" He said, "I am a young man of Egypt, servant to an Amalekite, and my master left me behind because I fell sick three days ago. [14]We had made a raid against the Negeb of the Cherethites and against that which belongs to Judah and against the Negeb of Caleb, and we burned Ziklag with fire." [15]And David said to him, "Will you take me down to this band?" And he said, "Swear to me by God that you will not kill me or deliver me into the hands of my master, and I will take you down to this band."

David Defeats the Amalekites

16 And when he had taken him down, behold, they were spread abroad over all the land, eating and drinking and dancing, because of all the great spoil they had taken from the land of the Philistines and from the land of Judah. 17 And David struck them down from twilight until the evening of the next day, and not a man of them escaped, except four hundred young men, who mounted camels and fled. 18 David recovered all that the Amalekites had taken, and David rescued his two wives. 19 Nothing was missing, whether small or great, sons or daughters, spoil or anything that had been taken. David brought back all. 20 David also captured all the flocks and herds, and the people drove the livestock before him,[1] and said, "This is David's spoil."

21 Then David came to the two hundred men who had been too exhausted to follow David, and who had been left at the brook Besor. And they went out to meet David and to meet the people who were with him. And when David came near to the people he greeted them. 22 Then all the wicked and worthless fellows among the men who had gone with David said, "Because they did not go with us, we will not give them any of the spoil that we have recovered, except that each man may lead away his wife and children, and depart." 23 But David said, "You shall not do so, my brothers, with what the Lord has given us. He has preserved us and given into our hand the band that came against us. 24 Who would listen to you in this matter? For as his share is who goes down into the battle, so shall his share be who stays by the baggage. They shall share alike." 25 And he made it a statute and a rule for Israel from that day forward to this day.

26 When David came to Ziklag, he sent part of the spoil to his friends, the elders of Judah, saying, "Here is a present for you from the spoil of the enemies of the Lord." 27 It was for those in Bethel, in Ramoth of the Negeb, in Jattir, 28 in Aroer, in Siphmoth, in Eshtemoa, 29 in Racal, in the cities of the Jerahmeelites, in the cities of the Kenites, 30 in Hormah, in Bor-ashan, in Athach, 31 in Hebron, for all the places where David and his men had roamed.

The Death of Saul

31 [1]Now the Philistines fought against Israel, and the men of Israel fled before the Philistines and fell slain on Mount Gilboa. [2]And the Philistines overtook Saul and his sons, and the Philistines struck down Jonathan and Abinadab and Malchi-shua, the sons of Saul. [3]The battle pressed hard against Saul, and the archers found him, and he was badly wounded by the archers. [4]Then Saul said to his armor-bearer, "Draw your sword, and thrust me through with it, lest these uncircumcised come and thrust me through, and mistreat me." But his armor-bearer would not, for he feared greatly. Therefore Saul took his own sword and fell upon it. [5]And when his armor-bearer saw that Saul was dead, he also fell upon his sword and died with him. [6]Thus Saul died, and his three sons, and his armor-bearer, and all his men, on the same day together. [7]And when the men of Israel who were on the other side of the valley and those beyond the Jordan saw that the men of Israel had fled and that Saul and his sons were dead, they abandoned their cities and fled. And the Philistines came and lived in them.

[8]The next day, when the Philistines came to strip the slain, they found Saul and his three sons fallen on Mount Gilboa. [9]So they cut off his head and stripped off his armor and sent messengers throughout the land of the Philistines, to carry the good news to the house of their idols and to the people. [10]They put his armor in the temple of Ashtaroth, and they fastened his body to the wall of Beth-shan. [11]But when the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead heard what the Philistines had done to Saul, [12]all the valiant men arose and went all night and took the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons from the wall of Beth-shan, and they came to Jabesh and burned them there. [13]And they took their bones and buried them under the tamarisk tree in Jabesh and fasted seven days.

Introduction to 1 and 2 Samuel

Reading 1 and 2 Samuel

He breathes a word and it is done. Though the word is a mere puff of air, he is not to break his word. It binds him tightly. It will be fulfilled in blood when he stands at the entrance of the tabernacle and makes a peace offering. The oath an Israelite swears cannot be undone, because he makes his vow before the Lord, who will judge the earth.

The Books of Samuel record vows, or oaths, for the main characters: Elkanah, Hannah, and Samuel (1Sm 1:11, 21); Saul and his troops (1Sm 14:24); David and Jonathan (1Sm 20:3, 17; 2Sm 21:7); David (1Sm 24:21–22; 2Sm 19:23); Absalom (2Sm 15:7–8); Joab (2Sm 19:7); and even the Lord, who vows judgment on Eli and his sons (1Sm 3:14). These vows show how greatly God treasures a promise. These Books record how the Lord fulfilled His word concerning David (1Sm 16) and point to the promise that He would fulfill through David (2Sm 7:16) when the Word would become flesh (Jn 1:14).

Luther on 1 and 2 Samuel

St. Anna, the mother of Samuel, sings in 1 Samuel 2:9: "Not by might shall a man prevail." St. Paul says in 2 Corinthians 3:5: "Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to claim anything as coming from us; our sufficiency is from God." This is a most important article of faith, including many things; it completely puts down all pride, arrogance, blasphemy, fame, and false trust, and exalts God alone. It points out the reason why God alone is to be exalted—because He does all things. That is easily said but hard to believe and to translate into life. For those who carry it out in their lives are most peaceable, composed, and simple-hearted folk, who lay no claim to anything, well knowing it is not theirs but God's. (AE 21:328)

Although God manipulates and establishes all kingdoms, granting them to whom He will, nevertheless to this people He adds a special word of favor, to let them know that they have the kingdom of God. Therefore in the Book of Samuel they are reproved for having sinned gravely; for in seeking a king they trusted in him as in a man and a human government and did not seek a king in God and through His Word, as He says there (1 Sam 8:7): "They have rejected Me from being king over them."

Moses instructs [a prospective king] to rule with trust in God alone and with the knowledge that he has been appointed and preserved by His Word. Therefore he commands him not to multiply horses (v. 16), that is, not to trust in military might; not to lead the people back into Egypt, that is, not to trust in human favor and strength; not to multiply gold and silver, that is, not to trust in wealth (v. 17); not to multiply wives, that is, not to let his faith be snuffed out by thorns, as Christ calls the pleasures and cares of life, Luke 8:14. On the other hand, he does not forbid him to be strong with horses and military might, as we read that David and Solomon were (1 Kings 4:26); nor does he forbid compacts and alliances with men, like those which Solomon had with the King of Tyre and Egypt (1 Kings 5:12), and David with the Moabites, the Ammonites, and King Toi (2 Sam. 8:9). (AE 9:169)

God had ordered Saul to exterminate the Amalekites, insisting that not so much as the hoof of an ox survive. But Saul disobeyed. He did indeed slay all the people, but he spared the fine cattle. He was seized by avarice, so that he did not destroy all the fine beasts. And when the prophet Samuel took him to task for this, asking him to account for the animals that had not been slain, he replied: “The people spared them, to sacrifice them to the Lord our God.” Samuel now became so incensed that he pronounced a terrible judgment on Saul, saying: “What does God care about your sacrifice? He demands obedience. God did not command you to sacrifice the animals.” And when Saul continued to justify and defend what he had done, the charge of disobedience was flung into his teeth. He was informed that God regarded disobedience as a sin comparable to idolatry and sorcery (1 Sam. 15:1–31). For if God orders me to do one thing and I do another, and, over and above this, try to justify myself, I am really committing sorcery. As a matter of fact, we are all still wont to do this. If Saul had only said: “I forgot the command. I did wrong!” his sin would have been remitted. (AE 22:397)

Challenges for Readers

Authorship, Sources, and Editing. Interpreters have proposed that different authors worked on the Books of Samuel (see note, 1Ch 29:29). Modern critics have speculated about different documents for 1 Samuel (centered on the ark of the covenant, Saul, and David), which were edited much later to make our current Book. The critics commonly speak of an editor whose work reflected the concerns of the legal code in Deuteronomy (the Deuteronomist). However, no separate documents have ever been discovered; this source-critical view remains unproven at best. Historians have no reliable way of identifying specific authors or of attributing specific passages or theologies to proposed authors or editors. Samuel likely wrote the first part of 1 Samuel, but his death is recorded in ch 25. So someone else certainly helped write the Books. In view of these facts, it is best to read 1 and 2 Samuel as a unified work completed and preserved by Samuel's successors. See pp 335–37.

Samuel's Life and Service. Samuel lived for much of the eleventh century BC, though the Bible does not give us much information about when he was born or when he died. Readers can only make conclusions based on Samuel's interaction with people whose lives are dateable. Eli, who began to lead Israel around 1099 BC, is already established as a priest when Samuel is conceived and born (1Sm 1). When Samuel goes to serve with Eli at the tabernacle (1:24–28), Samuel is still very young—perhaps three years old. Eli's sons are somewhat older, though still young men (as described in 2:17). So Samuel was likely born near the beginning of Eli's priesthood and service as judge. The Lord called Samuel while he was still a boy (3:19–20), and Samuel began to serve as a prophet at a young age. He is not mentioned again until ch 7, when he is a full-grown man leading Israel, after Eli and his sons have died (c 1060 BC). So there is a significant gap in time from ch 3 to ch 7, at least 20 years (cf 7:2). There is another gap between chs 7 and 8. In 8:1, Samuel is an old man with grown sons. Samuel anoints David while David is still a boy (ch 16). Samuel may have died when David was a grown man, though Samuel's death may be mentioned out of sequence at 25:1.

The Text of 1 and 2 Samuel. A comparison between the Septuagint and Qumran scrolls shows differences in the ancient texts for 1 and 2 Samuel.

The ESV notes, which appear below the Bible text, comment on noteworthy differences.

Ethics of Conquest. See p 339.

Church and State Relations. Some interpreters wrongly apply the events and teachings of Israel's history to modern nations and politics, as though the Church today should seek to establish an earthly kingdom like ancient Israel. Though 1 and 2 Samuel properly contain many lessons for church leaders and also for politicians, they do not provide a blueprint for establishing the ideal, godly unification of church and state. See note, Rm 13; see also pp 1565–66.

Blessings for Readers

As you study 1 and 2 Samuel, reflect on how the Lord constantly cares for His people, despite their weaknesses. Just as in the Book of Judges, the Lord hears the people's prayers and calls them to repentance again and again. Ultimately, He raises them up as a unified nation under His servant, the prophet-king David.

Though the stories about the kings describe the political intrigues and misdeeds of the ancient Israelites, the Books of 1 and 2 Samuel as a whole anticipate the greater rule of the greater King, whose reign shall never end (cf 1Sm 2:35; 2Sm 7:16). Like all of Scripture, the history of Israel's prophets, priests, and kings ultimately points to Jesus, our heavenly leader.

Study Notes

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:1 This verse gives the liturgical moorings for the opening of the Book, which will present Samuel, the last of the judges, as priest (7:7–9), prophet (3:19–21), and kingmaker (ch 9), and which will deal with the relationship between the altar/priest/king. Samuel, in his prophetic ministry, will show the role of the king as patron of the altar and the ark. Ramathaim-zophim. C 22 mi N of Jerusalem. Shows that Elkanah was probably a Zuphite (one of a particular Levitical family) from Ramah (cf 1Ch 6:25–28). Ephraim. Reference for where Elkanah lived, rather than his tribal origins. Since Elkanah was a Levite, i.e., one of the tribe from whom God drew men to serve as priests (Nu 3), it sets the sacred tribal status for Elkanah's son Samuel, who would go on to perform sacrificial rites usually associated with priests.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:2 two wives. See note, Gn 16:3. no children. Hannah's barrenness called into question God's blessing on her life (Gn 1:28). Lack of children also put her economic and social status in jeopardy, as Elkanah's future through her seemed to come to an end (Dt 25:7–10).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:3 go up year by year. Probably for the Feast of Booths (Lv 23:33–43), or possibly as a personal pilgrimage. Shiloh. North of Bethel. See color map 1. The tent of meeting, set up at Shiloh early in the conquest (Jsh 18:1), was the main sanctuary of God's people in the time of the judges and here. By the end of 2Sm (24:18–25), the altar has moved to Jerusalem. The movement of access to God's gracious presence from Shiloh to Jerusalem is the backdrop against which the events in the Books are rightly interpreted. See p 495.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:4–8 No explanation as to why the Lord allowed Hannah's prolonged affliction; there is no note of judgment against her.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:4 Portions distributed came from the sacrificial animal, and eating the sacrifice was part of the sacrificial ritual (Lv 3). This was a festive meal and was the place of fellowship in thankfulness for God's mercy. Elkanah rightly distributed portions of this offering to his family; his behavior contrasts with that of Eli's sons (2:12–17, 22–25).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:5 the LORD had closed her womb. No explanation is given. As in the Gospel account of the man born blind (Jn 9:1–3), the emphasis is not on the cause of the deprivation, but on how God is glorified in the life of His people. God continues to bring life and healing out of situations that seem desperate or hopeless from a human point of view (Rm 8:31–39; 2Co 12:1–10).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:6 her rival used to provoke her. Peninnah exalted herself through her provocation of Hannah. This contrasts with Hannah humbling herself before the Lord (vv 9–18; cf 1Pt 5:6). The fact that Peninnah provoked Hannah in God's presence also suggests that perhaps Peninnah acted in a sacrilegious manner.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:8 heart sad? Text gives no indication as to whether Elkanah rebuked Peninnah. Silence on this point invites us to meditate on the nature of the polygamous marriage and its consequences. more to you. Weak attempt at comfort.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:9 eaten and drunk. Worshipers near the tabernacle would eat portions of certain offerings as part of their fellowship with the Lord. See pp 170–71. temple. Also used to describe the tabernacle, the typical place of sacrifice and prayer for God's people at this time. See note, Ps 5:7.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:11 vow. See p 7. A solemn promise made to God to perform an act or abstain from an act in return for God's favor. There was no necessity to make a vow, but once made, it was binding. Regulations for a married woman making a vow are set out in Nu 30:6–15. Hannah's vow was binding also on Elkanah, her husband. affliction. Hannah trusted that God would look compassionately on her in her childlessness (Ps 107:41) and also that God would not willingly bring affliction on her (Lm 3:33). no razor. She has in mind a Nazirite vow. See note, Nu 6:5.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:13 drunken. Drinking wine would have been part of the festive meal. Eli perhaps shows his own weakness in mistaking Hannah's behavior for drunkenness. Cypr: "Hannah … prayed to God not with clamorous petition, but silently and modestly, within the very recesses of her heart. She spoke with hidden prayer, but with manifest faith. She spoke not with her voice, but with her heart, because she knew that thus God hears; and she effectually obtained what she sought, because she asked it with belief" (ANF 5:448).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:15 pouring out my soul. Crying out to God in trust.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:17 Not simply an expression of good will toward Hannah, but a word from God to be received and trusted.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:18 Hannah's trusting reception of God's Word made her a true daughter of Abraham (Rm 4:13–25).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:19 Ramah. See note, v 1. remembered her. Does not mean that God had previously forgotten Hannah. Rather, God was graciously present for her according to His promise (v 17). See p 843.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:20 Samuel. "His name is El (God)." Suggests that Samuel's God is the true God. See ESV note.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:1–20 The Lord shows His mercy to Hannah and demonstrates that His power is stronger than human weakness by giving Hannah a son. Samuel, dedicated to God even before conception, is a living sign of God's grace. Peninnah's self-righteous provocation of Hannah is a warning to us never to judge those who suffer deprivation of any sort, or to assume that God judges us favorably in relation to those who suffer. Hannah's trusting openness to God's Word, and the blessing she received, encourages us to trust that God will deal with us according to His compassionate love in Christ Jesus. • Lord God, hear all those who cry to You in their affliction, and remember Your promise to save those who call on Your name. Amen.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:21 yearly sacrifice. See note, v 3.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:22 weaned. Samuel would have been about age 3. Breast-feeding typically lasted much longer than it does today. Because it sometimes inhibits ovulation, breast-feeding can help prevent pregnancy. A feast celebrating the weaning might also be observed (Gn 21:8). presence of the LORD. See p 843. dwell there forever. See note, v 28.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:23 establish His word. Prayerfully, Elkanah expresses his own hope that God's blessing of more children will come with the fulfillment of Hannah's vow (v 11). Hannah will not fail to bring Samuel into God's presence and will prepare the boy for service to God. Husbands had responsibility for their wives' vows. See "vow," p 7.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:24 Exact nature of this offering is not clear. It may have been a custom at Shiloh only or an offering specific to Hannah's vow (cf Lv 27; Nu 30).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:28 lent. Lit, "make him one asked of the Lord," playing off the verbs for asking that are repeatedly used. Samuel belonged to the Lord forever (v 22). he worshiped. Lit, "he bowed down" (some versions have "they"). See p 1276. It probably means that Samuel worshiped the Lord at Shiloh from that time, though an act of consecration may be meant; the meaning is ambiguous.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:21–28 Hannah brings the young Samuel to the presence of the Lord at Shiloh, and she offers a sacrifice of thanksgiving and consecration. In fulfillment of her vow, Hannah gives Samuel to the Lord for the length of his life. Everything that we have is a gift from the Lord. This means that we have no right to keep anything back from service to God, no matter how dear it is to us. God's claim on our life is absolute (Lk 14:25–33). Always true to His Word, He will stand by His promises to us, even when we have no earthly reason for hope. • Thank You, Lord, for all Your gifts to us. Let our joy be complete as we offer ourselves and our children to You and to each other in love. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:1–10 prayed. Prayer includes all forms of communication with God and takes the form of thanksgiving, praise, confession, meditation, contemplation, or intercession. Hannah's prayer gives the doctrine of 1 and 2Sm in themes: we do not prevail through might; God exercises judgment through the king; God lifts up the humble; and God works through the "little." Hannah's song is similar to David's song (2Sm 22) and parallels Mary's song (Lk 1:46–55). See pp 777–78.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:1–2 salvation. See p 843. holy. See p 7. rock. See p 843.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:3–5 Hannah appears first of all to be addressing Peninnah, who had previously provoked Hannah for her barrenness (1:6–7). Hannah's song also speaks to those who take pride in their own strength and mock those whom God has chosen in their weakness. Cypr: "Hannah, barren, from whom is born Samuel … according to the mercy and promise of God, [conceived] when she had prayed in the temple; and Samuel being born, was a type of Christ" (ANF 5:513).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:6 The LORD kills and brings to life. See note, Dt 32:39. The Lord desires to save all people, no matter how sinful they are (Ezk 33:10–11). Hannah acknowledges that life and death are in God's hands and that God has power to humble and exalt (1Pt 5:5–6). "Contrition is contained in the first clause, and how we are revived in contrition is clearly described in the second. We are revived by God's Word, which offers grace. This sustains and enlivens hearts" (Ap XIIA 49–50). Ter: "It is by death that He kills, it is by the resurrection that He will make alive" (ANF 3:565). Luth: "These works He performs through the two ministries [of the Law and of grace]: the first by the letter, the second by the Spirit. The effect of the letter is such that because of His wrath no one can continue to exist; that of the Spirit is such that because of His grace no one can perish. Ah, this matter is so preciously profound that it deserves to be spoken of constantly" (WLS § 2284). Luth: "This we must learn … to console such people and explain these temptations as instances of the peculiar ways, so to speak, in which God is wont to contend with His own in the guise of a destroyer. Then we can exhort them to hold fast to the promise, or the light and spark of the Word, in the hope that liberation will certainly follow" (WLS § 33). Sheol. See p 792.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:8 pillars of the earth. See note, Jb 9:6.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:9 guard the feet. See note, Ps 121:3. faithful ones. See p 842.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:10 give strength to His king. At the time, there was no king in Israel. Hannah's word prophesies the time when God would give His righteous judgments through His anointed king. This was fulfilled imperfectly in the earthly kings of Israel and then perfectly in Christ Jesus. anointed. See notes, 10:1; Ps 2:2. First reference in the OT to the "anointed."

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:11 ministered. He served and assisted the priests in their duties, living as an apprentice to a teacher. As such, he would have lived among the families of the priests. See diagram, p 139.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:1–11 Hannah exults that God has fulfilled His Word. Her prayer stands as a warning to us when we are tempted to trust in our own strength, beauty, wealth, or intelligence. Her prayer also gives us encouragement to look to God for every good thing that we need in life, confident that He will fulfill our deepest desires in eternity through His Anointed One, Jesus Christ. • Praise to You, God of Hannah, for You delight in exalting those who humble themselves before You. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:12 sons of Eli. Cf 1:3. did not know. Since Eli's sons served their own will and desires, they did not have the knowledge of God's character and His purpose for their lives, which comes from trusting and surrendering to Him in an intimate relationship of faith (Rm 12:1–2).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:13–14 Eli's sons dealt contemptuously with provisions made in the Law regarding the distribution of sacrificial offerings (Lv 7:29–36). servant. Levites, and perhaps consecrated young men like Samuel, served alongside the priest (Nu 3:5–10).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:15–16 In the Law, God commanded that the fat portion of the offering be burned as a way of expressing the worshiper's desire to give the best to the Lord (Lv 3:16–17; 7:31). Eli's sons showed contempt for God and His Law, not simply by stealing the offerings through threats of violence, but also by treating what was holy (set apart by and for God) as if it were common (simply for human use). See pp 170–71. Jerome: "A priest must avoid covetousness. … They must not, that is, follow the example of the sons of Eli who lay with the women in the vestibule of the Temple and, supposing religion to consist in plunder, diverted to the gratification of their own appetites all the best parts of the [sacrificial] victims" (NPNF 2 6:148).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:17 sin. See p 959.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:18 ministering. To attend or serve by fulfilling priestly duties. Term is never used of the priests at Shiloh, suggesting Samuel's innocence in the midst of corruption. ephod. Linen apron of the Levites, less rich in material and color than the vestments of the priests (Ex 28:6–14).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:19 a little robe. Royal, or priestly, robe. Hannah's persisting care is touching and lavish, since typically a person owned only one set of clothes. yearly sacrifice. See note, 1:3.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:21 visited. See notes, Gn 21:1; Ru 1:6. three sons and two daughters. Children are a blessing from God. See notes, Gn 1:28; Ps 127–28. the presence of the LORD. The ark of the covenant provided access to God's presence See note, 4:3; see also p 843.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:12–21 While Eli's sons abuse their priestly authority and treat with contempt both the worshipers and the sacrifices offered to God, Samuel grows in his service in the Lord's presence. Hannah and Elkanah also experience God's blessing through the ministry of Eli and receive the gift of more children. This passage encourages us that no matter how disordered things may get in our world and even in the Church, God will stand by His gracious Word of blessing. •

Thank You, Lord, for Your unfailing love and faithfulness to us. Bless us in faithful service to You, to our family, and in our callings. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:22 kept hearing. Apparently, Eli was slow to discipline his errant sons. women who were serving. See p 389. Priests and women were behaving like Canaanites. Improper treatment of sacrificial food and impure sexual conduct were linked in the code of priestly behavior (Lv 21:7–8). tent of meeting. See note, Ex 27:21.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:23–24 Eli made some attempt to discipline his sons. But as high priest, he should have dismissed them.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:25 Nu 15:30–31 speaks of defiant sin "with a high hand" not against other people, but against the Lord. The consequence of such sin was death. With repentance on the part of those who had committed such sin, priestly intercession could avert God's wrath. Without such repentance, no atonement could be made. will of the Lord to put them to death. The Lord was determined because they persisted in their evil ways.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:26 Samuel is a stark contrast to Eli's sons. Unlike them, Samuel is said to have the approval not only of God but also of human beings. See the evaluation of Jesus, Lk 2:52. Cypr: "We ought then, beloved brethren, to remember and to know, that when we call God Father, we ought to act as God's children; so that in the measure in which we find pleasure in considering God as Father, He might also be able to find pleasure in us" (ANF 5:450). favor. See p 6.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:22–26 Eli's sons continue in their high-handed contempt for God's Law, refusing to listen to their father's rebuke and warning. As Eli's sons grow in their sin, Samuel grows in favor with God and with people. God's rebuke and warning show His desire for our repentance. When we have sinned against Him, He provides for us an intercessor, the Lord Jesus Christ. • Lord, give me ears that hear Your rebuke and a mouth that confesses Your will. Thanks be to God that in Christ Jesus there is no condemnation for us. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:27 a man of God. A prophet (see pp 1077–83); usually in the OT, the appearance of a man of God means the proclamation of God's judgment (cf 9:6, 10). Chem: "When the Levites did not do their duty, God raised up prophets from other tribes who brought them back into line" (LTh 2:703). your father. Aaron. Cf Ex 4:14–15.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:28 Compact definition of what God expects from a priest: right application of the sacrificial blood at the altar; right consecration of offerings (including intercessory prayer for the people); and right conduct in life coupled with right teaching. See pp 170–71.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:29 Why then do you scorn. The Lord holds Eli the parent/high priest ultimately responsible for the actions of his sons; Eli's failure to restrain his sons (cf 3:13) showed that he honored them more than God.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:30–32 God's judgment against Eli means an end to Eli's priestly line. Under Solomon, the Zadokite priests would take up the priesthood (see notes, 1Ki 2:26, 27). See "curse," p 6. Luth: "God praises and commends only those who turn all praise away from themselves and direct it to Him" (WLS § 3427). Chem: "Having been deserted by God, they offended even more and did not hear the voice of their father, and thus in piling up sins they also heaped up for themselves the wrath of God, until finally they had filled the measure to the full" (LTh 1:198).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:33 only one. Or, "anyone." Some of Eli's descendants survived (14:3; 22:20).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:34 the sign. The deaths of Eli's sons on the same day would see the beginning of God putting into effect His judgment on Eli's house. God was about to deliver His people as He had repeatedly done before (see p 381).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:35 a faithful priest. Most immediately, Samuel. Later, Zadok was the faithful priest under the reign of Solomon (1Ki 2:26–35). It is a promise that is fulfilled perfectly in the life and ministry of the Lord Jesus (Heb 7:26–28). Hipp: "All the kings and priests were styled Christs, because they were anointed with the holy oil, which Moses of old prepared. These, then, bore the name of the Lord in their persons, showing aforetime the type, and presenting the image until the perfect King and Priest appeared from heaven, who alone did the will of the Father" (ANF 5:180). See also Cypr, ANF 5:512. a sure house. His household or lineage. My anointed. God's chosen leader, the king. See note, 10:1. forever. The prophecy is ultimately fulfilled in Jesus.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:36 A priest who lost his job lost his inheritance, or portion, in Israel. See "portion," p 7.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:27–36 Eli receives God's condemnation of his priestly service, a judgment that has negative consequences for Eli's whole house. God vows that He will raise up a faithful priest to serve Him according to His will. This word warns us that God will hold us responsible for those in our care. It also assures us that God will always provide a means of saving us from our sins through the ministry of the anointed Son of God, Jesus Christ. • Lord God, give us the humility to take responsibility for people in our care, and save us from turning a blind eye to evil. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:1 ministering. See note, 2:18. word of the LORD was rare. See p 1080. no frequent vision. Implies that prophets typically received God's Word through visions. See note, Nu 12:6. Although God's Word was still active in sustaining creation and was continually handed on in the Law and in sacrificial worship, God did not frequently proclaim His Word through inspired prophets. His Word was not widely received in faith by the people (cf Am 8:11–12).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:3 lamp of God. See diagram, p 139. not yet gone out. Suggests that it was sometime before daybreak. temple. See note, 1:9. where the ark … was. Surprising. May mean Samuel was in the tabernacle courtyard, not within the tabernacle itself. See "courts of the Lord," p 842; cf v 15. The wording suggests that Samuel was ready for priestly service and that his character was fit to hear God's voice.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:4 Here I am! Expresses willingness to serve, as in "Yes, sir!"

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:5–6 ran to Eli. At first, Samuel was sure that Eli was calling him. The next two times Samuel was called (vv 6–8), he did not run to Eli, but simply "arose and went," suggesting Samuel's growing uncertainty about who was calling him.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:7 did not yet know. Eli's sons did not "know" the Lord (2:12) because of their refusal to submit to God. Samuel does not yet "know" God because of his lack of experience with God's direct revelation. Samuel will "know" God through his submissive trust in God's direct revelation. See note, Jer 31:34.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:8–9 It seems likely that the Lord does not reveal Himself to Samuel in Eli's presence because of the word of judgment that He has to give. The Lord, in commissioning Samuel to be His messenger of judgment, frees Samuel to exercise trust in His Word, rather than seek human approval.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:10 came and stood. See p 39. Samuel! Samuel! Repeated, as a parent calls a child. Speak, for Your servant hears. A prayer worthy of memorization by every believer. Recite this each time you open Scripture or hear God's Word from a faithful preacher. See front inside cover (LSB 589:1).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:11 ears … will tingle. Expression describing the experience of dread that comes from hearing God's word of judgment (2Ki 21:12; Jer 19:3).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:13 Brings together Eli's own warning to his sons (2:22–25) with the message of the "man of God" (2:27–36). Eli is charged with doing nothing to extinguish the corrupt priestly office of his sons. The Lord has sworn judgment: no atonement will be made for the sin of Eli's house. restrain. The same verb in Ezk 21:7 is translated "will faint."

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:14 swear. See p 7. atoned. See p 5.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:15 doors. The entrance to the tabernacle had curtains rather than doors. However, doors of a more permanent structure could have been added to the tabernacle courts. See "courts of the Lord," p 842.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:17 May God do so. Eli probably made a gesture (such as running his finger across his neck) suggesting death by slaying.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:18 It is the LORD. Eli recognized the prophecy (2:27–36). His answer expresses resolve or sarcasm. Cf Jgs 21:25.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:19 the LORD was with him. See "be with," p 5. let none … fall. Just as God did not let His Word be unfruitful or unfulfilled (Jsh 21:45; 23:14; 1Ki 8:56), so He did not allow Samuel's words to "fall." Samuel, instead, was established as God's true prophet.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:20 Dan to Beersheba. See note, Jgs 20:1. established. Hbr is source of Eng "Amen." Expression of ordination or consecration.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:21 appeared. See p 39. again. The Lord continually revealed Himself to Samuel and so strengthened Samuel in his calling as a prophet. by the word. Through which God blesses and consecrates.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 3 While the Lord's word of judgment against Eli's house is confirmed through His revelation to Samuel, that same revelation confirms Samuel's own calling as a prophet. The judgment against Eli is threatening also to us when we fail to restrain those under our authority who do evil. But also hear the assurance that human weakness will not thwart God's will to bring the Good News of salvation to His creation! • Lord, give us humility to receive and speak Your Word without fear of those who oppose You. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:1 word … came. The Word of the Lord is no longer "rare" (3:1) but is proclaimed to all Israel through Samuel's prophetic ministry. Ebenezer. "Stone of help," a different place from that mentioned in 7:12; probably refers to a town near Philistine territory.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:3 elders. See note, Ex 3:16. the LORD defeated us. See notes, 2Ch 13:13, 18. ark of the covenant. The throne of God's gracious presence for His people (Ex 25:10–22) had been associated with military campaigns before this time (Nu 10:35; Jsh 3:14–17; 6:12–21). However, without a clear word from God on the matter, moving the ark from its consecrated place was an act of sacrilege, an invitation not to victory but to defeat. The problem was not so much that the Israelites associated God's gracious presence with the ark (indeed access to God's gracious presence was by means of the ark), but that they attempted to manipulate this presence to their own will. See p 495.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:4 the LORD of hosts. See p 1291. enthroned on the cherubim. See note, Ezk 10:1.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:6 See p 345. Hebrews. See pp 1904–5.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:8 It appears that the Philistines know something of the history of Israel, but they confuse the story of the exodus by stating that the Egyptians suffered the plagues in the wilderness (and not in Egypt itself), and by attributing more than one god to Israel.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:9 slaves … as they have been. The Philistines and Israelites had clashed and defeated one another before. Cf Jgs 3:1–4, 31; 13:5; 14:4.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:10 to his home. The soldiers deserted, giving the Philistines a clear victory. thirty thousand foot soldiers. Seven and a half times as many soldiers as were lost in the first battle.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:1–11 After suffering a relatively minor defeat, the Israelites decide to bring the ark from Shiloh to the battlefront, only to suffer a catastrophic military defeat and lose the ark to the Philistines. This account stands as a rebuke to us if we believe that God's gracious presence can be manipulated for our purposes to give us license to do our own sinful will. God calls us to receive Him according to His Word, which directs our hearts in faith and our feet in the paths of righteousness. • Lord, defeat my wayward will, and lead me to walk in Your ways. I praise You for the victory Your Son won at the cross and grave so that I may serve in Your presence. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:12 A messenger from the future king's (Saul's) tribe ran 18 mi and arrived in the attire of a mourner.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:17 The ordering of the news (and Eli's reaction to it in v 18) suggests that the loss of the ark was considered by both the messenger and Eli as the greatest tragedy.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:18 Eli fell. Jerome: "Eli also was a holy priest, but … Eli himself offended God by [showing] too great leniency to his sons; therefore, so far from the righteousness of your bishop being able to deliver you, it is rather to be feared that your wickedness may hurl him from his seat" (NPNF 2 6:294). heavy. Perhaps linked to the judgment in 2:29 ("fattening yourselves"). judged Israel forty years. Since Eli died at age 98 (v 15), the implication is that he began his vocation as judge at age 58. See also pp 338–40.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:19 Stress can induce labor.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:20 her death. Fulfillment of God's judgment against Eli and his house (2:27–36; 3:10–14).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:21 Ichabod. Hbr "glory" (see pp 6–7), with a prefix of indeterminate meaning. Name probably means "no glory."

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:12–22 God's word of judgment is fulfilled in Israel's defeat, the death of Eli's sons, and the capture of the ark. Yet, Eli and his daughter-in-law, after hearing the news, also die. God's word of judgment is fearful and means death to all who have sinned. Our hope lies in His mercy alone, shown in Christ Jesus, our faithful High Priest, who bore God's wrath. • Lord, let not my heart grow fat with self-righteousness, sloth, or indifference. Exercise me in Your life-giving Word. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:1 ark of God. See note, 4:3. Ebenezer … Ashdod. See map, p 451.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:2 Dagon. See note, Jgs 16:23.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:3–4 fallen … before the ark. The idol was in a posture of submission and reverence before the place of God's glorious presence. cut off. Not simply broken. Decapitation and cutting off the hands of slain enemies were part of ancient warfare (17:51, 54; 31:9). The state of Dagon's idol in the morning is a sign of its military defeat.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:5 threshold. Priests of Dagon considered the threshold taboo because it had been in contact with key parts of Dagon's image. To step on the threshold would have dishonored the god.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:6 hand of the LORD was heavy. See p 842. Expression about the hand is used numerous times (e.g., vv 6, 7, 9, 11; 6:3, 5, 9). The Philistines realized the Lord was afflicting them. tumors. Lit, "swellings," "hills." Perhaps enlarged lymph glands of the groin that go along with bubonic plague, or they could be boils and sores (cf v 9).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:7 His hand is hard against us. See note, v 6.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:8 lords. Or, "princes" of the five cities. See note, Jgs 3:3. Gath. One of the five principal cities of the Philistines, of closest proximity to Judah. See map, p 451.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:9 tumors. See note, v 6.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:10 Ekron. One of the five principal cities of the Philistines. See map, p 451.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:11 Ekron was the third Philistine city struck by plague while in possession of the ark. Destroying the ark would have brought greater judgment than possessing it, so the lords of the Philistines determine to send the ark back to the Israelites. lords. See note, v 8. The hand of God was very heavy. Particularly "deathly" in Ekron (see note, v 6).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 5 The idol-worshiping Philistines experience the ark not as a means of blessing but as a means of judgment. Not only is their chief god, Dagon, humiliated before the ark, but all the Philistine cities that house the ark experience the "hand" of the Lord in the form of plague. If we despise the means of God's grace, we, too, stand under God's judgment (cf 2Sm 6:6–8; 1Co 11:27–32). Through repentance and His promised mercy, God gives us the gift of faith so that His presence may bring our healing and salvation (cf Lk 8:43–48). • Lord Jesus, thank You for being present with us to heal us, to forgive us, and to strengthen us in love for one another. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:1 seven months. Indicating that the ark had completed its stay in Philistine territory.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:2 diviners. See note, Dt 18:10–11.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:3–5 The Philistine priests and diviners spell out the nature of a suggested guilt offering in terms of "sympathetic magic," with the departure of the golden statues intended to remove the rats and plagues from their cities. This was not the same guilt offering instituted by God, which was intended for atonement of unintentional sin and cleansing from defilement. See pp 170–71.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:6 harden your hearts. See notes, 4:8; Ex 4:21; 9:12.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:7 Divination based on the animals' inexperience and instinct. milk cows. Probably fresh, first-calf heifers never used for field labor; fit animals for sacrifice (cf Nu 19:1–10). home, away from them. The cows will not hear or see their calves, prompting the cows to wander in search of them. The cows would then draw the offering away without human guidance. It would be miraculous if two panicky, inexperienced animals drew the cart effectively, more so if they drew the ark back to Israel where it belonged.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:9 watch. Priests and diviners were trying to determine whether the affliction they had experienced (ch 5) was the Lord's hand against them or coincidence. Beth-shemesh. C 15 mi W of Jerusalem. See map, p 558. Archaeological evidence shows that Canaanite and Philistine cultures influenced the settlement. The city grew in importance under Israelite rule.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:12 went straight. Hbr emphasizes how effectively and directly the inexperienced cows drew the cart. The diviners would see this as clear evidence that Israel's God was involved. lowing as they went. Calling their calves. Typical search behavior. lords. See note, 5:8.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:13 wheat harvest. June or July. See calendar, p 262.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:14–15 Shiloh had been desecrated through the actions of Eli's sons and was no longer a fit place for sacrifice. Because God provided access to His gracious presence through the ark, the Israelites saw fit to offer sacrifice before it. This right use of the ark contrasts with the improper use to which it was put in 4:1–11. However, see note, 6:19.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:14 stone. An impromptu altar. burnt offering. See pp 170–71.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:16 lords. See note, 5:8.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:17 Although Gaza and Ashkelon are not in the list of places affected by the ark (5:6–12), they were two of the five chief cities of the Philistines. The naming of all five cities conveys the message of the Lord's complete victory over the Philistines. The list also sounds like an inventory.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:18 both. All Philistia. fortified cities. Typical for larger, older settlements because raids were common. unwalled villages. Newer or smaller settlements. a witness. See note, Jsh 24:27. to this day. The author had firsthand knowledge of the place. See note, Jsh 4:9.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:19 looked upon. Or, "looked into." Text suggests that the men were struck by the Lord because they treated what was holy with irreverence. The men were not consecrated for service with the ark.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:20 stand before the LORD. I.e., the presence of God by means of the ark. See "presence," p 843. The Lord let them know the priesthood was still needed, despite what He did to Eli's house.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:21 Kiriath-jearim. C 9 mi NE of Beth-shemesh. See map, p 365. take it up to you. Because of the desecration of Shiloh by Eli's sons, the ark could not return there. Cf Jer 7:9–15; Ps 78:60 for a prophetic comment on the desecration of Shiloh. It appears that Kiriath-jearim was a politically neutral city, already associated with worship, as Shiloh had been.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:1 house of Abinadab. Probably Levites. consecrated. See p 6.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:2 twenty years. The time between the return of the ark from Philistia until the deliverance mentioned in vv 10–14. Israel lamented after the LORD. The theological point is that after oppression, the people cried out to the Lord and received deliverance.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:1–7:2 Although the Philistines returned the ark with a guilt offering, and although the ark's return was confirmed by a miraculous sign, the Israelites still had to learn proper reverence toward God's holy things. Today, we should not assume that our status as God's children through Holy Baptism means that we have the freedom to behave in an irreverent manner toward what God has set aside for holy purposes (e.g., the Lord's Supper). Instead, God has set us free to live in humility, repentance, and faith. • Thank You, Lord God, for consecrating us as Your holy people and for sharing Your holiness with us. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:3 returning. See p 1080. put away. Laying something aside permanently. Ashtaroth. See note, Ex 34:13.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:4 Baals. See note, Nu 25:3.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:5 Mizpah. See note, Jgs 20:1. Probably 7 mi N of Jerusalem. See map, p 451.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:6 drew water and poured it out. Expressing sorrow and tearful repentance. fasted. See note, Lv 16:29. judged. In this context, Samuel led Israel in repentance. See pp 380–81.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:7 lords. See note, 5:8.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:8 save. See "salvation," p 843.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:9 nursing lamb … whole burnt offering. Exact significance is unclear, but apparently this was an act of total dedication of the people to the Lord (cf 13:9–12). See pp 170–71.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:11 Beth-car. Possibly 8 mi W of Mizpah.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:12 between Mizpah and Shen … Ebenezer. See map, p 451. Exact location uncertain; not the place referred to in 4:1 and 5:1.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:13 hand of the LORD. See p 842.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:14 Ekron to Gath. See map, p 451. Amorites. See p 345.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:16 Bethel, Gilgal, and Mizpah. Cities relatively close to Jerusalem (the future capital) and to Samuel's hometown of Ramah. See map, p 451.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:17 Ramah. C 5 mi N of Jerusalem. See map, p 451. built there an altar. See note about Samuel's role, 1:1.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:3–17 With Samuel's encouragement, the people of Israel turn to the Lord and cry out for mercy. This marks the beginning of a new era, in which the people of Israel subdue the Philistines, have their land restored, experience peace, and live under the leadership of Samuel the judge. Like the people of Israel, when we live apart from God, we experience frustration and defeat. As God leads us to cry to Him for mercy, He restores us and makes us whole in Christ Jesus. • Lord God, be merciful to us, for we have sinned against You. Give us Your peace, we ask, in Jesus' name. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Chs 8–12 Samuel was the last of the judges but the first kingmaker. We witness the events of this transitional time in these significant chapters.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:1 old. Cf 12:2; see note, Zec 8:4.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:2 Beersheba. See color map 1; see also note, Jgs 20:1. Samuel's sons were given responsibility for this extreme southern region, while Samuel maintained his established judicial circuit headquartered in the central region held by the Benjaminites, north of Jerusalem (7:15–17).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:3 Samuel's sons openly rejected the way of the Lord. Samuel tried to establish a judicial dynasty by declaring Joel and Abijah his successors, something God had not commanded (cf Jgs 8:22–23). Samuel's sons had pious names (Jo El, "Yahweh is God," and Abi Yahweh, "My father is Yahweh"), yet their lives were far from godly. Though Samuel had witnessed Eli's poor fathering of Hophni and Phinehas, he fell into the same predicament. turned aside after gain. Summarizes the unethical acts the Lord had forbidden.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:4–5 Senior members of the community come to Samuel at his judicial headquarters and express their concerns, citing his age and his sons' misconduct.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:4 elders. See note, Ex 3:16. See also p 228.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:7 not … you … but … Me. Hbr emphasizes "you" and "Me." Samuel felt his leadership was being questioned, but there was a greater problem. Luth: "Their sin was not their desire to have a king, for after all God gave them one, but rather, that they set their trust on human help and government when they should have trusted in God alone. This was a grave sin" (AE 52:187). The Lord had promised a king for Israel centuries earlier (Gn 49:10; Nu 24:7, 17; Dt 17:14–20).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:8–9 Judges were recognized and respected because the Lord established them as leaders (i.e., as those endowed with administrative gifts by the Spirit and also as those embraced as natural leaders by popular support). As judges were raised up, God conferred the gifts of the Holy Spirit on them (Jgs 6:34; 11:29; 14:6, 19; 15:14). A king, as a unifying political leader for the loose tribal federation, would not necessarily be God's earthly representative. The Israelites already had such a hereditary office in the priesthood.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:1–9 With an unseemly desire to be like other nations, Israel's elders ask Samuel for a king, their action being a rebuke to Samuel and a rejection of the Lord as their King. Leadership should be tempered by faith, which calls on the Lord, His guidance, and His blessing. Nothing is as precious to us as the Lord, who treasures us and leads us by His only-begotten Son. Whoever believes in Him will not perish but have eternal life. • Heavenly Father, by the power of the Holy Spirit, lead us to see how much we are worth to You in Jesus. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:10 Samuel was not called to be king, yet he was recognized as the divine authority in Israel, so elders conferred with him regarding their decision. asking. Hbr sha'al, a wordplay on "Saul."

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:11–17 he will take. Repeated six times in these verses. The king extracts funds from the people and conscripts their sons and daughters for service. Government taxation, nearly unknown among the Israelites, would become exorbitant. An additional 10 percent would be levied on top of the tithe already required for the Lord (Lv 27:30–32; Nu 18:26; Dt 14:22, 28; 26:12; 2Ch 31:5–6; Am 4:4; Mal 3:8). Within two generations, Solomon's rule became extremely burdensome and oppressive (cf 1Ki 4:22–23; 12:4). Royal records discovered at Alakakh, Ugarit, and Mari show similar problems under kings in neighboring regions. Samuel demonstrates awareness of regional politics.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:12 commanders of thousands. Military rank also known from Ugarit.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:17 you shall be his slaves. People saw only positive reasons for having a king. Here, Samuel describes the true relationship: they will be vassals, and the king will be their master.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:18 Cries for deliverance will go unheeded because they chose the king over the Lord.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:10–18 The Lord tells Samuel to agree to the request for a king, but also to warn the people about what a king will do. Like the people of Israel, our actions often say to God, "Not Your will, but mine be done," as we insist on things that may not be good for us. God is surprisingly flexible and generous. He often gives us what we want, but even more graciously, He gives us what we need—forgiveness, life, and salvation. • Dear Jesus, help me to see the blessings in my life, even when I do not get what I want. Strengthen me to join You in praying, "Not my will, but Yours be done." Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:20 Request for a king is based on two false, almost childlike premises. (1) They thought the king would act as a substitute agent and fight for them, despite God's promises to fight (Ex 14:14; Dt 1:30). (2) They wanted to be more like their pagan neighbors, having a king to symbolize desired unity. Yet, they were breaking covenant with the Lord, who was their King (Nu 23:21; Dt 33:5). The promise of a king that God had made in the wilderness (Dt 17:14–20) is fulfilled, not by God's initiative as Samuel expected, but by the people themselves.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:21 By repeating the people's rejection, Samuel again seeks the Lord's guidance. As in many prayers, our desires are repeated before the Lord not to inform Him but to show our submission to His will.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:19–22 People insist on a king, and God tells Samuel to go along with them. Some of those who seem most successful in the world refuse to acknowledge God or to follow His Son, our Lord. Even in the Church are those whose plans and teachings go against our Lord's revealed will. Nevertheless, like a chess master, the Lord sees the larger picture and achieves His objectives even through human error. Similarly, Jesus' death on the cross was brought about by human intrigue, yet it accomplished the very thing that God desired, the redemption of the world. • Thank You, Lord, for working through human instruments and accomplishing Your holy, divine, and good will for the world. In Jesus' name. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Chs 9–10 Although the story in chs 9–10 seems to flow, there may have been several years between each event—particularly when Saul returned to the home of his father. He is identified as a "young man" (9:2), yet that would have implied he was mature enough to serve in the military and also marry. By ch 13, Saul's son Jonathan is capable of military leadership.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:1 a man of wealth. Lit, "a mighty man of power," a noble warrior. Saul's well-to-do father has a respectable lineage. See note, v 3.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:2 young man. Hbr refers to a mature man in prime of life and capable of bearing arms. Good-looking and grand of stature, Saul presented a kingly visage. From his shoulders upward. Hbr idiom; a "head taller" than anyone else.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:3 Donkeys were valued as beasts of burden and for agricultural operations, particularly for threshing and plowing. Wealth was often tied to the number of donkeys owned (Ezr 2:66–67; Ne 7:68–69).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:4–5 See color map 2. Lands located strategically around the hill country of Benjamin and Ephraim. Hill country of Ephraim is north of Saul's home in Gibeah. Perhaps Saul and his servant started near Gilgal, proceeding northwest to the land of Shual (13:17), and they may even have gone to Jabneh (2Ch 26:6) before arriving at Ramah. They made a circuit, returning to Zuph, most likely the area of Ramathaim-zophim (town of Ramah in district of Zuph), Samuel's hometown (cf 1:1).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:6 man of God. Used throughout the OT for a professional holy man. Indirectly, Samuel is identified as a prophet (or "seer," v 9). Saul does not seem to be aware of Samuel's work, which could say something about Saul's spiritual life up to this time. Saul's servant believes Samuel may help, since his words always come to pass (Dt 18:22; 1Sm 3:19).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:7 present. Payment for Samuel's responsibilities, similar to honorariums paid to speakers. Such gifts were occasionally abused and served as bribes to obtain a more favorable message (cf Nu 22:7).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:8 quarter of a shekel. Probably equivalent to a quarter of a day's wage. It was not much money, but it showed appropriate respect for services requested. shekel. Not coins. See notes, Jsh 24:32; Ezr 2:69. Stone weights with one or more letters of "shekel" engraved on them have been found throughout Israel. There may have been different systems of shekel measurement, based on different locations. At Eshtemoa near Hebron (Judah), five pottery jugs were found containing odd-shaped silver ingots, c 100 shekels in weight. They were composed largely of melted-down jewelry. See p cx. A ram could be purchased with shekels (Lv 5:15), and a half-shekel was used for sanctuary worship dues (Ex 30:13).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:9 inquire. See "seek," p 843. prophet … seer. Highlights popular usage of terms for this important office. Hipp: "One who sets forth in detail things to be, was rightly judged a prophet. Wherefore prophets were with good reason called from the very first 'seers'" (ANF 5:205). A faithful seer (Hbr chozeh, "visionary"; 2Sm 24:11; 1Ch 29:29) or prophet primarily served as God's messenger (Ex 4:15–16). He might, indeed, predict the future, but usually those predictions were given in the context of a larger message to the people. E.g., Micah's prediction of Christ's birth in Bethlehem (5:2) or Zechariah's "Palm Sunday" prediction (9:9) are recorded in the larger contexts of the Lord's promises to rescue His people. See pp 1077–83. seer. Hbr ro'eh, simply "one who sees." Originally, one who could "see" into the future and offer help (a similar form of the word is used of God in Gn 16:13).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:12 high place. Usually associated with illicit pagan deities (2Ki 18:4), yet here refers to appropriate altar area in the Israelite community. See p 526. When the Israelites entered the Promised Land, they followed the Canaanite custom of building altars on nearby hills or mounds (cf Gn 22:2), probably replacing pagan Canaanite altars with altars dedicated to Yahweh. The central worship site in Shiloh had been destroyed, so the ark of the covenant may have had no regular resting place. (See note, Ps 78:60–61.) The priestly family was not active after Eli's sons died, so local communities continued their own practices, even setting up their own priesthood (cf Jgs 17:10). These sites, however, allowed for the entrance of idolatrous practices and, therefore, were frequently condemned (see note, 1Ki 3:1–2; cf 2Ki 23:8–10, 19–20). Luth: "In former times, the ceremonies conducted in some of the high places did not displease God, such as the great altar of Gibeon in I Kings 3[:4], upon which Solomon sacrificed, and the high place where Samuel lived and anointed Saul [I Sam. 9:25, 10:1]; because they lived in faith and did all things in faith" (AE 36:221).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:13 The Lord commanded that sacrifices be made for specific occasions. Samuel is likely carrying on the role he held under Eli in the tabernacle. Samuel was called on to preside over and offer a prayer of blessing upon the sacrifice, indicating that the sacrifice conformed to God's will. This is the only reference to the blessing of a sacrifice in the OT.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:16 prince. Lit, "one who has been announced," but is not yet king. In a sense, Saul is still preparing for his kingly office, the prince-designate or crown prince. their cry has come to Me. God's message to Samuel echoes Ex 2–3, where the cries of the Israelites in bondage resulted in the divine mandate given to Moses to set the Lord's people free. Saul would also be a "savior" from the Philistine subjugation.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:17 restrain. Though usually considered a negative action, it indicates a special form of ruling by keeping in check or within bounds through the Lord's divine regulations.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:19 I am the seer. Samuel readily accepts this title for his prophetic office. See note, v 9. He promises to tell not only the future but also what Saul himself desired in his heart.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:20 And for whom is all that is desirable in Israel? Or, "And on whom is all the desire of Israel? Is it not on you?" Israel's hopes are set on Saul's future; what are a few donkeys in comparison? This also suggests that every desirable thing, whether wealth or power, will be Saul's.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:21 clan. Several related families who lived in close proximity. Although Saul's father may have been powerful (or wealthy), he may have been an anomaly in an otherwise unremarkable clan. See pp 54–55. humblest. Samuel recognized true humility in Saul (see note, 10:6). Certainly, God uses the humble and the lowly (e.g., Hannah's song in 2:8 and Mary's song in Lk 1:46–55). This is a central theme throughout Scripture, as the Lord uses the powerless and weak to promote His work in the world (1Co 1:26–31). This humility is appropriate in Saul's case, due to some inglorious episodes in his tribe's history (Jgs 19–20).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:22 the hall. Main building this clan used for larger assemblies and social occasions (dining hall).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:24 Throughout biblical times, eating was a sign of community acceptance and a mark of hospitality. leg. Choicest cut of meat, reserved for honored guests or more properly for the Lord's consecrated priest (Nu 6:20; 18:18). Samuel's deference to Saul indicates to all assembled that Saul is being given special regard. Saul must have been dumbfounded at the honor and distinction.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:25 high place. Located at the summit of the city of Ramah, where Samuel lived, just north of Jerusalem. Some scholars suggest there were possibly two hills, one on which the city was built and another nearby higher hill for the altar area. See note, v 12. a bed was spread. Saul would sleep on specially prepared straw on the roof of the house. In the dry summer months in Israel, people often slept on housetops to catch cool evening breezes.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:27 Samuel wants to speak to Saul in private; there also seems to be a ritual significance to this action. Saul's servant is to go ahead, and Samuel would provide a message to Saul that would have great significance: a revelation.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 9 While pursuing mundane things, Saul is stopped and anointed as Israel's first king. Under trivial circumstances stand momentous realities. The Lord's use of life's circumstances is beyond our expectations. He shows us His plans for us (Jer 29:11), which ultimately are fulfilled in Jesus Christ (2Co 1:17–20). The events of our lives are never accidental but always providential. • Give me the confidence of faith to look beyond the petty concerns of my daily life, Lord. Especially as I gather for worship with my fellow sisters and brothers, let me see Your divine and gracious will for me. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:1 oil. Used in biblical times for food preparation, as fuel for lamps, for medicinal purposes, and as a cleansing agent, particularly associated with the tabernacle and priesthood (Ex 30:22–33). See p 236. poured it on his head. Anointing with oil was also used to identify prophets (1Ki 19:16), priests (Ex 29:7; 40:12–15; Lv 4:3; 8:12), and esp kings (12:3; 16:1, 13; 24:6; 26:9, 16; 2Sm 1:14, 16; 19:21; 22:51; 23:1; 1Ki 19:16; Ps 2:2, 6) as divinely equipped for their particular task. kissed. See note, Gn 27:26. anointed. In this case, the chosen leader of God's people. See note, Ps 2:2. In some theological traditions today, people seek out leaders who have "the anointing," i.e., special charisma provided by God. By contrast, in Scripture, the Anointed One is Christ, as head of the Church, who appoints faithful servants for His people. Beware of leaders who claim a special "anointing." See p 1227. Saul likely knelt so that Samuel could reach his head for anointing. See note, Ps 133:2.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:2 Rachel's tomb. Medieval tradition locates Rachel's tomb just outside of Bethlehem, near the border of Ephraim and Benjamin. However, most scholars locate it farther north, near Ramah, just south of Bethel (Jer 31:15).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:3 oak of Tabor. A terebinth grew on the way to Bethel and must have been a well-known landmark. Bethel. Lit, "house of God." Place where Jacob had seen a stairway to heaven (Gn 28:10–19) became a significant worship site for many generations. carrying. Apparently bringing sacrificial offerings to Bethel.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:4 two loaves of bread. Significant because it indicates Saul's vicarious participation in the wave offering of bread that they will make (Nu 18:11). Saul was clearly being "set aside" for holy things.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:5 Gibeath-elohim. Lit, "the hill of God," probably Gibeah, Saul's hometown (v 26; 11:4). Located in area assigned to Benjamin (Jsh 18:28; Jgs 19:12–14). Name affirms that this is God's land, not that of the Philistines (Dt 32:43; Is 14:2; Hos 9:3). That a Philistine garrison was located there along with an Israelite high place shows that the Philistine occupation was not oppressive or even that significant. group of prophets … prophesying. Musicians singing God's Word were regarded as prophets (see notes, 1Ch 25:1, 2). harp, tambourine, flute, and lyre. Phoenician and Canaanite clay figurines of bands using these instruments have been discovered. These instruments must have formed a typical musical ensemble. Both male and female figures are depicted playing such instruments. See note, 18:6; see also p 993.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:6 Spirit of the LORD. The Spirit would occasionally come upon leaders of Israel for special purposes. Saul, by joining this troop of prophets, identifies himself with their prophetic roles. rush. Hbr term typically describes prosperity or strength. Author uses verb esp to describe changing of a person by a spirit (18:10). Cf 2Sm 19:18, where the verb describes crossing the Jordan River. turned into another man. Besides the physical anointing, the Lord's Spirit comes upon Saul and transforms him (lit, "overturned"). Mention of the Spirit (cf Ex 31:3; Dt 34:9; Jgs 6:34; 11:29) is significant. God assures His people that Saul's election is proper and blessed. Saul joins the prophetic celebration, and his very person seems to change. Descriptions of Saul's activities as "ecstatic" are based on comparisons with pagan prophetic behavior (see notes, 1Ki 18:28, 29) rather than the Lord's prophets. Saul did not become an ecstatic, but he probably changed from a quiet, shy young man to a bold and confident leader (cf 11:6). See note, 9:21.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:7 Samuel's instruction is for Saul to surrender himself to the Lord's leading. Within a week (13:8–14), Saul will misuse the privileges given him and bring judgment upon himself and God's people. do what your hand finds to do. Saul has privileges for manifesting his kingly role. God is with you. See "be with," p 5.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:9 another heart. See note, v 6. Not only his outward behavior but also Saul's very attitude changed as a result of the Spirit of God coming upon him.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:10–11 See notes, v 6; 9:21. At home again, Saul's acquaintances acknowledge him as being very different from the man who had left a few weeks earlier. With uncharacteristic freedom, he joined the prophets.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:11–12 Curiously, the proverbs are stated as questions, indicating something suspicious about his prophetic activities. Saul was apparently not a very spiritual person prior to his anointing (see note, 9:6). But now he assumes spiritual leadership, like the prophets before him. who is their father? Prophets may have been addressed as "father" (2Ki 2:12; 6:21; 13:14), so the question could concern Samuel's leadership.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:14 Saul's uncle. Ner approaches him (1Ch 9:35–36) rather than his father. Ner's son, Saul's cousin Abner, would later become the great commander of Saul's army (see note, 14:50; cf ch 26; 2Sm 2). "Ner" was also the name of Saul's grandfather (1Ch 8:29–33; 9:39).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:16 Saul, again behaving shyly, avoids telling the most important detail of all that had transpired.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:1–16 Although Samuel anoints Saul as the king-designate and the Holy Spirit changes Saul, people remain uncertain about his leadership. At times, others, or even you, may question the direction life is taking. Call on the Lord, who always leads in the right way, even when it seems otherwise. The ultimate sign of this is the death and resurrection of Jesus, who is the way, the truth, and the life. • Thank You, heavenly Father, for providing Jesus as the ultimate sign of Your gracious guidance. By the power of Your Spirit, increase my faith in You and my confidence in living for Jesus. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:17 Mizpah. Lit, "watchtower." Used for several locations throughout Israel. Mizpah in Benjamin is the site where the Lord helped His people defeat the Philistines (7:10–13) and where Samuel had been acclaimed judge. The irony of Saul's kingship should not be missed; God had led the people to victory at Mizpah as their King, but now they cried out for another king.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:18–19 Official decree from Samuel, reaffirming the Lord's divine care and covenant with His people and echoing the Ten Commandments (cf Ex 20:2; Dt 5:6). Yet the Israelites had broken that covenant relationship by having false gods (cf Ex 20:3). Despite their sin (reminiscent of the words in 8:7), the Lord makes good come out of it. Thus says the LORD. See p 1080. delivered. The Lord delivered them from Egyptian slavery into the Promised Land (Jsh 24) and used the judges, as His instruments, to save them from their enemies (Jgs 3:9, 15, 31; 6:14; 10:1; 13:5). thousands. Equivalent to "clans" in v 21; Hbr term at this time is less precise as a numerical unit. See p 217.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:20 taken by lot. See note, Jsh 14:2.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:21 Saul's modesty and shyness (see note, 9:21) apparently returned, and he cannot be found until the Lord reveals his hiding place. Reluctantly, he assumed the kingly responsibilities, to the acclamation of the people.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:25 Samuel prescribes both for the king and for the people the duties and prerogatives (Hbr mishpat has both connotations) of the new monarchy, assuring that God's presence and purpose would be fulfilled. book. Samuel records the Lord's message and places it before the Lord—perhaps in the ark, which held the two tablets of the Ten Commandments (Ex 25:16), the pot of manna (Ex 16:33), and Aaron's staff (Nu 17:10); cf Dt 31:26. Such a document could have contributed to the writing of 1 and 2Sm and demonstrates the literacy of servants trained at the tabernacle.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:26 Gibeah. Saul's capital-stronghold, perhaps located on a bluff north of Jerusalem, which overlooked a main road. Archaeologists have discovered a corner of a fortress on this site, which included a rectangular tower. men of valor. Perhaps the beginning of Israel's official army. God moved them to support Saul militarily.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:27 save. See "salvation," p 843. despised. Division of opinion on Saul's suitability. Saul shows himself to be the proper public figure who remains quiet in the face of inappropriate opposition.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:17–27 The secret selection and anointing of Saul is made public in a national assembly, though Saul is still hesitant about taking on the role. When we hesitate to turn away from certain behaviors or to take on godly responsibilities, God's Spirit brings change through repentance and faith. As we die to sin and live in Christ (Rm 6:1–4), He gives our lives deeper meaning. • "Take my life and let it be Consecrated, Lord, to Thee; Take my moments and my days, Let them flow in ceaseless praise. Take my will and make it Thine, It shall be no longer mine; Take my heart, it is Thine own, It shall be Thy royal throne." Amen. (LSB 783/784:1, 5)

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:1 Nahash the Ammonite. Descendant of Lot's younger daughter (Gn 19:38; Dt 2:19). Ammonites lived east of the territory of Gad near the upper regions of the Jabbok River (Dt 2:37; Jsh 12:2). See map, p 365. Nahash was a Transjordanian warlord whose hostility toward Jabesh-gilead apparently stemmed from a claim that the land was his (Jgs 11:12–13). The expanded version of 1Sm among the Dead Sea Scrolls describes his policy of gouging out the right eyes of the people he conquered. This engagement with the Ammonites represents Saul's first challenge as the anointed leader of Israel.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:2 Cruel torture of captives would not only be humiliating and disfiguring but would also incapacitate them militarily, because they would lack depth perception. Cf Jgs 16:21.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:3 Desperate, the elders negotiate a siege treaty. Requesting a week's time for deliberation and help, they seem to accept Nahash's terms. Nahash is overly confident that the alarm and request for help would be futile. elders. See note, Ex 3:16. See also p 228.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:4 Gibeah. Saul's hometown, where there were a few fighting men, but no real army. wept aloud. People raise a public lament.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:6–11 Saul uses threats to rally the people, similar to the act of the Levite in Jgs 19:29–30. Both were invitations to a holy war. Not merely the threat, but the Lord's presence rallies the people of Israel for battle.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:6 Spirit of God. The Spirit rouses Saul's righteous anger. Such special endowments by the Spirit occurred among the earlier judges, particularly Samson (Jgs 14:6, 19; 15:14). anger was greatly kindled. Lit, "his nose swelled greatly," his nostrils flared with rage.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:7 Saul's oath takes on the form of a covenant ceremony, since God had used a similar act to establish His covenant with Abraham (Gn 15). dread. Perhaps recalling that event, people respond in fear. Dread is similar to proper "fear of the LORD." See p 1001.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:8 Bezek. North of Shechem, several miles west across the Jordan. Within easy striking distance from Gibeah, c 17 mi from Jabesh-gilead. See map, p 451. Judah. Saul's tribe, Benjamin, was small and previously held in disrespect by Judah, which sometimes exhibited a separatist or isolationist attitude toward the other tribes (cf 2Sm 2:8–11). thirty thousand. Nearly a tenth of the military contingent.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:10 give ourselves up. Hbr has double sense, as "we will come out to you." Deception, yet truth is also revealed. The defiant message lulled the overly confident Ammonites into complacency.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:11 three companies. Saul's strategy to divide the large military force and surround the Ammonites in a pincer movement was a tactic used by Abimelech (Jgs 9:36–37). morning watch. Lit, "last watch of the night," traditionally the third watch (2 a.m. until 6 a.m.). See p 1567. Undoubtedly, this is a surprise attack by Saul and his troops.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:1–11 In the Spirit of God, Saul acts boldly and strategically. When circumstances call for boldness and righteous anger, do you act confidently? The Lord is our "very present help in trouble" (Ps 46:1). In challenging times, God's Spirit empowers you to face the challenge. • O Holy Spirit, fill me with passions that reflect Your desire for my life. When I am to be an instrument of Your help or hope, give me Your words and gifts. In Jesus' name. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:13 Saul recognizes God's hand in the great deliverance from the Ammonites. Not vengeful against those who questioned his leadership, he magnanimously treats them kindly, aware that this is all part of the Lord's gracious plan.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:14 renew. God's rule is eternal. Although Israel was not yet a united kingdom in an earthly sense, the Lord had renewed His rule and the people recognize this in the persons of Samuel and Saul.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:15 Gilgal. Means "turning." Located between Jordan River and Jericho, once again it marks a turning point in Israel's history (Jsh 4:19–24; 5:2–9; 10:8–15). Samuel had made it an annual stop on his judicial circuit. Saul's kingship was privately announced at Ramah (see note, 9:25; cf 10:1) and solemnized at Mizpah (10:17–27). The people officially affirm him here in a solemn public assembly. peace offerings. See pp 170–71. Prepared as a sign of reconciliation between all the tribes and the Lord, they mark a ratification of the covenant similar to that at Sinai (Ex 24:5–11). The people gave offerings also in recognition of the monarchy as a continuation of the theocracy, for which they finally rejoice in grand style.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:12–15 The nation unites in worship and praise to the Lord for the victory by Saul's leadership and by God's hand. In our repentance today, God provides "turning points" in our lives, so we again hear His words of comfort, promise, and hope. Knowing that Jesus is indeed our Savior and Lord, we can act confidently as agents of God's kingdom. • Father in heaven, look down upon me when things seem to be turning upside down, and help me to see Your Son's gentle, nail-pierced hand at work in my life. By Your Spirit I pray. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 12 Though Samuel acknowledges he has gone along with the request of the people of Israel, we know that it was the Lord who was behind the whole event (cf 9:15–17; 15:26).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:1 Samuel gathers Israel as did Moses (Dt 29:10–15) and Joshua (Jsh 23–24). Now he rehearses Israel's history, reminding them of the Lord's care and gracious presence. The terms of the Lord's covenant relationship with Israel remained the same, notwithstanding change in administrative leadership and style.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:3 testify against me. Samuel exonerates himself before the people, showing that, regardless of his sons' misuse of power (see note, 8:3), he received no personal gain from his service as judge over Israel—in contrast to the king who "will take" (8:11–18). His anointed. See note, 10:1. Refers to Saul, yet an inference to Christ cannot be eliminated.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:5 Poetic, providing repetition and comparison between "The LORD" and "His anointed," both serving as witness for Samuel. Samuel accuses the people before their real Judge, the Lord (Jgs 11:27). They had fallen away from the Lord's ways, yet the Lord had remained faithful to them.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:8–15 Samuel rehearses a creedlike historical account of the Lord's continuing care, recalling the cycle of sin, servitude, supplication, salvation, and silence. The basic sin was that Israel "forgot the LORD," yet He never forgot them.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:10 Baals … Ashtaroth. See notes, Ex 34:13; Nu 25:3.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:11 Order of judges is not chronological but clearly reflects their prominence, which culminated in Samuel. Jerubbaal. Gideon's nickname, emphasizing his rejection of the Canaanite Baal worship. Samuel. Refers to himself objectively in this indictment, using a recognized legal technique to convict people of their sin.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:12 Hus: "The spiritual power, which is [priestly], excels the royal in age, dignity, and usefulness. … The spiritual power is in and of itself sufficient for the ruling of the people, as appears from the history of Israel. … Earthly power … is of no avail independent of the spiritual power which is the chief regulative force" (The Church, p 93).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:14 Samuel repeats the traditional covenant relationship that God had established with His people, beginning with Abraham and continuing through Moses and Joshua and now Samuel himself (Ex 19:5–6; Dt 28; Jsh 24:20). The same alternatives Moses and Joshua had presented to the people, Samuel presents to them—either the Lord or not (Dt 30:15–20; Jsh 24). The First Commandment is always at the heart of Israel's history. obey. Lit, "to hear" Him, which implies that the one hearing will obey.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:17 wheat harvest today? Late spring, when rain was extremely rare. See calendar, p 262. wickedness … a king. Samuel underscores the great wickedness of Israel in asking for a king without the Lord's express order.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:18 thunder and rain. Samuel's predicted and unusual thunder and rain confirms his judgment of the people. Disaster will harm the wheat harvest by creating conditions for mold (Pr 26:1). Such an unusual occurrence in May or June brings fear upon the people, reminiscent of the exodus, when the Lord displayed His power. Samuel also demonstrates his own prophetic power, illustrating his ability to communicate with the Lord.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:19–21 See Israelites' earlier request of Moses (Ex 9:28).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:22 Samuel points out the graciousness of God's continuing presence among them. After advising them not to follow other (empty) ways (cf Is 41:29), he reaffirms that the Lord's hand and instruction will continue to guide the people (as He had under Moses).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:23 Samuel's role as judge will cease, but he will continue to be the voice of God in his prophetic role—interceding for them and instructing them in the ways of the Lord. Luth: "Here we read that it is a sin against God if we preachers do not rightly instruct the people and pray for them. Also that it is sin when the people will not obey or fear God, who instructs them through us, his ministers" (AE 43:230).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:24 fear the LORD. See p 1001.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 12 By words and a miraculous sign, Samuel powerfully proclaims a message of judgment and promise. When you look back over your life, see that you have been less than wholly faithful to the Lord. Yet, "consider what great things He has done for you" (v 24). God remains faithful to His promises, especially His promise of forgiveness! • Lord, gracious Father, thank You for the blessings I have received from You, particularly the forgiveness of sins. Bless all those who stand as Your representative in my life that they may be faithful too. In Jesus' name. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:1 See ESV notes. Verse establishes the formula that introduces the reigns of later kings. The omission of two numbers reminds us that fallible scribes copied the texts of the Bible, but their mistakes in copying have not compromised biblical doctrine. God allowed these small details to drop out. Because Saul had a son (Jonathan) old enough to be an officer in the army, he was probably past 40. As subsequent verses indicate, other details are also lacking in the account of Saul's reign; the omissions coincide with God's judgment on Saul's lack of faith and good judgment. It is as though God is shortening Saul's time as a commentary on his reign.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:2 Saul forms Israel's first organized military, probably militia troops, since the time of Joshua. Some details are lacking, including at what point in Saul's reign this occurred. The towns mentioned were in Israel's heartland, in the hill country not far north of Jerusalem. Jonathan. Important to David's life; first mentioned here as a son of fighting age. Cf Nu 1:3.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:3 Jonathan defeated the garrison. Jonathan's military prowess is immediately evident. Hebrews. Term normally not used by Israelites to refer to themselves but used by outsiders. See pp 1905–6.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:4 Saul had defeated the garrison. Although Jonathan had been victorious (v 3), news spread that Saul had defeated the enemy, perhaps evidence of his obsessive desire for personal glory. Gilgal. Like Bethel, in the circuit of towns Samuel visited as judge (7:16); location uncertain, probably in vicinity of Jericho. See map, p 451.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:5 chariots. Philistines had a distinct advantage, since the Israelites did not acquire chariots until the time of King Solomon, two generations after Saul. like the sand on the seashore. See note, Jsh 11:4. Hyperbole. Michmash. C 8 mi NE of Jerusalem, overlooking a pass leading to the Jordan Valley. See map, p 451.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:6 Numerical and military superiority of Philistine army had its effect on Israel.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:7 fords of the Jordan. Crossing the Jordan wherever it was shallow enough to pass through, Israelites fled to the east. Gad … Gilead. See map, p 365.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:1–7 Encounters with the Philistines dominate Saul's reign. This is definitely a time that calls for trust in God. In a similar way, the question for us is not whether we will face troubles, but where we will place our trust at those times. True refuge resides only in the true God—the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, the God of Samuel, the God who fulfilled His promises by sending His Son, Jesus Christ, to save the world. • Heavenly Father, we thank You for Your gracious daily guidance and protection. We ask that You continue to watch over us and those we love. You graciously give us all things through Your Son. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:8–23 Saul's character defects manifest themselves as he takes matters into his own hands rather than follow God's directive.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:8–9 After a week, Saul grew impatient for Samuel.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:9 burnt offering … peace offerings. See pp 170–71.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:10 behold, Samuel came. Seems Samuel was testing Saul, waiting to see if Saul would keep the established order.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:11 What have you done? Reminiscent of God's questioning of Adam and Eve (Gn 3:9–13). the people were scattering … you did not come. Like our first parents, Saul directed the blame away from himself to others and to the questioner.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:12 Saul's words are a rationalization for his actions. Humans have a common tendency to offer reasons for not following God's directives.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:13 foolishly. Moral failure rather than mental mistake. See p 1016. not kept the command. As God's prophet, Samuel spoke for the Lord, and Saul, like all of Israel, was to recognize that fact. Cf 3:20. forever. Hbr word denotes a time into the unknown future. Because of Saul's disobedience, however, his dynasty would be cut short.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:14 after His own heart. A reference to David. Later, God would promise David, "Your throne shall be established forever" (2Sm 7:16).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:15 six hundred men. Because of the delay, the number of troops with Saul had thinned (cf v 2); humanly speaking, his growing impatience was understandable, yet he had failed to wait for the Lord's schedule.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:16 Geba of Benjamin. May be the same place as Gibeah of Benjamin (v 2).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:17–18 Place-names indicate that the raiding parties left Michmash going north (Ophrah), west-southwest (Beth-horon), and southeast (Valley of Zeboim). Going out in every direction, they probably had the intent of plundering Israelite towns in retaliation for Jonathan's rebellion (v 3). border. May refer to an east-west road that ran between the territories of Judah and Benjamin.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:19 no blacksmith. Philistines held the edge in metal technology (perhaps iron work learned from the Hittites); earliest discoveries of iron in Canaan were found in Philistine regions, including a sword, knives, and jewelry. See note, Jb 20:24.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:20 went down to the Philistines. While the Israelites may have had some fears, their inability even to sharpen their own tools drove them to seek out Philistine skills. mattock. Tool, shaped like a pickax, used for loosening soil. Indicates agrarian nature of Israelite society. A quenched and tempered steel pick was discovered at Har Adir in Upper Galilee in a fortress from the eleventh century BC.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:21 two-thirds … a third of a shekel. Weight for gold and silver. See p cx. Probably exorbitant fees; they helped keep the Israelites economically depressed. The first measurement is a "pim," used only here in Scripture. See p cx. The word appears on stone weights discovered in Judea.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:22 neither sword nor spear. Perhaps the Philistine raiding parties had confiscated Israelite iron weapons, except for the swords of Saul and Jonathan. The rest of the Israelites would use bows and arrows and slingshots.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:23 pass of Michmash. Philistine garrison encamped on north bank of the ravine that separated them from the Israelites, creating mounting tension. See map, p 451.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:8–23 Because of Saul's act of disobedience and lack of faith, he will lose his kingdom and God's help against the Philistines. Often, we bring troubles into our lives by thinking that God is not acting quickly enough to remove or ease some difficult situation. Yet, He acts in "the fullness of time" as when "God sent forth His Son" (Gal 4:4) to forgive all our sins—including our faithless impatience. • Almighty God, in Your infinite wisdom, You use all things for our temporal and eternal good. Forgive us the many times we do not wait on You but turn to our own faulty human solutions. In Jesus' name. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:1 Given the rising tension, Jonathan wanted to survey the enemy forces, but without his father's knowledge because Saul might squelch his initiative. Jonathan's actions were probably more spontaneous than considered, because he was so motivated to defend the safety and honor of God's people. armor. Jonathan was fully equipped for battle.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:2 pomegranate cave at Migron. See ESV note. Location unknown. Imposing pomegranate trees are still seen in Israel. six hundred men. Emphasizes smallness of Israelite forces.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:3 Ahijah. High priest and great-grandson of Eli, he apparently also served as court chaplain. Linking Saul with the failed house of Eli foreshadows the downfall of his dynasty. ephod. Garment generally worn by high priest (Samuel also wore one, 2:18). Used in consulting the Lord. See note, Ex 28:36.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:6 these uncircumcised. Equivalent to "these unbelievers." As people whose unbelief put them outside God's covenant with Abraham and his descendants (Gn 17:10), the Philistines did not share the promises of the Israelites. nothing can hinder the LORD. Jonathan's bold confession acknowledged that success lay in God's hands.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:7 The armor-bearer supported Jonathan physically and spiritually.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:8 Jonathan's faith-based boldness is evident in his readiness to come out in the open against a numerically superior enemy.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:9–10 If they say. Jonathan trusted that God would bring success whatever the circumstances. the LORD has given them into our hand. Wordplay on Jonathan's name, "the Lord gave." When the enemy dared him to take the more dangerous alternative (climbing the stony crags), he took that as a sign from God. hand. See p 842.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:11–12 out of the holes. Philistines derisively compare Israelites to animals. show you a thing. Teach you a lesson; punish you.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:13–14 killed about twenty men. The narrow passage at the top made it easy for a few men to engage many. God gave the strength and victory to Jonathan and his armor-bearer. half a furrow's length. Lit, "half a yoke," half the area that a yoke of oxen could plow in one day.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:15 garrison … raiders. Different type of soldiers; some specialized in standing guard, others in going out on raiding parties. earth quaked. God intervened in nature, causing panic among the arrogant Philistines.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:16 Defeat of Philistines is reminiscent of how Israelites under Gideon had defeated the numerically superior army of Midian, whose "army fled" (Jgs 7:22).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:17 A capable general, Saul saw the action in the distance and wanted to know which of his troops were involved.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:18 Previously, the ark had been brought into battle against the Philistines—with disastrous consequences (4:11). See p 495.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:19 Withdraw your hand. Saul felt that waiting for the Lord's directive might jeopardize his chance for victory. Such interruption of a priestly activity was unprecedented and unthinkable.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:20 against his fellow. In the general confusion, Philistines were turning on one another.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:21 Israelite mercenaries turned against Philistines now that Israelites were winning.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:22 Success breeds success, and the Israelites who previously hid for their own safety now joined the victorious Israelites.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:23 the LORD saved Israel. See "salvation," p 843. Beth-aven. Near Bethel (cf 13:5). See map, p 451.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:1–23 Against great odds, the Lord gives Israel a victory over the Philistines through Jonathan, whose name means "the Lord gave." Too often, fear keeps us from venturing out for the Lord. Though we should not dare God to give us signs, we can learn from Jonathan's story to attempt great things for God and expect great things from Him. Though we may fail from the world's perspective, God gives us ultimate spiritual victory and all things in Christ. • Heavenly Father, forgive us for our timidity and failure to step out in faith. Inspire us through Jonathan's example to confront the forces of sin and Satan. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:24 Cursed be the man. Rash vow. See p 6. I am avenged. While Saul perceived his conflict with the enemy as a personal vendetta, Jonathan saw it as carrying out God's plan. Saul's growing egocentrism becomes evident.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:25–26 Although enticed by food that could restore their strength, the people took the oath of v 24 seriously.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:27–28 his eyes became bright. He was refreshed, his strength renewed. the people were faint. Contrast between Jonathan's renewed strength and the weakness of the rest of the army is striking and shows the foolishness of Saul's oath.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:29 Jonathan was as honest and forthright as he was brave, even to the point of openly criticizing his father. troubled. See Jsh 7:25–26 and notes.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:30 Jonathan immediately recognized the sad results of the oath his father had made, limiting the fighting capacity of his own army and its ability to gain the full victory that was in its grasp.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:31 Aijalon. West of and closer to Philistine territory than Michmash, c 14 mi NW of Jerusalem. Famous for Joshua's battle, when the sun stood still (Jsh 10:12). See map, p 451. very faint. Repetition intensifies the words of v 28, adding "very."

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:32–34 spoil. Booty of the battle included the livestock of the Philistines. ate them with the blood. Unclean behavior. Mosaic Law forbade this (Lv 17:11–12; 19:26; Dt 12:16). roll a great stone … slaughter them here. When the people slaughtered the animals on the stone, blood drained out to the ground, making the meat acceptable for eating.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:35 built an altar to the LORD. It seems Saul used the "great stone" as an altar, thus consecrating the slaughtered animals to the Lord. first altar. Indicates Saul's lifelong lack of interest in spiritual matters. See note, 9:6.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:36 by night. Saul wanted to overtake the enemy under cover of darkness. draw near to God here. It is the priest, not Saul, who suggests taking the matter to God. In addition to the construction of the altar, apparently Ahijah the priest was thinking of using the Urim and Thummim (cf v 41).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:37–38 Saul inquired of God. After the priest suggested it, Saul turned to God. See "call," p 842. He did not answer. In addition to the Israelites' failure to attain a complete victory, Saul's rash vow resulted in God not answering his inquiry. "Saul was a great king, chosen by God, and a godly man. But when he was established on his throne, he let his heart wander from God and put his trust in his crown and power [1 Samuel 9–13]. Then he had to perish with all he had, so that not even his children remained [1 Samuel 31]" (LC I 45). see how this sin has arisen. Saul wanted the leaders of Israel to see the resolution of this situation.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:39–42 Almost all we know about how the sacred lot operated comes from this and the following verses. It seems that the technique used in determining God's will involved questions that could be answered by yes or no. Answers were given by means of the Urim and Thummim, which may have been sticks, some kind of dice, or black and white stones.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:39 as the LORD lives. Oath formula. See p 7. Jonathan. Saul names his own son to emphasize the zeal of his oath. he shall surely die. Saul failed to see that it was his own ill-considered vow that had caused the problem.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:40–42 on one side … on the other side. These words offer some insight into the working of the Urim and Thummim, which in some way would indicate a choice between the two. Jonathan was taken. Final casting of the lot pointed to Jonathan as the one who was at the center of the impasse (cf Jsh 7:18). In reality, Jonathan was not guilty before God; nevertheless, the Lord used this means to get to the heart of the issue.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:43–44 Tell me what you have done. Saul had the culprit, or so he thought. I will die. Jonathan's bravery is evident once more, as he was willing even to die if that would serve the cause of God's people. Throughout chs 13–15, faithful and noble Jonathan shines in bright contrast to his self-serving and unbelieving father. God do so to me and more also. Another curse formula. See p 6. you shall surely die, Jonathan. Saul was ready to sacrifice his own son for the foolish vow.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:45 salvation. See p 843. As the LORD lives. People answer Saul's vow with one of their own, namely, that Jonathan would not die. worked with God this day. People saw that taking Jonathan's life would be wrong. ransomed. See "redeem," p 843. Noble Jonathan had the backing of the people and of God.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:24–46 Saul's foolish oath threatens Jonathan's life, but the people rightly intervene. At times, all of us have acted rashly rather than seeking God's guidance, sometimes with long-lasting (perhaps lifelong) repercussions. Thankfully, as the Israelites "ransomed" Jonathan from Saul's rash oath, Christ ransomed us from our own sinful folly and grants us new opportunities. • Almighty God, forgive us when we act rashly. Give us the wisdom to seek out Your way in the pages of Holy Scripture. In the Savior's name. Amen.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:47–48 Summarizes Saul's reign from a military standpoint.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:47 Moab. Southeast of the Salt Sea; played a frequent role in Israelite history, including the story of Ruth. Ammonites. Ammon was northeast of the Salt Sea, with the capital of Rabbath-ammon (modern day Amman, capital of Jordan); see note, Jgs 3:13. There was much interchange between Ammon and Israel, including David's flight there (2Sm 17:27–29) and Solomon's marriage with Ammonite women (1Ki 11:1). Edom. South of Moab; Israel under Moses passed through it on its way to the Promised Land. Zobah. Northeast of Israel; controlled eastern Syria. Philistines. From whom the name "Palestine" is derived; perennial enemies of Israel. Eventually, Saul met his end in a battle against them (ch 31), located on the coast of the Great Sea. See map, p 451. he routed them. Despite Saul's spiritual failings, God used him to defeat the enemies of His chosen nation.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:48 he did valiantly. Saul's skill and bravery as a military commander is acknowledged. Amalekites. Nomadic raiders descended from Esau (Gn 36:12, 16), living south of Israel. The two nations had clashed when Moses led the Israelites through that region (Dt 25:17).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:49–51 Simplicity of Saul's family life contrasts sharply with that of King David and even more so with that of King Solomon.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:49 Michal. Later married David (18:20–27).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:50 Ahinoam. Only mention of a wife of Saul; his concubine Rizpah is referred to in 2Sm 3:7; 21:8–12. Abner. Saul's cousin; common in the ancient Near East to appoint family members to important government positions.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:52 hard fighting against the Philistines. No other foe so dominated the attention of Saul as did the Philistines, as the mention here attests. strong man. Though a king, Saul's main role was that of military commander; because of constant threats from Israel's neighbors, he was always looking for men who could serve in the army. Among them was David, who would become Saul's successor.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:47–52 As king, Saul serves primarily as a military leader. Today, believers continue to face enemies, both spiritual and physical. Through God's weapons, in particular "the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God" (Eph 6:17), God grants us victory and strength to serve Him boldly. • Lord of hosts, be with us in our daily struggle against all enemies that seek to destroy us now and eternally. Strengthen and uphold us until we pass from the Church Militant to the Church Triumphant. In Jesus' name. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:1 anoint you. See note, 10:1. listen. Cf Jn 8:31, where Jesus says, "If you abide in My word, you are truly My disciples."

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:2 Lord of hosts. See p 1291. Amalek. See note, 14:48.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:3 devote to destruction. See p 6. Some commentators refer to this call for destruction as a "holy war." Yet, outside of that unique situation, God has never given His people the directive to carry out military warfare to destroy enemies. It is far removed from the Muslim concept of jihad. For ancient Israel, it was God's way of giving His people the land He had promised them and taking it from a people who for centuries had turned their backs on God and engaged in the vilest practices. See p 376.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:4 Telaim. Probably Telem in southern Judah (Jsh 15:24). two hundred thousand men on foot. Huge force, mustered from all the tribes (with Judah singled out), indicates the need for a large army to defeat the Amalekite threat. See p 217.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:5 city of Amalek. Unnamed Amalekite settlement, possibly where the king lived. lay in wait. In vast expanses of rocks, hills, and ravines, it would be possible to keep a large force undercover. Ambush was a common form of attack (cf Jsh 8; Jgs 20:33).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:6 Kenites. Bedouin or nomadic people related to Midianites. Moses had married a Kenite (Jgs 4:11), and some Kenites had gone with the Israelites into the Promised Land. the Kenites departed. Spared because of their "kindness" toward the Israelites. See "steadfast love," p 843.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:7 Havilah. Lit, "a stretch of sand," in the northern Arabian Peninsula, or the word could be an altered spelling of Hbr for "the wadi" or valley. Shur. Lit, "wall," wilderness in northern Sinai Peninsula.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:8 all the people. Just the Amalekites in this city; the nation of Amalek was not completely destroyed. Under David and Solomon, the Amalekites paid tribute to Israel (2Sm 8:11–12). By the time of King Hezekiah (c 700 BC), few Amalekites remained (1Ch 4:42–43).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:9 spared Agag. In Est 3:1, the evil Haman is described as an Agagite, either a descendant of Agag or a person having the wicked character of Agag. In sparing Agag, Saul was not being good, but rather disobedient. It may have been an act of pride, in that he could show off the captive king to all the people. despised and worthless. Keeping the best for themselves, the people destroyed only undesirable livestock. Centuries later, God would reprimand the people of Jerusalem for keeping the prize animals, while sacrificing to Him the "lame or sick" and "what is blemished" (Mal 1:13–14). Today, we do the same when we spend lavishly on ourselves and give only measly leftovers for the Lord's work.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:11 I regret that I have made Saul king. See note, v 35. God used this expression before sending the flood (Gn 6:7). cried to the LORD. In grief and in prayer for Saul. See "call," p 842.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:12 Carmel. Not Mount Carmel in northern Israel, but a town in Judah, c 8 mi SE of Hebron. monument for himself. Rather than erecting a monument honoring God, Saul set one up for himself, a clear demonstration of how far his heart was from the Lord.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:13–15 Blessed be you … I have performed the commandment. Saul greets Samuel with a blessing. In his conscience, Saul felt justified for his actions. bleating of the sheep. Samuel points to the evidence that contradicts Saul's lie about carrying out the Lord's commandment. the people spared. Saul blames the soldiers, when it was his responsibility (v 9). The humility of Saul's early reign has given way to pride that fails to acknowledge sin.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:16 From youth, Samuel was God's spokesman, privileged to hear directly from God His will for the chosen people (cf ch 3).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:17 little in your own eyes. Sarcasm; Saul was obsessed with his own importance, though before coming to power he had truly been humble (10:22). Greg: "When he was little with himself, he was great with God; but, when he appeared great with himself, he was little with God" (NPNF 2 12:15).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:18 sent you on a mission. Samuel underscores the seriousness of Saul's failure, for he had a mission from God. devote to destruction. See p 6. the sinners, the Amalekites. Refers to the Amalekites' obduracy and outright opposition to the true God and His people.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:19 Samuel asks rhetorical questions designed to solicit from Saul an acknowledgment of sin and a repentant attitude. pounce on the spoil. Greed caused Saul to disobey the command to destroy the Amalekites and their livestock.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:20–21 I have obeyed. Despite Samuel's attempt to bring Saul to see his sin, Saul refused to acknowledge any fault. the people took of the spoil. Again, Saul shifts the blame away from himself. See note, 13:11. to sacrifice to the LORD. Even if what Saul said was true, God did not ask for this, but for the destruction of the Amalekites (v 3). your God. Saul may have said this simply to win Samuel's favor and not necessarily as an expression of unbelief, as if God is Samuel's God but not Saul's.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:22–23 Poetic (see pp 775–78). Samuel's most eloquent words. to obey is better than sacrifice. Samuel is not saying that sacrifice is unimportant, but that it should be accompanied by the obedience that flows from saving faith. Luth: "In Scripture faith is called obedience" (AE 30:30). See pp 170–71. Iren: "The prophets indicate in the fullest manner that God stood in no need of their slavish obedience, but that it was upon their own account that He enjoyed certain observances in the law. … When He perceived them neglecting righteousness, and abstaining from the love of God, and imagining that God was to be propitiated by sacrifices and the other typical observances, Samuel did even thus speak to them" (ANF 1:482).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:23 rebellion … presumption. Samuel classifies human pride and rebellion against God's commands along with idolatry and its accompanying evils. All have this in common—they look elsewhere than to God's Word for guidance and place their faith elsewhere than in the true God. This is a strong reminder to us that whenever we turn from God and place our trust in something or someone else, it is a form of idolatry. Chem: "[Samuel] shows that in [Saul's] disobedient way the rule he broke was the Second Commandment. … He uses His name in vain" (LTh 2:357). divination. Determining the future by observing natural phenomena, such as the movement of the heavenly bodies, consultation with mediums (ch 28), and other such practices rather than listening to the Lord's Word as delivered through His chosen spokesmen. This was a sin of the Amalekites and of other heathen nations with which Israel came into contact in the Promised Land. Cf Dt 18:9–14. Their rituals were connected with worship of idols (Jer 10:1–10).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:24 I have sinned. Saul's words may well be sincere, yet he qualifies them. I feared the people and obeyed their voice. Even in confessing, Saul shifts blame.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:25 please pardon my sin. Another confession from Saul. Only God knows the sincerity of Saul's confession, but his subsequent words make it suspect. Cf Ex 10:16–17. return with me that I may worship the LORD. Concern comes across as more political and for show than sincere.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:26 I will not. Withdrawal of God's spokesman Samuel from Saul would represent God's rejection of Saul's kingship.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:27–28 seized the skirt of his robe. Saul desperately did not want to lose Samuel, who served as a symbol of God's favor before the people. it tore … torn the kingdom. Samuel immediately saw the tearing of his robe as a symbol of something larger, the tearing of the kingdom away from Saul and his family. Samuel apparently wore a distinctive robe, which may have evidenced his priestly and prophetic service (cf 2:19; 28:14). a neighbor of yours. David would ascend to the throne.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:29 Glory of Israel. A title for God. See pp 6–7. regret. See note, v 35.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:30 honor me now before the elders. Saul continues to seem more concerned with the perception of others than with his relationship with the living God. We constantly need to take stock in our lives as to the reason we do things (such as attend church). elders. See p 228.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:31 Samuel turned back after Saul. Samuel was not concerned with helping Saul appear pious before the people, but he wanted to complete the Lord's directives. bowed before the LORD. Sincerity or insincerity of this act of worship would not be evident to those present (cf 16:7).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:32 cheerfully. May also be translated as "trembling" or "in fetters." Surely the bitterness of death is past. Expression of false confidence, wishful thinking, or resignation to his fate.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:33 hacked. Samuel was still able-bodied enough to carry out the law of retaliation. Demonstrating the severity of God's judgment, it was a graphic testimony to disobedient Saul. before the LORD in Gilgal. Before the Lord's altar.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:34 Tragic and final parting of Saul and Samuel. Although Samuel and Saul lived fewer than 5 mi apart, they never saw each other again. Ramah. In hill country of Benjamin. This had been the seat of Samuel's judgeship (7:17) and was where he had anointed Saul king of Israel (10:1). See map, p 451. Gibeah. Also in territory of Benjamin.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:35 Samuel grieved over Saul. Could mean that Samuel regarded Saul as one who was already dead, but in light of Samuel's character, it more likely means that in his grief he continued to pray that Saul would repent. Bern: "When affection calls us, reason is silent. When Samuel wept over Saul it was by a feeling of pity, and not of approval" (SLSB, p 32). the LORD regretted. See "relent," pp 1079–80. God is all-knowing and perfect in all He does so that His will and decisions are unchangeable (v 29; cf Ps 110:4); from a human standpoint, however, God reacts to human conditions and, in that sense, may change.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 15 One of the most tragic passages in OT history is recorded here—a stark reminder of the seriousness of not listening to and following God's Word. Saul fails to carry out the Lord's command to destroy the Amalekites completely, so the Lord will no longer bless his leadership. God's Law is clear and calls for His people's perfect obedience in thought, word, and deed. Through the Law, God calls us to repent. Only because of Christ's sinless obedience and sacrificial death on our behalf can we enjoy His blessings. • Heavenly Father, forgive us for the many times we have not followed Your Word completely. We can never thank You enough for Jesus' sacrifice for our sins. Renew in us daily the will and ability to live for Him who died for us. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:1 I have rejected him. Luth: "Since God is a just judge, we must love and laud his justice and rejoice in God even when he miserably destroys the wicked in body and soul, for in all this his lofty and unspeakable justice shines forth. Thus even hell is no less full of good, the supreme good, than is heaven. … The Lord forbade Samuel … to continue mourning for Saul. … It is as if he says: Does my will so displease you that you prefer the will of man to me?" (AE 42:156). Although Samuel wasn't originally in favor of the monarchy, he grieved over what might have been, over the promise cut short by disobedience to God (15:22–23). Yet, God lifts him out of his depression by sending him on an errand. oil. See note, 10:1.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:2 heifer. Used in peace offerings (Lv 3:1). A heifer is here, for that reason, a sacrificial offering. See pp 170–71.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:3 God takes initiative in anointing David as future king; 24:6 refers to the king as "the LORD's anointed," which becomes our word "Messiah." See p 1227.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:4 Bethlehem. Small town (Mi 5:2; see map, p 451). trembling. Because Samuel represents God's awesome majesty. peaceably. Prophet's words could be words of judgment or words of mercy.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:5 Consecrate. See p 6. Jesse was probably not one of the elders, since the expression "son of Jesse," as applied to David by his opponents (20:27–31), implied ridicule. This would mean Jesse was of no account in his community.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:6–13 The selection of "God's anointed" flows from His love, not from the external splendor of the one He chooses (Ps 78:70–72). The mystery of divine election is part of the mystery of God's good and gracious will. God's thoughts are not our thoughts (Is 55:8–9).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:6–9 Eliab … Abinadab … Shammah. Three oldest sons will soon be part of Saul's army.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:6 Eliab. Lit, "God is father." God isn't as impressed with Jesse's firstborn son as is Samuel. Samuel doesn't always accurately perceive God's ways and intentions.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:7 Cf v 12. David's external appearance isn't God's primary focus. God seeks someone who will not run after other gods.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:10 God did not choose one of Jesse's seven oldest sons. In the Bible, God often chooses a younger brother (Jacob rather than Esau, Ephraim rather than Manasseh; Gn 25:23; 48:17–19).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:11 sit down. Presumably to eat.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:12 ruddy. Lit, "reddish." Implies a healthy-looking attractiveness. David's good looks were a bonus to his inner worth in God's eyes.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:13 Anointing with oil here encompasses anointing with the Holy Spirit (Is 61:1). There is a new emphasis on the Spirit of the Lord abiding with God's chosen leader. rushed. See note, 10:6. from that day forward. The Spirit stays with David. (However, see note, Ps 51:11–12.) Elsewhere, the Spirit comes and goes (three times for Samson—Jgs 14:6, 19; 15:14—and twice for Saul—1Sm 10:10; 11:6). Before Samuel's time, the Lord's Spirit is mentioned infrequently, except for the time of the judges (Jgs 3:10; 6:34). The rush of the Spirit upon David ensures that whatever the future may hold, he is divinely equipped for the work God calls him to do. See p 1815.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:1–13 Samuel's focus is directed away from Saul's ruined potential to what God will do through Jesse's youngest son, David, a man after God's own heart (13:14). Because God looks on our hearts (v 7), we stand condemned before Him (Jer 17:9–10a). Yet, He leads us to plead: "Create in me a clean heart, O God" (Ps 51:10).

By faith in the Gospel, our hearts are cleansed (Ac 15:9), and we are reassured that God will not despise a broken and contrite heart (Ps 51:17). • Thank You, Lord, that You do not judge by appearances but have promised us that there is "no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus" (Rm 8:1). Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:14–23 Episode could have occurred after defeat of Goliath, but it is placed here to contrast the departure of God's Spirit from Saul with the conferring of His Spirit upon David.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:14 departed. Because of Saul's disobedience to God (ch 15). Bas: "[The Holy Spirit] does not abide with those who, on account of the instability of their will, easily reject the grace which they have received. An instance of this is seen in Saul" (NPNF 2 8:38). See Chem, LTh 1:145. a harmful spirit from the LORD. Harmful, or evil spirits are subject to God's control and operate only within divinely determined boundaries. What God permits, God is said to do. See note, Jb 1:12. God still guides what Saul does. Chem: "God permits, allows, suffers sin in the sense of deserting or leaving someone to it" (LTh 1:218).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:15 tormenting. Saul's dangerous moods are occasioned by knowledge that God has rejected him as king. His bad conscience robs him of any sense of God's presence.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:16 lyre. See p 993. People were aware of the effects of certain types of music on those with psychological problems. See notes, 10:5; 1Ch 15:16–24.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:17 a man who can play well. His music is of such quality that it has the necessary therapeutic effect.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:18 a man of valor. See note, Jgs 6:12. David was not yet 20 years old (see note, 17:33). This raises questions of chronology. See note, vv 14–23. prudent in speech. Highly prized virtue in Israel. the LORD is with him. David's outstanding feature. A servant of Saul already recognizes this about him. See "be with," p 5.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:19 Saul is oblivious to the irony that he is inviting his successor under his roof.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:20 bread. David's father gives a donation to the royal kitchen as an act of goodwill.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:21 Samuel had warned his people that a king would take their best men into his service (8:16). armor-bearer. Honorary title conferred on a member of the king's entourage.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:22 Though Jesse lost David's services as shepherd, it was great compensation to have a son in the king's court.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:23 With God's Spirit absent from Saul, the evil, harmful spirit that came upon him had to be exorcised from time to time. God still shows Saul mercy by letting David provide relief from the spirit's torments.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:14–23 David plays music to soothe Saul when an injurious ("evil") spirit brings Saul emotional and mental instability. When you are overwhelmed by temptation or depression, pray to God: "Take not Your Holy Spirit from me" (Ps 51:11). Jesus, your Good Shepherd, gave His life for you. No one can snatch you out of His hand (Jn 10:28). • "Almighty God, merciful Father, since You have wakened from death the Shepherd of Your sheep, grant us Your Holy Spirit that when we hear the voice of our Shepherd we may know Him who calls us each by name and follow where He leads." Amen. (LSB Altar Book, p 603)
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 17 Battlefield layout consisted of a line of shield-bearing spearmen with archers at the rear. Once battle began, the troops engaged in hand-to-hand combat. A trumpet gave the signal for attack and retreat. Before David's time, the Israelites had not had a leader since Joshua who understood strategy and tactics.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:1–3 Socoh. C 15 mi W of Bethlehem. Azekah. C 2 mi NW of Socoh in the region of Judah. Elah. Valley in Judah, protected by cities of Azekah and Libnah. For safety, opposing armies were lined up on both sides of a valley. See map, p 451.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:4 champion. Hbr word occurs only here in OT. Inference is that Goliath, over 9 ft tall, represents the best of the Philistine soldiers.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:5–7 Goliath's coat of armor weighed c 125 lb. His javelin could be used in defense or offense. His spearhead weighed 14½ lb. Comparing his spear to a weaver's beam probably describes its shape rather than its size. See p cx. Descriptions of his armor and arms are not in Semitic terms.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:8 Of considerable height himself, Saul, as king, should have been Israel's champion. Duels between representative strongmen were a common way to avoid more widespread bloodshed. Cf 2Sm 2:12–15.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:9 Cf 2Sm 21:15–22. Same principle of representation occurs when leaders act on our behalf, or when our Lord fights and defeats the forces of evil on our behalf.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:10 the Philistine. Term is used derisively throughout ch 17 for overly self-confident Goliath. defy. In defying Israel's army, Goliath defies God, the protector and defender of His people.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:11 Saul and his people were greatly afraid because the odds seemed overwhelmingly against them; they lost their faith in God's power. They felt too weak to attack. If they did not accept Goliath's offer, they could lose by default. the Philistine. See note, v 10.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:12 Bethlehem. Village within the larger Ephrathah clan. See map, p 451.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:13 As Jesse was too old for military service, his three oldest sons served instead. Cf Nu 1:3.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:15 Now that Saul had focused on military matters, David was not always needed at Saul's court. See notes, 16:18–23. Shepherds had little social rank in Israel. There were no professional shepherds. This lowliest of jobs went to the youngest capable family member.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:16 the Philistine. See note, v 10.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:17 Too young to fight, David provided food for his older brothers.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:18 Jesse gave special treatment to his sons' commander so the commander might care for Jesse's sons. cheeses. Lit, "slices of milk."
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:20 the sheep. Small flock of perhaps no more than 100 sheep (cf Mt 18:12; Lk 15:4) would need only one person to watch it. Cf v 28.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:22 David is eager to attend the battle. He takes the initiative to meet his brothers. keeper of the baggage. Supply keeper, who looked after the provisions that fathers provided for their sons.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:23 In contrast to Saul, when David hears Goliath's threats, David will respond in faith.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:24 Israelites fled because of their lack of faith in God's help.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:25 Lavish offer to entice bravery. Saul will later renege on his offer to David. free. Victor's family will be exempt from taxes or obligated labor.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:26 David's character is captured in the first words attributed to him. He sees the issues more clearly than Saul and his soldiers. He makes the first theological comment. David sees no military giant. uncircumcised. Term of contempt for a pagan.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:27 David's question in v 26 comes after the answer of v 25 and is directed to a different group of people (as v 27 makes clear). David asks his question to ensure he has heard correctly.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:28 Eliab's anger may arise from jealousy toward his brother and a sense of guilt for the defeatist attitude of his people. His language is similar to that used to describe Joseph's brothers' rage against him (Gn 37). presumption. Hbr means "arrogantly taking too much on oneself."
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:29 What have I done now? David protests his innocence. Eliab should be angry at Goliath rather than at David.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:31–32 David weighed the difficulties from a divine perspective. Here was an opportunity for God to display His power. Ambr: "David … was chosen from among all to rule the people. How gentle and kindly he was, humble in spirit too, how diligent and ready to show affection. Before he came to the throne he offered himself in the stead of all" (NPNF 2 10:48–49). this Philistine. See note, v 10.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:33 Saul continues to view the situation from a human point of view, failing to take into account what God can do. Hannah had already proclaimed how God can defeat the mighty and exalt the lowly (2:4–9). This will soon happen. youth. Hbr na'ar, "boy" or "young man." The same term described Jonathan's armor-bearer (14:1). Men were obligated for military service at age 20 (Nu 1:3). David is still younger than 20, but his age is not clear. Cf 20:35, where the noun is modified by "little," which could describe size or age. (A feminine form, Hbr na'arah, is used for girls; 2Ki 5:2.)
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:34 In response to Saul's practical observation, David delivers a testimony of faith in God's almighty help. He speaks in the past tense of being a shepherd, anticipating a new future provided by God. lion … bear. See note, v 37.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:35 struck. With either a sling or club. See note, Jgs 20:16. delivered. See p 842.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:36 David sees no greater difficulty in defeating Goliath than in defeating the wild animals that attacked his flock. Goliath can be compared to a bear or lion (Pr 28:15).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:37 delivered. See p 842. Deliverance from enemies depicted as predatory animals is a biblical motif (Ps 22:21). Remembrance of God's deliverance in the past fills David with confidence that God will not let him down. lion. Asian lion, which existed in Israel until the fourteenth century AD. bear. Syrian brown bear.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:38 Wearing someone else's armor imbued the wearer with the owner's essence. Also, Saul could claim credit for David's victory.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:39 David prefers to attack Goliath on his own terms.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:40 sling. See note, Jgs 20:16.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:41 the Philistine. See note, v 10.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:42 Goliath's pride was offended when he saw a youthful David come as his challenger. ruddy. See note, 16:12.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:43 Goliath's derision and curse are part of warfare at that time. See "curse," p 6. dog. Later became a slur word specifically for Gentiles. See note, 24:14. the Philistine. See note, v 10.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:44 Goliath does not suspect that this youth's impertinence is a carefully considered maneuver. Appearances can be deceptive (16:7).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:45 spear. For throwing and thrusting. javelin. Or a type of sword, based on the Qumran Order of War. name. David's secret weapon: he comes in the name of the living God. He is acting more for God than for Israel. See p 843. LORD of hosts. See p 1291.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:46 The theological significance of the event is that God is the true deliverer of His people. The victory David anticipates will demonstrate to all the world the existence and power of Israel's God.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:47 assembly may know. Event would be recounted and recalled in the liturgical assembly of God's people. Glory belongs to God; David takes no credit for the victory over Goliath. saves. Both Israelite and Philistine armies will be shown the error of placing trust in human devices for national security. Point of the OT is that salvation comes from God alone. See "salvation," p 843. the battle is the LORD's. Luth: "You see that [David] was righteous and acceptable to God, strong and constant in faith, before he did this work. Accordingly, David's 'doing' is neither a natural doing nor a moral doing; it is a doing in faith" (AE 26:263).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:48 the Philistine. See note, v 10. arose. Beginning of his attack, not that he had been seated. battle line. See note, ch 17.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:49 String of actions rapidly brings the story to its climax. Having testified to his faith in God, David makes short work of Goliath. forehead. Goliath's helmet (v 5) should have protected him. He may not have worn it or adjusted it properly. Later Gk artwork depicts soldiers with their helmets pushed toward the back of their heads when not in battle.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:50 the Philistine. See note, v 10.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:51 killed. Hbr verb has sense of finishing Goliath off. Ironically, David kills Goliath with the Philistine's own sword. David's victory affirms the superiority of faith in God over the supposed marvels of human technology and skill. Luth: "Sin is destroyed by its own fruit and is slain by the death to which it gave birth, as a viper is devoured by its own offspring. It is a glorious spectacle to see how sin is destroyed, not by the work of another, but by its own, and how it is stabbed with its own sword, as Goliath is beheaded by his own sword [1 Sam. 17:51]. Goliath also was a kind of sin, a giant terrifying to all except the young boy David, that is, to Christ, who singlehandedly laid him low, beheaded him with his own sword" (AE 42:151–52).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:52 Gath. On coastal plain of southern Philistia. Ekron. C 25 mi W of Jerusalem. See map, p 451. Shaaraim. On the line of the Philistine flight from Azekah, before the parting of ways to Gath and Ekron.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:54 Although Jerusalem was not yet a part of Israel, David displayed Goliath's head there as a warning to its inhabitants. He put Jerusalem on notice that it, too, would be defeated. These events happened after vv 55–58 (as v 57 makes clear). his tent. Unclear. Could simply mean "home" (cf 2Sm 20:1), or David may have planned to stay with his brothers at the battlefield.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:55 David was not permanently at Saul's court. Saul had taken little note of David's family. Saul's unstable mental condition may have affected his memory. As your soul lives. Oath formula meaning "by your life."
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:57 See note, v 54.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:58 Saul seeks more information than the name of David's father. He is likely considering the politics of the situation. Though David comes from a relatively unimportant clan, he was a member of the most powerful tribe, Judah, which could throw support behind him in a coup.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 17 This gripping story of the faith of young David provides a superb example of how God grants victory in the face of impossible odds. It anticipates Jesus' victory on the cross in the face of all the powers against Him. We are not to place our trust in human endeavors and devices. The message of the cross is that God chose what is weak to shame the strong, and the "weakness" of God is stronger than human strength (1Co 1:18–27; 1Jn 4:4). • Lord God, when I feel insecure, let me cast my cares on You, knowing that You care for me. Amen.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:1 knit. Same Hbr verb used in Gn 44:30 to express Jacob's love for his son Benjamin. Jonathan initiates a friendship with David that blesses and hallows life. loved. Used of a covenant relationship; possesses political overtones. Never used of homosexual desire or activity. (OT uses the verb "to know" for sexual activity; see note, Gn 19:5. Latter verb is never used of David's relationship with Jonathan.) The fact that Saul, too, loved David (16:21) prepares us for the later political use of the verb "love."
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:3 covenant. See p 127. Jonathan pledges allegiance to Israel's future king in a political arrangement that involves a commitment to care for each other and promote the other's interests. Loyalty is the essence of such a covenant.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:4 By giving David his robes, Jonathan renounces his right to the throne. David accepts the robes without further ado. He receives from Jonathan what he cannot receive from Saul (17:38–39).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:5 was successful. Hbr denotes skill as well as success. Because God's Spirit was with David, he was successful in battle without formal military training.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:1–5 Jonathan's unselfish affection for David is seen when Jonathan renounces his own right to the throne—something highly unusual. Mixed motives can easily mar friendships. In Christ, the friend of sinners, we have a faithful and forgiving friend who will never leave or forsake us. • "What a friend we have in Jesus, All our sins and griefs to bear! What a privilege to carry Ev'rything to God in prayer! Oh, what peace we often forfeit; Oh, what needless pain we bear—All because we do not carry Ev'rything to God in prayer!" Amen. (LSB 770:1)

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:6–8 After a military victory, it was common for women to celebrate their nation's triumph. Their song gives Saul pride of place by mentioning him first; they do not intend to offend the king. However, Saul took grave offense at their words and felt threatened by their suggestion of support for David. The song uses poetic exaggeration; David had not yet slain hundreds, let alone thousands, of people.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:6 dancing. See p 993. instruments. See note, 10:5. The Epic of Gilgamesh mentions women as musicians.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:9 In light of vv 12, 15, 29, this means "Saul kept a fearful eye on David." Perhaps he suspects David may succeed him.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:10–11 As Saul's military commander, David was at the king's beck and call. If the king wanted entertainment to soothe his mental torment, David was obliged to comply. A spear in Saul's hand and a lyre in David's—what a contrast between Saul's harmful intentions and David's helpful assistance.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:12 Saul feared David because Saul had alienated himself from God, while God was with David, protecting him from harm and destruction.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:13 Whatever Saul does to minimize David's influence has the reverse effect. He had hoped David would die in battle. Instead, support for David grows among the people.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:14 success. Because God was an intimate part of David's daily life. See note, v 5. with him. See "be with," p 5.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:16 David's God-given success binds the people all the more closely to him in a covenant relationship. loved.

People gave David allegiance and loyalty. See note, v 1. he went out. David's military activities elevated him to prominence before the people.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:6–16 Saul's jealousy does him no good; meanwhile, David is faithful to the Lord, who gives him success. Envy and jealousy diminish our enjoyment of life, stealing our contentment. God "has blessed us in Christ with every spiritual blessing in the heavenly places" (Eph 1:3). What more do we need? • Lord, help me to be content with all the blessings You give me. Enable me to use them to bring blessings into the lives of others. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:17 Saul does not yet give his daughter to David, who might soon die in battle. He only promises her to David. Royal marriages were highly political. See note, 1Ki 3:1–2. Luth: "King Saul did not like David and would have liked to kill him; but since he wanted to be holy, he decided not to kill him himself, but to send him among the Philistines to be killed there, so that his hand would remain innocent" (AE 21:74).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:18 David sees Saul's political agenda clearly and responds modestly.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:19 In order to humiliate David, Saul gives Merab to Adriel. Merab would bear Adriel five sons (2Sm 21:8).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:20 Michal's love for David parallels Jonathan's and may have the same covenant connotations. Both love David more than they love their father. they. Michal and David or others at court who observed them.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:21 Saul intends Michal to be a snare for David in keeping him off guard and by requiring a ridiculous dowry, or bride-price (v 25), which could prove fatal for David. See note, Gn 34:12.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:23 Unlike today's culture of self-promotion, the culture of David's time was one of self-deprecation. poor. He cannot afford to marry the king's daughter. man. Cf 21:14. David is no longer a youth. See note, 17:33. no reputation? David's family is not aristocratic. See note, 16:5, regarding Jesse.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:25 bride-price. Paid to the bride's father as compensation for her loss and as insurance for her support if she were widowed. In Gn 29:20, service to the bride's father also substitutes for a monetary dowry. See pp 54–55. foreskins. Would show that these men were Philistines. A thirteenth-century Egyptian relief shows scribes counting a pile of hands taken from Hittite soldiers and recording their number. Israelites, Ammonites, Moabites, and Edomites, as West Semitic people, practiced circumcision. Philistines, of Greek cultural origins, did not.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:27 See note, 2Sm 3:14. Although David killed more men, he brought only what Saul required. Ironically, Saul thought David would die pursuing the bride-price.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:28 Michal's love for David, now added to Jonathan's love (covenant loyalty) to him, shows God's blessing on David. the Lord was with David. See "be with," p 5.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:29 The more God blesses David, the more Saul fears him as his rival and potential heir to the throne, aided by his marriage into the king's family. Though Saul could clearly see that God was with David, it led to no change of heart on the king's part.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:30 Philistines are no match for David's superior skills. highly esteemed. David's name was "precious" (cf Ps 139:17; Is 43:4).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:17–30 At the beginning (v 5), middle (v 15), and end of this chapter (v 30), we are told that David is successful in all he does, because the Lord is with him. As with Joseph (Gn 50:20), what others intend for evil against David God turns into good. Fear of others (v 29) can be a sign of little faith. Our Lord says, "Fear not" (Lk 12:32). When afraid, we are urged to trust the Gospel promise of Rm 8:31, "If God is for us, who can be against us?" • Lord, give me faith to believe that "for those who love God all things work together for good" (Rm 8:28). Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:1 servants. Saul's attendants, not Jonathan's. Saul plots to kill David. delighted. Describes laughter, pleasure, and enjoyment.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:2–7 Here we see the strength of Jonathan's devotion to David, a friendship free of all selfish motives.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:4 True friends speak well of each other and put the best construction on the other's actions, as Jonathan does concerning David to his father.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:5 the Lord worked. Jonathan's faith in God shines forth in the words of this verse. He saw the blessings God brought to all Israel through David's victory over Goliath. salvation. See p

843. innocent blood. To kill an innocent person such as David is to be guilty of a terrible sin (Dt 21:8–9). See note, 1Ki 2:31.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:6 As the Lord lives. Saul makes another religious oath he has no intention of keeping (cf 14:24–44).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:8–10 Repeats events of 18:10–11.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:9 harmful spirit from the Lord. See note, 16:14.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:11 messengers. Sometimes assigned to do evil tasks, like assassinate a ruler's rival. morning. Ps 59 gives insight on how David felt at the time. Saul sought to kill David at dawn; God's love preserved David in the morning (Ps 59:16). Michal … told him. Her first allegiance is to her husband, David, not to her father.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:13 image. See note, Gn 31:19. In this case, the image appears life-sized.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:14 Michal engages in this deception so her husband cannot be caught by Saul's henchmen. Her deception is reported matter-of-factly, without praise or censure. It is part of the drama of the story and does not endorse lying.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:17 enemy. Saul has been employing an escalation of negative terms for David; first time he refers to him as his enemy.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:18 David goes to Samuel for sanctuary, strength, and courage to face threats to his life. Ramah. In Ephraim. Naioth. Near Ramah, short distance north of Jerusalem.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:20 company. Prophets often lodged together with fellow prophets. See p 555. The Spirit of God protects David by causing Saul's messengers to prophesy under a divinely induced trance. prophesied. See note, 10:6.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:22 Secu. C 3 mi N of Ramah.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:23–24 stripped off. In contrast to his messengers (vv 20–21), Saul behaves esp strangely. He takes off his royal robes as though casting aside his royal office. He has lost all control of himself. Is Saul also among the prophets? Demands a negative reply. To question Saul's behavior as a prophet is to question his legitimacy as king.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 19 Saul's hatred for David results in his attempts to murder him, but the Lord intervenes through Saul's own children. "Everyone who hates his brother is a murderer" (1Jn 3:15). Ask

God to remove hatred from your heart and cleanse it by His gift of forgiveness. "Blessed is the one whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered" (Ps 32:1). • Thank You, Lord, that You forgive my sins and remember them no more. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:1 Cf 19:18.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:2 Jonathan is not afraid of losing his crown to David because he believes it is God's will that David be the next king of Israel (cf vv 12–15).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:3 David is more sensitive than is Jonathan to the precarious nature of life. Our lives are in the hands of the living Lord.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:4 Jonathan promises David unconditional assistance. He becomes the means by which David's God-ordained destiny is achieved.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:5 new moon. See note, Am 8:5. Apparently, Jesse's family gathered for a special time of worship during the new-moon celebration. See calendar, p 262.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:6 Because of the covenant they made with each other, Jonathan feels responsible for David. yearly sacrifice. See notes, v 29; 16:2.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:8 deal kindly. Or, "show covenant loyalty." See p 127. covenant of the LORD. With vows in the Lord's name.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:10 David's question is answered in vv 18–23.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:11 into the field. The privacy assures David of Jonathan's loyalty and underscores their close relationship.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:12 Jonathan believes he can successfully mediate between David and his father. The LORD … be witness! Solemn affirmation of the truth.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:13 May the LORD be with you. Jonathan's promise of loyalty to David is set in the form of a prayer. See "be with," p 5.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:14 show me the steadfast love of the LORD. May be superlative for highest possible loyalty. See p 843.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:15 Jonathan senses David's coming greatness but feels no jealousy. His words anticipate David's future rule as king.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:16–17 Jonathan prays that the Lord will ensure that David upholds his obligations to the covenant they have made. Jonathan has David reaffirm his side of their covenant. Words like these make this chapter one of the most touching accounts of friendship in literature. house of David. His dynasty.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:19 stone heap. See ESV note. Likely a familiar landmark.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:21 as the LORD lives. Oath formula. Jonathan declares that the Lord would be witness to the covenant of protection agreed to in vv 14–16. See p 7.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:22 God's hand is at work in actions we have chosen to do when we respond to His will. If David's life is in danger, he must flee so that he can be an instrument of God's future plans. As the Lord sent Joseph away to save lives in Egypt (Gn 45:4–7), so the Lord sends David away in safety to prepare him for his future vocation as king.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:23 between you and me. Jonathan swears an oath of undying friendship, backed by his deep faith in the Lord. The Lord would seal the pact of friendship.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:24 field. An open field was a typical place for archers to engage in target practice.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:25 by the wall. To be safe from attack from behind, Saul sat with Abner, his army general, beside him for protection.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:26 not clean. Ritual uncleanness disqualified a person from participating in a religious celebration and from community involvement. Because uncleanness was temporary, Saul became suspicious when David was absent longer than necessary.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:29 sacrifice. Lit, "kinship sacrifice." my brother has commanded me. Additional detail to what David said in v 6. His brother was probably in charge of family celebrations.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:30 perverse, rebellious woman. Jonathan's mother was Ahinoam (14:50). That Saul says this of his own wife shows how much he has lost perspective because of his loathing of David (though the curses may also illustrate strife in Saul's household). Saul intends to curse Jonathan rather than his mother, as the rest of the verse makes clear. shame … nakedness? Saul suggests that Jonathan is so disloyal to his father that his mother is reduced in status from the bond of wedlock to that of a prostitute.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:31 Saul fears conspiracy, realizing he is no match for David and the protection Jonathan provides him. He virtually concedes David's invincibility. See note, 17:58.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:33 Due to Saul's unstable mental state, the spear he throws at his son misses him, as it had missed David (19:10). God was at work protecting the two friends.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:34 fierce anger. At the public humiliation he endured before Abner and the others. ate no food. See p 189. grieved for David. By impugning Jonathan, Saul had slandered David also.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:35 little boy. See note, 17:33.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:36 arrow. The Hbr is rare, found elsewhere only in 2Ki 9:24. With accurate aim, Jonathan shoots only one arrow.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:39 Jonathan's directions to the boy (v 38) were intended for David. The boy, of course, knew nothing of the reason behind the shooting of the arrows.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:40 city. Gibeah, where Jonathan was currently living (cf 15:34), c 3 mi N of Jerusalem. See map, p 468.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:41 bowed. Common gesture (Gn 33:3). See p 1276. David gives Jonathan the triple homage befitting a royal person. Mutual weeping and kissing is in expectation of their imminent farewell (cf Gn 45:14–15). kissed. Likely on the neck (Gn 33:4) rather than on the lips (Sg 1:2). See note, 18:1.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:42 sworn … in the name of the LORD. Swearing an oath in the Lord's name was a solemn act, as the Second Commandment reminds us. See SC, p xxxv. forever. Covenant David and Jonathan make with each other now involves their future descendants. Apart from a brief encounter in 23:16–18, this is the last time David and Jonathan would see each other. departed. See note, v 22.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 20 David and Jonathan's friendship displays lasting loyalty and personal self-sacrifice (cf Pr 17:17). Give thanks to the Lord for the friends He has blessed you with and the wonderful way He has protected you. Pray to grow in the grace of giving thanks. By grace, God treats all of us infinitely better than we deserve. •

“By grace I’m saved, grace free and boundless; My soul, believe and doubt it not.” Amen. (LSB 566:1)

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:1 Nob. City with priestly associations in territory of Benjamin, just north of Jerusalem. David has traveled just a few miles from Ramah. See map, p 468. Ahimelech. High priest, displaced by destruction of Shiloh. He is trembling, sensing something is amiss because the king's son-in-law is traveling alone.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:2 charged me. Would explain David's unannounced visit and provide a compelling case for secrecy.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:3 five loaves of bread. Modest request.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:4 holy bread. To be eaten only by Aaron and his sons. See note, Ex 25:30. Presumably the bread offered to David had been replaced by the bread of the next Sabbath. kept themselves from women. Dt 23 describes how the battle camp must be holy, involving ritual cleanness. Throughout Scripture, there is peril when the unclean and the holy come into contact, apparent also in St Paul's warning about unworthy participation in the Lord's Supper (1Co 11:29).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:5 as always. In view of the directions of Dt 23, abstinence was probably practiced whenever soldiers were deployed. vessels. Sexual organs.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:6 replaced by hot bread. Occurred each Sabbath, when the priests consumed the previous week's portion. Jesus cited the event as a precedent for ceremonial law giving way to human necessity (Mt 12:3–4).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:7 detained before the LORD. Perhaps excluded from the holy temple because he was an Edomite or was unclean, or perhaps detained by a vow or penitential duty. Edomite. Cf Gn 25:30; Nu 20:14–21.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:8 the king's business required haste. Elaborates story introduced in v 2.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:9 Goliath's sword was kept in this sacred place as a relic of God's victory at David's hand. David had placed Goliath's armor in his tent (17:54). the ephod. Priestly garment, made of the same material as the curtain of the temple. Israel's intermediary was clothed with the materials of God's presence. See notes, 14:3; Jgs 8:27.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:1–9 David receives the holy bread of the Presence to sustain him during his flight from Saul. Despite David's weakness before men and his sin before God, he is sustained with this unusual blessing. When troubles and sins surround you, turn to the Lord and

His servants for aid. Confess your sins and weaknesses honestly, and receive the care He administers through His servants. In mercy, the Lord will nourish, sustain, and forgive you. • Continue to nourish Your people and arm them against evil, dear Lord. Grant them wisdom with honesty. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:10 Gath. One of five major cities of the Philistines; place from which Gittite giants, including Goliath, came (17:4). See map, p 468.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:11 the king. Although anointed by God's prophet to this office, David is not yet king. Paradoxically, David was seen as the real power in the land as he sought protection from Saul.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:12 much afraid. Because he was recognized. David's military victories were at the expense of the Philistines; he could hardly expect to be welcomed.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:13 he changed his behavior. Represents a change of plans. David may have thought of defecting to the Philistines in an alliance against Saul, but fear may have brought him to abandon the idea. made marks on the doors of the gate. David may have been feigning some compulsive behavior by spitting or by beating on the doors.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:14 brought him. Presumably under restraint by guards.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:15 David's strategy worked. Achish felt repulsed rather than threatened. David achieved escape by deception, but God achieved the deliverance of His servant through this, or even despite it.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:10–15 David pretends to be insane and so escapes the predicament at Gath. What clever, desperate measures! The author records these devices but does not commend their use in God's name. While God would have us use our minds to accomplish worthy goals, He would also call us to trust Him and confess Him in the face of difficulty. Our trustworthy Father can deliver us, as He demonstrated through the suffering of His beloved Son. • As You have promised, gracious Lord, deliver those who call upon You in the day of trouble. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:1 cave. Used in this area for shelter. David fled to a cave again in 2Sm 23:13. Adullam. Old Canaanite city c 12 mi E of Gath, out of Philistine territory. his brothers and all his father's house. Although we have heard little about them—beyond an episode of resentment (17:28–30)—David's family rallied to his support.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:2 bitter in soul. Drawn from the disadvantaged of society, including those who had suffered personal loss. captain. May not be a formal military title; implies command of the company.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:3 Mizpeh. Moabite town east of the Salt Sea; may be identified with Kir-hareseth, the Moabite capital. To reach Mizpeh, David probably traveled south around the sea. what God will do. David witnesses to his confidence that God will act for him.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:4 David's ancestry is linked to Moab (see pp 422–23); this, together with possibility of an alliance against Saul, would secure him a welcome. stronghold. Perhaps a cave.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:5 Gad. Prophet who attained status in David's kingly court. Saul had not carefully developed such a counsel relationship with Samuel, though he sought Samuel's blessings for political purposes (see note, 15:25). Examples from Mari and Hamath describe prophetic figures acting as king's counselors in other nations. go into … Judah. A risky move, as it takes him into the area Saul controlled. forest of Hereth. Located in Judah, on the other side of the Salt Sea, a considerable return journey.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:1–5 During David's continued flight, his followers support him and God protects him, directing David through a prophet. David had panicked due to fear (ch 21), but the Lord calmed and directed him. When troubled, treasure God's Word as your stronghold. Through the Word, the Lord will bless, comfort, and strengthen you. • Give us a trusting heart to obey You, heavenly Father, and to live in the confidence of Your Word, our stronghold. Amen.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:6–23 Jonathan is not mentioned in this account, except as the focus of Saul's anger (v 8) because of his alliance with David.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:6 Gibeah. Saul's birthplace and capital. See note, 20:40.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:7 Saul suspects David of bribery. son of Jesse. Pejorative description of his former favorite. See note, 16:5.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:8 conspired … covenant. We do not know how Saul came to learn of the covenant between Jonathan and David.

It may be a paranoid assumption, though true. my son. Failure to use his name implies anger with Jonathan.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:9 Nob. See notes, 21:1; Ps 52 intro.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:10 he inquired. Not mentioned in ch 21, but Ahimelech admits to it implicitly (v 15). See "seek," p 843. Saul compared seeking the oracle of God with material support of treachery.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:11 Tabernacle was located at Nob after the destruction of Shiloh. The Philistines had captured the ark before attacking Shiloh (4:3). See p 495. all. Ahimelech and his whole priestly family.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:12 Saul's address to the priest is curt.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:13 to lie in wait. Saul is wrong, as David later shows his unwillingness to attack his king. David's strategy is entirely defensive.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:14–15 Ahimelech's response is both honest and brave. He commends David's loyalty while expressing his own innocence. Rather than denying the charge that the king brings against him, he justifies the actions of which he is accused.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:16 all your father's house. Death sentence is pronounced on the entire family, as though the priesthood itself were condemned.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:17 kill the priests of the LORD. Wipe them all out. would not … strike. Refusal to comply suggests loyalty to David or reverence for the priesthood.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:19 man and woman, child and infant, ox, donkey and sheep. Procedure of total annihilation in "devoting" something to destruction (see p 6) that Saul should have followed in ch 15.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:20 The priesthood survived through Abiathar, who surfaces in 2Sm together with the priest Zadok, son of Ahitub (Abiathar's grandfather), so there was at least one other continuing line of priesthood.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:21 Saul had killed the priests of the LORD. Report avoids sensationalism and focuses on the event's most serious aspect.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:22 David failed to warn the priests, which now makes him feel guilty. Clearly, his confession does not exonerate Saul or his servant Doeg. In the NT also, loyalty to God's anointed brings with it the promise of suffering and possible martyrdom (cf Mt 16:25).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:23 he who seeks my life seeks your life. Jesus assures us: "If the world hates you, know that it has hated Me before it hated you" (Jn 15:18).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:6–23 The story temporarily leaves David. We see the priesthood nobly suffering at the hands of the godless. Be prepared to suffer as God's royal priesthood, remembering that God's purpose will not be thwarted, as shown in Jesus' death and resurrection for you. • Jesus, our great High Priest, since You freely gave Your life for me, take my life into Your service. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:1 they. No specific persons; likely Judeans. Keilah. Judean town close to the Philistine border; a vulnerable target for raids.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:2 David inquired. We are not told whether the inquiry was made through Abiathar the priest. In v 10, David inquires directly in prayer, as Hannah prayed without mediation (ch 1). save Keilah. Echoes the role of Israel's judges, who saved Israel from their attackers (e.g., Jgs 2:16).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:3 David's men feared that involvement against the Philistines would set them against a yet more fearsome adversary than Saul.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:4 See "seek" and "hand," p 843, 842. Military inferiority was irrelevant.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:5 brought away their livestock. Perhaps already plundered from the people of Keilah, or beasts brought along to carry back the spoil.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:6 ephod. See note, 21:9.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:7 God. Unlike David, Saul does not use the distinctive name "the LORD," by which the Almighty revealed Himself (Ex 3:14–15). Saul attributes his fortune to divine intervention, but he makes the same mistake as David's comrades in v 3, merely looking at the outward circumstances and ignoring God's will.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:8 Still following faulty reasoning (v 7), Saul musters all his troops to exploit his advantage. besiege. Labor-intensive tactic.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:9 ephod. See note, 21:9.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:10–13 Inquiry is made by way of yes-or-no questions, as with the other priestly device, the sacred Urim and Thummim. See note, 14:39–42; see also "seek," p 843.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:11 Will Saul come down. David's first question is to confirm the report he has heard. the LORD said. Mediated by Abiathar.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:12 Will the men of Keilah surrender me. Urgent question, in light of the Lord's confirmation of Saul's attack. The Lord affirms their betrayal, even though David has saved them, and Saul seeks to destroy the city on account of David.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:13 six hundred. In 22:2, his company amounted to 400 men. This has been supplemented, perhaps by a loyal element in Keilah. wherever they could go. Dispersed, making pursuit impossible, and canceling strategic disadvantage of confinement in the city.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:14 wilderness of Ziph. Barren desert area close to Hebron. God. The real director of these events. hand. See "hand," p 842.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:1–14 The Lord protects His servant and frustrates the plans of the wicked, revealing His will not only in the word of the prophet but also by hindsight in the unfolding of events. Trust the Lord to answer your prayers and to protect you against those who make themselves God's enemies. He is watching over you, though His presence may often be hidden by adverse circumstances. • Reveal to us Your will, dear Lord, and give us grace to follow it. Amen.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:15 Horesh. C 5 mi S of Hebron.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:16 The Holy Spirit offers encouragement through Jonathan, who strengthened David's morale. strengthened his hand in God. OT expression describes heartening esp of those who feel dispirited (cf Is 35:3).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:17 In favor of God's anointed, Jonathan abdicates any claim to kingship. In 15:26, Samuel announces God's rejection of Saul's kingship and, therefore, of his son's succession. Saul my father also knows this. Saul heard the prophet's word on this matter and surely realized his struggle to retain rule was hollow.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:18 a covenant. Renewal of oath of loyalty sworn in ch 20. It was sincerely undertaken, though Jonathan did not eventually have the opportunity of being next to King David. before the LORD. Agreement is made with God present as a witness.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:19 Fairly precise directions are offered to Saul. Gibeah. See note, 22:6. Horesh. Cf v 15. Hachilah. In Judean hills southeast of Hebron. See map, p 468.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:20 our part. Might imply their duty, which falls short of actually delivering David themselves.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:21 blessed by the LORD. Saul's blessing sounds worthless from the lips of one who had ordered the slaughter of priests (cf Jas 3:10).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:22 make yet more sure. Saul demands that they give the precise location to the very footprint. cunning. Reports about David's skills continue to reach Saul.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:23 See … and take note. Repetition betrays Saul's anxiety and insecurity.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:24 Maon. Desert area south of Hebron. Arabah. The Rift Valley through which the Jordan River runs.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:25 was told. Passive voice sometimes alludes to God's actions. One of the Ziphites likely supplied the warning.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:26 the mountain. "The rock" in v 25. closing in. Implies a pincer movement, from which there is no realistic hope of escape.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:27–28 Saul's hopes, so close to fruition, are suddenly dashed. God's intervention is implied.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:29 Engedi. Oasis by the cliffs of the western shore of the Salt Sea.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:15–29 Against the overwhelming opposition of Saul and his Ziphite informers, God spares David as Jonathan said He would. Remember that a word of encouragement from Scripture can be invaluable to someone in distress. The Lord is mighty to deliver His people. • We praise You, O God, for those You send to comfort us in our lowest times. Hear us for Jesus' sake. Amen.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:1 was told. See note, 23:25.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:2 three thousand chosen men. Select troops outnumber David's troops five to one. Wildgoats' Rocks. Ibex live on these cliffs, illustrating their ruggedness.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:3 relieve himself. Need for privacy brought Saul into the cave, where he would be alone and unguarded. his men. All 600 men required a large cave or complex of caves, though most of them may have been sheltering elsewhere.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:4 the Lord said to you. This promise is not recorded earlier in the Bible. as it shall seem good to you. In the minds of the men, this meant killing Saul, but David showed godly restraint.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:5 David's heart struck him. Though he had acted with moderation, David still had a sense of having violated God's anointed.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:6 Lord 's anointed. See notes, 10:1; 16:3. Although God subsequently revoked His choice (13:13–14), and David himself had already been anointed (16:13), it was not for him to force the succession or to disrespect the anointed.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:7 with these words. David used words of persuasion to convince his men, while Saul ensured compliance through fear.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:8 David's homage exposes him to vulnerability. Nevertheless, his reverence for the Lord and His anointed outweighs the danger.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:9 Rhetorical question conveys deferential rebuke. Saul should not listen to his men, because their words are untrue. Unfortunately, the cowardly reinforcement of a despot's paranoia is a common response.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:10 my hand. Wordplay begins in this verse. The Lord left Saul at David's mercy ("in his hand"), but David would not extend that hand against Saul. David repeats the reasons he gave at the time (v 6). Ambr: "All learned to observe faith to their king and not to seize the kingdom, but to fear and reverence him. Thus what is virtuous was preferred to what was useful, and then usefulness followed on what was virtuous" (NPNF 2 10:77).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:11 in my hands. Saul had expected to find treason in David's hands, which held only a piece of cloth testifying to the very opposite.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:12 may the Lord avenge me. Does not necessarily mean that David wished Saul ill. David leaves vengeance to God rather than seeking to manipulate it. Cf Rm 12:19.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:13 proverb of the ancients. Anticipates Jesus' teaching (Mt 15:18–20). my hand. See note, v 10.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:14 dead dog! … flea! With modest and self-effacing words, David indicates he is not worth pursuit by the king of Israel. As scavengers, dogs were despised. Nothing was more useless or unclean than a dead dog. See p 300.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:15 The Lord is called on as a perfectly qualified judge and as David's advocate; see similar roles of Christ (1Jn 2:1) and the Spirit (Jn 14:16, 26; 15:26; 16:7).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:16 my son. Saul returns the affection of David (v 11). wept. His tears are those of regret, though these feelings quickly give way to baser ones. Luth: "This is the way hypocrites act. They feign friendship until an opportunity to inflict harm presents itself" (AE 1:271). Chem: "The repentance … does not consist only in recognizing or confessing their sins and certainly not in persevering or continuing in them. … Saul returned to his vomit and again persecuted David. … Scripture says, we must certainly cease from evil and desist from sinning. For what kind of nonsense is it to devise for ourselves a license to sin?" (LTh 2:681).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:17 righteous. See p 843. repaid. God repays evil (Rm 12:19); we should not pursue personal revenge (Rm 12:17). David went further, doing good to those who hated him (cf Lk 6:27–35).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:18–19 Saul acknowledges the extraordinary and unnatural character of David's mercy and asks for the Lord to repay him for the good he has done, which agrees with David's request.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:20 in your hand. Final play on the word "hand" (see note, v 10) finds Saul prophesying that his kingdom shall, in fact, be the thing established in David's hand. This confirms what Jonathan has already declared his father knew (23:17).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:21 cut off my offspring. Final loss, not only to himself, but to his family, whose name would thereby die out.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:22 swore. David kept his promise by offering protection to Jonathan's son Mephibosheth (2Sm 9). stronghold. Perhaps Engedi, or a return to the cave of Adullam (22:1).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 24 David's compassion for vulnerable Saul is motivated by respect for God and His anointed. It is met warmly by Saul, resulting in a temporary truce. Today, be ready to show compassion even to your enemies, as God in Christ has demonstrated His undeserved love to you. • Gracious Lord, thank You for sending Your true Anointed One to bring mercy to me while I was Your enemy. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:1 Samuel died. Earlier, perhaps 1031 BC. With Samuel's death is lost this trusted mouthpiece of the Lord and the last living link with the age of the judges. Israel … mourned. The universal mourning shows their great respect for Samuel. Ramah. Just north of Nob, it was the base for Samuel's whole ministry. Paran. Desert area extending far south into the Sinai Peninsula, where Israel had encamped after leaving Mount Sinai. See map, p 468.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:2 Maon … Carmel. Neighboring towns c 7 or 8 mi S of Hebron and Ziph. very rich. The man's wealth is introduced before his name.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:3 Nabal. Lit, "fool." His name and behavior suggest that our Lord may have alluded to him in the parable of the rich fool (Lk 12:16–21). See p 1016. badly behaved. Coarse and boorish; introduction explains that such conduct is in character. Mel: "Hypocrites … profess the truth and are not polluted by worship of idols, yet in their heart are without fear of God, without faith, and they love their pleasures or their treasures more than they love God" (Chem, LTh 2:367). Calebite. Descendant of Caleb, who was promised territory in this region because of his faithful services in espionage (Nu 14:24).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:4 Nabal was shearing his sheep. David's men had kept company with the shepherds (cf v 7), who now return with the sheep to their master, Nabal. See calendar, p 262.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:5 in my name. With David's authority, as emissaries.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:6–8 Men are told to show meticulous etiquette in their greeting.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:7 Both the person and property of the shepherds had been unmolested while they had been at the mercy of David's militia. This was a testimony to David's goodwill toward them and so, by extension, toward Nabal.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:8 favor. See p 6. Warranted, but David does not take it for granted. a feast day. Sheepshearing was an occasion for feasting, but this may refer to a different celebration. See calendar, p 262.

son. Marks David's deference to Nabal. Saul used the same term with respect to David in 24:16.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:9 they waited. Implies that Nabal's response is a considered one.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:10 the son of Jesse? Saul also dismissively referred to David this way in his most aggressive mood (22:13). Nabal is again identified with the foolish king. He may deny David's request out of fear of Saul. After all, one of the accusations leveled at Ahimelech was that he had given David bread (22:13)
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:11 I do not know where? Perhaps refers to dubious background of David's companions.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:12 As emissaries, they did not respond to Nabal but reported back to David.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:13 Size of David's company has not changed since ch 23, and two-thirds of them are now mobilized against Nabal. Action appears to be impulsive, and it serves no obvious purpose to fight against a fool.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:14 young men. One of Nabal's own men made a principled act of rebellion in going to Abigail. Perhaps he had experienced David's kindness (v 15) or feared David's angry response.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:15–16 Shepherds worked under protection of David's band.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:16 They were a wall. Metaphor drawn from the importance of the fortifying wall in protecting a city or an enclosure for the flock.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:17 a worthless man. Harsh words for a servant to say to his master's wife. worthless. Implies godlessness (cf 2:12, the sons of Eli, and 10:26–27, those whose hearts were not touched by God). See p 1016.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:18 See p 236. made haste. Abigail appreciated the urgency of the situation, mirroring David's hasty action in v 13.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:19 did not tell. Obviously, Nabal would have foolishly prevented the intervention that was his best hope of survival.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:20 met them. Apparently just in time, for David's men were mobilized.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:21 in vain. In a more reflective mood, David might have recognized the value of the kindly action for its own sake. Here he is frustrated and angry.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:22 David's curse is immoderate. If the LXX preserves the original wording (see ESV note), he is calling a curse on himself if he fails to avenge Nabal's folly. Later (v 38), God's vengeance is seen, but only against David's enemy. male. See note, 1Ki 14:10.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:23 Indicates either recognition of David's kingly status or, more likely, a penitential demeanor as she accepts the blame for Nabal's folly. See p 1276.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:24 On me alone. Abigail confesses the guilt as her own, as the only basis on which she can plead for restraint. your servant. Expresses loyalty to David, not to Nabal.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:25 worthless fellow, Nabal. See note, v 3. Abigail repeats the servant's assessment of him in v 17. I … did not see. Abigail accepts the guilt, though the fault is not hers.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:26 the LORD has restrained you. Abigail is God's instrument in bringing it about. bloodguilt. From taking matters into one's own hands and spilling blood without justification. See note, 1Ki 2:31. David had restrained himself from such action against Saul (24:4). Abigail boldly anticipates David's response (v 33).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:27 my lord. Abigail anticipates David's position as her husband and king.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:28 forgive the trespass. Having accepted Nabal's guilt (v 24), Abigail pleads for forgiveness. The Christian might think of Christ's willingness to do this for the world (2Co 5:21; Heb 7:25).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:29 bound in the bundle. Lit, "pouch" or "bag." As a person puts a coin or gem into a purse for safekeeping, so the Lord is careful to keep His own among "the living." sling out. He summarily dismisses them. See note, Jgs 20:16.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:30 As Samuel, Jonathan, and Saul have done, Abigail acknowledges David's future rule.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:31 Abigail seeks to spare David's conscience, and for this she hopes to be remembered in the future, as David had expected Nabal to remember his kindness.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:32 Blessed. See p 842. sent. Abigail was the tool of the God of Israel.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:33 David accepts Abigail's case entirely. Blessed. See p 842. bloodguilt. See note, 1Ki 2:31.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:34 unless you had hurried. Abigail had been right to act and to act quickly. male. See note, 1Ki 14:10.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:35 received. He accepted the gift as the gesture of peace it was intended to convey. obeyed. Remarkable, until we remember that he heard God's message in Abigail's voice (v 32).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:36 a feast. See note, v 8. drunk. Perhaps the cause of his foolishness. See note, Pr 23:29–35.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:37 died … he became as a stone. He died of pure shock. Cf Ezk 36:26, which suggests that this speaks also of Nabal's spiritual death. Greg: "To a mind that is drunk with fury every right thing that is said appears wrong. Whence to Nabal when he was drunk Abigail laudably kept silence about his fault, but, when he had digested his wine, [she] as laudably told him of [his fault]. … He could for this reason perceive the evil he had done, that he did not hear of it when drunk" (NPNF 2 12:40).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:38 the LORD struck. Abigail was not the real cause of Nabal's judgment. She only delivered the message.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:39 No period of mourning is mentioned. As a worthless man, perhaps Nabal's death did not warrant it. take her as his wife. David was already married to Michal, and there would be further wives (1Ch 3:1–9). These are later described as gifts of God (2Sm 12:8). Monogamy had not yet become the norm, at least not for royalty. See pp 54–55.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:40 Carmel. See note, v 2. David has sent. He did not go in person as he had not personally made overtures to her late husband.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:41 wash the feet. Showing great humility (cf Jn 13:5–16); gesture of hospitality and welcome.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:42 five young women attended her. Ladies in waiting, personally serving this wealthy woman.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:43 Jezreel. Hill town in northern Israel. See color map 1.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:44 Saul's action amounted to a divorce. Palti. Mentioned as Paltiel in 2Sm 3:15. Gallim. Town just north of Jerusalem.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 25 Abigail intervenes between David and Nabal, rescuing both from their anger. Angry decisions lead to self-destruction. God calls us to listen to the voice of reason and peace. His wisdom and peace, expressed in the godly counsel of His servants, will guide your heart in the way of life. • Father, give us grace to be like a prudent one who acts with knowledge, and not like a fool who flaunts his folly (Pr 13:16). Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:1 Gibeah. See note, 22:6. hill of Hachilah … Jeshimon? See note, 23:19; see also map, p 468.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:2 Saul's reconciliation with David in ch 24 was temporary. The true (evil) spirit (16:14) now asserts itself. three thousand chosen men. Same size as force in 24:2, five times that of David. Ziph. See note, 23:14.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:3 saw. Possibly figure of speech, based on news of Saul's advance. Cf v 4.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:4 sent out spies. Unlike the previous encounter, David proactively seeks his persecutor.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:5 Abner. Saul's cousin; see note, 10:14. Presence of Saul's army commander shows the seriousness of his intent.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:6 Ahimelech. Not to be confused with the priest of the same name in ch 22.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:7 David's 600 men got past 3,000 men by stealth, while the camp was asleep (v 12).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:8 Abishai. Impulsive warrior (cf 2Sm 16:9). God has given your enemy into your hand. Exactly what David's companions suggested in the cave (24:4).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:9 David's response echoes what he said in the cave (24:6). To strike the Lord's anointed is to sin against the Lord. anointed. See note, 10:1.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:10 the LORD will strike him. As in previous encounter (25:36–39), vengeance is reserved for God. This does not necessarily mean that David hopes for it.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:11 Take now the spear … and the jar. As in ch 24, evidence is secured to prove David's opportunity to kill Saul or, indeed, to show mercy. This spear is the very thing with which Saul had attempted to kill David (18:11). Ephr: "Let a man show mercy to his persecutors, as did Jesse's son to Saul" (NPNF 2 13:226). water. Had to be carried; much needed in this arid region.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:12 deep sleep from the LORD. Same expression describes the stupor induced in Adam, sufficient anesthesia for God to remove Adam's rib. Sleep, however, is also a biblical metaphor for lack of spiritual alertness (cf Is 29:10).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:13 other side. A facing hill, separated by a safe distance. Deep crags are found throughout the region.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:14 to the army. David's accusation is leveled against the whole army, which had failed to guard its king.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:15 Are you not a man? Charge against Abner allows only two options: to admit incompetence or to admit indifference or worse.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:16 you deserve to die. Common punishment for dereliction of duty. God disabled Abner and his army (v 12). David demonstrates loyalty to the king by favorable comparison to Abner.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:17 my son. See note, 24:16. my lord, O king. David replies in kind.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:18 David's protest is more insistent than in previous encounter. He demands to know precisely what Saul might hold against him.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:19 if it is men. Cf 24:9, where David had no doubt that Saul was listening to malicious or misguided men.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:20 a single flea. Cf 24:14. one who hunts a partridge. Exhausting chase for hunter and quarry. Birds were typically snared, not chased (see note, Ps 91:3).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:21 David has professed his innocence, but Saul must confess his guilt. His mistake is rooted in foolishness, like Nabal's (ch 25).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:22 As a token of trust, David returns the spear that Saul had once hurled at him in anger.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:23 righteousness … faithfulness. See pp 842–43. the LORD gave you into my hand. David may view the experience as a test. Although God provided the opportunity, David did not take vengeance. God, who always rewards righteousness, will reward David for this. anointed. See note, 10:1.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:24 David draws an analogy between the esteem he showed for the life of the undeserving Saul and that which he hopes God will show for his life in the challenging times ahead. How David's wish became reality is abundantly illustrated in 2Sm.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:25 Saul's prediction of David's future success is the final parallel with ch 24 (v 20). David left the matter there, but surely he had learned from the earlier experience that Saul's repentance might be short-lived.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 26 Saul again pursues David, who demonstrates that he is a faithful, forgiving servant. Jesus, the Son of David, directs us to forgive "seventy times seven" (Mt 18:22; without limit). He teaches this also by example, demonstrating His limitless forgiveness toward us. • Dearest Jesus, forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us. Grant us due patience with erring brothers and sisters. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:1 Although David knew he had been anointed king, he could not bear the constant hide-and-seek existence in the wilderness for his family and small army. perish. Lit, "be swept away." escape to the land of the Philistines. Given his earlier experience with the Philistines (21:10–15), he was courageous to return there. But this time, he arrived with a small army. Unlike earlier, the Philistines would now be aware of Saul's hostility toward David, which may have contributed to the welcome David received. David's move again demonstrates the awkward and enigmatic relationship between the Israelites and Philistines. See note, 13:20; see also p 345.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:2 Achish the son of Maoch, king of Gath. Whether this is the Achish of ch 21 is uncertain; he may be a son. The amount of time between chs 21 and 27 is unclear.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:3 every man with his household. Remarkable hospitality, demonstrating God's favor toward David. It must also have caused severe housing problems and other social issues.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:4 David's plan succeeded. Saul gave up the pursuit, not willing to provoke a war by entering Philistine territory.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:5 David's suggestion would help to solve probable housing and social issues (see note, v 3) and allow the Israelites to live together as a community and maintain their own worship life. royal city with you? David knew how to negotiate, enhancing his request with words the king would like to hear.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:6 Ziklag. Border town between Philistine and Israelite territory, originally allocated to Simeon (Jsh 19:5; 1Ch 4:30), but likely at this time in the hands of the Philistines. Achish may have given the town to David to establish an outpost of power and order in an unruly region (cf 30:1). According to custom, all such grants were permanent. See map, p 468. belonged to the kings. Ziklag became crown property, thereafter belonging specifically to the kings of Judah as a result of this gift.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:7 David's stay in Gath and Ziklag, though little more than a year, provided further opportunity to gain the trust of the Philistines and to grow relationships with Israelites living in the area (30:26–31).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:8 Geshurites … Girzites … Amalekites. Nomadic peoples living along the border between Canaan and Egypt, often plunderers of Judean and Philistine towns. David would pursue these marauders in defense of the Israelite towns, exterminate them, and take their livestock as spoils of war. Shur. Expansive wilderness area between Sinai and Egypt next to the Great Sea.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:9 David pretended to be making raids on Judah, instead attacking the invaders and thereby actively helping his fellow Judeans. To maintain his deception, he had to make certain that none of the enemy survived. strike. Raid. garments. Demonstrates similarity of Israelite culture with its Semitic neighbors; their clothing must have looked much the same. come back to Achish. David would return after the raids, to report and perhaps also to share some of the spoils.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:10 David's responses to Achish's questions were deliberately misleading, indicating only the direction he had gone, allowing Achish to assume that the raids were against Israelites. Negeb. Lit, "Southland," regularly used for the southern part of Judah, divided into districts according to population. The center of the Negeb of Judah was Beersheba. A relief at Karnak, describing the victories of Pharaoh Shishak over Rehoboam and Jeroboam (c 926 BC), includes a list of Judean place-names. The "hights of Dwt," which likely transliterates David's Hbr name Dawid, appears in the list associated with the Negeb. Jerahmeelites. Occupied land south of Beersheba. Kenites. Near Hebron; understood to be Israelite territory. David was listing people who would potentially rival his later rule.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:11 lived in the country of the Philistines. David and his army were "in" but not "of" the country.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:12 Achish trusted David … an utter stench. David convinced Achish that he was further alienating himself from Saul and his own people, when, in fact, he was preparing for rule in Judah. shall always be my servant. Lit, "a slave of eternity," a category of bondsman that included acceptance of this status by the servant, who thereby surrendered an opportunity for freedom forever (cf Ex 21:5). Achish was somehow convinced that David would never be going back.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 27 Tired of the constant danger and hardship of evading Saul, David shrewdly finds refuge among the Philistines. As with David's previous clever action among the Philistines, the writer makes no indication that the Lord encouraged or approved of David's behavior. Rather than living ambiguously, live boldly and clearly for your Lord, entrusting your future to His care rather than to your cleverness or the world's favor. The Lord's favor is far more precious, redeeming your life now and for eternity. • Lord, bless and guide our earthly decisions, that they may provide opportunity for growth in faith and service before You. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:1 Achish, certain he could trust David, incorporated David's small force into his own army as he prepared a major assault on Israel.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:2 you shall know. David's words are deliberately ambiguous. Achish was willing to take the words as a promise of accomplishments on behalf of the Philistines, but the statement could just as well have predicted defection and turning against them. your servant. Indication of respect for a superior, though Achish put much more significance into these words (27:12). my bodyguard for life. Lit, "the keeper of my head." Achish entrusts his personal safety to David.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:3 Samuel had died. Loss of Samuel's leadership may have emboldened the Philistines for an all-out attack on Israel. put the mediums and the necromancers out of the land. Action against religious malpractice recalls the time of Saul's faithful adherence to Yahweh (11:13). Now the king was desperate for any kind of guidance. Mediums consulted the spirits of the dead, and necromancers spoke with the deceased familiar to them, thereby supposedly discovering the secrets of the future. See note, Dt 18:10–11.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:4 Shunem. Northern city near Megiddo, indicating definite incursion of the Philistines onto Israelite land, thereby forcing Saul to meet their challenge away from the concentration of his power and more favorable conditions in Judah. Gilboa. String of hills provided a vantage point from which to observe the enemy's advance. Between Shunem and Gilboa was the Jezreel Valley, a level arena for battle that would favor the Philistines' chariots.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:5 trembled greatly. Size of Philistine armies was frightening, and they had chosen favorable ground for this fight. But Saul could not ignore their invasion, which threatened to cut Israel in half.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:6 the LORD did not answer. See notes, 8:18; 14:37–38. dreams … Urim … prophets. God's will was regularly conveyed in OT times through dreams and their interpretation; the Urim and Thummim were attached to the breastpiece that was part of the ephod worn by priests; prophets were seers or visionaries. See note, 9:9.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:7 a medium. Lit, "a possessor of a pit"; apparently a pit was used in the ritual, for making offerings to those dead and buried. Despite the ban on consulting such people, with little apparent difficulty Saul's servants got information about such services. En-dor. C 10 mi N of Saul's camp, requiring a perilous night journey, a measure of Saul's desperation. He longed for the Word of the Lord, as he once received it through the prophet Samuel.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:8 disguised himself. Served double purpose of escaping detection by the Philistines and concealing his identity from the medium. bring up. Claiming to communicate to and for the dead, mediums would enter a trance and speak with a demon, which would impersonate the dead person and speak through the medium.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:9 The woman, no stranger to deception, could easily see there was something amiss and feared she was caught in a trap.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:10 swore to her by the LORD. Both ironic and telltale, since consulting the dead was expressly forbidden by God. As the LORD lives. Oath formula frequently used by Saul. See p 7.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:11 Bring up Samuel. Another measure of Saul's desperation: no ordinary spirit would do. Saul attempts to force the faithful prophet to do in death what he swore he would no longer do for Saul—bring a message from God.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:12 When. Or, "Then." Perhaps even before the woman could attempt to call up Samuel's spirit, she saw a vision of the prophet. a loud voice. The shock of the moment of revelation caused the woman to realize she was involved in something more powerful and threatening than she had supposed.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:13 a god. Spirit's appearance impressed upon her its authority and dignity. out of the earth. See note about "pit," v 7.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:14 What is his appearance? Saul could not see what the woman saw and depended on her description. An old man … wrapped in a robe. Vague description, but more than sufficient for Saul. Mention of the prophetic robe, the tearing of which had become the symbol of Saul's downfall, was key (15:27). bowed … homage. Saul prostrated himself as before the Lord. See p 1276.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:15–19 The medium apparently fled (cf v 21). The spirit spoke directly to Saul without her, bringing a message that was almost identical to Samuel's last words to Saul (ch 15). Samuel had given Saul the plain truth. Here the future is also foretold in precise detail, which has led some interpreters to conclude that the spirit was truly Samuel's spirit (cf Dt 18:22). However, though Satan is the father of lies (Jn 8:44), he and his minions are perfectly capable of speaking the truth (cf Mt 8:29) and can even mouth God's Word (Mt 4:3–10). Saul's sins are denounced as the reason for God's anger and rejection. Missing is the prophet's usual appeal for change of attitude, perhaps because it was too late (cf Mk 3:28–30). Nothing would avert Saul's doom and that of his sons and many of his soldiers. The long-standing issue with this text is whether the spirit was truly Samuel's spirit or the work of an evil spirit, which the Lord compelled to speak the truth (see note, 1Ki 22:20–22). Hipp: "Saul did not actually see, but only, on being told by the woman that the figure of one of those who ascended was the figure he desired, and taking it to be Samuel, he consulted it as such, and did it obeisance. And it could be no difficult matter for the demon to conjure up the form of Samuel" (ANF 5:169). Luth: "We may easily see that the bringing up of Samuel from the dead, I Samuel 28[:12 ff.], was trickery and deceit; the whole event is against this commandment of God. Accordingly we may not assume that the real prophet Samuel was brought from the dead by the medium. But when the Scriptures are silent and do not tell us whether this was the real Samuel or not, it demands from all of us that we should well know that through Moses God has forbidden necromancy. And he never recants what he has said, as Job says, and Balaam in Numbers 24 [23:19]. How should the sorcerers have power over the saints who rest securely in the hands of God?" (AE 52:180; see also 36:196–97). "Evil spirits have produced many wicked tricks by appearing as the souls of the departed [1 Samuel 28], and with unspeakable lies and tricks demanded Masses, vigils, pilgrimages, and other alms" (SA II II 16).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:16 Saul looks for a word of assurance that everything is going to be all right, but the earlier words of Samuel are only reinforced (15:28) and are about to be fulfilled. "Whenever the Law alone exercises its office, without the Gospel being added, there is nothing but death and hell, and one must despair, as Saul and Judas did [1Samuel 31; Matthew 27:5]" (SA III III 7).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:18 His fierce wrath. Saul had failed to carry out God's specific command to destroy the Amalekites and all their property (15:3).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:19 Israel also. If a king leads badly, the people suffer. Saul's sin would bring judgment not only upon himself but also upon the nation. be with me. On the next day, all of them would be dead. See note, 1Ki 2:10.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:20 filled with fear. Saul falls into still deeper fear. "The contrition of David or Peter [2 Samuel 12:13; Matthew 26:75] helps because faith, which takes hold of the forgiveness of sins granted for Christ's sake, is added to it" (Ap XIIA 36). eaten nothing. Ironic. Cf 14:24.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:21–22 Knowing that Saul could not otherwise be encouraged to eat, the medium offers an argument, that he owed her for her risking her life (cf v 3). came. The medium had apparently fled in fear (v 12). a morsel of bread. As if assuring that it will be no trouble, the woman minimizes what she will offer. The morsel of bread becomes a fattened calf (v 24).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:23–24 He refused. Only when two of his companions also urge him does Saul agree to eat. fattened calf. Veal calf, held in a stall. The woman prepares a special meal for him who will be king for yet a few more hours. in the house. Ground floor typically held animals.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:25 that night. Events apparently went on all through the night. Both literal and spiritual darkness enveloped Saul and his servants as they made their way back to the Israelite camp.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 28 Despairing from fear and desperate for reassurance, Saul turns to the occult for relief, having forsaken his relationship with God. When a spiritual vacuum exists, lost souls are drawn to the occult, despite warnings. Yet no genuine assurance will be found there. Do not use this tragic episode as a justification or validation of wicked spiritual practices. Instead, acknowledge and rejoice that God's grace and promise are as close at hand as His Word, which will guide you in the paths of life. • Lord, keep us close through Your means of grace, by which we are spared the desperation and darkness so tragically evident in Saul's life. When we are uncertain, grant us patience and comfort through Your Holy Word and the consolation of true brothers and sisters in the faith. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:1 Flashback, to set the order of the battle (cf 28:4). Aphek. C 40 mi short of their destination, Shunem, from which they will prepare for the battle on the plain around Jezreel. See map, p 451. spring. At this time, the Israelite forces were at Jezreel, at the Spring of Harod at the foot of Mount Gilboa, upon which the Israelites would encamp.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:2 lords of the Philistines. Kings of the five Philistine city-states, leading their own contingents of troops in military formations. in the rear. David and his men marched along with the troops of the city-state Gath, at the rear of the column.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:3 these Hebrews. See pp 1905–6. While Saul visited the medium at En-dor (ch 28), the Philistine commanders debated about the presence of David and his troops. Although David fooled Achish, the Philistine commanders were not fooled, perhaps remembering that these were the same Hebrews whose "gods" had delivered them from Egyptian bondage (4:5–9).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:4 the place … assigned him. Ziklag. heads. Princes argued that David could make himself acceptable to Saul and to Israel by changing sides in the middle of the battle, presenting to Saul another gruesome gift (cf 18:27).
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:5 See note, 18:6–8.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:6 As the Lord lives. Israelite oath formula is unexpected from a Philistine. Achish compels David by swearing in the name of David's God, showing that Achish recognized David's continued allegiance to Yahweh.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:7 go peaceably. Achish acknowledges that David had a right to protest. It was embarrassing for Achish to have to dismiss the man he had appointed as his bodyguard. He tried hard not to offend David.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:8 enemies of my lord the king? David protested as though he were suffering an injustice. He may well have planned to do just what the Philistine princes feared, to turn the battle in Israel's favor. In such case, his words were again very clever, having in mind the enemies of King Saul, while Achish was led to think that he was referring to his own enemies as lord and king of the Philistines.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:9 angel of God. Blessing and success resulted from David's presence in their midst. The same phrase is used of David again in 2Sm 14:17 in reference to his skill as a judge of right and wrong.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:10 rise early in the morning. Achish wishes to avoid further contention.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:11 return to the land of the Philistines. Having been honorably dismissed, David and his men part company with the Philistines, who were traveling to Jezreel. David's army would be the only fighting men remaining in the land.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 29 As the Philistine army moves northward to battle, David's difficult situation within the army is resolved when he is removed from the battlefield. Once again, God looked after David's welfare. We, too, can get ourselves into some pretty tight spots as a result of our own decisions or deceptions. God will not condone our sinfulness, which is often what prompts the decisions we make. Yet, He still looks after our welfare, making all things work together for good in Christ (Rm 8:28). • O Lord, we thank You for Your patience and kindness toward us as we live out our days on this earth. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:1 Ziklag. C 55 mi S of Aphek, covered by David and his men in three days. Amalekites. Marauders whom Saul failed to exterminate earlier (15:17–33). They sacked small border towns of Judah and Philistia, including David's town, Ziklag. Negeb. See notes, 27:10; Jgs 1:9.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:2–5 taken captive. Taken away for ransom or sale in the slave trade.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:4 raised their voices and wept. Refers to great lamentation of a ritual kind.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:6 David strengthened himself in the Lord his God. In this critical moment, David turns to God (vv 7–8). Instead of complaining or blaming God for this latest tragedy, David poured out his feelings freely in prayer and received the comfort and strength he needed to face this darkest of days.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:7 Abiathar. He fled with David due to Saul's madness (22:20). Bring me the ephod. See note, 28:6.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:8 He answered. Unlike Saul, who sought in vain for some word from God by priest and ephod, David gets an answer from God. Pursue … overtake … rescue. Answer was clear and unequivocal.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:9 Besor. Stream thought to have been 10–12 mi S of Ziklag. May have been the Wadi Ghazzeh, on which Beersheba and Arad are situated.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:10 four hundred men. David chose the 400 most fit to go on. stayed behind. Leaving the 200 behind not only provided occasion for the institution of the share-alike statute of v 25 but also emphasized that with the Lord's help, victory can be won by small numbers over great armies. too exhausted. Or, "dead tired" (related to word "corpse"). The 10 mi in addition to the 25 mi of forced march earlier in the day was the limit for 200 of the soldiers. They were left behind to remain with the baggage (v 24).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:11 found an Egyptian. Finding a band of robbers and their spoil in the wide-open spaces of the Negeb wilderness would have been difficult. Providentially, they came upon a nearly dead man.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:12 his spirit revived. David's men recognized that the young man might be useful to them and revived him with food and water. See p 236. This detail enlivens the event's historicity. three days and three nights. Given the harsh conditions of the Negeb, the young man was near death.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:13 fell sick. A foreign-born slave was expendable. If one became ill, he was left to fend for himself, esp during a military operation.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:14 Negeb. Divided into different regions (see note, 27:10). Cherethites. See note, 2Sm 15:18. Judah … Caleb … Ziklag. Beersheba, which belonged to Judah, and Hebron, associated with Caleb, also had suffered, along with David's town, Ziklag.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:15 Swear to me. An escaped slave who turned informer would be at the mercy of both captor and former master. Before cooperating, he wanted an oath from David that he would not be killed or turned over to his former master. See p 7.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:1–15 David faces his first great crisis as a leader since serving in Saul's army years earlier. The Lord aids David and the people of Ziklag through an unlikely source: an abandoned Egyptian slave. The Lord still provides for us through unlikely means, preeminently through Jesus' cross, by which He rescues us from Satan's hordes. • Deliver us from evil, O Lord, and strengthen us to assist others in their hour of crisis. Amen.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:16 spread abroad. Amalekites were nomadic people and felt totally secure, confident that the Philistine and Israelite armies were far to the north. Rather than huddling defensively, they returned to their typical arrangement. dancing. Having laid aside their weapons, they were not ready to defend themselves against David's forces.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:17 from twilight until the evening. David rested his troops and attacked at first light, when the celebrating Amalekites would be least prepared to defend themselves. The mission was not accomplished until the next day, when David's army finally caught up with all of the scattered enemy. four hundred. Unavoidable escape of the 400 who were able to move so rapidly gives a picture of the size of the marauding bands in contrast with David's 400 troops.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:18 As assured in v 8, all were recovered, including David's wives—a happy reunion for all, considering how dismal their prospects must have seemed only a day earlier. David. He is now mentioned repeatedly in this and following verses. All honor, just like the earlier blame (29:4), is now given to David—an important step toward his assuming the throne of Israel.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:19 Nothing was missing. Repeated to underscore complete success of David's rescue mission.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:20 all the flocks and herds. The stolen plunder from the recent raids was recovered, as well as the spoils taken by the Amalekites from raids of other places. David's spoil. His men proclaim his victory. What is rescued belongs to the leader, to be distributed as he sees fit. This victory further establishes David's leadership among his troops.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:21 the two hundred men. Those who had been left behind would have been interested in both the mission's outcome and the fate of their wives and children. They were received cordially by David but not by all.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:22 we will not give them any of the spoil. Ugly altercation tests David's leadership once again.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:23 my brothers. David first stressed their kinship, that they were all in this together. the LORD has given. He reminds them of how richly God has blessed them by giving them victory. This was no time for such a selfish attitude.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:24 Who would listen. David reiterates an existing principle. More significantly, he shows he is a ruler, a maintainer of law and justice.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:25 a statute and a rule for Israel. In the manner of ancient kings, who announced their intentions to act rightly and in accord with accepted practice, David makes his ruling the law of the land, demonstrating his intention to show fairness to all and to apply such fairness firmly. See p 971.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:26 With an eye on the future, David made some of the spoil work on his behalf, enhancing relationships not only with the elders of Judah but also with others who were loyal to the Lord. He established himself more and more securely and paved the way for his kingship (2Sm 2:4). These leaders were heads of communities whom David learned to know during his exile; these communities had endured raids from the Amalekites. David had the privilege of returning some of what had been taken from them.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:27–28 Bethel. Some of the places in the list that follows are recognizable even today. In the case of Bethel, however, this cannot be the well-known city to the north of Jerusalem. It may refer to Beth-zur, a town in the Judean hills; all of the cities mentioned lie in the southern Judean and Negeb area. See map, p 468. Jattir … Eshtemoa. Levitical cities (Jsh 21:14). See note, 9:8.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:31 Hebron. Region's major city, where David would be proclaimed king. Served as his capital until he captured Jerusalem.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:16–31 The victory God gives David over the Amalekites provides opportunity for him to grow even stronger as a leader. When the Lord grants success and prosperity to you, consider how this increases your opportunities and your responsibilities. Remember that God forgives you when you fail and also provides you with wisdom to manage what He has placed in your care. • "Grant us wisdom, grant us courage For the facing of this hour, … For the living of these days, … Lest we miss Your kingdom's goal, … Serving You whom we adore." Amen. (LSB 850:1–4)

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:1 Battle is summarized in this single verse. Saul had been commissioned to save Israel from the Philistines (9:16), but now he will die at their hands, a measure of his failure. Mount Gilboa. Location of Israelite camp, opposite Shunem (location of Philistine camp). Jezreel Valley stood between the forces. See color map 2; see also note, 29:1.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:2 Saul's sons are the first named casualties (Saul's son Ish-bosheth evidently was not on the battle line). Abner, commander of the Israelite army, escaped and later would help to reestablish the government under Ish-bosheth (2Sm 2:8–10).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:3 archers found him. Perhaps they actually came upon Saul, but possibly they adjusted for the correct range and mortally wounded him.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:4 thrust me through, and mistreat me. Saul did not want the Philistines to make sport of him or torture him as they did Samson (Jgs 16:25). Mocking and torture were regarded as part of the triumph of battle. he feared greatly. Armor-bearer refused to end Saul's life, probably because of his great respect for the Lord's anointed or fear of punishment. took his own sword. Saul regarded death as preferable to capture. Scripture condemns murder (Ex 20:13), including suicide, which is always described in a negative light (cf 2Sm 17:23; Mt 27:5; Ac 1:18–20).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:5 also fell upon his sword. Armor-bearer was accountable for the life of the king. Were he found alive beside the dead king, he probably would have been executed for failure in battle.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:6 all his men. Refers to Saul's servants or bodyguards, chosen troops who stood with him and his sons at the front.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:7 abandoned their cities. Outcome of battle and accompanying movements of troops could be seen from surrounding hills and vantage points. The bad news caused general panic and a mass evacuation from Israelite towns in the region. The Israelites probably crossed the Jordan River to the east. Out of that region would be established a new kingdom under Ish-bosheth, Saul's remaining son (2Sm 2:8). the Philistines came. The Philistines occupied the abandoned towns and thus came to control the entirety of northern Israel, a fertile area to the north and east of the central hill country. The defeated and weakened Israelites were now confined to the hill country of Samaria and Judah.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:8–9 Philistines gloat in their victory at Saul's expense when they come upon the bodies of Saul and his three sons.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:9 cut off his head. Commonly done to enemies, as in the case of Goliath (17:51). good news. The news encouraged their own people and further intimidated the Israelites. the house of their idols. The temple of Ashtoreth, the female deity worshiped along with Dagon. See p 403.
1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:10 armor. Saul's body armor became a trophy to be deposited in the heathen temple, in much the same way Goliath's sword had been kept in the shrine of the God of Israel (21:9). Ashtaroth. See note, Ex 34:13. A temple of Ashtoreth has been excavated by archaeologists at Beth-shan. fastened his body to the wall. Public exposure of bodies of enemy captives was common, perhaps connected with the belief that such exposure between heaven and earth was a protection against supernatural infection, thereby neutralizing the danger of the corpse to the living. Beth-shan. Old Canaanite city that the Israelites had not conquered; c 12 mi SE of Jezreel.

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:11–12 Jabesh-gilead. City on the east bank of the Jordan that Saul had delivered from Nahash the Ammonite (11:5–11). People there remembered and took this opportunity to demonstrate their loyalty. See color map 1. Jabesh. Same as Jabesh-gilead. burned. Unusual because cremation was not ordinarily practiced in Israel. Perhaps the bodies were extremely mutilated or decomposed, or perhaps this was a means to prevent further indignities. David subsequently commends the people of Jabesh for their piety (2Sm 2:4–7).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:13 took their bones and buried them. After purification by fire, the bones were properly buried. Despite Saul's failures, he was the anointed of Yahweh. tamarisk tree in Jabesh. Saul's bones would rest at the place where he had won his first victory, during better days in his life (ch 11). David would later remove the bones of Saul and Jonathan and rebury them in Benjamin (2Sm 21:11–14).

1 AND 2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 31 Saul forfeits his divine blessings by compromising God's Word, and he dies a brutal death at the hands of the very enemy he was chosen to defeat. There is no greater tragedy than when God's people compromise His Word, no greater blessing than when they steadfastly receive it. Learn by the examples of Saul and David. By promises and blessings, the King of heaven provides life for you in His Son, Jesus. • "Lord, keep us steadfast in Your Word; Curb those who by deceit or sword Would wrest the kingdom from Your Son And bring to naught all He has done." Amen. (LSB 655:1)

David Hears of Saul's Death

1 [1]‡†After the death of Saul, when David had returned from striking down the Amalekites, David remained two days in Ziklag. [2]†And on the third day, behold, a man came from Saul's camp, with his clothes torn and dirt on his head. And when he came to David, he fell to the ground and paid homage. [3]David said to him, "Where do you come from?" And he said to him, "I have escaped from the camp of Israel." [4]And David said to him, "How did it go? Tell me." And he answered, "The people fled from the battle, and also many of the people have fallen and are dead, and Saul and his son Jonathan are also dead." [5]Then David said to the young man who told him, "How do you know that Saul and his son Jonathan are dead?" [6]†And the young man who told him said, "By chance I happened to be on Mount Gilboa, and there was Saul leaning on his spear, and behold, the chariots and the horsemen were close upon him. [7]And when he looked behind him, he saw me, and called to me. And I answered, 'Here I am.'
[8]†And he said to me, 'Who are you?' I answered him, 'I am an Amalekite.'
[9]‡And he said to me 'Stand beside me and kill me, for anguish has seized me, and yet my life still lingers.' [10]†So I stood beside him and killed him, because I was sure that he could not live after he had fallen. And I took the crown that was on his head and the armlet that was on his arm, and I have brought them here to my lord."

[11]†Then David took hold of his clothes and tore them, and so did all the men who were with him. [12]†And they mourned and wept and fasted until evening for Saul and for Jonathan his son and for the people of the LORD and for the house of Israel, because they had fallen by the sword. [13]†And David said to the young man who told him, "Where do you come from?" And he answered, "I am the son of a sojourner, an Amalekite." [14]†David said to him, "How is it you were not afraid to put out your hand to destroy the LORD's anointed?" [15]†Then David called one of the young men and said, "Go, execute him." And he struck him down so that he died. [16]†And David said to him, "Your blood be on your head, for your own mouth has testified against you, saying, 'I have killed the LORD's anointed.'"

David’s Lament for Saul and Jonathan

17 And David lamented with this lamentation over Saul and Jonathan his son, 18 and he said it[1] should be taught to the people of Judah; behold, it is written in the Book of Jashar.[2] He said:

19 “Your glory, O Israel, is slain on your high places!
How the mighty have fallen!
20 Tell it not in Gath, publish it not in the streets of Ashkelon,
lest the daughters of the Philistines rejoice, lest the daughters of the uncircumcised exult.

21 “You mountains of Gilboa, let there be no dew or rain upon you,
nor fields of offerings![1]
For there the shield of the mighty was defiled,
the shield of Saul, not anointed with oil.

22 “From the blood of the slain,
from the fat of the mighty,
the bow of Jonathan turned not back,
and the sword of Saul returned not empty.

23 “Saul and Jonathan, beloved and lovely!
In life and in death they were not divided;
they were swifter than eagles;
they were stronger than lions.
24 “You daughters of Israel, weep over Saul, who clothed you luxuriously in scarlet,
who put ornaments of gold on your apparel.

25 “How the mighty have fallen
in the midst of the battle!

“Jonathan lies slain on your high places.
26 I am distressed for you, my brother Jonathan;
very pleasant have you been to me;
your love to me was extraordinary, surpassing the love of women.

27 “How the mighty have fallen,
and the weapons of war perished!”

David Anointed King of Judah

2 [1]‡†After this David inquired of the Lord, “Shall I go up into any of the cities of Judah?” And the Lord said to him, “Go up.” David said, “To which shall I go up?” And he said, “To Hebron.” [2]†So David went up there, and his two wives also, Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail the widow of Nabal of Carmel. [3]†And David brought up his men who were with him, everyone with his household, and they lived in the towns of Hebron. [4]†And the men of Judah came, and there they anointed David king over the house of Judah.

When they told David, “It was the men of Jabesh-gilead who buried Saul,” [5]‡David sent messengers to the men of Jabesh-gilead and said to them, “May you be blessed by the Lord, because you showed this loyalty to Saul your lord and buried him. [6]†Now may the Lord show steadfast love and faithfulness to you. And I will do good to you because you have done this thing. [7]Now therefore let your hands be strong, and be valiant, for Saul your lord is dead, and the house of Judah has anointed me king over them.”

Ish-bosheth Made King of Israel

8 ‡ † But Abner the son of Ner, commander of Saul's army, took Ish-bosheth the son of Saul and brought him over to Mahanaim, 9 † and he made him king over Gilead and the Ashurites and Jezreel and Ephraim and Benjamin and all Israel. 10 ‡ Ish-bosheth, Saul's son, was forty years old when he began to reign over Israel, and he reigned two years. But the house of Judah followed David. 11 And the time that David was king in Hebron over the house of Judah was seven years and six months.

The Battle of Gibeon

12 ‡†Abner the son of Ner, and the servants of Ish-bosheth the son of Saul, went out from Mahanaim to Gibeon. 13 †And Joab the son of Zeruiah and the servants of David went out and met them at the pool of Gibeon. And they sat down, the one on the one side of the pool, and the other on the other side of the pool. 14 † And Abner said to Joab, “Let the young men arise and compete before us.” And Joab said, “Let them arise.” 15 Then they arose and passed over by number, twelve for Benjamin and Ish-bosheth the son of Saul, and twelve of the servants of David. 16 †And each caught his opponent by the head and thrust his sword in his opponent’s side, so they fell down together. Therefore that place was called Helkath-hazzurim,[1] which is at Gibeon. 17 †And the battle was very fierce that day. And Abner and the men of Israel were beaten before the servants of David.

18 †And the three sons of Zeruiah were there, Joab, Abishai, and Asahel.
Now Asahel was as swift of foot as a wild gazelle. 19 ‡And Asahel pursued Abner, and as he went, he turned neither to the right hand nor to the left from following Abner. 20 Then Abner looked behind him and said, “Is it you, Asahel?” And he answered, “It is I.” 21 ‡Abner said to him, “Turn aside to your right hand or to your left, and seize one of the young men and take his spoil.” But Asahel would not turn aside from following him. 22 And Abner said again to Asahel, “Turn aside from following me. Why should I strike you to the ground? How then could I lift up my face to your brother Joab?” 23 †But he refused to turn aside. Therefore Abner struck him in the stomach with the butt of his spear, so that the spear came out at his back. And he fell there and died where he was. And all who came to the place where Asahel had fallen and died, stood still.

24 †But Joab and Abishai pursued Abner. And as the sun was going down they came to the hill of Ammah, which lies before Giah on the way to the wilderness of Gibeon. 25 †And the people of Benjamin gathered themselves together behind Abner and became one group and took their stand on the top of a hill. 26 †Then Abner called to Joab, “Shall the sword devour forever?
Do you not know that the end will be bitter? How long will it be before you tell your people to turn from the pursuit of their brothers?” 27 And Joab said,

“As God lives, if you had not spoken, surely the men would not have given up the pursuit of their brothers until the morning.” [28]† So Joab blew the trumpet, and all the men stopped and pursued Israel no more, nor did they fight anymore.
[29]† And Abner and his men went all that night through the Arabah. They crossed the Jordan, and marching the whole morning, they came to Mahanaim. [30]† Joab returned from the pursuit of Abner. And when he had gathered all the people together, there were missing from David’s servants nineteen men besides Asahel. [31]But the servants of David had struck down of Benjamin 360 of Abner’s men. [32]† And they took up Asahel and buried him in the tomb of his father, which was at Bethlehem. And Joab and his men marched all night, and the day broke upon them at Hebron.

Abner Joins David

3 [1]There was a long war between the house of Saul and the house of David. And David grew stronger and stronger, while the house of Saul became weaker and weaker.

[2]And sons were born to David at Hebron: his firstborn was Amnon, of Ahinoam of Jezreel; [3]and his second, Chileab, of Abigail the widow of Nabal of Carmel; and the third, Absalom the son of Maacah the daughter of Talmai king of Geshur; [4]and the fourth, Adonijah the son of Haggith; and the fifth, Shephatiah the son of Abital; [5]and the sixth, Ithream, of Eglah, David's wife. These were born to David in Hebron.

[6]While there was war between the house of Saul and the house of David, Abner was making himself strong in the house of Saul. [7]Now Saul had a concubine whose name was Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah. And Ish-bosheth said to Abner, "Why have you gone in to my father's concubine?" [8]Then Abner was very angry over the words of Ish-bosheth and said, "Am I a dog's head of Judah? To this day I keep showing steadfast love to the house of Saul your father, to his brothers, and to his friends, and have not given you into the hand of David. And yet you charge me today with a fault concerning a woman. [9]God do so to Abner and more also, if I do not accomplish for David what the Lord has sworn to him, [10]to transfer the kingdom from the house of Saul and set up the throne of David over Israel and over Judah, from Dan to Beersheba." [11]And Ish-bosheth could not answer Abner another word, because he feared him.

[12]And Abner sent messengers to David on his behalf,[1] saying, "To whom does the land belong? Make your covenant with me, and behold, my hand shall be with you to bring over all Israel to you." [13]And he said, "Good; I will make a covenant with you. But one thing I require of you; that is, you shall not see my face unless you first bring Michal, Saul's daughter, when you come to see my face." [14]Then David sent messengers to Ish-bosheth, Saul's son, saying, "Give me my wife Michal, for whom I paid the bridal price of a hundred foreskins of the Philistines." [15]And Ish-bosheth sent and took her from her husband Paltiel the son of Laish. [16]But her husband went with her, weeping after her all the way to Bahurim. Then Abner said to him, “Go, return.” And he returned.

17 † And Abner conferred with the elders of Israel, saying, “For some time past you have been seeking David as king over you. 18 Now then bring it about, for the Lord has promised David, saying, ‘By the hand of my servant David I will save my people Israel from the hand of the Philistines, and from the hand of all their enemies.’” 19 † Abner also spoke to Benjamin. And then Abner went to tell David at Hebron all that Israel and the whole house of Benjamin thought good to do.

20 When Abner came with twenty men to David at Hebron, David made a feast for Abner and the men who were with him. 21 † And Abner said to David, “I will arise and go and will gather all Israel to my lord the king, that they may make a covenant with you, and that you may reign over all that your heart desires.” So David sent Abner away, and he went in peace.

22 † Just then the servants of David arrived with Joab from a raid, bringing much spoil with them. But Abner was not with David at Hebron, for he had sent him away, and he had gone in peace. 23 When Joab and all the army that was with him came, it was told Joab, “Abner the son of Ner came to the king, and he has let him go, and he has gone in peace.” 24 † Then Joab went to the king and said, “What have you done? Behold, Abner came to you. Why is it that you have sent him away, so that he is gone? 25 You know that Abner the son of Ner came to deceive you and to know your going out and your coming in, and to know all that you are doing.”

Joab Murders Abner

[26] When Joab came out from David's presence, he sent messengers after Abner, and they brought him back from the cistern of Sirah. But David did not know about it. [27] And when Abner returned to Hebron, Joab took him aside into the midst of the gate to speak with him privately, and there he struck him in the stomach, so that he died, for the blood of Asahel his brother. [28] Afterward, when David heard of it, he said, "I and my kingdom are forever guiltless before the LORD for the blood of Abner the son of Ner.
[29] May it fall upon the head of Joab and upon all his father's house, and may the house of Joab never be without one who has a discharge or who is leprous or who holds a spindle or who falls by the sword or who lacks bread!" [30] So Joab and Abishai his brother killed Abner, because he had put their brother Asahel to death in the battle at Gibeon.

David Mourns Abner

31 ‡ † Then David said to Joab and to all the people who were with him, “Tear your clothes and put on sackcloth and mourn before Abner.” And King David followed the bier. 32 † They buried Abner at Hebron. And the king lifted up his voice and wept at the grave of Abner, and all the people wept. 33 ‡ † And the king lamented for Abner, saying,

“ Should Abner die as a fool dies?
34 † Your hands were not bound;
your feet were not fettered;
as one falls before the wicked
you have fallen.”

And all the people wept again over him. 35 † Then all the people came to persuade David to eat bread while it was yet day. But David swore, saying, “God do so to me and more also, if I taste bread or anything else till the sun goes down!” 36 And all the people took notice of it, and it pleased them, as everything that the king did pleased all the people. 37 So all the people and all Israel understood that day that it had not been the king’s will to put to death Abner the son of Ner. 38 † And the king said to his servants, “Do you not know that a prince and a great man has fallen this day in Israel? 39 † And I was gentle today, though anointed king. These men, the sons of Zeruiah, are more severe than I. The Lord repay the evildoer according to his wickedness!”

Ish-bosheth Murdered

4 [1] † When Ish-bosheth, Saul's son, heard that Abner had died at Hebron, his courage failed, and all Israel was dismayed. [2] †Now Saul's son had two men who were captains of raiding bands; the name of the one was Baanah, and the name of the other Rechab, sons of Rimmon a man of Benjamin from Beeroth (for Beeroth also is counted part of Benjamin; [3] †the Beerothites fled to Gittaim and have been sojourners there to this day).

[4] †Jonathan, the son of Saul, had a son who was crippled in his feet. He was five years old when the news about Saul and Jonathan came from Jezreel, and his nurse took him up and fled, and as she fled in her haste, he fell and became lame. And his name was Mephibosheth.

[5] Now the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab and Baanah, set out, and about the heat of the day they came to the house of Ish-bosheth as he was taking his noonday rest. [6] And they came into the midst of the house as if to get wheat, and they stabbed him in the stomach. Then Rechab and Baanah his brother escaped.[1] [7] †When they came into the house, as he lay on his bed in his bedroom, they struck him and put him to death and beheaded him. They took his head and went by the way of the Arabah all night, [8] †and brought the head of Ish-bosheth to David at Hebron. And they said to the king, "Here is the head of Ish-bosheth, the son of Saul, your enemy, who sought your life. The Lord has avenged my lord the king this day on Saul and on his offspring." [9] † But David answered Rechab and Baanah his brother, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, "As the Lord lives, who has redeemed my life out of every adversity, [10] † when one told me, 'Behold, Saul is dead,' and thought he was bringing good news, I seized him and killed him at Ziklag, which was the reward I gave him for his news. [11] †How much more, when wicked men have killed a righteous man in his own house on his bed, shall I not now require his blood at your hand and destroy you from the earth?" [12] †And David commanded his young men, and they killed them and cut off their hands and feet and hanged them beside the pool at Hebron. But they took the head of Ish-bosheth and buried it in the tomb of Abner at Hebron.

David Anointed King of Israel

5 [1]‡†Then all the tribes of Israel came to David at Hebron and said,
"Behold, we are your bone and flesh. [2]†In times past, when Saul was king over us, it was you who led out and brought in Israel. And the Lord said to you, 'You shall be shepherd of my people Israel, and you shall be prince over Israel.'" [3]†So all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and King David made a covenant with them at Hebron before the Lord, and they anointed David king over Israel. [4]David was thirty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years. [5]† At Hebron he reigned over Judah seven years and six months, and at Jerusalem he reigned over all Israel and Judah thirty-three years.[1]

[6]†And the king and his men went to Jerusalem against the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land, who said to David, "You will not come in here, but the blind and the lame will ward you off"—thinking, "David cannot come in here." [7]†Nevertheless, David took the stronghold of Zion, that is, the city of David. [8]† And David said on that day, "Whoever would strike the Jebusites, let him get up the water shaft to attack 'the lame and the blind,' who are hated by David's soul." Therefore it is said, "The blind and the lame shall not come into the house." [9]†And David lived in the stronghold and called it the city of David. And David built the city all around from the Millo inward. [10]†And David became greater and greater, for the Lord, the God of hosts, was with him.

[11]†And Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, and cedar trees, also carpenters and masons who built David a house. [12]†And David knew that the Lord had established him king over Israel, and that he had exalted his kingdom for the sake of his people Israel.

[13]†And David took more concubines and wives from Jerusalem, after he came from Hebron, and more sons and daughters were born to David.
[14]‡And these are the names of those who were born to him in Jerusalem:
Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon, [15]Ibhar, Elishua, Nepheg, Japhia, [16]Elishama, Eliada, and Eliphelet.

David Defeats the Philistines

17 ‡ † When the Philistines heard that David had been anointed king over Israel, all the Philistines went up to search for David. But David heard of it and went down to the stronghold. 18 † Now the Philistines had come and spread out in the Valley of Rephaim. 19 † And David inquired of the Lord, “Shall I go up against the Philistines? Will you give them into my hand?”
And the Lord said to David, “Go up, for I will certainly give the Philistines into your hand.” 20 † And David came to Baal-perazim, and David defeated them there. And he said, “The Lord has burst through my enemies before me like a bursting flood.” Therefore the name of that place is called Baal-perazim.[1] 21 † And the Philistines left their idols there, and David and his men carried them away.

22 And the Philistines came up yet again and spread out in the Valley of Rephaim. 23 And when David inquired of the Lord, he said, “You shall not go up; go around to their rear, and come against them opposite the balsam trees. 24 † And when you hear the sound of marching in the tops of the balsam trees, then rouse yourself, for then the Lord has gone out before you to strike down the army of the Philistines.” 25 † And David did as the Lord commanded him, and struck down the Philistines from Geba to Gezer.

The Ark Brought to Jerusalem

6 [1] ‡ † David again gathered all the chosen men of Israel, thirty thousand. [2] † And David arose and went with all the people who were with him from Baale-judah to bring up from there the ark of God, which is called by the name of the Lord of hosts who sits enthroned on the cherubim. [3] † And they carried the ark of God on a new cart and brought it out of the house of Abinadab, which was on the hill. And Uzzah and Ahio,[2] the sons of Abinadab, were driving the new cart,[3] [4] with the ark of God, and Ahio went before the ark.

Uzzah and the Ark

5 ‡ † And David and all the house of Israel were making merry before the Lord, with songs[4] and lyres and harps and tambourines and castanets and cymbals. 6 † And when they came to the threshing floor of Nacon, Uzzah put out his hand to the ark of God and took hold of it, for the oxen stumbled.
7 † And the anger of the Lord was kindled against Uzzah, and God struck him down there because of his error, and he died there beside the ark of God.
8 And David was angry because the Lord had burst forth against Uzzah. And that place is called Perez-uzzah,[1] to this day. 9 And David was afraid of the Lord that day, and he said, “How can the ark of the Lord come to me?” 10 So David was not willing to take the ark of the Lord into the city of David. But David took it aside to the house of Obed-edom the Gittite. 11 † And the ark of the Lord remained in the house of Obed-edom the Gittite three months, and the Lord blessed Obed-edom and all his household.

12 † And it was told King David, “The Lord has blessed the household of Obed-edom and all that belongs to him, because of the ark of God.” So David went and brought up the ark of God from the house of Obed-edom to the city of David with rejoicing. 13 † And when those who bore the ark of the Lord had gone six steps, he sacrificed an ox and a fattened animal. 14 † And David danced before the Lord with all his might. And David was wearing a linen ephod. 15 So David and all the house of Israel brought up the ark of the Lord with shouting and with the sound of the horn.

David and Michal

16 ‡ † As the ark of the Lord came into the city of David, Michal the daughter of Saul looked out of the window and saw King David leaping and dancing before the Lord, and she despised him in her heart. 17 † And they brought in the ark of the Lord and set it in its place, inside the tent that David had pitched for it. And David offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before the Lord. 18 † And when David had finished offering the burnt offerings and the peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the Lord of hosts 19 and distributed among all the people, the whole multitude of Israel, both men and women, a cake of bread, a portion of meat,[2] and a cake of raisins to each one. Then all the people departed, each to his house.

20 † And David returned to bless his household. But Michal the daughter of Saul came out to meet David and said, “How the king of Israel honored himself today, uncovering himself today before the eyes of his servants’ female servants, as one of the vulgar fellows shamelessly uncovers himself!” 21 † And David said to Michal, “It was before the Lord, who chose me above your father and above all his house, to appoint me as prince over Israel, the people of the Lord—and I will make merry before the Lord. 22 I will make myself yet more contemptible than this, and I will be abased in your[3] eyes. But by the female servants of whom you have spoken, by them I shall be held in honor.” 23 † And Michal the daughter of Saul had no child to the day of her death.

God’s Covenant with David

7 [1]†Now when the king lived in his house and the Lord had given him rest from all his surrounding enemies, [2]†the king said to Nathan the prophet, “See now, I dwell in a house of cedar, but the ark of God dwells in a tent.”
[3]†And Nathan said to the king, “Go, do all that is in your heart, for the Lord is with you.”

[4]But that same night the word of the Lord came to Nathan, [5]“Go and tell my servant David, ‘Thus says the Lord: Would you build me a house to dwell in? [6]I have not lived in a house since the day I brought up the people of Israel from Egypt to this day, but I have been moving about in a tent for my dwelling. [7]† In all places where I have moved with all the people of Israel, did I speak a word with any of the judges[1] of Israel, whom I commanded to shepherd my people Israel, saying, “Why have you not built me a house of cedar?”’ [8]Now, therefore, thus you shall say to my servant David, ‘Thus says the Lord of hosts, I took you from the pasture, from following the sheep, that you should be prince over my people Israel. [9]And I have been with you wherever you went and have cut off all your enemies from before you. And I will make for you a great name, like the name of the great ones of the earth. [10]†And I will appoint a place for my people Israel and will plant them, so that they may dwell in their own place and be disturbed no more. And violent men shall afflict them no more, as formerly, [11]†from the time that I appointed judges over my people Israel. And I will give you rest from all your enemies. Moreover, the Lord declares to you that the Lord will make you a house. [12]†When your days are fulfilled and you lie down with your fathers, I will raise up your offspring after you, who shall come from your body, and I will establish his kingdom. [13]†He shall build a house for my name, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom forever.
[14]††I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son. When he commits iniquity, I will discipline him with the rod of men, with the stripes of the sons of men, [15]but my steadfast love will not depart from him, as I took it from Saul, whom I put away from before you. [16]And your house and your kingdom shall be made sure forever before me.[2] Your throne shall be established forever.’” [17] † In accordance with all these words, and in accordance with all this vision, Nathan spoke to David.

David’s Prayer of Gratitude

18 ‡† Then King David went in and sat before the Lord and said, “Who am
I, O Lord God, and what is my house, that you have brought me thus far?
19 † And yet this was a small thing in your eyes, O Lord God. You have spoken also of your servant’s house for a great while to come, and this is instruction for mankind, O Lord God! 20 And what more can David say to you? For you know your servant, O Lord God! 21 Because of your promise, and according to your own heart, you have brought about all this greatness, to make your servant know it. 22 † Therefore you are great, O Lord God. For there is none like you, and there is no God besides you, according to all that we have heard with our ears. 23 † And who is like your people Israel, the one nation on earth whom God went to redeem to be his people, making himself a name and doing for them[3] great and awesome things by driving out[4] before your people, whom you redeemed for yourself from Egypt, a nation and its gods? 24 And you established for yourself your people Israel to be your people forever. And you, O Lord, became their God. 25 And now, O Lord God, confirm forever the word that you have spoken concerning your servant and concerning his house, and do as you have spoken. 26 And your name will be magnified forever, saying, ‘The Lord of hosts is God over Israel,’ and the house of your servant David will be established before you.
27 † For you, O Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, have made this revelation to your servant, saying, ‘I will build you a house.’ Therefore your servant has found courage to pray this prayer to you. 28 And now, O Lord God, you are God, and your words are true, and you have promised this good thing to your servant. 29 Now therefore may it please you to bless the house of your servant, so that it may continue forever before you. For you, O Lord God, have spoken, and with your blessing shall the house of your servant be blessed forever.”

David's Victories

8 [1]‡†After this David defeated the Philistines and subdued them, and David took Metheg-ammah out of the hand of the Philistines.

[2]†And he defeated Moab and he measured them with a line, making them lie down on the ground. Two lines he measured to be put to death, and one full line to be spared. And the Moabites became servants to David and brought tribute.

[3]†David also defeated Hadadezer the son of Rehob, king of Zobah, as he went to restore his power at the river Euphrates. [4]†And David took from him 1,700 horsemen, and 20,000 foot soldiers. And David hamstrung all the chariot horses but left enough for 100 chariots. [5]‡And when the Syrians of Damascus came to help Hadadezer king of Zobah, David struck down 22,000 men of the Syrians. [6]Then David put garrisons in Aram of Damascus, and the Syrians became servants to David and brought tribute. And the Lord gave victory to David wherever he went. [7]And David took the shields of gold that were carried by the servants of Hadadezer and brought them to Jerusalem. [8]† And from Betah and from Berothai, cities of Hadadezer, King David took very much bronze.

[9]†When Toi king of Hamath heard that David had defeated the whole army of Hadadezer, [10]†Toi sent his son Joram to King David, to ask about his health and to bless him because he had fought against Hadadezer and defeated him, for Hadadezer had often been at war with Toi. And Joram brought with him articles of silver, of gold, and of bronze. [11]†These also King David dedicated to the Lord, together with the silver and gold that he dedicated from all the nations he subdued, [12]† from Edom, Moab, the Ammonites, the Philistines, Amalek, and from the spoil of Hadadezer the son of Rehob, king of Zobah.

[13]†And David made a name for himself when he returned from striking down 18,000 Edomites in the Valley of Salt. [14]Then he put garrisons in Edom; throughout all Edom he put garrisons, and all the Edomites became David's servants. And the Lord gave victory to David wherever he went.

David’s Officials

15 †So David reigned over all Israel. And David administered justice and equity to all his people. 16 †Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the army, and Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder, 17 †and Zadok the son of Ahitub and Ahimelech the son of Abiathar were priests, and Seraiah was secretary, 18 † and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over[1] the Cherethites and the Pelethites, and David’s sons were priests.

David’s Kindness to Mephibosheth

9 [1]†And David said, “Is there still anyone left of the house of Saul, that I may show him kindness for Jonathan’s sake?” [2]Now there was a servant of the house of Saul whose name was Ziba, and they called him to David. And the king said to him, “Are you Ziba?” And he said, “I am your servant.” [3]And the king said, “Is there not still someone of the house of Saul, that I may show the kindness of God to him?” Ziba said to the king, “There is still a son of Jonathan; he is crippled in his feet.” [4]†The king said to him, “Where is he?” And Ziba said to the king, “He is in the house of Machir the son of Ammiel, at Lo-debar.” [5]Then King David sent and brought him from the house of Machir the son of Ammiel, at Lo-debar.
[6]†And Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan, son of Saul, came to David and fell on his face and paid homage. And David said, “Mephibosheth!” And he answered, “Behold, I am your servant.” [7]†And David said to him, “Do not fear, for I will show you kindness for the sake of your father Jonathan, and I will restore to you all the land of Saul your father, and you shall eat at my table always.” [8]And he paid homage and said, “What is your servant, that you should show regard for a dead dog such as I?”

[9]†Then the king called Ziba, Saul’s servant, and said to him, “All that belonged to Saul and to all his house I have given to your master’s grandson. [10]†And you and your sons and your servants shall till the land for him and shall bring in the produce, that your master’s grandson may have bread to eat. But Mephibosheth your master’s grandson shall always eat at my table.” Now Ziba had fifteen sons and twenty servants. [11]Then Ziba said to the king, “According to all that my lord the king commands his servant, so will your servant do.” So Mephibosheth ate at David’s[2] table, like one of the king’s sons. [12]†And Mephibosheth had a young son, whose name was Mica. And all who lived in Ziba’s house became Mephibosheth’s servants.
[13]So Mephibosheth lived in Jerusalem, for he ate always at the king’s table.
Now he was lame in both his feet.

David Defeats Ammon and Syria

10 [1]†After this the king of the Ammonites died, and Hanun his son reigned in his place. [2]†And David said, “I will deal loyally[3] with Hanun the son of Nahash, as his father dealt loyally with me.” So David sent by his servants to console him concerning his father. And David’s servants came into the land of the Ammonites. [3]†But the princes of the Ammonites said to Hanun their lord, “Do you think, because David has sent comforters to you, that he is honoring your father? Has not David sent his servants to you to search the city and to spy it out and to overthrow it?” [4]†So Hanun took David’s servants and shaved off half the beard of each and cut off their garments in the middle, at their hips, and sent them away. [5]†When it was told David, he sent to meet them, for the men were greatly ashamed. And the king said, “Remain at Jericho until your beards have grown and then return.”

[6]†When the Ammonites saw that they had become a stench to David, the Ammonites sent and hired the Syrians of Beth-rehob, and the Syrians of Zobah, 20,000 foot soldiers, and the king of Maacah with 1,000 men, and the men of Tob, 12,000 men. [7]And when David heard of it, he sent Joab and all the host of the mighty men. [8]†And the Ammonites came out and drew up in battle array at the entrance of the gate, and the Syrians of Zobah and of Rehob and the men of Tob and Maacah were by themselves in the open country.

[9]†When Joab saw that the battle was set against him both in front and in the rear, he chose some of the best men of Israel and arrayed them against the Syrians. [10]The rest of his men he put in the charge of Abishai his brother, and he arrayed them against the Ammonites. [11]And he said, “If the Syrians are too strong for me, then you shall help me, but if the Ammonites are too strong for you, then I will come and help you. [12]Be of good courage, and let us be courageous for our people, and for the cities of our God, and may the Lord do what seems good to him.” [13]So Joab and the people who were with him drew near to battle against the Syrians, and they fled before him. [14]†And when the Ammonites saw that the Syrians fled, they likewise fled before Abishai and entered the city. Then Joab returned from fighting against the Ammonites and came to Jerusalem.

15 But when the Syrians saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they gathered themselves together. 16 † And Hadadezer sent and brought out the Syrians who were beyond the Euphrates.[1] They came to Helam, with Shobach the commander of the army of Hadadezer at their head. 17 † And when it was told David, he gathered all Israel together and crossed the Jordan and came to Helam. The Syrians arrayed themselves against David and fought with him. 18 And the Syrians fled before Israel, and David killed of the Syrians the men of 700 chariots, and 40,000 horsemen, and wounded Shobach the commander of their army, so that he died there. 19 And when all the kings who were servants of Hadadezer saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they made peace with Israel and became subject to them. So the Syrians were afraid to save the Ammonites anymore.

David and Bathsheba

11 [1]†In the spring of the year, the time when kings go out to battle, David sent Joab, and his servants with him, and all Israel. And they ravaged the Ammonites and besieged Rabbah. But David remained at Jerusalem.

[2]†It happened, late one afternoon, when David arose from his couch and was walking on the roof of the king's house, that he saw from the roof a woman bathing; and the woman was very beautiful. [3]And David sent and inquired about the woman. And one said, "Is not this Bathsheba, the daughter of Eliam, the wife of Uriah the Hittite?" [4]† So David sent messengers and took her, and she came to him, and he lay with her. (Now she had been purifying herself from her uncleanness.) Then she returned to her house. [5]†And the woman conceived, and she sent and told David, "I am pregnant."

[6]†So David sent word to Joab, "Send me Uriah the Hittite." And Joab sent Uriah to David. [7]When Uriah came to him, David asked how Joab was doing and how the people were doing and how the war was going. [8]†Then David said to Uriah, "Go down to your house and wash your feet." And Uriah went out of the king's house, and there followed him a present from the king. [9]†But Uriah slept at the door of the king's house with all the servants of his lord, and did not go down to his house. [10]When they told David, "Uriah did not go down to his house," David said to Uriah, "Have you not come from a journey? Why did you not go down to your house?" [11]†Uriah said to David, "The ark and Israel and Judah dwell in booths, and my lord Joab and the servants of my lord are camping in the open field.
Shall I then go to my house, to eat and to drink and to lie with my wife? As you live, and as your soul lives, I will not do this thing." [12]Then David said to Uriah, "Remain here today also, and tomorrow I will send you back." So Uriah remained in Jerusalem that day and the next. [13]†And David invited him, and he ate in his presence and drank, so that he made him drunk. And in the evening he went out to lie on his couch with the servants of his lord, but he did not go down to his house.

14 †In the morning David wrote a letter to Joab and sent it by the hand of Uriah. 15In the letter he wrote, “Set Uriah in the forefront of the hardest fighting, and then draw back from him, that he may be struck down, and die.” 16And as Joab was besieging the city, he assigned Uriah to the place where he knew there were valiant men. 17†And the men of the city came out and fought with Joab, and some of the servants of David among the people fell. Uriah the Hittite also died. 18Then Joab sent and told David all the news about the fighting. 19†And he instructed the messenger, “When you have finished telling all the news about the fighting to the king, 20then, if the king’s anger rises, and if he says to you, ‘Why did you go so near the city to fight? Did you not know that they would shoot from the wall? 21Who killed Abimelech the son of Jerubbesheth? Did not a woman cast an upper millstone on him from the wall, so that he died at Thebez? Why did you go so near the wall?’ then you shall say, ‘Your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.’”

22So the messenger went and came and told David all that Joab had sent him to tell. 23The messenger said to David, “The men gained an advantage over us and came out against us in the field, but we drove them back to the entrance of the gate. 24Then the archers shot at your servants from the wall.
Some of the king’s servants are dead, and your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.” 25David said to the messenger, “Thus shall you say to Joab, ‘Do not let this matter trouble you, for the sword devours now one and now another. Strengthen your attack against the city and overthrow it.’ And encourage him.”

26 †When the wife of Uriah heard that Uriah her husband was dead, she lamented over her husband. 27And when the mourning was over, David sent and brought her to his house, and she became his wife and bore him a son.
But the thing that David had done displeased the Lord.

Nathan Rebukes David

12 [1]†‡†And the Lord sent Nathan to David. He came to him and said to him, “There were two men in a certain city, the one rich and the other poor. [2]The rich man had very many flocks and herds, [3]†but the poor man had nothing but one little ewe lamb, which he had bought. And he brought it up, and it grew up with him and with his children. It used to eat of his morsel and drink from his cup and lie in his arms,[1] and it was like a daughter to him. [4]Now there came a traveler to the rich man, and he was unwilling to take one of his own flock or herd to prepare for the guest who had come to him, but he took the poor man’s lamb and prepared it for the man who had come to him.” [5]†Then David’s anger was greatly kindled against the man, and he said to Nathan, “As the Lord lives, the man who has done this deserves to die, [6]and he shall restore the lamb fourfold, because he did this thing, and because he had no pity.”

[7]†Nathan said to David, “You are the man! Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel, ‘I anointed you king over Israel, and I delivered you out of the hand of Saul. [8]†And I gave you your master’s house and your master’s wives into your arms and gave you the house of Israel and of Judah. And if this were too little, I would add to you as much more. [9]†Why have you despised the word of the Lord, to do what is evil in his sight? You have struck down Uriah the Hittite with the sword and have taken his wife to be your wife and have killed him with the sword of the Ammonites. [10]†Now therefore the sword shall never depart from your house, because you have despised me and have taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be your wife.’ [11]†Thus says the Lord, ‘Behold, I will raise up evil against you out of your own house. And I will take your wives before your eyes and give them to your neighbor, and he shall lie with your wives in the sight of this sun. [12]†For you did it secretly, but I will do this thing before all Israel and before the sun.’” [13]†David said to Nathan, “I have sinned against the Lord.” And Nathan said to David, “The Lord also has put away your sin; you shall not die. [14]†Nevertheless, because by this deed you have utterly scorned the LORD,[2] the child who is born to you shall die.” 15†Then Nathan went to his house.

David's Child Dies

And the Lord afflicted the child that Uriah's wife bore to David, and he became sick. [16] † David therefore sought God on behalf of the child. And David fasted and went in and lay all night on the ground. [17] And the elders of his house stood beside him, to raise him from the ground, but he would not, nor did he eat food with them. [18] † On the seventh day the child died. And the servants of David were afraid to tell him that the child was dead, for they said, "Behold, while the child was yet alive, we spoke to him, and he did not listen to us. How then can we say to him the child is dead? He may do himself some harm." [19] But when David saw that his servants were whispering together, David understood that the child was dead. And David said to his servants, "Is the child dead?" They said, "He is dead." [20] † Then David arose from the earth and washed and anointed himself and changed his clothes. And he went into the house of the Lord and worshiped. He then went to his own house. And when he asked, they set food before him, and he ate. [21] Then his servants said to him, "What is this thing that you have done? You fasted and wept for the child while he was alive; but when the child died, you arose and ate food." [22] He said, "While the child was still alive, I fasted and wept, for I said, 'Who knows whether the Lord will be gracious to me, that the child may live?' [23] † But now he is dead. Why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he will not return to me."

Solomon’s Birth

24 †Then David comforted his wife, Bathsheba, and went in to her and lay with her, and she bore a son, and he called his name Solomon. And the Lord loved him 25 †and sent a message by Nathan the prophet. So he called his name Jedidiah,[1] because of the Lord.

Rabbah Is Captured

26 †Now Joab fought against Rabbah of the Ammonites and took the royal city. 27 †And Joab sent messengers to David and said, “I have fought against Rabbah; moreover, I have taken the city of waters. 28 †Now then gather the rest of the people together and encamp against the city and take it, lest I take the city and it be called by my name.” 29 So David gathered all the people together and went to Rabbah and fought against it and took it. 30 And he took the crown of their king from his head. The weight of it was a talent[2] of gold, and in it was a precious stone, and it was placed on David’s head. And he brought out the spoil of the city, a very great amount. 31 †And he brought out the people who were in it and set them to labor with saws and iron picks and iron axes and made them toil at[3] the brick kilns. And thus he did to all the cities of the Ammonites. Then David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

Amnon and Tamar

13 [1]‡†Now Absalom, David's son, had a beautiful sister, whose name was Tamar. And after a time Amnon, David's son, loved her. [2]†And Amnon was so tormented that he made himself ill because of his sister Tamar, for she was a virgin, and it seemed impossible to Amnon to do anything to her.
[3]†But Amnon had a friend, whose name was Jonadab, the son of Shimeah, David's brother. And Jonadab was a very crafty man. [4]And he said to him,
"O son of the king, why are you so haggard morning after morning? Will you not tell me?" Amnon said to him, "I love Tamar, my brother Absalom's sister." [5]†Jonadab said to him, "Lie down on your bed and pretend to be ill.
And when your father comes to see you, say to him, 'Let my sister Tamar come and give me bread to eat, and prepare the food in my sight, that I may see it and eat it from her hand.'" [6]So Amnon lay down and pretended to be ill. And when the king came to see him, Amnon said to the king, "Please let my sister Tamar come and make a couple of cakes in my sight, that I may eat from her hand."

[7]†Then David sent home to Tamar, saying, "Go to your brother Amnon's house and prepare food for him." [8]†So Tamar went to her brother Amnon's house, where he was lying down. And she took dough and kneaded it and made cakes in his sight and baked the cakes. [9]†And she took the pan and emptied it out before him, but he refused to eat. And Amnon said, "Send out everyone from me." So everyone went out from him. [10]Then Amnon said to Tamar, "Bring the food into the chamber, that I may eat from your hand."
And Tamar took the cakes she had made and brought them into the chamber to Amnon her brother. [11]†But when she brought them near him to eat, he took hold of her and said to her, "Come, lie with me, my sister." [12]†She answered him, "No, my brother, do not violate[1] me, for such a thing is not done in Israel; do not do this outrageous thing. [13]†As for me, where could I carry my shame? And as for you, you would be as one of the outrageous fools in Israel. Now therefore, please speak to the king, for he will not withhold me from you." [14]† But he would not listen to her, and being stronger than she, he violated her and lay with her.

15 †Then Amnon hated her with very great hatred, so that the hatred with which he hated her was greater than the love with which he had loved her.
And Amnon said to her, “Get up! Go!” 16 †But she said to him, “No, my brother, for this wrong in sending me away is greater than the other that you did to me.”[2] But he would not listen to her. 17 †He called the young man who served him and said, “Put this woman out of my presence and bolt the door after her.” 18 Now she was wearing a long robe[3] with sleeves, for thus were the virgin daughters of the king dressed. So his servant put her out and bolted the door after her. 19 †And Tamar put ashes on her head and tore the long robe that she wore. And she laid her hand on her head and went away, crying aloud as she went.

20 †And her brother Absalom said to her, “Has Amnon your brother been with you? Now hold your peace, my sister. He is your brother; do not take this to heart.” So Tamar lived, a desolate woman, in her brother Absalom’s house. 21 †When King David heard of all these things, he was very angry.[4] 22 †But Absalom spoke to Amnon neither good nor bad, for Absalom hated Amnon, because he had violated his sister Tamar.

Absalom Murders Amnon

23 ‡ ‡ After two full years Absalom had sheepshearers at Baal-hazor, which is near Ephraim, and Absalom invited all the king's sons. 24 And Absalom came to the king and said, "Behold, your servant has sheepshearers. Please let the king and his servants go with your servant." 25 † But the king said to Absalom, "No, my son, let us not all go, lest we be burdensome to you." He pressed him, but he would not go but gave him his blessing. 26 † Then Absalom said, "If not, please let my brother Amnon go with us." And the king said to him, "Why should he go with you?" 27 But Absalom pressed him until he let Amnon and all the king's sons go with him. 28 † Then Absalom commanded his servants, "Mark when Amnon's heart is merry with wine, and when I say to you, 'Strike Amnon,' then kill him. Do not fear; have I not commanded you? Be courageous and be valiant." 29 So the servants of Absalom did to Amnon as Absalom had commanded. Then all the king's sons arose, and each mounted his mule and fled.

30 † While they were on the way, news came to David, "Absalom has struck down all the king's sons, and not one of them is left." 31 † Then the king arose and tore his garments and lay on the earth. And all his servants who were standing by tore their garments. 32 † But Jonadab the son of Shimeah, David's brother, said, "Let not my lord suppose that they have killed all the young men, the king's sons, for Amnon alone is dead. For by the command of Absalom this has been determined from the day he violated his sister Tamar. 33 Now therefore let not my lord the king so take it to heart as to suppose that all the king's sons are dead, for Amnon alone is dead."

Absalom Flees to Geshur

34 ‡ † But Absalom fled. And the young man who kept the watch lifted up his eyes and looked, and behold, many people were coming from the road behind him[1] by the side of the mountain. 35 And Jonadab said to the king, “Behold, the king’s sons have come; as your servant said, so it has come about.” 36 And as soon as he had finished speaking, behold, the king’s sons came and lifted up their voice and wept. And the king also and all his servants wept very bitterly.

37 † But Absalom fled and went to Talmai the son of Ammihud, king of Geshur. And David mourned for his son day after day. 38 So Absalom fled and went to Geshur, and was there three years. 39 † And the spirit of the king[2] longed to go out[3] to Absalom, because he was comforted about Amnon, since he was dead.

Absalom Returns to Jerusalem

14 [1]†Now Joab the son of Zeruiah knew that the king's heart went out to Absalom. [2]†And Joab sent to Tekoa and brought from there a wise woman and said to her, "Pretend to be a mourner and put on mourning garments. Do not anoint yourself with oil, but behave like a woman who has been mourning many days for the dead. [3]Go to the king and speak thus to him." So Joab put the words in her mouth.

[4]†When the woman of Tekoa came to the king, she fell on her face to the ground and paid homage and said, "Save me, O king." [5]And the king said to her, "What is your trouble?" She answered, "Alas, I am a widow; my husband is dead. [6]†And your servant had two sons, and they quarreled with one another in the field. There was no one to separate them, and one struck the other and killed him. [7]†And now the whole clan has risen against your servant, and they say, 'Give up the man who struck his brother, that we may put him to death for the life of his brother whom he killed.' And so they would destroy the heir also. Thus they would quench my coal that is left and leave to my husband neither name nor remnant on the face of the earth."

[8]Then the king said to the woman, "Go to your house, and I will give orders concerning you." [9]†And the woman of Tekoa said to the king, "On me be the guilt, my lord the king, and on my father's house; let the king and his throne be guiltless." [10]The king said, "If anyone says anything to you, bring him to me, and he shall never touch you again." [11]†Then she said,
"Please let the king invoke the Lord your God, that the avenger of blood kill no more, and my son be not destroyed." He said, "As the Lord lives, not one hair of your son shall fall to the ground."

[12]Then the woman said, "Please let your servant speak a word to my lord the king." He said, "Speak." [13]†And the woman said, "Why then have you planned such a thing against the people of God? For in giving this decision the king convicts himself, inasmuch as the king does not bring his banished one home again. [14]†We must all die; we are like water spilled on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again. But God will not take away life, and he devises means so that the banished one will not remain an outcast. 15Now I have come to say this to my lord the king because the people have made me afraid, and your servant thought, ‘I will speak to the king; it may be that the king will perform the request of his servant. 16†For the king will hear and deliver his servant from the hand of the man who would destroy me and my son together from the heritage of God.’ 17†And your servant thought, ‘The word of my lord the king will set me at rest,’ for my lord the king is like the angel of God to discern good and evil. The Lord your God be with you!”

18Then the king answered the woman, “Do not hide from me anything I ask you.” And the woman said, “Let my lord the king speak.” 19†The king said, “Is the hand of Joab with you in all this?” The woman answered and said, “As surely as you live, my lord the king, one cannot turn to the right hand or to the left from anything that my lord the king has said. It was your servant Joab who commanded me; it was he who put all these words in the mouth of your servant. 20†In order to change the course of things your servant Joab did this. But my lord has wisdom like the wisdom of the angel of God to know all things that are on the earth.”

21Then the king said to Joab, “Behold now, I grant this; go, bring back the young man Absalom.” 22†And Joab fell on his face to the ground and paid homage and blessed the king. And Joab said, “Today your servant knows that I have found favor in your sight, my lord the king, in that the king has granted the request of his servant.” 23†So Joab arose and went to Geshur and brought Absalom to Jerusalem. 24†And the king said, “Let him dwell apart in his own house; he is not to come into my presence.” So Absalom lived apart in his own house and did not come into the king’s presence.

25Now in all Israel there was no one so much to be praised for his handsome appearance as Absalom. From the sole of his foot to the crown of his head there was no blemish in him. 26And when he cut the hair of his head (for at the end of every year he used to cut it; when it was heavy on him, he cut it), he weighed the hair of his head, two hundred shekels[1] by the king’s weight. 27†There were born to Absalom three sons, and one daughter whose name was Tamar. She was a beautiful woman.

28So Absalom lived two full years in Jerusalem, without coming into the king’s presence. 29Then Absalom sent for Joab, to send him to the king, but Joab would not come to him. And he sent a second time, but Joab would not come. 30 †Then he said to his servants, “See, Joab’s field is next to mine, and he has barley there; go and set it on fire.” So Absalom’s servants set the field on fire.[2] 31Then Joab arose and went to Absalom at his house and said to him, “Why have your servants set my field on fire?” 32 † Absalom answered Joab, “Behold, I sent word to you, ‘Come here, that I may send you to the king, to ask, “Why have I come from Geshur? It would be better for me to be there still.” Now therefore let me go into the presence of the king, and if there is guilt in me, let him put me to death.’” 33 †Then Joab went to the king and told him, and he summoned Absalom. So he came to the king and bowed himself on his face to the ground before the king, and the king kissed Absalom.

Absalom’s Conspiracy

15 [1]‡†After this Absalom got himself a chariot and horses, and fifty men to run before him. [2]†And Absalom used to rise early and stand beside the way of the gate. And when any man had a dispute to come before the king for judgment, Absalom would call to him and say, “From what city are you?” And when he said, “Your servant is of such and such a tribe in Israel,” [3]†Absalom would say to him, “See, your claims are good and right, but there is no man designated by the king to hear you.” [4]†Then Absalom would say, “Oh that I were judge in the land! Then every man with a dispute or cause might come to me, and I would give him justice.” [5]†And whenever a man came near to pay homage to him, he would put out his hand and take hold of him and kiss him. [6]†Thus Absalom did to all of Israel who came to the king for judgment. So Absalom stole the hearts of the men of Israel.

[7]†And at the end of four[3] years Absalom said to the king, “Please let me go and pay my vow, which I have vowed to the Lord, in Hebron. [8]†For your servant vowed a vow while I lived at Geshur in Aram, saying, ‘If the Lord will indeed bring me back to Jerusalem, then I will offer worship to[4] the Lord.’” [9]†The king said to him, “Go in peace.” So he arose and went to Hebron. [10]But Absalom sent secret messengers throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, “As soon as you hear the sound of the trumpet, then say, ‘Absalom is king at Hebron!’” [11]†With Absalom went two hundred men from Jerusalem who were invited guests, and they went in their innocence and knew nothing. [12]†And while Absalom was offering the sacrifices, he sent for[1] Ahithophel the Gilonite, David’s counselor, from his city Giloh.
And the conspiracy grew strong, and the people with Absalom kept increasing.

David Flees Jerusalem

13 ‡ And a messenger came to David, saying, “The hearts of the men of Israel have gone after Absalom.” 14 † Then David said to all his servants who were with him at Jerusalem, “Arise, and let us flee, or else there will be no escape for us from Absalom. Go quickly, lest he overtake us quickly and bring down ruin on us and strike the city with the edge of the sword.” 15 And the king’s servants said to the king, “Behold, your servants are ready to do whatever my lord the king decides.” 16 † So the king went out, and all his household after him. And the king left ten concubines to keep the house.
17 † And the king went out, and all the people after him. And they halted at the last house.
18 † And all his servants passed by him, and all the Cherethites, and all the Pelethites, and all the six hundred Gittites who had followed him from Gath, passed on before the king. 19 † Then the king said to Ittai the Gittite, “Why do you also go with us? Go back and stay with the king, for you are a foreigner and also an exile from your home. 20 You came only yesterday, and shall I today make you wander about with us, since I go I know not where?
Go back and take your brothers with you, and may the Lord show[2] steadfast love and faithfulness to you.” 21 But Ittai answered the king, “As the Lord lives, and as my lord the king lives, wherever my lord the king shall be, whether for death or for life, there also will your servant be.” 22 And David said to Ittai, “Go then, pass on.” So Ittai the Gittite passed on with all his men and all the little ones who were with him. 23 † And all the land wept aloud as all the people passed by, and the king crossed the brook Kidron, and all the people passed on toward the wilderness.
24 ‡ † And Abiathar came up, and behold, Zadok came also with all the Levites, bearing the ark of the covenant of God. And they set down the ark of God until the people had all passed out of the city. 25 † Then the king said to Zadok, “Carry the ark of God back into the city. If I find favor in the eyes of the Lord, he will bring me back and let me see both it and his dwelling place. 26 But if he says, ‘I have no pleasure in you,’ behold, here I am, let him do to me what seems good to him.” 27 † The king also said to Zadok the priest, “Are you not a seer? Go back[1] to the city in peace, with your two sons, Ahimaaz your son, and Jonathan the son of Abiathar. [28]†See, I will wait at the fords of the wilderness until word comes from you to inform me." [29]So Zadok and Abiathar carried the ark of God back to Jerusalem, and they remained there.

[30]†But David went up the ascent of the Mount of Olives, weeping as he went, barefoot and with his head covered. And all the people who were with him covered their heads, and they went up, weeping as they went. [31]†And it was told David, "Ahithophel is among the conspirators with Absalom." And David said, "O LORD, please turn the counsel of Ahithophel into foolishness."

[32]†While David was coming to the summit, where God was worshiped, behold, Hushai the Archite came to meet him with his coat torn and dirt on his head. [33]David said to him, "If you go on with me, you will be a burden to me. [34]But if you return to the city and say to Absalom, 'I will be your servant, O king; as I have been your father's servant in time past, so now I will be your servant,' then you will defeat for me the counsel of Ahithophel. [35]Are not Zadok and Abiathar the priests with you there? So whatever you hear from the king's house, tell it to Zadok and Abiathar the priests. [36]Behold, their two sons are with them there, Ahimaaz, Zadok's son, and Jonathan, Abiathar's son, and by them you shall send to me everything you hear." [37]So Hushai, David's friend, came into the city, just as Absalom was entering Jerusalem.

David and Ziba

16 [1]When David had passed a little beyond the summit, Ziba the servant of Mephibosheth met him, with a couple of donkeys saddled, bearing two hundred loaves of bread, a hundred bunches of raisins, a hundred of summer fruits, and a skin of wine. [2]And the king said to Ziba, "Why have you brought these?" Ziba answered, "The donkeys are for the king's household to ride on, the bread and summer fruit for the young men to eat, and the wine for those who faint in the wilderness to drink." [3]And the king said, "And where is your master's son?" Ziba said to the king, "Behold, he remains in Jerusalem, for he said, 'Today the house of Israel will give me back the kingdom of my father.'" [4]Then the king said to Ziba, "Behold, all that belonged to Mephibosheth is now yours." And Ziba said, "I pay homage; let me ever find favor in your sight, my lord the king."

Shimei Curses David

5 ✝ ✝ When King David came to Bahurim, there came out a man of the family of the house of Saul, whose name was Shimei, the son of Gera, and as he came he cursed continually. 6 ✝ And he threw stones at David and at all the servants of King David, and all the people and all the mighty men were on his right hand and on his left. 7 ✝ And Shimei said as he cursed, “Get out, get out, you man of blood, you worthless man! 8 ✝ The Lord has avenged on you all the blood of the house of Saul, in whose place you have reigned, and the Lord has given the kingdom into the hand of your son Absalom. See, your evil is on you, for you are a man of blood.”

9 ✝ Then Abishai the son of Zeruiah said to the king, “Why should this dead dog curse my lord the king? Let me go over and take off his head.” 10 ✝ But the king said, “What have I to do with you, you sons of Zeruiah? If he is cursing because the Lord has said to him, ‘Curse David,’ who then shall say, ‘Why have you done so?’” 11 ✝ And David said to Abishai and to all his servants, “Behold, my own son seeks my life; how much more now may this Benjaminite! Leave him alone, and let him curse, for the Lord has told him to. 12 ✝ It may be that the Lord will look on the wrong done to me,[1] and that the Lord will repay me with good for his cursing today.” 13 ✝ So David and his men went on the road, while Shimei went along on the hillside opposite him and cursed as he went and threw stones at him and flung dust.
14 And the king, and all the people who were with him, arrived weary at the Jordan.[2] And there he refreshed himself.

Absalom Enters Jerusalem

15 ‡ Now Absalom and all the people, the men of Israel, came to Jerusalem, and Ahithophel with him. 16 ‡ † And when Hushai the Archite, David's friend, came to Absalom, Hushai said to Absalom, "Long live the king! Long live the king!" 17 And Absalom said to Hushai, "Is this your loyalty to your friend? Why did you not go with your friend?" 18 † And Hushai said to Absalom, "No, for whom the Lord and this people and all the men of Israel have chosen, his I will be, and with him I will remain. 19 † And again, whom should I serve? Should it not be his son? As I have served your father, so I will serve you."

20 Then Absalom said to Ahithophel, "Give your counsel. What shall we do?" 21 † Ahithophel said to Absalom, "Go in to your father's concubines, whom he has left to keep the house, and all Israel will hear that you have made yourself a stench to your father, and the hands of all who are with you will be strengthened." 22 † So they pitched a tent for Absalom on the roof.
And Absalom went in to his father's concubines in the sight of all Israel.
23 Now in those days the counsel that Ahithophel gave was as if one consulted the word of God; so was all the counsel of Ahithophel esteemed, both by David and by Absalom.

Hushai Saves David

17 [1]†Moreover, Ahithophel said to Absalom, “Let me choose twelve thousand men, and I will arise and pursue David tonight. [2]I will come upon him while he is weary and discouraged and throw him into a panic, and all the people who are with him will flee. I will strike down only the king, [3]†and I will bring all the people back to you as a bride comes home to her husband. You seek the life of only one man,[1] and all the people will be at peace.” [4]And the advice seemed right in the eyes of Absalom and all the elders of Israel.

[5]†Then Absalom said, “Call Hushai the Archite also, and let us hear what he has to say.” [6]And when Hushai came to Absalom, Absalom said to him, “Thus has Ahithophel spoken; shall we do as he says? If not, you speak.” [7]†Then Hushai said to Absalom, “This time the counsel that Ahithophel has given is not good.” [8]†Hushai said, “You know that your father and his men are mighty men, and that they are enraged,[2] like a bear robbed of her cubs in the field. Besides, your father is expert in war; he will not spend the night with the people. [9]†Behold, even now he has hidden himself in one of the pits or in some other place. And as soon as some of the people fall[3] at the first attack, whoever hears it will say, ‘There has been a slaughter among the people who follow Absalom.’ [10]†Then even the valiant man, whose heart is like the heart of a lion, will utterly melt with fear, for all Israel knows that your father is a mighty man, and that those who are with him are valiant men. [11]†But my counsel is that all Israel be gathered to you, from Dan to Beersheba, as the sand by the sea for multitude, and that you go to battle in person. [12]†So we shall come upon him in some place where he is to be found, and we shall light upon him as the dew falls on the ground, and of him and all the men with him not one will be left. [13]If he withdraws into a city, then all Israel will bring ropes to that city, and we shall drag it into the valley, until not even a pebble is to be found there.” [14]†And Absalom and all the men of Israel said, “The counsel of Hushai the Archite is better than the counsel of Ahithophel.” For the Lord had ordained[4] to defeat the good counsel of Ahithophel, so that the Lord might bring harm upon Absalom.

15 Then Hushai said to Zadok and Abiathar the priests, “Thus and so did Ahithophel counsel Absalom and the elders of Israel, and thus and so have I counseled. 16 † Now therefore send quickly and tell David, ‘Do not stay tonight at the fords of the wilderness, but by all means pass over, lest the king and all the people who are with him be swallowed up.’” 17 † Now Jonathan and Ahimaaz were waiting at En-rogel. A female servant was to go and tell them, and they were to go and tell King David, for they were not to be seen entering the city. 18 † But a young man saw them and told Absalom.
So both of them went away quickly and came to the house of a man at Bahurim, who had a well in his courtyard. And they went down into it.
19 † And the woman took and spread a covering over the well’s mouth and scattered grain on it, and nothing was known of it. 20 † When Absalom’s servants came to the woman at the house, they said, “Where are Ahimaaz and Jonathan?” And the woman said to them, “They have gone over the brook[5] of water.” And when they had sought and could not find them, they returned to Jerusalem.

21 After they had gone, the men came up out of the well, and went and told King David. They said to David, “Arise, and go quickly over the water, for thus and so has Ahithophel counseled against you.” 22 Then David arose, and all the people who were with him, and they crossed the Jordan. By daybreak not one was left who had not crossed the Jordan.

23 † When Ahithophel saw that his counsel was not followed, he saddled his donkey and went off home to his own city. He set his house in order and hanged himself, and he died and was buried in the tomb of his father.

24 † Then David came to Mahanaim. And Absalom crossed the Jordan with all the men of Israel. 25 † Now Absalom had set Amasa over the army instead of Joab. Amasa was the son of a man named Ithra the Ishmaelite,[1] who had married Abigal the daughter of Nahash, sister of Zeruiah, Joab’s mother.
26 And Israel and Absalom encamped in the land of Gilead.

27 † When David came to Mahanaim, Shobi the son of Nahash from Rabbah of the Ammonites, and Machir the son of Ammiel from Lo-debar, and Barzillai the Gileadite from Rogelim, 28 † brought beds, basins, and earthen vessels, wheat, barley, flour, parched grain, beans and lentils,[2] 29 honey and curds and sheep and cheese from the herd, for David and the people with him to eat, for they said, “The people are hungry and weary and thirsty in the wilderness.”

Absalom Killed

18 [1]‡†Then David mustered the men who were with him and set over them commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds. [2]†And David sent out the army, one third under the command of Joab, one third under the command of Abishai the son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, and one third under the command of Ittai the Gittite. And the king said to the men, "I myself will also go out with you." [3]†But the men said, "You shall not go out. For if we flee, they will not care about us. If half of us die, they will not care about us. But you are worth ten thousand of us. Therefore it is better that you send us help from the city." [4]†The king said to them, "Whatever seems best to you I will do." So the king stood at the side of the gate, while all the army marched out by hundreds and by thousands. [5]†And the king ordered Joab and Abishai and Ittai, "Deal gently for my sake with the young man Absalom." And all the people heard when the king gave orders to all the commanders about Absalom.

[6]†So the army went out into the field against Israel, and the battle was fought in the forest of Ephraim. [7]†And the men of Israel were defeated there by the servants of David, and the loss there was great on that day, twenty thousand men. [8]†The battle spread over the face of all the country, and the forest devoured more people that day than the sword.

[9]†And Absalom happened to meet the servants of David. Absalom was riding on his mule, and the mule went under the thick branches of a great oak,[3] and his head caught fast in the oak, and he was suspended between heaven and earth, while the mule that was under him went on. [10]†And a certain man saw it and told Joab, "Behold, I saw Absalom hanging in an oak." [11]Joab said to the man who told him, "What, you saw him! Why then did you not strike him there to the ground? I would have been glad to give you ten pieces of silver and a belt." [12]But the man said to Joab, "Even if I felt in my hand the weight of a thousand pieces of silver, I would not reach out my hand against the king's son, for in our hearing the king commanded you and Abishai and Ittai, 'For my sake protect the young man Absalom.' [13]On the other hand, if I had dealt treacherously against his life[1] (and there is nothing hidden from the king), then you yourself would have stood aloof.” 14Joab said, “I will not waste time like this with you.” And he took three javelins in his hand and thrust them into the heart of Absalom while he was still alive in the oak. 15 † And ten young men, Joab’s armor-bearers, surrounded Absalom and struck him and killed him.

16 † Then Joab blew the trumpet, and the troops came back from pursuing Israel, for Joab restrained them. 17 † And they took Absalom and threw him into a great pit in the forest and raised over him a very great heap of stones.
And all Israel fled every one to his own home. 18 † Now Absalom in his lifetime had taken and set up for himself the pillar that is in the King’s Valley, for he said, “I have no son to keep my name in remembrance.” He called the pillar after his own name, and it is called Absalom’s monument[2] to this day.

David Hears of Absalom's Death

19 † Then Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said, "Let me run and carry news to the king that the LORD has delivered him from the hand of his enemies." 20 † And Joab said to him, "You are not to carry news today. You may carry news another day, but today you shall carry no news, because the king's son is dead." 21 † Then Joab said to the Cushite, "Go, tell the king what you have seen." The Cushite bowed before Joab, and ran. 22 Then Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said again to Joab, "Come what may, let me also run after the Cushite." And Joab said, "Why will you run, my son, seeing that you will have no reward for the news?" 23 † "Come what may," he said, "I will run."
So he said to him, "Run." Then Ahimaaz ran by the way of the plain, and outran the Cushite.

24 † Now David was sitting between the two gates, and the watchman went up to the roof of the gate by the wall, and when he lifted up his eyes and looked, he saw a man running alone. 25 † The watchman called out and told the king. And the king said, "If he is alone, there is news in his mouth." And he drew nearer and nearer. 26 The watchman saw another man running. And the watchman called to the gate and said, "See, another man running alone!" The king said, "He also brings news." 27 The watchman said, "I think the running of the first is like the running of Ahimaaz the son of Zadok."
And the king said, "He is a good man and comes with good news."

28 † Then Ahimaaz cried out to the king, "All is well." And he bowed before the king with his face to the earth and said, "Blessed be the LORD your God, who has delivered up the men who raised their hand against my lord the king." 29 † And the king said, "Is it well with the young man Absalom?" Ahimaaz answered, "When Joab sent the king's servant, your servant, I saw a great commotion, but I do not know what it was." 30 And the king said, "Turn aside and stand here." So he turned aside and stood still.

David’s Grief

31 And behold, the Cushite came, and the Cushite said, “Good news for my lord the king! For the Lord has delivered you this day from the hand of all who rose up against you.” 32 The king said to the Cushite, “Is it well with the young man Absalom?” And the Cushite answered, “May the enemies of my lord the king and all who rise up against you for evil be like that young man.” 33 [1] And the king was deeply moved and went up to the chamber over the gate and wept. And as he went, he said, “O my son Absalom, my son, my son Absalom! Would I had died instead of you, O Absalom, my son, my son!”

Joab Rebukes David

19 [1]†It was told Joab, “Behold, the king is weeping and mourning for Absalom.” [2]So the victory that day was turned into mourning for all the people, for the people heard that day, “The king is grieving for his son.” [3]† And the people stole into the city that day as people steal in who are ashamed when they flee in battle. [4]†The king covered his face, and the king cried with a loud voice, “O my son Absalom, O Absalom, my son, my son!” [5]Then Joab came into the house to the king and said, “You have today covered with shame the faces of all your servants, who have this day saved your life and the lives of your sons and your daughters and the lives of your wives and your concubines, [6]† because you love those who hate you and hate those who love you. For you have made it clear today that commanders and servants are nothing to you, for today I know that if Absalom were alive and all of us were dead today, then you would be pleased. [7]†Now therefore arise, go out and speak kindly to your servants, for I swear by the Lord, if you do not go, not a man will stay with you this night, and this will be worse for you than all the evil that has come upon you from your youth until now.” [8]† Then the king arose and took his seat in the gate. And the people were all told, “Behold, the king is sitting in the gate.” And all the people came before the king.

David Returns to Jerusalem

Now Israel had fled every man to his own home. 9 †And all the people were arguing throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, “The king delivered us from the hand of our enemies and saved us from the hand of the Philistines, and now he has fled out of the land from Absalom. 10 †But Absalom, whom we anointed over us, is dead in battle. Now therefore why do you say nothing about bringing the king back?”

11 †And King David sent this message to Zadok and Abiathar the priests: “Say to the elders of Judah, ‘Why should you be the last to bring the king back to his house, when the word of all Israel has come to the king?[2] 12 You are my brothers; you are my bone and my flesh. Why then should you be the last to bring back the king?’ 13 †And say to Amasa, ‘Are you not my bone and my flesh? God do so to me and more also, if you are not commander of my army from now on in place of Joab.’” 14 †And he swayed the heart of all the men of Judah as one man, so that they sent word to the king, “Return, both you and all your servants.” 15 †So the king came back to the Jordan, and Judah came to Gilgal to meet the king and to bring the king over the Jordan.

David Pardons His Enemies

16 ‡ ‡ † And Shimei the son of Gera, the Benjaminite, from Bahurim, hurried to come down with the men of Judah to meet King David. 17 And with him were a thousand men from Benjamin. And Ziba the servant of the house of Saul, with his fifteen sons and his twenty servants, rushed down to the Jordan before the king, 18 and they crossed the ford to bring over the king's household and to do his pleasure. And Shimei the son of Gera fell down before the king, as he was about to cross the Jordan, 19 and said to the king, "Let not my lord hold me guilty or remember how your servant did wrong on the day my lord the king left Jerusalem. Do not let the king take it to heart. 20 † For your servant knows that I have sinned. Therefore, behold, I have come this day, the first of all the house of Joseph to come down to meet my lord the king." 21 † Abishai the son of Zeruiah answered, "Shall not Shimei be put to death for this, because he cursed the LORD's anointed?" 22 † But David said, "What have I to do with you, you sons of Zeruiah, that you should this day be as an adversary to me? Shall anyone be put to death in Israel this day? For do I not know that I am this day king over Israel?" 23 † And the king said to Shimei, "You shall not die." And the king gave him his oath.

24 † And Mephibosheth the son of Saul came down to meet the king. He had neither taken care of his feet nor trimmed his beard nor washed his clothes, from the day the king departed until the day he came back in safety.
25 And when he came to Jerusalem to meet the king, the king said to him,
"Why did you not go with me, Mephibosheth?" 26 † He answered, "My lord, O king, my servant deceived me, for your servant said to him, 'I will saddle a donkey for myself,[1] that I may ride on it and go with the king.' For your servant is lame. 27 † He has slandered your servant to my lord the king. But my lord the king is like the angel of God; do therefore what seems good to you. 28 † For all my father's house were but men doomed to death before my lord the king, but you set your servant among those who eat at your table.
What further right have I, then, to cry to the king?" 29 † And the king said to him, "Why speak any more of your affairs? I have decided: you and Ziba shall divide the land.” [30]And Mephibosheth said to the king, “Oh, let him take it all, since my lord the king has come safely home.”

[31]†Now Barzillai the Gileadite had come down from Rogelim, and he went on with the king to the Jordan, to escort him over the Jordan. [32]†Barzillai was a very aged man, eighty years old. He had provided the king with food while he stayed at Mahanaim, for he was a very wealthy man. [33]†And the king said to Barzillai, “Come over with me, and I will provide for you with me in Jerusalem.” [34]But Barzillai said to the king, “How many years have I still to live, that I should go up with the king to Jerusalem? [35]†I am this day eighty years old. Can I discern what is pleasant and what is not? Can your servant taste what he eats or what he drinks? Can I still listen to the voice of singing men and singing women? Why then should your servant be an added burden to my lord the king? [36]Your servant will go a little way over the Jordan with the king. Why should the king repay me with such a reward? [37]†Please let your servant return, that I may die in my own city near the grave of my father and my mother. But here is your servant Chimham. Let him go over with my lord the king, and do for him whatever seems good to you.” [38]And the king answered, “Chimham shall go over with me, and I will do for him whatever seems good to you, and all that you desire of me I will do for you.” [39]†Then all the people went over the Jordan, and the king went over. And the king kissed Barzillai and blessed him, and he returned to his own home. [40]†The king went on to Gilgal, and Chimham went on with him. All the people of Judah, and also half the people of Israel, brought the king on his way.

[41]Then all the men of Israel came to the king and said to the king, “Why have our brothers the men of Judah stolen you away and brought the king and his household over the Jordan, and all David’s men with him?” [42]†All the men of Judah answered the men of Israel, “Because the king is our close relative. Why then are you angry over this matter? Have we eaten at all at the king’s expense? Or has he given us any gift?” [43]†And the men of Israel answered the men of Judah, “We have ten shares in the king, and in David also we have more than you. Why then did you despise us? Were we not the first to speak of bringing back our king?” But the words of the men of Judah were fiercer than the words of the men of Israel.

The Rebellion of Sheba

20 [1]†Now there happened to be there a worthless man, whose name was Sheba, the son of Bichri, a Benjaminite. And he blew the trumpet and said,

" We have no portion in David,
and we have no inheritance in the son of Jesse;
every man to his tents, O Israel!"

[2]So all the men of Israel withdrew from David and followed Sheba the son of Bichri. But the men of Judah followed their king steadfastly from the Jordan to Jerusalem.

[3]†And David came to his house at Jerusalem. And the king took the ten concubines whom he had left to care for the house and put them in a house under guard and provided for them, but did not go in to them. So they were shut up until the day of their death, living as if in widowhood.

[4]†Then the king said to Amasa, "Call the men of Judah together to me within three days, and be here yourself." [5]So Amasa went to summon Judah, but he delayed beyond the set time that had been appointed him. [6]†And David said to Abishai, "Now Sheba the son of Bichri will do us more harm than Absalom. Take your lord's servants and pursue him, lest he get himself to fortified cities and escape from us."[1] [7]†And there went out after him Joab's men and the Cherethites and the Pelethites, and all the mighty men.
They went out from Jerusalem to pursue Sheba the son of Bichri. [8]†When they were at the great stone that is in Gibeon, Amasa came to meet them.
Now Joab was wearing a soldier's garment, and over it was a belt with a sword in its sheath fastened on his thigh, and as he went forward it fell out.
[9]†And Joab said to Amasa, "Is it well with you, my brother?" And Joab took Amasa by the beard with his right hand to kiss him. [10]†But Amasa did not observe the sword that was in Joab's hand. So Joab struck him with it in the stomach and spilled his entrails to the ground without striking a second blow, and he died.

Then Joab and Abishai his brother pursued Sheba the son of Bichri.
11 † And one of Joab's young men took his stand by Amasa and said,
"Whoever favors Joab, and whoever is for David, let him follow Joab." 12 And Amasa lay wallowing in his blood in the highway. And anyone who came by, seeing him, stopped. And when the man saw that all the people stopped, he carried Amasa out of the highway into the field and threw a garment over him. 13 † When he was taken out of the highway, all the people went on after Joab to pursue Sheba the son of Bichri.
14 † And Sheba passed through all the tribes of Israel to Abel of Bethmaacah,[2] and all the Bichrites[3] assembled and followed him in. 15 † And all the men who were with Joab came and besieged him in Abel of Bethmaacah. They cast up a mound against the city, and it stood against the rampart, and they were battering the wall to throw it down. 16 Then a wise woman called from the city, "Listen! Listen! Tell Joab, 'Come here, that I may speak to you.'" 17 And he came near her, and the woman said, "Are you Joab?" He answered, "I am." Then she said to him, "Listen to the words of your servant." And he answered, "I am listening." 18 † Then she said, "They used to say in former times, 'Let them but ask counsel at Abel,' and so they settled a matter. 19 † I am one of those who are peaceable and faithful in Israel. You seek to destroy a city that is a mother in Israel. Why will you swallow up the heritage of the LORD?" 20 Joab answered, "Far be it from me, far be it, that I should swallow up or destroy! 21 † That is not true. But a man of the hill country of Ephraim, called Sheba the son of Bichri, has lifted up his hand against King David. Give up him alone, and I will withdraw from the city." And the woman said to Joab, "Behold, his head shall be thrown to you over the wall." 22 Then the woman went to all the people in her wisdom.
And they cut off the head of Sheba the son of Bichri and threw it out to Joab. So he blew the trumpet, and they dispersed from the city, every man to his home. And Joab returned to Jerusalem to the king.
23 † Now Joab was in command of all the army of Israel; and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was in command of the Cherethites and the Pelethites; 24 † and Adoram was in charge of the forced labor; and Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was the recorder; 25 † and Sheva was secretary; and Zadok and Abiathar were priests; 26 † and Ira the Jairite was also David's priest.

David Avenges the Gibeonites

21 [1]Now there was a famine in the days of David for three years, year after year. And David sought the face of the Lord. And the Lord said, "There is bloodguilt on Saul and on his house, because he put the Gibeonites to death." [2]So the king called the Gibeonites and spoke to them. Now the Gibeonites were not of the people of Israel but of the remnant of the Amorites. Although the people of Israel had sworn to spare them, Saul had sought to strike them down in his zeal for the people of Israel and Judah. [3]And David said to the Gibeonites, "What shall I do for you? And how shall I make atonement, that you may bless the heritage of the Lord?" [4]The Gibeonites said to him, "It is not a matter of silver or gold between us and Saul or his house; neither is it for us to put any man to death in Israel." And he said, "What do you say that I shall do for you?" [5]They said to the king, "The man who consumed us and planned to destroy us, so that we should have no place in all the territory of Israel, [6]let seven of his sons be given to us, so that we may hang them before the Lord at Gibeah of Saul, the chosen of the Lord." And the king said, "I will give them."

[7]But the king spared Mephibosheth, the son of Saul's son Jonathan, because of the oath of the Lord that was between them, between David and Jonathan the son of Saul. [8]The king took the two sons of Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, whom she bore to Saul, Armoni and Mephibosheth; and the five sons of Merab[1] the daughter of Saul, whom she bore to Adriel the son of Barzillai the Meholathite; [9]and he gave them into the hands of the Gibeonites, and they hanged them on the mountain before the Lord, and the seven of them perished together. They were put to death in the first days of harvest, at the beginning of barley harvest.

[10]Then Rizpah the daughter of Aiah took sackcloth and spread it for herself on the rock, from the beginning of harvest until rain fell upon them from the heavens. And she did not allow the birds of the air to come upon them by day, or the beasts of the field by night. [11]When David was told what Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, the concubine of Saul, had done, [12]David went and took the bones of Saul and the bones of his son Jonathan from the men of Jabesh-gilead, who had stolen them from the public square of Bethshan, where the Philistines had hanged them, on the day the Philistines killed Saul on Gilboa. 13And he brought up from there the bones of Saul and the bones of his son Jonathan; and they gathered the bones of those who were hanged. 14†And they buried the bones of Saul and his son Jonathan in the land of Benjamin in Zela, in the tomb of Kish his father. And they did all that the king commanded. And after that God responded to the plea for the land.

War with the Philistines

15 ‡ † There was war again between the Philistines and Israel, and David went down together with his servants, and they fought against the Philistines. And David grew weary. 16 † And Ishbi-benob, one of the descendants of the giants, whose spear weighed three hundred shekels[1] of bronze, and who was armed with a new sword, thought to kill David. 17 † But Abishai the son of Zeruiah came to his aid and attacked the Philistine and killed him. Then David's men swore to him, "You shall no longer go out with us to battle, lest you quench the lamp of Israel."

18 † After this there was again war with the Philistines at Gob. Then Sibbecai the Hushathite struck down Saph, who was one of the descendants of the giants. 19 † And there was again war with the Philistines at Gob, and Elhanan the son of Jaare-oregim, the Bethlehemite, struck down Goliath the Gittite, the shaft of whose spear was like a weaver's beam.[2] 20 † And there was again war at Gath, where there was a man of great stature, who had six fingers on each hand, and six toes on each foot, twenty-four in number, and he also was descended from the giants. 21 And when he taunted Israel, Jonathan the son of Shimei, David's brother, struck him down. 22 These four were descended from the giants in Gath, and they fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

David's Song of Deliverance

22 [1]And David spoke to the Lord the words of this song on the day when the Lord delivered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul. [2]†He said,

" The Lord is my rock and my fortress and my deliverer,
[3] my[3] God, my rock, in whom I take refuge,
my shield, and the horn of my salvation,
my stronghold and my refuge,
my savior; you save me from violence.
[4] I call upon the Lord, who is worthy to be praised,
and I am saved from my enemies.

[5]†† " For the waves of death encompassed me,
the torrents of destruction assailed me;[4] [6]† the cords of Sheol entangled me;
the snares of death confronted me.

[7]† " In my distress I called upon the Lord;
to my God I called.
From his temple he heard my voice,
and my cry came to his ears.

[8]† " Then the earth reeled and rocked;
the foundations of the heavens trembled and quaked, because he was angry.
[9]† Smoke went up from his nostrils,[5]
and devouring fire from his mouth;
glowing coals flamed forth from him.

10 He bowed the heavens and came down;
thick darkness was under his feet.
11 He rode on a cherub and flew;
he was seen on the wings of the wind.
12 He made darkness around him his canopy, thick clouds, a gathering of water.
13 Out of the brightness before him
coals of fire flamed forth.
14 The Lord thundered from heaven,
and the Most High uttered his voice.
15 And he sent out arrows and scattered them;
lightning, and routed them.
16 Then the channels of the sea were seen;
the foundations of the world were laid bare,
at the rebuke of the Lord,
at the blast of the breath of his nostrils.

17 "He sent from on high, he took me;
he drew me out of many waters.
18 He rescued me from my strong enemy,
from those who hated me,
for they were too mighty for me.
19 They confronted me in the day of my calamity,
but the Lord was my support.
20 He brought me out into a broad place;
he rescued me, because he delighted in me.

21 "The Lord dealt with me according to my righteousness;
according to the cleanness of my hands he rewarded me.
22 For I have kept the ways of the Lord and have not wickedly departed from my God.

23 For all his rules were before me,
and from his statutes I did not turn aside.
24 I was blameless before him,
and I kept myself from guilt.
25 And the Lord has rewarded me according to my righteousness,
according to my cleanness in his sight.
26“ With the merciful you show yourself merciful;
with the blameless man you show yourself
blameless;
27 with the purified you deal purely,
and with the crooked you make yourself seem tortuous.
28 You save a humble people, but your eyes are on the haughty to bring them down.
29† For you are my lamp, O Lord,
and my God lightens my darkness.
30 For by you I can run against a troop,
and by my God I can leap over a wall.
31 This God—his way is perfect;
the word of the Lord proves true;
he is a shield for all those who take refuge in him.

32†“ For who is God, but the Lord?
And who is a rock, except our God?
33† This God is my strong refuge and has made my[1] way blameless.[2] 34 He made my feet like the feet of a deer and set me secure on the heights.
35 He trains my hands for war,
so that my arms can bend a bow of bronze.
36 You have given me the shield of your salvation,

and your gentleness made me great.
37† You gave a wide place for my steps under me, and my feet[3] did not slip;
38 I pursued my enemies and destroyed them, and did not turn back until they were consumed.
39 I consumed them; I thrust them through, so that they did not rise;
they fell under my feet.

40 For you equipped me with strength for the battle;
you made those who rise against me sink
under me.
41 You made my enemies turn their backs to me,[1]
those who hated me, and I destroyed them.
42† They looked, but there was none to save;
they cried to the Lord, but he did not answer them.
43† I beat them fine as the dust of the earth;
I crushed them and stamped them down
like the mire of the streets.

44“ You delivered me from strife with my people;[2]
you kept me as the head of the nations;
people whom I had not known served me.
45 Foreigners came cringing to me;
as soon as they heard of me, they obeyed me.
46 Foreigners lost heart
and came trembling[3] out of their fortresses.
47“ The Lord lives, and blessed be my rock, and exalted be my God, the rock of my

salvation,
48 the God who gave me vengeance
and brought down peoples under me, 49 who brought me out from my enemies;
you exalted me above those who rose against me;
you delivered me from men of violence.
50 For this I will praise you, O Lord, among the nations,
and sing praises to your name.
51 † Great salvation he brings[4] to his king,
and shows steadfast love to his anointed,
to David and his offspring forever.”

The Last Words of David

23 [1]†††Now these are the last words of David:

The oracle of David, the son of Jesse,
the oracle of the man who was raised on high,
the anointed of the God of Jacob,
the sweet psalmist of Israel:[5]

[2]† "The Spirit of the LORD speaks by me;
his word is on my tongue.
[3]† The God of Israel has spoken;
the Rock of Israel has said to me:
When one rules justly over men,
ruling in the fear of God,
[4]† he dawns on them like the morning light,
like the sun shining forth on a cloudless morning,
like rain[6] that makes grass to sprout from the earth.

[5]† "For does not my house stand so with God?
For he has made with me an everlasting covenant,
ordered in all things and secure.
For will he not cause to prosper
all my help and my desire?
[6]† But worthless men[1] are all like thorns that are thrown away,
for they cannot be taken with the hand;
[7] but the man who touches them arms himself with iron and the shaft of a spear,

and they are utterly consumed with fire.”[2]

David’s Mighty Men

8 These are the names of the mighty men whom David had: Josheb-basshebeth a Tahchemonite; he was chief of the three.[3] He wielded his spear[4] against eight hundred whom he killed at one time.
9 And next to him among the three mighty men was Eleazar the son of Dodo, son of Ahohi. He was with David when they defied the Philistines who were gathered there for battle, and the men of Israel withdrew. 10He rose and struck down the Philistines until his hand was weary, and his hand clung to the sword. And the Lord brought about a great victory that day, and the men returned after him only to strip the slain.
11And next to him was Shammah, the son of Agee the Hararite. The Philistines gathered together at Lehi, where there was a plot of ground full of lentils, and the men fled from the Philistines. 12But he took his stand in the midst of the plot and defended it and struck down the Philistines, and the Lord worked a great victory.
13And three of the thirty chief men went down and came about harvest time to David at the cave of Adullam, when a band of Philistines was encamped in the Valley of Rephaim. 14David was then in the stronghold, and the garrison of the Philistines was then at Bethlehem. 15And David said longingly, “Oh, that someone would give me water to drink from the well of Bethlehem that is by the gate!” 16Then the three mighty men broke through the camp of the Philistines and drew water out of the well of Bethlehem that was by the gate and carried and brought it to David. But he would not drink of it. He poured it out to the Lord 17and said, “Far be it from me, O Lord, that I should do this. Shall I drink the blood of the men who went at the risk of their lives?” Therefore he would not drink it. These things the three mighty men did.
18Now Abishai, the brother of Joab, the son of Zeruiah, was chief of the thirty.[5] And he wielded his spear against three hundred men[6] and killed them and won a name beside the three. 19He was the most renowned of the thirty[7] and became their commander, but he did not attain to the three.
20And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was a valiant man[8] of Kabzeel, a doer of great deeds. He struck down two ariels[9] of Moab. He also went down and struck down a lion in a pit on a day when snow had fallen. [21]And he struck down an Egyptian, a handsome man. The Egyptian had a spear in his hand, but Benaiah went down to him with a staff and snatched the spear out of the Egyptian's hand and killed him with his own spear. [22]These things did Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and won a name beside the three mighty men. [23]He was renowned among the thirty, but he did not attain to the three. And David set him over his bodyguard.

[24]†Asahel the brother of Joab was one of the thirty; Elhanan the son of Dodo of Bethlehem, [25]†Shammah of Harod, Elika of Harod, [26]Helez the Paltite, Ira the son of Ikkesh of Tekoa, [27]†Abiezer of Anathoth, Mebunnai the Hushathite, [28]†Zalmon the Ahohite, Maharai of Netophah, [29]†Heleb the son of Baanah of Netophah, Ittai the son of Ribai of Gibeah of the people of Benjamin, [30]†Benaiah of Pirathon, Hiddai of the brooks of Gaash, [31]†Abi-albon the Arbathite, Azmaveth of Bahurim, [32]†Eliahba the Shaalbonite, the sons of Jashen, Jonathan, [33]†Shammah the Hararite, Ahiam the son of Sharar the Hararite, [34]†Eliphelet the son of Ahasbai of Maacah, Eliam the son of Ahithophel of Gilo, [35]†Hezro[1] of Carmel, Paarai the Arbite, [36]Igal the son of Nathan of Zobah, Bani the Gadite, [37]†Zelek the Ammonite, Naharai of Beeroth, the armor-bearer of Joab the son of Zeruiah, [38]†Ira the Ithrite, Gareb the Ithrite, [39]†Uriah the Hittite: thirty-seven in all.

David's Census

24 [1]†Again the anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel, and he incited David against them, saying, "Go, number Israel and Judah." [2]†So the king said to Joab, the commander of the army,[2] who was with him, "Go through all the tribes of Israel, from Dan to Beersheba, and number the people, that I may know the number of the people." [3]†But Joab said to the king, "May the Lord your God add to the people a hundred times as many as they are, while the eyes of my lord the king still see it, but why does my lord the king delight in this thing?" [4]But the king's word prevailed against Joab and the commanders of the army. So Joab and the commanders of the army went out from the presence of the king to number the people of Israel.
[5]†They crossed the Jordan and began from Aroer,[3] and from the city that is in the middle of the valley, toward Gad and on to Jazer. [6]†Then they came to Gilead, and to Kadesh in the land of the Hittites;[4] and they came to Dan, and from Dan[5] they went around to Sidon, [7]†and came to the fortress of Tyre and to all the cities of the Hivites and Canaanites; and they went out to the Negeb of Judah at Beersheba. [8]So when they had gone through all the land, they came to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days.
[9]†And Joab gave the sum of the numbering of the people to the king: in Israel there were 800,000 valiant men who drew the sword, and the men of Judah were 500,000.

The Lord's Judgment of David's Sin

10 But David's heart struck him after he had numbered the people. And David said to the Lord, "I have sinned greatly in what I have done. But now, O Lord, please take away the iniquity of your servant, for I have done very foolishly." 11 And when David arose in the morning, the word of the Lord came to the prophet Gad, David's seer, saying, 12 "Go and say to David,
'Thus says the Lord, Three things I offer[6] you. Choose one of them, that I may do it to you.'" 13 † So Gad came to David and told him, and said to him, "Shall three[7] years of famine come to you in your land? Or will you flee three months before your foes while they pursue you? Or shall there be three days' pestilence in your land? Now consider, and decide what answer
I shall return to him who sent me." 14 Then David said to Gad, "I am in great distress. Let us fall into the hand of the Lord, for his mercy is great; but let me not fall into the hand of man."

15 † So the Lord sent a pestilence on Israel from the morning until the appointed time. And there died of the people from Dan to Beersheba 70,000 men. 16 † And when the angel stretched out his hand toward Jerusalem to destroy it, the Lord relented from the calamity and said to the angel who was working destruction among the people, "It is enough; now stay your hand." And the angel of the Lord was by the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite. 17 † Then David spoke to the Lord when he saw the angel who was striking the people, and said, "Behold, I have sinned, and I have done wickedly. But these sheep, what have they done? Please let your hand be against me and against my father's house."

David Builds an Altar

18 † And Gad came that day to David and said to him, “Go up, raise an altar to the Lord on the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite.” 19 So David went up at Gad’s word, as the Lord commanded. 20 † And when Araunah looked down, he saw the king and his servants coming on toward him. And Araunah went out and paid homage to the king with his face to the ground.
21 And Araunah said, “Why has my lord the king come to his servant?”
David said, “To buy the threshing floor from you, in order to build an altar to the Lord, that the plague may be averted from the people.” 22 Then Araunah said to David, “Let my lord the king take and offer up what seems good to him. Here are the oxen for the burnt offering and the threshing sledges and the yokes of the oxen for the wood. 23 All this, O king, Araunah gives to the king.” And Araunah said to the king, “May the Lord your God accept you.” 24 † But the king said to Araunah, “No, but I will buy it from you for a price. I will not offer burnt offerings to the Lord my God that cost me nothing.” So David bought the threshing floor and the oxen for fifty shekels[1] of silver. 25 † And David built there an altar to the Lord and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings. So the Lord responded to the plea for the land, and the plague was averted from Israel.

2 Samuel

Originally, 1 and 2 Samuel were one long document, as the flow of the story itself shows (see outline, pp 433–34). The document was divided into two books at a later date, perhaps when it was translated for the LXX. For an introduction to the entire document, see pp 431–34.

For more of Luther's insights on this Book, see Treatise on the Last Words of David (AE 15:265–352).

The Lord's Dwelling Place and Throne

The mysterious character of the tabernacle and the ark of the covenant is, in part, due to frequent references to their movement and uses in Israel's history. They appear in holy processions, on battlefields, in quiet villages, and on the controversial "high places" that Canaanites and unfaithful Israelites used for worshiping false gods (see pp 526–27).

The changing setting for these sacred vessels was due to their service as physical markers of God's presence with Israel and His approval. For example, passages describe the ark as God's throne, from which He reigned over His kingdom of priests (1Sm 4:4). The tabernacle is described as God's dwelling, before which Israelites were to offer all their sacrifices and around which they gathered for three annual sacred feasts (Ex 25–40). Rather than emphasizing His universal rule by the tabernacle and ark, the Lord commissioned these vessels to teach Israel unity, that He was distinguishing them from other people. He had separated them from the beliefs and forms of worship practiced by the nations to see that there was one God worshiped at one altar (Lv 17:5).

Failure to respect these markers of God's presence brought physical and spiritual dangers. For example, misuse of the ark brought illness (1Sm 5) and even death (2Sm 6:6–7). Only the priests and Levites were to enter and attend to the tabernacle. Respect for the ark of the covenant brought blessing (2Sm 6:12).

The respect God demanded for these sacred vessels stands in marked contrast to the loss of all sense of holiness that plagues modern culture. Today, sacred art, buildings, and books are often treated no differently from daily objects. As you read about the tabernacle and the ark, consider the markers of God's presence in your church, in your home, and perhaps even in your community. Considered respectfully, these witnesses of God's Law and Gospel speak to your daily need for devotion to the one true God.

Study Notes

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:1 striking down the Amalekites. Revenge for when they had raided Ziklag and taken David's wives (1Sm 30). See note, Ex 17:8. Ziklag. See note, 1Sm 27:6.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:2 clothes torn and dirt on his head. Symbols of mourning. See note, Jb 1:20. fell to the ground. Sign of obedient honor. See note, 14:4.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:6 Mount Gilboa. See color map 2.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:8 Amalekite. See note, v 13.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:9–10 Cf 1Sm 31:4–5. Saul's armor may have prevented the sword from penetrating deeply, or perhaps the Amalekite plundered the battle site after Saul's death.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:10 sure that he could not live. Attempt to justify the assisted suicide. crown. Kings often went to battle in full royal clothing (cf 1Ki 22:30–32). armlet. Royal bracelet worn on the upper arm. I have brought. Messenger implies that David is Saul's rightful successor. He may have hoped for a reward.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:11 clothes … tore. Symbol of David's grief that his enemy Saul had died. See note, Jb 1:20.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:12 They not only mourned the death of Saul and Jonathan but also the defeat at Gilboa, which was a national tragedy.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:13 David confirmed the man's identity before taking action. Amalekite. Resident aliens who owed obedience to King Saul.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:14 anointed? Hbr mashiach. Used also in OT for the promised Messiah. To destroy the Lord's anointed king was to reject the Lord, who had designated him Israel's leader. See note, 1Sm 10:1.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:15 The Amalekite was guilty of murder and deserved to die (v 10). David commissioned a soldier to carry out the execution.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:16 Your blood be on your head. Expression of condemnation. See note, 1Ki 2:31.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:1–16 The Amalekite confesses that he had assisted with Saul's suicide and now expects a reward. Instead, he receives capital punishment for killing the Lord's anointed king. God is the author of human life, and He wants innocent human life protected. Yet, He has given the sword to the government for the punishment of evildoers. Most important, God is the author of eternal life in the Messiah, Jesus, our Savior. • Lord, thank You for good government. Increase my respect for Your gift of human life. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:17 lamented. Lit, "chanted this lament."

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:18 it should be taught to the people. David wanted his lament to become a national song of mourning to pay tribute to Israel's first royal family and to remind the people that the Lord would bless them through the office of king. See note, Pr 1:8 about education in Israel. Despite Saul's weaknesses, the Israelites had firmly united under him against their enemies. Book of Jashar. See note, Jsh 10:12–13.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:19–27 A funeral dirge.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:19 glory. Or, "gazelle." Image of a powerful buck, master of the area it inhabits, lying dead in a place that should have provided protection.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:20 Gath … Ashkelon. See color map 1. streets. Likely refers to street bazaars.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:21 mountains … no dew or rain upon you. Because Saul's blood had been poured out on them. defiled. With dirt and blood. anointed with oil. To keep Saul's wicker and leather shield from growing brittle. Supple leather better resisted arrows.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:22 Saul and Jonathan had many military victories.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:23 beloved and lovely! Terms of deep affection. Of Saul's sons, David mentions only Jonathan, his trusted confidant and companion.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:24 clothed you. Saul's victories had created a stable society that allowed the Israelites to prosper. scarlet … gold. Most expensive wool cloth, with fine embroidery.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:26 surpassing the love of women. David loved Jonathan as a brother. See note, 1Sm 18:1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:27 the weapons of war perished! Mourning the loss of two great warriors. Cf v 22.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:17–27 David sings not only of his love for his friend Jonathan but also of his respect and admiration for King Saul, a man who had forced him to live as a fugitive for more than 12 years. Like David, we should not delight in our enemies' downfall but commend their families to God in prayer. How mercifully God treats us, even though we by nature were His enemies (Rm 5:10). • I praise You, O God, for Your amazing grace to me and all sinners in Christ Jesus. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:1 Because Saul had died, David wondered whether he should seek a leadership role among the Israelites. inquired. See "seek," p 843; see also note, 1Sm 23:10–13. Hebron. See color map 1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:2 Jezreel … Carmel. Located in Judah. See map, p 468.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:3 The large group was probably more than the walled city of Hebron could hold, so they settled in unwalled villages in the area.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:4 anointed. Marked as king. See note, 1Sm 10:1. David had been anointed by Samuel (1Sm 16:5–13). At first, David reigned only over the tribe of Judah (cf v 10). As a result, Israel was divided. Jabesh-gilead. See color map 1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:5–7 Early in Saul's reign, he rescued Jabesh-gilead from the Ammonite army. The citizens remembered his aid, and later they rescued the bodies of Saul and his sons from the walls of Beth-shan, burying the remains in their own city. David commended this courageous act. Their burial of Saul mirrored David's own loyalty and respect for Saul and his family. Because David was known as Saul's enemy, his promise to do good to them must also have comforted them.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:6 steadfast love and faithfulness. See p 843.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:1–7 David inquires of the Lord, moves to the area of Hebron, and is anointed by the men of Judah as their king. When told that the men of Jabesh-gilead have buried Saul, David blesses them and promises to treat them well. We, too, should inquire of the Lord in His Holy Word and seek reconciliation with our enemies. Through the reconciliation of Christ's cross, God blesses us and shows us His steadfast love and faithfulness. • Lord, in Your Word, show me Your will for my life and Your reconciling love. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:8 Mahanaim. Ish-bosheth's capital city. See color map 1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:9 Gilead … Ashurites … Jezreel … Ephraim. See color map 2. Benjamin. Homeland of Ish-bosheth and Abner. See map, p 365. all Israel. Except for Judah.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:10–11 Ish-bosheth apparently did not fight in the battle at Mount Gilboa, perhaps in order to assure an heir to the throne in case disaster struck. He was murdered at the end of two years (4:7). David enjoyed a more stable rule, reigning over Judah at Hebron for 7½ years. The writer anticipates Ish-bosheth's downfall. See chronology, p xcii–cix.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:8–11 Abner makes Saul's son Ish-bosheth king over the northern tribes of Israel, while David reigns over Judah. David may want to reign over all Israel right away, but that is not to be. Sometimes, God's promises call for patience. We have inherited the full kingdom of heaven through the innocent sufferings and death of Jesus, our Savior. We wait patiently to possess it. • Heavenly Father, give me patience as You fulfill Your promises in Your time. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:12 Mahanaim. See note, v 8. Gibeon. C 6 mi NW of Jerusalem. See map, p 500.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:13 Joab. David's nephew and commander of his army. pool. Natural place to meet. Archaeologists have found it to be c 36 ft in diameter and nearly as deep, carved from solid rock. Water would have pooled at the bottom of this deep, broad shaft. It was reached by a series of steps.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:14 The standoff at the pool was delayed by Abner's suggestion that there be a competition. young men. Nu 1:3 describes military service beginning at age 20, though conflicts may have brought adolescents into service.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:16 down together. May mean all 24 men died due to inexperience and zeal.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:17 Rather than preventing further bloodshed, the contest caused a fierce battle from which Ish-bosheth's army retreated.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:18 Three sons of David's sister Zeruiah wanted to eliminate Abner, making it possible for David to become king of all Israel. gazelle. See note, 1:19.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:19–23 Asahel. David's youngest nephew foolishly believed he could overtake and kill the commander of the enemy forces.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:21–22 Aware of his own superiority in combat, Abner advised Asahel to be content with fighting a soldier of lesser rank. He likely realized that Asahel's death would make the feud worse.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:23 Apparently, Abner stopped quickly and pierced Asahel with a backward thrust of his spear. stood still. From amazement.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:24 Joab and Abishai. Asahel's brothers continued to pursue Abner. hill of Ammah … Giah. Location is difficult to identify. Apparently it was a short distance northwest of Gibeon. See map, p 500.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:25 hill. At Ammah, a defensible position.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:26 Abner requests peace, based on tribal kinship. Cf Jgs 21:16–24.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:28 trumpet. Hbr shophar. See p 993.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:29 Abner's forces withdrew by cover of darkness. Arabah. Wilderness of the Great Rift Valley. See color map 2. Mahanaim. See note, v 8.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:30 nineteen. Loss of c 3 percent, if David's army was still c 600 men (1Sm 27:2).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:32 Bethlehem … Hebron. See color map 1.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:12–32 Competition at Gibeon leads to a fierce battle. The Benjaminites are defeated, but David's nephew Asahel is slain by Abner. Sadly, those fighting and killing one another are all members of God's people Israel. May God prevent us from quarreling unnecessarily with fellow Christians, especially those of our own congregation or family. "We have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ" (Rm 5:1), so let us be "eager to maintain the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace" (Eph 4:3). • Lord Jesus, grant me peace with all people, especially those who confess the same faith. Amen.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:2–5 Hebron. See map, p 500. Ahinoam … Abigail. From southern Judah. These marriages may have helped secure the support of the people there. Geshur. Small Aramean kingdom in Upper Bashan, east of the Jordan. See color map 2. By marrying Maacah, David formed an alliance with a people east of the Jordan and north of Ish-bosheth's capital. See note, 1Ki 3:1–2; see also pp 54–55.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:6 making himself strong. Taking over rule of the kingdom.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:7 Ish-bosheth believed Abner was trying to take over the kingdom. He accused Abner of sleeping with his father's (Saul's) concubine, a privilege reserved for the king and thus an act of betrayal. See note, 1Ki 2:17. concubine. See pp 54–55.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:8 Abner protests that he is not on Judah's side. dog's head of Judah? Dogs were despised and considered unclean by Israelites (cf Lv 11:27). steadfast love. See p 843. fault concerning a woman. Abner trivializes his improper behavior.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:9–10 Abner vowed to help make David king over all of Israel. Dan to Beersheba. See note, Jgs 20:1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:12 Abner sent messengers. Sensitive mission; Abner had led campaigns against David for two years and had killed Asahel.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:13 covenant. See p 6.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:14 Give me my wife Michal. David asserts his connection to Saul's family and rule. Ish-bosheth's compliance shows that he recognized his own political and military weakness. David considered himself still legally married to Michal because he had never divorced her. bridal price. Cf Gn 34:12; Hos 2:19–20.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:16 Bahurim. Near the border between Benjamin and Judah.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:17–18 Perhaps a clever public relations strategy. Lord has promised. No such promise concerning David is recorded in 1 and 2Sm. The Lord promised this regarding Saul (1Sm 9:16). Abner's point was that the promises made to Saul now belonged to David.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:19 Benjamin. Tribal leaders of Benjamin, probably the main supporters of Ish-bosheth.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:21 covenant. See p 6. peace. Hbr shalom. See p 7. David approved of Abner's plan.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:22 David may have relied on raids for income.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:24–25 Joab regards Abner as a spy seeking out David's military plans.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:1–25 The relationship between Ish-bosheth and his general, Abner, deteriorates until, finally, Abner aligns himself with David. How easy for us to use dishonest methods as we strive for position and power. Self-interest and self-glory are sins that plague us all. Jesus, on the other hand, selflessly left His throne on high, died to pay for our sins on the cross, rose, and took the Church as His Bride. • Lord Jesus, praise be to Your holy name for Your supreme sacrifice on our behalf. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:26 cistern of Sirah. Still in Judah.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:27 into the midst of the gate. Into the recesses of the fortified city gate. See p 792. for the blood. In revenge for the bloodshed Abner had caused. See note, 1Ki 2:31.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:28–29 As king, David was obligated to punish evildoers. Later, on his deathbed, David called for his nephew Joab's execution (1Ki 2:5–6). Yet now, for the sake of peace, David lessened the punishment and instead cursed him. See p 6. David tolerated Joab, as a member of his family and perhaps due to his military skills.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:29 spindle. Lit, "stick" or "crutch."
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:30 Abishai. Somehow an accessory to the murder, perhaps by leading the delegation that summoned Abner to Hebron.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:26–30 Without David's knowledge and in a time of peace, Joab murders Abner to avenge the death of his brother Asahel. King David curses Joab and all his father's house because vengeance rarely settles matters. When wronged, you will naturally experience thoughts of vengeance. Arrest these thoughts by crying out to the Lord in prayer. Entrust your judgment to Him and to the legitimate authorities. The Lord of justice and peace, who sent His Son to bear all injustice for your sake, is your hope in all circumstances. • Grant us grace, merciful God, that we may flee from evil and do what is good, that Your mercy may crown Your goodness in us, for Jesus' sake. Amen.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:31 Tear your clothes … sackcloth. See note, Jb 1:20. King David. First time David is referred to as "king." Tragic events ironically brought the kingdom to David.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:32 Abner was given an honorable funeral at David's capital.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:33–34 Abner had died at the hands of criminals. The lament begins and ends with this thought.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:33 lamented. Lit, "chanted a lament." fool. See p 1016.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:34 not bound … not fettered. Abner was a free man.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:35 taste bread. Fasting is a biblical expression of grief. See note, Lv 16:29.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:38 prince. Lit, "a leader," esp a military commander, not necessarily the son of a king.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:39 sons of Zeruiah. Joab and Abishai (see note, 2:18). David contrasts his gentle leadership with their blood vengeance. As king, David has responsibility for punishment of the wicked.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:31–39 Although Abner has been his enemy, David leads the mourning at Abner's funeral. Our sinful nature tends to delight in the misfortune of our enemies. How differently God treats us! "While we were enemies we were reconciled to God by the death of His Son" (Rm 5:10). • Lord, help me always to love my enemies as You have loved me in Your Son, my Savior. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:1 Hebron. See map, p 500. his courage failed. Lit, "his hands became feeble." dismayed. Lit, "trembled inwardly."

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:2 raiding bands. They probably plundered non-Israelite communities for Ish-bosheth, much as Joab's band had done for David (3:22).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:3 Gittaim. Lit, "two winepresses."

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:4 Anticipates ch 9. Jezreel. Region where Saul and Jonathan died (on Mount Gilboa). Mephibosheth. Member of Saul's family; sole potential heir to Saul's throne, apart from Ish-bosheth.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:7 Explains v 6. they. Rechab and Baanah. Arabah. See note, 2:29.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:8 The LORD has avenged. They believed they had God's approval for the murder of Ish-bosheth and hoped David would reward them.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:9 redeemed my life. David relied not on murderous conspirators but on the Lord. See p 843.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:10 one told me. Amalekite who claimed to have killed Saul (1:14–16). Ziklag. See note, 1Sm 27:6.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:11 a righteous man. Ish-bosheth had done nothing to deserve death. See p 843.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:12 young men. See note, 2:14. hanged them. To show they had died under a divine curse (Dt 21:22–23). Hebron. See map, p 500. head … buried it. To show respect.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 4 Two of Ish-bosheth's soldiers murder him and bring his head to David, hoping to receive a reward. Instead, David sentences them to death, but honors his enemy Ish-bosheth. "Do not be overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good" (Rm 12:21). Through the Son of David, God has mercy on us, who were once His enemies. • Lord Jesus, Son of David, give me Your Spirit, that I may love my enemies and do good to those who hate me. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:1 bone and flesh. They have the same forefather, Jacob.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:2 You shall be shepherd. Specific prophecy is not found in the preceding accounts, but it is consistent with other prophecies (cf Nu 27:16–17; 1Sm 13:14; 25:30; Ps 78:71).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:3 Hebron. See map, p 500. covenant. See p 6. before the LORD. They called on God to witness this covenant. See "presence," p 843. they anointed. Probably through the high priest, whose duty it was. Cf 2:4; 1Sm 16:13; 1Ch 12:38.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:5 Jerusalem. More central location for David's new capital. See map, p 500.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:6 Jebusites. See p 345. See note, Jgs 1:8. blind … lame. A taunt meaning anyone could defend their strong position.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:7 Zion. See p 844. Apparently the Jebusite name for the hill and walled settlement. By taking this city, David fulfilled God's command and promise to drive out the Canaanites (cf Ex 23:23).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:8 water shaft. Probably "Warren's Tunnel," a narrow opening cut through the rock to obtain water from the Gihon spring when the city was under siege. the lame and the blind. David mocks the Jebusites' boast of v 6.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:9 the stronghold. Original walled Jebusite city. the city of David. The Israelites often named cities after themselves. Millo. Lit, "an area that is filled in," i.e., a rampart or citadel.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:10 greater and greater. David enjoyed increasing political and military success. God of hosts. See p 1291. The Lord, with armies of angels at His command, is all-powerful.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:11 King Hiram's delegation, workers, and materials show that David's reputation was great. Tyre. Important Phoenician seaport. See color map 1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:12 David credited his success to the Lord.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:13 concubines and wives from Jerusalem. Probably to establish political relations with the Jebusites. See note, 1Ki 3:1–2. Yet, the Lord's command was that Israel's kings were not to "acquire many wives" (Dt 17:17). See pp 54–55.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:14–16 Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon. Sons of David and Bathsheba.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:1–16 After defeating the Jebusites, David makes Jerusalem his capital over all Israel. The Lord causes this for the sake of His people. When success comes our way, let us not boast and demand recognition. Jesus, the Son of David, humbled Himself unto death, even death on a cross, for the sake of sinful people like us. • Lord, make me humble and give me Your blessings in Christ Jesus. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:17 When David was at Hebron, the Philistines considered him an ally because he was warring against King Saul. Now that he was king over all Israel, they changed their minds. down to the stronghold. Probably from the heights of Hebron to Jerusalem.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:18 Valley of Rephaim. Northwest of Jerusalem. See map, p 500.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:19 inquired. Likely through the priest. See "seek," p 843. up against. The Philistines may have held high ground near the valley. See note, v 20.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:20 Baal-perazim. Lit, "Lord of the breakthrough," so named because David easily broke through the enemy lines. Located near the Valley of Rephaim. Called Mount Perazim in Is 28:21.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:21 carried them away. To rid the land of idols (cf Nu 33:52) by burning them (1Ch 14:12).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:24 sound of marching. Heavenly hosts on the move. See p 1291.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:25 Geba to Gezer. C 20 mi.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:17–25 The Philistines, disturbed that David is now king over all Israel, attack him twice and are defeated. David inquires of and relies on the Lord for victory. For our plans to have God's blessing, we must call on Him and submit to the judgment of His Word. Yet when we are weak, the Lord Himself will fight for us, especially against sin, death, and the devil. • Lord Jesus, be my King and burst through all enemies that would separate me from You. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:1 chosen. Those picked to represent Israel in moving the ark. Cf 1Ch 13:1–4.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:2 Baale-judah. Lit, "Lords of Judah." C 8 mi from Jerusalem. The Israelites renamed the town Kiriath-jearim, which means “city of the woods,” to avoid reference to pagan gods. See map, p 365. ark of God. Cf Ex 25:10–22. name. The ark had the name of God, the Lord’s special presence and revelation. The Lord wanted to be called on and worshiped wherever the ark was located. cherubim. Served as God’s throne. See note, Ezk 10:1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:3 new cart. Out of reverence for the holy ark of God, they used a cart that was not yet profaned by use for common cargo. Yet this method of transport was contrary to the Lord’s instruction (Nu 7:9; 1Ch 15:13–15). Uzzah and Ahio. Part of the priestly escort; only Levites were permitted to touch the ark (Dt 10:8).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:1–4 Having defeated the Philistines, David prepares to bring the ark to Jerusalem. Godly leaders of all times should provide for the true worship of God. On the ark, the Lord of hosts is enthroned on the cherubim. As He rules over the holy cherubim, our Lord Jesus Christ also reigns victorious over all our sins and offers forgiveness to all who repent and trust in Him. • Lord, let me worship You in spirit and in truth according to Your Word. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:5 making merry. Praise and thanksgiving to the Lord for His benefits; psalms were probably used (e.g., Ps 150). Listing of all instruments indicates corporate worship. See p 993.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:6 took hold of it. Touching the ark was forbidden.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:7 God struck him down there. See note, v 3. As a priest, Uzzah ignored God’s command with regard to moving the ark and followed the way of the Philistines. Regardless of how well intentioned Uzzah was, his actions were neither guided nor limited by God’s Word. By striking down Uzzah, God showed that His Word must be honored above all else (cf Lv 10:1–3; Jsh 7:24–25; Ac 5:1–11).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:11 the LORD blessed Obed-edom. Like the Sacraments of the NT, how one approached and treated the ark of God determined whether it would be an instrument of blessing or condemnation. Cf 1Co 11:29.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:12 from the house … to the city. C 6 mi.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:13 who bore. This time, David had the Levites carry the ark according to God’s Word (1Ch 15:13–15). steps. As with Eng “paces,” a unit of measure; perhaps each step was 30 in. sacrificed. To consecrate the procession. Apparently, sacrifices continued at intervals throughout the procession (cf 1Ch 15:26).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:14 danced. Only clear reference to male dancing in Scripture. linen ephod. Priestly garment, worn while priests carried out official duties. David wears this garment as a prophet and as the leader of God's kingdom of priests (cf Ex 19:6).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:5–15 Uzzah, despite his good intentions, acts contrary to the Word of God and is struck dead. Handling the ark properly, David humbles himself as he lays aside his royal robes, puts on a priestly garment, and worships before the Lord as the leader of a kingdom of priests. When participating in the things of God—His Word, Sacraments, or Church—how you participate is important. Though God disciplines the irreverent, He remains faithful to bless the humble. Having atoned for our offenses on the cross, Christ will bless the repentant and believing heart. • Glory to You, O gracious God, that though we stumble, You are ever ready through Jesus Christ to forgive and bless. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:16 despised. Michal probably thought a king should behave differently. In contrast to her father, Saul, David humbled himself before the Lord by wearing an ephod instead of royal clothing. See note, v 20.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:17 tent. Large tent set up according to the design of Moses' tabernacle. See note, 1Ch 15:1. However, this is not the official tabernacle. See p 495.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:18 he blessed. Not necessarily the blessing of Aaron (Nu 6:23–27), which only a priest was permitted to give. Similar to Solomon's blessing at the dedication of the temple (1Ki 8:55–61). See "bless," p 842.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:20 bless his household. Just as he had blessed the people (v 18). How … today. Sarcasm. See note, v 16. uncovering himself. David had done nothing dishonorable. Michal accused him of nudity, but he merely took off his royal robes to wear the linen ephod.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:21 prince. General word for nobility, not necessarily the son of a king.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:23 Michal, David's first wife, should have borne his first son and heir. The fact that she had no child could indicate that the Lord closed her womb. The house of Saul would have no place in the succession of David's line.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:16–23 Michal sees David humbly dressed as a priest and begins to mock him. In faithfully serving the Lord, are you willing to look foolish in the eyes of others? Do not fear to make merry before the Lord and endure suffering. Our Lord Jesus was not ashamed to humble Himself on the cross to save us from our arrogance. • Work true faithfulness in my life, O Lord, no matter how inappropriate it may be in the eyes of the world. Amen.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:2 David wanted to build a temple for the Lord. tent. See note, 6:17.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:3 By consulting Nathan the prophet, David was seeking God's will. Nathan readily agreed with David's plans without first consulting the Lord. with you. See "be with," p 5.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:7 Why … cedar? The Lord had never commanded such a dwelling to be built, so David's predecessors had not acted wrongly by not building one.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:10 as formerly. As happened in Egypt and at the time of the judges.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:11 the LORD … the LORD. Cf Ps 110:1. a house. A dynasty. Even Solomon's temple served only as a temporary house of God. It would give way to that offspring of David who dwelt (tabernacled) among people and in whom "all the fullness of God was pleased to dwell" bodily (Col 1:19). Cf Jn 1:14; Col 2:9.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:12 His kingdom. Refers to one successor of David in whom David's kingdom would be established forever. See note, v 13.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:13 The singular offspring of David was the promised Messiah. The temple Solomon would build foreshadowed what the Lord would build in His eternal Son, Jesus Christ. Cf Jn 2:19–21. Cypr: "Christ should be the house and temple of God, and … the old temple should cease, and the new one should begin" (ANF 5:511).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:14–17 The relationship of the Lord and David's one successor. This prophecy and covenant promise from God is central to the theme of salvation in the OT, since it was anticipated in Jacob's prophecy about Judah (Gn 49:10) and ultimately fulfilled in Jesus, the Son of David (Mt 1:1).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:14 Though these words may refer to Solomon (cf 1Ki 2:12), the substance of prophecy found here was not completely fulfilled in Solomon or any of his successors until the coming of the Christ. See note, 1Ch 22:10. Just: "This very Christ is the Judge of all the living and the dead. And Nathan likewise, [spoke] to David about Him" (ANF 1:258).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:17 vision. General term for a revelation from God.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:1–17 The Lord tells David and Nathan not what they will do but what He will do and make for David—an everlasting house and kingdom. In all we do for the Lord, we must first consult His Word to find out what is pleasing to Him. Jesus Christ is the "rest" and "house" promised to David. In Him, God's people have rest from their enemies of sin and death, and in Him they shall dwell forever. • Gracious Lord, keep us in the true faith, that we may have the blessed rest and peace that Christ, our eternal King, alone provides. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:18 went in and sat before the LORD. Entered the temporary tent and sat before the ark. See note, 6:17. One did not normally pray before the ark this way. thus far. So highly exalted.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:19 great while to come. Esp concerning the time of Christ. See note, v 13. this is instruction for mankind, O Lord GOD*!* Lit, "this is the instruction of the man Lord GOD." Either David was describing the character of the coming Messiah, that He would be both man and God (Luther's interpretation), or the last two words are an address to God: "the instruction of man, O Lord GOD." In this case, God's mercy would be an example of how David and all parents should care for their children. GOD! See p 1227.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:22 none like You. Cf ch 22.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:23 making Himself a name. Making Himself known to many. Cf Dt 7:6–8; 1Sm 12:22; Is 63:12. See "name," p 843.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:27 found courage to pray. David had never prayed about so weighty a matter.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:18–29 In humility, David acknowledges that everything the Lord has done and will do for him and for Israel is due solely to the Lord's mercy. Today, when great blessing comes your way, glorify the Lord for His gifts. His greatest gift is the great One to come, Jesus, the Son of David. • O Lord Jesus, You are both true man and true God. Make us truly thankful for Your mercy, and bless Your Church forever. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:1 Metheg-ammah. Lit, "bridle of the mother [city]." As David drove out the Philistines, he took their center of power, their bridle. May refer to the events of 5:17–25.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:2 Moab. See map, p 500. Two lines … put to death … one … spared. Two of every three Moabite fighting men were executed to prevent them from rising up again as a threat.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:3 Hadadezer. Lit, "Hadad [the storm god of the Syrians] is [my] help." Zobah. Also known as Aram-Zobah (Ps 60 prescript). One of several independent Syrian kingdoms near Damascus. See map, p 500. David and Saul both fought against the kings of Zobah. Euphrates. Upper Euphrates, northeast of the Sea of Chinnereth.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:4 took from him. Captured and removed from King Hadadezer's use. hamstrung. Crippled to prevent their use as cavalry or chariots. See note, Jsh 11:6.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:5–6 Aram of Damascus. Major areas and provinces around Damascus. See color map 2.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:8 Betah … Berothai. Cities in the kingdom of Zobah under the rule of Hadadezer. Named Tibhath and Cun in 1Ch 18:8. bronze. Later used by Solomon in building the temple (1Ch 18:8).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:9 Toi. Tou in 1Ch 18:9. Hamath. Lit, "fortress." Kingdom of Upper Syria on the Orontes River (Nu 13:21, 34:8), at the foot of Mount Hermon. Cf Am 6:2.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:10 to ask about his health and to bless him. Act of thanksgiving and alliance. bless. The blessing consisted of silver, gold, and the goodwill of Toi. See "bless," p 842.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:11 dedicated to the LORD. To be used later to build the temple. See note, 1Ch 26:20–28.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:12 Ammonites, the Philistines, Amalek. See p 345. See notes, Ex 17:8; Nu 21:24. Unlike other groups listed here, archaeologists have had difficulty distinguishing and defining Amalekite cultural remains. Amalekites largely disappeared as a group in David's time. See note, 1Ch 4:43.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:13 Valley of Salt. Region east of the Salt Sea, in the Negeb.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:1–14 The Lord gives David great victories over the kingdoms around Canaan and Syria and also much wealth as the spoils of war. We, too, are in a battle against temptation and sin. As it was for David, our victory comes only when the Lord gives it. Beginning in Baptism and through faith in Jesus Christ, the Lord gives us Christ's blood-bought victory over sin, death, and the devil. • Gracious Lord, many are the battles of the sinner and the saint within me, many are the losses I have suffered. Forgive my sins and keep my faith in the one glorious victory won by Jesus Christ. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:16 Zeruiah. David's sister. recorder. Official charged with recording important events of the kingdom and with briefing the king on critical issues.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:17 secretary. Official charged with preparing official public documents and messages from the king. See pp 335–37.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:18 Cherethites … Pelethites. See note, 15:18. priests. Or, "chief officials" (cf LXX). Not Levitical priests but ministers of state through whom the king ruled and through whom others would do business with the king. See notes, 1Ki 4:2; 1Ch 18:17.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:15–18 David rules justly and relies on his ministers of state. Today, the Lord calls each of us to treat others with justice and equity, and not lord the authority of our vocation over them. God is both just and merciful, so He sent His Son, Jesus, to deal with the just judgment we deserve, that we might receive His mercy. • Gracious God and Father, thank You for sending Jesus to answer the demands of Your justice and to show us Your grace. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:1 Jonathan's sake? David's desire to show kindness went beyond his promise; it came from the deep, brotherly love he and Jonathan shared.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:4 Lo-debar. Lit, "no pasture."

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:6 Mephibosheth. Lit, "exterminator of shame," i.e., of idols. homage. See note, 14:4.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:7 land of Saul. Gibeah (1Sm 10:26; 11:4). See map, p 451. eat at my table always. Land would provide income for Mephibosheth. He would become part of the royal court. See note, 1Ki 2:7.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:9–10 servant. See p 101.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:10 Ziba had probably already been living on and farming Saul's lands in Gibeah. eat at my table. See note, 1Ki 2:7; cf 2Sm 16:1. servants. Common for the chief servant to have servants of his own.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:12 Mica. Possible contender for the throne. Cf 1Ch 8:34–40.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 9 David learns that Jonathan's son is alive and immediately gives him the lands of Saul and brings him to dine at his table for the rest of his life. We should show such love to our potential enemies. Just as David invites Mephibosheth to eat at his table, the Lord Jesus invites us to eat at His table, where He serves us His body and blood. He provides the Holy Spirit to strengthen us. • Gracious Lord, thank You for loving us, providing for us, and sending Your servant to tend and keep us until our Lord Christ's return. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:1 Ammonites. See note, Nu 21:24; cf 8:12.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:2 dealt loyally. Honored the treaty between himself and David. land of the Ammonites. See map, p 500.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:3 Do you think. Rhetorical question implies a "no" answer.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:4 shaved off … cut off their garments. Grievous insult. For the Israelites, a man's beard was his greatest ornament. To increase the insult, the long garments were cut off, exposing the men.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:5 Remain at Jericho. To avoid a ruined reputation in the capital city. Jericho. See color map 1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:6 become a stench. David and Israel were enraged at them. Beth-rehob. Exact location unknown; perhaps east of the Jordan River near Dan. See map, p 500. Zobah. See note, 8:3. Maacah … Tob. See map, p 500.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:8 entrance of the gate. Gate of the Ammonites' capital city, Rabbah (11:1).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:9 both in front and in the rear. The battle in front was with the Ammonites arrayed outside their capital city. The battle to the rear was with the Syrian mercenaries coming to the aid of the Ammonites.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:14 the city. Rabbah, their capital. See map, p 500. returned from fighting. Joab did not lay siege to Rabbah to totally defeat the Ammonites.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:16 Euphrates … Helam. See map, p 500.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:17 he gathered all Israel. David went because there was much at stake. The outcome of this battle determined who would rule the Palestine-Syrian region until the reign of Rehoboam (931–914 BC).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 10 The new Ammonite king rejects David's offer of peace, listening instead to those who speak evil of him. In the end, Joab and David defeat and humble the Syrian kings by the Lord's hand. Often in this world, good deeds are rewarded with unthankfulness. Yet God would have us continually act in good faith toward all. Thanks be to God, who fights for us and covers our shame in the mercy of Jesus. • Gracious Lord, we give You thanks for defending us, covering our shame, and keeping us by Your grace. Amen.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:1 In the spring … go out to battle. When the rainy season ended, the ground and roads became more favorable for armies to move and fight. See calendar, p 262. Rabbah. See map, p 500.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:2 walking on the roof. Roofs were flat and functioned as an extra room. See note, Jsh 2:6.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:4 he lay with her. Sin of adultery. "When holy people—still having and feeling original sin and daily repenting and striving against it—happen to fall into manifest sins (as David did into adultery, murder, and blasphemy) … then faith and the Holy Spirit have left them" (SA III III 43–44). she had been purifying. From the uncleanness of menstruation. A woman had to wait seven days after the menstrual period before having intercourse with her husband. This indicates that Bathsheba was not pregnant when she lay with David.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:5 she sent and told David. To seek his aid in dealing with the consequences of their sin. According to the Law, they both should have been put to death for their sin (Lv 20:10; Dt 22:22).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:6 Uriah. Lit, "my light is the LORD." Though of Gentile background, it seems he adopted the faith of Israel.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:8 wash your feet. David encouraged Uriah to go home, hoping he would lay with his wife to make it look like the child was his.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:9 slept at the door. In the court of the palace or in a dwelling affixed to it in which the servants of the king lived. There is no indication that Uriah suspected any impropriety on the part of his wife or the king.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:11 Uriah's words show he was a dedicated and conscientious soldier who understood that while his people and nation were fighting for the Lord, he should not be seeking personal pleasure.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:13 made him drunk. Hoping that with his guard lowered, Uriah would find his way to his wife.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:14–15 Ironic exploitation of Uriah's faithfulness. He would surely deliver the note and thereby deliver himself to death. With Uriah dead, there would be no one to challenge the assumption that Uriah was the father of Bathsheba's child.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:17–18 Joab knew politics and honored the king's orders, perhaps so that his own interests might be honored at another time.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:19–21 Joab anticipated that David would pretend to be angry at the military failure.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:26 lamented over her husband. Whether or not the lamentation was genuine, the normal mourning period was seven days (Gn 50:10; 1Sm 31:13). Bathsheba likely became David's wife shortly after the seven days in order to hide their sin (v 27).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 11 David's sin of the eye becomes a sin of lust and of deed. He lies with another man's wife and then has the man killed to keep the sin secret. Whenever you try to hide a sin by committing another sin, you are just digging yourself deeper into a hole. Instead, confess! God will forgive all who repent and seek the forgiveness earned by Christ on the cross. • "Lord Jesus, think on me And purge away my sin; From worldly passions set me free And make me pure within." Amen. (LSB 610:1)
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:1–15 The Lord, being ever patient (2Pt 3:9), gave David nearly nine months to repent before sending Nathan to him. Cf v 14. Nathan chose his words to generate maximum pity and empathy in David, who had been a shepherd.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:1 Nathan. God's prophet and David's royal court preacher/counselor. See pp 1081–83. city. Townspeople would have only a few animals.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:3 morsel. Indicates the small amount of food the man had. lie in his arms. Young lambs were often kept as pets.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:5 As the LORD lives. Words of a formal oath, calling on the Lord to judge the actions of those involved. See "oath," p 7. deserves to die. Punishment that exceeded legal requirements. Cf Ex 22:1.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:7 You are the man! David had rightly spoken his own judgment in vv 5–6. Greg: "[Nathan] had come as a physician to a sick man; he saw that the sore must be cut; but he doubted of the sick man's patience. Therefore he hid the medicinal steel under his robe, which he suddenly drew out and plunged into the sore, that the patient might feel the cutting blade before he saw it, lest, seeing it first, he should refuse to feel it" (NPNF 2 12:26). See note, Ps 51:11–12.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:8 wives. Lit, "women." Earlier accounts attribute only one wife to Saul (1Sm 14:50). The plural refers to the harem of women that David was at liberty to take to himself. Nothing else indicates that he took any of those women as his wives.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:9 despised the word. Not a reference to David's feelings but to his actual rejection of God's Word. You have struck down. The guilt of the murder is on David, even though he did not actually swing the sword or shoot the arrow.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:10 never depart. Though forgiven, David's sin produced a train of tragic consequences in the royal family: incest and fratricide, insurrection and violation of his wives by a son, and the death of David's infant son. Forgiveness does not necessarily remove the natural consequences of sin.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:11 I will raise up evil. God would not personally cause this evil, but His providence would prevent neither Absalom's rebellion (ch 15) nor his taking of David's wives (16:20–22).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:12 The Lord will allow this to be done openly, to show that the king is not above the Law and that he dare not despise God's Word.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:13 "David is rebuked by Nathan in this way. Terrified, he says, 'I have sinned against the LORD.' This is contrition. Afterward, he hears the Absolution…. This voice encourages David, and through faith it sustains, justifies, and enlivens him" (Ap XIIA 56). Cyr Jer: "Straightway the Prophet appeared as accuser, and the offender confesses the fault. And because he candidly confessed, he received a most speedy cure. For Nathan the Prophet who had uttered the threat, said immediately, The LORD also has put away your sin. You see the swift relenting of a merciful God" (NPNF 2 7:10).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:14 the child who is born to you shall die. Forgiveness frees us from the eternal consequences and punishments of sin, but not necessarily from temporal consequences and discipline. Cf Ex 34:7; Is 55:8. "A punishment is also added, but this punishment does not merit the forgiveness of sins. Nor are special punishments always added. In repentance these two things ought always to exist, namely, contrition and faith" (Ap XIIA 56–57).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:1–15a By preaching the Law, Nathan leads David to condemn his own sin. Once David repents, Nathan announces the Gospel: the Lord has put away his sin. Nevertheless, his child of adultery will die. Avoiding the responsibility of our sins does not lead to healing. Instead, repentance is the only right preparation for the Gospel. By receiving the Gospel of forgiveness, we are set free from our sins and made alive. • Gracious Lord, thank You for putting Jesus away on the cross, that I would not be put away in my sins. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:15 the LORD afflicted the child. The Lord allowed illness to come to the child and to take his life. See note, v 10.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:16 sought God. With devout prayer. See "seek," p 843. went in. Into his palace. Cf v 20.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:18 seventh day. Child was not circumcised. Cf Gn 17:12.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:20 anointed himself. With olive oil, much as we use lotion today. went into the house of the LORD and worshiped. To acknowledge the Lord's hand in the child's death and to offer his humble acceptance of the results of his sin. David sees the limits of God's patience toward him.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:23 Can I bring him back again? The dead are out of reach of our prayers. We cannot weep them back to life. Yet fasting and mourning are appropriate to honor the dead and to remember our own mortality. Cf 1:12. I shall go to him. In death. Some commentators think David showed confidence that his son was in heaven. However, the text does not specifically promise this. Rather than speculating on the final outcome of David's child, we should hold to Scripture's clear teaching: (1) All people are conceived in sin and deserve hell (Ps 51:5). (2) God delivers salvation through the Word and Sacraments (Jn 3:5; Rm 10:17; Col 2:11–12; 1Pt 3:21). (3) God's ways do not always make sense to us (Is 55:8). (4) Yet, God is gracious, hears our prayers, and works all things to our good (Ps 34:17; 103:8; Rm 8:28). The child was in God's hands. We trust Him to do what is right and best.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:15b–23 David prays for his child's recovery until the child dies. David then goes to worship in the Lord's house. When suffering the earthly consequences of our sin, we also should acknowledge that we deserve them, and we should continue to worship the Lord, who gave His Son for our sins, that we may live. • "The will of God is always best And shall be done forever; And they who trust in Him are blest; He will forsake them never. He helps indeed In time of need; He chastens with forbearing. They who depend On God, their friend, Shall not be left despairing." Amen. (LSB 758:1)

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:25 sent a message by Nathan the prophet. The Lord had Nathan announce that He had named Solomon "Jedidiah." See ESV note.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:24–25 David comforts Bathsheba, and she bears him a son. God gives the child a name indicating His love. When caught up in our grief, let us not forget our family responsibilities. In Baptism, the Lord gives us a new, eternal life and gives us the name "Beloved of the Lord." • Loving Lord, thank You for loving us and giving us a new life and name in Jesus Christ. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:27 city of waters. So called because Rabbah was on both sides of the river Jabbok.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:28 Joab wanted the victory to be credited to David.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:31 set them to labor. Victorious kings often used prisoners of war as menial laborers in royal building projects (1Ki 9:20–21; cf Ex 1:11).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:26–31 Joab does not take credit for the victory over Rabbah but invites his master David to join him in conquering the city. We, too, should be loyal to our employers, parents, pastors, and other leaders, not seeking to exalt ourselves at their expense. Christ, the Son of David, is the great King of glory, yet He humbled Himself and gives us the benefits and glory of His victory over the devil. • Gracious Savior, You alone give the victory to me and to all who believe in You. Grant that in all things I take no glory for myself, but that I glorify You now and forever. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:1 Absalom. In line after Amnon for succession to the throne of David. Amnon. Cf 3:2–3.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:2 made himself ill. His lust for Tamar consumed him. impossible … to do anything to her. As a young virgin daughter of the king, Tamar was housed under protective care and supervision.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:3 a friend. Also a counselor. Shimeah, David's brother. Elsewhere called Shammah. crafty. Or, "wise." Able to recognize opportunities and manipulate circumstances. Cf Gn 3:1; Jer 4:22; Jas 3:14–15.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:5 when your father comes. To visit his supposedly ill son. Involving the king would lend legitimacy to the scheme.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:7 sent home. The older royal sons lived in their own houses. Cf v 20.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:8 made cakes in his sight. Amnon could see the food preparation area (usually a courtyard) from his bedroom, perhaps through the doorway. Tamar was not yet in the chamber with him. Men and women did not typically work together closely, so such domestic activities may have had sensual appeal. See note, Jb 31:10.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:9 emptied it out before him. Tamar was in full view of Amnon, but in modesty she did not bring the food to him. everyone went out. Everyone else had been sent away, both out of sight and out of earshot, with the exception of Amnon's personal servant (v 17); there was no one to hear or respond to Tamar's cries for help (cf Dt 22:23–27).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:11 my sister. They were paternal siblings, having the same father (David), but different mothers. The Law forbids a man to have sexual relations with his sister, "whether the daughter of his father or the daughter of his mother" (Dt 27:22; cf Lv 18:9, 11).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:12 not done in Israel. The Law God gave to Israel forbids it.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:13 where could I carry my shame? Rape would rob Tamar of her present life and future hope. She would no longer be a virgin daughter of the king; marriage arrangements for her would be badly complicated. There would always be the suspicion of fault or willingness on her part. he will not withhold me from you. It is questionable whether David would sanction such a marriage (Lv 18:9, 11; Dt 27:22), but Tamar preferred to be married to her father's son (cf Gn 20:12) than to be taken by force. Aside from that, she was buying time to find protection from his advances.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:14 he violated her. He raped her. Cf 12:11.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:15 hated her. His "love" was never true, only self-serving. Perhaps this hate came from his own guilt and shame.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:16 By law, Amnon was required to marry her (Dt 22:28–29). But in sending her away, he insinuated that she, not he, was at fault (cf Dt 22:13–21). Tamar's reputation was ruined.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:17 Put this woman out. He implies that Tamar had done the wrong, perhaps that she had seduced him.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:19 tore the long robe. Sign of mourning and graphic indication of what has been taken from her: she is no longer a virgin daughter of the king. See note, Jb 1:20. hand on her head. Sign of great grief.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:20 do not take this to heart. Absalom attempted to console his sister. Either he did not want her to make a public spectacle of herself and their family, or he was already formulating his plot for revenge, which would require patient silence (vv 22–29). desolate woman. Raped and rejected, Tamar could no longer live in her father's house as one of his virgin daughters.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:21 David did nothing. Amnon was the heir apparent at this time; punishment would have been embarrassing. David had learned through personal experience to know the Lord's forgiveness. In his own fallible way, he demonstrated fatherly patience and mercy toward his wayward children. Unfortunately, he did not grasp that a father's love and discipline belong together (Heb 12:5–11). David's fatherly care and provision for Tamar were also missing.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:22 Absalom hated Amnon. Contrary to God's Law in Lv 19:17–18.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:1–22 Amnon's lust for his sister Tamar leads him to commit a vile crime against her. David, from misguided love for his son or sinful weakness, fails to administer justice. The way is thus paved for further violence in the house of David. The covetous desires of our hearts, when nurtured instead of resisted, can burst forth into deadly wickedness. We need the Law's restrictions and guidance. Our only hope for mercy is in the Lord, who forgives even the most heinous of crimes for the sake of Jesus Christ, the Son of David. Yet, "the Lord disciplines the one He loves" (Heb 12:6) and calls us to daily repentance to strengthen faith in the forgiveness of sins. • O Lord, spare us from the curse and consequences of our sin for the sake of Christ's sufferings. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:23 two full years. Long enough to avoid suspicions of his hatred of Amnon. sheepshearers. Sheepshearing was a time of celebration. See calendar, p 262. invited all the king's sons. To mask his vengeful plot against Amnon.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:25 burdensome. An excuse. Not likely that the king would take time away from governing to attend a party out of town. By inviting his father, Absalom took a calculated risk to conceal his real agenda. his blessing. David unknowingly blessed Absalom's plot to execute Amnon.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:26 let my brother Amnon go. If the king could not come to Absalom's party, then the heir apparent should represent his father.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:28 have I not commanded. Like father, like son; cf 11:12–25. Be courageous and be valiant. Absalom believed he was meting out divine justice. Cf Jsh 1:5–9.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:30 Message suggests there may have been fear of rivalry for David's throne among his sons.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:31 tore his garments. Expression of grief and mourning. Cf v 19; 12:20. lay on the earth. Recognition of his own mortality (cf Gn 3:19).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:32 Jonadab. Amnon's counselor (v 3).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:23–33 Absalom takes the law into his own hands and avenges Amnon's rape of his sister Tamar. By failing to discipline his sons, David is partially responsible for all these events. Vengeance is not to be taken into our own hands; punishment and discipline are rightly administered through the offices God has established (parents, government). God confronts our sin head-on with His judgment so He may then cleanse us by the precious blood of the Son of David, Jesus Christ. He prepares for us a feast of peace, the supper of a King who gives us life. • Lord Jesus, deal with us not as we deserve but according to Your great mercy by granting us sincere repentance and faith. Amen.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:34 Absalom fled. To avoid punishment. kept the watch. At Jerusalem (cf 18:24). the road behind him. People fleeing from Baal-hazor took a roundabout journey, which may have been the safest course under the circumstances.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:37 Talmai. Absalom's (and Tamar's) maternal grandfather (3:3). Geshur. See color map 2. Although under David's military control (8:3–8; 10:6–19), Geshur affords a measure of political asylum. mourned for his son. May mean that David mourned for both Amnon and Absalom (v 39; 14:1).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:39 Either David yearned to be reunited with his son, though caught by the demands of justice, or he desired to punish Absalom. Either way, he did nothing. See note, v 21.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:34–39 Absalom flees from his father and goes into exile. Thus, the king has lost two sons: the murdered Amnon and the runaway Absalom. One sin leads to another, leaving a trail of consequences along the way. While our sin does not always lead to outright murder, unrepentant sin does lead to our spiritual death and to much grief. True reconciliation with God is granted us through the forgiveness of our sins, through the atoning death of God's own Son. • O Lord Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on us! Pardon our iniquity, and with Your forgiveness bring an end to the warfare of our sin. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:1 Joab. See notes, 2:13; 3:39. the king's heart went out to Absalom. See note, 13:39.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:2 Tekoa. See map, p 558. wise woman. Probably neither a technical term nor an official position, but simply a talented woman. Pretend to be a mourner. Joab is staging a "morality play," which he hopes will lead David to reconciliation with Absalom (vv 19–20).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:4 paid homage. Indicates significance of David's office as the Lord's anointed one. As a called and anointed servant of the Lord, King David executed justice and served as the deliverer for God's people. Christ, who was to come from David's family (7:12–16; Ps 89:3–4, 20–21) would save His people from their sin (Mt 1:1–16, 20–21). Save me, O king. Cf Mt 20:30–31; 21:9.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:6 no one to separate them. Implies David's failure to discipline Amnon after he raped Tamar (13:21).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:7 Woman calls on King David to overrule the Law (Gn 9:5–6; Ex 21:12–14) on account of mitigating circumstances (cf Nu 27:1–7). destroy the heir. Similarly, Amnon and Absalom were the most likely heirs to the throne of David. quench my coal that is left. Take away my last hope for an heir. Similarly, Tamar had only her brother Absalom to care for her (13:20). neither name nor remnant. Similarly, David's legacy was at stake in Absalom's fate.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:9 Woman suggested some would contest the decision, implying that more than a simple verdict would be needed to protect her son.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:11 avenger of blood. Relative of the deceased, charged with the responsibility of vengeance. See note, 1Ki 2:31.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:13 against the people of God? By failing to administer either justice or mercy toward his sons, David jeopardized the welfare of the entire kingdom. the king convicts himself. Cf 12:5–7.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:14 We must all die. Amnon would have died eventually, and so would Absalom in time. No amount of justice would bring Amnon back from the dead. The notion is sadly fatalistic. God will not take away life. Implies God will act mercifully, in contrast to the enduring banishment imposed by David. He devises means. Cf Gn 4:14–16.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:16 the heritage of God. The land God gave them and being God's people. See p 7; cf Eph 1:9–11.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:17 By virtue of his office, King David delivered a Christlike pronouncement (Jer 23:5–6) for it is Christ who gives the true Sabbath rest (Heb 4:1–11). angel of God. Or, "messenger of God." See p 1227. discern good and evil. Cf 1Ki 3:9; Ps 72:1–4.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:19 the hand of Joab. Joab's involvement. Perhaps Joab thought Absalom would be the best successor of David as king. When Absalom later rebelled against his father, Joab remained loyal to David (18:2). Yet thereafter, Joab followed Adonijah's attempt to seize the throne (1Ki 1:5–7).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:20 angel of God. See note, v 17.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:22 homage. See note, v 4.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:23 Geshur … Jerusalem. See color map 2.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:24 not to come into my presence. Absalom was excluded from the royal court.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:27 three sons, and one daughter. Cf 18:18. Perhaps they died prematurely. Tamar. Apparently named for his sister (13:1).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:30 go and set it on fire. To force a meeting with Joab.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:32 let him put me to death. Instead of death, Absalom expected a full restoration of royal privileges.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:33 the king kissed Absalom. Outwardly, David and Absalom were reconciled, but their hearts remained far apart. With restored privileges, Absalom was now able to campaign for his father's kingship (15:1–6).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 14 With subtlety, Joab moves the king to show mercy instead of administering justice. David is thereby reconciled with his son only outwardly. Although fathers love even evil children, the children should not misuse this love, as Absalom did. For Christ's sake, God desires not to punish but to spare His sinful and rebellious children. • O God, defend us from the rebellious, give us good government to administer justice, and grant that we may rejoice in and rightly use Your great love. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:1 chariot. Vehicle of war. Absalom was acting like a military commander. fifty men to run before him. Not only as a royal entourage, but potentially as a bodyguard and special forces unit.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:2 the way of the gate. Where judicial cases were presented and heard (cf Jsh 20:4). See p 792. before the king for judgment. The king could not personally hear every case, but he was responsible for the administration of justice. Cf Ex 18:13–26; 1Sm 8:4–5; 1Ch 18:14.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:3 no man designated by the king. Unfounded accusation. Cf 14:4; 1Ch 18:14.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:4 By criticizing the king and wishing to be made a judge, Absalom subtly implied he should take the king's position.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:5 take hold of him and kiss him. Absalom first put himself in a royal position of judgment, and then he won the people's allegiance by giving them a sign of friendship. Thus, Absalom made himself popular with his father's subjects.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:6 to all of Israel who came to the king. Absalom placed himself between the people and their king so that David had no opportunity to hear their cases. By circumventing the system, Absalom fulfilled his own criticisms of the system. stole the hearts. Won their loyalty by evil deceit.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:7 four years. See ESV note. Could be 40 years after David's first anointing. David was 20 when first anointed; he suffered for 10 years and was confirmed as king at age 30. Thus, Absalom's revolt occurred when David was about 60. vow. See p 7. Absalom pretended this vow as an excuse to depart from Jerusalem without raising suspicion. Cf 1Sm 16:1–13. Hebron. See map, p 500. Cf Gn 13:18. David was anointed king at Hebron (2:1–4; 5:1–3). Cf 1Ch 3:1–2.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:8 Geshur in Aram. See color map 2.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:9 Go in peace. The last words David spoke to Absalom, whose name means "father of peace."

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:11 two hundred men from Jerusalem. This impressive contingent lent credence to Absalom and also removed these people from Jerusalem so they would not be able to support or counsel David. invited guests. For a feast in connection with the sacrifice.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:12 Ahithophel the Gilonite. Possibly grandfather of Bathsheba (cf 23:34; 11:3). In view of his later counsel to Absalom (16:20–17:4), it is likely that Ahithophel had helped to mastermind the rebellion from the beginning.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:1–12 Once Absalom has officially been reconciled to the king, he begins to campaign for the throne. Soon he is no longer content to steal hearts, so he plots to steal the throne. Coveting what God has not given, and scheming sinfully to get it for ourselves, leads not to life but to death. Yet Christ, who is truly righteous, has righteously coveted our life and voluntarily laid down His life on our behalf. We are justified by His grace alone, through faith in His forgiveness. • "Almighty God, You are the only and supreme happiness of the soul of man, without the enjoyment of whom the soul must ever dwell in disquietude and trouble. Fix all the thoughts and affections of my soul upon You, who alone can satisfy all its desires, and give it a peace that passes all understanding. You shall be all in all and the sight of You and Your glory be her great and endless happiness to all eternity. Amen." (Ger, TLWA, p 160)

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:14 let us flee. By leaving the city, David could choose where, when, and how he would fight. In addition, he could determine who his true servants and loyal supporters were. The innocent would be spared a siege.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:16 ten concubines to keep the house. See pp 54–55. Being nonmilitary personnel, the concubines should have been allowed to carry out their duties in peace. Regrettably, this did not happen (16:20–22).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:17 the last house. Probably the most outlying house within the suburbs of Jerusalem.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:18 Cherethites … Pelethites. Military units made up of non-Israelites. During his years on the run from King Saul, David fought for the Philistines (1Sm 27; 29–30) but later defeated them (2Sm 5:17–25). David may have enlisted some of his former Philistine comrades and received their loyal service. Cf Ezk 25:16; Zep 2:5. "Cherethite" is perhaps related to "Cretan." six hundred Gittites. Apparently David's personal forces that followed him in his flight from Saul. Ironically, men from the land of Goliath ended up serving the man who had killed their great champion (1Sm 17:4, 48–54). Gath. Philistine city. See color map 1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:19 David tested the loyalty of Ittai and his men. stay with the king. With Absalom, who had wrongfully been anointed as king (cf 19:10). an exile from your home. From the land of the Philistines.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:23 all … all … all. Hyperbole. David's many supporters and immediate loyal circle mourn the king's retreat. Kidron. Eastern boundary of Jerusalem. See color map 1. In the NT, the Lord's crossing of the Kidron marked the beginning of His Passion (Jn 18:1). Here, the purification of David's house begins when he crosses the brook Kidron.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:13–23 David is forced to flee Jerusalem and cross the brook Kidron. While his own son and countrymen conspire against him, he receives fierce loyalty from foreigners. In suffering, we, like David, should humble ourselves under God's hand and commit ourselves and our paths into His keeping. David's Son, Christ Jesus, was rejected by many of His own (Jn 1:10–11), but He called for disciples from all nations (Mt 28:19–20) to take up the cross and follow Him (Mt 10:16–39). It was He who crossed the brook Kidron, bearing our sin, on the way to the cross. • Lord Jesus, sustain me in suffering, and grant that I may walk in the way of Your cross. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:24 Abiathar … Zadok. Principal priests serving during the reign of David. bearing the ark. Shows that the Lord is with David. David brought the ark to Jerusalem (6:1–17), and it was where the Lord was present for His people (Ex 40:18–21, 34–35), so the priests thought it should follow David away from Absalom. See p 495.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:25 dwelling place. The tabernacle or the tent for the ark at Jerusalem. See note, 6:17.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:27 seer? David asked Zadok to be his "eyes" in Jerusalem. Or, Zadok was a prophet and could give divine guidance (see note, 1 Sm 9:9).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:28 the fords of the wilderness. The Jordan River crossing, leading to the wilderness. Location uncertain. inform me. Priests would be David's spies.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:30 Mount of Olives. Cf Mk 11:1; 14:26.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:31 Ahithophel. Cf v 12; 16:23.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:32 where God was worshiped. Apparently, the Mount of Olives (v 30) was a "high place." See p 526. Here God answered David's prayer by providing the man who would thwart Ahithophel's counsel. Hushai. Non-Israelite member of David's cabinet, a royal counselor. In contrast to Ahithophel, he was the king's friend (16:17). his coat torn and dirt on his head. Signs of grief and mourning showing he was on David's side. See note, Jb 1:20.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:24–37 Though he must depart from Jerusalem, David puts his fate into the Lord's hands. Yet his allies will be his eyes and ears in Jerusalem, bringing word to him at the Jordan River. Life here in this world is often a wilderness journey of weeping and the expectation of death. This is due to our sin against God. But Christ has gone the way of sorrows on our behalf, that we might cross the Jordan with Him, through the waters of Holy Baptism, out of the wilderness into the promised land of heaven. • O Lord Jesus Christ, by the blood of Your eternal covenant, preserve our faith and bring us at last into Your Jerusalem above. Amen.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:1 the summit. Of the Mount of Olives. Ziba … Mephibosheth. Cf 4:4. a hundred. An assumed amount. Archaeologists have discovered that ancient writers often did not include exact units of measure. wine. See p 236.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:3 give me back the kingdom of my father. Upon David's return to Jerusalem, Mephibosheth denied this accusation (19:24–28). Because he was lame in both legs, it would have been difficult for him to leave Jerusalem. Furthermore, there was no reason to suppose that Absalom would give the kingdom to the household of Saul. By supporting David and bearing false witness against his master, Ziba probably hoped to free himself from Mephibosheth and take possession of his master's lands. Or, perhaps with pious but misguided zeal, he hoped to serve David's house instead of Saul's. David believed Ziba at this time. Cf 19:29.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:4 I pay homage. Apparently, this reverence was just lip service. See note, 14:4.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:1–4 Ziba provides for King David in his need. Yet he does so at his master's expense. David may be too hasty in handing over Mephibosheth's inheritance. It is tempting to speak falsely of others to gain personal advantage. Today, we are also too easily led to make quick judgments, especially when they agree with our expectations. The Lord, however, looks at the heart and is not fooled. His providence meets all our needs of body and soul, "out of fatherly, divine goodness and mercy, without any merit or worthiness" in us (SC, First Article, p xxxvi). • Keep us, Lord, from false testimony. Thank You for all Your benefits through Jesus Christ. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:5 cursed continually. Contrary to the Law, which forbids the cursing of the ruler (Ex 22:28). See p 6; see also SC, Second Commandment, p xxxv.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:6 he threw stones. Symbolizing that David should be stoned for murder (Lv 24:17–21). right … left. Bodyguards surrounded David.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:7 cursed. See note, v 5.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:8 the blood of the house of Saul. David was not responsible for the death of Saul or his sons (ch 1; 9:1–13). Shimei, however, may have held him responsible for the bloodshed that ravaged that house. Cf 3:1; 3:26–4:12; 21:1–9. your evil is on you … man of blood. Though not accountable for the blood of Saul's house, David was responsible for the death of Uriah the Hittite. Absalom's rebellion was part of the Lord's judgment upon him for that bloodshed (12:7–11).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:9 Abishai the son of Zeruiah. See notes, 3:30, 39; 1Sm 26:8. dead dog. Nothing but a nuisance with a foul odor. Similar curse is found in Canaanite literature.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:10 What have I to do with you. Rhetorical question expresses difference in attitude between David and Abishai. Cf 3:39.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:11 let him curse. David saw this as a consequence of his sin. Cf 12:9–14; Lm 3:37–39. the LORD has told him to. Either God commanded this, similar to how He spoke to the prophets, or He simply allowed this to happen in His providence. Either way, David saw the Lord's hand in this cursing. Bern: "You ought, after the example of holy David, not so much to be angry with those people who have caused you such great sufferings, although they are your own servants, as to know that you ought to humble yourself under the mighty hand of God" (SLSB, pp 85–86).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:12 wrong. Chem: "It was a sin … a curse that had to be avenged…. Certain sins are at the same time both sins and punishment for sins" (LTh 1:198).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:13 on the road. C 20 mi long, descending c 3,700 ft to the Jordan River.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:5–14 David recognizes Shimei's cursing as the Lord's justice. He spares Shimei from death, accepts the divine judgment, and entrusts himself to God's mercy in faith. The curses of God's Law are the righteous wrath and judgment of the Lord against our sin, for which we "deserve nothing but punishment" (SC, Fifth Petition, p xxxviii). Yet, Christ Jesus has borne the curse and judgment of God in our stead. For His sake, we are spared the punishment we deserve. • Dear Father in heaven, deal with us not according to the severity of Your judgment but according to Your mercy. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:16–19 Hushai was both theologically astute and a brilliant strategist. With one stroke, he affirms his loyalty in relation to the Lord and the people of Israel, thereby providing a compelling explanation for his departure from David and offering what will be taken as flattery of Absalom. But there is a double meaning here—Hushai was actually affirming King David, whom both the Lord and the people of Judah and Israel had anointed.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:16 Long live the king! Double meaning. While appearing to support Absalom, he really was praying for success for David.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:18 the LORD and this people … have chosen. In, with, and under the political process, governing authorities are chosen and appointed by God and have their authority from Him (Rm 13:1–2); they have no authority unless it has been given to them from above (Jn 19:11). Also, Israelite leaders exercised political authority. See note, 1Ki 12:15.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:19 By offering his service to Absalom, Hushai continued to serve David.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:21 Go in to your father's concubines. To fornicate with the royal harem to show he had taken the king's place. Cf 1Ki 2:13–25; Dt 22:30; 27:20. Although the Lord brought this judgment on David (12:9–11), Absalom was still accountable for his own sins (cf Mt 26:24). a stench to your father. No reconciliation between Absalom and David would be possible. strengthened. Absalom's bold-faced sin would give his supporters confidence that he had successfully put himself in his father's place.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:22 on the roof. See note, 11:2.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:15–23 David's sin is repaid in kind. The evil adultery he committed with Bathsheba is punished by his son's adultery with his harem. Sadly, some sins lead to more sins and involve other people in a web of evil. God will not let this go unpunished (Gal 6:7). Yet, God is ever working to save us from our sin. For our sake, the Lord Himself suffered the abandonment and betrayal of His friends and the public humiliation of the cross so we would be justified by His grace. • Lord Jesus, friend of sinners, ever faithful in the face of our unfaithfulness, do not hold our sins against us, but save us from our foolishness. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:1 Ahithophel. See note, 15:12. pursue David tonight. A good and effective plan. It would almost certainly have been a quick, decisive victory for Absalom.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:3 as a bride … husband. Ahithophel spoke of his king as a husband who has a rightful claim to his wife's loyalty (the loyalty of the people). the life of only one man. See ESV note; cf Jn 11:50.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:5 Hushai. See note, 15:32.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:7 not good. Ahithophel's counsel was actually quite good, but not for David! Nor was it according to God's will. Hushai's plan was to buy David time by telling Absalom to prepare for a large army.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:8 a bear robbed of her cubs. Extremely fierce and angry.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:9 one of the pits. Cf 18:17.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:10 like the heart of a lion. Very courageous.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:11 Dan to Beersheba. The north and south extremities of Saul's kingdom; the chief Israelite region. See note, Jgs 20:1. in person. Appeal to Absalom's vanity.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:12 as the dew falls on the ground. Large army would be like a blanket completely covering David and his men.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:14 bring harm upon Absalom. Although the Lord chose to use Absalom's sinful rebellion to discipline David (12:9–11), He still held Absalom accountable for his sins. Cf Mt 26:24.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:16 the fords of the wilderness. See note, 15:28. by all means pass over. In case Absalom would follow Ahithophel's advice.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:17 En-rogel. A well at Jerusalem's southeast corner. See diagram, p 1627.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:18 Bahurim. See note, 3:16.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:19 the woman. The householder's wife. well's mouth. Likely a dry cistern. scattered grain on it. As though she were drying it to produce parched grain. No one would likely disturb the drying grain in search of a hiding place beneath.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:20 over the brook. See ESV note. Chem: "To conceal something for an honest and just cause in matters which need not be said for reasons of right or usefulness, is not a lie…. It is lawful to use figurative language [e.g., a riddle] which does not reveal the points under discussion" (LTh 2:425). Cf Mt 26:64. See note, Jsh 2:5.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:23 More than wounded pride is evident in Ahithophel's suicide. He was deliberate, first setting his house in order. With his great wisdom, he reckoned that David would prevail and return to the throne, and that his own life would be forfeited because of his high treason. Perhaps he also recognized God's hand at work against him (v 14). See note, 1Sm 31:4.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:24 Mahanaim. See map, p 500; cf 2:8–11; Gn 32:1–2.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:25 Amasa … Joab. David's nephews.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:27 Shobi. Apparently the governor of Rabbah after David defeated his brother Hanun (10:4–14; 12:26–30). Like his father, Nahash (10:2), Shobi dealt loyally with David. Machir. Provided for Mephibosheth, Jonathan's son, before David restored to him all Saul's land and brought him to eat at the king's table. Barzillai. A very old and very rich non-Israelite.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:28–29 See p 236.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 17 David is on the run. Though apparently at the mercy of his enemies and the elements, David is under the mercy of God, who chastens him as a father disciplines his son, yet all the while maintaining His steadfast love for him. The Lord will humble all who exalt themselves, whether sooner or later. We should pray that the Lord would humble us each day, through discipline unto repentance, so that we may not be humbled before Him in the final judgment! For this repentance, and for the forgiveness of sins, the Lord has instituted the Sacrament of Holy Baptism. In it, we are crucified, dead, and buried with Christ Jesus, in order to be raised with Him to new life (Rm 6:3–4; SC, p xxxix–xl). • We praise You, O God. We bless You and magnify You, that as our dear Father You discipline us in love and provide for all our needs of body and soul, now and forever. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:1 mustered. Organized for war. commanders of thousands … hundreds. Technical terms for military officers. Number of men in each unit varied. See p 217.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:2 Joab … Abishai. Cf 2:18–32; 3:26–39; 1Sm 26:6; 1Ch 11:6–8. Ittai. Cf 15:18–22.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:3 worth ten thousand of us. If David fell, the war would be over and Absalom would have won. Cf 17:2–3. the city. Mahanaim. Cf 17:24.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:4 hundreds … thousands. Divisions of the army (cf v 1).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:5 Deal gently for my sake. David knew that much of the current situation was the result of his sin, yet the Lord forgave him and spared his life. David wanted to do the same for Absalom. Cf Mt 5:44–45; Lk 23:34; Ac 13:22–23.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:6 forest of Ephraim. Likely a heavily wooded area with rocky, uneven terrain, probably east of the Jordan. See also note, Jsh 17:15.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:7 twenty thousand men. See note, v 1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:8 forest devoured. Rough terrain disrupted tactics and worked against Absalom's troops.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:9 mule. Used esp by the king and his family (13:29). Symbolizes Absalom's claim to be king. head caught fast. Likely his hair. Cf 14:11, 26. went on. As the mule continues on its way without Absalom, God unseats the usurper from his father's throne.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:10 hanging in an oak. Thus, he was shown to be cursed. Cf Dt 21:22–23; Gal 3:13.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:15 struck … killed. Joab had his servants finish off Absalom. Nevertheless, Joab was responsible for his death.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:16 Cf 17:2–3; 18:3. The one contending for the throne was killed; there was no need to fight.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:17 great heap of stones. Absalom was "stoned" after death. Cf Dt 21:18–21.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:18 to this day. See note, Jsh 4:9.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:1–18 Absalom, a son of David, is defeated by the Lord and hung on a tree. Joab has Absalom killed and brings the war to an end so the rest of Israel is spared. Pride comes before a fall. Our lives are held and weighed in God's hands. In contrast to Absalom, Jesus, the sinless Son of David, was reckoned a rebellious sinner (2Co 5:21) and died on a tree to bear God's curse against the world's sins (Gal 3:13). • "Fulfilled is all that David told In sure prophetic song of old, That God the nations' king should be And reign in triumph from the tree." Amen. (LSB 455:3)
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:20 not to carry news today. To protect Ahimaaz in case David became angry at news of Absalom's death (cf 1:13–16; 4:7–12).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:21 Cushite. See note, Nu 12:1.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:23 the way of the plain. Presumably, the Cushite ran directly from the battle to Mahanaim, a demanding route over steep and rugged terrain. Ahimaaz took the longer, but easier, route through the Jordan Valley.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:24 between the two gates. City had both an inner and outer gate. David positioned himself in the courtyard between the two. See p 792.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:25 there is news in his mouth. He has a message to tell. A lone runner would be a messenger, while a group could have been retreating troops.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:28 All is well. Hbr shalom, "peace," root word of Absalom's name. his face to the earth. See p 1276.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:29 I do not know. He knew, but lost his nerve at the crucial moment.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:19–30 Ahimaaz is anxious to bring news of the victory to David, but he fails to tell about Absalom's death. Expecting an angry reaction from the king, Joab sends a Cushite to bear the message. Official messengers must be faithful in delivering the news given them to tell, even if their message is not welcome. This holds true especially for ministers of the Gospel. How blessed are the feet of those who proclaim the Gospel, who tell us that our King Jesus reigns with mercy! • Heavenly Father, give us courage to speak Your Word according to our vocation as Christians. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:33 chamber. Guardroom in the watchtower. Towers usually flanked the city gate. O my son Absalom. Repetition expresses pity. I had died instead of you. See similar expressions from Moses and Paul in Ex 32:30–34; Rm 9:1–3.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:31–33 The Cushite tactfully reveals what has happened, pointing out that Absalom was the king's enemy and had risen up against the king for evil. Nevertheless, David is overcome with grief at the report of his son's death. Not only does our sin bring death upon us, but it also brings death and destruction into our relationships with others and much grief to everyone around us. For all of his faults, David is described as a man after God's own heart, never more so than when his heart went out to the son who betrayed him and sinned against him. Likewise, our Father in heaven has opened His merciful heart to us in the outstretched arms of Jesus, the Son of David. • Lord, grant us grace to rejoice in Your salvation, and to love our enemies and pray for those who persecute us, that we may be merciful, even as You are merciful. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:3 stole into the city. Entered secretly, in humility, not as triumphant conquerors.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:4 See note, 18:33.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:6 hate those who love you. By continually mourning for Absalom, David seemed to place more value on the rebels than on his loyal followers.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:7 speak kindly. To thank his supporters and congratulate them on their victory. Cf Is 40:1–2. not a man will stay with you. An implied threat that Joab would lead the troops against the king. worse. David needed to move beyond his mourning and leave behind his self-pity to continue living as king, the vocation God had given him.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:8 sitting in the gate. Sign that David had publicly resumed his royal office and honored their victory over Absalom. See p 792. the people came before the king. To present themselves and honor David as their king.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:1–8c David's grief over Absalom threatens to undo all that has been accomplished on his behalf. His mourning borders on self-pity and despair, which is neither expedient nor faithful. Sometimes our sin is manifested in pride and self-righteousness, other times in despondency and defeatism. Like Joab, the Law confronts us with what we must do. But God our King speaks kindly to us. He did not spare His own Son but gave Him up for us all. • Dear Father in heaven, we pray "that the devil, the world, and our sinful nature may not deceive us or mislead us into false belief, despair, and other great shame and vice" (SC, Sixth Petition, p xxxviii–xxxix). Give us the victory by the death and resurrection of Your only-begotten Son. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:9–10 arguing. Political arguments on who should now be king.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:10 anointed over us. Although not mentioned earlier, this anointing evidently took place in Hebron when Absalom launched his revolt (15:10). If he was anointed with the majority's approval, David probably could not immediately resume his kingship. Cf 15:6, 12–13. you say nothing. Appeal for the popular support David needed to become their king again.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:11 Zadok and Abiathar. David used priests for secular political purposes. The politics of Israel could not be separated from the nation's religious significance or from God's promise concerning David and his throne (7:12–13). See pp 1565–66. bring the king back. David wanted his own tribe of Judah to lead the way in restoring him to the throne. word of all Israel. David had received intelligence concerning the movement in his favor among the northern tribes.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:13 Amasa. David's nephew, cousin of Joab and Abishai. God do so to me and more also. Oath. See p 7. David made a strong promise to Amasa. Perhaps David wanted to remove Joab for having Absalom killed (18:14–15) and for his earlier murder of Abner (3:26–39; 1Ki 2:5–6). At the same time, David sought to bring a leader in Absalom's revolt over to his side. By doing so, David would gain an influential ally and would assure the rebel forces that he did not intend revenge against them.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:14 swayed the heart. Won the loyalty. Whereas Absalom "stole" the hearts of Israel (15:6), David "sways" the heart of Judah.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:15 Jordan … Gilgal. See color map 1; cf 1Sm 11:14–15.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:8d–15 Having won the war, David has the task of regaining the people's support. The northern tribes of Israel are the first to call for his return to office, but David needs to negotiate Judah's loyalty. In so doing, he shows that he does not bear grudges against those who opposed him. Today, we are tempted to manipulate the people and situations around us to our own advantage, and even to seek revenge. Remarkably, rather than seeking revenge on us, our gracious God forgives our sins for Jesus' sake and calls us back to His service. • Lord Jesus, let not pride prevent us from doing what is good and right, nor let us make expedience our rule, but guide us by Your Word. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:16–17 Those who had opposed David now took the initiative in being reconciled to him, lest he punish their treason. Ziba was among them, though he had not opposed David but had aided him in his flight (16:1–2). Perhaps he saw that his ruse concerning Mephibosheth would be exposed (16:3; 19:24–28). He reaffirmed his loyalty, hoping not to lose the reward he had received (16:4; cf 19:29).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:16 Shimei. See notes, 16:8, 11. Bahurim. See note, 3:16.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:20 the house of Joseph. Technically, this included only the tribes of Ephraim and Manasseh (Jsh 16–17), but here it was used for all the northern tribes of Israel, in contrast to Judah.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:21 Abishai the son of Zeruiah. See notes, 3:30, 39; 1Sm 26:8. he cursed the LORD*'s anointed?* Cf 16:7–10; Ps 89:20–23, 49–51; 1Sm 26:8–11.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:22 What have I to do with you. See note, 16:10. an adversary to me? David described Abishai as an accuser (Hbr satan) because he urged punishment instead of absolution in response to Shimei's confession. Cf Jb 1:5–12; Rv 12:10–11. I am this day king over Israel? Politically speaking, David had nothing to gain, but everything to lose, by resorting to violence at this point.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:23 You shall not die. Cf 12:13–14. the king gave him his oath. But Solomon would see to his punishment (1Ki 2:8–9, 37–46).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:24 Mephibosheth the son of Saul. See note, 16:3. from the day the king departed. In contrast to Ziba's accusations (16:3), Mephibosheth truly mourned David's exile.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:26 Instead of assisting his master, Ziba had left without Mephibosheth, and then had accused him of plotting insurrection against the king (16:3). saddle a donkey for myself. See ESV

note. Doing so would have been difficult for the lame Mephibosheth. your servant is lame. Shows that he was hardly in a position to threaten David's throne.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:27 like the angel of God. Like the angel of the covenant, the mediator of divine blessings to the nation, knowing good and evil. See note, 14:17.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:28 among those who eat at your table. See note, 9:7.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:29 divide the land. Compromise. One of the men has lied, but David chose not to punish either of them.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:31 Barzillai the Gileadite. See note, 17:27.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:32 Mahanaim. See map, p 500.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:33 provide for you. More than simply offering to repay Barzillai for his generous support, David sought to secure the alliance by making Barzillai a permanent member of his court (1Ki 2:7).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:35 Barzillai's senses were dulled by old age. He describes the pursuits and activities of the king's court.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:37 near the grave. See note, 1Ki 2:10. Chimham. Presumably Barzillai's son.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:39 went over. Back into the main territory of the realm. the king kissed Barzillai and blessed him. To mark a friendship and establish an alliance.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:40 Gilgal. See color map 1; cf 1Sm 11:14–15. the people of Judah … half the people of Israel. Judah was decidedly supportive of David, while Israel remained divided in its support. This is a turn of events; the northern tribes were the first to speak of restoring David to his throne (vv 9–10, 43), while his own tribe of Judah hesitated (vv 11–12).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:42 our close relative. David was from the tribe of Judah (1Ch 2:1–15; Mt 1:3–6; Lk 3:31–33). Have we eaten … any gift? The men of Judah deny having abused their close kinship with the king.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:43 ten shares in the king. David was the anointed king of the entire nation, of which Israel comprised the northern 10 tribes, Judah the southern tribe (the Levites not being counted). See note, 1Ki 11:32. fiercer. This conflict anticipated the final rift between the north and south under David's grandson Rehoboam (1Ki 12:16–20).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:16–43 As David retraces his steps to Jerusalem, he meets several of the same people he encountered previously. With mercy, wisdom, and generosity, David crosses over the Jordan, out of the wilderness on his way back to the royal city. In contrast to David's willingness to forgive, there is too often jealousy and fierce anger burning in our hearts against our brothers. Thanks be to God that His heart burns instead with love and mercy for us. For He despises nothing He has made but forgives the sins of all who are penitent for Jesus' sake. • Lord God, heavenly Father, grant to us Your Holy Spirit and the charitable heart of Your dear Son, that we may bear with one another in love. Amen.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:1 Benjaminite. Tribe from which King Saul had come (1Sm 9:1). When the kingdom was later divided under David's grandson Rehoboam, the house of Benjamin was the only other tribe left with Judah under the house of David (2Ch 11:1–12). no portion in David. Contradiction of what was said in 19:43. every man to his tents. Sheba called Israel to desert the king on his way to Jerusalem.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:3 the ten concubines. See notes, 15:16; 16:21. as if in widowhood. They had been taken by his son, so David would not lie with them (cf Lv 18:15).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:4 Amasa. See note, 19:13. within three days. David wanted no delay in pursuing Sheba.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:6 Abishai. Joab's brother, a military commander. your lord's servants. General reference to David's troops.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:7 Joab's men. Presumably the third of the army that he commanded in the battle with Absalom (18:2). Though no longer the commander, Joab quickly moved to resume his previous position. Cherethites … Pelethites. See note, 15:18. the mighty men. David's elite soldiers. Cf 23:8–39; 1Ch 11:10–47.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:8 the great stone. Perhaps the "great stone" that Saul had the people bring to Gibeon for their treachery (1Sm 14:32–35). Perhaps it was also the "great high place" at Gibeon (1Ki 3:4). See map, p 500; cf 2Sm 2:12–23. soldier's garment. His tunic was girded for ready movement, for the march to battle, with his sword belt fastened over his clothing in the usual fashion. it fell out. Joab's sword, perhaps more of a long dagger, slid out of its sheath into the folds of his tunic.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:9 by the beard with his right hand to kiss him. Customary gesture of affection. By using his right hand, the fighting hand, Joab put Amasa off guard against any attack.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:10 Joab struck him … he died. Cf Jgs 3:15–23; 2Sm 3:27. Under Solomon, Joab was later put to death for his crimes (1Ki 2:28–34).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:11 The propaganda was that Joab had not turned against the king by killing Amasa, but had taken charge of the army on David's behalf.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:13 all the people went on after Joab. With Amasa out of the way, Joab was once more commander in chief.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:14 Beth-maacah. Lit, "house of Maacah," echoing name of Absalom's mother (3:3). Absalom fled to his mother's "house" (the kingdom of his maternal grandfather) after killing Amnon (13:37); now Sheba was following in his steps. Bichrites. Sheba was "the son of Bichri" (v 1), so these would be the members of his own clan, apparently the only followers he had left; or, "Berites" may be from a wordplay on "Beersheba." If so, the narrator is suggesting that the rebel Sheba ran from Beersheba in the south to the territory of Dan in the north and withdrew into a city.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:15 Classic siege techniques.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:18 ask counsel at Abel. City had a reputation for good judgment and wise counsel, as the woman exemplified in her negotiation with Joab.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:19 peaceable and faithful … a mother in Israel. Feminine qualities she described and represented are a striking contrast to masculine bravado of both Sheba, the "worthless" would-be rebel (v 1), and ruthless Joab. swallow up the heritage of the LORD*?* Joab would not want to be seen as an enemy of the Lord's land and people. See "portion," p 7.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:21 him alone. Cf 17:2–3; 18:3, 15–16.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:23 Joab. For now, his murderous crimes were left unpunished. Cf 1Ki 2:28–35. Benaiah. Would later replace Joab as head of the army under Solomon (1Ki 2:35).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:24 forced labor. The service taken from foreigners, which had been utilized since the conquest (Jgs 1:28–35). At first, the people of Israel were not enslaved (1Ki 9:20–22), but by 1Ki 12:1–18 their yoke of hard service was heavy.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:25 Zadok and Abiathar. Abiathar was probably the high priest in the reign of David. Cf 1Ki 1:5–7; 2:35; 4:4.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:26 Ira the Jairite. Jairites were descendants of Manasseh who were given the territory of Gilead (Nu 32:40–41; 1Ch 2:21–22). Perhaps Ira was associated with Barzillai the Gileadite (17:27–29; 19:31–39). "The sons of Barzillai" were among "the sons of the priests" (Ezr 2:61). David's priest. See note, 8:18.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 20 For David to return to his throne in Jerusalem, a rebellion among the northern tribes of Israel must be stopped. Though David has been humbled and brought to repentance for his sins, the shadow of rebellion and violence continues to haunt his reign. Nevertheless, by restoring David to the throne of Israel, the Lord shows His promise to raise up a Son of David, whose throne and kingdom shall be eternal. That promise is ultimately fulfilled in Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whose incarnation, death, and resurrection win every spiritual victory. • "Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, for He has visited and redeemed His people and has raised up a horn of salvation for us in the house of His servant David" (Lk 1:68–69). Amen.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:1 sought the face of the LORD. Asked questions of the Lord, probably with the Urim and Thummim. See "seek," p 843. bloodguilt on Saul … Gibeonites. Nothing more is known of Saul's crime. See note, 1Ki 2:31. Joshua had sworn to let the Gibeonites live (Jsh 9). Perhaps the drought was due to Saul's rejection of this covenant.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:2 the Gibeonites. Cf Jsh 9; see note, Jsh 9:3.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:3 that you may bless the heritage of the LORD? Or, "that you may bless the land of Israel, which the Lord gave them as an inheritance." There could be no blessing from the offended party without atonement first being made. Cf Mt 5:23–24.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:4 not a matter of silver or gold. They did not seek monetary payment for their loss. any man to death. They did not need to put just anyone to death, only the guilty.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:5 The man who consumed us. Saul.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:6 seven of his sons. Perhaps to signify the number of people Saul killed, or because these seven participated in the slaughter of the Gibeonites, or to symbolize complete satisfaction (the number seven symbolized completeness; see p 217). hang them. Cf Nu 25:4; 35:31–33. Gibeah. Home and capital of Saul. See color map 3.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:7 Mephibosheth. Cf 4:4; 9:1–13; 16:1–4; 19:24–30. because of the oath. Cf Dt 23:23.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:8 Mephibosheth. Son of Saul, not of Jonathan.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:9 before the LORD. Not just a public hanging, but an act of expiation. Gibeonites may have hung them by impaling. barley harvest. Probably April. See calendar, p 262.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:10 rain fell upon them. Showing that God's wrath had been stilled and the drought had ended. did not allow … to come upon them. After the shameful death of her two sons, Rizpah sought to prevent further disgrace to their bodies.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:11–13 David accorded the remains an honorable burial and showed that the execution of Saul's sons was not due to personal animosity.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:14 God responded to the plea. God accepted the death of the seven men from Saul's house and ended the famine.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:1–14 Saul's sons, whether innocent or guilty with their father, now pay the penalty for Saul's crime. God will not allow sin to go unpunished, though His justice sometimes does not make sense to us. The apparent innocence of the seven from Saul's house, who were hanged on a mount before the Lord as an act of atonement for Saul's sin, brings into sharp focus the all-atoning sacrifice of Christ, the Son of God, who was crucified on Mount Calvary for all the sins of the world. Not just any man's death would propitiate God; only the death of God's Son could bring salvation. • Father, thank You for sending Your holy Son to atone for our sins and win salvation for us. Amen.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:15 Philistines. See p 345. David grew weary. From old age.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:16 giants. See notes, 1Sm 17:4; 21:10.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:17 Abishai. Cf 2:24; 3:30; 16:9–10; 18:2; 19:21–22; 20:6; 23:18–19. lest you quench the lamp of Israel. After the king's death, everyone, as though sitting in darkness, would not know what to do.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:18 Gob. See map, p 534. Sibbecai. One of David's mighty men. See note, 23:8.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:19 Elhanan. One of David's mighty men. See note, 23:8. Goliath. A scribe may have left out a portion of this verse since Lahmi is the Philistine defeated in this incident (cf 1Ch 20:5). David defeated Goliath earlier (cf 1Sm 17:4, 50). Gittite. From Gath. See map, p 534.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:20 giants. See notes, 1Sm 17:4; 21:10.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:15–22 Despite the attack of Philistine giants and armies, David and the armies of Israel are victorious. Due to his old age, David will no longer go out to battle with his troops. Baptized believers in this world will always face warfare with the devil, the world, and the evil desires of the flesh. But God supplies His Holy Spirit for the battle, and He has already won the war through the cross of Christ. • "Lord, keep us steadfast in Your Word; Curb those who by deceit or sword Would wrest the kingdom from Your Son And bring to naught all He has done." Amen. (LSB 655:1)

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 22 Songs of Hannah and of David frame 1 and 2Sm. David's song shows that where there was no hope that a kingdom could be established, a miracle occurred. The one oppressed by enemies became the king over many nations. At first, it looks like this kingdom is fulfilled in David. But actually, the kingdom described here goes beyond David to his descendant Jesus. See notes, Ps 18.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:2–4 my. Shows unbreakable link between the speaker in the psalm (the anointed one) and God. God Himself was David's shield.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:5–20 Troubles listed here characterize both David and Jesus Christ. These troubles were not simply the death that is the common end of all people. David's office as anointed king put him always at the edge of death. In this, he foreshadowed Jesus, whose office as God's Anointed One not only brought Him to the edge of death but also put Him to death to suffer for the sins of all. Only thereafter did He regain His life. David depicted his own struggles and God's help in words taken from the exodus and God's revelation on Mount Sinai.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:5 As if drowning, the king was on the edge of death.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:6 cords of Sheol. David describes the terrified state of his conscience. See Ap XIIB 52; see also p 792.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:7 From His temple. In heaven, the place of God's gracious presence. Cf 2Ch 6:21; Heb 8:1–5.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:8 earth reeled. God, who created the world, used the creation to help His anointed through miraculous earthquakes, storms, and the like. Cf Dt 4:11.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:9 Smoke … fire … coals. Cf Ex 19:18.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:10 bowed the heavens. God majestically revealed Himself in miraculous storms on Mount Sinai. Or, heaven came to earth when God helped His anointed king. Ultimately, divinity and humanity met in the one person of Jesus Christ.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:11–15 See notes, Ps 18:11–14, 15, 16.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:16 rebuke. The cry of God's anointed raised up God's wrath against the enemies. Cf Ex 14:21–22.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:17 many waters. Just as God rescued Israel from Egypt through the Red Sea waters, so also He rescued the king from the "waves of death" (v 5). Likewise, Christians are rescued from sin, death, and all spiritual enemies in the waters of Holy Baptism.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:20 broad place. Place where one is free to move, as opposed to the "cords of Sheol" (v 6).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:21–31 Although these verses seem to change from the praise of God to the praise of human works, they actually point to God's covenant. God gave His Word to His people. One difference between God's people and others is that His people are humble toward His revelation, not haughty (v 28). All of "my righteousness" (v 25) is itself a gift of God (vv 29–31). Cf Jb 4:17–19.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:29 lamp … lightens. Light is a symbol of God's gifts of consolation, joy, strength, and salvation. Cf Is 58:8.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:32–46 By God's power, David was a mighty warrior. By God's power also, Jesus, the Anointed One, is strong to save, not by using the sword but by suffering from it.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:33 blameless. God would not blame or condemn David for his sins but would forgive.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:37 wide place. See note, v 20. The Lord gives to His anointed ones freedom from sin and death and also steadfastness of faith.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:42 cried to the LORD. But not in faith. Cf Jas 1:6; 4:3; see "call," p 842.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:43 mire. See note, Mi 7:10.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:51 anointed … offspring forever. Entire psalm has not only focused on David but also on his offspring, esp Jesus, the Anointed One, whose kingdom is eternal.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 22 In this song, David acknowledges that God Almighty trained him for war, provided him with weapons of war, fought for him, and gained for him the victory. Whatever good is in us is God's gift alone. Likewise, forgiveness of our sins and victory over our spiritual enemies are purely His gifts. • Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, with David I praise You for delivering me from the power of evil. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:1–7 Luther wrote a treatise on this passage (AE 15:265–352), which teaches Christians to recognize prophecies about Christ and the Trinity in the OT.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:1 last words. Not the last words that David spoke, but his last will and testament. anointed. Luth: "And what is it that he lauds so highly? He says: 'In the first place it is that I am the man to whom God promised the Messiah [lit, "Anointed One"] of the God of Jacob, that the Messiah will descend from me'" (AE 15:271). See note, 1Sm 10:1. sweet psalmist. Luth: "To [saddened and wretched consciences], the Book of Psalms is a sweet and delightful song because it sings of and proclaims the Messiah" (AE 15:273–74).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:2 Spirit of the LORD. Luth: "Here he begins to talk about the exalted Holy Trinity, of the divine essence. In the first place, he mentions the Holy Spirit" (AE 15:275).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:3 God of Israel. See p 1227. Luth: "Which Person of the Godhead this Speaker is we Christians know from the Gospel of John. It is the Father who said in the beginning … 'Let there be light.' And His Word is the Person of the Son, through which Word 'all things were made.' … The same Son the Spirit by the mouth of David here calls tsur, 'Rock' of Israel…. For if a carnal mind approaches these words here … he will not think otherwise than that all these terms refer to God in one Person with a superfluity of words" (AE 15:276–78). rules justly. See "righteous," p 843; see also pp 1565–66. Luth: "Here he speaks of the eternal justice Messiah ushered into the world, whereby He redeemed us from sin and justified us. For in the words that follow David speaks of 'the everlasting covenant'" (AE 15:345).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:4 like rain. Luth: "But in the days of Messiah, says David, when the [Rock of Israel] Himself will reign to justify us and to save us by grace, it will be as enchanting as the most delightful time in spring in the wake of a refreshing, warm rain, that is, following the preaching of the comforting Gospel, immediately after which the Sun, Christ, rises in our hearts through true faith and devoid of Moses' clouds and thunder and lightning" (AE 15:348).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:5 does not my house stand. Luth: "O, what am I and what is my house to God? After all, it is not a house which would be deserving of such inexpressible honors before God, a house from which Messiah, [the Rock of Israel], God's Son, the just Ruler among men, should be born" (AE 15:349). secure. Luth: "If you take a glimpse at history, it will seem to you that God has forgotten His covenant and not kept it…. After Messiah came, His kingdom, the church, when viewed externally, impresses one as more desolate and disordered…. [But] there always has been and always is a people that honors the name of Christ, that has His Word, Baptism, the Sacrament, the Office of the Keys, and the Spirit against all the gates of hell" (AE 15:349–50).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:6 worthless men. See note, 1Sm 25:17.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:1–7 Inspired by the Holy Spirit, David speaks forth his last will and testament, prophesying of God's eternal covenant, which would be fulfilled in the kingdom of Christ. In fact, all the prophetic and apostolic Scriptures are inspired by the Holy Spirit. The Bible is God's Word, and we cannot set it aside. In this Word, God sets forth His covenant of grace, an eternal covenant in which Christ rules us, justifies us, and brings us to eternal life. • O Spirit of the Lord, O God of Israel, O Rock of Israel, most Holy Trinity, rule us, save us, and bring us into Your heavenly kingdom. Amen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:8 mighty men. David's elite soldiers. the three. The three top soldiers.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:9–10 the men of Israel withdrew. Suggests that Eleazar alone stood his ground, while all other soldiers retreated.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:16 poured it out. A sacrifice to the Lord. David felt guilty and acknowledged that the three men risked their lives performing this act of courage.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:20 ariels. Perhaps means "lionlike men" or "altar." If the former, Abishai defeated two lionlike men, and then he killed a lion. If the latter, he destroyed two Moabite altars.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:24 Asahel. Cf 1Ch 2:16.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:25 Harod. Place near Mount Gilboa. Cf Jgs 7:1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:27 Mebunnai. Probably the same as Sibbecai (21:18).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:28 Zalmon. Probably Ilai of 1Ch 11:29.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:29 Heleb. Probably Heled (1Ch 11:30) or Heldai (1Ch 27:15). Ittai. Not Ittai the Gittite (i.e., of Gath), who led a third of the army against Absalom (15:18–22; 18:2).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:30 Benaiah. Not the Benaiah of vv 20–23. Hiddai. Probably Hurai of 1Ch 11:32.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:31 Abi-albon. Perhaps Abiel of 1Ch 11:32.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:32 the sons of Jashen. Perhaps sons of Hashem. Cf 1Ch 11:34. Jonathan. Not Saul's son.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:33 Shammah. To be distinguished from Shammah, son of Agee, also a Hararite (vv 11–12).
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:34 Eliphelet. Perhaps identified with Eliphal son of Ur in 1Ch 11:35. Ahithophel of Gilo. Cf 15:12, 31; 16:23; 17:23.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:35 Carmel. Perhaps of the Judean Carmel. Paarai. Perhaps Naarai of 1Ch 11:37.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:37 Naharai. His inclusion on the list makes Joab's exclusion all the more conspicuous. David evidently considered Naharai, the armor-bearer of Joab and not a member of the 12 tribes of Israel, more honorable and worthy of special recognition than Joab, a close relative of David. Beeroth. A Hivite city.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:38 Ira. Not the Ira of 1Ch 11:28. Cf 1Ch 11:40.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:39 thirty-seven in all. Joab is conspicuously absent from this list. Cf vv 18, 24, 37; 1Ki 2:5–6.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:8–39 Though David certainly makes honorable mention of those who fought bravely alongside him, the faithfulness and loyalty of a warrior seems to be the deciding factor in whether he is included in David's list of mighty men. Joab, a general perceived as disloyal, is excluded from the list. In Heb 11, faith is the qualification for being included on the list. The saints in Heb 11 lived "by faith," believing God's Son would ransom them from bondage to hell and death. • Father, through faith in Christ, make me one of Your mighty saints. Amen.
2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:1 and He incited David. For reasons known only to God, He allowed Satan to tempt David. Motivated by pride or thirst for power, the king ordered a census of his army. Chem: "God is said to have incited David because it was a punishment for sin" (LTh 1:197). See notes, 1Ch 21:1; Jas 1:13–14.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:2 from Dan to Beersheba. See note, Jgs 20:1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:3 why does my lord the king delight in this thing? Joab recognized that David's action could bring guilt on Israel. Cf 1Ch 21:3.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:5 Aroer … Gad … Jazer. See map, p 558. Moving north.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:6 Gilead … Kadesh … Dan … Sidon. Toward Galilee and the coast of the Great Sea. Hittites. See p 345.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:7 Tyre … Negeb … Beersheba. See color map 2. Hivites and Canaanites. See p 345.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:9 800,000 … 500,000. Some commentators account for the disparity in the totals between 2Sm 24 and 1Ch 21 by suggesting a distinction between fully armed soldiers and all men of military age. When God commanded Moses to conduct a census of the tribes of Israel by their clans and fathers' houses, He established 20 as the age of eligibility for males to enter military service (Nu 1:3).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:13 three years of famine. Cf 21:1. flee three months before your foes. Cf 1Sm 19:18; 21:10; 23:24–25. three days' pestilence in your land? Cf Ex 7–11. Luth: "Frequently an entire nation is punished because of a godless king, just as God also blesses an entire realm because of a pious prince. Thus God prospered all of Syria through Naaman (2Ki 5:1); but because of the sin which David committed He smote the entire people of Israel" (WLS § 2019).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:15 Dan to Beersheba. See note, Jgs 20:1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:16 the angel. The destroying angel sent by God to carry out the pestilence. the LORD relented. Hbr nacham. Lit, "repented." See note, 1Ch 21:15. angel of the LORD. See p 1227. Araunah. Called "Ornan" in 1Ch 21:15. Native of Jerusalem (see note, Jsh 15:8), not an Israelite.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:17 Those who filled positions of leadership over God's chosen people were to serve as shepherds for His people (cf Ezk 34:1–10; Is 44:28). David recognized that, as shepherd of the people of Israel, his guilt resulted in the death of thousands, and he pleaded with the Lord to direct His wrath toward his own family instead. Aph: "All the diligent pastors [shepherds] used thus to give themselves on behalf of their sheep" (NPNF 2 13:384). Bern: "Perceiving and lamenting the slaughter of his people, [David] wished to devote himself for them" (SLSB, p 73). David's prayer was fulfilled in the Passion of Jesus, the Son of David and our Good Shepherd.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:18 raise an altar … on the threshing floor. Perhaps because God had revealed Himself there through His angel. David was supposed to offer sacrifices there to appease the wrath of the Lord.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:20 paid homage. See note, 14:4.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:24 for a price. Sacrifice had to be costly for David.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:25 built there an altar. This altar was built where Solomon's temple would later be built. Cf 1Ch 22:1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON Ch 24 David's obsession with numbers and statistical strength does not belong in matters of faith. God did not command this census, so He punishes Israel because of it. The temptation to apply worldly strategies in matters of faith is great but should be resisted. Yet, pestilence led to David's repentance, repentance led to sacrifice, and sacrifice led to the temple—the place of God's mercy on earth. Likewise, Christ's cross was a sacrifice to appease God's wrath, which now has resulted in the place of God's mercy on earth: the means of grace in the Holy Christian Church. • "Lamb of God, pure and holy, Who on the cross didst suffer, Ever patient and lowly, Thyself to scorn didst offer. All sins Thou borest for us, Else had despair reigned o'er us: Have mercy on us, O Jesus!" Amen. (LSB 434:1)

David in His Old Age

1 [1]‡‡Now King David was old and advanced in years. And although they covered him with clothes, he could not get warm. [2]† Therefore his servants said to him, “Let a young woman be sought for my lord the king, and let her wait on the king and be in his service. Let her lie in your arms,[1] that my lord the king may be warm.” [3]†So they sought for a beautiful young woman throughout all the territory of Israel, and found Abishag the Shunammite, and brought her to the king. [4]† The young woman was very beautiful, and she was of service to the king and attended to him, but the king knew her not.

Adonijah Sets Himself Up as King

5 ‡ † Now Adonijah the son of Haggith exalted himself, saying, “I will be king.” And he prepared for himself chariots and horsemen, and fifty men to run before him. 6 † His father had never at any time displeased him by asking, “Why have you done thus and so?” He was also a very handsome man, and he was born next after Absalom. 7 † He conferred with Joab the son of Zeruiah and with Abiathar the priest. And they followed Adonijah and helped him. 8 † But Zadok the priest and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada and Nathan the prophet and Shimei and Rei and David’s mighty men were not with Adonijah.

9 † Adonijah sacrificed sheep, oxen, and fattened cattle by the Serpent’s Stone, which is beside En-rogel, and he invited all his brothers, the king’s sons, and all the royal officials of Judah, 10 † but he did not invite Nathan the prophet or Benaiah or the mighty men or Solomon his brother.

Nathan and Bathsheba Before David

11 †Then Nathan said to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon, “Have you not heard that Adonijah the son of Haggith has become king and David our lord does not know it? 12 †Now therefore come, let me give you advice, that you may save your own life and the life of your son Solomon. 13 †Go in at once to King David, and say to him, ‘Did you not, my lord the king, swear to your servant, saying, “Solomon your son shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne”? Why then is Adonijah king?’ 14 †Then while you are still speaking with the king, I also will come in after you and confirm[2] your words.”

15 So Bathsheba went to the king in his chamber (now the king was very old, and Abishag the Shunammite was attending to the king). 16 †Bathsheba bowed and paid homage to the king, and the king said, “What do you desire?” 17 She said to him, “My lord, you swore to your servant by the Lord your God, saying, ‘Solomon your son shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne.’ 18 †And now, behold, Adonijah is king, although you, my lord the king, do not know it. 19 He has sacrificed oxen, fattened cattle, and sheep in abundance, and has invited all the sons of the king, Abiathar the priest, and Joab the commander of the army, but Solomon your servant he has not invited. 20 And now, my lord the king, the eyes of all Israel are on you, to tell them who shall sit on the throne of my lord the king after him. 21 †Otherwise it will come to pass, when my lord the king sleeps with his fathers, that I and my son Solomon will be counted offenders.”

22 While she was still speaking with the king, Nathan the prophet came in.
23 And they told the king, “Here is Nathan the prophet.” And when he came in before the king, he bowed before the king, with his face to the ground.
24 †And Nathan said, “My lord the king, have you said, ‘Adonijah shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne’? 25 For he has gone down this day and has sacrificed oxen, fattened cattle, and sheep in abundance, and has invited all the king’s sons, the commanders[1] of the army, and Abiathar the priest. And behold, they are eating and drinking before him, and saying, ‘Long live King Adonijah!’ 26 †But me, your servant, and Zadok the priest, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and your servant Solomon he has not invited. [27]Has this thing been brought about by my lord the king and you have not told your servants who should sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?”

Solomon Anointed King

28 ‡ † Then King David answered, “Call Bathsheba to me.” So she came into the king’s presence and stood before the king. 29 And the king swore, saying, “As the Lord lives, who has redeemed my soul out of every adversity, 30 as I swore to you by the Lord, the God of Israel, saying, ‘Solomon your son shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne in my place,’ even so will I do this day.” 31 † Then Bathsheba bowed with her face to the ground and paid homage to the king and said, “May my lord King David live forever!”

32 † King David said, “Call to me Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada.” So they came before the king. 33 † And the king said to them, “Take with you the servants of your lord and have Solomon my son ride on my own mule, and bring him down to Gihon.
34 † And let Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet there anoint him king over Israel. Then blow the trumpet and say, ‘Long live King Solomon!’ 35 † You shall then come up after him, and he shall come and sit on my throne, for he shall be king in my place. And I have appointed him to be ruler over Israel and over Judah.” 36 † And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada answered the king, “Amen! May the Lord, the God of my lord the king, say so. 37 As the Lord has been with my lord the king, even so may he be with Solomon, and make his throne greater than the throne of my lord King David.”

38 † So Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites and the Pelethites went down and had Solomon ride on King David’s mule and brought him to Gihon. 39 † There Zadok the priest took the horn of oil from the tent and anointed Solomon.
Then they blew the trumpet, and all the people said, “Long live King Solomon!” 40 † And all the people went up after him, playing on pipes, and rejoicing with great joy, so that the earth was split by their noise.

41 † Adonijah and all the guests who were with him heard it as they finished feasting. And when Joab heard the sound of the trumpet, he said, “What does this uproar in the city mean?” 42 † While he was still speaking, behold, Jonathan the son of Abiathar the priest came. And Adonijah said,

“Come in, for you are a worthy man and bring good news.” 43 † Jonathan answered Adonijah, “No, for our lord King David has made Solomon king, 44 † and the king has sent with him Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites and the Pelethites. And they had him ride on the king’s mule. 45 And Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet have anointed him king at Gihon, and they have gone up from there rejoicing, so that the city is in an uproar. This is the noise that you have heard. 46 † Solomon sits on the royal throne. 47 † Moreover, the king’s servants came to congratulate our lord King David, saying, ‘May your God make the name of Solomon more famous than yours, and make his throne greater than your throne.’ And the king bowed himself on the bed. 48 And the king also said, ‘Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, who has granted someone[1] to sit on my throne this day, my own eyes seeing it.’”

49 Then all the guests of Adonijah trembled and rose, and each went his own way. 50 † And Adonijah feared Solomon. So he arose and went and took hold of the horns of the altar. 51 † Then it was told Solomon, “Behold, Adonijah fears King Solomon, for behold, he has laid hold of the horns of the altar, saying, ‘Let King Solomon swear to me first that he will not put his servant to death with the sword.’” 52 And Solomon said, “If he will show himself a worthy man, not one of his hairs shall fall to the earth, but if wickedness is found in him, he shall die.” 53 † So King Solomon sent, and they brought him down from the altar. And he came and paid homage to King Solomon, and Solomon said to him, “Go to your house.”

David’s Instructions to Solomon

2 [1]‡‡When David’s time to die drew near, he commanded Solomon his son, saying, [2]“I am about to go the way of all the earth. Be strong, and show yourself a man, [3]†and keep the charge of the Lord your God, walking in his ways and keeping his statutes, his commandments, his rules, and his testimonies, as it is written in the Law of Moses, that you may prosper in all that you do and wherever you turn, [4]†that the Lord may establish his word that he spoke concerning me, saying, ‘If your sons pay close attention to their way, to walk before me in faithfulness with all their heart and with all their soul, you shall not lack[1] a man on the throne of Israel.’

[5]‡‡“Moreover, you also know what Joab the son of Zeruiah did to me, how he dealt with the two commanders of the armies of Israel, Abner the son of Ner, and Amasa the son of Jether, whom he killed, avenging[2] in time of peace for blood that had been shed in war, and putting the blood of war[3] on the belt around his[4] waist and on the sandals on his feet. [6]†Act therefore according to your wisdom, but do not let his gray head go down to Sheol in peace. [7]†But deal loyally with the sons of Barzillai the Gileadite, and let them be among those who eat at your table, for with such loyalty[5] they met me when I fled from Absalom your brother. [8]‡‡And there is also with you Shimei the son of Gera, the Benjaminite from Bahurim, who cursed me with a grievous curse on the day when I went to Mahanaim. But when he came down to meet me at the Jordan, I swore to him by the Lord, saying, ‘I will not put you to death with the sword.’ [9]†Now therefore do not hold him guiltless, for you are a wise man. You will know what you ought to do to him, and you shall bring his gray head down with blood to Sheol.”

The Death of David

[10]†† Then David slept with his fathers and was buried in the city of David.
[11]And the time that David reigned over Israel was forty years. He reigned seven years in Hebron and thirty-three years in Jerusalem. [12]So Solomon sat on the throne of David his father, and his kingdom was firmly established.

Solomon’s Reign Established

13 ✝✝✝Then Adonijah the son of Haggith came to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon. And she said, “Do you come peacefully?” He said, “Peacefully.” 14 Then he said, “I have something to say to you.” She said, “Speak.” 15 ✝He said, “You know that the kingdom was mine, and that all Israel fully expected me to reign. However, the kingdom has turned about and become my brother’s, for it was his from the Lord. 16 And now I have one request to make of you; do not refuse me.” She said to him, “Speak.” 17 ✝And he said, “Please ask King Solomon—he will not refuse you—to give me Abishag the Shunammite as my wife.” 18 ✝Bathsheba said, “Very well; I will speak for you to the king.”

19 ✝So Bathsheba went to King Solomon to speak to him on behalf of Adonijah. And the king rose to meet her and bowed down to her. Then he sat on his throne and had a seat brought for the king’s mother, and she sat on his right. 20 Then she said, “I have one small request to make of you; do not refuse me.” And the king said to her, “Make your request, my mother, for I will not refuse you.” 21 She said, “Let Abishag the Shunammite be given to Adonijah your brother as his wife.” 22 ✝King Solomon answered his mother, “And why do you ask Abishag the Shunammite for Adonijah? Ask for him the kingdom also, for he is my older brother, and on his side are Abiathar[1] the priest and Joab the son of Zeruiah.” 23 ✝Then King Solomon swore by the Lord, saying, “God do so to me and more also if this word does not cost Adonijah his life! 24 Now therefore as the Lord lives, who has established me and placed me on the throne of David my father, and who has made me a house, as he promised, Adonijah shall be put to death today.” 25 So King Solomon sent Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and he struck him down, and he died.

26 ✝And to Abiathar the priest the king said, “Go to Anathoth, to your estate, for you deserve death. But I will not at this time put you to death, because you carried the ark of the Lord God before David my father, and because you shared in all my father’s affliction.” 27 ✝So Solomon expelled Abiathar from being priest to the Lord, thus fulfilling the word of the Lord that he had spoken concerning the house of Eli in Shiloh.

28 † When the news came to Joab—for Joab had supported Adonijah although he had not supported Absalom—Joab fled to the tent of the Lord and caught hold of the horns of the altar. 29And when it was told King Solomon, “Joab has fled to the tent of the Lord, and behold, he is beside the altar,” Solomon sent Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, saying, “Go, strike him down.” 30So Benaiah came to the tent of the Lord and said to him, “The king commands, ‘Come out.’” But he said, “No, I will die here.” Then Benaiah brought the king word again, saying, “Thus said Joab, and thus he answered me.” 31 †The king replied to him, “Do as he has said, strike him down and bury him, and thus take away from me and from my father’s house the guilt for the blood that Joab shed without cause. 32The Lord will bring back his bloody deeds on his own head, because, without the knowledge of my father David, he attacked and killed with the sword two men more righteous and better than himself, Abner the son of Ner, commander of the army of Israel, and Amasa the son of Jether, commander of the army of Judah. 33 †So shall their blood come back on the head of Joab and on the head of his descendants forever. But for David and for his descendants and for his house and for his throne there shall be peace from the Lord forevermore.” 34 †Then Benaiah the son of Jehoiada went up and struck him down and put him to death. And he was buried in his own house in the wilderness. 35 †The king put Benaiah the son of Jehoiada over the army in place of Joab, and the king put Zadok the priest in the place of Abiathar.

36 † Then the king sent and summoned Shimei and said to him, “Build yourself a house in Jerusalem and dwell there, and do not go out from there to any place whatever. 37 †For on the day you go out and cross the brook Kidron, know for certain that you shall die. Your blood shall be on your own head.” 38And Shimei said to the king, “What you say is good; as my lord the king has said, so will your servant do.” So Shimei lived in Jerusalem many days.

39 †But it happened at the end of three years that two of Shimei’s servants ran away to Achish, son of Maacah, king of Gath. And when it was told Shimei, “Behold, your servants are in Gath,” 40 †Shimei arose and saddled a donkey and went to Gath to Achish to seek his servants. Shimei went and brought his servants from Gath. 41And when Solomon was told that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath and returned, 42 † the king sent and summoned Shimei and said to him, “Did I not make you swear by the Lord and solemnly warn you, saying, ‘Know for certain that on the day you go out and go to any place whatever, you shall die’? And you said to me, ‘What you say is good; I will obey.’ 43Why then have you not kept your oath to the Lord and the commandment with which I commanded you?” 44The king also said to Shimei, “You know in your own heart all the harm that you did to David my father. So the Lord will bring back your harm on your own head. 45†But King Solomon shall be blessed, and the throne of David shall be established before the Lord forever.” 46† Then the king commanded Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and he went out and struck him down, and he died.

So the kingdom was established in the hand of Solomon.

Solomon's Prayer for Wisdom

3 [1]‡‡Solomon made a marriage alliance with Pharaoh king of Egypt.
He took Pharaoh's daughter and brought her into the city of David until he had finished building his own house and the house of the Lord and the wall around Jerusalem. [2]The people were sacrificing at the high places, however, because no house had yet been built for the name of the Lord.

[3]†Solomon loved the Lord, walking in the statutes of David his father, only he sacrificed and made offerings at the high places. [4]†And the king went to Gibeon to sacrifice there, for that was the great high place. Solomon used to offer a thousand burnt offerings on that altar. [5]†At Gibeon the Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream by night, and God said, "Ask what I shall give you." [6]†And Solomon said, "You have shown great and steadfast love to your servant David my father, because he walked before you in faithfulness, in righteousness, and in uprightness of heart toward you. And you have kept for him this great and steadfast love and have given him a son to sit on his throne this day. [7]†And now, O Lord my God, you have made your servant king in place of David my father, although I am but a little child. I do not know how to go out or come in. [8]†And your servant is in the midst of your people whom you have chosen, a great people, too many to be numbered or counted for multitude. [9]† Give your servant therefore an understanding mind to govern your people, that I may discern between good and evil, for who is able to govern this your great people?"

[10]It pleased the Lord that Solomon had asked this. [11]†And God said to him, "Because you have asked this, and have not asked for yourself long life or riches or the life of your enemies, but have asked for yourself understanding to discern what is right, [12]†behold, I now do according to your word. Behold, I give you a wise and discerning mind, so that none like you has been before you and none like you shall arise after you. [13]†I give you also what you have not asked, both riches and honor, so that no other king shall compare with you, all your days. [14]†And if you will walk in my ways, keeping my statutes and my commandments, as your father David walked, then I will lengthen your days."

15 † And Solomon awoke, and behold, it was a dream. Then he came to Jerusalem and stood before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and offered up burnt offerings and peace offerings, and made a feast for all his servants.

Solomon’s Wisdom

16 ‡‡Then two prostitutes came to the king and stood before him. 17The one woman said, “Oh, my lord, this woman and I live in the same house, and I gave birth to a child while she was in the house. 18†Then on the third day after I gave birth, this woman also gave birth. And we were alone.
There was no one else with us in the house; only we two were in the house.
19‡And this woman’s son died in the night, because she lay on him. 20And
she arose at midnight and took my son from beside me, while your servant slept, and laid him at her breast, and laid her dead son at my breast. 21When I rose in the morning to nurse my child, behold, he was dead. But when I looked at him closely in the morning, behold, he was not the child that I had borne.” 22But the other woman said, “No, the living child is mine, and the dead child is yours.” The first said, “No, the dead child is yours, and the living child is mine.” Thus they spoke before the king.

23Then the king said, “The one says, ‘This is my son that is alive, and your son is dead’; and the other says, ‘No; but your son is dead, and my son is the living one.’” 24And the king said, “Bring me a sword.” So a sword was brought before the king. 25And the king said, “Divide the living child in two, and give half to the one and half to the other.” 26†Then the woman whose son was alive said to the king, because her heart yearned for her son, “Oh, my lord, give her the living child, and by no means put him to death.”
But the other said, “He shall be neither mine nor yours; divide him.” 27†Then the king answered and said, “Give the living child to the first woman, and by no means put him to death; she is his mother.” 28†And all Israel heard of the judgment that the king had rendered, and they stood in awe of the king, because they perceived that the wisdom of God was in him to do justice.

Solomon's Officials

4 [1]‡King Solomon was king over all Israel, [2]†and these were his high officials: Azariah the son of Zadok was the priest; [3]†Elihoreph and Ahijah the sons of Shisha were secretaries; Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder; [4]† Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was in command of the army; Zadok and Abiathar were priests; [5]†Azariah the son of Nathan was over the officers; Zabud the son of Nathan was priest and king's friend; [6]† Ahishar was in charge of the palace; and Adoniram the son of Abda was in charge of the forced labor.

[7]‡ †Solomon had twelve officers over all Israel, who provided food for the king and his household. Each man had to make provision for one month in the year. [8]These were their names: Ben-hur, in the hill country of Ephraim; [9]† Ben-deker, in Makaz, Shaalbim, Beth-shemesh, and Elonbeth-hanan; [10]Ben-hesed, in Arubboth (to him belonged Socoh and all the land of Hepher); [11]† Ben-abinadab, in all Naphath-dor (he had Taphath the daughter of Solomon as his wife); [12]Baana the son of Ahilud, in Taanach, Megiddo, and all Beth-shean that is beside Zarethan below Jezreel, and from Beth-shean to Abel-meholah, as far as the other side of Jokmeam; [13]Ben-geber, in Ramoth-gilead (he had the villages of Jair the son of Manasseh, which are in Gilead, and he had the region of Argob, which is in Bashan, sixty great cities with walls and bronze bars); [14]Ahinadab the son of Iddo, in Mahanaim; [15]Ahimaaz, in Naphtali (he had taken Basemath the daughter of Solomon as his wife); [16]Baana the son of Hushai, in Asher and Bealoth; [17]Jehoshaphat the son of Paruah, in Issachar; [18]Shimei the son of Ela, in Benjamin; [19]† Geber the son of Uri, in the land of Gilead, the country of Sihon king of the Amorites and of Og king of Bashan. And there was one governor who was over the land.

Solomon’s Wealth and Wisdom

20 ‡ † Judah and Israel were as many as the sand by the sea. They ate and drank and were happy. 21 † [1] Solomon ruled over all the kingdoms from the Euphrates to the land of the Philistines and to the border of Egypt. They brought tribute and served Solomon all the days of his life.
22 ‡ † Solomon’s provision for one day was thirty cors[2] of fine flour and sixty cors of meal, 23 † ten fat oxen, and twenty pasture-fed cattle, a hundred sheep, besides deer, gazelles, roebucks, and fattened fowl. 24 † For he had dominion over all the region west of the Euphrates from Tiphsah to Gaza, over all the kings west of the Euphrates. And he had peace on all sides around him. 25 † And Judah and Israel lived in safety, from Dan even to Beersheba, every man under his vine and under his fig tree, all the days of Solomon. 26 † Solomon also had 40,000 stalls of horses for his chariots, and 12,000 horsemen. 27 † And those officers supplied provisions for King Solomon, and for all who came to King Solomon’s table, each one in his month. They let nothing be lacking. 28 Barley also and straw for the horses and swift steeds they brought to the place where it was required, each according to his duty.
29 † And God gave Solomon wisdom and understanding beyond measure, and breadth of mind like the sand on the seashore, 30 so that Solomon’s wisdom surpassed the wisdom of all the people of the east and all the wisdom of Egypt. 31 † For he was wiser than all other men, wiser than Ethan the Ezrahite, and Heman, Calcol, and Darda, the sons of Mahol, and his fame was in all the surrounding nations. 32 † He also spoke 3,000 proverbs, and his songs were 1,005. 33 † He spoke of trees, from the cedar that is in Lebanon to the hyssop that grows out of the wall. He spoke also of beasts, and of birds, and of reptiles, and of fish. 34 And people of all nations came to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and from all the kings of the earth, who had heard of his wisdom.

Preparations for Building the Temple

5 [1]†[1] Now Hiram king of Tyre sent his servants to Solomon when he heard that they had anointed him king in place of his father, for Hiram always loved David. [2]And Solomon sent word to Hiram, [3]†"You know that David my father could not build a house for the name of the Lord his God because of the warfare with which his enemies surrounded him, until the Lord put them under the soles of his feet. [4]†But now the Lord my God has given me rest on every side. There is neither adversary nor misfortune.
[5]And so I intend to build a house for the name of the Lord my God, as the Lord said to David my father, 'Your son, whom I will set on your throne in your place, shall build the house for my name.' [6]†Now therefore command that cedars of Lebanon be cut for me. And my servants will join your servants, and I will pay you for your servants such wages as you set, for you know that there is no one among us who knows how to cut timber like the Sidonians."

[7]†As soon as Hiram heard the words of Solomon, he rejoiced greatly and said, Blessed be the Lord this day, who has given to David a wise son to be over this great people." [8]And Hiram sent to Solomon, saying, "I have heard the message that you have sent to me. I am ready to do all you desire in the matter of cedar and cypress timber. [9]†My servants shall bring it down to the sea from Lebanon, and I will make it into rafts to go by sea to the place you direct. And I will have them broken up there, and you shall receive it. And you shall meet my wishes by providing food for my household." [10]So Hiram supplied Solomon with all the timber of cedar and cypress that he desired, [11]† while Solomon gave Hiram 20,000 cors[1] of wheat as food for his household, and 20,000[2] cors of beaten oil. Solomon gave this to Hiram year by year. [12]†And the Lord gave Solomon wisdom, as he promised him.
And there was peace between Hiram and Solomon, and the two of them made a treaty.

[13]† King Solomon drafted forced labor out of all Israel, and the draft numbered 30,000 men. [14]And he sent them to Lebanon, 10,000 a month in shifts. They would be a month in Lebanon and two months at home.

Adoniram was in charge of the draft. [15]†Solomon also had 70,000 burden-bearers and 80,000 stonecutters in the hill country, [16]†besides Solomon's 3,300 chief officers who were over the work, who had charge of the people who carried on the work. [17]†At the king's command they quarried out great, costly stones in order to lay the foundation of the house with dressed stones.
[18]†So Solomon's builders and Hiram's builders and the men of Gebal did the cutting and prepared the timber and the stone to build the house.

Solomon Builds the Temple

6 [1]†In the four hundred and eightieth year after the people of Israel came out of the land of Egypt, in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel, in the month of Ziv, which is the second month, he began to build the house of the LORD. [2]†The house that King Solomon built for the LORD was sixty cubits[3] long, twenty cubits wide, and thirty cubits high. [3]The vestibule in front of the nave of the house was twenty cubits long, equal to the width of the house, and ten cubits deep in front of the house. [4]And he made for the house windows with recessed frames.[4][5]He also built a structure[5] against the wall of the house, running around the walls of the house, both the nave and the inner sanctuary. And he made side chambers all around. [6]The lowest story[6] was five cubits broad, the middle one was six cubits broad, and the third was seven cubits broad. For around the outside of the house he made offsets on the wall in order that the supporting beams should not be inserted into the walls of the house.

[7]When the house was built, it was with stone prepared at the quarry, so that neither hammer nor axe nor any tool of iron was heard in the house while it was being built.

[8]The entrance for the lowest[7] story was on the south side of the house, and one went up by stairs to the middle story, and from the middle story to the third. [9]So he built the house and finished it, and he made the ceiling of the house of beams and planks of cedar. [10]He built the structure against the whole house, five cubits high, and it was joined to the house with timbers of cedar.

[11]†Now the word of the LORD came to Solomon, [12]†"Concerning this house that you are building, if you will walk in my statutes and obey my rules and keep all my commandments and walk in them, then I will establish my word with you, which I spoke to David your father. [13]†And I will dwell among the children of Israel and will not forsake my people Israel."

[14]So Solomon built the house and finished it. [15]†He lined the walls of the house on the inside with boards of cedar. From the floor of the house to the walls of the ceiling, he covered them on the inside with wood, and he covered the floor of the house with boards of cypress. 16 †He built twenty cubits of the rear of the house with boards of cedar from the floor to the walls, and he built this within as an inner sanctuary, as the Most Holy Place.

17The house, that is, the nave in front of the inner sanctuary, was forty cubits long. 18 †The cedar within the house was carved in the form of gourds and open flowers. All was cedar; no stone was seen. 19The inner sanctuary he prepared in the innermost part of the house, to set there the ark of the covenant of the Lord. 20 †The inner sanctuary[1] was twenty cubits long, twenty cubits wide, and twenty cubits high, and he overlaid it with pure gold. He also overlaid[2] an altar of cedar. 21 †And Solomon overlaid the inside of the house with pure gold, and he drew chains of gold across, in front of the inner sanctuary, and overlaid it with gold. 22 †And he overlaid the whole house with gold, until all the house was finished. Also the whole altar that belonged to the inner sanctuary he overlaid with gold.

23 †In the inner sanctuary he made two cherubim of olivewood, each ten cubits high. 24 †Five cubits was the length of one wing of the cherub, and five cubits the length of the other wing of the cherub; it was ten cubits from the tip of one wing to the tip of the other. 25The other cherub also measured ten cubits; both cherubim had the same measure and the same form. 26The height of one cherub was ten cubits, and so was that of the other cherub.
27He put the cherubim in the innermost part of the house. And the wings of the cherubim were spread out so that a wing of one touched the one wall, and a wing of the other cherub touched the other wall; their other wings touched each other in the middle of the house. 28And he overlaid the cherubim with gold.

29 †Around all the walls of the house he carved engraved figures of cherubim and palm trees and open flowers, in the inner and outer rooms.
30The floor of the house he overlaid with gold in the inner and outer rooms.

31 †For the entrance to the inner sanctuary he made doors of olivewood;
the lintel and the doorposts were five-sided.[3]32 †He covered the two doors of olivewood with carvings of cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers. He overlaid them with gold and spread gold on the cherubim and on the palm trees.

33So also he made for the entrance to the nave doorposts of olivewood, in the form of a square, 34and two doors of cypress wood. The two leaves of the one door were folding, and the two leaves of the other door were folding. 35 †On them he carved cherubim and palm trees and open flowers, and he overlaid them with gold evenly applied on the carved work. 36 †He built the inner court with three courses of cut stone and one course of cedar beams.

37 †In the fourth year the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid, in the month of Ziv. 38 And in the eleventh year, in the month of Bul, which is the eighth month, the house was finished in all its parts, and according to all its specifications. He was seven years in building it.

Solomon Builds His Palace

7 [1] ‡ † Solomon was building his own house thirteen years, and he finished his entire house.

[2] ‡ † He built the House of the Forest of Lebanon. Its length was a hundred cubits[1] and its breadth fifty cubits and its height thirty cubits, and it was built on four[2] rows of cedar pillars, with cedar beams on the pillars. [3] † And it was covered with cedar above the chambers that were on the forty-five pillars, fifteen in each row. [4] There were window frames in three rows, and window opposite window in three tiers. [5] All the doorways and windows[3] had square frames, and window was opposite window in three tiers.

[6] † And he made the Hall of Pillars; its length was fifty cubits, and its breadth thirty cubits. There was a porch in front with pillars, and a canopy in front of them.

[7] † And he made the Hall of the Throne where he was to pronounce judgment, even the Hall of Judgment. It was finished with cedar from floor to rafters.[4]

[8] † His own house where he was to dwell, in the other court back of the hall, was of like workmanship. Solomon also made a house like this hall for Pharaoh's daughter whom he had taken in marriage.

[9] † All these were made of costly stones, cut according to measure, sawed with saws, back and front, even from the foundation to the coping, and from the outside to the great court. [10] The foundation was of costly stones, huge stones, stones of eight and ten cubits. [11] And above were costly stones, cut according to measurement, and cedar. [12] The great court had three courses of cut stone all around, and a course of cedar beams; so had the inner court of the house of the Lord and the vestibule of the house.

The Temple Furnishings

13 ‡ ‡ † And King Solomon sent and brought Hiram from Tyre. 14 † He was the son of a widow of the tribe of Naphtali, and his father was a man of Tyre, a worker in bronze. And he was full of wisdom, understanding, and skill for making any work in bronze. He came to King Solomon and did all his work.

15 † He cast two pillars of bronze. Eighteen cubits was the height of one pillar, and a line of twelve cubits measured its circumference. It was hollow, and its thickness was four fingers. The second pillar was the same.[5] 16 † He also made two capitals of cast bronze to set on the tops of the pillars. The height of the one capital was five cubits, and the height of the other capital was five cubits. 17 There were lattices of checker work with wreaths of chain work for the capitals on the tops of the pillars, a lattice[6] for the one capital and a lattice for the other capital. 18 † Likewise he made pomegranates[7] in two rows around the one latticework to cover the capital that was on the top of the pillar, and he did the same with the other capital. 19 † Now the capitals that were on the tops of the pillars in the vestibule were of lily-work, four cubits. 20 The capitals were on the two pillars and also above the rounded projection which was beside the latticework. There were two hundred pomegranates in two rows all around, and so with the other capital. 21 † He set up the pillars at the vestibule of the temple. He set up the pillar on the south and called its name Jachin, and he set up the pillar on the north and called its name Boaz. 22 And on the tops of the pillars was lily-work. Thus the work of the pillars was finished.

23 † Then he made the sea of cast metal. It was round, ten cubits from brim to brim, and five cubits high, and a line of thirty cubits measured its circumference. 24 Under its brim were gourds, for ten cubits, compassing the sea all around. The gourds were in two rows, cast with it when it was cast.
25 It stood on twelve oxen, three facing north, three facing west, three facing south, and three facing east. The sea was set on them, and all their rear parts were inward. 26 † Its thickness was a handbreadth,[1] and its brim was made like the brim of a cup, like the flower of a lily. It held two thousand baths.[2]

27 † He also made the ten stands of bronze. Each stand was four cubits long, four cubits wide, and three cubits high. 28 This was the construction of the stands: they had panels, and the panels were set in the frames, 29 ‡ and on the panels that were set in the frames were lions, oxen, and cherubim. On the frames, both above and below the lions and oxen, there were wreaths of beveled work. 30 Moreover, each stand had four bronze wheels and axles of bronze, and at the four corners were supports for a basin. The supports were cast with wreaths at the side of each. 31 Its opening was within a crown that projected upward one cubit. Its opening was round, as a pedestal is made, a cubit and a half deep. At its opening there were carvings, and its panels were square, not round. 32 And the four wheels were underneath the panels.
The axles of the wheels were of one piece with the stands, and the height of a wheel was a cubit and a half. 33 The wheels were made like a chariot wheel; their axles, their rims, their spokes, and their hubs were all cast.
34 There were four supports at the four corners of each stand. The supports were of one piece with the stands. 35 And on the top of the stand there was a round band half a cubit high; and on the top of the stand its stays and its panels were of one piece with it. 36 And on the surfaces of its stays and on its panels, he carved cherubim, lions, and palm trees, according to the space of each, with wreaths all around. 37 After this manner he made the ten stands.
All of them were cast alike, of the same measure and the same form.

38 † And he made ten basins of bronze. Each basin held forty baths, each basin measured four cubits, and there was a basin for each of the ten stands.
39 And he set the stands, five on the south side of the house, and five on the north side of the house. And he set the sea at the southeast corner of the house.

40 ‡ † Hiram also made the pots, the shovels, and the basins. So Hiram finished all the work that he did for King Solomon on the house of the Lord: 41 the two pillars, the two bowls of the capitals that were on the tops of the pillars, and the two latticeworks to cover the two bowls of the capitals that were on the tops of the pillars; 42 and the four hundred pomegranates for the two latticeworks, two rows of pomegranates for each latticework, to cover the two bowls of the capitals that were on the pillars; 43 † the ten stands, and the ten basins on the stands; 44 and the one sea, and the twelve oxen underneath the sea.

45 Now the pots, the shovels, and the basins, all these vessels in the house of the LORD, which Hiram made for King Solomon, were of burnished bronze. 46 †In the plain of the Jordan the king cast them, in the clay ground between Succoth and Zarethan. 47 And Solomon left all the vessels unweighed, because there were so many of them; the weight of the bronze was not ascertained.
48 ††So Solomon made all the vessels that were in the house of the LORD:
the golden altar, the golden table for the bread of the Presence, 49 the lampstands of pure gold, five on the south side and five on the north, before the inner sanctuary; the flowers, the lamps, and the tongs, of gold; 50 the cups, snuffers, basins, dishes for incense, and fire pans, of pure gold; and the sockets of gold, for the doors of the innermost part of the house, the Most Holy Place, and for the doors of the nave of the temple.
51 †Thus all the work that King Solomon did on the house of the LORD was finished. And Solomon brought in the things that David his father had dedicated, the silver, the gold, and the vessels, and stored them in the treasuries of the house of the LORD.

The Ark Brought into the Temple

8 [1] ‡Then Solomon assembled the elders of Israel and all the heads of the tribes, the leaders of the fathers' houses of the people of Israel, before King Solomon in Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the covenant of the Lord out of the city of David, which is Zion. [2] † And all the men of Israel assembled to King Solomon at the feast in the month Ethanim, which is the seventh month. [3] And all the elders of Israel came, and the priests took up the ark. [4] And they brought up the ark of the Lord, the tent of meeting, and all the holy vessels that were in the tent; the priests and the Levites brought them up. [5] † And King Solomon and all the congregation of Israel, who had assembled before him, were with him before the ark, sacrificing so many sheep and oxen that they could not be counted or numbered. [6] † Then the priests brought the ark of the covenant of the Lord to its place in the inner sanctuary of the house, in the Most Holy Place, underneath the wings of the cherubim. [7] ‡For the cherubim spread out their wings over the place of the ark, so that the cherubim overshadowed the ark and its poles. [8] † And the poles were so long that the ends of the poles were seen from the Holy Place before the inner sanctuary; but they could not be seen from outside. And they are there to this day. [9] † There was nothing in the ark except the two tablets of stone that Moses put there at Horeb, where the Lord made a covenant with the people of Israel, when they came out of the land of Egypt. [10] † And when the priests came out of the Holy Place, a cloud filled the house of the Lord, [11] † so that the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud, for the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord.

Solomon Blesses the Lord

12 ‡ ‡ Then Solomon said, “The Lord[1] has said that he would dwell in thick darkness. 13 † I have indeed built you an exalted house, a place for you to dwell in forever.” 14 † Then the king turned around and blessed all the assembly of Israel, while all the assembly of Israel stood. 15 † And he said, “Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, who with his hand has fulfilled what he promised with his mouth to David my father, saying, 16 † ‘Since the day that I brought my people Israel out of Egypt, I chose no city out of all the tribes of Israel in which to build a house, that my name might be there.
But I chose David to be over my people Israel.’ 17 Now it was in the heart of David my father to build a house for the name of the Lord, the God of Israel. 18 † But the Lord said to David my father, ‘Whereas it was in your heart to build a house for my name, you did well that it was in your heart.
19 Nevertheless, you shall not build the house, but your son who shall be born to you shall build the house for my name.’ 20 † Now the Lord has fulfilled his promise that he made. For I have risen in the place of David my father, and sit on the throne of Israel, as the Lord promised, and I have built the house for the name of the Lord, the God of Israel. 21 † And there I have provided a place for the ark, in which is the covenant of the Lord that he made with our fathers, when he brought them out of the land of Egypt.”

Solomon’s Prayer of Dedication

22 ‡† Then Solomon stood before the altar of the Lord in the presence of all the assembly of Israel and spread out his hands toward heaven, 23 † and said, “O Lord, God of Israel, there is no God like you, in heaven above or on earth beneath, keeping covenant and showing steadfast love to your servants who walk before you with all their heart, 24 † who have kept with your servant David my father what you declared to him. You spoke with your mouth, and with your hand have fulfilled it this day. 25 † Now therefore, O Lord, God of Israel, keep for your servant David my father what you have promised him, saying, ‘You shall not lack a man to sit before me on the throne of Israel, if only your sons pay close attention to their way, to walk before me as you have walked before me.’ 26 Now therefore, O God of Israel, let your word be confirmed, which you have spoken to your servant
David my father.

27 † “But will God indeed dwell on the earth? Behold, heaven and the highest heaven cannot contain you; how much less this house that I have built! 28 † Yet have regard to the prayer of your servant and to his plea, O Lord my God, listening to the cry and to the prayer that your servant prays before you this day, 29 † that your eyes may be open night and day toward this house, the place of which you have said, ‘My name shall be there,’ that you may listen to the prayer that your servant offers toward this place.
30 † And listen to the plea of your servant and of your people Israel, when they pray toward this place. And listen in heaven your dwelling place, and when you hear, forgive.

31 ‡‡† “If a man sins against his neighbor and is made to take an oath and comes and swears his oath before your altar in this house, 32 † then hear in heaven and act and judge your servants, condemning the guilty by bringing his conduct on his own head, and vindicating the righteous by rewarding him according to his righteousness.

33 “When your people Israel are defeated before the enemy because they have sinned against you, and if they turn again to you and acknowledge your name and pray and plead with you in this house, 34 † then hear in heaven and forgive the sin of your people Israel and bring them again to the land that you gave to their fathers.

35 “When heaven is shut up and there is no rain because they have sinned against you, if they pray toward this place and acknowledge your name and turn from their sin, when you afflict them, 36 † then hear in heaven and forgive the sin of your servants, your people Israel, when you teach them the good way in which they should walk, and grant rain upon your land, which you have given to your people as an inheritance.

37 “If there is famine in the land, if there is pestilence or blight or mildew or locust or caterpillar, if their enemy besieges them in the land at their gates,[1] whatever plague, whatever sickness there is, 38 † whatever prayer, whatever plea is made by any man or by all your people Israel, each knowing the affliction of his own heart and stretching out his hands toward this house, 39 † then hear in heaven your dwelling place and forgive and act and render to each whose heart you know, according to all his ways (for you, you only, know the hearts of all the children of mankind), 40 that they may fear you all the days that they live in the land that you gave to our fathers.

41 “Likewise, when a foreigner, who is not of your people Israel, comes from a far country for your name’s sake 42 (for they shall hear of your great name and your mighty hand, and of your outstretched arm), when he comes and prays toward this house, 43 † hear in heaven your dwelling place and do according to all for which the foreigner calls to you, in order that all the peoples of the earth may know your name and fear you, as do your people Israel, and that they may know that this house that I have built is called by your name.

44 † “If your people go out to battle against their enemy, by whatever way you shall send them, and they pray to the Lord toward the city that you have chosen and the house that I have built for your name, 45 † then hear in heaven their prayer and their plea, and maintain their cause.

46 † “If they sin against you—for there is no one who does not sin—and you are angry with them and give them to an enemy, so that they are carried away captive to the land of the enemy, far off or near, 47 † yet if they turn their heart in the land to which they have been carried captive, and repent and plead with you in the land of their captors, saying, ‘We have sinned and have acted perversely and wickedly,’ [48]† if they repent with all their mind and with all their heart in the land of their enemies, who carried them captive, and pray to you toward their land, which you gave to their fathers, the city that you have chosen, and the house that I have built for your name, [49]† then hear in heaven your dwelling place their prayer and their plea, and maintain their cause [50]† and forgive your people who have sinned against you, and all their transgressions that they have committed against you, and grant them compassion in the sight of those who carried them captive, that they may have compassion on them [51]† (for they are your people, and your heritage, which you brought out of Egypt, from the midst of the iron furnace). [52]Let your eyes be open to the plea of your servant and to the plea of your people Israel, giving ear to them whenever they call to you. [53]† For you separated them from among all the peoples of the earth to be your heritage, as you declared through Moses your servant, when you brought our fathers out of Egypt, O Lord God.”

Solomon’s Benediction

54 ‡ † Now as Solomon finished offering all this prayer and plea to the Lord, he arose from before the altar of the Lord, where he had knelt with hands outstretched toward heaven. 55 † And he stood and blessed all the assembly of Israel with a loud voice, saying, 56 “Blessed be the Lord who has given rest to his people Israel, according to all that he promised. Not one word has failed of all his good promise, which he spoke by Moses his servant. 57 The Lord our God be with us, as he was with our fathers. May he not leave us or forsake us, 58 † that he may incline our hearts to him, to walk in all his ways and to keep his commandments, his statutes, and his rules, which he commanded our fathers. 59 † Let these words of mine, with which I have pleaded before the Lord, be near to the Lord our God day and night, and may he maintain the cause of his servant and the cause of his people Israel, as each day requires, 60 † that all the peoples of the earth may know that the Lord is God; there is no other. 61 † Let your heart therefore be wholly true to the Lord our God, walking in his statutes and keeping his commandments, as at this day.”

Solomon’s Sacrifices

62 ‡‡Then the king, and all Israel with him, offered sacrifice before the Lord. 63Solomon offered as peace offerings to the Lord 22,000 oxen and 120,000 sheep. So the king and all the people of Israel dedicated the house of the Lord. 64The same day the king consecrated the middle of the court that was before the house of the Lord, for there he offered the burnt offering and the grain offering and the fat pieces of the peace offerings, because the bronze altar that was before the Lord was too small to receive the burnt offering and the grain offering and the fat pieces of the peace offerings.

65 ‡So Solomon held the feast at that time, and all Israel with him, a great assembly, from Lebo-hamath to the Brook of Egypt, before the Lord our God, seven days.[1] 66On the eighth day he sent the people away, and they blessed the king and went to their homes joyful and glad of heart for all the goodness that the Lord had shown to David his servant and to Israel his people.

The Lord Appears to Solomon

9 [1]‡‡As soon as Solomon had finished building the house of the Lord and the king's house and all that Solomon desired to build, [2]† the Lord appeared to Solomon a second time, as he had appeared to him at Gibeon.
[3]†And the Lord said to him, "I have heard your prayer and your plea, which you have made before me. I have consecrated this house that you have built, by putting my name there forever. My eyes and my heart will be there for all time. [4]And as for you, if you will walk before me, as David your father walked, with integrity of heart and uprightness, doing according to all that I have commanded you, and keeping my statutes and my rules, [5]then I will establish your royal throne over Israel forever, as I promised David your father, saying, 'You shall not lack a man on the throne of Israel.' [6]†But if you turn aside from following me, you or your children, and do not keep my commandments and my statutes that I have set before you, but go and serve other gods and worship them, [7]†then I will cut off Israel from the land that I have given them, and the house that I have consecrated for my name I will cast out of my sight, and Israel will become a proverb and a byword among all peoples. [8]† And this house will become a heap of ruins.[2] Everyone passing by it will be astonished and will hiss, and they will say,
'Why has the Lord done thus to this land and to this house?' [9]†Then they will say, 'Because they abandoned the Lord their God who brought their fathers out of the land of Egypt and laid hold on other gods and worshiped them and served them. Therefore the Lord has brought all this disaster on them.'"

Solomon's Other Acts

10 ‡ At the end of twenty years, in which Solomon had built the two houses, the house of the Lord and the king's house, 11 † and Hiram king of Tyre had supplied Solomon with cedar and cypress timber and gold, as much as he desired, King Solomon gave to Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee. 12 † But when Hiram came from Tyre to see the cities that Solomon had given him, they did not please him. 13 † Therefore he said,
"What kind of cities are these that you have given me, my brother?" So they are called the land of Cabul to this day. 14 Hiram had sent to the king 120 talents[1] of gold.

15 † And this is the account of the forced labor that King Solomon drafted to build the house of the Lord and his own house and the Millo and the wall of Jerusalem and Hazor and Megiddo and Gezer 16 ‡ † (Pharaoh king of Egypt had gone up and captured Gezer and burned it with fire, and had killed the Canaanites who lived in the city, and had given it as dowry to his daughter, Solomon's wife; 17 † so Solomon rebuilt Gezer) and Lower Bethhoron 18 † and Baalath and Tamar in the wilderness, in the land of Judah, [2] 19 † and all the store cities that Solomon had, and the cities for his chariots, and the cities for his horsemen, and whatever Solomon desired to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon, and in all the land of his dominion. 20 All the people who were left of the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, who were not of the people of Israel— 21 † their descendants who were left after them in the land, whom the people of Israel were unable to devote to destruction[3]—these Solomon drafted to be slaves, and so they are to this day. 22 † But of the people of Israel Solomon made no slaves. They were the soldiers, they were his officials, his commanders, his captains, his chariot commanders and his horsemen.

23 † These were the chief officers who were over Solomon's work: 550 who had charge of the people who carried on the work.

24 ‡ But Pharaoh's daughter went up from the city of David to her own house that Solomon had built for her. Then he built the Millo.

25 † Three times a year Solomon used to offer up burnt offerings and peace offerings on the altar that he built to the Lord, making offerings with it[4]

before the LORD. So he finished the house.

26 †King Solomon built a fleet of ships at Ezion-geber, which is near Eloth on the shore of the Red Sea, in the land of Edom. 27 And Hiram sent with the fleet his servants, seamen who were familiar with the sea, together with the servants of Solomon. 28 †And they went to Ophir and brought from there gold, 420 talents, and they brought it to King Solomon.

The Queen of Sheba

10 [1]‡†Now when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon concerning the name of the Lord, she came to test him with hard questions.
[2]She came to Jerusalem with a very great retinue, with camels bearing spices and very much gold and precious stones. And when she came to Solomon, she told him all that was on her mind. [3]And Solomon answered all her questions; there was nothing hidden from the king that he could not explain to her. [4]And when the queen of Sheba had seen all the wisdom of Solomon, the house that he had built, [5]†the food of his table, the seating of his officials, and the attendance of his servants, their clothing, his cupbearers, and his burnt offerings that he offered at the house of the Lord, there was no more breath in her.

[6]And she said to the king, "The report was true that I heard in my own land of your words and of your wisdom, [7]but I did not believe the reports until I came and my own eyes had seen it. And behold, the half was not told me. Your wisdom and prosperity surpass the report that I heard. [8]†Happy are your men! Happy are your servants, who continually stand before you and hear your wisdom! [9]†Blessed be the Lord your God, who has delighted in you and set you on the throne of Israel! Because the Lord loved Israel forever, he has made you king, that you may execute justice and righteousness." [10]†Then she gave the king 120 talents[1] of gold, and a very great quantity of spices and precious stones. Never again came such an abundance of spices as these that the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon.

[11]†Moreover, the fleet of Hiram, which brought gold from Ophir, brought from Ophir a very great amount of almug wood and precious stones. [12]†And the king made of the almug wood supports for the house of the Lord and for the king's house, also lyres and harps for the singers. No such almug wood has come or been seen to this day.

[13]†And King Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba all that she desired, whatever she asked besides what was given her by the bounty of King Solomon. So she turned and went back to her own land with her servants.

Solomon’s Great Wealth

14 ‡‡‡Now the weight of gold that came to Solomon in one year was 666 talents of gold, 15 †besides that which came from the explorers and from the business of the merchants, and from all the kings of the west and from the governors of the land. 16 King Solomon made 200 large shields of beaten gold; 600 shekels[2] of gold went into each shield. 17 † And he made 300 shields of beaten gold; three minas[3] of gold went into each shield. And the king put them in the House of the Forest of Lebanon. 18 †The king also made a great ivory throne and overlaid it with the finest gold. 19 The throne had six steps, and at the back of the throne was a calf’s head, and on each side of the seat were armrests and two lions standing beside the armrests, 20 †while twelve lions stood there, one on each end of a step on the six steps. The like of it was never made in any kingdom. 21 All King Solomon’s drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon were of pure gold. None were of silver; silver was not considered as anything in the days of Solomon. 22 †For the king had a fleet of ships of Tarshish at sea with the fleet of Hiram. Once every three years the fleet of ships of Tarshish used to come bringing gold, silver, ivory, apes, and peacocks.[4]

23 Thus King Solomon excelled all the kings of the earth in riches and in wisdom. 24 And the whole earth sought the presence of Solomon to hear his wisdom, which God had put into his mind. 25 † Every one of them brought his present, articles of silver and gold, garments, myrrh, spices, horses, and mules, so much year by year.

26 †And Solomon gathered together chariots and horsemen. He had 1,400 chariots and 12,000 horsemen, whom he stationed in the chariot cities and with the king in Jerusalem. 27 † And the king made silver as common in Jerusalem as stone, and he made cedar as plentiful as the sycamore of the Shephelah. 28 † And Solomon’s import of horses was from Egypt and Kue, and the king’s traders received them from Kue at a price. 29 †A chariot could be imported from Egypt for 600 shekels of silver and a horse for 150, and so through the king’s traders they were exported to all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Syria.

Solomon Turns from the Lord

11 [1]‡†Now King Solomon loved many foreign women, along with the daughter of Pharaoh: Moabite, Ammonite, Edomite, Sidonian, and Hittite women, [2]†from the nations concerning which the Lord had said to the people of Israel, “You shall not enter into marriage with them, neither shall they with you, for surely they will turn away your heart after their gods.” Solomon clung to these in love. [3]†He had 700 wives, princesses, and 300 concubines. And his wives turned away his heart. [4]†For when Solomon was old his wives turned away his heart after other gods, and his heart was not wholly true to the Lord his God, as was the heart of David his father.
[5]†For Solomon went after Ashtoreth the goddess of the Sidonians, and after Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites. [6]So Solomon did what was evil in the sight of the Lord and did not wholly follow the Lord, as David his father had done. [7]† Then Solomon built a high place for Chemosh the abomination of Moab, and for Molech the abomination of the Ammonites, on the mountain east of Jerusalem. [8]And so he did for all his foreign wives, who made offerings and sacrificed to their gods.

The Lord Raises Adversaries

9 ‡And the Lord was angry with Solomon, because his heart had turned away from the Lord, the God of Israel, who had appeared to him twice 10 †and had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods. But he did not keep what the Lord commanded.
11 †Therefore the Lord said to Solomon, “Since this has been your practice and you have not kept my covenant and my statutes that I have commanded you, I will surely tear the kingdom from you and will give it to your servant. 12 †Yet for the sake of David your father I will not do it in your days, but I will tear it out of the hand of your son. 13However, I will not tear away all the kingdom, but I will give one tribe to your son, for the sake of David my servant and for the sake of Jerusalem that I have chosen.”

14 ‡†And the Lord raised up an adversary against Solomon, Hadad the Edomite. He was of the royal house in Edom. 15 ‡For when David was in Edom, and Joab the commander of the army went up to bury the slain, he struck down every male in Edom 16(for Joab and all Israel remained there six months, until he had cut off every male in Edom). 17But Hadad fled to Egypt, together with certain Edomites of his father’s servants, Hadad still being a little child. 18 †They set out from Midian and came to Paran and took men with them from Paran and came to Egypt, to Pharaoh king of Egypt, who gave him a house and assigned him an allowance of food and gave him land. 19 †And Hadad found great favor in the sight of Pharaoh, so that he gave him in marriage the sister of his own wife, the sister of Tahpenes the queen. 20And the sister of Tahpenes bore him Genubath his son, whom Tahpenes weaned in Pharaoh’s house. And Genubath was in Pharaoh’s house among the sons of Pharaoh. 21 †But when Hadad heard in Egypt that David slept with his fathers and that Joab the commander of the army was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh, “Let me depart, that I may go to my own country.” 22But Pharaoh said to him, “What have you lacked with me that you are now seeking to go to your own country?” And he said to him, “Only let me depart.”

23 †God also raised up as an adversary to him, Rezon the son of Eliada, who had fled from his master Hadadezer king of Zobah. 24And he gathered men about him and became leader of a marauding band, after the killing by David. And they went to Damascus and lived there and made him king in Damascus. 25 †He was an adversary of Israel all the days of Solomon, doing harm as Hadad did. And he loathed Israel and reigned over Syria.

26 †Jeroboam the son of Nebat, an Ephraimite of Zeredah, a servant of Solomon, whose mother's name was Zeruah, a widow, also lifted up his hand against the king. 27 And this was the reason why he lifted up his hand against the king. Solomon built the Millo, and closed up the breach of the city of David his father. 28 †The man Jeroboam was very able, and when Solomon saw that the young man was industrious he gave him charge over all the forced labor of the house of Joseph. 29 †And at that time, when Jeroboam went out of Jerusalem, the prophet Ahijah the Shilonite found him on the road. Now Ahijah had dressed himself in a new garment, and the two of them were alone in the open country. 30 †Then Ahijah laid hold of the new garment that was on him, and tore it into twelve pieces. 31 And he said to Jeroboam, "Take for yourself ten pieces, for thus says the Lord, the God of Israel, 'Behold, I am about to tear the kingdom from the hand of Solomon and will give you ten tribes 32 †(but he shall have one tribe, for the sake of my servant David and for the sake of Jerusalem, the city that I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel), 33 †because they have[1] forsaken me and worshiped Ashtoreth the goddess of the Sidonians, Chemosh the god of Moab, and Milcom the god of the Ammonites, and they have not walked in my ways, doing what is right in my sight and keeping my statutes and my rules, as David his father did. 34 †Nevertheless, I will not take the whole kingdom out of his hand, but I will make him ruler all the days of his life, for the sake of David my servant whom I chose, who kept my commandments and my statutes. 35 But I will take the kingdom out of his son's hand and will give it to you, ten tribes. 36 †Yet to his son I will give one tribe, that David my servant may always have a lamp before me in Jerusalem, the city where I have chosen to put my name. 37 And I will take you, and you shall reign over all that your soul desires, and you shall be king over Israel. 38 †And if you will listen to all that I command you, and will walk in my ways, and do what is right in my eyes by keeping my statutes and my commandments, as David my servant did, I will be with you and will build you a sure house, as I built for David, and I will give Israel to you. [39]†And I will afflict the offspring of David because of this, but not forever.’” [40]†Solomon sought therefore to kill Jeroboam. But Jeroboam arose and fled into Egypt, to Shishak king of Egypt, and was in Egypt until the death of Solomon.

[41] †Now the rest of the acts of Solomon, and all that he did, and his wisdom, are they not written in the Book of the Acts of Solomon? [42]†And the time that Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel was forty years. [43]†And Solomon slept with his fathers and was buried in the city of David his father. And Rehoboam his son reigned in his place.

Rehoboam's Folly

12 [1]‡ ‡ †Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all Israel had come to Shechem to make him king. [2]And as soon as Jeroboam the son of Nebat heard of it (for he was still in Egypt, where he had fled from King Solomon), then Jeroboam returned from[1] Egypt. [3]† And they sent and called him, and Jeroboam and all the assembly of Israel came and said to Rehoboam, [4]†"Your father made our yoke heavy. Now therefore lighten the hard service of your father and his heavy yoke on us, and we will serve you." [5]He said to them, "Go away for three days, then come again to me."
So the people went away.

[6]†Then King Rehoboam took counsel with the old men, who had stood before Solomon his father while he was yet alive, saying, "How do you advise me to answer this people?" [7]†And they said to him, "If you will be a servant to this people today and serve them, and speak good words to them when you answer them, then they will be your servants forever." [8]†But he abandoned the counsel that the old men gave him and took counsel with the young men who had grown up with him and stood before him. [9]And he said to them, "What do you advise that we answer this people who have said to me, 'Lighten the yoke that your father put on us'?" [10]And the young men who had grown up with him said to him, "Thus shall you speak to this people who said to you, 'Your father made our yoke heavy, but you lighten it for us,' thus shall you say to them, 'My little finger is thicker than my father's thighs. [11]†And now, whereas my father laid on you a heavy yoke, I will add to your yoke. My father disciplined you with whips, but I will discipline you with scorpions.'"

[12]So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king said, "Come to me again the third day." [13]And the king answered the people harshly, and forsaking the counsel that the old men had given him, [14]he spoke to them according to the counsel of the young men, saying, "My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to your yoke. My father disciplined you with whips, but I will discipline you with scorpions." [15]†So the king did not listen to the people, for it was a turn of affairs brought about by the LORD that he might fulfill his word, which the LORD spoke by Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

The Kingdom Divided

16 ✝ ✝ And when all Israel saw that the king did not listen to them, the people answered the king, “What portion do we have in David? We have no inheritance in the son of Jesse. To your tents, O Israel! Look now to your own house, David.” So Israel went to their tents. 17 ✝ But Rehoboam reigned over the people of Israel who lived in the cities of Judah. 18 ✝ Then King Rehoboam sent Adoram, who was taskmaster over the forced labor, and all Israel stoned him to death with stones. And King Rehoboam hurried to mount his chariot to flee to Jerusalem. 19 ✝ So Israel has been in rebellion against the house of David to this day. 20 ✝ And when all Israel heard that Jeroboam had returned, they sent and called him to the assembly and made him king over all Israel. There was none that followed the house of David but the tribe of Judah only.

21 ✝ When Rehoboam came to Jerusalem, he assembled all the house of Judah and the tribe of Benjamin, 180,000 chosen warriors, to fight against the house of Israel, to restore the kingdom to Rehoboam the son of Solomon. 22 ✝ But the word of God came to Shemaiah the man of God:
23 “Say to Rehoboam the son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all the house of Judah and Benjamin, and to the rest of the people, 24 ✝ ‘Thus says the Lord, You shall not go up or fight against your relatives the people of Israel.
Every man return to his home, for this thing is from me.’” So they listened to the word of the Lord and went home again, according to the word of the Lord.

Jeroboam’s Golden Calves

25 ‡ † Then Jeroboam built Shechem in the hill country of Ephraim and lived there. And he went out from there and built Penuel. 26 And Jeroboam said in his heart, “Now the kingdom will turn back to the house of David.
27 † If this people go up to offer sacrifices in the temple of the Lord at Jerusalem, then the heart of this people will turn again to their lord, to Rehoboam king of Judah, and they will kill me and return to Rehoboam king of Judah.” 28 † So the king took counsel and made two calves of gold.
And he said to the people, “You have gone up to Jerusalem long enough.
Behold your gods, O Israel, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt.”
29 † And he set one in Bethel, and the other he put in Dan. 30 † Then this thing became a sin, for the people went as far as Dan to be before one.[1] 31 † He also made temples on high places and appointed priests from among all the people, who were not of the Levites. 32 † And Jeroboam appointed a feast on the fifteenth day of the eighth month like the feast that was in Judah, and he offered sacrifices on the altar. So he did in Bethel, sacrificing to the calves that he made. And he placed in Bethel the priests of the high places that he had made. 33 † He went up to the altar that he had made in Bethel on the fifteenth day in the eighth month, in the month that he had devised from his own heart. And he instituted a feast for the people of Israel and went up to the altar to make offerings.

A Man of God Confronts Jeroboam

13 [1]†† And behold, a man of God came out of Judah by the word of the Lord to Bethel. Jeroboam was standing by the altar to make offerings.
[2]† And the man cried against the altar by the word of the Lord and said, "O altar, altar, thus says the Lord: 'Behold, a son shall be born to the house of David, Josiah by name, and he shall sacrifice on you the priests of the high places who make offerings on you, and human bones shall be burned on you.'" [3]And he gave a sign the same day, saying, "This is the sign that the Lord has spoken: 'Behold, the altar shall be torn down, and the ashes that are on it shall be poured out.'" [4]† And when the king heard the saying of the man of God, which he cried against the altar at Bethel, Jeroboam stretched out his hand from the altar, saying, "Seize him." And his hand, which he stretched out against him, dried up, so that he could not draw it back to himself. [5]† The altar also was torn down, and the ashes poured out from the altar, according to the sign that the man of God had given by the word of the Lord. [6]† And the king said to the man of God, "Entreat now the favor of the Lord your God, and pray for me, that my hand may be restored to me."
And the man of God entreated the Lord, and the king's hand was restored to him and became as it was before. [7]† And the king said to the man of God,
"Come home with me, and refresh yourself, and I will give you a reward."
[8]† And the man of God said to the king, "If you give me half your house, I will not go in with you. And I will not eat bread or drink water in this place, [9]for so was it commanded me by the word of the Lord, saying, 'You shall neither eat bread nor drink water nor return by the way that you came.'" [10]So he went another way and did not return by the way that he came to Bethel.

The Prophet's Disobedience

11 ‡ † Now an old prophet lived in Bethel. And his sons[1] came and told him all that the man of God had done that day in Bethel. They also told to their father the words that he had spoken to the king. 12 And their father said to them, "Which way did he go?" And his sons showed him the way that the man of God who came from Judah had gone. 13 And he said to his sons, "Saddle the donkey for me." So they saddled the donkey for him and he mounted it. 14 And he went after the man of God and found him sitting under an oak. And he said to him, "Are you the man of God who came from Judah?" And he said, "I am." 15 ‡ Then he said to him, "Come home with me and eat bread." 16 And he said, "I may not return with you, or go in with you, neither will I eat bread nor drink water with you in this place, 17 for it was said to me by the word of the Lord, 'You shall neither eat bread nor drink water there, nor return by the way that you came.'" 18 † And he said to him,
"I also am a prophet as you are, and an angel spoke to me by the word of the Lord, saying, 'Bring him back with you into your house that he may eat bread and drink water.'" But he lied to him. 19 So he went back with him and ate bread in his house and drank water.

20 † And as they sat at the table, the word of the Lord came to the prophet who had brought him back. 21 † And he cried to the man of God who came from Judah, "Thus says the Lord, 'Because you have disobeyed the word of the Lord and have not kept the command that the Lord your God commanded you, 22 † but have come back and have eaten bread and drunk water in the place of which he said to you, "Eat no bread and drink no water," your body shall not come to the tomb of your fathers.'" 23 † And after he had eaten bread and drunk, he saddled the donkey for the prophet whom he had brought back. 24 ‡ And as he went away a lion met him on the road and killed him. And his body was thrown in the road, and the donkey stood beside it; the lion also stood beside the body. 25 And behold, men passed by and saw the body thrown in the road and the lion standing by the body. And they came and told it in the city where the old prophet lived.

26 And when the prophet who had brought him back from the way heard of it, he said, "It is the man of God who disobeyed the word of the Lord;

therefore the Lord has given him to the lion, which has torn him and killed him, according to the word that the Lord spoke to him.” 27And he said to his sons, “Saddle the donkey for me.” And they saddled it. 28†And he went and found his body thrown in the road, and the donkey and the lion standing beside the body. The lion had not eaten the body or torn the donkey. 29And the prophet took up the body of the man of God and laid it on the donkey and brought it back to the city[2] to mourn and to bury him. 30†And he laid the body in his own grave. And they mourned over him, saying, “Alas, my brother!” 31†And after he had buried him, he said to his sons, “When I die, bury me in the grave in which the man of God is buried; lay my bones beside his bones. 32†For the saying that he called out by the word of the Lord against the altar in Bethel and against all the houses of the high places that are in the cities of Samaria shall surely come to pass.”

33†After this thing Jeroboam did not turn from his evil way, but made priests for the high places again from among all the people. Any who would, he ordained to be priests of the high places. 34And this thing became sin to the house of Jeroboam, so as to cut it off and to destroy it from the face of the earth.

Prophecy Against Jeroboam

14 [1]†At that time Abijah the son of Jeroboam fell sick. [2]†And Jeroboam said to his wife, “Arise, and disguise yourself, that it not be known that you are the wife of Jeroboam, and go to Shiloh. Behold, Ahijah the prophet is there, who said of me that I should be king over this people. [3]†Take with you ten loaves, some cakes, and a jar of honey, and go to him. He will tell you what shall happen to the child.”

[4]Jeroboam’s wife did so. She arose and went to Shiloh and came to the house of Ahijah. Now Ahijah could not see, for his eyes were dim because of his age. [5]And the Lord said to Ahijah, “Behold, the wife of Jeroboam is coming to inquire of you concerning her son, for he is sick. Thus and thus shall you say to her.”

When she came, she pretended to be another woman. [6]But when Ahijah heard the sound of her feet, as she came in at the door, he said, “Come in, wife of Jeroboam. Why do you pretend to be another? For I am charged with unbearable news for you. [7]Go, tell Jeroboam, ‘Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: “Because I exalted you from among the people and made you leader over my people Israel [8]and tore the kingdom away from the house of David and gave it to you, and yet you have not been like my servant David, who kept my commandments and followed me with all his heart, doing only that which was right in my eyes, [9]†but you have done evil above all who were before you and have gone and made for yourself other gods and metal images, provoking me to anger, and have cast me behind your back, [10]††therefore behold, I will bring harm upon the house of Jeroboam and will cut off from Jeroboam every male, both bond and free in Israel, and will burn up the house of Jeroboam, as a man burns up dung until it is all gone. [11]Anyone belonging to Jeroboam who dies in the city the dogs shall eat, and anyone who dies in the open country the birds of the heavens shall eat, for the Lord has spoken it.”’ [12]Arise therefore, go to your house. When your feet enter the city, the child shall die. [13]†And all Israel shall mourn for him and bury him, for he only of Jeroboam shall come to the grave, because in him there is found something pleasing to the Lord, the God of Israel, in the house of Jeroboam. [14]†Moreover, the Lord will raise up for himself a king over Israel who shall cut off the house of Jeroboam today. And henceforth, 15 † the Lord will strike Israel as a reed is shaken in the water, and root up Israel out of this good land that he gave to their fathers and scatter them beyond the Euphrates, because they have made their Asherim, provoking the Lord to anger. 16 † And he will give Israel up because of the sins of Jeroboam, which he sinned and made Israel to sin."

17 † Then Jeroboam's wife arose and departed and came to Tirzah. And as she came to the threshold of the house, the child died. 18 And all Israel buried him and mourned for him, according to the word of the Lord, which he spoke by his servant Ahijah the prophet.

The Death of Jeroboam

19 ‡ † Now the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, how he warred and how he reigned, behold, they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. 20 † And the time that Jeroboam reigned was twenty-two years. And he slept with his fathers, and Nadab his son reigned in his place.

Rehoboam Reigns in Judah

21 ‡‡†Now Rehoboam the son of Solomon reigned in Judah. Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city that the Lord had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, to put his name there. His mother's name was Naamah the Ammonite. 22 †And Judah did what was evil in the sight of the Lord, and they provoked him to jealousy with their sins that they committed, more than all that their fathers had done. 23 †For they also built for themselves high places and pillars and Asherim on every high hill and under every green tree, 24 †and there were also male cult prostitutes in the land. They did according to all the abominations of the nations that the Lord drove out before the people of Israel.

25 †In the fifth year of King Rehoboam, Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem. 26 †He took away the treasures of the house of the Lord and the treasures of the king's house. He took away everything. He also took away all the shields of gold that Solomon had made, 27 and King Rehoboam made in their place shields of bronze, and committed them to the hands of the officers of the guard, who kept the door of the king's house.
28 And as often as the king went into the house of the Lord, the guard carried them and brought them back to the guardroom.

29 †Now the rest of the acts of Rehoboam and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? 30 †And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam continually. 31 †And Rehoboam slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David.
His mother's name was Naamah the Ammonite. And Abijam his son reigned in his place.

Abijam Reigns in Judah

15 [1] Now in the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam the son of Nebat, Abijam began to reign over Judah. [2] He reigned for three years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Maacah the daughter of Abishalom. [3] And he walked in all the sins that his father did before him, and his heart was not wholly true to the Lord his God, as the heart of David his father. [4] Nevertheless, for David's sake the Lord his God gave him a lamp in Jerusalem, setting up his son after him, and establishing Jerusalem, [5] because David did what was right in the eyes of the Lord and did not turn aside from anything that he commanded him all the days of his life, except in the matter of Uriah the Hittite. [6] Now there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all the days of his life. [7] The rest of the acts of Abijam and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? And there was war between Abijam and Jeroboam. [8] And Abijam slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David. And Asa his son reigned in his place.

Asa Reigns In Judah

9 ‡ † In the twentieth year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Asa began to reign over Judah, 10 † and he reigned forty-one years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Maacah the daughter of Abishalom. 11 And Asa did what was right in the eyes of the Lord, as David his father had done. 12 † He put away the male cult prostitutes out of the land and removed all the idols that his fathers had made. 13 † He also removed Maacah his mother from being queen mother because she had made an abominable image for Asherah. And Asa cut down her image and burned it at the brook Kidron. 14 † But the high places were not taken away. Nevertheless, the heart of Asa was wholly true to the Lord all his days. 15 † And he brought into the house of the Lord the sacred gifts of his father and his own sacred gifts, silver, and gold, and vessels.

16 † And there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days. 17 † Baasha king of Israel went up against Judah and built Ramah, that he might permit no one to go out or come in to Asa king of Judah. 18 † Then Asa took all the silver and the gold that were left in the treasures of the house of the Lord and the treasures of the king's house and gave them into the hands of his servants. And King Asa sent them to Ben-hadad the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezion, king of Syria, who lived in Damascus, saying, 19 "Let there be a covenant[1] between me and you, as there was between my father and your father. Behold, I am sending to you a present of silver and gold. Go, break your covenant with Baasha king of Israel, that he may withdraw from me." 20 † And Ben-hadad listened to King Asa and sent the commanders of his armies against the cities of Israel and conquered Ijon, Dan, Abel-beth-maacah, and all Chinneroth, with all the land of Naphtali. 21 † And when Baasha heard of it, he stopped building Ramah, and he lived in Tirzah. 22 † Then King Asa made a proclamation to all Judah, none was exempt, and they carried away the stones of Ramah and its timber, with which Baasha had been building, and with them King Asa built Geba of Benjamin and Mizpah. 23 † Now the rest of all the acts of Asa, all his might, and all that he did, and the cities that he built, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? But in his old age he was diseased in his feet. [24]† And Asa slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father, and Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his place.

Nadab Reigns in Israel

25 ‡‡† Nadab the son of Jeroboam began to reign over Israel in the second year of Asa king of Judah, and he reigned over Israel two years. 26 † He did what was evil in the sight of the Lord and walked in the way of his father, and in his sin which he made Israel to sin.

27 † Baasha the son of Ahijah, of the house of Issachar, conspired against him. And Baasha struck him down at Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines, for Nadab and all Israel were laying siege to Gibbethon. 28 † So Baasha killed him in the third year of Asa king of Judah and reigned in his place. 29 † And as soon as he was king, he killed all the house of Jeroboam.
He left to the house of Jeroboam not one that breathed, until he had destroyed it, according to the word of the Lord that he spoke by his servant Ahijah the Shilonite. 30 It was for the sins of Jeroboam that he sinned and that he made Israel to sin, and because of the anger to which he provoked the Lord, the God of Israel.

31 † Now the rest of the acts of Nadab and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? 32 † And there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days.

Baasha Reigns in Israel

33 ‡ † In the third year of Asa king of Judah, Baasha the son of Ahijah began to reign over all Israel at Tirzah, and he reigned twenty-four years.
34 He did what was evil in the sight of the Lord and walked in the way of Jeroboam and in his sin which he made Israel to sin.

16 1 † And the word of the Lord came to Jehu the son of Hanani against Baasha, saying, 2 "Since I exalted you out of the dust and made you leader over my people Israel, and you have walked in the way of Jeroboam and have made my people Israel to sin, provoking me to anger with their sins, 3 behold, I will utterly sweep away Baasha and his house, and I will make your house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat. 4 Anyone belonging to Baasha who dies in the city the dogs shall eat, and anyone of his who dies in the field the birds of the heavens shall eat."

5 † Now the rest of the acts of Baasha and what he did, and his might, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? 6 † And Baasha slept with his fathers and was buried at Tirzah, and Elah his son reigned in his place. 7 † Moreover, the word of the Lord came by the prophet Jehu the son of Hanani against Baasha and his house, both because of all the evil that he did in the sight of the Lord, provoking him to anger with the work of his hands, in being like the house of Jeroboam, and also because he destroyed it.

Elah Reigns in Israel

8 ‡† In the twenty-sixth year of Asa king of Judah, Elah the son of Baasha began to reign over Israel in Tirzah, and he reigned two years. 9 † But his servant Zimri, commander of half his chariots, conspired against him. When he was at Tirzah, drinking himself drunk in the house of Arza, who was over the household in Tirzah, 10 ‡ Zimri came in and struck him down and killed him, in the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, and reigned in his place.
11 † When he began to reign, as soon as he had seated himself on his throne, he struck down all the house of Baasha. He did not leave him a single male of his relatives or his friends. 12 Thus Zimri destroyed all the house of Baasha, according to the word of the Lord, which he spoke against Baasha by Jehu the prophet, 13 † for all the sins of Baasha and the sins of Elah his son, which they sinned and which they made Israel to sin, provoking the Lord God of Israel to anger with their idols. 14 † Now the rest of the acts of Elah and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

Zimri Reigns in Israel

15 ††In the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, Zimri reigned seven days in Tirzah. Now the troops were encamped against Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines, 16 †and the troops who were encamped heard it said, “Zimri has conspired, and he has killed the king.” Therefore all Israel made Omri, the commander of the army, king over Israel that day in the camp. 17 So Omri went up from Gibbethon, and all Israel with him, and they besieged Tirzah. 18 †And when Zimri saw that the city was taken, he went into the citadel of the king’s house and burned the king’s house over him with fire and died, 19 because of his sins that he committed, doing evil in the sight of the Lord, walking in the way of Jeroboam, and for his sin which he committed, making Israel to sin. 20 †Now the rest of the acts of Zimri, and the conspiracy that he made, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

Omri Reigns in Israel

21 ‡ † Then the people of Israel were divided into two parts. Half of the people followed Tibni the son of Ginath, to make him king, and half followed Omri. 22 † But the people who followed Omri overcame the people who followed Tibni the son of Ginath. So Tibni died, and Omri became king. 23 In the thirty-first year of Asa king of Judah, Omri began to reign over Israel, and he reigned for twelve years; six years he reigned in Tirzah.
24 † He bought the hill of Samaria from Shemer for two talents[1] of silver, and he fortified the hill and called the name of the city that he built Samaria, after the name of Shemer, the owner of the hill.

25 † Omri did what was evil in the sight of the Lord, and did more evil than all who were before him. 26 For he walked in all the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and in the sins that he made Israel to sin, provoking the Lord, the God of Israel, to anger by their idols. 27 † Now the rest of the acts of Omri that he did, and the might that he showed, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? 28 † And Omri slept with his fathers and was buried in Samaria, and Ahab his son reigned in his place.

Ahab Reigns in Israel

[29] ‡† In the thirty-eighth year of Asa king of Judah, Ahab the son of Omri began to reign over Israel, and Ahab the son of Omri reigned over Israel in Samaria twenty-two years. [30] † And Ahab the son of Omri did evil in the sight of the Lord, more than all who were before him. [31] † And as if it had been a light thing for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, he took for his wife Jezebel the daughter of Ethbaal king of the Sidonians, and went and served Baal and worshiped him. [32] † He erected an altar for Baal in the house of Baal, which he built in Samaria. [33] † And Ahab made an Asherah. Ahab did more to provoke the Lord, the God of Israel, to anger than all the kings of Israel who were before him. [34] † In his days Hiel of Bethel built Jericho. He laid its foundation at the cost of Abiram his firstborn, and set up its gates at the cost of his youngest son Segub, according to the word of the Lord, which he spoke by Joshua the son of Nun.

Elijah Predicts a Drought

17 [1]‡†Now Elijah the Tishbite, of Tishbe[2] in Gilead, said to Ahab, “As the Lord, the God of Israel, lives, before whom I stand, there shall be neither dew nor rain these years, except by my word.” [2]And the word of the Lord came to him: [3]‡“Depart from here and turn eastward and hide yourself by the brook Cherith, which is east of the Jordan. [4]You shall drink from the brook, and I have commanded the ravens to feed you there.” [5]†So he went and did according to the word of the Lord. He went and lived by the brook Cherith that is east of the Jordan. [6]And the ravens brought him bread and meat in the morning, and bread and meat in the evening, and he drank from the brook. [7]And after a while the brook dried up, because there was no rain in the land.

The Widow of Zarephath

8 Then the word of the Lord came to him, 9 “Arise, go to Zarephath, which belongs to Sidon, and dwell there. Behold, I have commanded a widow there to feed you.” 10 So he arose and went to Zarephath. And when he came to the gate of the city, behold, a widow was there gathering sticks.
And he called to her and said, “Bring me a little water in a vessel, that I may drink.” 11 And as she was going to bring it, he called to her and said, “Bring me a morsel of bread in your hand.” 12 And she said, “As the Lord your God lives, I have nothing baked, only a handful of flour in a jar and a little oil in a jug. And now I am gathering a couple of sticks that I may go in and prepare it for myself and my son, that we may eat it and die.” 13 And Elijah said to her, “Do not fear; go and do as you have said. But first make me a little cake of it and bring it to me, and afterward make something for yourself and your son. 14 For thus says the Lord, the God of Israel, ‘The jar of flour shall not be spent, and the jug of oil shall not be empty, until the day that the Lord sends rain upon the earth.’” 15 And she went and did as Elijah said. And she and he and her household ate for many days. 16 The jar of flour was not spent, neither did the jug of oil become empty, according to the word of the Lord that he spoke by Elijah.

Elijah Raises the Widow’s Son

17 † After this the son of the woman, the mistress of the house, became ill.
And his illness was so severe that there was no breath left in him. 18 † And she said to Elijah, “What have you against me, O man of God? You have come to me to bring my sin to remembrance and to cause the death of my son!” 19 † And he said to her, “Give me your son.” And he took him from her arms and carried him up into the upper chamber where he lodged, and laid him on his own bed. 20 † And he cried to the Lord, “O Lord my God, have you brought calamity even upon the widow with whom I sojourn, by killing her son?” 21 † Then he stretched himself upon the child three times and cried to the Lord, “O Lord my God, let this child’s life[1] come into him again.” 22 † And the Lord listened to the voice of Elijah. And the life of the child came into him again, and he revived. 23 † And Elijah took the child and brought him down from the upper chamber into the house and delivered him to his mother. And Elijah said, “See, your son lives.” 24 And the woman said to Elijah, “Now I know that you are a man of God, and that the word of the Lord in your mouth is truth.”

Elijah Confronts Ahab

18 [1]After many days the word of the Lord came to Elijah, in the third year, saying, “Go, show yourself to Ahab, and I will send rain upon the earth.” [2]So Elijah went to show himself to Ahab. Now the famine was severe in Samaria. [3] And Ahab called Obadiah, who was over the household. (Now Obadiah feared the Lord greatly, [4]and when Jezebel cut off the prophets of the Lord, Obadiah took a hundred prophets and hid them by fifties in a cave and fed them with bread and water.) [5]And Ahab said to Obadiah, “Go through the land to all the springs of water and to all the valleys. Perhaps we may find grass and save the horses and mules alive, and not lose some of the animals.” [6]So they divided the land between them to pass through it. Ahab went in one direction by himself, and Obadiah went in another direction by himself.

[7]And as Obadiah was on the way, behold, Elijah met him. And Obadiah recognized him and fell on his face and said, “Is it you, my lord Elijah?” [8] And he answered him, “It is I. Go, tell your lord, ‘Behold, Elijah is here.’” [9]And he said, “How have I sinned, that you would give your servant into the hand of Ahab, to kill me? [10]As the Lord your God lives, there is no nation or kingdom where my lord has not sent to seek you. And when they would say, ‘He is not here,’ he would take an oath of the kingdom or nation, that they had not found you. [11]And now you say, ‘Go, tell your lord, “Behold, Elijah is here.”’ [12]And as soon as I have gone from you, the Spirit of the Lord will carry you I know not where. And so, when I come and tell Ahab and he cannot find you, he will kill me, although I your servant have feared the Lord from my youth. [13]Has it not been told my lord what I did when Jezebel killed the prophets of the Lord, how I hid a hundred men of the Lord’s prophets by fifties in a cave and fed them with bread and water?
[14]And now you say, ‘Go, tell your lord, “Behold, Elijah is here”’; and he will kill me.” [15]And Elijah said, “As the Lord of hosts lives, before whom I stand, I will surely show myself to him today.” [16]So Obadiah went to meet Ahab, and told him. And Ahab went to meet Elijah.

17 When Ahab saw Elijah, Ahab said to him, “Is it you, you troubler of Israel?” 18 And he answered, “I have not troubled Israel, but you have, and your father’s house, because you have abandoned the commandments of the Lord and followed the Baals. 19 Now therefore send and gather all Israel to me at Mount Carmel, and the 450 prophets of Baal and the 400 prophets of Asherah, who eat at Jezebel’s table.”

The Prophets of Baal Defeated

20 † So Ahab sent to all the people of Israel and gathered the prophets together at Mount Carmel. 21 And Elijah came near to all the people and said, “How long will you go limping between two different opinions? If the Lord is God, follow him; but if Baal, then follow him.” And the people did not answer him a word. 22 † Then Elijah said to the people, “I, even I only, am left a prophet of the Lord, but Baal’s prophets are 450 men. 23 Let two bulls be given to us, and let them choose one bull for themselves and cut it in pieces and lay it on the wood, but put no fire to it. And I will prepare the other bull and lay it on the wood and put no fire to it. 24 † And you call upon the name of your god, and I will call upon the name of the Lord, and the God who answers by fire, he is God.” And all the people answered, “It is well spoken.” 25 Then Elijah said to the prophets of Baal, “Choose for yourselves one bull and prepare it first, for you are many, and call upon the name of your god, but put no fire to it.” 26 † And they took the bull that was given them, and they prepared it and called upon the name of Baal from morning until noon, saying, “O Baal, answer us!” But there was no voice, and no one answered. And they limped around the altar that they had made.
27 † And at noon Elijah mocked them, saying, “Cry aloud, for he is a god.
Either he is musing, or he is relieving himself, or he is on a journey, or perhaps he is asleep and must be awakened.” 28 † And they cried aloud and cut themselves after their custom with swords and lances, until the blood gushed out upon them. 29 † And as midday passed, they raved on until the time of the offering of the oblation, but there was no voice. No one answered; no one paid attention.

30 † Then Elijah said to all the people, “Come near to me.” And all the people came near to him. And he repaired the altar of the Lord that had been thrown down. 31 Elijah took twelve stones, according to the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob, to whom the word of the Lord came, saying, “Israel shall be your name,” 32 and with the stones he built an altar in the name of the Lord. And he made a trench about the altar, as great as would contain two seahs[1] of seed. 33 † And he put the wood in order and cut the bull in pieces and laid it on the wood. And he said, “Fill four jars with water and pour it on the burnt offering and on the wood.” [34]And he said, “Do it a second time.” And they did it a second time. And he said, “Do it a third time.” And they did it a third time. [35]And the water ran around the altar and filled the trench also with water.

[36]†And at the time of the offering of the oblation, Elijah the prophet came near and said, “O Lord, God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, let it be known this day that you are God in Israel, and that I am your servant, and that I have done all these things at your word. [37]†Answer me, O Lord, answer me, that this people may know that you, O Lord, are God, and that you have turned their hearts back.” [38]†Then the fire of the Lord fell and consumed the burnt offering and the wood and the stones and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench. [39]And when all the people saw it, they fell on their faces and said, “The Lord, he is God; the Lord, he is God.” [40]†And Elijah said to them, “Seize the prophets of Baal; let not one of them escape.” And they seized them. And Elijah brought them down to the brook Kishon and slaughtered them there.

The Lord Sends Rain

41 ‡ † And Elijah said to Ahab, “Go up, eat and drink, for there is a sound of the rushing of rain.” 42 † So Ahab went up to eat and to drink. And Elijah went up to the top of Mount Carmel. And he bowed himself down on the earth and put his face between his knees. 43 † And he said to his servant, “Go up now, look toward the sea.” And he went up and looked and said, “There is nothing.” And he said, “Go again,” seven times. 44 † And at the seventh time he said, “Behold, a little cloud like a man’s hand is rising from the sea.” And he said, “Go up, say to Ahab, ‘Prepare your chariot and go down, lest the rain stop you.’” 45 ‡ And in a little while the heavens grew black with clouds and wind, and there was a great rain. And Ahab rode and went to Jezreel. 46 And the hand of the Lord was on Elijah, and he gathered up his garment and ran before Ahab to the entrance of Jezreel.

Elijah Flees Jezebel

19 [1]‡‡Ahab told Jezebel all that Elijah had done, and how he had killed all the prophets with the sword. [2]Then Jezebel sent a messenger to Elijah, saying, “So may the gods do to me and more also, if I do not make your life as the life of one of them by this time tomorrow.” [3]†Then he was afraid, and he arose and ran for his life and came to Beersheba, which belongs to Judah, and left his servant there.

[4]†But he himself went a day’s journey into the wilderness and came and sat down under a broom tree. And he asked that he might die, saying, “It is enough; now, O Lord, take away my life, for I am no better than my fathers.” [5]‡And he lay down and slept under a broom tree. And behold, an angel touched him and said to him, “Arise and eat.” [6]And he looked, and behold, there was at his head a cake baked on hot stones and a jar of water. And he ate and drank and lay down again. [7]And the angel of the Lord came again a second time and touched him and said, “Arise and eat, for the journey is too great for you.” [8]‡†And he arose and ate and drank, and went in the strength of that food forty days and forty nights to Horeb, the mount of God.

The Lord Speaks to Elijah

9 ‡‡There he came to a cave and lodged in it. And behold, the word of the Lord came to him, and he said to him, “What are you doing here, Elijah?” 10 †He said, “I have been very jealous for the Lord, the God of hosts. For the people of Israel have forsaken your covenant, thrown down your altars, and killed your prophets with the sword, and I, even I only, am left, and they seek my life, to take it away.” 11 †And he said, “Go out and stand on the mount before the Lord.” And behold, the Lord passed by, and a great and strong wind tore the mountains and broke in pieces the rocks before the Lord, but the Lord was not in the wind. And after the wind an earthquake, but the Lord was not in the earthquake. 12 †And after the earthquake a fire, but the Lord was not in the fire. And after the fire the sound of a low whisper.[1]13 †And when Elijah heard it, he wrapped his face in his cloak and went out and stood at the entrance of the cave. And behold, there came a voice to him and said, “What are you doing here, Elijah?” 14He said, “I have been very jealous for the Lord, the God of hosts. For the people of Israel have forsaken your covenant, thrown down your altars, and killed your prophets with the sword, and I, even I only, am left, and they seek my life, to take it away.” 15 ‡And the Lord said to him, “Go, return on your way to the wilderness of Damascus. And when you arrive, you shall anoint Hazael to be king over Syria. 16 †And Jehu the son of Nimshi you shall anoint to be king over Israel, and Elisha the son of Shaphat of Abel-meholah you shall anoint to be prophet in your place. 17And the one who escapes from the sword of Hazael shall Jehu put to death, and the one who escapes from the sword of Jehu shall Elisha put to death. 18 †Yet I will leave seven thousand in Israel, all the knees that have not bowed to Baal, and every mouth that has not kissed him.”

The Call of Elisha

[19] So he departed from there and found Elisha the son of Shaphat, who was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen in front of him, and he was with the twelfth. Elijah passed by him and cast his cloak upon him. [20] And he left the oxen and ran after Elijah and said, “Let me kiss my father and my mother, and then I will follow you.” And he said to him, “Go back again, for what have I done to you?” [21] And he returned from following him and took the yoke of oxen and sacrificed them and boiled their flesh with the yokes of the oxen and gave it to the people, and they ate. Then he arose and went after Elijah and assisted him.

Ahab's Wars with Syria

20 [1]†† Ben-hadad the king of Syria gathered all his army together. Thirty-two kings were with him, and horses and chariots. And he went up and closed in on Samaria and fought against it. [2]And he sent messengers into the city to Ahab king of Israel and said to him, "Thus says Ben-hadad: [3]† 'Your silver and your gold are mine; your best wives and children also are mine.'" [4]And the king of Israel answered, "As you say, my lord, O king, I am yours, and all that I have." [5]The messengers came again and said, "Thus says Ben-hadad: 'I sent to you, saying, "Deliver to me your silver and your gold, your wives and your children." [6]† Nevertheless I will send my servants to you tomorrow about this time, and they shall search your house and the houses of your servants and lay hands on whatever pleases you and take it away.'"

[7]† Then the king of Israel called all the elders of the land and said, "Mark, now, and see how this man is seeking trouble, for he sent to me for my wives and my children, and for my silver and my gold, and I did not refuse him." [8]† And all the elders and all the people said to him, "Do not listen or consent." [9]† So he said to the messengers of Ben-hadad, "Tell my lord the king, 'All that you first demanded of your servant I will do, but this thing I cannot do.'" And the messengers departed and brought him word again. [10]† Ben-hadad sent to him and said, "The gods do so to me and more also, if the dust of Samaria shall suffice for handfuls for all the people who follow me." [11]And the king of Israel answered, "Tell him, 'Let not him who straps on his armor boast himself as he who takes it off.'" [12]When Ben-hadad heard this message as he was drinking with the kings in the booths, he said to his men, "Take your positions." And they took their positions against the city.

Ahab Defeats Ben-hadad

13 ‡ † And behold, a prophet came near to Ahab king of Israel and said, “Thus says the Lord, Have you seen all this great multitude? Behold, I will give it into your hand this day, and you shall know that I am the Lord.” 14 † And Ahab said, “By whom?” He said, “Thus says the Lord, By the servants of the governors of the districts.” Then he said, “Who shall begin the battle?” He answered, “You.” 15 † Then he mustered the servants of the governors of the districts, and they were 232. And after them he mustered all the people of Israel, seven thousand.

16 † And they went out at noon, while Ben-hadad was drinking himself drunk in the booths, he and the thirty-two kings who helped him. 17 The servants of the governors of the districts went out first. And Ben-hadad sent out scouts, and they reported to him, “Men are coming out from Samaria.” 18 † He said, “If they have come out for peace, take them alive. Or if they have come out for war, take them alive.”

19 So these went out of the city, the servants of the governors of the districts and the army that followed them. 20 † And each struck down his man. The Syrians fled, and Israel pursued them, but Ben-hadad king of Syria escaped on a horse with horsemen. 21 † And the king of Israel went out and struck the horses and chariots, and struck the Syrians with a great blow.

22 † Then the prophet came near to the king of Israel and said to him, “Come, strengthen yourself, and consider well what you have to do, for in the spring the king of Syria will come up against you.”

23 † And the servants of the king of Syria said to him, “Their gods are gods of the hills, and so they were stronger than we. But let us fight against them in the plain, and surely we shall be stronger than they. 24 † And do this:
remove the kings, each from his post, and put commanders in their places, 25 and muster an army like the army that you have lost, horse for horse, and chariot for chariot. Then we will fight against them in the plain, and surely we shall be stronger than they.” And he listened to their voice and did so.

Ahab Defeats Ben-hadad Again

[26] In the spring, Ben-hadad mustered the Syrians and went up to Aphek to fight against Israel. [27] And the people of Israel were mustered and were provisioned and went against them. The people of Israel encamped before them like two little flocks of goats, but the Syrians filled the country.
[28] And a man of God came near and said to the king of Israel, "Thus says the LORD, 'Because the Syrians have said, "The LORD is a god of the hills but he is not a god of the valleys," therefore I will give all this great multitude into your hand, and you shall know that I am the LORD.'" [29] And they encamped opposite one another seven days. Then on the seventh day the battle was joined. And the people of Israel struck down of the Syrians 100,000 foot soldiers in one day. [30] And the rest fled into the city of Aphek, and the wall fell upon 27,000 men who were left.

Ben-hadad also fled and entered an inner chamber in the city. [31] And his servants said to him, "Behold now, we have heard that the kings of the house of Israel are merciful kings. Let us put sackcloth around our waists and ropes on our heads and go out to the king of Israel. Perhaps he will spare your life." [32] So they tied sackcloth around their waists and put ropes on their heads and went to the king of Israel and said, "Your servant Ben-hadad says, 'Please, let me live.'" And he said, "Does he still live? He is my brother." [33] Now the men were watching for a sign, and they quickly took it up from him and said, "Yes, your brother Ben-hadad." Then he said, "Go and bring him." Then Ben-hadad came out to him, and he caused him to come up into the chariot. [34] And Ben-hadad said to him, "The cities that my father took from your father I will restore, and you may establish bazaars for yourself in Damascus, as my father did in Samaria." And Ahab said, "I will let you go on these terms." So he made a covenant with him and let him go.

A Prophet Condemns Ben-hadad's Release

35 †And a certain man of the sons of the prophets said to his fellow at the command of the Lord, "Strike me, please." But the man refused to strike him. 36 †Then he said to him, "Because you have not obeyed the voice of the Lord, behold, as soon as you have gone from me, a lion shall strike you down." And as soon as he had departed from him, a lion met him and struck him down. 37 Then he found another man and said, "Strike me, please." And the man struck him—struck him and wounded him. 38 †So the prophet departed and waited for the king by the way, disguising himself with a bandage over his eyes. 39 †And as the king passed, he cried to the king and said, "Your servant went out into the midst of the battle, and behold, a soldier turned and brought a man to me and said, 'Guard this man; if by any means he is missing, your life shall be for his life, or else you shall pay a talent[1] of silver.' 40 †And as your servant was busy here and there, he was gone." The king of Israel said to him, "So shall your judgment be; you yourself have decided it." 41 †Then he hurried to take the bandage away from his eyes, and the king of Israel recognized him as one of the prophets.
42 †And he said to him, "Thus says the Lord, 'Because you have let go out of your hand the man whom I had devoted to destruction,[2] therefore your life shall be for his life, and your people for his people.'" 43 And the king of Israel went to his house vexed and sullen and came to Samaria.

Naboth’s Vineyard

21 [1]†‡‡†Now Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard in Jezreel, beside the palace of Ahab king of Samaria. [2]†And after this Ahab said to Naboth, “Give me your vineyard, that I may have it for a vegetable garden, because it is near my house, and I will give you a better vineyard for it; or, if it seems good to you, I will give you its value in money.” [3]†But Naboth said to Ahab, “The Lord forbid that I should give you the inheritance of my fathers.” [4]†And Ahab went into his house vexed and sullen because of what Naboth the Jezreelite had said to him, for he had said, “I will not give you the inheritance of my fathers.” And he lay down on his bed and turned away his face and would eat no food.

[5]But Jezebel his wife came to him and said to him, “Why is your spirit so vexed that you eat no food?” [6]And he said to her, “Because I spoke to Naboth the Jezreelite and said to him, ‘Give me your vineyard for money, or else, if it please you, I will give you another vineyard for it.’ And he answered, ‘I will not give you my vineyard.’” [7]And Jezebel his wife said to him, “Do you now govern Israel? Arise and eat bread and let your heart be cheerful; I will give you the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite.”

[8]†So she wrote letters in Ahab’s name and sealed them with his seal, and she sent the letters to the elders and the leaders who lived with Naboth in his city. [9]†And she wrote in the letters, “Proclaim a fast, and set Naboth at the head of the people. [10]†And set two worthless men opposite him, and let them bring a charge against him, saying, ‘You have cursed[1] God and the king.’ Then take him out and stone him to death.” [11]And the men of his city, the elders and the leaders who lived in his city, did as Jezebel had sent word to them. As it was written in the letters that she had sent to them, [12]they proclaimed a fast and set Naboth at the head of the people. [13]†And the two worthless men came in and sat opposite him. And the worthless men brought a charge against Naboth in the presence of the people, saying, “Naboth cursed God and the king.” So they took him outside the city and stoned him to death with stones. [14]Then they sent to Jezebel, saying, “Naboth has been stoned; he is dead.”

15 † As soon as Jezebel heard that Naboth had been stoned and was dead, Jezebel said to Ahab, “Arise, take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he refused to give you for money, for Naboth is not alive, but dead.” 16 And as soon as Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, Ahab arose to go down to the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, to take possession of it.

The Lord Condemns Ahab

17 ‡ ‡ Then the word of the Lord came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying, 18 "Arise, go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, who is in Samaria; behold, he is in the vineyard of Naboth, where he has gone to take possession.
19 † And you shall say to him, 'Thus says the Lord, "Have you killed and also taken possession?"' And you shall say to him, 'Thus says the Lord: "In the place where dogs licked up the blood of Naboth shall dogs lick your own blood."'" 20 † Ahab said to Elijah, "Have you found me, O my enemy?" He answered, "I have found you, because you have sold yourself to do what is evil in the sight of the Lord. 21 Behold, I will bring disaster upon you. I will utterly burn you up, and will cut off from Ahab every male, bond or free, in Israel. 22 And I will make your house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah, for the anger to which you have provoked me, and because you have made Israel to sin.
23 † And of Jezebel the Lord also said, 'The dogs shall eat Jezebel within the walls of Jezreel.' 24 † Anyone belonging to Ahab who dies in the city the dogs shall eat, and anyone of his who dies in the open country the birds of the heavens shall eat."

Ahab’s Repentance

25 ††(There was none who sold himself to do what was evil in the sight of the Lord like Ahab, whom Jezebel his wife incited. 26 † He acted very abominably in going after idols, as the Amorites had done, whom the Lord cast out before the people of Israel.) 27 † And when Ahab heard those words, he tore his clothes and put sackcloth on his flesh and fasted and lay in sackcloth and went about dejectedly. 28 And the word of the Lord came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying, 29 †“Have you seen how Ahab has humbled himself before me? Because he has humbled himself before me, I will not bring the disaster in his days; but in his son’s days I will bring the disaster upon his house.”

Ahab and the False Prophets

22 [1]For three years Syria and Israel continued without war. [2]But in the third year Jehoshaphat the king of Judah came down to the king of Israel. [3]And the king of Israel said to his servants, “Do you know that Ramoth-gilead belongs to us, and we keep quiet and do not take it out of the hand of the king of Syria?” [4]And he said to Jehoshaphat, “Will you go with me to battle at Ramoth-gilead?” And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, “I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses.”

[5]And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, “Inquire first for the word of the Lord.” [6]Then the king of Israel gathered the prophets together, about four hundred men, and said to them, “Shall I go to battle against Ramoth-gilead, or shall I refrain?” And they said, “Go up, for the Lord will give it into the hand of the king.” [7]But Jehoshaphat said, “Is there not here another prophet of the Lord of whom we may inquire?” [8]And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “There is yet one man by whom we may inquire of the Lord, Micaiah the son of Imlah, but I hate him, for he never prophesies good concerning me, but evil.” And Jehoshaphat said, “Let not the king say so.” [9]Then the king of Israel summoned an officer and said, “Bring quickly Micaiah the son of Imlah.” [10]Now the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah were sitting on their thrones, arrayed in their robes, at the threshing floor at the entrance of the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets were prophesying before them. [11]And Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah made for himself horns of iron and said, “Thus says the Lord, ‘With these you shall push the Syrians until they are destroyed.’” [12]And all the prophets prophesied so and said, “Go up to Ramoth-gilead and triumph;
the Lord will give it into the hand of the king.”

Micaiah Prophesies Against Ahab

13 And the messenger who went to summon Micaiah said to him,
"Behold, the words of the prophets with one accord are favorable to the king. Let your word be like the word of one of them, and speak favorably." 14 But Micaiah said, "As the Lord lives, what the Lord says to me, that I will speak." 15 And when he had come to the king, the king said to him, "Micaiah, shall we go to Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall we refrain?" And he answered him, "Go up and triumph; the Lord will give it into the hand of the king." 16 But the king said to him, "How many times shall I make you swear that you speak to me nothing but the truth in the name of the Lord?" 17 And he said, "I saw all Israel scattered on the mountains, as sheep that have no shepherd. And the Lord said, 'These have no master; let each return to his home in peace.'" 18 And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "Did I not tell you that he would not prophesy good concerning me, but evil?" 19 And Micaiah said, "Therefore hear the word of the Lord: I saw the Lord sitting on his throne, and all the host of heaven standing beside him on his right hand and on his left; 20 and the Lord said, 'Who will entice Ahab, that he may go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead?' And one said one thing, and another said another. 21 Then a spirit came forward and stood before the Lord, saying, 'I will entice him.' 22 And the Lord said to him, 'By what means?' And he said, 'I will go out, and will be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.' And he said, 'You are to entice him, and you shall succeed; go out and do so.' 23 Now therefore behold, the Lord has put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these your prophets; the Lord has declared disaster for you."

24 Then Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah came near and struck Micaiah on the cheek and said, "How did the Spirit of the Lord go from me to speak to you?" 25 And Micaiah said, "Behold, you shall see on that day when you go into an inner chamber to hide yourself." 26 And the king of Israel said, "Seize Micaiah, and take him back to Amon the governor of the city and to Joash the king's son, 27 and say, 'Thus says the king, "Put this fellow in prison and feed him meager rations of bread and water, until I come in peace.”””” [28] † And Micaiah said, “If you return in peace, the Lord has not spoken by me.” And he said, “Hear, all you peoples!”

Ahab Killed in Battle

[29] ✝So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth-gilead. [30] ✝And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “I will disguise myself and go into battle, but you wear your robes.” And the king of Israel disguised himself and went into battle. [31] ✝Now the king of Syria had commanded the thirty-two captains of his chariots, “Fight with neither small nor great, but only with the king of Israel.” [32] ✝And when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, they said, “It is surely the king of Israel.”
So they turned to fight against him. And Jehoshaphat cried out. [33] And when the captains of the chariots saw that it was not the king of Israel, they turned back from pursuing him. [34] ✝But a certain man drew his bow at random[1] and struck the king of Israel between the scale armor and the breastplate.
Therefore he said to the driver of his chariot, “Turn around and carry me out of the battle, for I am wounded.” [35] ✝And the battle continued that day, and the king was propped up in his chariot facing the Syrians, until at evening he died. And the blood of the wound flowed into the bottom of the chariot. [36] ✝And about sunset a cry went through the army, “Every man to his city, and every man to his country!”

[37] So the king died, and was brought to Samaria. And they buried the king in Samaria. [38] ✝And they washed the chariot by the pool of Samaria, and the dogs licked up his blood, and the prostitutes washed themselves in it, according to the word of the Lord that he had spoken. [39] ✝Now the rest of the acts of Ahab and all that he did, and the ivory house that he built and all the cities that he built, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? [40] So Ahab slept with his fathers, and Ahaziah his son reigned in his place.

Jehoshaphat Reigns in Judah

41 ‡ ‡Jehoshaphat the son of Asa began to reign over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab king of Israel. 42Jehoshaphat was thirty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi. 43 †He walked in all the way of Asa his father. He did not turn aside from it, doing what was right in the sight of the Lord. Yet the high places were not taken away, and the people still sacrificed and made offerings on the high places. 44 †Jehoshaphat also made peace with the king of Israel.

45Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, and his might that he showed, and how he warred, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? 46 †And from the land he exterminated the remnant of the male cult prostitutes who remained in the days of his father Asa.

47 ‡There was no king in Edom; a deputy was king. 48 †Jehoshaphat made ships of Tarshish to go to Ophir for gold, but they did not go, for the ships were wrecked at Ezion-geber. 49 †Then Ahaziah the son of Ahab said to Jehoshaphat, "Let my servants go with your servants in the ships," but Jehoshaphat was not willing. 50And Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father, and Jehoram his son reigned in his place.

Ahaziah Reigns in Israel

51 ‡‡Ahaziah the son of Ahab began to reign over Israel in Samaria in the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and he reigned two years over Israel. 52He did what was evil in the sight of the Lord and walked in the way of his father and in the way of his mother and in the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin. 53He served Baal and worshiped him and provoked the Lord, the God of Israel, to anger in every way that his father had done.

1 and 2 Kings

Introduction to 1 Kings

Reading 1 and 2 Kings

Wind sweeps the paving stones. It whistles through the branches of the sacred grove, swirls about the altar's steps, and flicks the garments of the visitors and the priests. One priest calls on Yahweh. Another calls on Baal and makes his offering before the image of a bull, graven on an upright stone. Women gather about an Asherah pole, invoking the goddess's blessings. When the sacrifices are complete, all retire from the windy height to enjoy the meat of the sacrifices at the local temple hall.

"High places" (Hbr bamoth) are mentioned more than 100 times in the OT, most often in 1 and 2 Kings. These sacred sites, which often stood on hilltops but could be on platforms in towns, were long-standing places of sacrifice. Israel's people and earliest rulers properly worshiped at such places before Solomon built the temple (cf 1Ki 3:2–4). However, after Solomon built the temple, worship at the bamoth increasingly became a mixture of devotion to both Yahweh and false gods. People neglected the Lord's Word and the temple in Jerusalem, committing themselves to false worship at their local high places. Wicked kings and false prophets tolerated or supported such false worship, yet some faithful kings and prophets called people back to true worship at the one temple.

Luther on 1 and 2 Kings

Elijah had killed the 800 prophets with great courage (1 Kings 19:1–3), and no one's power was so great that he feared it; but when Jezebel threatened him, he is struck with such fear that he flees. Before this he was not afraid of the king; now he runs away from a woman.

Accordingly, all this seems to be foolish; but it shows great understanding and is very helpful, because it is recorded for the comfort of the churches, in order that we may know how merciful God is. We may indeed be evil and weak, provided that we are not found among those who persecute, hate, and blaspheme God. God wants to have patience with our weakness.

I am neither able nor willing to excuse the fathers, as others do. Indeed, I am glad to hear about the failings and the weaknesses of the saints. But I do not praise these failings and weaknesses as good deeds or virtues…. Nor are these things recorded for the sake of the hard, the proud, and the obstinate. No, they are recorded in order that the nature of the kingdom of Christ may be pointed out. In His small flock He has poor and weak consciences that are easily hurt and are not easily comforted. He is a King of the strong and the weak alike; He hates the proud and declares war on the strong. (AE 5:25–26)

Challenges for Readers

Authorship. As with the other books of the Former Prophets (Joshua through 2 Kings), the author of 1 and 2 Kings is unknown. Some rabbis attributed the books to Jeremiah, though his presence in Egypt (Jer 43:5–7) would have prevented his witnessing the release of Jehoiachin from prison (2Ki 25:27–30). The division between 1 and 2 Kings is not original, as the flow of the story itself shows (see outline, p 528). Later scribes divided the text, perhaps to make the document easier to copy.

The Deuteronomistic History. Critical scholars have assumed that the theological and historical perspectives of the Former Prophets (Joshua through 2 Kings) were shaped by a common editor, the Deuteronomist, who interpreted Israelite history in view of the covenant blessings and curses described in Dt 27–28. Moses' farewell sermon (Dt) certainly influenced the content and writing of these books. An editor may have brought these books together in the canon of Scripture, but the books themselves were written by authors from different eras, who shared a common theology of history. (E.g., Joshua was written by Joshua, Judges was clearly authored before the kingdom period, and 1 and 2 Samuel date from the united kingdom period.)

Chronology. Often, 1 and 2 Kings switch focus between different sources of information about the Judean and Israelite kings. As a result, the order of the history is not strictly chronological. See note, 2Ki 4:1–8:15 for an example.

Reward and Punishment of Rulers. Some evil rulers are punished with short reigns. Other evil rulers enjoy longer reigns, which may seem contradictory to the main theme of the books. The author usually provides specific information as to why the Lord shows greater patience with some rulers.

Kingdom of God. See "Church and State Relations," p 432.

Blessings for Readers

As you read 1 and 2 Kings, take note of how intimately the Lord is involved in the lives of Israel's leaders, punishing their sins and forgiving them when they repent. Also note how the leaders set examples for the people, making their decisions even more important.

Consider your spiritual and political leaders. Pray that the Lord would guide them to make wise decisions and that He would deliver them from evil. Likewise, consider your own plans and conduct and the effect they may have on the future of your family, congregation, and community. Through the blessings and promises extended to the kings of Israel and Judah, the Lord will equip you for leadership and service among His people and assure you of His forgiveness in Christ the King.

Kings and Prophets of Judah and Israel

The kingdoms of Judah and Israel began as one kingdom under the rule of Saul (1048–1009 BC). They were divided briefly when David reigned in Hebron (1009–1002 BC) and Saul's son Ish-bosheth (1009–1008 BC) reigned in Mahanaim. Some years after Ish-bosheth was murdered by rivals, David became ruler of all Israel from Jerusalem; he subdued Israel's traditional enemies (1002–970 BC). David's son Solomon succeeded him and further expanded the kingdom (970–931 BC). But Solomon's son Rehoboam did not manage the kingdom well, and it split into Judah and Israel (also called Ephraim in the Old Testament). The chart below presents an overview of the kings of Judah and Israel along with the prophets who served in these kingdoms. (Overlapping dates within a kingdom indicate co-regencies; see shaded areas. Prophets whose names appear in italic have written books of Scripture. Pious kings who introduced reforms are marked with an asterisk.)

Making a Prophet

A young man studying to be a pastor began leading Bible studies at a medium-security prison in Pennsylvania. One evening, an inmate began to argue with him about the Bible and the ministry. “Why are you spending all that time in school?” the inmate asked. “Do you really think you need all that study to be a preacher?”

In a number of religious traditions, ministers do not go to school to prepare for ministry. In fact, some groups contend that formal study of Scripture is dangerous and even drives away the Holy Spirit. However, Scripture itself seems to point in a different direction, encouraging formal study for ministry. An example of this may be found in the “sons of the prophets” described in 1 and 2 Kings.

Sons of the Prophets

Scholars have used a variety of expressions to explain the Hebrew phrase "sons of the prophets." For example, German scholars in the 1800s viewed them as schools of prophets. Others have called them associations or guilds of prophets. Some translators have "company" of prophets. Just what does "sons of the prophets" mean?

Hebrew and other Semitic languages use family terms to describe more than just family or blood relationships. For example, Saul referred to David as his son, even though they were from different tribes (1Sm 24:16). Joab, the leader of David's troops, referred to one of his men as "son" (2Sm 18:22). The Israelites also used family terms to express membership in other groups. For example, in the original Hebrew, people returning from the province of Judah were called "sons" (rather than "people") of the province (Ezr 2:1). The members of Korah's choir at the temple were called "the sons of Korah" (prescript for Ps 42). In view of these expressions, "sons of the prophets" most likely means a group of prophets organized around a father figure who mentored or trained them in his work.

The relationship of a "son of a prophet" to a prophet would be like that of a son to his father. The son would learn from his father, do his bidding, and eventually inherit his work and stature. These "sons of the prophets" may have existed for a long time in Israel. If one takes the procession of prophets from 1Sm 10:5 to be such a group, and Amos's reference to this practice in his day (Am 7:14), one sees that these groups were in existence for at least 340 years (c 1100–c 760 BC). During this time, the role and number of prophets flourished. Before this time and after the exile in Babylon, prophecy virtually disappeared. See pp 1077–83.

The prophet Amos warned about this silence of the prophets (Am 8:11). This silence would mean not just a lack of prophets but also a lack of God's Word. Micah also warned that God would stop answering His people because of their sins (Mi 3:4, 7). The prophets would grow silent because God had grown silent. Today we rejoice to have God's Word at all times through the writing of the prophets and apostles as recorded in Scripture.

Jesus' Ministry

At first, the young man leading Bible study at the Pennsylvania prison wasn't sure how to answer the inmate who questioned the usefulness of formal training for ministry. However, reflection on Jesus' ministry soon provided an answer: "Didn't Jesus' disciples spend about three years with Him before He sent them out on their own to preach and teach?"

The inmate thought for a moment. His angry face softened. "You may have something there," he said. "That might be right."

Jesus scolded the Pharisees and scribes for loving academics and religion for show (Mt 23:5–12). But He also trained His disciples and gave them assignments for putting their learning into practice. The apostles likewise taught and prepared others who evidenced the qualities necessary for ministry. Though the Bible does not propose the number of years necessary for such training, it certainly envisioned formal training for ministry (2Tm 2:2). Therefore, support and encourage faithful study of God's Word. Regard faithful preachers and teachers as you would Moses or Elijah! For they serve not themselves but the Teacher and the Prophet Jesus Christ.

Though teaching formed the everyday activity of Jesus while He led His disciples, He taught His greatest lesson through His actions. Hanging on the cross, as foreshadowed by the prophets, Jesus taught the length, height, and depth of God's love for you. His cry from the cross, "It is finished," declared the completion of your salvation. He affirmed and fulfilled the writings of the prophets so you might always have His Word to comfort and encourage you. Praise the Lord for the ministry of His prophets!

Study Notes

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:1–2:10 Although 1 and 2Sm are devoted primarily to the life and reign of David, the story of how he transferred the kingdom to Solomon is recorded here. Drained of vitality (vv 1–4), David still took a firm hand in settling the contest for the throne (vv 5–37).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:2 arms. Accepted practice of supplying warmth to a person with poor circulation (Ec 4:11). The mention of David's ebbing vitality introduces the account of the two contenders for the throne.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:3 The beautiful Abishag hailed from Shunem, where the Philistines encamped when they defeated Saul in the battle of Gilboa (1Sm 28:4; cf 2Ki 4:8–17). See map, p 558. Abishag became the subject of subsequent court intrigue (2:13–25). See also pp 1065–67.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:4 knew her not. David had no sexual intercourse with her. Cf Gn 4:1.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:1–4 Opening 1Ki is the account of the last days of King David. The conclusion of David's great reign and epic life reminds us of the mortality of all people, for all are sinners and must die. Yet through the Messiah—great David's greater Son—we have hope and confidence beyond this life to the glories of heaven. • Heavenly Father, thank You for giving us the inspired, inerrant, and authoritative books of Scripture. Guide us as we read Your Word to find therein Your priceless promises through the Messiah, in whose name we pray. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:5 Adonijah. Apparently the oldest surviving son of David (cf v 6). be king. Adonijah either did not know or disregarded David's choice of a successor (vv 13, 17). His political intrigue is similar to Absalom's conspiracy (2Sm 15:1), except without force. Adonijah, like Absalom, was handsome and pampered (v 6). run before him. Signaling his presence and importance.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:6 never … displeased him. David succeeded as a warrior and king, but not as a father, having spoiled this son. See p 2025. born next after Absalom. David's firstborn, Amnon, had been killed by Absalom, the third oldest, who likewise had died a violent death. Presumably, the second in line was also dead (2Sm 3:2–3; 13:23–33; 18:9–15).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:7 Joab. David's nephew, who "was in command of all the army" (2Sm 20:23). No reason is given why Adonijah had Joab's and Abiathar's support. Abiathar. Escaped when "Saul had killed the priests of the LORD" at Nob (1Sm 22:20–22), joined David, and rendered him valuable service before and after he became king (1Sm 23:6, 9; 2Sm 15:35–37; 17:15–16).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:8 Adonijah and his conspirators were rejected by (1) Zadok, Abiathar's associate (2Sm 8:17; 15:29); (2) Benaiah, captain of David's bodyguard; (3) Nathan the prophet, who denounced David's crimes but brought the Lord's promise of an eternal kingdom (2Sm 7:4–17); (4) Shimei and Rei, two officials (Shimei, not to be confused with the man who cursed David [2Sm 16:5–14], may have become one of Solomon's 12 officers; 4:7); (5) David's "mighty men" (distinguished warriors), which no doubt also included the servants (v 33) who likely composed the royal guard, the Cherethites and the Pelethites (v 44).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:9 En-rogel. Lit, "fountain of the fuller," a spring just below Jerusalem where the Kidron Valley and the Valley of Hinnom merge (Jsh 15:7–8; 18:16). his brothers. Adonijah sought to extend his popularity within the royal family.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:10 Nathan … Benaiah … mighty men. See note, v 8. Solomon his brother. Clear rivalry existed.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:5–10 Even before David's death, a rivalry between two of his sons develops, as Adonijah prepares to take over the reign. Sin and greed lead to dissension—that has not changed. How ugly to witness family rivalry over an inheritance (cf Lk 12:13–15), which is precisely the matter here, especially addressed by the Ninth Commandment. Pray that your family avoids such temptations and plans well for peace. Because of Christ, we are able to forgive one another and live peaceably in His generous heritage of grace. • Lord God, keep me from jealousy and strife. Lead me to trust Your will for my life. In the Savior's name, I pray. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:12 own life. Nathan countered Adonijah's plot by warning Bathsheba that Adonijah would kill her and her son, following the prevailing custom of slaying all members of the opposing party (v 21).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:13 swear. The Bible does not record such an oath; however, no trickery on aged David is suggested. Such an oath could have been made at Solomon's birth (2Sm 12:24; cf 1Ch 22:9–13).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:14 confirm your words. Reminding David of the oath. Testimony required two or three witnesses (Dt 17:6).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:16 Bathsheba bowed. In ancient royal households, even a king's wife had to show him deference in public (cf Est 5:1–2).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:18–20 Bathsheba's appeal builds urgency, hinting that David has lost control.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:21 counted offenders. See note, v 12.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:24–27 Nathan confirms the story about Adonijah (vv 17–21) but leaves the matter of succession to David.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:26 Hints at impending conflict and loss of some of David's long-standing allies (see note, v 8).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:11–27 Intrigue increases with word of Adonijah's maneuvers to gain the throne. Nathan shows proper reserve, stating facts and asking the king what his intentions are. When stakes are high, we may feel the urgency to rob others of their decisions. However, God would have us honor the calling of others by assisting them with facts and good counsel. The Word of His prophets is ever ready to counsel and encourage us in the way of peace, indeed, in the way of life everlasting. • Almighty God, our times are in Your hands. Lead us to use our time on earth wisely, as we live for Him who died for us. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:28 David answered. David's political will and savvy did not suffer from senility. He issued precise instructions for an enthronement ceremony (vv 32–37) and still commanded loyalty (vv 38–40). Call Bathsheba. She had left the bedchamber when the prophet received an audience (v 23). Nathan likewise withdrew when David recalled his wife to announce he would assure Solomon's accession (vv 28–31).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:31 Bathsheba bowed. See note, v 16.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:32 See note, v 8.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:33 own mule. Mark of royalty (2Sm 13:29; 18:9). When One "greater than Solomon" (Mt 12:42) entered Jerusalem on a donkey, the people expressed their expectations by shouting: "Hosanna to the Son of David" (Mt 21:9, 15). Jesus claimed to be a king, the Anointed, the Messiah, but His "kingdom is not of this world" (Jn 18:36–37). Gihon. Spring in Kidron Valley north of En-rogel (see note, v 9), from which Hezekiah later dug a tunnel to the Pool of Siloam. A spring may have been chosen for the site of coronations because the perpetual flow of water signified a stable and resourceful reign.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:34 trumpet. Hbr shophar. See p 993; cf v 41.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:35 ruler. Hbr word translated "prince" in 1Sm 9:16; cf 1Sm 10:1.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:36 Amen! See "faithfulness," p 842.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:38 Zadok … Nathan … Benaiah. See note, v 8. Cherethites and the Pelethites. See note, 2Sm 15:18. mule. See note, v 33.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:39 horn of oil. Cf Ex 30:23–32 for the preparation of anointing oil. See "horn," p 842. tent. Not the tabernacle, which was in Gibeon (cf 3:4), but a tent David had set up in Jerusalem to house the ark (2Sm 6:17).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:40 pipes. Apparently a common instrument. See p 993. split. Hyperbole; sound of their rejoicing was great.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:41 What does this … mean? Adonijah and his band lacked Absalom's wile and perverse determination to seize the throne. They expected no resistance.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:42 Jonathan. Formerly a secret informant for David.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:43 Solomon king. Not the news Adonijah wanted to hear, but he did not contest David's decision (vv 41–48). Solomon promised to spare his rival's life (vv 49–53). He wisely sought peace in the royal family.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:44 Zadok … Nathan … Benaiah. See note, v 8. Cherethites and the Pelethites. See note, 2Sm 15:18. mule. See note, v 33.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:46 royal throne. Thrones were transportable; in artwork they are sometimes depicted with wheels.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:47 bowed himself on the bed. Expresses David's humility and physical infirmity.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:50 horns of the altar. One guilty of unintentional manslaughter could flee for refuge to the altar (cf Ex 21:12–13). Apparently, this applied to other crimes punishable by death.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:51 swear to me first. Emphasizes the extent of Adonijah's fear. See p 7.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:53 Solomon sent. He assumed royal functions before David's death. The record does not specify how long the co-regency lasted or whether it is included in computing the length of Solomon's reign

(cf 1Ch 22:6–29:25). Cf 2Ki 15:5 for another such coregency. Father-son rule likely occurred in other instances, a factor that helps to solve some difficulties in the chronologies of the reigns during the divided kingdom. See p 529.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 1:28–53 Informed of Adonijah's intentions, David declares that Solomon is to succeed him as king according to God's purposes. Human scheming cannot overthrow God's plans. This is a warning to all who think they can defy the Almighty, but it is also a great comfort to us whose lives and futures are in the hands of the merciful and gracious God. • Lord God Almighty, I thank You for Your guidance of my life, assuring me that in Your Son, Jesus, You are reigning for my good, both now and eternally. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:1–9 commanded Solomon. David's instructions to his son and successor were of a twofold nature: (1) admonition to be faithful to the covenant (vv 1–4); (2) directions on how to deal with specific individuals (vv 5–9). Cf Pr 4:3–9; see note, Pr 1:8.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:3 walking … ways. See p 844. statutes … commandments … rules … testimonies … Law. See p 971. prosper. Key to understanding the entire history recorded in 1 and 2Ki. Observing the terms of the covenant did not merit God's favor. Obedience to the divine will was Israel's response to undeserved mercy. Nevertheless, observance or neglect of covenant obligations was important, as Moses explained at length in Dt. Even the king was not above the Law. If he and the nation turned aside to worship other gods, the Lord would "cut off Israel from the land" (9:6–9). He still directs the course of history according to this basic principle, whether people agree or not (cf Rm 11:22; 1Co 2:16; 2Pt 2:9; Rv 15:3).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:4 He spoke concerning me. Cf 2Sm 7:11–16.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:5–9 David's general admonition in vv 1–4 is similar to God's charge to Joshua (Jsh 1:1–9). However, David's orders regarding Joab and Shimei are difficult to reconcile with the covenant. His instructions to execute the cold-blooded murderer of Abner and Amasa can be explained inasmuch as the curse of bloodguilt needed to be removed. See note, v 31.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:5 avenging in time of peace. Vengeful murders after hostilities ended.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:6 Act … according to … wisdom. Wait for a good occasion to execute Joab. Sheol. See p 792.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:7 Barzillai. Cf 2Sm 19:33–39 for his loyalty and David's offer of reward. eat at your table. A privilege, though guests supplied their own food. Cf 18:19; 2Ki 25:27–29.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:8–9 Shimei. David may have wanted to avoid the impression that the punishment was a matter of personal revenge. However, it cannot be denied that David commanded his son to do what he had sworn not to do; thereby, David broke his oath to the offender (2Sm 19:23).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:8 Bahurim. Village just east of Jerusalem. Mahanaim. Place near Jabbok River. See map, p 534.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:9 See note, v 6.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:1–9 Before dying, King David charges his son Solomon with the responsibilities of kingship. He rightly commends God's Word as the basis of good judgment and leadership. David's dying example of concern for his son Solomon, and the kingdom over which he would reign, encourages us in Christlike love and service to our families and others. In His death, Christ supplied fully for our life and peaceable service in His kingdom. • Father in heaven, through life and in the hour of death, keep my eyes set on my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:10 slept. Died. buried. Refers to burial in an ancestral tomb, joining his ancestors in the common lot of all mortals. city of David. Cf 2Sm 5:7. Kings were typically buried in their capital. Luth: "The fathers concluded from these passages that another life remains and that the saints do not perish like cattle but are gathered to the people in the land of the living…. This serves to comfort us, lest we, like others, who have no hope (1 Thess. 4:13), be frightened by or shudder at death. For in Christ death is not bitter, as it is for the ungodly, but it is a change of this wretched and unhappy life into a life that is quiet and blessed" (AE 4:310–11).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:10–12 The Bible reminds us that even great kings are mortal and die. Scripture's use of the term "sleep" for death—especially when applied to believers—is a wonderful reminder that we shall awaken from death to life with God in heaven, through the sufferings, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ. • God of our fathers, we thank You for all Your blessings. You daily and richly shower us with goodness through Your Son, our Savior Jesus Christ. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:13–46 Records how King Solomon dealt with four men who could threaten his rule, all of whom broke the letter of the Law.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:13 Bathsheba. As queen mother, she was still authoritative. Do you come peacefully? See note, 1:12.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:15 kingdom was mine. Cf 1:11. it was his from the LORD. Adonijah seems to admit that he acted improperly.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:17 give me Abishag. Apparently a foolish rather than an insidious request. A new king might take his predecessor's harem in order to establish his claim to the throne (cf 2Sm 3:7–8; 12:8; 16:21–22). See note, v 22.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:18 Very well. Adonijah asked Bathsheba to plead his cause because, as queen mother, she had great influence at court (cf 2Ki 11:1–3). Her ready consent to speak for the hapless suitor seems suspicious, given all that had happened. She could have hoped for peaceful settlement between the brothers or even for Solomon's angry response.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:19 bowed down to her. Although a young man, Solomon honored his mother, setting an example for us.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:22 Ask for him the kingdom also. Sarcasm; Adonijah's request for a woman associated with the court exposed him to the suspicion of still having designs to become king (v 17). Abiathar … Joab. See note, 1:7.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:23 swore. See note, Ru 1:17. Charging Adonijah with ill motive (v 22), Solomon ordered his execution (v 25).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:26 Abiathar. Solomon took action against him and Joab, accusing them of complicity in a new plot against him. See note, 1:7. Anathoth. Priestly city c 3 mi NE of Jerusalem; the future home of Jeremiah. See map, p 615.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:27 word of the LORD. Abiathar was a descendant of Eli, for whose house a prophet had predicted disaster. Abiathar's descendants were later permitted to resume service at the temple (1Ch 24:6). Shiloh. C 20 mi N of Jerusalem. See color map 1.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:28 tent. Set up by David for the ark (2Sm 6:17). horns. See note, 1:50.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:31 strike him down. A willful murderer was not to be granted sanctuary at the altar. the guilt for the blood. Lit, "the blood of no cost [guilt]." Murder polluted the land. The execution of a murderer by legitimate authority removed the threat of a blood feud, which would only make matters worse. Settling such matters is a major theme in 1 and 2Ki.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:33 peace … forevermore. Assuming that they did not engage in the sin of murder. Solomon enjoyed peace. His reign ended the blood feuds that stemmed from the rivalry between Saul's house and David's.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:34 own house. Because of his distinguished services to his people, Joab was granted honorable burial at his ancestral estate in the wilderness of Judah, possibly east of Bethlehem.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:35 Zadok. Solomon here ends potential rivalry within the priesthood by choosing Zadok (see note, 2Sm 19:11). See pp 1557–58.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:36 To keep Shimei under close surveillance, Solomon transferred him to Jerusalem from Bahurim, away from potential allies among members of Shimei's clan (2Sm 16:5; 17:18).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:37 Kidron. Brook east of Jerusalem in the direction of Shimei's hometown, Bahurim. Solomon sets a clear boundary.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:39 servants ran away. Common problem. Maacah. Perhaps a variant of "Maoch."
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:40 Gath. Philistine city c 25 mi SW of Jerusalem. See map, p 534.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:42 any place whatever. Solomon changes his requirement about crossing the brook Kidron, either invoking the spirit of his order or finding fault intentionally. The Philistines of Gath had threatened his father's (David's) rule. Solomon likely suspected foul play.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:45 See note, 2Sm 7:13.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:46 the kingdom was established in the hand of Solomon. All rivals were ultimately eliminated. Though Solomon claims the Lord's approval (v 45), the author of 1Ki does not confirm this claim.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 2:13–46 Though a man of peace, Solomon oversees the deaths of his political enemies. Scripture does not absolutely approve of Solomon's motives in these cases but does affirm his right and responsibility to govern. God wants us to respect the earthly government under which we live, recognizing that we serve a higher King and are citizens of an everlasting kingdom, that of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.
• Let me be Thine forever, My faithful God and Lord; Let me forsake Thee never Nor wander from Thy Word. Amen. (LSB 689:1)
1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:1–2 marriage alliance. Typical practice. Solomon's marriage to an Egyptian princess may not have occurred at the very outset of his regime. But it is an example of his general practice of marrying many foreign wives (11:1) for the sake of peace with neighbors. building … high places. Other prominent features of Solomon's career were his extensive building program and his tolerance in worship practices (cf 11:4–7). Directly or indirectly, all these things contributed to Solomon's fall, explaining in advance why "his heart had turned away from the LORD" (11:9). Historically, the downfall of the Egyptian and Hittite empires (c 1200 BC) cleared the way for David and Solomon to rise in power. These conditions continued until c 900 BC, when the Assyrians began to rise. The biblical account fits well into the broad historical setting.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:3 loved the LORD. Despite the imperfections of his love for the Lord, Solomon received a special measure of divine grace. Given a choice of gifts, he asked for wisdom to govern his people (vv 3–9). By this request, he showed that in his heart he wanted to be motivated by the desire to serve God and His people rather than by the promptings of the flesh for personal gain. God gave him not only "a wise and discerning mind" but also promised him "both riches and honor" (vv 12–13), for all of which he was truly grateful (v 15). made offerings at the high places. To Yahweh. See note, 1Sm 9:12.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:4 Gibeon. No reason is given why Solomon went to sacrifice at "the great high place" in Gibeon, c 6 mi NW of Jerusalem. a thousand. Denotes a large number rather than an exact count. See p 217.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:5 dream. One means of divine revelation (1Sm 28:6, 15), claimed also by false prophets (Jer 23:32; Zec 10:2). See p 74. by night. After his evening religious services.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:6 steadfast love … faithfulness … uprightness. See pp 842–43. this day. General; "at this time."

1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:7 child. Figure of speech to express lack of experience. Solomon actually had a child of his own at this time (cf 11:42; 14:21). how to go out or come in. How to tackle the problems of administering "a great people" whose numbers were bewildering (v 8; Dt 31:2). Luth: "It is incurable and damnable rashness and arrogance on my part when I claim to be such a person and such an extraordinary man that I can manage the state, the home, and the church wisely and properly. But if you are a judge, a bishop, or a prince, you should not feel ashamed to fall on your knees and say: 'Lord God, Thou hast appointed me … guide and teach me, give me counsel, wisdom, and strength to attend successfully to the office committed to me' " (AE 5:122).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:8 too many … counted. Hyperbole. David had conducted censuses, though not without issue (1Ch 21).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:9 understanding mind. Lit, "a hearing heart." Hbr verb "to hear" frequently means "to hearken, to obey" (cf 1Sm 15:22). To act in obedience to God, Solomon wanted to be able to "discern between good and evil." Such discrimination required a mind capable of analytic judgments. However, only a heart that listens to the Lord could supply the basis for making correct decisions, the desire to conform to the divine way, and the willpower to act accordingly.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:11 asked for yourself understanding. Though David was a man after God's own heart, he lacked judgment, which brought sorrow to his family and kingdom.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:12 wise and discerning mind. Lit, "a heart of wisdom and understanding." See p 775–78.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:13 give you also. Cf Mt 6:33, Jesus' promise to those who "seek first [His] kingdom." no other king … all your days. Israel never grew greater economically or politically than under Solomon. His expanded power naturally diminished the territory and influence of his rivals. See note, vv 1–2.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:14 ways … statutes … commandments. See p 971.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:15 dream. See note, v 5. he came to Jerusalem. From Gibeon (vv 4–5). ark of the covenant. David had brought it to Jerusalem (2Sm 6:16–17). The Lord's promise (vv 11–14) and gift deepened Solomon's devotion for a time. offerings … feast. Special occasion, not a religious feast. See pp 200–201.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:1–15 In return for Solomon's selfless request for wisdom, God blesses him, not only with wisdom, but also with riches and honor. May we, like Solomon, recognize that we do not deserve the wonderful opportunities God gives us. Because of our human limitations, we are unable to perfectly fulfill the challenges we face. Yet, in Christ, we have forgiveness; we are a new creation and can do all things through Him who gives us strength and wisdom. • O Lord God, do not forsake me in my life of service, lest I bring it all to ruin. May Your Word, my constant companion, give me strength and wisdom. In Jesus' name. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:16–4:28 The connection between vv 1–15 and what follows is logical rather than chronological. These verses demonstrate that Solomon actually received "an understanding mind" (v 9): (1) he was able to render justice in a difficult case (3:16–28); (2) he displayed executive ability by dividing the country into 12 administrative districts (4:1–19); (3) he "ruled over" a far-flung empire (4:20–21); (4) he managed a grandiose establishment (4:22–28).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:18 no one else … in the house. No potential witnesses (see note, v 27)
1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:19–20 Newborn babies, born in a dark house to exhausted women, would be difficult to distinguish.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:26 neither mine nor yours. She had lost all. Any motherly compassion gave way to bitterness.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:27 Solomon called on human instinct as a witness in the trial, knowing that the one who truly cared was the mother.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:28 the wisdom of God was in him. See pp 775–78. to do justice. See p 842.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 3:16–28 Solomon's legendary wisdom is evident in his dealing with the two prostitutes who claim to have given birth to the same living child. True wisdom consists of far more than acquiring facts and information. Rather, it is godly wisdom to declare our sinfulness and need for a Savior, and to see in Jesus the One who meets all our needs. • Omniscient Lord, wisdom's highest treasure resides in Your Son, who is the very Wisdom of God. Guide me constantly to serve You faithfully. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:2 high officials. Solomon appointed various officials of cabinet rank, associated with him in Jerusalem (vv 1–6), and 12 regional managers, stationed in their respective districts (vv 7–19). priest. Cf 2Sm 8:18, where the term "priest" is applied to David's sons, who according to 1Ch 18:17 were his "chief officials." In v 5, the "king's friend" is also a priest.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:3 Elihoreph. Prompted by a textual variant, some scholars suggest vv 2b–3a reads "Azariah, son of Zadok the priest, was in charge of the calendar," but the traditional reading is preferred.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:4 priests. Chief priests (Levitical) at the ark in Jerusalem. The tabernacle was still at Shiloh. See note, v 2. See also p 495.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:5 the officers. Perhaps those mentioned in vv 7–19. priest. See note, v 2. king's friend. Not a personal friend, but one who rendered confidential service. Zabud was Solomon's trusted counselor as Hushai had been David's (2Sm 15:32).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:6 Adoniram. Also spelled "Adoram" and "Hadoram." forced labor. Introduced by David, the draft of laborers for work on state projects became so oppressive under Solomon that it was a main factor in causing the division of the kingdom (12:4, 11, 18–20).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:7–19 Two noteworthy features of Solomon's reign emerge here: (1) Although some of the place-names have not been identified with known sites, enough fixed points are mentioned to establish the fact that the three districts east and the nine west of the Jordan did not coincide with the territories allotted to the 12 tribes (Jsh 15–19). This administrative realignment of the borders may have been based on the land's productivity because each new district was required to furnish a month's "food for the king and his household" (v 7). (2) One officer appointed to supervise the collection of food from all tribes had his headquarters in the land of Judah (v 9). However, Solomon's own tribe apparently was not required to furnish a monthly share of provisions for the royal household. If this was the case, such discrimination may have sparked the discontent among the other tribes that flared after Solomon's death (ch 12).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:7 had to make provision. Supplying for the royal household was no small task. Archaeological finds confirm the broad administrative efforts of Judean rulers, whose seals appear on numerous items.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:9 Beth-shemesh. In Solomon's era, the town was rebuilt as a regional center, which included a huge underground reservoir capable of collecting 211,000 gal of water.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:11 Naphath-dor. Became major seaport by Ahab's time.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:19 Sihon … Og. Cf Nu 21:21, 33.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:1–19 This list of Solomon's officials, among whom he lived and worked, demonstrates the breadth of his wise rule. Today, the people among whom we work are important to us and to the Lord, who supplies us able companions for serving our nation and His kingdom. We are priceless to Him, and our names are recorded in the Book of Life through Jesus' work on our behalf. • Thank You, Holy Trinity, for the priceless insights of Your Holy Word. In Jesus' name. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:20 as many as the sand by the sea. Intentional exaggeration to stress Solomon's great wisdom and wealth. happy. With wealth flowing in from a vast empire (v 21), the people ate and drank enough to make life enjoyable, even though they were required to supply enormous provisions for the king's grandiose establishment (vv 22–28). Progressively greater requirements by Solomon finally made his exactions a "heavy yoke" (12:4).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:21 from the Euphrates to the land of the Philistines. Borders of Solomon's kingdom. See map, p 534.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:22–23 Collected provisions could feed at least 1,500 people: the royal family, officials, and regular troops.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:22 cors. See p cx.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:23 roebucks. Species of deer, also known as fallow deer. fattened fowl. Likely geese.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:24 Tiphsah. Located on the Upper Euphrates c 200 mi NE of Damascus. Gaza. Philistine city near the Great Sea; southwest limit of the empire. See map, p 534. In v 21, the extent of Solomon's empire is mentioned in order to account for the source of his income. Here, the reference to distant borders makes clear why his expenditures were so huge.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:25 Dan even to Beersheba. All of Israel (Jgs 20:1). every man under … his fig tree. Peace allowed men to build financial security for their families.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:26 40,000. Possibly a scribal slip; 2Ch 9:25 has "4,000 stalls," enough to accommodate the horses of "1,400 chariots" (1Ki 10:26).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:27 officers. Cf vv 8–19.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:29 wisdom. See pp 775–78. Solomon gave evidence of his God-given capacities, not only by his judicial abilities (3:16–28) and his administrative astuteness, but also by sage maxims. breadth of mind like the sand on the seashore. Figure of speech indicating extent of Solomon's wisdom.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:31 Evidently, the men mentioned here were well known for their wisdom. Their names appear in Judah's genealogy (1Ch 2:6).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:32 proverbs. See p 995–98. songs were 1,005. One, the Song of Solomon, is recorded in the Bible, as are two psalms (Ps 72; 127).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:33 Solomon did not engage in a scientific study of botany and zoology as we know such disciplines today. The lessons he drew from plant and animal life surpassed in variety and in profundity of thought "the wisdom of all the people of the east [Babylonians and Arabs] and all the wisdom of Egypt" (v 30). Only a few of such maxims have been preserved in Pr (Pr 6:6; 19:12; 30:15–31). See pp 775–78.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 4:20–34 This was a fleeting, golden time in Israel's history. The wealth Solomon enjoyed was a gift from the gracious God. Because of God's great and undeserved love for us, we enjoy countless blessings in this life, including the certainty of priceless joys and blessings awaiting us in heaven. • Almighty God, thank You for the countless blessings You shower upon us without any merit or worthiness in us. In Jesus' name. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON Chs 5–8 Almost half the account of Solomon's reign is devoted to still another way in which he displayed wisdom: his building enterprises, particularly the construction of the temple (6:12). The tabernacle was supposed to serve as the one place of sacrifice for Israel (Lv 17:8–9), but for centuries the Israelites continued to use the high places (see note, 3:1–2). Even the tabernacle was divided, with the Holy Place remaining at Shiloh (2:26–27) when the ark was moved to another tent on Zion (2Sm 6:17). When Solomon built the temple, he had the opportunity to establish one place of sacrifice for all Israel, which would have united the worship of the people as had not happened since the days of Moses and Joshua. See p 495.

1 Kings—NOTE ON Ch 5 Outlines two preliminary steps for building: (1) successful negotiations with the Phoenician king, Hiram, for cedar and cypress wood from Mount Lebanon (vv 1–12); (2) the drafting of a huge army of wood and stone workers to prepare the raw materials (vv 13–18).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 5:1 Hiram. Other Hbr spellings: "Hirom" (vv 10, 18); "Huram" (2Ch 2:3). All three may be abbreviations of "Ahiram." Tyre. Major Phoenician city on an island off the eastern coast of the Great Sea in Lebanon. See map, p 534. Hiram … loved David. Hiram's congratulations to Solomon would have been accepted royal custom.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 5:3 name. See p 843.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 5:4 on every side. Assyrian and later Persian administrations would use a similar expression to describe the region of Israel in relation to the Jordan River.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 5:6 Lebanon. Lit, "white mountain," range located north of Israel and running parallel to the coast of the Great Sea. See color map 2. no one among us. Ancient Israelites did not excel in architecture or the arts. See note, Am 3:15. See also p 544.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 5:7 Having heard David's testimony of faith, Hiram may have believed in and worshiped the one true God. See note, Jnh 1:16.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 5:9 rafts. Timbers were towed in floats from Phoenician seaports to Joppa, the only natural harbor on Israel's coast (2Ch 2:16). From there, they were hauled c 35 mi over land to Jerusalem. food for my household. Cf 4:7. Agricultural trade rather than payment of tribute to Hiram.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 5:11 20,000 cors. Figures may seem exaggerated, but commentators have calculated that this amount could be harvested from c 12 acres (Kitchen, p 113).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 5:12 wisdom. See pp 775–78. treaty. Covenant. See p 127.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 5:13 drafted forced labor. Lit, "raised tribute" in the form of labor. Similar expression occurs in nonbiblical literature.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 5:15 burden-bearers. They and the stonecutters were remnants of Canaanite inhabitants whom Solomon reduced to permanent slave laborers. See note, Jsh 9:21.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 5:16 chief officers. Cf 2Ch 2:18 (3,600 "overseers"); 1Ki 9:23 (550 "who had charge of the people"); and 2Ch 8:10 (250). Variance results from different classifications of these groups.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 5:17 costly. Hbr "heavy" or "massive." Quarrying of such great stones, however, made them costly.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 5:18 Gebal. Seaport north of Sidon. Hiram sent these expert stonemasons to work with Solomon's builders in the limestone hill country (v 15) of Israel.

1 Kings—NOTE ON Ch 5 Solomon, whose name means "peace," prepares international treaties with Hiram of Tyre in order to build the temple. The Lord calls us to live in peace and to trade with others, even those who do not share our faith. Such peaceful relations are a blessing, but they are small when compared with the blessings of the holy temple. Though Solomon's temple is no more, God hallows us as His holy temple in Baptism. He has brought us to a saving faith in Jesus. The Holy Spirit dwells within our hearts, and we daily strive to honor our gracious God in all we think, do, and say. • Holy Spirit, dwell within this heart of mine; strengthen my faith in Jesus, my Savior. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON Ch 6 Phoenician names for months are used in vv 1, 37–38, and in 8:2, showing the influence of Hiram's workers.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:1 he began. See "Sequence and Length of Events," p 339.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:2–38 See diagram, p 541.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:11 word of the LORD. Even before Solomon finished the temple (vv 9, 14; 9:1), God reminded him that there was no magical power that could impound Him within its walls. God would "dwell" in this house only for the purpose of blessing the king and people according to His covenant promises.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:12 statutes … rules … commandments. See p 971.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:13 I will dwell among. See "presence," p 843.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:15–22 The sketch of the structural components (vv 2–10) is followed by a description of a predominating interior feature: the exclusive use of wood, ornamented often with gold, so that "no stone was seen" (vv 18). Cedar and cypress wood were used for lining floors and walls, for carved ornamentations, and for making an incense altar that was overlaid with gold (v 20).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:16 cedar. Scent must have been outstanding. Most Holy Place. See note, v 20.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:18 carved in the form of gourds and open flowers. See note, Ex 20:4.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:20 The inner sanctuary, or Most Holy Place (v 16), was a cube of 20 cubits, or 30 ft. However, the overall height of the entire house was 30 cubits, or 45 ft. Hence, either the ceiling of the house was lowered to the floor or the sanctuary was raised 10 cubits, or 15 ft. an altar. For incense, which apparently stood close to or partially in the Most Holy Place. See note, Ex 30:1.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:21 chains. Mentioned only here, these golden chains perhaps served as drawstrings on the veil that separated the inner sanctuary from the Holy Place (2Ch 3:14; Ex 26:31–34).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:22 overlaid the whole … altar. See note, v 20.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:23 cherubim. See note, Ezk 10:1. "Facing the nave" (2Ch 3:13), they stretched their wings across the entire 20-cubit width of the inner sanctuary's innermost or western wall. See diagram, p 541. On the mercy seat of the ark, two more golden cherubim faced each other (Ex 25:20).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:24 On the use of images, see p 141.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:29 the walls. Wooden walls were ornamented with a frieze of carved figures; the wooden floor was overlaid with gold. carved engraved figures. See note, Ex 20:4. palm trees. Favorite artistic motif, coupled with cherubim in Israelite temples (6:32, 35; Ezk 41:18–20).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:31 doors. One giving "entrance to the inner sanctuary" and the other "to the nave" (v 33). The latter had the ordinary form of a square. The former, rectangular at bottom and triangular at the top, had the shape of a pentagon.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:32 carvings. See note, Ex 20:4.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:35 cherubim and palm trees. See note, v 29.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:36 inner court. For the walls of the open-air court, situated immediately before the roofed buildings, wood was used only in part.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 6:37–38 Ziv. Also called the second month (Nu 9:11); corresponds to our Apr/May. Bul. Eighth month, or Oct/Nov. seven years. Rounded figure that does not take into account the half years between Ziv and Bul. See calendar, p 262.
1 Kings—NOTE ON Ch 6 Specific dates (e.g., 480 years after the Israelites came out of Egypt), measurements (60 cubits long), and descriptions (cherubim of olivewood) lend gravity to this description of the seven years it takes to build the temple. With what care and dedication Solomon builds! The Lord calls us to show equal concern for the house of worship in which we gather. It is, after all, a reflection of our devotion to the Lord, His Word, and His work. His dedication to us appeared in Solomon's descendant Jesus, whose body as a holy temple secured our salvation. • Lord of hosts, forgive our sins, and enable us to serve You and work with our neighbors. Through Jesus' name. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:1 It took Solomon twice as long to build his royal edifices as it did to complete the temple (6:38). One house was considerably longer and wider than the house of the Lord (see note, v 2). However, only 12 verses are devoted to Solomon's palace (vv 1–12). From the available data, it is impossible to gain a clear picture of the architectural features and specific function of these buildings. The descriptions illustrate the splendor of Solomon's reign.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:2–7 House of the Forest of Lebanon … Hall of Pillars … Hall of the Throne. Individual structures in the royal building complex were named in part according to their basic features and in part according to their purpose.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:2 Forest of Lebanon. This was 60 ft longer and 45 ft wider than the temple; it required so much cedar wood for its construction as to make it a veritable forest. It served as an armory (10:17).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:3 the chambers. May have been three floors.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:6 Hall of Pillars. Characteristic feature of the second edifice was its colonnaded pillars.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:7 Hall of the Throne. In the third structure, Solomon set up his throne, from which he rendered judgments. Cf 10:20.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:8 like workmanship. Solomon's own royal residence and the palace for Pharaoh's daughter were similar to the Hall of the Throne. Pharaoh's daughter. In this political marriage (see note, 3:1–2), she may have required unique accommodations and dignity.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:9 coping. The covering course of stones at the top of a wall. great court. Likely surrounded all the buildings erected by Solomon, including the temple complex with its smaller "inner court" (v 12).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:1–12 Solomon's house takes almost twice as long to build (13 years) as does the temple, an ominous foreshadowing of Solomon's shifting priorities. Too often, we neglect the things of God in favor of personal interests. Though the Lord would not have us ignore our home and comforts, He bids us to use all we have for the glory of His name, dedicating ourselves and all to the Architect of heaven. May God for Jesus' sake refocus our attention on spiritual matters and glorify the great gift of salvation among us! • Triune God, we come to You for forgiveness and renewal in Christ. May we praise Your name in all we do and say. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:13–51 After describing the temple's structural features (6:1–10) and its wooden interior (6:14–36), the account now lists its furnishings and vessels of bronze (7:13–47) and gold (vv 48–50).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:13 Hiram. Not the king of Lebanon (cf 5:1). Tyre. See note, 5:1.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:14 son of a widow of the tribe of Naphtali. Cf 2Ch 2:14. The mother's first husband was from Naphtali; when he died, she married a man from Tyre. worker in bronze. Solomon commissioned a half-Tyrian to do the castings. His name, like the king's, was Hiram (cf 2Ch 2:7, 13–14). all his work. He produced two massive pillars (vv 15–22); a large reservoir (vv 23–26); 10 lavers, or basins (vv 27–39); and many smaller items (vv 40–45). To this list, 2Ch 4:1 adds the great "altar of bronze."

1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:15 two pillars. See diagram, p 672.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:16 capitals. Crowns that top pillars.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:18 pomegranates. Near-Eastern fruit; also a symbol of fruitfulness. A pomegranate carved from ivory, which may have been part of the temple decorations, was discovered in Israel with the inscription, "Holy of the priests, to the h[ouse of Yahwe]h." Pomegranates were commonly depicted in Israelite and regional artifacts. See note, Sg 4:3.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:19 lily-work. Shaped like lilies.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:21 Jachin … Boaz. Name of first pillar is a verb, meaning "He [God] will establish." Boaz is a prepositional phrase plus a noun: "in Him [is] strength." It is also possible that both names were read as one sentence: "He will establish in strength." See pp 422–23. The entrance to the Holy Place was "oriented," i.e., it faced east, toward the sunrise, as had the tabernacle (Ex 27:12–15). Sunrise and sunset determined the beginning and ending of the Sabbath and the hours of sacrifice. See pp 200–201.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:23 the sea of cast metal. A reservoir so large that it was called a sea, a term applied to no other water basin. The Hbr always includes the definite article because it served a unique purpose (2Ch 4:6). If the dimensions are meant to be exact (circumference, 45 ft; diameter, 15 ft; depth, 7½ ft), it was rounded or slightly oblong, with bulging or convex sides. See depiction on p 730.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:26 two thousand baths. C 12,000 gal. (2Ch 4:5 reports the number as 3,000.)
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:27 ten stands. More complicated in design than the stationary sea were the 10 movable basins, or lavers, in which the water was wheeled in order to make it available to "rinse off what was used for the burnt offering" (2Ch 4:6). Though the description is surprisingly detailed, it is difficult to reconstruct an exact model. The author demonstrates a personal fascination with these mechanisms.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:29–36 lions, oxen, and cherubim … wreaths … palm trees. Low relief. The changing patterns are not explained.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:38 forty baths. C 240 gal. See p cx.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:40–44 In listing all the items of bronze made by Hiram, the three major castings (pillars, sea, lavers) are repeated.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:40 shovels. Iron examples were discovered at the worship complex in Dan. See note, 12:29.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:43 stands … basins. See note, v 27.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:46 plain of the Jordan. Molds for the castings were made of Jordan Valley clay, which was best suited for that purpose. Succoth. Transjordanian town. See color map 1. Zarethan. Spelled Zeredah in 2Ch 4:17. Site not determined.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:48–50 Temple's rich and beautiful decoration is a paradigm for the use of artwork in places of worship throughout the ages.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:48 Solomon made. Solomon receives the credit, having funded the work. the vessels. Much of the wooden interior of the temple was overlaid with gold (6:14–36). These objects were made entirely of the precious metal. the golden altar. For the burning of incense. for the bread of the Presence. Cf Ex 25:23.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:51 David … dedicated. Cf 1Ch 22:14. the treasuries. Royal support for priestly services. See notes, 1Ch 26:20–28; 27:25.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 7:13–51 The inspired account details the temple's furnishings, indicating the care given to honor this beautiful place of worship. Solomon's magnificent temple with its furnishings, especially those relating to the sacrificial system, point to the coming Savior. Through Jesus' blood and merit, all our sins are washed away. Through the Savior's long-promised sacrifice, forgiveness, life, and eternal salvation are ours. Thanks be to God! • Savior of the nations, dwell in my heart, and make it a temple set apart for loving service to You. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON Ch 8 After Solomon brought the ark of the covenant into the finished temple from the city of David (2Sm 6:16) and all the holy vessels were in place (1Ki 8:1–11), the rites of dedication began with a hymn of adoration (vv 12–13), followed by a blessing and an address (vv 14–21), a prayer of dedication (vv 22–53), a benediction and admonition (vv 54–61), and dedicatory offerings (vv 62–64).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:2 the feast. Solomon waited 11 months after the completion of the temple to dedicate it. As an appropriate time for the solemnities, he chose the Feast of Booths, which began on the 15th of Ethanim, the seventh month, also called Tishri. See pp 200–201. Ethanim. See calendar, p 262.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:5 sacrificing. See pp 170–71.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:6 cherubim. See note, Ezk 10:1.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:7–8 poles. Used in carrying the ark (Ex 25:10–15). We do not know the significance of the poles protruding from the Holy Place.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:8 to this day. The Books of Kings were composed after the temple had been destroyed (see pp 526–27). This note reflects the time of the source that the writer of 1Ki consulted.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:9 nothing … except. We are not told how or when the other articles associated with the ark were lost or removed (cf Ex 16:33–34; Nu 17:10).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:10 cloud. God showed His presence in a visible way (cf Ex 19:9). See p 39.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:11 not stand. They had to withdraw. the glory of the LORD. Cf Ex 20:21; 40:3, 34–35; Nu 11:25; 12:5.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:1–11 When the Levites bring the ark of the covenant to Jerusalem, the cloud filling the Lord's house is nothing less than God's awesome presence—His glory. God's presence reminds us of our unworthiness before Him. Yet it also announces His hallowing presence among us to cleanse us in His Son, Jesus. • Lord, I thank You for having shown Your glory, not only by Your presence in the temple of Jerusalem, but also especially in the person of Your Son, the Savior. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:12 dwell in thick darkness. See note, Ex 20:21. Unapproachable in His holiness, beyond comprehension by His finite creatures, the Creator nevertheless permitted Solomon to build a house for Him, where He made Himself accessible to every covenant-keeping worshiper. Lest the Israelites forget that the "inscrutable" Lord (Rm 11:33–36) cannot be manipulated or made to conform to their thoughts, He dwelt invisibly in the windowless Most Holy Place, "in the cloud over the mercy seat" (Lv 16:2).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:13 Solomon reminded the people that he built the temple according to the Lord's instruction and promise (vv 14–21).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:14 stood. To receive the blessing. See p 1277.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:15 Blessed. See p 842. fulfilled. See note, 2Sm 7:11.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:16 I chose no city. See p 495.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:18 My name. Cf Ex 6:3; see p 843. In the temple, the Lord who dwells in darkness chose to reveal Himself in accord with the covenant made when He brought the fathers "out of the land of Egypt" (v 21).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:20 name. See p 843.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:21 the covenant. The Ten Commandments were placed in the ark.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:12–21 Solomon recalls how the Lord had graciously kept His promises to His people. We, too, can look to the certainty of His promises. They declare God's Law (promises to punish sin and disobedience) and His Gospel (promises of deliverance, mercy, and forgiveness in Christ). • Lord God, heavenly Father, I come before You with a deep sense of unworthiness, yet I also trust fully in Your gracious promises of forgiveness in Jesus. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:22 before the altar. Solomon approaches the altar as a priest might. See note, 2Ch 6:3. spread out his hands. See p 1277.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:23 God of Israel. See p 1227.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:24 spoke … fulfilled. See note, 2Sm 7:11.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:25 walk before me. See p 7.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:27 will God indeed dwell on the earth? See "presence," p 843; see also p 39. contain. Solomon's entire prayer (vv 22–53) emphasizes the fact that the former sanctuary (the tabernacle) was neither adequate nor stationary (cf Ac 7:44–50). When God's Spirit dwells in people's hearts, they become God's temple in all circumstances of life (1Co 3:16; 6:19). Luth: "Christians make up the holy dwelling place of God in the New Testament, where God is no longer confined to cities and buildings…. These Christians are sanctified far more perfectly than Solomon's temple, sanctified with the Holy Spirit Himself, and anointed with the living oil of God's grace" (AE 13:37).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:28 have regard. Listen and answer.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:29 My name shall be there. See "name," p 843.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:30 this place … dwelling place. Distinction between God's presence in "this place" and His "dwelling place" in heaven, where He hears prayers, is a refrain repeated in all eight requests for divine aid (vv 30, 32, 34, 36, 39, 43, 45, 49). forgive. Prayer implies confession of sins. Our foremost need for forgiveness is mentioned in almost every petition (vv 30, 34, 36, 39, 50).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:31–53 Refers to troubles listed in the Law of Moses. Solomon lists seven specific needs for help: (1) vindicate the righteous (vv 31–32); (2) forgive a chastened people (vv 33–34); (3) send rain (vv 35–36); (4) relieve bodily ills (vv 37–40); (5) regard the foreigner (vv 41–43); (6) help in time of war (vv 44–45); (7) restore the exiled people (vv 46–53).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:31–32 Cf Ex 22:7–12.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:31 oath. See p 7.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:32 righteous … righteousness. See p 843.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:34 See note, v 30.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:36 See note, v 30. teach. See note, Pr 1:8.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:38 stretching out his hands. Lit, "he will spread out his palms to this house." See note, Ex 17:12; see also p 1277.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:39 See note, v 30.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:43 See note, v 30. all the peoples of the earth. Salvation is to extend to the Gentiles. fear you. See p 1001.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:44 toward. Prayers were oriented toward the temple as God's dwelling place.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:45 See note, v 30.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:46 no one who does not sin. Remarkable emphasis on original sin and depravity in this prayer. See note, Ps 51:5. captive. The threat of exile was part of the covenant stipulation (Lv 26:27–39; Dt 4:27).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:47 turn their heart … repent. See p 1080.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:48 all … all. See note, Dt 6:5. toward their land. As Daniel (Dn 6:10).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:49 See note, v 30.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:50 forgive. See note, v 30. compassion. To send them home. See "mercy," pp 842–43.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:51 heritage. See p 7. from … iron furnace. Israel's rescue from exile will in effect repeat their deliverance "out of Egypt."
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:53 heritage. See p 7.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:22–53 Solomon's lengthy prayer at the temple's dedication is a model of devotion to God and reliance on the Lord. Although God dwells in heaven, He has chosen to come and bless His people with His presence. God recognizes our weakness; in Solomon's words, "there is no one who does not sin" (v 46). God also mercifully hears our prayers for help, comes to us, and delivers us by His great power and love. • Merciful Father, You have chosen to come among us and bless us with the priceless gifts of faith, hope, and love. For this we thank and praise You. In Jesus' name. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:54 knelt. Either at once or sometime during the prayer (cf v 22; see p 1276).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:55 blessed. See p 842.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:58 incline our hearts to Him. Expression of loyalty. Verb describes extending toward something, as the tipping of a pitcher. ways … commandments … statutes … rules. See p 971.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:59 near to the LORD our God. Solomon speaks as though he deposited his prayer on record with the Lord at the temple. day and night. Always. Sacrifice and prayers were offered morning and evening.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:60 Note how Solomon unites his statements about confession and mission. Truth and outreach support each other. no other. See note, Dt 32:39.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:61 wholly true. Hbr shalem, "uninjured," "at peace." Root word for peace sounds similar to the name Solomon. See note, 1Ch 22:9.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:54–61 Solomon turns to bless the people, recalling God's gracious help in the past and His greatness: "the LORD is God; there is no other" (v 60). Like Solomon, we have every reason to bless the Lord. We dedicate ourselves so that our hearts may "be wholly true to the LORD our God" (v 61) and that we may share the Good News of Jesus "that all the peoples of the earth may know" the Lord (v 60). For He has forgiven and renewed us by grace. • Triune God—Father, Son, and Holy Spirit—there is none like You. Lead me always to honor You with all I do and say. I pray in Your saving name. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:62–64 sacrifice. Offerings proclaimed by symbolic action what Solomon had expressed in words. peace offerings … burnt offering … grain offering. See pp 170–71. Some critics suggest that scribes may have exaggerated the number of oxen and sheep (v 63) while recopying the text. Yet the large number of people at the 14-day ceremonies makes the figures plausible.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:65 the feast. Booths. See pp 200–201. seven days. "On the eighth day" (v 66) of the Feast of Booths, which followed the dedication festivities, Solomon dismissed the people. They came from as far northeast as Lebo-hamath, the valley between the two Lebanon ranges, and from as far southwest as the Brook of Egypt, the boundary of Judah's territory (cf Nu 34:3; Jsh 15:1).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 8:62–66 The solemn dedication of the temple ends with the awesome sacrifice of thousands of animals and with a feast celebrated by the entire nation of Israel. The thousands of sacrifices at the temple prefigure the one sacrifice when Jesus Christ, the great High Priest, offered His life for the sins of the world. We offer our lives as living sacrifices for our Lord and Savior, having received the priceless gift of salvation through Him. • Loving Savior, thousand, thousand thanks are Yours for the great sacrifice You made on the cross for the sins of the world. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:1–9 The Lord appears to Solomon to make clear that the terms of the covenant applied also to the temple. Its stone and wood would not automatically guarantee the permanency of its builder's dynasty or magically ensure the nation's safety. The temple would "become a heap of ruins" (v 8) if it no longer was the place where the chosen kingdom of priests expressed their undivided devotion to the Lord. King and people would be cut off from the land (v 7) if they thought that the habitation of God's name made them immune to sin's consequences (Jer 7:1–4; 22:8).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:2 appeared to Solomon a second time. Cf 3:4–15. Gibeon. C 6 mi NW of Jerusalem. See color map 1.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:3 forever. Hbr term denotes a long, unknown time; eventually, the temple was destroyed by the Babylonians in 587 BC. Cf Ezk 10.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:6 serve other gods. Emphasizing the First Commandment (Ex 20:3).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:7 cut off. See note, Gn 17:14. God's judgment would include the destruction of Jerusalem and the temple. byword. See note, Jb 17:6.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:8 they. Foreigners settling the land. See notes, 2Ki 17:24, 26.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:9 Because … Therefore. In God's dwelling with His people, there is in His Law a relentless logic of cause and effect. The Law in all of Scripture describes God's reaction to people's sinful response to Him. This reasoning is basic in the preaching of the prophets (e.g., Amos). Jesus applied the same reasoning to Jerusalem and the temple of His day when He predicted their destruction (Mt 23:37–24:2; cf Gal 6:7–8).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:1–9 God appears to Solomon a second time to emphasize the promises and the demands of the covenant with David's house. God's promises of blessing and threats of powerful judgment proclaim the Law and the Gospel. The Law and Gospel still apply to us today. The Law calls us to repentance and faithfulness; the Gospel calls us to true faith, blessing, and comfort for now and for eternity. • Lord, keep us from turning away from You and from bringing judgment upon ourselves. Forgive our sins, renew us, and strengthen us for a life of service. In the Savior's name. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:11 Hiram. See note, 5:1. twenty cities. Solomon was able to pay for Phoenician timber with wheat and oil (5:10–11). But he reimbursed Hiram for "120 talents of gold" (millions of dollars; v 14) by pawning 20 Israelite cities that were later redeemed (2Ch 8:1–2).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:12 Hiram … Tyre. See note, 5:1.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:13 Cabul. "Unproductive land." Hiram may have been haggling to profess dissatisfaction with the exchange value of the cities.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:15 forced labor. For the temple, his royal edifices, and walls of his capital. See note, 4:6. They were also used to fortify strategically located cities (v 19). Megiddo. Stables have been found at various excavated levels. See map, p 534. Archaeologists agree that remains at Hazor, Megiddo, Gezer, and other nearby locations are examples of Solomonic architecture.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:16–17 At the mention of Gezer, the account is interrupted in order to report how this city, c 20 mi NW of Jerusalem, came into Solomon's possession.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:16 Pharaoh. Possibly Siamun (c 979–959 BC).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:17 Gezer. Six-chambered gates have been discovered here, including benches and a drainage system. Beth-horon. C 12 mi NW of Jerusalem, it guarded an important road from the plain of the Great Sea into the hill country of Judah. See map, p 534.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:18 Baalath. Apparently the city by that name assigned to the tribe of Dan (Jsh 19:44). It controlled another approach into Judah almost directly west of Jerusalem. Tamar. Hbr text note has "Tadmor" (cf 2Ch 8:4), a city 150 mi NE of Damascus and later known as Palmyra. Tamar—which may be the better reading—was southwest of the Salt Sea (Ezk 47:19; 48:28).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:19 store cities. Grain reserves. Cf Ex 1:11.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:21 devote to destruction. See p 6. slaves. Cf Jsh 9:27. to this day. Exact conditions did not likely exist c 560 BC, when 1Ki was compiled. See note, 12:19.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:22 no slaves. The Israelites' service was a levy, or form of taxation. See note, 5:13. Some of them became officials of various kinds.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:23 chief officers. See note, 5:16.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:24–25 own house. In connection with Solomon's building operations, this short aside tells of Pharaoh's daughter's transfer from temporary quarters in the city of David to her own house, which Solomon completed before he built the Millo, and Solomon's sacrifice in the finished temple.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:25 Three times. On the occasion of the three important annual feasts: Feast of Unleavened Bread, Feast of Harvest, Feast of Ingathering (Booths; Ex 23:14–17).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:26–27 With the help of Hiram's experienced Phoenician seamen, Solomon engaged in maritime enterprises on the Red Sea, to which he had access through the land of Edom, a vassal state. From the northern end of the Gulf of Aqaba, the fleet of merchant ships sailed to Ophir (v 28).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:28 Ophir. Source of gold and other valuables (10:11–12). See note, Jb 22:24. Gold is rarely found in ancient Israelite sites, having been used as tribute to greater powers (Egypt, Assyria, and Babylon). 420 talents. C 16 tons.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 9:10–28 Hiram feels cheated in his agreement with Solomon, and the king's glorious building projects include forced labor. The record of Solomon's acts are a mixture of faithful service to God and sinful greed and self-service. Our lives, too, are a record of sin along with our attempts to serve the Lord. That is why we daily need renewal at the cross of Jesus, in whom we are a new creation, dedicated to godly service. • Lord of the nations, teach us to place our trust not in earthly governments and rulers, but in Your perfect power and love. In Jesus' name. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:1 queen of Sheba … came. From southwest Arabia (Yemen) to Jerusalem, a distance of more than 1,000 mi. Sheba. Homeland of the Sabeans in southern Arabia and nearby Ethiopia. test. Hbr is translated "riddle" in Jgs 14:12.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:5 no more breath. Speechless.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:8 Happy. See "blessed," p 842.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:9 Blessed. See "bless," p 842. the LORD. The queen attributed Solomon's wisdom and prosperity to Israel's God, referring to Him by His own distinctive name, as did Hiram (see note, 5:7). See p 1227. justice and righteousness. See p 842.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:10 she gave … spices. Very likely the exchange served to ratify a trade agreement, perhaps the spice trade.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:11 Ophir. See note, Jb 22:24. almug. Unidentified tree. Hbr name is not translated but merely transliterated. Some think it was reddish and fragrant sandalwood. In 2Ch 2:8; 9:10, the variant form "algum" occurs, suggesting that it was not a Hbr term but a foreign one.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:12 supports. Hbr word, which occurs only here, is singular. It could denote a decorative railing or inlaid paneling.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:13 gave … all that she desired. See note, v 10.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:1–13 The queen of Sheba's legendary visit to Jerusalem shows the widespread fame of Solomon's wisdom. Not only does God bless Solomon with great wisdom, but He also blesses him with a great reputation. May we humbly recognize that the blessings we enjoy—including earthly prosperity and a good name—come to us by God's undeserved grace in His Son, Jesus. • Everlasting King, teach me to lean not on my own understanding but on the wisdom that abounds in Your Holy Word. For the sake of Jesus, God's very wisdom, we pray. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:14–25 Solomon's wealth required two additional notes to elaborate on his source of income and his lavish use of gold (vv 14–22) and to explain the acclaim that his riches and wisdom brought him from "the whole earth" (vv 23–25).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:14 666 talents. C 25 tons.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:15 explorers. Intriguing reference to Israel's curiosity and entrepreneurship. kings of the west. The Phoenicians were trading as far west as Spain, and Israelite traders may have joined such ventures.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:17 shields. Hbr word is different from the one used in v 16. Shields apparently were carried by a royal honor guard on ceremonial occasions (cf 14:27–28). C 6 lb of gold went into the larger kind (v 16); c 2 lb into the smaller ones. House of the Forest of Lebanon. See note, 7:2.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:18 ivory throne. Probably inlaid with plaques of ivory, as was Ahab's house (22:39).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:20 Perhaps similar to King Tutankhamun's lion-throne.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:22 ships of Tarshish. Likely, ships large enough to sail to Tartessus in Spain (see note, Jnh 1:3). However, the word "Tarshish" may be a common noun denoting the smelting of ore, in which case the name would mean they were capable of carrying a heavy cargo of ore or they sailed to ports where ore was exported.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:25 his present. Likely a tribute payment.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:26 chariots. Units were strategically located in "chariot cities" (see notes, 4:26; 9:15). Large stable complexes, excavated at Megiddo, could accommodate hundreds of horses.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:27 Solomon had the resources to acquire and maintain his chariot divisions. sycamore of the Shephelah. Great trees in the foothills going down to the plains of Philistia. See color map 2.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:28 Details of this horse trade are unclear. Sitting astride the north-south trade routes, Solomon likely acted as the middleman in profitable transactions between Egypt and Kue in Asia Minor.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:29 exported to all the kings. Solomon's horse traders extended their business. Hittites. Indo-European people of mountainous region of southeastern Asia Minor (Anatolia). Syria. Country northeast of Israel. See map, p 558. Solomon's "delight … in the strength of the horse" (Ps 147:10) violated the divine prescription that the king was not to have "many horses" (Dt 17:16).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 10:14–29 Solomon's fabulous wealth matches his great wisdom; he "excelled all the kings of the earth in riches and in wisdom" (v 23). We often complain about not having enough of this world's goods, yet God daily and richly forgives us and continues to shower material blessings upon us. How great is His undeserved goodness! Such is His great love toward us in Christ—becoming poor, that we might be rich. • Almighty Lord, Ruler of earth and sea, all things on earth are Yours. We praise You for Your all-surpassing greatness. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:1 foreign women. Solomon enacted marriage alliances with virtually all the surrounding states, longtime rivals of Israel. See note, 3:1–2.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:2 not enter into marriage. Cf Dt 7:3–4; Jsh 23:6–13. in love. Solomon followed the desires of his heart rather than God's Word forbidding intermarriage with foreign women.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:3 700 wives. Large harem indicates the splendor of Solomon's court, not merely his sexual excesses. His wives, who outnumbered his concubines, were princesses acquired out of political considerations. On polygamy, see note, Gn 4:19; see also pp 54–55.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:4 turned away. Gifts of God, such as wisdom and riches, are not a guarantee that their recipient will use them to glorify the Giver. Solomon demonstrated how irrational human wickedness is. The more generously God showered Solomon with wisdom and riches, the greater became his temptation to turn to other gods. (Cf Mt 19:23.) Because Solomon followed the gods of his wives, the Lord allowed his empire to disintegrate and the nation to divide. Cf Lk 12:21; Rm 1:18.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:5 Ashtoreth. See notes, Ex 34:13; Est 2:7. Milcom. Ammonite idol; also called "Molech." See note, Lv 18:21.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:7 Chemosh. Before entering Canaan, Israel defeated the "people of Chemosh" (Nu 21:29), who sacrificed children to their national idol (2Ki 3:27). mountain east. Hill outside the walls of Jerusalem.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:1–8 The great tragedy of Solomon's reign is that, having married many foreign women and taken hundreds of concubines, he turns from the Lord to worship his wives' idols. The tragic fall of Solomon is a warning to believers throughout all ages. If someone so wise and good as Solomon can turn from the Lord, how easily the same thing can happen to us! With a deep sense of humility, we say, "There but for the grace of God go I." Thanks be to God that He blesses us with faithful spouses and dear families hallowed by His grace. • Lord Jesus, Savior dear, be my guide through life, lest I lose the way. Be my hope and comfort also in the hour of death. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:10 not go after other gods. See note, Dt 32:39.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:11 give it to your servant. Irony. The servants Solomon exploited would inherit the kingdom.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:12 for the sake of David your father. See note, 2Sm 7:14–17. your son. Rehoboam precipitated the kingdom's division. Under his rule, Judah "committed [abominations], more than all that their fathers had done" (14:22).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:14–22 Flashback to David's military campaigns and their effect on Solomon.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:14 Hadad. Escaped a punitive campaign directed by Joab and Abishai (2Sm 8:13; 1Ch 18:12). Edom. Country neighboring Israel, south of Moab. See map, p 558.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:15–16 Cf 2Sm 8:13–14.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:18 Midian. East of the Gulf of Aqaba and south of Israel. Paran. Eastern side of the Sinai Peninsula. See color map 3.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:19 sister of Tahpenes. Egypt's prestige had ebbed low by this time. In better days, foreign rulers found it politically expedient to send their noblewomen to the court on the Nile. Now, Pharaoh gave his sister-in-law in marriage to a fugitive prince (cf note, v 40).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:21 After David's death (970 BC), Hadad returned to his homeland for the purpose of "doing harm" (v 25), very likely by engaging in guerrilla warfare against Solomon.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:23 Rezon. When David crushed King Hadadezer's power (2Sm 8:3–12; 10:16–19), the latter's vassal succeeded in making Damascus an independent capital. Under Rezon and his successors, the Syrian state perennially threatened Israel until, two centuries later, the Assyrians overpowered both Syria and Israel. Zobah. City-state located north of Damascus and controlling eastern Syria. See map, p 534.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:25 reigned over Syria. Cf 10:29 regarding Syria's military strength.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:26 Jeroboam … lifted up. He capitalized on the general discontent with Solomon's demand for forced labor and brought about the secession of the north. Zeredah. A town in Ephraim, probably c 20 mi NE of Jerusalem.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:28 the house of Joseph. Common name for the Northern Kingdom because Ephraim and Manasseh were the two most powerful tribes of the 10 that revolted (cf Ezk 37:16, 19; Am 5:15).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:29 Ahijah. Perhaps through him the Lord told Solomon (v 11) the consequences of the king's unfaithfulness. new garment. Symbolizing the newness of the kingdom.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:30–31 By a symbolic act, Ahijah revealed how the kingdom would be divided.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:32 one tribe. Jeroboam was to receive 10 tribes. Rehoboam was to rule over only one tribe (the small tribe of Benjamin)

besides his own tribe of Judah. Benjamin and the tribe of Simeon were virtually absorbed by Judah. The Levites had received no territory. See note, Jsh 14:4.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:33 they have forsaken Me. The prophet describes the reason for Judah's punishment and offers no solution to their dilemma. Ashtoreth … Chemosh … Milcom. See notes, vv 5, 7; Ex 34:13; Nu 21:29.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:34 ruler. Cf 1Sm 10:1.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:36 a lamp. Figurative expression for David's family line.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:38 I will be with you. See p 5. build you a sure house. The Lord makes a new covenant with Jeroboam regarding the northern tribes. He calls Jeroboam to restore the use of God's Word among them. Unlike the covenant with David, there is no promise of a messianic King.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:39 not forever. Never again mighty in the political domain, the house of David maintained its identity until One "greater than Solomon" came out of it (cf Lk 2:4; 11:31).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:40 Solomon sought therefore to kill Jeroboam. Either Ahijah's prophecy became known or Solomon noticed subversive efforts by his once-favored servant (v 28). Shishak. First Pharaoh mentioned by name in the OT. Known in Egyptian records as Shoshenq I, he founded the weak Twenty-second (Libyan) Dynasty c 945 BC. After Solomon's death, he invaded Judah and Israel (14:25–26). death of Solomon. 931 BC.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:41 Book of the Acts of Solomon? See p 335–37.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:42 forty years. The years during which Solomon was associated with his father may be included in this figure (see note, 1:53).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:43 See note, 2:10.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 11:9–43 The closing years of Solomon's reign are troubled as the Lord foretells the division of the kingdom and raises up adversaries to Solomon (e.g., Jeroboam). We dare never take God's grace lightly, thinking we can sin without consequences. May God the Holy Spirit always keep us focused on our Savior through Word and Sacraments. Jesus did not take us for granted; He saved us with precious grace. • Blest Savior dear, be always near. Keep me from evil, harm, and fear. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:1–20 Predicted division of the kingdom became reality when negotiations with Solomon's son Rehoboam proved futile (v 16). At Shechem, the 10 northern tribes, henceforth called "Israel," severed political ties with Judah, electing Jeroboam to be their king (v 20). Until the Northern Kingdom was overrun by the Assyrians two centuries later, Israel remained a house divided against itself. With the exception of an interlude of about three decades, the separated brethren were so hostile to one another that they engaged in civil war. At times, they even sought and obtained foreign military aid against one another.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:1 Shechem. Chief city of Ephraim, c 30 mi N of Jerusalem, where Joshua made a covenant with "all the tribes of Israel" (Jsh 24:1). Nearby were Mount Ebal and Mount Gerizim (Jsh 8:30–33). See map, p 558.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:3 assembly of Israel. See "great congregation," p 842.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:4 yoke heavy. See notes, 4:6; 5:13.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:6 took counsel. Monarchy depended on the tribal leaders' support. Rehoboam negotiated with "all the assembly of Israel" (v 3) for his succession to the throne. Cf 1Sm 11:14–15; 2Sm 5:1–3 for Saul's and David's popular acclamation. old men. Elders were the preferred counselors. See note, Ex 3:16.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:7 be a servant … serve them. Elders do not explicitly tell him to give people what they request, but they suggest that he look out for the people's best interest.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:8 young men. Apparently, Rehoboam had given administrative positions to his young friends. In deliberating on the request to lighten the yoke given by his father, Rehoboam received opposite advice from two groups of counselors (vv 6–11).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:11 scorpions. Scourges, named after a dreaded animal. They may have had many lashes, each carrying a piece of metal at its end.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:15 the king did not listen to the people. Though Israel was not democratic, political power lay in the hands of tribal representatives who listened to the clans and families they served. turn of affairs. Though unseen and often uninvited, the Lord of the nations still is present at councils on all levels of diplomacy. His "hand is not shortened" in directing the world's history (Is 59:1; 50:2; Nu 11:23). brought about by the LORD. Though God did not make Rehoboam and his followers do evil, their actions brought on the judgment God had pronounced on Solomon's house (1Ki 11:29–39). Chem: "Just as God bound the devil 'with chains of darkness,' 2 Peter 2:4, and treated him like a mad dog, … pulling him back or turning him in another direction; so He hinders many choices and decisions of the ungodly. He changes many of their plans and upsets them. He sets limits to their attempts and turns them elsewhere either for the sake of the church or that they may find deliverance for themselves" (LTh 1:200).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:1–15 Solomon's son Rehoboam foolishly alienates many of the people by laying on them a heavier burden of hard labor than his father had. Rehoboam's arrogance is a warning. When we shut our minds and hearts to the advice of others—and especially to God's inspired Word—we invite disaster. Our greatest asset in life's struggle is God's Word for wisdom, forgiveness, and renewal in Christ. • Mighty Judge, we come before You with deep awe. Spare us unworthy sinners from the judgment we so justly deserve. In our Savior's name we ask this. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:16 portion. See p 7. To your tents. Shout of rebellion, raised by Israel at David's time. Cf 1Sm 11:8; 2Sm 2:8–10 for examples of long-standing differences between the northern tribes and Judah. Luth: "Rehoboam … ruined everything, and his kingdom was cut into two parts. But this does not happen only in external and political affairs … but also in religion and in the Word of God. The descendants always neglect the purity of the doctrine handed down to them by the fathers and look for something new. This is what is now being done by those who, after the Gospel has once more become known, are not content with the purity of faith and the doctrine of the Gospel but are stirring up new controversies" (AE 15:43).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:17 people of Israel … in … Judah. People from the northern tribes had settled in Judah.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:18 Adoram. Rehoboam flaunted his authority before the people by sending to them the very man to whose office they objected so vehemently (2Sm 20:24). Spelled Hadoram in 2Ch 10:18. forced labor. See note, 5:13. Given Israel's past slavery in Egypt, one can easily see why they rejected the continuing encroachment on their freedoms. all Israel stoned him. Hyperbole. Describes broad revulsion to Rehoboam's policy.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:19 to this day. Reference to author's source. The account of the rebellion was likely written while both kingdoms were in existence, prior to 722 BC, when the northern tribes became an Assyrian vassal state. See note, Jsh 4:9.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:20 Judah only. See note, 11:32. To learn how the Levites in the northern tribes were affected, see notes, v 31; 11:32.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:21 tribe of Benjamin. Most of Benjamin went with the northern tribes, but the region around Jerusalem remained under Rehoboam.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:22 Shemaiah the man of God. Prophets could act as counselors to the kings (e.g., Nathan in 1:22–27). See pp 1081–83.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:24 not … fight. Heir to his father's military power, Rehoboam may have been able to force Israel to submit. The "continual wars," mentioned in 2Ch 12:15, were more in the nature of border skirmishes. they listened. To their credit, Rehoboam and the people listened to Shemaiah, whose word prevailed among the king's counselors. The "word of the LORD" forbade Rehoboam to use force to try to restore the union.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:16–24 Rehoboam's foolish and sinful attitude divides the kingdom, making Jeroboam king of the northern tribes. When the leaders of the new Israel, the Church, turn from God's guidance, they invite calamity and ruin. The great Lord of history uses past examples to work repentance in us. He breaks into history, applying mercy through our gracious Savior. • Lord of heavenly hosts, You hold the nations as but dust upon the scales. I trust in Your almighty power. In the Savior's name, I bring before You all my needs. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:25 built Shechem. Jeroboam fortified the city (v 1). Penuel. On the Jabbok River, east of the Jordan (Gn 32:30–31; Jgs 8:8). See map, p 558.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:27 turn again. Jeroboam recognized the importance of religion in state affairs and hoped to curb the influence of the priests and Levites centered in Jerusalem.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:28 took counsel. Rather than consulting the Lord's prophet, Jeroboam likely received the counsel of those corrupted by false worship, which Solomon had tolerated. See notes, v 30; 3:1–2. "If people are allowed to set up religious rites, and through these rites merit grace, the religious rites of all the pagans will have to be approved…. The religious rites of the pagans and the Israelites were rejected for the very reason that they believed they merited forgiveness of sins and righteousness by these rites. Yet they did not know the righteousness of faith" (Ap XV 15–16). "It should be the first care of kings to advance God's glory. It would be very shameful for them to use their influence and power to confirm idolatry" (Tr 54). two calves. A small, bronze, bull figure (c 7 in long) was found in the northern Samarian hills. Behold your gods. Secession of the northern tribes severed religious as well as political ties. gods … who brought you up out of the land of Egypt. See notes, Ex 32:1–6. Jeroboam cleverly connected the theme of freedom from Egyptian slavery to the freedom from forced labor under Rehoboam. Luth: "So great is the perversity of the human heart that it accepts strange gods far more readily and eagerly than it maintains that this God, who has revealed Himself through His promises and signs, is truthful. How great a kindness it is that He has redeemed us through His Son!" (AE 4:146).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:29 Fearing that worship in Jerusalem would heal the breach, jeopardizing the entire movement and his own life, Jeroboam established two sanctuaries within the new state's borders. These new religious centers were where veneration of graven images flourished at the time of the judges (see note, Jgs 18:31). Bethel. Prominent OT center of worship in Ephraim's hill country. Dan. City along Israel's northern border. See map, p 558.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:30 this thing became a sin. Idol worship brought destruction of the house of Jeroboam (13:33–34) and eventually of the entire Northern Kingdom (14:16). His successors are condemned as having "walked in all the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat" (16:26). Cf 15:30; 16:7, 19.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:31 temples on high places. Local places of worship, which might have honored Yahweh, pagan deities, or both, now became state-approved sites—another step to decentralize worship. See p 526. priests from among all the people. Jeroboam undermined the authority of the Levites, who would have loyalties to their leaders in Jerusalem.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:32 feast. To wean the people from customary pilgrimages to Jerusalem, Jeroboam appointed a feast to be celebrated a month later than the Feast of Booths. he offered sacrifices. Jeroboam arrogated priestly functions to himself (13:1). he placed in Bethel the priests of the high places. Organizing and headquartering of the new priestly order. See note, v 28.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:33 devised from his own heart. See notes, Jgs 17:6; 21:25.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 12:25–33 Jeroboam sets up rival worship. By making golden calves and temples for the practice of idolatrous religion, he leads the people into sin. Today, we need to be aware of the subtle giving of our hearts to the idols of false religions, materialism, pleasure, and self-centeredness. The Lord turns us away from these traps and leads us to the worship of the true God, our Savior, who created the heavens and the earth.
• Lord of history, through the study of Your Holy Word enable us to learn all that You would teach us. Give us godly wisdom to avoid the errors of the past and follow what is good and right. In Jesus' name. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:1 man of God. Unnamed prophet from Judah. Prophets might come from any tribe and could act independently of the priests and Levites. Judah. Prominent tribe and central territory of Solomon's kingdom. Bethel. See note, 12:29.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:2 O altar, altar. Repetition signifies pity. Cf 2Sm 19:4. Josiah. Fulfillment of the prophecy 300 years later (2Ki 23:16) was a matter of record when 1 and 2Ki were written. human bones. Irony. Worship of some pagan gods (e.g., Molech) involved child sacrifice.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:4 dried up. Shriveled up in atrophy, becoming useless.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:5 torn down. Perhaps ordered by Jeroboam himself after the miraculous loss of his hand.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:6 Entreat now the favor. Not necessarily sincere repentance. See note, Ex 8:8. favor. See p 6.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:7 a reward. Gift that may have served as a bribe. Realizing the man was undeniably a true prophet, Jeroboam hoped to deal with him through kindness rather than force.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:8–9 commanded. No specific reason is given for the prohibition. Perhaps he was to avoid familiarity with idolatrous people. See note, v 22.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:1–10 A man of God from Judah confronts King Jeroboam. Following the example of the bold men and women of God in ancient times, we can proclaim God's Law as we speak out against sin. He gives us the healing Gospel of forgiveness in Jesus, which we share with all who are weighed down by sin and guilt. • Father in heaven, convicted of sin by Your Holy Law, I come to You for the sweet forgiveness promised in the Gospel of Jesus, Your Son, my Savior. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:11 old prophet. Residing in the city where a golden calf stood, but not raising his voice in protest against it, this old man might have been a prophet of Baal (18:40). We are not told why he tricked the man of God into disobedience (vv 11–19).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:15–17 neither will I eat. See note, vv 8–9.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:18 he lied. See note, v 11.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:20 The Lord spoke His judgment through the false prophet. See note, Nu 22:35.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:21 disobeyed. The fate of the man of God serves as a warning not to be misled by those claiming divine inspiration of a message that clearly contradicts God's revealed Word. Cf 1Sm 6:19; 2Sm 6:6–7 for the severity of the punishment.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:22 Eat no bread. Avoid fellowship and association with idolaters. Cf 1Co 10:14. not come to the tomb. The man of God would die far from his family's burial place, a great shame.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:23 after. The prophet apparently still ate after he heard the warning, when he might have called on the Lord in repentance. When you realize your sins, stop then and there! donkey. Possibly a generous gesture, if the prophet had been walking.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:24–25 Odd scene caused people to talk. lion. See note, 1Sm 17:37.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:28 had not eaten. Confirmation that this was God's doing, not just a lion hunting.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:30 Alas, my brother! Lying prophet expresses care for, respect of, and kinship with the disobedient prophet. Both were used by God, but both were unsuited to their calling.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:31 The old prophet sought to assure himself that his own corpse would not be desecrated (v 2; 2Ki 23:16). Humans bent on gaining some advantage do not hesitate to pursue their selfish course, even over the dead bodies of others.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:32 Samaria. By the time the prophecy against Bethel was fulfilled, Samaria, not Shechem (12:25), was the Northern Kingdom's capital. See map, p 558.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:33 not turn. Unrepentant. See "turn," p 1080. he ordained. Appointed, as though he were high priest. high places. See p 526.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 13:11–34 An old prophet leads a man of God into sin. Meanwhile, King Jeroboam "did not turn from his evil way" (v 33). The history of God's chosen people gives numerous examples of people hardening their hearts against the truth of God's Word. The Lord who calls us to faith must likewise keep us in the faith, which He does through daily repentance and His means of grace. • Omniscient God, You know my heart. Cleanse me from all deceit and self-righteousness. Fill me with faith and the righteousness that is mine in Jesus Christ. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:2 disguise yourself. Either Jeroboam thought he could hoodwink the prophet or he wanted to keep his wife's mission to a true prophet a secret. To add to the deception, she was not to take a costly reward for the prophet but only some food (cf 1Sm 9:7). Shiloh. Fewer than 10 mi N of Bethel, the Lord's tabernacle had stood here from Joshua's time to Samuel's time (1Sm 1:3; Jer 7:12). See p 495. May have continued as a site for faithful Israelites such as Ahijah, the prophet who foretold Jeroboam's rise to power (11:29–39).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:3 loaves … cakes. See p 236.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:9 evil above all. As king of Israel's northern tribes, Jeroboam had no predecessors. But he was not the first leader over the people of Israel who had provoked the Lord to anger by evil deeds (v 7). See notes, Jgs 2:11–15.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:10–11 A curse in violent and vile expressions. See p 6.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:10 cut off. See note, Gn 17:14. male. Lit, "one who urinates against a wall." See also note, Mi 7:10. burns up dung. As fuel. Cf Ezk 4:12.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:13 something pleasing to the LORD. Lit, "a good word to the LORD." Phrase appears in Ps 45:2 (Hbr) and Pr 12:25, describing gladness in both cases. Obscure expression describes the Lord's free mercy to this child, who alone would receive a proper funeral. The passage goes beyond human understanding, contradicting our sense of what's best. Somehow this child (even in his untimely death, by our expectations) is in God's good care. Parents who lose children may rightly find here comfort about their dear little ones, who are certainly known to the heavenly Father and cannot fall unless He allows it. Cf Mt 10:28–31; Lk 12:4–7. However, none may argue from this text that children are innocent and thereby merit God's favor. See note, Ps 51:5.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:14 today. And henceforth. Extinction of Jeroboam's house would take place in the immediate future, beginning with the death of his heir and the rise of the Assyrian Empire. However, it would be two centuries before the Assyrians would rule over Israel, scattering them "beyond the Euphrates" (v 15). See p 1258.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:15 as a reed is shaken in the water. A picture of the instability of the Israelite royal house. Asherim. See note, Ex 34:13.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:16 will give Israel up. Surrendering them to Assyria. sins of Jeroboam. See note, 12:28.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:17 Tirzah. C 8 mi NE of Shechem (see note, 12:1). Evidently Jeroboam's summer residence. It became the Northern Kingdom's capital. See map, p 558.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:1–18 The prophet Ahijah foretells that Jeroboam's dynasty will come to an end. God brings punishment on those who go against His Word and who refuse to repent of their evil ways. This message is related repeatedly in the history of Israel's kings. But what also is related through this sacred history is God's patience with His people, whom He planned to save by the righteous reign of His Son, Jesus Christ. • Gracious Lord, we pray that in Your mercy, You always keep us close to You and Your Word, never cut off but forever bound in faith. In the Savior's name we ask this. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:19 Chronicles. Not the biblical book by that name. See p 335–37.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:20 slept with his fathers. See note, 2:10. Nadab … reigned. See notes, v 14; 15:27.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:19–20 Jeroboam's reign marks the beginning of a line of kings who will continue to lead the people of Israel astray. Because of sin, death has entered our world. The constant reminder of this fact in Scripture and in the world around us should lead us to look to the solution, to Jesus, the Savior whose coming was promised in the OT and recorded in the NT. • King of kings, You rule over the mighty of this world; You are the Lord of life and death. When I pass from this life, let me fall asleep in Jesus, and when He returns awaken to the joys of heaven. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:21–16:28 From the division of the kingdom and the first king of Israel, the account returns to the reign of Solomon's son Rehoboam (14:21–29) and of two of his successors: Abijam and Asa (15:1–24). In order to synchronize the history of the two kingdoms, the author of 1Ki then resumes the story of five kings who ruled in the north (15:25–16:28).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:21 His mother's name. In the formula introducing the kings of Judah (not of Israel), the name of the queen mother is a regular feature. The part that Bathsheba, Solomon's mother, played in putting her son on the throne (1:11–31) is a good example of the influence wielded by dowager queens. Ammonite. One of Solomon's many foreign wives. See note, 3:1–2.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:22 jealousy. See note, Ex 20:5.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:23 pillars … Asherim. See note, Ex 34:13.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:24 prostitutes. Sacred prostitution, both female and male, played a prominent part in Baal worship. His devotees expected these abominations to have the power of sympathetic magic, automatically putting the deity under a spell to produce fertility in human beings, herds, and crops. the nations. See p 345.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:25 fifth year. 927 BC. Shishak. See note, 11:40. Account of Egyptian invasion, only incident recorded for Rehoboam's reign, intentionally follows description of abominations that provoked the Lord to jealousy. A Karnak inscription describes the events. One later tradition has Shishak removing the ark of the covenant at this time and taking it to Egypt or Ethiopia. However, the texts make no mention of this. See p 495.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:26 took away. Rehoboam willingly paid tribute. shields of gold. See note, 10:17.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:29 Chronicles. See p 335–37.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:30 war. See note, 12:24.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:31 See note, 2:10.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 14:21–31 Idolatry marks Rehoboam's reign, even though he does not promote it as Jeroboam does in Israel. Sin and rebellion against God are not limited by politics or geography. No one is immune from God's judgment. Pray that God in His mercy will forgive and spare the new Israel, the Church, for the sake of Jesus, the Savior. His faithful reign extends to all people. • Lord God Almighty, send Your Holy Spirit to enlighten and strengthen us, that we may not fall into sin and unbelief. In the Savior's name we pray. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:1 Abijam. Also spelled Abijah (see note, 2Ch 13:1). Account of his reign is even shorter than that of Rehoboam, his predecessor.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:2 Abishalom. Variant spelling of Absalom.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:3 his father. Lit, his great grandfather. David had trouble disciplining his sons (1:6).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:4 a lamp. See note, 11:36.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:5 Writer idealizes David's reign, yet also remembers David's tragic flaw. Israelite history recorded its leaders' strengths and weaknesses, in contrast to the annals of other nations.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:6 Rehoboam and Jeroboam. Apparently an accidental scribal repetition of 14:30; omitted by LXX. Cf 2Ch 13:2b, which reads "Abijah and Jeroboam."
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:7 Chronicles. See p 335–37.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:8 See note, 2:10.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:1–8 Rehoboam's son Abijam reigns for only three years, but it is long enough for him to follow in his father's sinful footsteps. The example that parents set greatly influences their children. Our example for the next generation influences whether they will walk "in all the sins" of their forefathers or whether their hearts may be "wholly true to the LORD" (v 3). Thanks be to Jesus! He not only set an example for us but also assured our rescue by declaring us God's children through Holy Baptism. • Tender Savior, guard and protect us always; help us to pass Your saving Word on to the next generation, that our children and their children may grow up to know You and sing Your praises. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:9 twentieth year of Jeroboam. 911 BC. Asa. His reign was nearly as long as that of wicked Manasseh's 55 years (2Ki 21:1).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:10 Maacah. She retained her influential role of queen (grand)mother until Asa deposed her (v 13). Abishalom. Variant spelling of Absalom.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:12 male cult prostitutes. See note, 14:24.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:13 abominable image. Hbr root means "to shudder"; denotes an idol that produced horror because of its ugliness or obscene representation. Word occurs only here and in parallel account, 2Ch 15:16. Asherah. See note, Ex 34:13. Kidron. Valley east of Jerusalem. See map, p 548.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:14 high places. See p 526. wholly true. Asa's faith was sincere, though he tolerated false religion and insincerity among his subjects. Chem: "The expression 'with my whole heart' is used in many places in Scripture in opposition to hypocrisy and outward pretense" (LTh 2:340).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:15 sacred gifts. Translated "things … dedicated" in 7:51, these unspecified gifts were to replace the treasures that Shishak took away (14:26).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:16 war. See note, 12:24. Baasha. See note, v 27.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:17 Ramah. Fortress and troops c 5 mi N of Jerusalem, as a dagger aimed at Judah's heart. See map, p 558.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:18 treasures. As tribute to Ben-hadad. Ben-hadad. Perhaps Rezon's grandson, the Syrian state's founder with headquarters at Damascus (see note, 11:23). At least two of its kings bore the name Ben-hadad, which means "son of the storm god Hadad" (cf 20:1; 2Ki 13:24). By a foreign alliance against the Israelite king Baasha, Asa intensified the civil war. Syria … Damascus. Inland 50 mi from the coast of the Great Sea, one of the oldest continuously occupied cities in the world. See map, p 558.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:20 cities of Israel. On Israel's northern border. Chinneroth. See note, Jsh 12:3.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:21 stopped building. Syrian pressure on his northern frontier forced Baasha to withdraw from his building operations on his southern border. Tirzah. See note, 14:17.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:22 Taking advantage of his rival's preoccupation, Asa mobilized "all Judah" to build his own fortified cities with the stones and timbers from Ramah. carried away. Building supplies were precious. See note, 5:9. Geba. Levitical town 6 mi NE of Jerusalem. Mizpah. Northwest of Geba, with which it served as fortresses north of Jerusalem. Archaeologists have found a massive casemate wall at Mizpah. See note, Jsh 2:15; see also map, p 558.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:23 his might. See note, 2Ch 14:8. Chronicles. See pp 335–37. diseased. Or, weak due to age.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:24 See note, 2:10.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:9–24 Asa breaks the pattern of wickedness and "did what was right in the eyes of the LORD" (v 11), though the idolatrous high places remain. The Bible does not teach fatalism. Despite the sins of one generation, the Lord can raise up the next in the right way. Take heart! The Lord intercedes in history. He intercedes in our lives by His gracious Word. • Loving Shepherd, You guide us through this world. Please bless this land with godly leaders who trust in You and follow Your Word. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:25–16:28 Synchronizing the history of the two kingdoms, the author interrupts the account of Judah's kings (14:21–15:24) for a survey of five Israelite kings. Omri's reign (16:21–28) marked a transition to a period of peaceful relations between the Northern and Southern kingdoms.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:25 second year of Asa. 910 BC.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:26 his sin … made Israel to sin. Hbr expression; the sin was the religion established by Jeroboam. See note, 12:30; see also "sin," p 959.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:27 Baasha. Lit, "Baal hears"; Baasha usurped the throne and brought an end to Jeroboam's house. conspired. During the two centuries of its existence, Israel was ruled by 19 kings representing nine different dynasties. Conspiracies and regicides were responsible for the frequent changes in ruling houses, of which none lasted longer than four generations. Jeroboam was succeeded only by his son. Gibbethon. C 20 mi W of Ramah. Originally assigned to the tribe of Dan (see map, p 558), Gibbethon was under Philistine control. Evidently Nadab's siege was unsuccessful. The Israelites again—or perhaps still—encamped against the same city 24 years later (16:15).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:28 third year of Asa. C 909 BC.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:29 Cf 14:10.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:31 Chronicles. See pp 335–37.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:32 Repeats v 16; omitted in LXX.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:25–32 Switching from Judah to Nadab's reign in the Northern Kingdom, we learn that Nadab, like all the other Israelite kings, "did what was evil in the sight of the LORD" (v 26). The pattern of wicked leadership became entrenched in Israel. Evil is working for such entrenchment still today. Through the Word, the Lord equips us to stand against wickedness in our times and in our land. Likewise, through the means of grace, He brings forgiveness and life to us anew each day. • Lord God heavenly Father, guard us from wickedness in high places. Defend Your people who daily call upon Your saving name. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:33 third year of Asa. C 909 BC. twenty-four years. Of lowly origin in the tribe of Issachar (v 27), Baasha reigned two years longer than Jeroboam, the founder of the Ephraimite dynasty, which Baasha displaced. Vv 16–22 tell of his hostile relationship to Judah's kings.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:1 Jehu. A prophet, not to be confused with the later Israelite king by the same name (2Ki 10:28–36). The prophet's denunciation of Baasha was not motivated by political prejudice; he also rebuked a king of Judah (2Ch 19:2). Cf 2Ch 20:34 for his literary activity.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:5 Chronicles. See p 335–37.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:6 slept. Died. buried. See note, 2:10. Tirzah. See note, 14:17.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:7 destroyed it. Jeroboam's dynasty. Baasha serves God's judgment but also is condemned.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 15:33–16:7 Because of the evil of Israel's King Baasha, the Lord predicts that his house, like that of Jeroboam, will be cut off (16:3). But God's grace to families and households persists, even for us. The great King of heaven confirms us as members of His household. • Lord, bless this house, whate'er befall; may Jesus Christ be all in all. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:8 twenty-sixth year of Asa. C 886 BC. Elah. Baasha, like Jeroboam, had only one successor. After Elah reigned for only two years, Zimri struck him down.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:9 commander. In the power struggle for Israel's throne, military leaders played a prominent role. Arza. An official who may have helped plan Elah's assassination.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:10–22 Zimri. The cavalry commander Zimri had barely proclaimed himself king when the troops "encamped against Gibbethon" (v 15) made Omri "the commander of the army, king over Israel" (v 16). He, in turn, had to eliminate Tibni, another contender. Zimri became a proverbial example of an assassin (cf 2Ki 9:31).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:11 Prophecy fulfilled (cf v 3).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:13 idols. Lit, "vanities."
1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:14 Chronicles. See p 335–37.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:8–14 After only two years as king, Baasha's son Elah is assassinated (while "drinking himself drunk"). One of his military leaders, Zimri, seizes the throne. How easily sinful human beings slip into gross wickedness and debauchery! Instead of indulging our sinful nature, the Lord cultivates in us "the fruit of the Spirit" (Gal 5:22–23). Such fruit grows within a heart made right through faith in Jesus. • Holy Spirit, keep me from falling into the sins that destroy, and guide me in what is good and right. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:15 twenty-seventh year of Asa. C 885 BC. Zimri reigned seven days. He did not control the entire military (v 9) and could not maintain his coup. Gibbethon. See note, 15:27.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:16 all Israel. See note, 12:18. The unanimity did not last (v 21).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:18 burned … over him. Suicide. See note, 1Sm 31:4. Archaeologists found the tenth/early ninth-century phase of Tirzah's development destroyed.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:20 Chronicles. See p 335–37.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:15–20 Zimri lasts only seven days as king before the troops conspire against him and make Omri the king. Zimri dies when he burns down the king's house. When we despise the preaching of God's Word, disaster can come quickly. That is why repentance and the drowning of our sinful nature—the old Adam—is a daily activity, as we receive renewal in the Holy Spirit through the life-giving Word of Scripture.

• Heavenly Father, forgive us the sins of this day, and renew us by the Holy Spirit to live for Him who died and rose again for our salvation. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:21 Tibni. Supported by "half of the people," Omri's rival maintained his claim to the throne for about five years. Then he died, presumably a casualty of the civil war.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:22 Omri. Founder of one of the more stable dynasties, Omri restored order in the Northern Kingdom. During the reign of his successors (Ahab, Ahaziah, Jehoram), the relationship between Israel and Judah changed from one of hostility to one of peace and cooperation. The former army commander acted wisely when he moved the capital to "the hill of Samaria" (v 24). Virtually inaccessible on three sides, it was able to hold off the Assyrian army for three years (2Ki 17:5). Ahab completed construction of the city. It thrived for c 150 years. overcame. Militarily, which likely caused Tibni's death.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:24 Samaria. Hbr shomron. From verb meaning "watch" or "guard." 7 mi NW of Shechem. See map, p 558. The city was enclosed by a casemate wall in Phoenician style masonry. See note, Jsh 2:15.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:25 more evil. Omri had a much longer reign than most other kings, thus greater opportunity for evil. We do not know for certain why the Lord tolerated Omri whereas other kings were overthrown. Although he was evil, Omri established peaceful relations with more faithful Judah. See note, v 22.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:27 the might that he showed. According to extrabiblical sources, Omri achieved international fame. Assyrian records referred to Israel as "the land of Omri" even after his dynasty had vanished. However, considerations other than military and political interest guided the writer of 1Ki in the selection of what he recorded in his prophetic history (see pp 526–27). Hence, he devoted only eight verses (vv 21–28) to this king, who appears to have been one of Israel's more illustrious rulers. By contrast, the story of Omri's son Ahab takes up six chapters (16:29–22:40), more space than is accorded any other king since Solomon. This is likely because of Ahab's repentance and his interaction with Elijah (21:25–29). Chronicles. See pp 335–37.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:28 See note, 2:10.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:21–28 During Omri's reign in Israel, civil war breaks out, with half the people following him and half following Tibni.

Omri's forces are victorious, and Tibni dies. Amid all the conflict of our age, true peace resides in Jesus Christ, through whom our sins are forgiven so that we are reconciled to our heavenly Father and may be reconciled to one another. • "Lord, keep us steadfast in Your Word; Curb those who by deceit or sword Would wrest the kingdom from Your Son And bring to naught all He has done." Amen. (LSB 655:1)

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:29 Conciliatory attitude toward the southern king, no doubt fostered by his father, later led to full cooperation of the two kingdoms against a foreign aggressor (cf 22:1–4). thirty-eighth year of Asa. C 874 BC. Ahab. Mentioned in the annals of Shalmaneser III of Assyria (858–824 BC).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:30 evil. Under Ahab's reign, apostasy—the cause of Israel's fall a century later—reached a new high (yet, see note, v 27). Without necessarily observing a chronological sequence, the author presents a series of events as evidence of this "evil in the sight of the LORD." Ahab's marriage to a Phoenician princess and worship of her national idol, known as Melkart, deserves early mention to show how far he went to "provoke the LORD … to anger" (v 33). Capable of violating this basic requirement of the covenant, he could be expected to defy other laws of the Lord. Yet, the Lord ended the reigns of other evil rulers but allowed Ahab to continue, in view of his repentance (cf 21:25–29).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:31 Sidonians. From the ancient city-state Sidon on the eastern coast of the Great Sea. See map, p 558.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:32 Baal. Through his wife, Jezebel, Ahab introduced Phoenician Baal worship to Israel. See note, Nu 25:3.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:33 Asherah. See note, Ex 34:13.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:34 As the king's marriage showed his evil heart, so the rebuilding of Jericho showed the people's disregard of the Lord's will. Hiel's loss of his sons from his firstborn to his youngest showed that God fulfilled His threat regarding Jericho. Subsequent history would show the fulfillment of His threat regarding Israel.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 16:29–34 Ahab, who marries Jezebel the Sidonian, becomes the most notorious of the long line of wicked kings (v 30). Once people reject God's Word, anything goes, as the lives of Ahab and Jezebel attest. Yet by His grace, God can call people from the deepest shadow of darkness to repentance and salvation. In Christ, we have the light of life; in Him, we receive the grace and love of our heavenly Father. • "Renew me, O eternal Light, And let my heart and soul be bright, Illumined with the light of grace That issues from Your holy face." Amen. (LSB 704:1)

1 Kings—NOTE ON Ch 17–2Ki 2 This section is not so much the history of King Ahab and of his successors, but rather a record of the prophet Elijah. It opens with an account of what he did before, during, and after a severe drought (chs 17–18). After announcing the drought and going into hiding, Elijah was miraculously kept alive (17:1–7). Directed by the Lord, Elijah spent the remainder of the drought in the Phoenician city of Zarephath, where he performed two miracles (17:8–24).

1 Kings—NOTE ON Ch 17 Mel: "Understand how many great and good works this first duty which the woman performed in feeding the prophet produced and consider the mountain of rewards she received. For not only was the family fed, but it was instructed by the prophet concerning the true worship of God and eternal life and in many ways it was protected against the devil. The son was raised from the dead and became a disciple of the prophet, and he doubtlessly utilized his services for the church later on. Even small insignificant works are adorned with rewards far greater than is owed" (Chem, LTh 2:571–72).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:1 Elijah. Heroic prophet of 1Ki. To counteract the evils of Ahab's reign, God raised up one of the most arresting figures among the OT prophets. In "spirit and power," Elijah was to foreshadow One besides whom there was none greater "among those born of women" (Lk 1:17; 7:24–28). As Moses was the type of the Prophet (Dt 18:15–22), so Elijah prefigured the forerunner of the Messiah, John the Baptist (Mal 4:5–6; Mk 9:4–5). He suddenly appeared on the scene; he vanished from sight even more mysteriously (2Ki 2:11). Tishbite. Native of Tishbe, obscure village in Transjordanian Gilead, mentioned only in connection with Elijah. Gilead. Northern Transjordan area. See map, p 558. before whom I stand. Expression of service. Cf Gn 18:22; see p 1277. dew. See note, Ps 133:3; see also "Census Figures," p 216.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:3–7 The Lord sent Elijah to an obscure location for safety and sustenance.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:5 east of the Jordan. Lit, "on the face of the Jordan." Location is uncertain.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:1–7 Having predicted a drought to Ahab, the great prophet Elijah goes to the brook Cherith, where the Lord has ravens miraculously provide for him. In a wicked, harsh, and hostile world, God watches over those who are His. No matter how much everything may seem to be against us, the Lord is with us, a haven of everlasting love. • Heavenly Father, when all seems lost, remind us that You did not withhold Your only Son from us. In Jesus, the bread of life, You will give us all we need for this world and for the life to come. Uplift us with assurance of Your love and protection, in Jesus Christ. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:9 Zarephath. Small coastal town of Phoenicia between Tyre and Sidon. See map, p 581. widow. Jesus' only excursion beyond the borders of ancient Israel was "to the region of Tyre and Sidon," where He, too, met a Syrophoenician woman of great faith (Mk 7:24–30).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:10 gate … gathering sticks. Odd place to gather firewood. "Stalks" could be intended (cf Jsh 2:6), as threshing floors were often near the city gate (cf 22:10). Bring me a little water. Test of generosity. Cf Gn 24:17–20.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:12 As the LORD your God lives. Vow to affirm the truth of her testimony. The widow recognized Elijah as an Israelite, and her expression may indicate frail faith in the true God. Though Zarephath lay outside Israel, Israelite beliefs had influenced its people (see note, 5:7). Sidonians typically worshiped Eshmun and participated in the regional fertility cults. die. Drought was not restricted to Israelite territory, as the Phoenician historian Menander attests.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:13 a little cake. See p 236.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:15 she went and did as Elijah said. Act of faith.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:16 not spent. At the brook Cherith, the Lord had sent ravens with food for Elijah; now He miraculously provides sustenance for the widow. In the religious crisis during the days of Elijah and Elisha (see note, 16:30), more "signs and wonders" witnessed to the power of the true God than in any period since the exodus (Ex 7:3). See p 1077–83.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:8–16 Through Elijah, the Lord miraculously provides food for a widow in Zarephath. This story illustrates God's never-ending goodness. He daily and richly provides for all our needs, blessing us far beyond what we deserve or what we ask. • O Lord, may Your past goodness be our assurance for the future. We thank You especially for Your Word, which brings us to know the greatest blessing of all—everlasting salvation in Jesus Christ. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:18 Widow associates prophet with preaching of condemnation. The prophets of northern Israel would certainly emphasize

Law and condemnation, due to the people's unrepentance. See pp xxxi–xxxii.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:19 on his own bed. Emphasizing Elijah's care for the boy.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:20 Elijah seems doubtful, yet prays for the boy's recovery.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:21 stretched. Hbr verb, typically describing measurement, used in unique form. Elijah applies his life and prayer to the boy, his own body serving as the instrument of healing from the Lord.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:22 listened. Elijah was a man of God (v 18) who, by the Word of the Lord (v 24) and by intercessory prayer, revived the widow's son (cf 2Ki 4:34; Ac 20:10). The Word made flesh commanded the dead by virtue of His own authority: "I say … arise" (Mk 5:41; Lk 7:14).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:23 upper chamber. See notes, 2Ki 1:2; 4:10.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 17:17–24 When the widow's son dies, Elijah raises him back to life by God's power. Already in OT stories such as this, we see God's power over death, the height of which is Christ's glorious resurrection from the dead. For us and for our salvation, He has conquered sin, Satan, and death, opening the gates to everlasting life in heaven. • Lord of life and death, be with me in the hour of death with the assurance that comes from Your conquest over sin, Satan, and death itself. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:1 third year. Of the drought. More exactly 3½ years (Lk 4:25; Jas 5:17). send rain. As Elijah had announced the drought (17:1), so he was to tell Ahab that "the word of the LORD" alone could end it.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:3 Obadiah. Lit, "servant of the Lord." He used his position at court to save "a hundred prophets" (v 4) of the Lord whose lives were threatened by the murderous Jezebel (v 13; 19:10).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:4 hid them by fifties. Expression of military organization. Cf 1Sm 8:12.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:5 we. Drought was so severe that the king himself, with a high-ranking official, had to search for grass to "save the horses and mules alive," which he needed for commercial and military operations.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:6 by himself. Kings normally traveled with attendants, but the drought may have brought government activities to a standstill.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:8 Elijah is here. The mysterious, true prophet had reappeared. The false prophets had been no help to the king.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:12 Obadiah feared that "the Spirit of the LORD" would suddenly transport Elijah to another hiding place, leaving him to face the king's disappointment. carry you I know not where. Cf 2Ki 2:11. feared the LORD. See p 1001.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:15 Oath. Cf 17:12.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:16 Ahab went to meet Elijah. Swallowing his pride, the desperate king sought out the prophet.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:17–40 In a trial by fire, Elijah dramatically demonstrated that the Canaanite fertility gods were not in control of nature (vv 20–29), and that the "LORD of hosts" (v 15), Creator of "the heavens and the earth … and all the host of them" (cf Gn 2:1), was a jealous God who did not tolerate divided allegiance (vv 30–40; Ex 20:5; Dt 4:24; Jsh 24:19). Luth: "Elijah accuses the people of … doing one thing in their hearts and feigning something else in their work. This is true of every man who is outside Christ" (AE 29:123).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:17 troubler. On this expression, see note, Jsh 7:25. Ahab refused to acknowledge that he had brought on the drought because he had "abandoned the commandments of the LORD" (v 18). Elijah was not the only preacher of judgment to suffer abuse (cf Ac 16:20–24). Luth: "It is a good sign when men condemn us and call us agitators. The Spirit of God is one who strives with men, reproves them, and condemns them. But men are so constituted that they want to have preached what pleases them" (AE 2:20).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:18 abandoned the commandments. Sinned against the Law of the covenant. followed the Baals. Sinned against the blessed confession and promise of the Lord's name. See note, Nu 25:3. "The godless … believed they merited the forgiveness of sins, not freely through faith, but through sacrifices by the outward act. Therefore, they increased these services and sacrifices, set up the worship of Baal in Israel, and even sacrificed in the groves in Judah. Therefore, the prophets condemn this belief and war against not only the worshipers of Baal, but also other priests who made sacrifices ordained by God with this godless belief" (Ap XXIV 97). Luth: "The examples of all times teach that the Word of truth and the true forms of worship are despised by the common people…. Perverse teachers are most ready to teach, and the common people are most eager to listen. In this manner the Word and the true forms of worship become lost" (AE 2:243).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:19 gather. In order to prove to the king that he and his "father's house" (v 18) brought divine judgment on himself and his apostate people, Elijah demanded a convocation of all Israel, including the "prophets of Baal." Mount Carmel. Mountain range (15 mi long) that juts out toward the Great Sea. See map, p 581. Baal … Asherah. See notes, Ex 34:13; Nu 25:3. Jezebel's table. Ahab allowed his kingdom to officially sponsor Phoenician Canaanite religion, beyond the state-sponsored worship set up by Jeroboam (12:25–33). Ahab knew about the true faith and recognized Elijah as a true prophet but would not act in light of the truth. Through Elijah, the Lord will force a decisive confrontation.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:1–19 Even in wicked King Ahab's presence, God protects Elijah and Obadiah. This is a comfort to Christians, lest we think that God will allow the wicked to destroy us. Our noblest calling in life is to bear witness to the Law and Gospel, proclaiming God's judgment and His grace in Jesus Christ. As we do so, we have Christ's own assurance, "I am with you always" (Mt 28:20). • "Praise to You and adoration, Blessed Jesus, Son of God, Who, to serve Your own creation, Came to share our flesh and blood." Amen. (LSB 692:1)

1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:22 I only. The Lord's other prophets were hiding (v 4). prophets. See pp 1077–83.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:24 fire. Likely lightning. See note, Jb 1:16. Luth: "God does indeed allow a new word to be taught in order to test us, but He is faithfully at our side, so that no signs are done or that what they have predicted does not come to pass, as He shows in the case of Elijah with the Baalites (1 Kings 18:24)" (AE 9:130).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:26 limped. Perhaps sarcastic, describing their ritual dance.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:27 relieving himself. Bawdy sarcasm! Hbr verb used only here.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:28 cut … after their custom. Bloodletting rituals to compel their god to action. The bloodletting could have expressed sorrow for sin, or it may have been an effort to move the god to compassion.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:29 raved. Hbr naba'; typical term for prophesying but reflexive, "making themselves prophesy." They stirred themselves into a state of frenzy (cf 1Sm 10:6). until … the oblation. Likely the evening grain offering (2Ki 16:15).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:30 Come near to me. Refocusing attention. See note, v 36. altar of the LORD. We are not told at exactly what time and under what circumstances this altar was erected. Cf Dt 12:5; see p 526.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:33 in order. Elijah was familiar with the proper manner of priestly offerings. water. Carmel's location beside the sea may have allowed the land nearby to receive some moisture, while the interior of Israel remained in drought.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:36 offering of the oblation. See note, v 29. Elijah's preparations were likely taking place while the prophets of Baal were performing their rituals.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:37 turned … back. In repentance. See p 1080.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:38 fire. Likely lightning. See note, Jb 1:16. Luther noted that Elijah's sacrifice was consumed by fire as a "true manifestation of the divine mercy which the wretched people needed in order not to be without some light of the grace of God. In the same way the very Word, Baptism, and the Eucharist are our lightbearers today, toward which we look as dependable tokens of the sun of grace. We can state with certainty that where the Eucharist, Baptism, and the Word are, there are Christ, forgiveness of sins, and eternal life. Contrariwise, where these signs of grace are not present, or where they are despised by men, there is not only no grace, but execrable errors follow, and men set up for themselves other forms of worship and other signs" (AE 1:249).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:40 brook Kishon. See map, p 581. slaughtered them. Dt 13:6–11; 17:2–7 also decree the death penalty on those who entice the Israelites to "go and serve other gods" (Dt 13:6).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:20–40 The famous confrontation between Elijah and the prophets of Baal ends with the execution of the false prophets. Their overthrow is a classic example of how God makes sure that truth ultimately prevails. No matter how entrenched and powerful the forces of evil are in the world, God is still guiding history for the good of His people, for their everlasting salvation. • Lord God, how bold the wicked are, yet I know that You will always be with those whom You have brought into Your family by faith in Jesus Christ. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:41 With false religion overthrown, rain would come as a sign of God's blessing. Cf Dt 28:12.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:42 put his face between his knees. Unusual bow, perhaps expressing special humility. See p 1276.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:43 seven times. Abiding in prayer.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:44 go down. From the height of Carmel toward the lowlands of Jezreel.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:45–46 Jezreel. On the king's return to his royal residence in Jezreel, a distance of more than 15 mi from Carmel, Elijah humbly served as his forerunner but ran at a miraculous pace. See map, p 581.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 18:41–46 After the 3½-year drought, God sends rain when "[Elijah] prayed again" (Jas 5:18). How powerful is the prayer of a righteous person! May the Holy Spirit dispel our sinful doubts and replace them with the spirit of Elijah, so we confidently trust our Savior. • Like Elijah of old, O Lord, I boldly call upon You in prayer. Keep me and those I love in the safety of Your loving hands. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:1–8 Unnerved by Jezebel's threat, the hitherto dauntless champion of the Lord's cause "ran for his life." Fleeing the Northern Kingdom, he did not stop until he came to Beersheba, the southernmost city of Judah (vv 1–3; cf Jgs 20:1). From there, the dispirited prophet continued his journey south to Mount Horeb (Sinai) "in the strength" of food supplied by "the angel of the LORD" (vv 4–8). Samuel had a similar lapse into fear (1Sm 16:2). Luth: "The Holy Spirit does not always impel godly people; He lets them do some things in accordance with their own will and wish. When Elijah killed the prophets of Baal, he was impelled by the Spirit of God (1 Kings 18:40); yet later on, when Jezebel's wrath has been reported to him, he fears for himself…. He is not commanded by God to withdraw. His reason kept telling him that he would be safe if he hid in the desert…. These facts were recorded to comfort us, who have no other thought about the saints than that they were blocks and logs without feeling" (AE 3:320). Luth: "Before this he was not afraid of the king; now he runs away from a woman. Accordingly, all this seems to be foolish; but it shows great understanding and is very helpful, because it is recorded for the comfort of the churches, in order that we may know how merciful God is. We may indeed be evil and weak, provided that we are not found among those who persecute, hate, and blaspheme God. God wants to have patience with our weakness" (AE 5:25).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:3 Beersheba. City in the Negeb, the southernmost region of Judah. See map, p 581. his servant there. Cf 18:43. Once Elijah felt safe in Judah, he would call a new servant (vv 19–21).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:4 broom tree. Desert bush that grows to 10–12 ft. Hbr text has "one broom tree," emphasizing sparsity of vegetation in that desolate area. take away my life. Ashamed that he ran when he should have confronted Jezebel by faith, Elijah wanted to die, sharing the fate of his fathers (cf Nu 14:28–30).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:5–7 angel touched. Ministering angel acts in a comforting, gentle manner. Typically, the appearance of an angel evokes fear. See note, Lk 1:11. angel of the LORD. See p 1227.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:8–14 Elijah had experiences similar to those of Moses: (1) on Horeb (Ex 3:1), both men went without food for the same length of time (Ex 34:28); (2) Elijah stood "at the entrance of the cave"; Moses was in "a cleft of the rock" when the Lord's glory passed by (v 13; Ex 33:22); (3) Elijah "wrapped his face in his cloak"; Moses "hid his face" at the burning bush (v 13; Ex 3:6).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:8 in the strength. Well nourished, Elijah begins an extreme fast.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:1–8 Elijah becomes a wanted man, as Queen Jezebel seeks to kill him. He flees into the wilderness to Mount Horeb, where centuries earlier, Moses had received the Ten Commandments. At times, believers may feel the need to flee from those who would destroy them because of their Christian faith and their profession of that faith. Will it come to that in our land? Even if it does, we can be sure that the Lord will always be with us, patiently blessing us with His love, mercy, and grace. • Almighty God, You are the refuge for Your people in times of trouble. We trust You with all our needs. In Jesus' name. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:9–14 The question in vv 9 and 13 evokes the confession in vv 10 and 14, illustrating the persistence of both the Lord and Elijah. In v 18, the Lord provides information that undermines Elijah's evaluation of his circumstance.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:10 God of hosts. See p 1291. altars. Plural. See notes, Jsh 22:23; 1Sm 9:12. I only, am left. Elijah reveals the extent of his loneliness and sense of abandonment.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:11 strong wind. At other times, God had manifested Himself in phenomena of nature, e.g., wind (Ezk 1:4), earthquake (Nu 16:31), fire (Ex 19:18).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:12 low whisper. Elijah found no comfort and no assurance in God's power manifested in nature through the wind. Rather, when God's Word came to instruct him in a quiet voice, then the prophet found truth and strength. What the Lord whispers is a mystery. Luth: "The Law is a hammer that crushes rocks, a fire, a wind, and a great and mighty earthquake that overturns mountains. When Elijah could not bear the terrors of the Law that were signified by these events, he wrapped his head in his mantle; and after the storm he had seen was over, there came a still small voice, in which the Lord was present (1 Kings 19:11–13). But the violence of the fire, the storm, and the earthquake had to come first, before the Lord Himself followed in the still small voice" (AE 26:310–11).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:13 wrapped his face. Perhaps expressing shame. See note, v 4. went out. Perhaps the whisper called him out.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:15–17 wilderness of Damascus. Many miles north of Israel. Hazael … Jehu … Elisha. In a renewed battle against idolatry, Elijah was to anoint these men. Elijah personally recruited Elisha (vv 19–21), who in turn carried out the commands concerning Hazael and Jehu (2Ki 8:7–15; 9:1–10). Syria. See note, 10:29.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:16 Jehu. Called the "son of Omri" on an Assyrian black obelisk that lists his tribute paid to Assyria, because Israel was known as the land of Omri. The low-relief carving shows Jehu bowed on his knees before Shalmaneser III. anoint. See note, 1Sm 10:1. Abel-meholah. Elisha's home was c 2 mi E of the Jordan and c 25 mi S of the Sea of Chinnereth. See map, p 581. in your place. The Lord acknowledges Elijah's exhaustion and plans for his relief, while ensuring the continuation of the ministry.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:18 seven thousand. Although many were to die by the sword of Hazael and Jehu, for whose rise to power Elisha was responsible (v 17), a large number would be found in Israel who did not succumb to the seduction of Baal worship. "The godless priests in Judah held a false belief about such sacrifices; Baal worship even continued in Israel. Nevertheless, a Church of God was there that objected to these godless services" (Ap XXIV 98). Luth: "This is adequate evidence that size does not make the church. Nor dare one consider how holy its origin is, who its ancestors are, and what they have in their possession and have received from God" (AE 2:101). Mel: "In the time of Elijah the church consisted of Elijah, Elisha, and their hearers, and the church was not without a ministry. For the prophets themselves were the ministers of the Gospel and there were some godly priests with them" (Chem, LTh 2:685).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:9–18 When Elijah is discouraged, the Lord comes to him in a "low whisper," encouraging him that he is not alone and commissioning him to return to his God-given ministry. God's voice speaks to us in the quietness of the inspired pages of Scripture, by which He encourages us with the forgiveness, life, and salvation in Jesus, the Word made flesh. • I thank You, dear God, that in the pages of the Bible, You have come with the assuring whisper of Your presence and protection. In the gentle Savior's name. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:19 found Elisha. See note, v 3. Shaphat. Elisha's family lived east of the Jordan, perhaps in the territory of Gad. twelve yoke of oxen in front of him. Remarkable coordination of effort, guiding a team of 24 animals. cast his cloak upon him. Designating Elisha as his successor. Ephr: "Elijah also was persecuted as Jesus was persecuted. Jezebel the murderess persecuted Elijah; and the persecuting and murderous congregation persecuted Jesus. Elijah restrained the heavens from rain because of the sins of Israel; and Jesus by His coming restrained the Spirit from the prophets, because of the sins of the people. Elijah destroyed the servants of Baal; and Jesus trampled upon Satan and his hosts. Elijah raised to life the son of the widow; and Jesus raised to life the son of the widow, as well as Lazarus and the daughter of the ruler of the Synagogue. Elijah sustained the widow with a little bread; and Jesus satisfied thousands with a little bread. Elijah was taken up in a chariot to heaven; and our Redeemer ascended and took His seat on the right hand of His Father. Elisha received the spirit of Elijah; and Jesus breathed upon the faces of His Apostles" (NPNF 2 13:398).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:20 what have I done to you? Idiomatic question, explaining that the call to discipleship was not intended to conflict with respect for parents.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:21 Elisha turned the situation into a sacred feast, perhaps a fellowship meal (see pp 170–71).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 19:19–21 Elijah casts his cloak on Elisha, who will succeed him in God's work. Let us, in the time we have on earth, lay the calling of God's Word on the shoulders of the next generation. As God raises up Elisha to follow in Elijah's footsteps, so He is now raising up faithful servants of the Gospel to minister to this generation and the next. • God of the prophets, bless the prophets' sons—all who proclaim the Good News of salvation in Jesus Christ. Bless them with courage as they proclaim Your Word to the ends of the earth. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:1 Ben-hadad. Not the first Syrian king by that name (see note, 15:18). This Ben-hadad besieged Samaria. He renewed the attacks on Israel originally requested by King Asa of Judah. Syria. See note, 10:29. Thirty-two kings. His army consisted of 32 divisions, each of which was under the command of an allied king or provincial chieftain. Samaria. See note, 16:24.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:3 best wives and children. Choicest slaves. Ben-hadad insists that Israel become Syria's vassal state.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:6 whatever pleases you. Further mockery and threats.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:7 elders. See note, Ex 3:16. seeking trouble. Increasing demands showed that Ben-hadad would not keep his word of peace after he received tribute. Conflict was unavoidable.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:8 Do not listen or consent. The mockery solidified Israel's leadership in support of King Ahab.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:9 this thing. Concede to the increasing demands.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:10 handfuls. The Syrian threatened to demolish Samaria so completely that his men would be able to carry off the remaining dust in their hands. Cf 2Sm 17:13 for a similar threat against Jerusalem.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:1–12 After describing Elijah's prophetic ministry, the sacred text returns to the history of King Ahab and his wars with Ben-hadad, king of Syria. The Lord guides history and even uses evil people for His good purposes. In such records, the Lord teaches us how He punishes the godless and protects those who call on His name. While the Bible records battles and wars, behind it all, God is still in control for the sake of His people. • Lord of the nations, amid the upheavals and wars of this sinful world, guide, strengthen, encourage, and uplift Your people. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:13 a prophet. Not identified.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:14 Ahab was trapped in the city without his normal command. He would have to lead an army of bureaucrats against a real fighting force, a considerable act of faith.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:15 governors. Ben-hadad's invasion of Israel brought all the provincial officials to Samaria for refuge.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:16 went out. Charged out of the city. booths. Temporary barracks, sometimes translated "tabernacles."
1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:18 take them alive. Odd orders, likely the result of his drunken state.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:20 each struck. They attacked successfully and without losses.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:21 struck the horses and chariots. See note, Jsh 11:6.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:22 In His grace, God helped Ahab, who neither deserved nor sought God's help. See note, 16:30.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:23 gods of the hills. The remark of Ben-hadad's servant reflects the notion, prevalent in the ancient world, that a certain deity had power in only one geographic area or in the exercise of only one function. See note, 2Ki 5:17. plain. Syrians were more familiar with battles in open areas, using chariots. See note, Jgs 4:12–13.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:24 remove the kings. Kings were traditionally warriors, but over time, in a peaceful empire, warrior kings were replaced by administrators who had not experienced battle. They became a liability in a real fight.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:13–25 Speaking through a prophet, the Lord tells Ahab that he will defeat the Syrian forces of Ben-hadad. Though undeserving, Ahab is blessed by God with victory. The Lord still sends the rain on the wicked as well as on the just (Mt 5:45). His merciful goodness is infinite for the sake of His children, whom He protects. • We praise You, O Lord, for the mercy and righteousness You provide us, though we are unworthy. Guide Your people, and shine on us from age to age. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:26 spring. See note, 2Sm 11:1. Aphek. Number of cities bore this name. Cf 1Sm 4:1; 29:1.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:28 man of God. Not identified. Cf v 13. valleys. See note, v 23.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:29 seventh day. Time was needed to settle the large number of troops and organize for battle. 100,000. The Hbr word here and in v 30 can denote units of soldiers organized by the thousands or also the title for the leader of such a troop. If the wording represents a troop leader, there would be 100 leaders. See p 217.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:30 wall fell. Casemate walls could hold large numbers of troops within them. Collapse of such walls would be disastrous

(see note, Jsh 2:15). However, also see the note on calculating numbers, v 29. Luth: "They surpass us by so many thousands, and all that we have seems to recede into nothing. But do not compare yourselves with them. No, compare yourselves with your Lord, and it will be wonderful to see how superior you will be. The flock of Israel was small too, a little band. Yet the king of Israel defeated King Benhadad" (AE 30:289).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:26–30 The Lord allows the smaller Israelite force to crush many Syrians because the Syrian king, Ben-hadad, mocked God's omnipresent rule. Beware of mocking the Almighty, either by insult or by lack of faith in His good and gracious rule, which extends over all. He rules in favor of His beloved people. How great is His power toward us in the living Savior, Jesus! • Grant me all boldness, mighty Lord, to carry out Your will and declare Your greatness. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:31 merciful kings. In contrast with kings such as the Assyrians, known for their brutality. sackcloth … ropes. Emblems of repentance. See notes, Jb 1:20; 16:15.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:32 my brother. Truly generous and speedy alliance.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:34 my father took from your father. Evidently, Ahab's father, Omri, suffered reverses that are not mentioned in the short record of his reign (16:21–28). bazaars. Promise of a trade relationship.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:35 sons of the prophets. See p 555.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:36 lion shall strike you. Swift, harsh punishment. The matter was gravely urgent.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:38 bandage. Disguised as a wounded soldier, a member of the prophetic guild used a parable to trap Ahab into condemning himself (cf 2Sm 12:1–12).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:39 Your servant went out. Prophet begins the parable. a talent. Penalty for negligence was set at a huge sum. A talent was equal to 3,000 shekels, 100 times the price of a slave.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:40 you yourself have decided it. He is self-condemned.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:41 king … recognized. Prophets often served as court counselors. See pp 1077–83.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:42 let go. From a political point of view, the release of Ben-hadad was a wise move. Cooperation between the two countries was necessary to check the growing menace of Assyrian expansion into Syria, then southward into Israel. Later, Ahab and the Syrians did make common cause against the Assyrian king Shalmaneser III. The battle took place in 853 BC at Qarqar, c 100 mi N of Damascus. devoted to destruction. See p 6.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 20:30–43 The Lord's prophet uses a parable to show Ahab his guilt in releasing Ben-hadad, king of Syria. God calls us to deliver His Word faithfully, whether creatively (as in this example) or in brutal directness. How marvelously our Lord's parables continue to instruct us in repentance and in faith, through the Gospel of His kingdom. His gracious rule delivers us from evil. • Strike my heart, O Lord. Wound me by the Law, that You may heal and deliver me with the life-giving Gospel of Jesus. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:1–16 Ahab "did evil in the sight of the LORD" by introducing Phoenician idolatry (16:29–34) and by entering a forbidden alliance (20:31–34). But here is still another kind of crime. In order to satisfy a royal whim, Ahab deprived a private citizen of his inalienable right to his family's inheritance. See note, Jsh 1:6.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:1 Naboth. Little is known of this sad character who lived in the historic region of Isaachar. Jezreel. Fertile valley stretching from Mount Carmel southeast to the Jordan Valley. Cf 18:45; see map, p 581. Also a city.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:2 after this. After the war, ch 20.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:3 The LORD forbid. An oathlike prayer. inheritance. Naboth had the law on his side (Lv 25:25–28). See "portion," p 7.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:4 vexed and sullen. His condition, first described in 20:43, continues.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:8 letters. For a list of early Israelite correspondence, see "Ancient Letters," p 1900. Numerous informal messages have been discovered written on pieces of pottery. in Ahab's name. Jezebel uses deception to surprise her husband. seal. See note, Jer 32:10.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:9 Proclaim a fast. Jezebel insinuated that a crime of such a grave nature had been committed as to require the calling of a penitential general assembly (Jgs 20:26; 1Sm 7:6; 2Ch 20:3). head. At the front, as a leader. The unsuspecting Naboth was to be accorded a place of honor.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:10 two worthless men. Lit, "sons of Belial" (cf Jgs 19:22). You have cursed God and the king. As though he were hostile to established order. cursed. See note, Jb 2:9.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:13 sat opposite him. The fast apparently included an assembly and perhaps rituals. stoned him. Penalty prescribed in Lv 24:13–16.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:15 take possession. Property reverted to the king if its owner was executed or if there were no rightful heirs.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:1–16 When Naboth refuses to sell his vineyard to Ahab, Queen Jezebel schemes to charge Naboth with cursing God. Having been falsely accused, Naboth is stoned to death, and Ahab takes possession of the vineyard in violation of God's commandment (Ex 20:17). We are constantly tempted to get what we want at the expense of others. Instead of taking from others, Jesus gave Himself for us. In sacrificing His life for the sins of the world, He gave us the priceless treasure of life and salvation. • Lord Jesus, touch our cold and loveless hearts, and fill them with the warmth of Your love, that we may reach out to all who are in need. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:17–24 Chem: "Certain statements of Scripture do not speak of the remission of guilt and eternal punishment but of the remission of temporal punishment which is turned away sometimes through a complete repentance" (LTh 2:642).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:19 Thus says the LORD. Luth: "Ahab … had his triumph with Jezebel after having killed Naboth, but God had the last word" (AE 17:74). In the place. Lit rendering; could also mean "instead of." Cf Hos 1:10. Naboth was killed at Jezreel (v 13); Ahab, at Samaria (22:38). The corpse of Ahab's son J[eh]oram was thrown into Naboth's vineyard (2Ki 9:25). dogs. See note, Ps 59:6.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:20 Have you found me. Sarcasm, since Ahab had struggled previously to find Elijah. See notes, 18:8, 16. sold yourself. As a person sells himself to slavery to pay his debts. Ahab is totally given to his evil.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:23 eat Jezebel. See the fulfillment in 2Ki 9:35–37.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:24 To not have a proper burial was considered a great shame.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:17–24 Elijah goes to meet Ahab while he is in Naboth's vineyard. There Elijah boldly prophesies the death of Ahab and his wife, Jezebel. Risking his own welfare, Elijah speaks God's Law to Ahab. Thanks be to God, His Word does not end with the Law but includes the precious Gospel as a key to forgiveness and heaven. • Almighty Judge, Your Law condemns the sinful lives we lead. Forgive us for Jesus' sake, and create in us new hearts that are set to obey Your Commandments. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:25 sold himself. See note, v 20. Ahab was soft clay in the strong hands of evil Jezebel, the "Lady Macbeth" of the OT. She did not share his repentance (vv 27–29).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:26 idols … Amorites. See p 345.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:27 sackcloth … fasted. Wearing this coarse garment was a sign of mourning. See notes, Jb 1:20; 16:15.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:29 son's days. The death of his son J[eh]oram is recorded in 2Ki 9:24; the extermination of his house, in 2Ki 10:1–11. Cf Is 39:5–8, which tells of God's mercy to Hezekiah.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 21:25–29 Having been confronted by Elijah, Ahab shows repentance and humbles himself before God. God's Law is powerful, as evidenced in the case of Elijah and Ahab. The power of God's Word—both Law and Gospel—surpasses mere human eloquence and brings life-changing results. Yet, only the Gospel provides forgiveness and new life. • O God, forsake me not. Grant me sincere and lifelong repentance, coupled with sincere and bold faith. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:1–12 Ahab, allied with the king of Judah (v 44), decided to retake Ramoth-gilead.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:1 without war. Given the earlier antagonism between the two nations, this was unusual.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:2 In a third encounter with the Syrians, Ahab was to lose his life. Apparently, Ben-hadad did not return all the cities to Israel as he had promised (20:34).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:3 Ramoth-gilead. City in tribal territory of Gad, one of three Transjordanian cities of refuge (Jsh 20:8). See map, p 581.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:4 with me. Friendly relations were cemented by the marriage of Ahab's daughter Athaliah to Jehoshaphat's son Jehoram (2Ki 8:18). I am as you are. Political alliance naturally led to a military alliance, resisting a commonly hostile kingdom.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:6 four hundred men. See numbers in 18:19; count may have had political or symbolic significance.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:7 another. Jehoshaphat may be expressing doubt about these prophets, or he may have realized that Micaiah was not present to voice support. prophet of the LORD. As the golden calves at Dan and

Bethel were supposed to represent the God who brought the people "up out of the land of Egypt" (12:28), so there were prophets in Israel who professed to proclaim "the word of the LORD" (v 5). See notes, Dt 18:18–22.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:10 gate of Samaria. City gates could include a large, general assembly area or a marketplace (cf 2Ki 7:1). See p 792. prophesying. Hbr verb is translated "raved" in 1Sm 18:10; 1Ki 18:29.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:11 horns of iron. One of the false prophets supplemented the spoken incantation with an action that was to magically produce the effect it portrayed. True prophets also acted out or pantomimed their message in order to make it more impressive (cf 2Ki 13:14–19; Jer 27:2; Ezk 4). See p 1220.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:12 the prophets prophesied so and said. See pp 1077–83.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:1–12 Ahab's false prophets encourage him to fight against the Syrian city of Ramoth-gilead. Many false prophets today would mislead us and rob us of the treasures of God's Word. The Holy Spirit gives us insight through the Word to see through all falsehood. In Scripture, we have all we need: Christ and salvation. • Your Word, O Lord, is a light for my path. Keep me in Christ, who is the way, the truth, and the life. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:14 See pp 1077–83.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:15 The king was suspicious. Perhaps Micaiah reflected Ahab's sarcasm in his answer.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:16 the truth. Ahab realized that Micaiah's prophecy of triumph was intended to ridicule the king's fawning lackeys.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:17 no shepherd. A nation without a leader. See note, Mi 5:4–5a.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:19 host of heaven. The companies of angels. See p 1291.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:20–22 entice. What Micaiah saw was a visionary portrayal of the fact that when people "refused to love the truth and so be saved," God "sends them a strong delusion" (2Th 2:10–11; see also the hardening of Pharaoh's heart, Ex 4:21). Chem: "The devil is properly the father of lying, but because he can do nothing unless God permits, Job 1:12, 1 Kings 22:22, therefore God says in Ezek. 14:9–10, 'I have deceived him,' in order that we may recognize that false prophets are a punishment for contempt, stubbornness, and ingratitude toward the truth" (LTh 1:197).

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:23 your prophets. False prophets gathered by Ahab for advice. See note, 18:19.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:24 False prophet Zedekiah ironically claimed exclusive possession of the Spirit.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:25 inner chamber. Dark back room of a house. Micaiah prophesies an ominous event.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:26 Joash. Descendant of Ahab, not the future king of Judah (2Ki 11–12).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:27 Ahab didn't want the prophet's message to interfere with his alliance or with morale.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:28 in peace. Or, "in safety." Micaiah's prophecy is now clear. Hear. He calls the crowd to witness and remember this test of truthfulness (cf 18:30).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:13–28 Contrary to the false prophets, Micaiah does not give Ahab a favorable prediction. For this, the king orders that Micaiah be imprisoned. God does not want us to be guided by what others may wish to hear or by the popular opinions of the day. Rather, our only sure guide through life is God's Word, which alone can make us "wise for salvation through faith in Christ Jesus" (2Tm 3:15). • Heavenly Father, keep us through the Scriptures on the way that leads to eternal life in Jesus Christ. Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:30 disguise myself. Hoping to gain security, because higher rank usually attracts a more intense attack.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:31 thirty-two captains. Syrian force apparently was made up of 32 divisions as before; this could represent regions of their nation.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:32 One wonders why Jehoshaphat would go along with Ahab's scheme (v 30). cried out. Either to the Lord in prayer or for reinforcements.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:34 at random. Without aiming at any particular target. Events that appear to happen "by chance" (Lk 10:31) are not merely the product of blind fate; God causes them or allows them.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:35 propped up. Lest the troops become demoralized, he continued to fight. A fitting effort.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:36 Every man to his city … his country! Full retreat.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:38 dogs. Cf 14:11; 21:23–24. prostitutes. Ahab's blood tainted the water of the Pool of Samaria, where prostitutes customarily washed. Though not recorded in Elijah's prophecy (21:19), this desecration of his blood added to the disgrace of his death.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:39 ivory house. Luxuriously inlaid with ivory. See note, Am 3:15.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:29–40 Giving his royal robes to Jehoshaphat, Ahab disguises himself and goes into battle, where he is struck and killed by a "random" arrow. God's Word never fails; that includes His Word against wickedness and unbelief. Rather than trying to get around God's Word, flee to that Word, which includes the promises of grace and forgiveness in the crucified and risen Christ. • Merciful God, You shower down kindness and love every day. How can I ever thank You for all the undeserved goodness that comes my way? Amen.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:41–50 Jehoshaphat. Before continuing the history of Israel (2Ki 1–7), the author inserts a brief note of 10 verses about a contemporary on the throne of Judah (873–848 BC). Succeeding a father who did not hesitate to call in Assyrian aid against his northern rival (15:16–24), Jehoshaphat "made peace with the king of Israel" (v 44). This reversal of policy resulted in more than cessation of hostilities. Jehoshaphat fought side by side with two Israelite kings: with Ahab against the Syrians (vv 1–4, 29–36), and with Ahab's son Jehoram against the Moabites (2Ki 3:4–8).
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:43 high places. See p 526.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:44 See note, vv 41–50.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:46 male cult prostitutes. See note, 14:24.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:47–50 Jehoshaphat made frustrating efforts to regain territory and trade previously attained by Solomon.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:48 ships of Tarshish. See note, 10:22.
1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:49 not willing. Although allied with the Northern Kingdom, Jehoshaphat retained his independence at least to the extent of refusing Ahaziah's help in a maritime expedition. Archaeological remains at Kuntillet 'Ajrud have both Judean and Israelite features.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:41–50 The inspired record briefly returns to the Southern Kingdom of Judah and the life and death of King Jehoshaphat, who, like his father Asa, did "what was right in the sight of the LORD" (v 43). Amid the many examples of godlessness and tragedy, God's Word contains bright examples of those who followed Him. God's mercy in the life of a fellow believer is a shining beacon that lights our way and strengthens our faith in the Lord. • God of our fathers, embolden us with the example of Your faithful people of old, that we may live bravely for Him who died and rose for us, and in whose name we pray. Amen.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:51–53 History of Ahaziah's reign, summarized here, is continued in 2Ki.

1 Kings—NOTE ON 22:51–53 The closing verses of 1Ki record the two-year reign of Ahab's son Ahaziah, who follows in his father's footsteps, does evil, and angers God. Though 1Ki ends on a tragic note, we have seen that alongside God's Law and judgment runs His message of the Gospel and forgiveness. His mercies, though rejected, never end but are new every morning. • Praise to You, the Almighty, the King of creation! With heart and soul we praise and glorify You for all You have done and continue to do for us. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Elijah Denounces Ahaziah

1 [1]†After the death of Ahab, Moab rebelled against Israel.

[2]†Now Ahaziah fell through the lattice in his upper chamber in Samaria, and lay sick; so he sent messengers, telling them, “Go, inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron, whether I shall recover from this sickness.” [3]†But the angel of the Lord said to Elijah the Tishbite, “Arise, go up to meet the messengers of the king of Samaria, and say to them, ‘Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are going to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron? [4]†Now therefore thus says the Lord, You shall not come down from the bed to which you have gone up, but you shall surely die.’” So Elijah went.

[5]The messengers returned to the king, and he said to them, “Why have you returned?” [6]And they said to him, “There came a man to meet us, and said to us, ‘Go back to the king who sent you, and say to him, Thus says the Lord, Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are sending to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore you shall not come down from the bed to which you have gone up, but you shall surely die.’” [7]He said to them, “What kind of man was he who came to meet you and told you these things?” [8]†They answered him, “He wore a garment of hair, with a belt of leather about his waist.” And he said, “It is Elijah the Tishbite.”

[9]†Then the king sent to him a captain of fifty men with his fifty. He went up to Elijah, who was sitting on the top of a hill, and said to him, “O man of God, the king says, ‘Come down.’” [10]†But Elijah answered the captain of fifty, “If I am a man of God, let fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty.” Then fire came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty.

[11]†Again the king sent to him another captain of fifty men with his fifty. And he answered and said to him, “O man of God, this is the king’s order, ‘Come down quickly!’” [12]†But Elijah answered them, “If I am a man of God, let fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty.” Then the fire of God came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty.

[13]†Again the king sent the captain of a third fifty with his fifty. And the third captain of fifty went up and came and fell on his knees before Elijah and entreated him, “O man of God, please let my life, and the life of these fifty servants of yours, be precious in your sight. [14]Behold, fire came down from heaven and consumed the two former captains of fifty men with their fifties, but now let my life be precious in your sight.” [15]†Then the angel of the Lord said to Elijah, “Go down with him; do not be afraid of him.” So he arose and went down with him to the king [16]†and said to him, “Thus says the Lord, ‘Because you have sent messengers to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron—is it because there is no God in Israel to inquire of his word?
—therefore you shall not come down from the bed to which you have gone up, but you shall surely die.’”

[17]†So he died according to the word of the Lord that Elijah had spoken.
Jehoram became king in his place in the second year of Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, because Ahaziah had no son. [18]Now the rest of the acts of Ahaziah that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

Elijah Taken to Heaven

2 [1]‡†Now when the Lord was about to take Elijah up to heaven by a whirlwind, Elijah and Elisha were on their way from Gilgal. [2]†And Elijah said to Elisha, “Please stay here, for the Lord has sent me as far as Bethel.” But Elisha said, “As the Lord lives, and as you yourself live, I will not leave you.” So they went down to Bethel. [3]†And the sons of the prophets who were in Bethel came out to Elisha and said to him, “Do you know that today the Lord will take away your master from over you?” And he said, “Yes, I know it; keep quiet.”

[4]†Elijah said to him, “Elisha, please stay here, for the Lord has sent me to Jericho.” But he said, “As the Lord lives, and as you yourself live, I will not leave you.” So they came to Jericho. [5]†The sons of the prophets who were at Jericho drew near to Elisha and said to him, “Do you know that today the Lord will take away your master from over you?” And he answered, “Yes, I know it; keep quiet.”

[6]†Then Elijah said to him, “Please stay here, for the Lord has sent me to the Jordan.” But he said, “As the Lord lives, and as you yourself live, I will not leave you.” So the two of them went on. [7]†Fifty men of the sons of the prophets also went and stood at some distance from them, as they both were standing by the Jordan. [8]†Then Elijah took his cloak and rolled it up and struck the water, and the water was parted to the one side and to the other, till the two of them could go over on dry ground.

[9]†When they had crossed, Elijah said to Elisha, “Ask what I shall do for you, before I am taken from you.” And Elisha said, “Please let there be a double portion of your spirit on me.” [10]†And he said, “You have asked a hard thing; yet, if you see me as I am being taken from you, it shall be so for you, but if you do not see me, it shall not be so.” [11]†And as they still went on and talked, behold, chariots of fire and horses of fire separated the two of them. And Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven. [12]†And Elisha saw it and he cried, “My father, my father! The chariots of Israel and its horsemen!” And he saw him no more.

Then he took hold of his own clothes and tore them in two pieces. [13]†And he took up the cloak of Elijah that had fallen from him and went back and stood on the bank of the Jordan. [14]†Then he took the cloak of Elijah that had fallen from him and struck the water, saying, “Where is the Lord, the God of Elijah?” And when he had struck the water, the water was parted to the one side and to the other, and Elisha went over.

Elisha Succeeds Elijah

15 ‡ † Now when the sons of the prophets who were at Jericho saw him opposite them, they said, “The spirit of Elijah rests on Elisha.” And they came to meet him and bowed to the ground before him. 16 † And they said to him, “Behold now, there are with your servants fifty strong men. Please let them go and seek your master. It may be that the Spirit of the Lord has caught him up and cast him upon some mountain or into some valley.” And he said, “You shall not send.” 17 † But when they urged him till he was ashamed, he said, “Send.” They sent therefore fifty men. And for three days they sought him but did not find him. 18 And they came back to him while he was staying at Jericho, and he said to them, “Did I not say to you, ‘Do not go’?”

19 † Now the men of the city said to Elisha, “Behold, the situation of this city is pleasant, as my lord sees, but the water is bad, and the land is unfruitful.” 20 He said, “Bring me a new bowl, and put salt in it.” So they brought it to him. 21 † Then he went to the spring of water and threw salt in it and said, “Thus says the Lord, I have healed this water; from now on neither death nor miscarriage shall come from it.” 22 So the water has been healed to this day, according to the word that Elisha spoke.

23 † He went up from there to Bethel, and while he was going up on the way, some small boys came out of the city and jeered at him, saying, “Go up, you baldhead! Go up, you baldhead!” 24 † And he turned around, and when he saw them, he cursed them in the name of the Lord. And two she-bears came out of the woods and tore forty-two of the boys. 25 From there he went on to Mount Carmel, and from there he returned to Samaria.

Moab Rebels Against Israel

3 [1]†In the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, Jehoram the son of Ahab became king over Israel in Samaria, and he reigned twelve years. [2]†He did what was evil in the sight of the Lord, though not like his father and mother, for he put away the pillar of Baal that his father had made. [3]†Nevertheless, he clung to the sin of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, which he made Israel to sin; he did not depart from it.

[4]†Now Mesha king of Moab was a sheep breeder, and he had to deliver to the king of Israel 100,000 lambs and the wool of 100,000 rams. [5]†But when Ahab died, the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel. [6]So King Jehoram marched out of Samaria at that time and mustered all Israel. [7]†And he went and sent word to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, "The king of Moab has rebelled against me. Will you go with me to battle against Moab?" And he said, "I will go. I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses." [8]†Then he said, "By which way shall we march?" Jehoram answered, "By the way of the wilderness of Edom."

[9]†So the king of Israel went with the king of Judah and the king of Edom.
And when they had made a circuitous march of seven days, there was no water for the army or for the animals that followed them. [10]†Then the king of Israel said, "Alas! The Lord has called these three kings to give them into the hand of Moab." [11]†And Jehoshaphat said, "Is there no prophet of the Lord here, through whom we may inquire of the Lord?" Then one of the king of Israel's servants answered, "Elisha the son of Shaphat is here, who poured water on the hands of Elijah." [12]And Jehoshaphat said, "The word of the Lord is with him." So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat and the king of Edom went down to him.

[13]And Elisha said to the king of Israel, "What have I to do with you? Go to the prophets of your father and to the prophets of your mother." But the king of Israel said to him, "No; it is the Lord who has called these three kings to give them into the hand of Moab." [14]And Elisha said, "As the Lord of hosts lives, before whom I stand, were it not that I have regard for Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, I would neither look at you nor see you.

15 †But now bring me a musician.” And when the musician played, the hand of the Lord came upon him. 16 †And he said, “Thus says the Lord, ‘I will make this dry streambed full of pools.’ 17For thus says the Lord, ‘You shall not see wind or rain, but that streambed shall be filled with water, so that you shall drink, you, your livestock, and your animals.’ 18This is a light thing in the sight of the Lord. He will also give the Moabites into your hand, 19 †and you shall attack every fortified city and every choice city, and shall fell every good tree and stop up all springs of water and ruin every good piece of land with stones.” 20 †The next morning, about the time of offering the sacrifice, behold, water came from the direction of Edom, till the country was filled with water.

21 † When all the Moabites heard that the kings had come up to fight against them, all who were able to put on armor, from the youngest to the oldest, were called out and were drawn up at the border. 22 †And when they rose early in the morning and the sun shone on the water, the Moabites saw the water opposite them as red as blood. 23 †And they said, “This is blood;
the kings have surely fought together and struck one another down. Now then, Moab, to the spoil!” 24But when they came to the camp of Israel, the Israelites rose and struck the Moabites, till they fled before them. And they went forward, striking the Moabites as they went.[1] 25 †And they overthrew the cities, and on every good piece of land every man threw a stone until it was covered. They stopped every spring of water and felled all the good trees, till only its stones were left in Kir-hareseth, and the slingers surrounded and attacked it. 26 †When the king of Moab saw that the battle was going against him, he took with him 700 swordsmen to break through, opposite the king of Edom, but they could not. 27 †Then he took his oldest son who was to reign in his place and offered him for a burnt offering on the wall. And there came great wrath against Israel. And they withdrew from him and returned to their own land.

Elisha and the Widow’s Oil

4 [1]†††Now the wife of one of the sons of the prophets cried to Elisha,
“Your servant my husband is dead, and you know that your servant feared the Lord, but the creditor has come to take my two children to be his slaves.” [2]†And Elisha said to her, “What shall I do for you? Tell me; what have you in the house?” And she said, “Your servant has nothing in the house except a jar of oil.” [3]Then he said, “Go outside, borrow vessels from all your neighbors, empty vessels and not too few. [4]Then go in and shut the door behind yourself and your sons and pour into all these vessels. And when one is full, set it aside.” [5]So she went from him and shut the door behind herself and her sons. And as she poured they brought the vessels to her. [6]When the vessels were full, she said to her son, “Bring me another vessel.” And he said to her, “There is not another.” Then the oil stopped flowing. [7]†She came and told the man of God, and he said, “Go, sell the oil and pay your debts, and you and your sons can live on the rest.”

Elisha and the Shunammite Woman

8 ‡ † One day Elisha went on to Shunem, where a wealthy woman lived, who urged him to eat some food. So whenever he passed that way, he would turn in there to eat food. 9 † And she said to her husband, “Behold now, I know that this is a holy man of God who is continually passing our way.
10 † Let us make a small room on the roof with walls and put there for him a bed, a table, a chair, and a lamp, so that whenever he comes to us, he can go in there.”
11 One day he came there, and he turned into the chamber and rested there.
12 And he said to Gehazi his servant, “Call this Shunammite.” When he had called her, she stood before him. 13 † And he said to him, “Say now to her, ‘See, you have taken all this trouble for us; what is to be done for you?
Would you have a word spoken on your behalf to the king or to the commander of the army?’” She answered, “I dwell among my own people.” 14 And he said, “What then is to be done for her?” Gehazi answered, “Well, she has no son, and her husband is old.” 15 † He said, “Call her.” And when he had called her, she stood in the doorway. 16 † And he said, “At this season, about this time next year, you shall embrace a son.” And she said, “No, my lord, O man of God; do not lie to your servant.” 17 But the woman conceived, and she bore a son about that time the following spring, as Elisha had said to her.

Elisha Raises the Shunammite's Son

18 †When the child had grown, he went out one day to his father among the reapers. 19 †And he said to his father, "Oh, my head, my head!" The father said to his servant, "Carry him to his mother." 20 And when he had lifted him and brought him to his mother, the child sat on her lap till noon, and then he died. 21 And she went up and laid him on the bed of the man of God and shut the door behind him and went out. 22 †Then she called to her husband and said, "Send me one of the servants and one of the donkeys, that I may quickly go to the man of God and come back again." 23 †And he said, "Why will you go to him today? It is neither new moon nor Sabbath."
She said, "All is well." 24 Then she saddled the donkey, and she said to her servant, "Urge the animal on; do not slacken the pace for me unless I tell you." 25 †So she set out and came to the man of God at Mount Carmel.

When the man of God saw her coming, he said to Gehazi his servant,
"Look, there is the Shunammite. 26 †Run at once to meet her and say to her,
'Is all well with you? Is all well with your husband? Is all well with the child?'" And she answered, "All is well." 27 †And when she came to the mountain to the man of God, she caught hold of his feet. And Gehazi came to push her away. But the man of God said, "Leave her alone, for she is in bitter distress, and the Lord has hidden it from me and has not told me." 28 Then she said, "Did I ask my lord for a son? Did I not say, 'Do not deceive me?'" 29 †He said to Gehazi, "Tie up your garment and take my staff in your hand and go. If you meet anyone, do not greet him, and if anyone greets you, do not reply. And lay my staff on the face of the child." 30 †Then the mother of the child said, "As the Lord lives and as you yourself live, I will not leave you." So he arose and followed her. 31 †Gehazi went on ahead and laid the staff on the face of the child, but there was no sound or sign of life. Therefore he returned to meet him and told him, "The child has not awakened."

32 †When Elisha came into the house, he saw the child lying dead on his bed. 33 †So he went in and shut the door behind the two of them and prayed to the Lord. 34 †Then he went up and lay on the child, putting his mouth on his mouth, his eyes on his eyes, and his hands on his hands. And as he stretched himself upon him, the flesh of the child became warm. [35]†Then he got up again and walked once back and forth in the house, and went up and stretched himself upon him. The child sneezed seven times, and the child opened his eyes. [36]Then he summoned Gehazi and said, “Call this Shunammite.” So he called her. And when she came to him, he said, “Pick up your son.” [37]†She came and fell at his feet, bowing to the ground. Then she picked up her son and went out.

Elisha Purifies the Deadly Stew

38 ‡ † And Elisha came again to Gilgal when there was a famine in the land.
And as the sons of the prophets were sitting before him, he said to his servant, “Set on the large pot, and boil stew for the sons of the prophets.” 39 † One of them went out into the field to gather herbs, and found a wild vine and gathered from it his lap full of wild gourds, and came and cut them up into the pot of stew, not knowing what they were. 40 † And they poured out some for the men to eat. But while they were eating of the stew, they cried out, “O man of God, there is death in the pot!” And they could not eat it. 41 † He said, “Then bring flour.” And he threw it into the pot and said, “Pour some out for the men, that they may eat.” And there was no harm in the pot.

42 † A man came from Baal-shalishah, bringing the man of God bread of the firstfruits, twenty loaves of barley and fresh ears of grain in his sack.
And Elisha said, “Give to the men, that they may eat.” 43 † But his servant said, “How can I set this before a hundred men?” So he repeated, “Give them to the men, that they may eat, for thus says the Lord, ‘They shall eat and have some left.’” 44 † So he set it before them. And they ate and had some left, according to the word of the Lord.

Naaman Healed of Leprosy

5 [1]†† Naaman, commander of the army of the king of Syria, was a great man with his master and in high favor, because by him the Lord had given victory to Syria. He was a mighty man of valor, but he was a leper.[1] [2]† Now the Syrians on one of their raids had carried off a little girl from the land of Israel, and she worked in the service of Naaman's wife. [3]† She said to her mistress, "Would that my lord were with the prophet who is in Samaria! He would cure him of his leprosy." [4]So Naaman went in and told his lord, "Thus and so spoke the girl from the land of Israel." [5]† And the king of Syria said, "Go now, and I will send a letter to the king of Israel."

So he went, taking with him ten talents of silver, six thousand shekels[2] of gold, and ten changes of clothing. [6]† And he brought the letter to the king of Israel, which read, "When this letter reaches you, know that I have sent to you Naaman my servant, that you may cure him of his leprosy." [7]† And when the king of Israel read the letter, he tore his clothes and said, "Am I God, to kill and to make alive, that this man sends word to me to cure a man of his leprosy? Only consider, and see how he is seeking a quarrel with me."

[8]† But when Elisha the man of God heard that the king of Israel had torn his clothes, he sent to the king, saying, "Why have you torn your clothes?
Let him come now to me, that he may know that there is a prophet in Israel." [9]† So Naaman came with his horses and chariots and stood at the door of Elisha's house. [10]† And Elisha sent a messenger to him, saying, "Go and wash in the Jordan seven times, and your flesh shall be restored, and you shall be clean." [11]† But Naaman was angry and went away, saying,
"Behold, I thought that he would surely come out to me and stand and call upon the name of the Lord his God, and wave his hand over the place and cure the leper. [12]† Are not Abana[1] and Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? Could I not wash in them and be clean?"
So he turned and went away in a rage. [13]† But his servants came near and said to him, "My father, it is a great word the prophet has spoken to you; will you not do it? Has he actually said to you, 'Wash, and be clean'?" [14]† So he went down and dipped himself seven times in the Jordan, according to the word of the man of God, and his flesh was restored like the flesh of a little child, and he was clean.

Gehazi's Greed and Punishment

15 ‡ † Then he returned to the man of God, he and all his company, and he came and stood before him. And he said, "Behold, I know that there is no God in all the earth but in Israel; so accept now a present from your servant." 16 † But he said, "As the Lord lives, before whom I stand, I will receive none." And he urged him to take it, but he refused. 17 † Then Naaman said, "If not, please let there be given to your servant two mules' load of earth, for from now on your servant will not offer burnt offering or sacrifice to any god but the Lord. 18 † In this matter may the Lord pardon your servant:
when my master goes into the house of Rimmon to worship there, leaning on my arm, and I bow myself in the house of Rimmon, when I bow myself in the house of Rimmon, the Lord pardon your servant in this matter." 19 † He said to him, "Go in peace."

But when Naaman had gone from him a short distance, 20 † Gehazi, the servant of Elisha the man of God, said, "See, my master has spared this Naaman the Syrian, in not accepting from his hand what he brought. As the Lord lives, I will run after him and get something from him." 21 So Gehazi followed Naaman. And when Naaman saw someone running after him, he got down from the chariot to meet him and said, "Is all well?" 22 † And he said, "All is well. My master has sent me to say, 'There have just now come to me from the hill country of Ephraim two young men of the sons of the prophets. Please give them a talent of silver and two changes of clothing.'" 23 And Naaman said, "Be pleased to accept two talents." And he urged him and tied up two talents of silver in two bags, with two changes of clothing, and laid them on two of his servants. And they carried them before Gehazi.
24 † And when he came to the hill, he took them from their hand and put them in the house, and he sent the men away, and they departed. 25 † He went in and stood before his master, and Elisha said to him, "Where have you been, Gehazi?" And he said, "Your servant went nowhere." 26 † But he said to him,
"Did not my heart go when the man turned from his chariot to meet you?
Was it a time to accept money and garments, olive orchards and vineyards, sheep and oxen, male servants and female servants? 27 † Therefore the leprosy of Naaman shall cling to you and to your descendants forever.” So he went out from his presence a leper, like snow.

The Axe Head Recovered

6 [1]‡† Now the sons of the prophets said to Elisha, “See, the place where we dwell under your charge is too small for us. [2]† Let us go to the Jordan and each of us get there a log, and let us make a place for us to dwell there.” And he answered, “Go.” [3]Then one of them said, “Be pleased to go with your servants.” And he answered, “I will go.” [4]So he went with them.
And when they came to the Jordan, they cut down trees. [5]† But as one was felling a log, his axe head fell into the water, and he cried out, “Alas, my master! It was borrowed.” [6]† Then the man of God said, “Where did it fall?”
When he showed him the place, he cut off a stick and threw it in there and made the iron float. [7]And he said, “Take it up.” So he reached out his hand and took it.

Horses and Chariots of Fire

8 † † Once when the king of Syria was warring against Israel, he took counsel with his servants, saying, “At such and such a place shall be my camp.” 9 † But the man of God sent word to the king of Israel, “Beware that you do not pass this place, for the Syrians are going down there.” 10 † And the king of Israel sent to the place about which the man of God told him.
Thus he used to warn him, so that he saved himself there more than once or twice.

11 † And the mind of the king of Syria was greatly troubled because of this thing, and he called his servants and said to them, “Will you not show me who of us is for the king of Israel?” 12 † And one of his servants said, “None, my lord, O king; but Elisha, the prophet who is in Israel, tells the king of Israel the words that you speak in your bedroom.” 13 † And he said, “Go and see where he is, that I may send and seize him.” It was told him, “Behold, he is in Dothan.” 14 † So he sent there horses and chariots and a great army,
and they came by night and surrounded the city.

15 † When the servant of the man of God rose early in the morning and went out, behold, an army with horses and chariots was all around the city.
And the servant said, “Alas, my master! What shall we do?” 16 † He said, “Do not be afraid, for those who are with us are more than those who are with them.” 17 † Then Elisha prayed and said, “O Lord, please open his eyes that he may see.” So the Lord opened the eyes of the young man, and he saw, and behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire all around Elisha. 18 † And when the Syrians came down against him, Elisha prayed to the Lord and said, “Please strike this people with blindness.” So he struck them with blindness in accordance with the prayer of Elisha.
19 † And Elisha said to them, “This is not the way, and this is not the city.
Follow me, and I will bring you to the man whom you seek.” And he led them to Samaria.

20 As soon as they entered Samaria, Elisha said, “O Lord, open the eyes of these men, that they may see.” So the Lord opened their eyes and they saw, and behold, they were in the midst of Samaria. 21 As soon as the king of Israel saw them, he said to Elisha, “My father, shall I strike them down?

Shall I strike them down?” 22 † He answered, “You shall not strike them down. Would you strike down those whom you have taken captive with your sword and with your bow? Set bread and water before them, that they may eat and drink and go to their master.” 23 † So he prepared for them a great feast, and when they had eaten and drunk, he sent them away, and they went to their master. And the Syrians did not come again on raids into the land of Israel.

Ben-hadad's Siege of Samaria

24 Afterward Ben-hadad king of Syria mustered his entire army and went up and besieged Samaria. 25 And there was a great famine in Samaria, as they besieged it, until a donkey's head was sold for eighty shekels of silver, and the fourth part of a kab[1] of dove's dung for five shekels of silver. 26 Now as the king of Israel was passing by on the wall, a woman cried out to him, saying, "Help, my lord, O king!" 27 And he said, "If the LORD will not help you, how shall I help you? From the threshing floor, or from the winepress?" 28 And the king asked her, "What is your trouble?" She answered, "This woman said to me, 'Give your son, that we may eat him today, and we will eat my son tomorrow.' 29 So we boiled my son and ate him. And on the next day I said to her, 'Give your son, that we may eat him.' But she has hidden her son." 30 When the king heard the words of the woman, he tore his clothes—now he was passing by on the wall—and the people looked, and behold, he had sackcloth beneath on his body— 31 and he said, "May God do so to me and more also, if the head of Elisha the son of Shaphat remains on his shoulders today."

32 Elisha was sitting in his house, and the elders were sitting with him.
Now the king had dispatched a man from his presence, but before the messenger arrived Elisha said to the elders, "Do you see how this murderer has sent to take off my head? Look, when the messenger comes, shut the door and hold the door fast against him. Is not the sound of his master's feet behind him?" 33 And while he was still speaking with them, the messenger came down to him and said, "This trouble is from the LORD! Why should I wait for the LORD any longer?"

Elisha Promises Food

7 [1]‡†But Elisha said, “Hear the word of the Lord: thus says the Lord, Tomorrow about this time a seah[1] of fine flour shall be sold for a shekel,[2] and two seahs of barley for a shekel, at the gate of Samaria.” [2]†Then the captain on whose hand the king leaned said to the man of God, “If the Lord himself should make windows in heaven, could this thing be?” But he said, “You shall see it with your own eyes, but you shall not eat of it.”

The Syrians Flee

3 ‡ † Now there were four men who were lepers[3] at the entrance to the gate. And they said to one another, “Why are we sitting here until we die?
4 † If we say, ‘Let us enter the city,’ the famine is in the city, and we shall die there. And if we sit here, we die also. So now come, let us go over to the camp of the Syrians. If they spare our lives we shall live, and if they kill us we shall but die.” 5 † So they arose at twilight to go to the camp of the Syrians. But when they came to the edge of the camp of the Syrians, behold, there was no one there. 6 † For the Lord had made the army of the Syrians hear the sound of chariots and of horses, the sound of a great army, so that they said to one another, “Behold, the king of Israel has hired against us the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Egypt to come against us.” 7 † So they fled away in the twilight and abandoned their tents, their horses, and their donkeys, leaving the camp as it was, and fled for their lives. 8 And when these lepers came to the edge of the camp, they went into a tent and ate and drank, and they carried off silver and gold and clothing and went and hid them. Then they came back and entered another tent and carried off things from it and went and hid them.

9 † Then they said to one another, “We are not doing right. This day is a day of good news. If we are silent and wait until the morning light, punishment will overtake us. Now therefore come; let us go and tell the king’s household.” 10 So they came and called to the gatekeepers of the city and told them, “We came to the camp of the Syrians, and behold, there was no one to be seen or heard there, nothing but the horses tied and the donkeys tied and the tents as they were.” 11 Then the gatekeepers called out, and it was told within the king’s household. 12 † And the king rose in the night and said to his servants, “I will tell you what the Syrians have done to us. They know that we are hungry. Therefore they have gone out of the camp to hide themselves in the open country, thinking, ‘When they come out of the city, we shall take them alive and get into the city.’” 13 † And one of his servants said, “Let some men take five of the remaining horses, seeing that those who are left here will fare like the whole multitude of Israel who have already perished. Let us send and see.” 14 † So they took two horsemen, and the king sent them after the army of the Syrians, saying, “Go and see.” 15 †So they went after them as far as the Jordan, and behold, all the way was littered with garments and equipment that the Syrians had thrown away in their haste. And the messengers returned and told the king.

16 †Then the people went out and plundered the camp of the Syrians. So a seah of fine flour was sold for a shekel, and two seahs of barley for a shekel, according to the word of the Lord. 17 †Now the king had appointed the captain on whose hand he leaned to have charge of the gate. And the people trampled him in the gate, so that he died, as the man of God had said when the king came down to him. 18 †For when the man of God had said to the king, “Two seahs of barley shall be sold for a shekel, and a seah of fine flour for a shekel, about this time tomorrow in the gate of Samaria,” 19 the captain had answered the man of God, “If the Lord himself should make windows in heaven, could such a thing be?” And he had said, “You shall see it with your own eyes, but you shall not eat of it.” 20 And so it happened to him, for the people trampled him in the gate and he died.

The Shunammite's Land Restored

8 [1]‡‡†Now Elisha had said to the woman whose son he had restored to life, "Arise, and depart with your household, and sojourn wherever you can, for the Lord has called for a famine, and it will come upon the land for seven years." [2]†So the woman arose and did according to the word of the man of God. She went with her household and sojourned in the land of the Philistines seven years. [3]† And at the end of the seven years, when the woman returned from the land of the Philistines, she went to appeal to the king for her house and her land. [4]†Now the king was talking with Gehazi the servant of the man of God, saying, "Tell me all the great things that Elisha has done." [5]† And while he was telling the king how Elisha had
